Victory In Spring Certain—Sir John French Says So

Disgraceful Waste of Money In Government's Buying of War Supplies

GERMANY IS LOSING HEART

Morale of the Kaiser's Troops Shows Falling Off, Says British Chief.

AMMUNITION IS SHORT

Marshal French Believes That Decisive and Definite Victory Is At Hand.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 23.—"Ammunition, ammunition, nothing but ammunition." That is the essential problem which the war presents, in the opinion of Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces in France and Belgium, according to the Havas Agency's correspondent at British headquarters.

"Ammunition is the pre-requisite of all progress and of all pushing ahead," Sir John is quoted as saying, in an interview with the Havas correspondent. "Everyone needs plenty of ammunition, but the Germans need it more than we do. I have had a feeling for some time past that they were being sparing of their shells. They don't squander them as at the beginning. They are economizing, because the lack of nitrates necessary for the manufacture of explosives is making itself felt in Germany.

"Neither is the morcale of their troops the same. One gets from them an impression of fatigue and lassitude. They had based all their calculations on a sudden smashing victory. That plan failed, and the state of mind of their troops has suffered as a consequence.

"Economic difficulties in the interior of the German Empire are becoming more serious. No doubt the Germans still are far from famine, but they manifestly are hampered in obtaining a good supply, and that is a great deal.

"I do not believe it will be a long war. Spring promises well for the Allies.

"We are convinced, I and all those here, that a decisive and definite victory awaits us at the end of all these hard months of war."

"RODE THE BUMPERS" SO THEY COULD ENLIST

Three Men From Hamilton Appeared in Local Police Court.

Following their pleas for a chance to enlist, John Hess, John Smith and Rowland Howard, all of Hamilton, arrested by the police last night on a vagrancy charge, were today turned over to the military recruiting officers by Police Magistrate J. C. Judd.

Hess, who acted as spokesman for the trio, said that he was an ex-machine gun man and a former soldier. He asked that he and his pals be given a chance to enlist, as they had ridden a freight from Hamilton to this city in order that they might be able to join the volunteers.

His worship readily consented to give the men a chance to enlist, and made arrangements to this end with recruiting officers.

The men were found by Patrolman Fowler in a shack at the corner of Hale and Trafalgar streets, sitting around a fire they had started. Officer Fowler escorted the men to police headquarters, where they were detained over night.

DESERTER OR NOT?

Uniform Found But No One Reported Missing.

Military police are looking, although with little expectation of success, for the man whose uniform, complete, was found today hidden in a barn at the rear of a laundry at 98 Carling street.

Evidently the uniform had been secreted there for some time. The man had not been missed from his battalion, and the officers have no clue as to whom the deserter can be.

BOOTS ISSUED TO FIRST CANADIAN CONTINGENT BAD

Second Issue Made in England Shortly After Overseas Men Arrived.

BELGIAN BOYS MUTILATED

Sergt. Wyse Invalided Home Through Injuries—Kitchener's Plans Discussed.

One of the two first of the London men among the First Canadian Contingent to be invalided home is Sergt. J. Wyse, 55 Tecumseh avenue, who arrived in the city two days ago. He went to England with the Nova Scotia Highlanders, and while at Salisbury Plain had his knee severely injured by a rifle box which fell on it. For fifteen weeks he was in the hospital, and now has been sent back as incapacitated for further service. Nevertheless he is determined that if his leg gets well he will enlist again.

Wyse says that half the 17th Battalion, to which the Highlanders were attached, has left for the front, but that the other half, comprising the Fort Garry Horse, is still at Tidworth waiting for remounts.

He declares that the boots of many of the Canadian soldiers were so bad that a second issue, of the Kitchener type had to be given out. These latter, he states, proved of splendid quality and a great contrast to those issued in Canada, which he says wore out in a very few weeks.

Recruiting Good.

