THE NORTHERNERS TALK SECESSION

Disatisfied With New Head of Department of Mines.—Convention in January.

(Special to Record.) COBALT, Nov. 20.—In Northern Ontario the question of secession from the Dominion is one of the chief topics of discussion.

The present situation appears to have been born on the belief, long standing, that the mining and lumbering districts have not received due recognition.

Mr. Drury has used the mining districts as a pawn in his bid for the support of labor members. These are opinions gathered in the mining fields.

The Atrium, or Grand Hallway in the Ontario Government House.—It is provided with marble floor, walls, pilasters, columns and balustrading.

WILL DRURY CLOSE PALACE OR GET USED TO PRESENT STYLE

History and Cost of Government House.—Maintenance Costs Each Citizen But Two Cents a Year.

30,000 TULIPS BLOOM IN SPRING

What will Drury do with Ontario's million-dollar Government House? Will he close it up and turn the key in the door, convert it into a home for crippled soldiers, or put it up for sale to the highest bidder?

As far back as 1884 when the old building at the corner of Simcoe and King streets was being used, Mr. Maitland, as Conservative leader, moved for the abolition of Government House.

The servants' quarters have twelve bedrooms and the driveway for these cost $25,000. Sixty dining room chairs cost $24 apiece. The Donegal rug in the stateroom cost $1,428.

The magnificence of a Government House is indicated by a few of the figures. The grounds slope down into the Don valley and the concrete retaining wall is said to have cost $70,000.

One week ago the News Record reported the case of the unfortunate victim of the sleeping sickness in the City Hospital.

To-day the same case is sent to the News Record as a news despatch by a Toronto news agency, dated at Shakespeare, where the parents of the sick man live.

It certainly takes some time for these Toronto people to get the news.

In an opening Lieut. Col. Cooper called attention to the similar desires, ambitions and hopes of the British and American nations in the new epoch of reconstruction and social regeneration which has dawned upon the world.

He described the development of the British Empire which typifies the nation-building genius of a great race and its love of liberty and truth.

Marshall von Hindenburg declared before the War Inquiry Committee at Berlin that he knew personally that neither the Kaiser nor the German people wanted war.

FIVE ALARMS IN TEN MINUTES

There was a lively time in the east end of Toronto yesterday evening. Within ten minutes five fire alarms were sent in, and the firemen were kept extremely busy.

Next Monday the council for Boyeff, the other of the two accused men, will also move for a postponement of the hearing of the case against his client.

WANTS TO GET RID OF PARTY SYSTEM

Premier Drury Favors Proportional Representation, Recall and Group System.

PARTIES ARE NOT ESSENTIAL

Toronto, Nov. 20.—To my mind, proportional representation would wipe out the objectionable features of the party system," Premier Drury said today.

"The recall, whatever may be said against it, would certainly prevent this disconnection," he said. "My opinion of the recall might be summed up in the words of an old Irishman I once met, 'I don't see that there is anything to be feared in the recall, if a man wants to do what is right.'"

Mr. Drury cited the Swiss system of government, where all of these new features have been in force successfully for many years.

His opinion is that the group system is the best system, if it is based on principles. The harm would come from groups representing strictly selfish, economic classes, such as a separate group of farmers, another of doctors, a third, perhaps, of lawyers, each working for selfish material purposes.

The only danger to guard against is to forget that government has a moral end. "Make this clear, however," said the premier, "we intend to do nothing suddenly. It will be only after every thing has been thoroughly considered and investigated that we shall move."

POWER CAPACITY WILL PROVIDE FOR WATERWAYS COST

SIR ADAM BECK LOOKS INTO FUTURE

Windsor, Nov. 20.—Defining the policy of the Ontario Power Commission as including utilization of the two million horsepower now lying dormant in the St. Lawrence River, Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Commission, speaking this afternoon to delegates attending the Great Waterways Conference here declared there should be no lessening of the agitation by public ownership advocates until deepening of the St. Lawrence, with its water harness had become an accomplished fact.

Picturing the day when the "white coal" of Niagara and the St. Lawrence River is utilized not only for power and light in the factories and homes of Ontario and the great part of the United States adjacent to the Great Lakes, but for operating the trunk railroads of the country, Sir Adam asserted that the power capacity of the waters would meet the expense of deepening the natural outlet of the Great Lakes to the sea.

Time to Start is Now. "Not five years hence, but now, is the time to start such an undertaking," he declared. "Financing such a project, with its tremendous possibilities, should hold no concern for two such nations as the United States and Canada. As to the engineering features of the project, we have repeatedly been told by engineering experts that the deepening or canalization of the St. Lawrence can be carried out with success assured."

Association is Formed. At the morning session of the conference the delegates unanimously endorsed the plan to form a Canadian Deep Waterways and Power Association. With this accomplished, the conference passed resolutions favoring the Welland-St. Lawrence route to the Atlantic Ocean. Officers Elected.

O. E. Fleming, K. C., of Windsor, and F. M. Slanders, Industrial Commissioner for the local Chamber of Commerce were elected President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively, of the new organization. Other officers are: Hon. Pres. W. M. Gerran, K. C. of Welland; Hon. Vice-Presidents, Sir Adam Beck, London, and Mayor T. L. Church of Toronto; American Advocates Reciprocity.

In the absence of Councillor William P. Bradley of Detroit, who was scheduled to speak on "The North American Mediterranean," Captain William H. Adams of Detroit and W. M. Story of New Orleans, La., addressed the conference in support of the project.

MENNONITES SECURE RIGHT TO MAKE APPEAL

WINNipeg, Nov. 20.—Leave has been given to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada the decision against the Mennonites recently delivered by the Manitoba Court of Appeal.

The original decision was made by the Police Magistrate of Morden, Man., against two Mennonites, Doerk and Hildebrand, who were convicted and fined for not sending their children to day schools.

The appeal was carried up to the Supreme Court of Canada, but the Mennonites were refused a hearing until they had obtained a permission from the Manitoba Court. The appeal will now be carried to Ottawa.

AUDITOR DIES AT WORK

PORT ELGIN, Nov. 20.—Hugh McLaren died suddenly while at work auditing the books of the Furniture Company at Hepworthville. He was 75 years of age and had spent most of his life as a leading citizen of the town of Port Elgin. He was a chartered accountant and County Auditor.

"GUILTY" WAS THE VERDICT OF JURY IN MURDER CASE

Decision, Unanimous, Was Presented to the Judge After 4 1/2 Hours Deliberation. The Prisoner, Petcoff, Bore Up Well During Tension.

EXECUTION SET FOR JAN. 23RD

"Guilty." This was the verdict against Ivan Petcoff by the jury after four and a half hours deliberation on the evidence heard on the charge against the accused of the murder of John Stepatross Sorokoty in a gravel pit near Galt on May 25th.

The accused man according to the law must now be hanged. The execution will take place in this city on January 23rd.

Asked after the close of the sitting of the court last night what course of action he would now take, Mr. George Bray, counsel for Petcoff, informed the Record he would first have to consider the matter, but that he would probably apply for a motion before the court next Monday for an appeal.

On that morning the jurymen will again be present. Justice Logie so instructed them.