The returned soldier says that recruiting in England is by no means backward, and that at Salisbury Plain alone a million and a half men are training now. He declares that practically all the men of the country who are physically fit and of military age have joined the colors, and that the older men are recruiting for a home guard. In the town where he was born he found only two of his former companions, and they had both been declared unfit for service.

Wyse states that the men who are sent back from the front wounded are suffering in most cases from shrapnel injuries. He says many injured are being brought in to the hospitals every day. They tell stories of the trenches which bring the war very vividly to the minds of their hearers. They describe most of the fighting as being at close quarters, the trenches often being not more than 35 yards distant from each other. They say a 60-yard gain daily is a very big gain indeed under present conditions.

More Relief for Men.

The sergeant states that Earl Kitchener is arranging to give more relief to the men in the trenches who, up to the present, have been in the trenches for three days and out for 48 hours. He declares it became an absolute necessity to change this condition, as the men came back from the firing line in a state of practical collapse and partially deaf from the continual noise to which they had been subjected.

Referring to the published stories of German atrocities wreaked on Belgian children Wyse says he saw a number of young Belgians all boys between the ages of 14 and 18, with their hands cut off. In Netheravon hospital he was in a bed next to one in which was a Belgian boy between 16 and 17 years of age who had his right hand off.

He suggests that gifts of magazines, etc., sent to the Canadian headquarters staff for distribution to the various hospitals, would be much appreciated.

Conditions Bad.

Conditions at Salisbury he describes as very bad, and states that no less than 1,300 deaths took place among the men of the first contingent. However, he states that he men were all in he best of spirits when they left for the front, and the London boys

Low Record For Gold Exchange

[Canadian Press.]

New York, March 23.—Another break in foreign exchange quotations today between New York and London brought the rates down to the lowest within the memory of the oldest brokers. The decline was followed by the announcement of the engagement for shipment here of $6,300,000 from the gold holdings of the Bank of England to Ottawa, the largest amount in one day since the return movement to this country began, and bringing the total up to $24,800,000. This represents nearly one-third of the gold sent from the United States to Ottawa in the early months of the war. This disturbed condition of the exchange market is attributed chiefly to the enormous purchases of war supplies in this country by the governments of the Allies. Exchange on Paris moved today to its highest record, which actually means the lowest as regards the purchasing power of French money here.

Went to Their Death Standing at Salute

Shouting "Vive la France!" Officers and Crew of the Battleship Bouvet Went Down With Their Ship In Dardanelles—New Story of Disaster.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 23.—Standing at salute and shouting "Vive La France," the officers and crew of the French battleship Bouvet, sunk in the Dardanelles on March 18, went down with their ship, according to the Tenedos correspondent of the Athens Patris, who thus describes the action in which the Bouvet and the Gaulois were engaged:

"The captain of the Bouvet had been ordered to cross a dangerous mine zone and force a passage to Chanak Kalessi, thus making the Allies masters of the straits as far as Nagara. At 1:20 p.m. the Bouvet was five miles from Chanak, and was firing at Fort Dardanus. She had crossed two mine zones. The Gaulois followed, firing all her guns. The commander of the Bouvet, by a skillful manoeuvre, avoided two mines which were exploded by a destroyer, but a third struck her in the region of her magazines, and she sank by the head.

"Seven survivors of the Bouvet climbed into a boat and spent the night in a bay on the European side of the straits. They were taken off the next day by a British destroyer.

"When the captain of the Gaulois saw the Bouvet was sinking he ordered "full steam ahead," without an instant's hesitation, but his ship had been struck seven times, and he was obliged to put back, anchoring off Mavrais Island."

A dispatch from Mytilene says a division of the allied fleet is still keeping watch on the Gulf of Smyrna.

A Greek ship picked up a floating mine near Imbros Island and another was found by fishermen near Lemnos.

"PRZEMYSL" NEARLY CHOKED THE NEWSIES

Place: City Hall Park.

Time: Monday noon. Huge stacks of "De lates' wuxtres" arrive. Big headlines read: "Przemysl Falls." Newsboys see the long-expected crisis has arrived. Consternation. Profanity. Blue streaks of it. Derision from the mob. Papers held out without a shriek.

Then all along the line with varying degrees of courage: "Here yah wuxtree. Big fortres' taken."

"Y' extraw. Big lates'. Just out. (Looks despairingly at headline. Mob waits for it). Per-Rem-Ess falls. Yeh, Jimmie. I got it. Per-Rem-Ees. De L is ain't in it."

More of the unusual silence.

"Woh. Speshul. Final just out. Weemsil, big fort captured."

"Haw. Haw listen. Weemsil. Hey Alsie. Get yer Swedish uncle He'll know."

"Y uxtre. Waddeya read dere? Austrian shimees fall; 50,000 capchured."

"Here yah get dat latest. Allies take Sha-Measles."

(Weak voice) "Paper, misher. De Russians got sha-sha-oh heil. It fell mister."

Someone discovers "Pshay-Mish." Joy shouts. Unusual noise Curtain. — From Detroit Free Press.

ITALIAN DEPUTIES TAKE VACATION

Meanwhile the Cabinet Will Consider "Pressing International Questions."

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, via Paris, March 23.—Before the adjournment yesterday of the Chamber of Deputies until May 12, Premier Salandra declared the Government did not intend to rule without a parliament, but that a vacation was necessary that the cabinet might centre its attention upon pressing internal and international questions.

Contrary to the assertions of Socialist members, the Premier said, the country is not suffering from a shortage of food, and such exaggerated statements created a wrong impression abroad. The country suffers inconveniences from the war, he admitted, but the Government is doing everything possible to provide work for the unemployed.

"GOOD-NIGHT, GERMANY" DECLARES DRUMMER NOW IN DEUTSCHLAND

London Wholesale Firm Which Once Did a Good Business With German Firms, Indirectly Receives Copy of Letter Sent From Berlin by Traveller

By a roundabout method, a London wholesale firm, which did a large trade with Germany before the war, but which has banned German goods ever since, has received a letter from a German traveller who formerly called on them, but is now in Berlin.

The letter was intrusted to an American who made copies of it and forwarded it to some of the German's old customers.

The traveller declares, in American slang, that it is "good night, Germany' since the British got in, and that many people realize that the best thing that can happen the country is to have it thoroughly beaten.

Was Chesty, But Now—

"I was just as chesty as the rest of them a few months ago," he writes, "but it was the confidence of vanity. At heart I am Socialist, and I think that Liebknecht is the hope of Germany. As you know he is practically a prisoner since he refused to agree to the war grants in the Reichstag. He will be Germany's great figure, perhaps the Kaiser's successor, and then we will all be free, as you in the United States of America or Dominion of Canada. We commenced poorly, and we are all to blame, and we must take our punishment. Yet we all feel that we must fight while the country says so. But the country may change its mind. Liebknecht is making a few wake up."

The traveller hopes that within a short time there will be a resumption of trade. His London customer is inclined to believe that the German commercial man is preparing a "soft spot" and is not inclined to swallow his proffered friendship without a grain of salt.

FORMER LONDONER TAKES LIFE AT LEROY, N. Y.

Harold Rawson Found Dead in His Room With Rifle in Hand.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Buffalo, N. Y., March 23.—Harold Rawson, aged 24, formerly of London, Ont., and who has two brothers and one sister all residing in Woodstock, Ont., shot himself through the head in the home of Miss Lucinda P. Rawson, in Leroy, N. Y., early Sunday, and his body was found lying across the bed with rifle in hand by Policeman Holsted, who went to the house to summon the Rawson lad to a hearing before Justice Skinner to inquire into the competency of the young man's aunt.