Judge Concurred in Verdict. The verdict brought into the court by the jury was concurred in by Justice Logie.

"I agree with you in your verdict. No doubt you considered the watch and the evidence of the Jacksons sufficient corroborative evidence to convince you about the guilt of the prisoner," he said.

A few minutes after the receiving of the verdict the judge said: "Prisoner, Ivan Petcoff, stand up. You have had a fair trial. It has been conducted impartially by the Crown and you have been ably and cleverly defended by your counsel. Now the jury have brought in a verdict of guilty of murder against you. Have you anything to say as to why the sentence of this court should not be passed upon you?"

Petcoff, who had immediately arisen from his seat in the dock, did not seem to understand, he said he did not. The judge requested his counsel to repeat the court's question to him. Mr. Bray, his counsel, did so.

"Turning his hands, as if throwing the idea beyond the range of possibilities in his broken English he said: 'I could not say that I murdered that fellow.'"

A few seconds later the judge pronounced sentence: "The judgment of this court is that you be taken back to the place where you came, there to be kept in custody until the day of January 23rd, when you are to be taken to the place of execution, there to hang by the neck until you are dead. May God have mercy on your soul."

The prisoner, who bore up well throughout this half hour in the courtroom and who did not show any signs of being more nervous or disturbed than previously was then taken back to his cell.

The judge then instructed the jurymen to be back at the court room at 10:15 o'clock Monday morning in order to be ready in case their services will be required in the case of Boyeff.

Last Stages of Trial. At two o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Bray, counsel for Petcoff, commenced his address to the jury. He made an eloquent and masterly appeal. He emphasized those points among others: The apparent straight-forward story by Petcoff; his mental-like relations to Boyeff; his master, in the people of the Galt evidence that Petcoff and Boyeff were in Galt around 7 o'clock on the evening of Friday, May 23rd, two days before the murder; the leaving of a note by Boyeff on Sunday afternoon at Mike Ganoff's place, Galt, to the effect: "If you see Ivan Petcoff, tell him to get the umbrella at the hotel, I am going to Toronto and he is to go back to work at Stratford"; the wandering spirit of foreigners in a new land, even when alone, which would account for the fact that Petcoff went to Brantford, Hamilton and the U. S. border without the project under discussion. Capt. Adams, in advocating reciprocity between the United States and Canada, in costwise shipping so that vessels of both countries might call at all ports without the handicap of present restrictions expressed the hope that the Har 20 Boards of Detroit and Windsor would work in unity to further the shipping interests of both cities.

FRANCE NEEDS CANADIAN SHIPS

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Canada's ship-building programme is now in the melting pot. With present orders nearing completion and no more immediately in sight the Canadian shipbuilding yards are anxiously canvassing the situation and the Government is being urged to extend its programme and let further contracts. Otherwise it is contended that expensive plants will be left idle on the coast and inland waters and thousands of workmen will be thrown out of employment.

The French Government is in the market for a hundred cargo vessels of several sizes and it is said to have voted credits totaling $180,000,000 for the purpose. Manifestly the question of finance is a paramount importance in the matter. It is stated that France is willing to pay as high as $170 a ton for steel vessels and would be willing to take Canada's ships at a price equivalent to dollar for dollar of the cost. But if France pays her $170 a ton in French money there is a depreciation of about 40 per cent in exchange to be taken into consideration. Obviously the only way would be to float French bonds on this side of the water. This, it is said, is what is contemplated and a Toronto group of financiers has the matter in hand.

DAILY GLIMPSES

Into Industrial Movements in Other Cities.

Toronto Concern Acquires Galt Plant
 An important deal has just been completed whereby Galt secures a new industry. McCaskey Systems, Limited, of Carlaw avenue, Toronto, manufacturers of register and professional systems and counter checks, have purchased the fine plant of the Rolofson Machine Tool Company on Beverly Street, Galt. The building was erected during the war, the plant being engaged on munitions, and it contains the most modern ideas in construction. The new concern, which will move here in June or July next, will employ 100 hands, 50 of whom will be brought from Toronto. The locating of the concern in Galt was brought about by a special committee, from the Board of Trade, which conducted negotiations.

Woodstock Gets Another
 Another new industry has been obtained by Woodstock in the DeLong Hook and Eye Company, which is a branch of the big American firm of that name. The industry will prepare and operate in the old Thompson Carriage Factory, on Finkle Street, and it is expected that they will eventually employ close to 50 hands. The plant will be in operation in another month. It is located there as a result of the personal solicitation of George Davidson, a well-known Woodstock commercial traveler.

WISHES SUCCESS TO NAT. RY. SYSTEM

KIMBALL YOUNG'S BEST

Toronto, Nov. 20.—"The national railway system will in due course, develop into one of the largest single organizations of the world," said Mr. Kimball Young, in the course of his address at the empire club luncheon held in the King Edward Hotel yesterday. "Canada will possess, when the consolidations now in contemplation are completed, a system aggregating over nineteen thousand odd miles. In the United States, while lines embraced in the Canadian Pacific system amount to more than 15,400 miles. Whatever divergence there may be in the views as to the advisability of the policies which have led to the acquisition of this extensive mileage and its operation under the aegis of government, there can be but one view as to the desirability of its success. This view can fairly be re-echoed by any one who desires the best for this country to be as light as possible, and the freight and passenger rates as low as possible.

"The fact that competition is carried on with prosperity to all is the surest sign that general business conditions are healthy, whereas the failure of any large enterprise, especially one operated by the government, must necessarily mean heavier taxation on corporations and individuals to meet annual deficits. The burdens of the country are heavy as it is, and no one, no matter how honest, would wish to see the public utilities he believes, can possibly welcome the advent of unsuccessful enterprises.

EAST EUROPE IN SAD CONDITION

"At present the greatest emergency which has to be faced in eastern Europe, as it is, and no one, no matter how honest, would wish to see the public utilities he believes, can possibly welcome the advent of unsuccessful enterprises.

The violent explosion was heard by the boy's father. He rushed to the workshop, but his son had been killed instantly, the whole lower part of his face having been torn to ribbons.

Salesmanship Used to Attract Good Employees. A real effort to sell jobs, actually to "merchandise" them instead of merely announcing them in the usual want ad style, is being made by a large corset manufacturer of Worcester, Mass. The advertising this company is using to attract the right kind of workers to its plant falls within the want ad classification only in so far as the copy is run in the want ad section of the daily newspapers. For the rest it fulfills all the functions of a regular merchandising advertisement, with the exception that it is designed to make a prospective worker desire a job rather than to make a prospective customer desire an article of merchandise.

To Attract Trade in Basement Store. An unusual way of calling attention to its bargain basement department is used by the Boston Store of Chicago. On each of its eleven floors are displayed cases of merchandise placed at elevator doors and at the top of moving stairways. These have done much to switch trade from the upper floors to the lowest section of the store. TO DISCUSS RAILROAD PROBLEMS. New York, Nov. 20.—Railroad legislation with regard to the interests of the shipper, investor, labor and the public will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Academy of Political Science which is to assemble at the Hotel Astor to-morrow for a two-day session. The academy feels that at this time it is important to have a thorough-going, disinterested, public discussion of the essentials of railroad legislation in view of the decision of the government to turn the railroads back to their private owners at the end of the year, and the two very different legislative proposals pending in congress to determine future policy and the relationship of the government to the railroad problem.

Public Misunderstands The average retailer dislikes to reveal his business affairs, such as margins, to the public gaze, not because he is profiteering, but because he feels that the public would misunderstand. Average retail selling costs are about 25 per cent the usual price to the buyer being such as to allow the dealer to make a 325 per cent margin on the selling figure. Because of the quick turnover of stocks in the grocery business, members of that trade are able to make a fair profit on a 25 per cent margin. The grocers have nothing to conceal and a good deal to tell, and they plan to deal in cold facts in their talks to the public. The campaign will cost about $1000 and will be borne by a $5 assessment on each of the 200 members of the association. The financial arrangements have been completed.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy. Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple, old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Compo) and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just on night and see. Get your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and 1/2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you will not find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your heads as tight as a vice. Dandruff will disappear. You will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity. Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its results.

Abolish Hanging Not long ago, they tried to hang a condemned man in a town in western Canada.

The trap was sprung, the murderer dropped the usual ten or twelve feet, but his neck was not broken. To the horror of the spectators, the man threw up his hands, took hold of the rope which was choking him, and began to haul himself up hand over hand toward the top of the gallows. The officials seized him, pulled him down and he was literally strangled to death.

This is not the only instance in which this method of capital punishment has failed. At its best it is inefficient, inhuman and heathenish in its barbarity.

The death penalty is imposed in order to deprive the murderer of life. That being the purpose, let it be done quickly, efficiently, scientifically.

Last session a bill was introduced into Parliament to substitute electrocution for hanging. We hope it ultimately becomes law.

Indeed, the death penalty should be abolished entirely. Statistics show that it does not prevent murder.

Democracy or Disaster.

"Personally I stand for free and compulsory education from the very bottom to the very top. Give every girl and boy a start in this race of life from scratch, to so speak. Give to all our future citizens an education that will fit them to take their proper place in the services of the community."

"I can think of no service constituting a stronger claim to the nation's gratitude than the bearing, nursing and rearing of the nation's children. According to our system we place a handicap on a man with a large family. There is no task so unselfish and so unnecessarily without returns, and yet if a workman is laid upon a sick bed, our Government provides nothing to keep his wife and children from starving."

"It is this constant fear of poverty that is the cause for much of the unrest today. The gentlest creatures are fierce when they have young to provide for. In our system of society the struggle for bread is so desperate that it kills the tenderest sentiments. For the sake of those dependent upon him a man cannot choose, but must plunge into the foul fight to cheat and defraud, buy below worth and sell above, break down the business by which his neighbor feeds his young ones, tempt men to buy what they ought not and sell what they should not, grind and sweat his laborers."

"Though we try our very best it is almost impossible to find a way in which to earn a decent living and provide for our families except by pressing some weaker rival. Even our ministers of religion are not exempt from this cruel necessity. While they are constantly warning their flocks against love of money, teaching regard for their families, they are compelled to keep an eye on the members of their congregation who can contribute the largest amount to their maintenance. (J. A. Woodward.)"

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Australia is now engaged in a political campaign preliminary to holding a general election next month, when the people will decide by their votes whether they desire to continue William Morris Hughes in power.

As Prime Minister of the Commonwealth during the war Mr. Hughes sat in the imperial council in London and proved himself one of the great statesmen of the empire. Strange memories must have come to him during his recent stay in the British metropolis, memories of his boyhood days, which were spent in London in dire poverty. Equipped with a charity-school education he emigrated as a youth to Australia, where he worked as a cook, as a sheep-shearer and at any other occupation he could find. But force of character and personality told, and ten years after he had landed as a penniless immigrant, he was a member of the New South Wales parliament, being then only 30 years old. At 36 he was a member of the Federal parliament, at 40 a cabinet minister, and at 50 he became Prime Minister.

Protecting Kith "Say, pa?" "What is it?" "If we take kiddy on the boat, will we have to have nine life-preservers?"

A Willing Teacher "You depend on the wisdom of the plain people." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but while the plain people out my way are getting their wisdom, I want to be on hand as much as possible as their instructor."

A Good Third "You admit that you are not the first in your wife's affections, and yet you seem cheerful." "Oh, I can't expect to compete with her Pekinese and her runabout."

FOOTWEAR PRICES ARE TOO HIGH

Says Col. Price Before Board of Commerce.

JOBERS HAVE BIG SURPLUS WOMEN WANT EXTRAVAGANT STYLES

"Excessive profits," to quote "That Man O'Connor," were revealed in a probe in the shoe and shoe business before the Board of Commerce at Toronto.

An illuminating statement on the high grade shoes made by Col. W. H. Price, who has been looking into the matter for the board. His examination lasted for two days, and embraced five manufacturers, twelve retailers and four jobbers. This was supplemented by answers to certain questions since.

After explaining how the manufacturers fix their prices (on estimates made several months before the shoes are sold) Col. Price told the board that prices of various materials have been going up at an alarming rate. Prices of uppers, for instance, had risen by 127 per cent. between 1913 and 1918, while between 1913 and 1919 the rise had been 338 per cent. Sole leather had increased 177 per cent. since 1913 while findings had advanced by 100 per cent. Labor costs also had risen sharply, the advance since 1913 amounting to one hundred per cent.

Some Lose Money. The Colonel went on to say that, while the production in 1919 was three times as great as now, the turnover, in dollars and cents, was just as great today as six years ago. The profit on the shoes, he said, was figured on 25 per cent. gross profit on sales prices. Some of the smaller concerns lost money last spring.

Dealing with the question of hides the Colonel said the market was under the control of the United States firms and that Canadian manufacturers were raised in kid by New York and Philadelphia houses. In reply to Mr. O'Connor, he said Canadians were dependent on United States material for the better part of their shoes.

Discussing the increase in prices, he thought investigation of the business of tanning, leather-manufacturing and jobbing would be necessary to ascertain whether the manufacturer of boots and shoes was making too much profit.

As to the jobbers, the speaker said the profit of twenty per cent. of twenty per cent. fifteen from three manufacturer and five from the consumer. One jobber on a turnover of $350,000 in 1917, made a gross profit of $70,000 and a net profit of $17,000. This and other instances led Mr. O'Connor to remark he was sorry he had not remained in the jobbing line.

"You will be still more sorry," commented the Colonel, as he told of another jobber who cleaned up $190,000 in 1918.

"Was that all velvet?" exclaimed Commissioner O'Connor.

"Yes," replied the Colonel. The prices made by these middlemen were excessive, he thought, and he did not see why the trade should carry the jobber at twenty per cent.

After hearing something about fancy prices, Judge Robson said they were not interested in people who had money to throw away in $20 shoes.

"Fifty per cent of our women insist on high-price shoes," remarked Col. Price.

"Is there such a thing as a moderate priced woman's shoe?" queried the Judge.

What Women Want "You can get them at any price, but the cheaper ones do not appeal to their sex," was the Colonel's formation.