In a letter found near him he said he would like to have the body turned over to the Toronto, Ont., University for experimental purposes. For several years Rawson resided in Woodstock, Ont., and he returned to LeRoy only one year ago to purchase a vending machine business. It is believed he became involved in financial affairs with his aunt, Miss Rawson, and did not care to be called as witness in the proceedings. Miss Rawson was out of town when the youth took his life. C. D. Rawson, father of the deceased, resides in Jacksonville, Florida, but he is en route to Leroy to make preparation for the funeral. Late last night it had not been decided where interment would take place, but it was believed probable that the body would be shipped to Woodstock, Ont., for burial.

ANTWERP TO BE EVACUATED

Germans To Entrench for Last Stand From Yser To the Meuse.

ALLIES ARE TOO STRONG

Troops Instructed Not To Destroy If Necessary To Retreat From Belgium.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 23.—The correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphs from Amsterdam that he learns from a most authoritative quarter that the Germans intend to evacuate Antwerp by May 1. They will entrench directly from the Yser to the Meuse, where they expect to make their final stand in Belgium.

"The German intelligence bureau recently has been exceptionally active in Belgium and France, and has sent to main headquarters exhaustive reports about the strength of the Allies all along the line, with the view to making it understood in Germany it is futile to resist their pressure.

"Plans for an elaborate defence of Antwerp recently were given up because it has become obvious, I am told, that Antwerp will be of no use to the Germans unless they violate Holland's neutrality, and the violation of Belgium's had results calculated to cause the Germans to pause before violating that of another country. All the German commanders in Flanders and Antwerp have been warned to be continually in readiness to leave their posts at 30 minutes' notice. The German troops have received instructions not to destroy anything on their retreat if the Belgians are willing to let them retreat unhurt. I am informed."

CANADIAN LIEUT. TELLS OF TRENCHES

Down With Concussion of the Brain From Bursting German Shells.

A QUEER EXPERIENCE

Says German Wounded Are Convinced London Is in the Hands of Kaiser's Men.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, March 23.—A Canadian lieutenant in a hospital here furnishes a striking personal proof of how men may be laid aside, although perfectly untouched by the enemy's missiles. He was in the trenches when a shell burst in the neighborhood. Although not struck, he was incapacitated by concussion of the brain. "It is utterly impossible," he said, "to give any adequate idea of the conditions at the front. The atmosphere, to begin with, is permeated with a faint odor of chloride lime which hangs over everything. When the artillery is not active you have a perfectly peaceful countryside, but you know right under the surface of the earth for miles and miles are thousands of men. It is perfectly ghostly at night, and every now and then a great blue star bursts in the sky. I got lost outside the trenches one night. I had gone forward to reconnoitre, when a German star burst. I fell flat at once, and when it was dark again, and I was able to get up, I was utterly unable to remember in which direction our trench lay. I moved along cautiously for some time, and then heard low singing voices that I knew were English. I called out and crawled over the parapet of the trenches, incidentally they look tremendously big from the side facing the enemy. If a German star had burst when I was crawling over, I should have been picked off for certain.

A Queer Experience.

"We had a queer experience once when the trenches were within fifty yards of the Germans. A voice called out: 'Hullo, Canada; how's Vancouver looking?' It was evidently a German who rejoined his colors when the war broke out."

"The German intelligence department is perfectly marvelous. When we first relieved the British, some who were coming back told us the Germans had asked if Canadians had already arrived or were due next day. I was in the hospital in France with several German prisoners. They were well educated, intelligent. All were convinced that London was already in German hands. There is not the least doubt that the general body of Germans think the war nearly over in their favor, and that after England and France are utterly disposed off, Russia will collapse in about three weeks."

The Trip Contest

The great quantity of war and other news today has resulted in a pressure on space, which has made it necessary to withhold the announcement in the advertisement columns giving further information in regard to the contest trip which The Advertiser is offering to four London young ladies the latter part of June.

The announcement, with full details in regard to voting, etc., accompanied by a nomination coupon, will appear shortly.

GOVT. REFUSED TO BUY DRUGS UNLESS TORY MEMBER'S CLERK WAS APPOINTED AS MIDDLEMAN

Bauer & Black Sold Direct To Russians, French and British.

CANADIAN GOT RAKE-OFF

Young Powell Charged Government $9,000 More Than He Paid.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, March 23.—A new view of the famous military drug transaction was given the public accounts committee this morning. To the present it has been insisted that the emergency surgical order could only have been filled by Bauer & Black, of Chicago, that they would not sell to the Government except through a local agent, and therefore W. F. Garland, Conservative member for Carleton, appointed his drug clerk Powell agent, and Powell made $9,000 as a consequence.

The Middleman.

This morning F. J. Shaver, the Canadian representative of Bauer & Black, testified that he came to Ottawa to do business with the Government, but was told by Government officials that the Government would not do business direct with his firm, but that there had to be a local middleman. On the suggestion of Mr. Garland, therefore, he appointed Mr. Powell. Mr. Shaver said that Bauer & Black sold direct to the Russian, French, British and United States Governments. They sold these governments at the prices charged Powell. They would have sold the Canadian Government direct at the price they sold to Powell. In this way the profits of the middleman would have been saved to the Government. Mr. Shaver appeared to be a typical first-class, upright businessman.

Mr. Shaver's Story.

He said he heard through customers that the Canadian Government wanted surgical supplies for the first contingent. He came to Ottawa looking for Government business, called on Col. Jones, head of the militia medical branch, and Col. Jones told him in the presence of Major Drum that the Government would not do business with his firm direct, but that there must be a local agent. That afternoon Mr. Garland suggested the appointment of an agent, and as a result Mr. Powell was appointed. He was not the only agent of Bauer & Black in Ottawa, for Graham, a local druggist, and Harrison, a local druggist, handled these goods. There would have been no objection to any of them selling to the Government but the man Powell, who worked for a Conservative member, was the only man who had done so. Mr. Shaver said that he had asked Mr. Garland, M. P., why the Carleton Drug Company should not handle the contract. Garland replied:

"No chance; you must get an outside man."

It was after this that Garland had introduced Powell, and Mr. Shaver had appointed him as an Ottawa agent of the firm. The goods had been shipped direct to the militia stores at Ottawa, freight and duty paid.

To the Hon. Dr. Reid, Mr. Shaver said, that until now he had never mentioned to anyone the statement made to him by Col. Jones that Bauer & Black could not deal direct with the Government, but that there must be a middleman.

He did not tell Director of Contracts Brown what Col. Jones had told him of the necessity of doing business with this Government through a middleman only.

Powell's Profits.

Mr. Shaver said that the profit of 25 per cent made by Powell from the Government was not an excessive profit for a jobber to make in selling his goods.

"But there was no need for Powell to have been in the transaction at all?"

"Not as far as we were concerned."

"You would have sold direct to the Government?"

"Certainly. We sell direct to the Russian, the French, the British, and the United States governments. We would have sold direct to the Canadian Government, but we were given to understand that they would not buy direct from us."

"What prices would you have charged the Canadian Government for these goods?"

"The same price that we charged Mr. Powell; the same prices we charged other governments."

"Did you decline to give Mr. Brown prices on field dressings?"

"Well, Mr. Brown, the director of contracts, showed me a British field dressing, which was a design we didn't make, and would have to put up especially. I told him that I could not quote him the exact price until I had consulted with my firm. However, after looking at the dressing, I said I thought that it would cost about eighteen cents."

"What did you sell it to Powell for?"

"Sixteen cents."

"It was for this that he charged the Government 23 cents in the first place, and afterward reduced the price to 21 cents?"

"I believe so."

"What quantity of them did you sell?"

"Thirty thousand."

RIDES NINE MILES TO FIND COMRADES

In Modest Letter, Capt. Ware Tells of Struggle To Reach "Lost Battalions," Which Were Blindly Heading For German Lines in Darkness.