The Judge thought the manufacturers were partly to blame for putting such high-priced pair ornaments on the market.

Profits of department stores were too large, in the Colonel's opinion, and he thought they should reduce their prices in view of their enormous turnover. In one store the net gain in 1913 was over $90,000 on boots and shoes alone, and in 1918 the turnover was over $5,000,000 and the net profits $222,000.

To eliminate the extravagant styles the Colonel suggested that the retailer's profit on a high priced pair of boots should be smaller than on a low-priced pair. This he thought, would cause the merchant to push the sale of the latter. As to profit fixing he urged that prices be fixed from the factory and to the consumer leaving the middleman to divide what was left.

COMMENT

Following the line of the least resistance is what makes rivers and men crooked.

The kick in two-and-a-half per cent is not nearly as strong as the kick of the man who has to drink it.

If prices come down, the sellers will lose. If they don't, the consumers continue to suffer. Either way lies trouble.

Pretty soon a dollar will have about as much chance of buying a square meal as an auger has of boring a square hole.

In St. Thomas the License Inspector seized a bottle of cider as evidence. During the night, the cider developed a kick and the evidence blew up.

Press reports say that a campaign for the prohibition of tobacco is about to begin and that we shall all be smoke-cured by 1925. We would advise the agitators to let well enough alone for a while. When they touch tobacco, they will assuredly bite off more than they can chew.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

RUNNING RIOT. (From Canadian Railroader.) One frenzy follows upon another. Mankind is bounding along over the rocks and ridges of the old orthodoxies with the delirious career of a boomerang. Whenever we strike the lightest obstruction we bounce into the air and alight wherever there happens to be room. The desire of mankind is to live, and in the pursuit of this aim we are performing some spectacular and highly fantastic physical and mental acrobatics, which bear a close resemblance to the daily performances presented by monkeys in a menagerie.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK
When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.
Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.
Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of certain ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE
It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.
Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried peppin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.
But before giving up hope and deciding you are chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any drug-store.
Take a teaspoonful of the powder or gel in either powdered or tablet form. Two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and you see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.
You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain, or moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

WASHING WON'T RID HEAD OF DANDRUFF
The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

THE PRIDE OF LLEWELLYN

By Mrs. E. Southworth

between life and death. The three sisters nursed her faithfully, tenderly and disinterestedly. The priest came and prayed for her. And the captain sent every few days to inquire how the patient progressed. And still Arthur Powis did not return CHAPTER VII. OMINOUS.
Illness is very expensive. The sisters found it so. Their ready money, advanced without hesitation for the purchase of necessaries for the sickroom, was soon expended. And then as they did not wish to go in debt they searched for their patients purse and found it. It was such a slender little purse with such a pitiful little sum of money in it—only a few pieces of silver. The sisters felt that it would be cruel to draw upon that small fund. And smiling and shaking their heads, they put it back. And they borrowed a few dollars from their brother, the priest.
And still Arthur Powis did not return. Some one else came however. It was the ninth day of Gladys' illness, in this winter of the common colds was lying in a deep sleep that her nurses knew would prove a sleep of life unto life, or of death unto death; for this was the highest crisis of her illness and she must either sink into some death, or else awake to full consciousness and life. Miss Milly and Harriet who had just relieved Miss Polly and Miss Jones, were sitting on the one on the right of the bed, and the other on the left, when the sound of wheels was heard and a carriage (stopped at the gate. Miss Milly, who was sitting by the window, pulled aside the curtain and peeped out.
It was a hackney coach that stood at the gate; and a lady in deep mourning had just alighted from it. She was a tall and stately woman and she walked slowly and majestically up the avenue leading to the house.
"I suppose Polly and Jenny are taking of a nap after their night watching; so I had better go down and see who this visitor is and what she wants," whispered Miss Milly to her conductor of the sickroom. And then she went downstairs for the expressed purpose.
When Miss Milly opened the door to receive the strange visitor, she also saw that the doctor had just passed through the gate and was coming up the gravel walk.
"Is this Ceres Cottage?" inquired the lady.
"Yes, ma'am this is Serious Cottage," answered Miss Milly.
"Where the Miss Cranes live?"
"Yes, ma'am, will you walk in?"
"If you please. Are you Miss Crane?" inquired the lady as she followed her conductor into the parlor.
"No, ma'am; I am Miss Milly. Will you take a seat?"
"Thank you. You have a young lady boarding here, I believe?" inquired the visitor, as she sank into an easy chair.
"Yes, ma'am; a young married lady. She is a-lying at death's door at the present moment of time."
"What effect this announcement had on the visitor, Miss Milly could not know, for just at that moment the doctor quietly entered the room saying:
"Good morning, Miss Milly. How is my patient?"
"Good morning, doctor. Just the same sir; just precisely the same, for all that I can see. Will you go up now and look at her?"
"If you please," said the doctor; then bowing to Miss Milly and to the strange lady, he turned to leave the room.
Miss Milly stood hesitating whether to remain with her visitor, or to attend the doctor, and then she said:
"If you will please to excuse me, ma'am, I will show Dr. Brown upstairs."
"No, no, Miss Milly, it is not necessary, I assure you. I suppose there is some one up there with her?" said the doctor.
"Oh, yes, sir; Harriet is there."
"That will do then. You remain with your visitor," said the doctor leaving the room.
Miss Milly turned to the strange lady saying:
"Now, ma'am, what might be your wishes?"
"I wish to see the young lady as soon as possible. Is she very ill?"
"At death's door, ma'am, I am sorry to say. Might you be of any kin to the sweet young lady?"
"I am her aunt by marriage and her guardian by law. What is her illness?"
"Typhoid pneumonia, the doctor says. "How long has she been ill?"
"Nine days."
"How long has she been with you?"
"Near about three weeks, ma'am."
"She came here in company with a young officer?"
"Her husband, ma'am. Yes."
"Umph!" groaned the lady as if in grief, contempt and incredulity.
"And oh, ma'am, what do you think He is a-missing! But perhaps you know that already, and more besides, and have come to tell us news of him?"
"No I did not know he was missing but I am not surprised to hear it—not at all; it might have been expected."
"Ma'am," exclaimed Miss Milly in amazement.
"I am sorry to shock you, my good woman; but it is best that the truth should be told—may it be absolutely necessary that it should. The young lady in whom you seem to take so much interest—
"I do, indeed, I really do, ma'am. And so do my sisters, and so does my brother, and so does Harriet—she is our colored woman. Oh! please don't say anything against the young lady, ma'am," said Miss Milly.
"Whatever I say, or omit to say, will not alter the facts, will it?"
"Well, no, ma'am; I do suppose not."
"Now then, what I have to say is this; that about a month ago, or something less, this young lady eloped from my house with the young officer whom she calls her husband."
"And who is her husband, ma'am. I would make my affidavit of it with a free conscience," stoutly asserted Miss Milly.
"That is impossible—quite impossible; she is a minor and cannot legally contract marriage without the consent of her guardian until she is of age. No! She has eloped with this man whom she cannot legally marry; and it appears that even in this short time he has grown tired of her and

HEALTH OFFICIALS WARN THE PUBLIC

In View of Existence of 'Flu They Advise Prompt Treatment of Every Case of Cold.
When the 'flu epidemic swept the country last year it was generally agreed by medical men that there would be a recurrence of the attack this winter. So far it has not swept with the violence of last year but there is hardly any large community in which it is not present to some degree.
In view of the ever present danger of the disease breaking out health authorities are everywhere advising the public to observe extraordinary precautions. One of their first advices is to treat all cases of colds as dangerous, the conditions in such cases being similar to those in the first stages of 'flu.
For the treatment of colds there is no preparation equal to Grip Fix, which may be secured at any drug store. It is not a patent medicine but a treatment which would be approved by your family physician. The drugs it contains are stated on every box and cover just the drugs needed in such cases. Grip Fix is not a new preparation as it has been in use for many years, doing wonderful work during last year's 'flu epidemic. It comes in convenient capsule form and when buying it be sure to get Heil's Grip Fix as there is nothing "just as good." It sells for 35 cents per box and is worth its price over and over when a cold appears. On sale at all drug stores.