In a letter to relatives in the city, which they did not choose to make public until it had come through other sources, Capt. Frank Ware, staff captain of the 1st Infantry Brigade in France, relates in modest style how he rode for nine hours in the saddle in order to find the Ammunition Column and Machine Gun Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force when they lost their way.

It appears that through an error, the two corps took the wrong roads and travelled for hours in a direction that brought them within range of German rifles. Only the night saved them, though at the same time the night was responsible for their being lost.

Searched and Found.

There appears to have been no question in the mind of Capt. Ware as to what should be done when the corps were not in their places. He immediately stated that he would find them, and for hours on end searched for them. He rode through mud which almost engulfed him and his horse, and at times the quest seemed to be next to hopeless. He found no trace of the corps until it was almost daylight. A short time more and the enemy would have discovered the proximity of the Canadians.

Covered With Mud.

Capt. Ware writes that he was covered with mud from head to heels, when he found them, but that his order immediately stopped them, and the officers brought them to the right road.

He thanks the compass given him by Major Little for his success in finding "the lost battalions." Without it he could not have kept his bearings in the long search over miles.

MILVERTON LAD'S MIND IS BLANK

William Moore, aged 13, of Milverton, his mind a blank, caused by injuries he received when his bicycle swerved into the side of an automobile today, is lying in a state of coma in Victoria Hospital unable to tell who his relatives are, how he got to this city or where he has been staying.

The youth was riding his bicycle on the devil strip between Burwell and Colborne streets on Dundas street. When near Burwell an automobile, containing a man named Steele and another man, ran close to the boy. The machine was half way past when the lad's wheel swerved, throwing him against the side of the automobile. Moore was knocked unconscious. He was picked up and rushed to Victoria Hospital in the automobile.

Suffers of Cuts.

At the hospital the authorities found that the boy was suffering from a number of cuts and bruises on his head and face. He had one bad cut under his chin. His left arm was crushed but no bones were broken. House surgeons dressed the boy's injuries, but on account of his being unconscious, they were unable to secure any information as to what he was doing in London.

To all questions the injured boy mumbled something about Milverton.

His identity was established by a note he had in one of his pockets.

DOMINION HOUSE NEARING CLOSE

Expected That Prorogation Will Be Reached Next Week —Seed Bill Passed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, March 23.—The first morning sitting of the session was held this morning, and it is expected that prorogation will be reached next week. There was no formality at the opening of sitting this morning. The Government at once put the House on the bill under the authority of which the Government proposes to make advances of seed grain to the farmers of the West who lost their crops last year, and who find themselves without seed for planting this summer. The bill is one of some financial importance, as the movement proposes to take authority to advance several million dollars in this way. There was considerable discussion over the proposal before it was finally allowed to pass.

PREMIER READS TOUCHING LETTER

Message Tells of Valor of the Princess Patricias in Action.

WRITTEN FROM BELGIUM

Canadian Light Infantry Engaged in Helping King Albert's Army.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 22.—The living words of a dead soldier were read to the Canadian Parliament this afternoon.

Last night news came that Col. Farquhar had been killed. This morning a letter from him reached Sir Robert Borden.

It was a hastily-pencilled note from the commander of the Princess Patricia Regiment, modestly commending his force for a soldierly performance on the firing line, and in the envelope were inclosed the congratulations of the British commander, Sir John French, the congratulations of corps associated with the Patricias and of neighboring commanders.

The letter from Col. Farquhar was read by the Premier and heard by Parliament with an evidence of controlled emotion.

It mentioned, incidentally, that a great grandson of the famous Papineau, who led the '37 rebellion, had gallantly distinguished himself in the service of the empire.

Was From Belgium.

The date of Col. Farquhar's letters is not the least interesting feature; it is written from "Belgium."