"BE MASTER OF YOUR HEALTH"

—Dr. Chase

Make your blood rich—strengthen your nerves, increase your vitality and build up your system generally by using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

You may be skeptical of what any medicine will do for you. But you are human—your vitality depends on an abundance of rich, red blood. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the ingredients from which new blood is created, and is bound to help you in the same way that it helps many thousands of others.

Peterboro

Mrs. James Bogue, 220 Dublin St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:—
"Three years ago I noticed that our children seemed to be suffering from bad nerves and poor appetites, and were inclined to anemia. Knowing the good of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I started to give them a treatment of this medicine. I found it built them right up, made them bright and cheery and restored their usual good health."

"I have also used the Nerve Food myself and found it very beneficial for nerves and heart. In fact I have found Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to be such a valuable medicine for general family use that I have recommended it to many of our friends and acquaintances."

Woodstock

Mrs. T. Allenby, 369 Main St., Woodstock, Ont., writes:—
"For several years I have made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a tonic and blood-builder. Whenever my system gets run down or I do not feel quite up to the mark, I resort to this medicine, and they never fail to build me up and strengthen me. Different members of our household have also made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results."

Picton

Mrs. Arthur Hicks, Picton, Ont., writes:—
"About a year ago I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I became very irritable, and could scarcely stand the noise of the children. As for sleep, it was impossible. Then I had an attack of neuritis in my right arm and little finger. I had spent a great deal of money on different medicines, and doctored with different doctors, trying to get relief, but without success. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and they have given me great benefit. My husband could see a great improvement in my looks in a short time. I feel so much better that I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and would recommend them to anyone suffering from nervous troubles."

Guelph

Mrs. Emma Leach, 95 York Rd., Guelph, Ont., writes:—
"Last year my system became run-down, and I was troubled with nervousness. I had frequent headaches, and found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I sometimes had a creepy sensation or hot flashes over my body. I secured some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in January, and after using them for a time I noticed an improvement. I therefore continued the treatment until the headaches and that creepy feeling disappeared. I got better control of my nerves, and now can get to bed and get a real good night's rest. We think a great deal of Dr. Chase's medicines, and I can certainly recommend the Nerve Food."

London

Mrs. S. Meathrel, 23 Hyla St., London, Ont., writes:—
"About a year ago I had a complete collapse from my nerves. I was taken to the hospital for a treatment, but it did not give me much relief. When I was brought home again, I went to the country for a change of air. I seemed to be a little better while there, but after my return home I did not feel much better. I used to have nervous spells, when my limbs would begin to shake, then grow cold, and I would be completely exhausted. I was also troubled with an accumulation of gas on my stomach, which caused palpitation of the heart. At last I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after I had used them for a while, I could see that they were helping me, so I continued using them until I became quite well again. I became real strong and healthy, could sleep well at night, and was able to do my own housework. As I got stronger the nervous spells disappeared, and I have not had one since. I also used an occasional Kidney-Liver Pill in connection with the Nerve Food, which I think cured the gas on my stomach. I have received such benefit from these medicines that I wish to recommend them to others."

Hamilton

Mrs. S. Staunton, 136 McNab St. N., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—
"I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a run-down system, and found it splendid for strengthening and building up the body. I can recommend it to any person requiring a good tonic."

At this season almost everybody is in need of restorative treatment to keep up energy and vigor and to maintain health, strength and vitality. Everywhere people are talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, because it seems to be exactly what is required in the great majority of cases to restore the run-down human system. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every box.

SAVE WINTER FODDERS

By Putting the Grain-Grinder and Cutting-Box in Shape.

It Pays in Time and Money to Overhaul Farm Machinery—Hints on Knife Adjustment—How to Estimate the Speed of Pulleys.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

TIME in farm work will be saved by systematically overhauling the implements and machinery. This should be done after the season's work is over. Use tends to disorganize machinery: the fixed parts become loose through vibration, wear, stress, and strain; bearings, gears, joints, all bright and moving parts are attacked by rust, particularly if left out in the weather; oil holes and grease cups become clogged with rummy oil and dust and trash. All this accumulated matter should be scraped off and the parts wiped down with a rag saturated with kerosene afterward covered with a coating of grease or oil as a protective measure against the devastating action of rust. To render efficient services and to prevent possible accidents, these machines should be kept clean, properly adjusted, and run at correct speed.

The grain grinder shaft and bearings should not be allowed to become gummed up with oil and dust; the burrs or plates should be renewed when worn. In replacing them see that they are attached so that they do not wobble, and that the sieves are free from rust, chaff, sand and gritty matter. All running parts should be kept well oiled.

Every working mechanism of the cutting box should be carefully examined and all trash and gummed oil removed from flywheel shaft, feed rolls, bearings and gears; guards and shields placed in position and securely fixed; the feed rolls should move freely up and down and the safety devices in working order. Attend to the cutter knives, have them properly ground and correctly adjusted to the flywheel in relation to the cutter bar; if too far the fodder will not be properly cut; if too close to the cutter bar the draft of the machine is increased, the knives acting as a brake on the flywheel, dulling both knives and cutter bar. Used with a blower it is important that the proper speed be developed as the fan can only create sufficient blast by running fast enough to force air through the pipes at a rate of 9 to 10 thousand feet per minute. Speed is an important factor in operating these machines for efficient service, not only as to the amount done, but also as to the quality, or the amount of work accomplished, but most manufacturers state in their catalogues the speed at which the machine should travel. The operator should figure out the size of the pulley to attain the speed required.

The rule for speeds of pulleys is the diameter of the "driving" pulley multiplied by its speed is equal to the diameter of the "driven" pulley multiplied by its speed; or $D \times R = d \times r$ in which "D" is the diameter of the driving pulley multiplied by "R" its speed, and "d" the diameter of the driven pulley multiplied by "r" its speed. If we know three of these items we can easily figure out the fourth.