Sir Robert Borden stated: "It is with deep and unfeigned sorrow that we have heard the news of his untimely death. Of all the able men who have filled the position of secretary to the Governor-General of Canada, I do not know of anyone who has performed his duty in that responsible position more efficiently or who has more thoroughly endeared himself to the Canadian people than did Col. Farquhar. I know that all the honorable members of the House will join with me in an expression of our deep sorrow for the loss which the empire has sustained, and in a message of sympathy to those whom he has left behind. A few days ago I had a letter from him in the trenches, in which he spoke with very great pride of the daring of his regiment in the field and of the fine work which they had done. At that time he said to me that the work had already received the strong commendation of the general commanding the division. If the House will permit me, I will read a few short extracts from his letter, and the telegrams which accompany it.

Letter From Dead Soldier.

The letter is as follows:

"Belgium, March 4, 1915.

"'My Dear Sir Robert:

"'You may like to have a copy of these telegrams.

"'The episode which called them forth was the rushing of a German trench and its subsequent destruction.

"'The enemy had been very active in front of us and night reconnaissance made it clear to me that we had an opening. For various reasons it was inadvisable to occupy the trench, so I got leave to rush it, and pull down the parapet. Crabbe and Papineau led the party, the latter being our bomb-thrower. They both showed very great dash and ran the Teutons off their legs.

"'Later in the letter, Col. Farquhar wrote: 'Nothing could have been more spirited than the way the men went in.'"

Messages Inclosed.

The messages which Col. Farquhar inclosed were as follows: "Well done, Princess Patricia's Light Infantry."

The following message from the fifth corps received from the Irish Fusiliers, begins:

"The corps commander has great pleasure in transmitting to you the following message from second army, 9:18 a.m.: The army commander wishes you to express to the Princess Patricia Canadian Infantry his appreciation of the grand piece of work performed by them this morning. From Brigade Major."

"To the Princess Pat's Light Infantry—Gen. Plumer wires: Please give my heartiest congratulations to the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry on their gallant and useful exploit. (From Brigade Major.)"

"To Officer Commanding Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry: Best congratulations on splendid achievement last night. Please tell us how you do it. (From Officer Commanding 3rd King's Royal Rifles.)"

"To Princess Patricia's Canadian L. I.: Heartiest congratulations on success last night. (From 1st Canadian Division.)"

From Commander-in-Chief.

Tribute From Sir Wilfrid.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated: "The intelligence which has just been conveyed to the House by my right honorable friend, the Prime Minister, arouses at once sorrow and also pride and gratification that we have this testimony to the good work done by our boys at the front. May I be permitted to say I was touched to hear the name of Papineau mentioned as among those who have done so well. And the House will be gratified to know that the honorable gentleman who is the bearer of this name is a great-grandson of one who did good work in his day and in his own way for freedom in Canada. The words of praise of Col. Farquhar are, I am sure, a deserved tribute. It has been my personal privilege to know a good many of those who hold the office that he held, and it is due to him to say that by his tact, kindness and good judgment and his universal constant desire to do his duty, he was the equal of any of his colleagues."

Has Son Wounded Asks for Transfer

Sergt.-Major Newson Owes Kaiser Blood Debt—Will Wipe It Out.

Regimental Sergt.-Major Newman, of the 33rd Battalion, received word yesterday that his son, Corp. Nathan Charles Newman, of 92 Aylmer avenue, serving with the 1st Battalion in France, had been struck down by a German bullet.

Immediately Sergt.-Major Newman applied to Lieut.-Col. Wilson, of the 33rd, for permission to apply for a place in the 18th Battalion. He felt that he must get to France as soon as possible to pay back the blood debt he owes the Germans.

It is understood that Lieut.-Col. Wigle, of the 18th, will make the transfer and that Newman will be given a place in the firing line at as early a date as possible.

His son is suffering from a gunshot wound in the leg.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, March 22.—James Huggins, a young soldier, who left Brantford with the first contingent, has passed away in the Dublin military hospital, where he was suffering from appendicitis. He was formerly employed at the Massey-Harris works, and had served a year with the "Duffs" before enlisting to go to the front. Huggins had been shipped to France before he fell ill.