The driving pulley is the one that causes the belt to move. The driven pulley is the one that is moved by the belt. Possibly a farmer may have on hand an engine rated 2 h.p., speed 400 revolutions per minute with an 8-inch pulley. He buys a grinder without considering what relation its speed bears to that of his engine. When the grinder is hitched up to the engine it does not deliver the capacity expected of it. This promise-buying and want of foresight in purchasing machinery is responsible for a great deal of trouble and dissatisfaction. More attention should be given in this regard when buying additional machinery for the farm. We'll suppose the grinder bought is rated 2,000 to 2,500 R.P.M., 4 inch or 5 inch pulley; capacity per hour 3 to 10 bushels depending on the condition of the grain.

Relating this grinder to the engine, we find, taking the above formula that $85 \times 400 = d \times r$ $8 \times 400 = 800$

R.P.M., but the manufacturer's rating calls for 2,000 to 2,500 R.P.M. Hence the grinder is delivering only two-fifths of its rated capacity or something like 1-1/2 bushels per hour. To get the required speed the driving pulley on the engine should be 20 inches in diameter, worked out as follows:

$D \times R = d \times r$ $2000 = 4 \times r$ $r = \frac{2000}{4} = 500$ or the speed of the engine with an 8-inch pulley should be 1,000 R.P.M. worked out thus $D \times R = d \times r$ $1000 = 4 \times r$ $r = \frac{1000}{4} = 250$

This method applies also to finding the speed and size of pulleys of the cutting box.—Prof. Jno. Evans, O. A. College, Guelph.

Something About Egg Circles. There are about fifty Egg Circles in the province, ranging in membership all the way from four to 400. The story of all these egg circles and others which have failed would give an almost complete picture of how co-operation should, or should not, be carried on. In reading over the names where the circles are established, we find many of them whose previous market was the small-town local dealer, with his uneconomic method of marketing eggs. Such circles are now receiving, in spite of their distance from the central market, wholesale prices while unorganized parties nearer often receive lower prices.

By Way of Remembrance. Grogan—O! hate to mention it, Mrs. Casey, but your husband owed me ten dollars when he died. The Widow—Indeed! Shure it's nice for ye to have something to rymember him by. High rents in Detroit forced a young bookkeeper to send his wife home for a season. On the Big Four, near Penningville, O., his daughter, Dorothy Beatrice was born. A twig on a hydrangea bush in the yard into which he fell, entered the nose of an 11-year-old Presport, L.I. boy and pierced his brain. He died of spinal meningitis two days later.

TIME in farm work will be saved by systematically overhauling the implements and machinery. This should be done after the season's work is over. Use tends to disorganize machinery: the fixed parts become loose through vibration, wear, stress, and strain; bearings, gears, joints, all bright and moving parts are attacked by rust, particularly if left out in the weather; oil holes and grease cups become clogged with gummed oil, dust and trash. All this accumulated matter should be scraped off and the parts wiped down with a rag saturated with kerosene; afterward covered with a coating of grease or oil as a protective measure against the devastating action of rust. To render efficient service and to prevent possible accidents these machines should be kept clean, properly adjusted, and run at correct speed.

The grain grinder shaft and bearings should not be allowed to become gummed up with oil and dust; the burrs or plates should be renewed when worn. In replacing them see that they are attached so that they do not wobble, and that the sieves are free from rust, chaff, sand and gritty matter. All running parts should be kept well oiled.

Every working mechanism of the cutting box should be carefully examined and all trash and gummed oil removed from flywheel shaft, feed rolls, bearings and gears; guards and shields placed in position and securely fixed; the feed rolls should move freely up and down and the safety devices in working order. Attend to the cutter knives, have them properly ground and correctly adjusted to the flywheel in relation to the cutter bar; if too far the fodder will not be properly cut; if too close to the cutter bar the draft of the machine is increased, the knives acting as a brake on the flywheel, dulling both knives and cutter bar. Used with a blower it is important that the proper speed be developed as the fan can only create sufficient blast by running fast enough to force air through the pipe at a rate of 9 to 10 thousand feet per minute. Speed is an important factor in operating these machines for efficient service, not only as to the amount done, but also as to the quality, or the amount of work accomplished, but most manufacturers state in their catalogues the speed at which the machine should travel. The operator should figure out the size of the pulley to attain the speed required.

The rule for speeds of pulleys is the diameter of the "driving" pulley multiplied by its speed is equal to the diameter of the "driven" pulley multiplied by its speed; or $D \times R = d \times r$ in which "D" is the diameter of the driving pulley multiplied by "R" its speed, and "d" the diameter of the driven pulley multiplied by "r" its speed. If we know three of these items we can easily figure out the fourth.

The driving pulley is the one that causes the belt to move.

The driven pulley is the one that is moved by the belt.

Possibly a farmer may have on hand an engine rated 2 h.p., speed 400 revolutions per minute with an 8-inch pulley. He buys a grinder without considering what relation its speed bears to that of his engine. When the grinder is hitched up to the engine it does not deliver the capacity expected of it. This promiscuous buying and want of forethought in purchasing machinery is responsible for a great deal of trouble and dissatisfaction. More attention should be given in this regard when buying additional machinery for the farm. We'll suppose that the grinder bought is rated 2,000 to 2,500 R.P.M., 4 inch or 5 inch pulley; capacity per hour 3 to 10 bushels depending on the condition of the grain.

Relating this grinder to the engine, we find, taking the above formula that $BS \times R = d \times r$ $8 \times 400 = 300$

R.P.M., but the manufacturer's rating calls for 2,000 to 2,500 R.P.M. Hence the grinder is delivering only two-fifths of its rated capacity or something like 1 1/5 bushels per hour. To get the required speed the driving pulley on the engine should be 20 inches in diameter, worked out as follows:

$D \times R = d \times r$ $20 \times 400 = 4 \times 2000$ or the speed of the engine with an 8-inch pulley should be 1,000 R.P.M. worked out thus

$D \times R = d \times r$ $20 \times 1000 = 4 \times 5000$

This method applies also to finding the speed and size of pulleys of the cutting box.—Prof. Jno. Evans, O. A. College, Guelph

Something About Egg Circles.

There are about fifty Egg Circles in the province, ranging in membership all the way from four to 400. The story of all these egg circles and others which have failed would give an almost complete picture of how co-operation should, or should not, be carried on. In reading over the names where the circles are established, we find many of them whose previous market was the small-town local dealer, with his uneconomic method of marketing eggs. Such circles are now receiving, in spite of their distance from the central market, wholesale prices while unorganized points nearer often receive lower prices.

By Way of Remembrance. Grogan—Oh! hate to mention it, Mrs. Casey, but your husband owed me ten dollars when he died. The Widow—Indeed! Shure it's nice for ye to have something to remember him by.

High rents in Detroit forced a young bookkeeper to send his wife home for a season. On the Big Four, near Pemberville O., his daughter, Dorothy Beatrice was born. A twig on a hydrangea bush in the yard into which he fell entered the nose of an 11-year-old Freepport, L.I. boy and pierced his brain. He died of spinal meningitis two days later.

The Red Cross Approved of Black Jack

If you want to know who likes Adams Black Jack Gum, ask the Red Cross. Millions of packages of Adams Black Jack reached the soldiers through the Red Cross. And in war days there wasn't cargo space for anything but essentials.

The soldiers liked the old-time licorice flavor in Adams Black Jack.

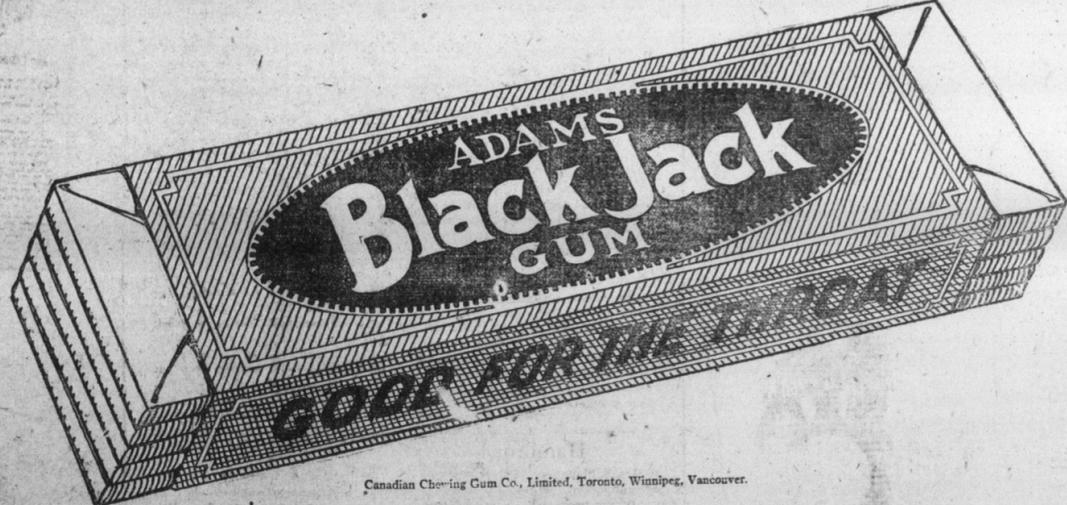

The Red Cross liked the benefits which come from the use of Adams Black Jack—it promoted clean teeth when clean teeth were vital—it gave better digestion where meals were not too regular—nerves were relaxed where nervous strain was greatest—throats were eased and refreshed, thirst quenched, by the soothing licorice.

Its war record makes a pretty good case for Adams Black Jack at home.

The blue package is sold everywhere—5c.

IF STRENGTH DECLINES AS AGE ADVANCES FOLLOW SUGGESTION

So many women grow old before their time, perhaps their wife or sister. A little while ago, buoyant, full of vigor and activity—also enjoyed life and imparted pleasure to the whole family; but now in a few short years she has faded and lost color and strength. She is just ready to develop some disease that will further weaken and debilitate. You remember how it began, failure of appetite, tired in the morning, found household burdensome, always nervous and a little irritable. It's a shame to let her go down hill further when you can build her up so quickly with Ferrozone. The change this nourishing tonic makes in a weak woman is surprising. It gives great zest for food, increases appetite and digestion enormously. The blood gets richer and stronger, and adds new life to every organ in the body. A rebuilding process works through the entire system. The first week will show an improvement, and a month or two will fatten up the thinnest, most run-down woman you can think of. Take Ferrozone for less color, for nervousness, for weakness, for it when run-down and feeling poorly. It will do you more lasting good, keep you in better health than anything else. Just as good for men and children, too, because Ferrozone is harmless and safe, 50c per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Cataractose Co., Niagara, Ont.

From Niagara Falls comes the suggestion that all property, real or personal owned in Ontario by governments, municipalities or commissions, and operated as public utilities, should be subject to municipal assessment and taxation in the same manner as if owned by private persons. Quite right.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-POSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve-tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION.—White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

addition to this he gets his sessional indemnity of $1400 as a member, making $16,400 in all. All the other cabinet ministers receive $6,000 besides their indemnity of $1,400. The new premier will likely refuse to accept the extra $6,000.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Up to the time of the war, people used to say there was little patriotism in this country. Then the war came, and people gave their time, their money and their lives. The patriotic spirit had been there all the time, only there was nothing to bring it out.

It is just the same in regard to home town feeling. Flint is full of it, of people who love this community, who would work just as hard for it, if the call came to them, as they worked in the war. But this spirit is largely unorganized, and if lacks definite and direct objects. Every individual in this community should realize that there is something that he could do and ought to do to realize the hopes of this community. He can help create here The City Beautiful, one that shall be known far and wide as a model for its type and which acts as a unit to accomplish all the brightest hopes and dreams of modern civilization.

A STRANGE WOOING

Action on a Sudden Impulse Lays the Foundation for Success.

By ELIZABETH SCHOEN COBB.

It was a strange wooing, if it could be called such. On the one hand was Bryce Wharton, with strong, earnest love. On the other, trusting, sympathetic Milly Dover. What she thought what sweet words of encouragement she might have had in mind to speak to the ingenious, impetuous young man whose handsome face would appeal to any girl's imagination in a vivid way, she was not allowed to express.

"I have told you just what my heart dictated," Bryce had spoken. "I must not ask you to tell me what you think of it for it would be unfair to yourself and to your family. I only ask you to allow me to hope you will once in awhile remember that I am going to work at an ideal, to come back and tell you of it when I have reached the goal."

"You will be regretted now, and surely welcome then," murmured Milly, and with a brief handshake she was gone. She was almost at the point of tears. "Oh, why did he not—did he not see that I am interested in him, and all he may do, and—and—" and then pretty Milly hid her blushing, longing face in her hands, and only the mellow moonlight and the cooing nightingales saw and pilled.

Headstrong and resolute, set upon an idea and determined to carry it out, Bryce strode down the lonely country road in the direction of home. It had been a new home to him for the past month. It had been as well a new home to his cousin, Evan Gray. Both were orphans. Both had been summoned home from different colleges for an interview with wealthy John Gray, their uncle.

He was a generous-hearted, indulgent old fellow, but he had some practical ideas in that active mind of his. The Elms was a royal home of its kind. He had been a builder of note such, was to become an artist. He was a fair draughtsman, and might in time become an architect. The wishes of Mr. Gray had guided both his nephews in the line in which he had made his business success. By Bryce, however, aside from that, a natural constructive predilection had been inherited. His favorite reading was descriptions of the great structural triumphs of the world, and he reached the city with a pretty fair idea of the road he was about to pursue.

Once well known, paction and a multi-millionaire had made an address at college that had made a great impression on Bryce. He had told how, in his early days, he had given up a good clerical position to accept forty dollars a month in the operating department of the plant until he knew every cut of meat intimately. "Get the rudiments—know the foundation," was his slogan of enterprise.

That was just what Bryce did. He wasted no time in minor clerical capacities. He went to a large firm of contractors erecting a giant skyscraper in the heart of the great city, wore overalls, helped lay the foundation, helped setting the mammoth stone pillars, and found that he had learned something.

One day he was given charge of a portable forge.

His work was to stand above the set steel beams beside the portable forge and heat red hot the bolts used to clamp these and the girders together. It was wonderful, the expert skill acquired in seizing these seething bolts in a pair of pincers, and swinging them so true to a line that the riveter was able to catch them always in the tin pail he held for their reception.

It was nearly noon one eventful day when Bryce held one of the heated bolts ready to swing it to the riveter. In the street below a sudden commotion attracted his attention. A man on horseback was urging up his steed. He had a leather bag on the saddle before him, a revolver menacing a shrinking crowd in pursuit. Even up at that distance from the ground, where human beings below seemed to be mere mimes, Bryce could hear the shouts proclaiming the horseman to be a fugitive thief.

A sudden impulse inspired Bryce with the idea that he might be of some use in the situation. He believed he could help the fugitive where others had failed. He gave the pincers a swing. Whist the flaming bolt cleaved the air and landed on the saddle directly in front of the horseman.

There was a flash as the saddle bolts burst into flame, a shriek of agony from the steed. Then horse and rider rolled to the ground, and some officers rushed up and the episode was over.

When Bryce was summoned below by the building superintendent, it was to learn that his promptness had halted a thief who had snatched a bag from a bank messenger containing a small fortune. His recognition by the bank led to a princely reward, but more valued than that to an influence exerted in his behalf that gave him a position as manager for one of their clients who was the most prominent builder in the city.

The day that Mr. Gray returned home and Evan started out dolefully "to make his mark in the world," Bryce, with a fair bank account and established business standing, received a welcome from his proud old uncle that made him thrill with pride and pleasure.

And when he made his second love confession to blushing Milly and asked her to become his wife, she hid her timid head upon his shoulder and whispered sweetly:

"My answer is the same as it would have been a year ago—yes."

(Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

"You Give Me a Shock."

In his day, and the stately mansion was a sample of his own architecture. He was going on a long trip to Europe. His nephews had graduated. They were welcome to remain, young masters of the house, until his return.

"Then to decide on what you intend to do in the world for a living," was the ultimatum of the old man. "Enjoy yourself for the present, let your minds follow through a year of ease and enjoyment. They will all the more clearly respond to the call for duty when you start out on the real business of life."

The cousins found comfort, luxury and ease indeed in their new life. They had cultured social surroundings and the Dovers were their nearest neighbors. The first time the young men met the fair daughter of the house, Milly, the peerless, they mutually decided they had found the fairest thing on earth.

Bryce found Evan lying in a hammock, dozing, when he reached the Elms. Evan was languid, settled down into the indolence of being as though it was going to last forever.

"I say," he observed, drowsily, "what's this I hear of your leaving in the morning?"

"A simple fact, that is all," replied Bryce, seriously.

"A journey somewhere?"

"No; I am going to the city to look for work."

Evan sat up and regarded his cousin in bewilderment.

"You give me a shock!" he observed. "What's your idea?"

"I cannot afford to waste a year for nothing," was Bryce's response. "Why, another month of this motiveless life would divert me of all energy and ambition. Besides—" and there Bryce paused. He could have told of the urging influence of his love for Milly, but he refrained before a possible rival.

"Sorry," rawned Evan. "Going to leave the field to me, eh—the fair Milly included?"

"She is worth any man's winning," replied Bryce, softly, and went into the house to finish his packing.

The latent aspiration in Evan's mind, if it might be designated as

LABOR TO NAME NATIONAL TICKET.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 20.—The advance guard of delegates has arrived in the city for the first national convention of the American Labor party, which is to be called to order here Saturday. The work of the convention is to elect candidates and adopt a platform for the coming national campaign. The platform as outlined will embody these three principles: Restoration of all civil liberties; public ownership and democratic management of the means of transportation, communication, mines, finance and other monopolies and natural resources; and the abolition of excessive land ownerships and holding land for speculative purpose.

CITIES MAY UNITE.

The cities of Port Arthur and Port William at the head of the Great Lakes, will shortly become one city with a population of 50,000.

POTATOES HIGHER

A typographical error in Schell Bros. Ad yesterday made the price of potatoes read $2.50 a bag when it should have read $2.75. That people read the ads closely was demonstrated by the fact that the paper was out but a short time until their telephones were kept in constant use by people ringing up for potatoes, and a couple of clerks were kept busy explaining the mistake. So this item will explain, potatoes are $2.75 a bag, and yesterday's price was given in error.

Stratford Man to Reformatory

"Are you the person who is going around scaring people and looking in windows?" asked Magistrate J. A. Makins of Stratford of Christopher Boehler when he appeared before his worship yesterday morning on the charge of vagrancy. Chris meekly answered that he didn't know anything about it.

The Magistrate sentenced him to six months in the Ontario Reformatory with an indeterminate term not exceeding two years less one day.

AGAIN MOOTING HOCKEY LEAGUE

Three U. S. and Three Canadian Clubs Suggested.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—Raymond Coll Jr., writes in the Dispatch: According to word emanating from Montreal, there is now a movement on foot to organize a professional hockey league of six clubs, three in the States and three on the Canadian side.

It is claimed by them that there are approximately 400 first-class players in the States and Canada who can be considered as "big league" timber.

This would allow the clubs a playing strength of about 17 men, all rated stars in the game. After the season has been allotted, the clubs would then be free to bid for any additional men whom they might desire up to the player limit agreed upon.

The rumor has it that several big financial interests have been approached in the larger cities, both in the States and Canada, and these interests are said to be very much in favor of the plan. It is claimed that all that is needed now is for some one to start the ball rolling.

These six cities suggested are Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburg, Montreal, Toronto, and Ottawa. Money interests have been approached in all of these cities and all are enthusiastic over the plan, provided it assumes tangible form.

BIG PRICE FOR RACEHORSE

Eddie Mitchell, noted throughout the world as a driver and horse trainer died while motoring from Toledo to his farm, near the Ohio-Michigan boundary line. Mitchell raced in England and on the continent and in 1905 was awarded the championship of Europe with Alta A2-worthy, a three-year-old trotter.

The O. J. C. issued the following statement: "The concession made to owners by the Ontario Jockey Club to take their horses out of Canada without forfeiting their eligibility to the King's Plate during the period of the war when racing ceased in Canada, has not been withdrawn. Horses to be eligible for the King's Plate, to be run in 1920, must return and be trained on Ontario from January 1, 1920.

"LOOK NOT UPON WINE" her off and the next thing you know she is with the merry merry, and for the first time in her life finds out that a lovey ain't only a man. "But Gerald, that's the guy on the farm back home—he's in love with the girl and he goes to New York to bring her home and keep her straight, cause the farm folks think that no sooner do you step off the train in New York than you are a gone baby. "Well, this rube gets into a lot of trouble and his money gives out and he gets a job as a bus boy in a swell restaurant, and he ain't been on the job long until who should he see but the girl streaking in the cut house looking like a million dollars, and there are three fellows with her. Well, he watches her, and pretty soon after the party gets a little gay and a couple more girls join their table the bus boy edges over to them and stands in front of Mary and tells her not to look upon the wine when it is red in the cup. Well, that should of landed anybody a laugh cause she was drinking yellow champagne out of a tall neck glass, and I reckon it made her sorta sore, because she went right ahead and got on a nice ladylike stew. Gerald only he tells the girl that to-morrow is July 1 and the country is going dry, and he has got eight barrels of cider at home.