His parents reside at 17 Elgin street, while his wife is at present in England.

SECOND GALT MAN FALLS IN BATTLE

GALT, March 22.—Lance Corporal Peter Nelson is the second Galt man to fall in battle. This morning a prominent citizen of the town received a letter from Lieut. R. R. Brown, now in England, and a member of the first Canadian contingent, in which he gives the information that he had received a letter from Captain Thomas Lockhart, in command of the Galt detachment at the front, that Peter Nelson had been shot through the head and died instantly on March 2.

This news was confirmed this afternoon in the casualty list, given out at Ottawa. Peter Nelson was a native of Falkirk, Scotland, but had lived in Galt two years.

A brother, James Nelson, is a member of the 18th Battalion, C. E. F., now in London.

The deceased soldier was also a member of the Caledonian Club and well known about town.

Col. Laurie a "Tassie Boy."

Lieut. Col. G. B. Laurie, Royal Irish Fusiliers, who was killed in action, was an old Tassie boy, having attended Galt's noted school in 1879 and 1880.

Gale in Straits Stops Fighting Morale Good

Sailors of the Franco-British Fleet Eager For More Action.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 23.—A gale blew through the Dardanelles Straits yesterday, and the allied warships did not leave their anchorages, says a Havas dispatch from Athens. The morale of the crews on the vessels of the Franco-British fleet is said to be excellent notwithstanding their losses, and they are eager to get into action.

It seems certain that Forts Chanak Kalessi, Hamideh and Kilid Bahr still are capable of offering a stubborn resistance. A number of Turkish field batteries have been posted along the straits, and German howitzers have been mounted on rails, so they can be moved quickly to threatened points. This is supposed to explain the firing from certain forts, such as Kum Kale, which were supposed to have been destroyed.

TRIED TO BREAK THE IRON CIRCLE

Przemysl's Commander Urged His Men To Win Out Or Die.

SOME WOULDN'T FIGHT

Picked Troops Were Unable To Make Headway Against the Besiegers.

[Canadian Press.]

Petrograd, via London, March 23.—Events which preceded the final desperate sortie of the beleaguered garrison in the Austrian fortress of Przemysl, designed to break through the encircling ring of Russian troops, are described in an official communication issued here last night. The statement says:

"During the last days before the final sortie the garrison received increased rations. Each soldier was given biscuits to last five days, warm new clothing and new boots. Officers were instructed to explain to the troops that if they returned to the fortress an inglorious fate awaited them and consequently they must pierce the Russian front at any cost.

Sortie Falls.

"An easterly direction was chosen for the sortie as the line of least resistance as well as because it led to the district where the Russians had large stores of arms and ammunition. More than 20,000 men were ordered to participate in the sortie, but several units refused to move despite the urgings of the commanders. Only the 23rd Honved division and some parts of the 85th Landwehr and 4th Hussars took an active part. They were promptly and decisively defeated.

"An official Austrian communication states that the garrison returned to Przemysl because it encountered overwhelming Russian forces. In this connection it should be noted that the Russian forces near Przemysl never were large, and the great sortie was repulsed principally by territorial troops and reserves. The total number of the captured garrison exceeded Russian expectations.

Addresses Defenders.

"Following is the text of an order issued by Gen. Kusmanek to the garrison of the fortress on March 18, the day before the sortie:

"'Soldiers: For half a year we children of almost all nationalities of the beloved fatherland have been incessantly opposing the enemy. With the help of God and your bravery we have successfully defended the fortress against the enemy despite attacks, privations and cold.

"'You already merit the highest gratitude of your commander-in-chief and country, and have won the admiration even of the enemy. In the beloved fatherland thousands of hearts beat for you, and millions wait with bated breath for news from you. Heroes, I announce to you my last summons. The honor of your country demands it. I shall lead you to pierce with your points of steel the iron circle of the enemy.

"'On then! March on! Even further, unsparing in your efforts, until we rejoin the main army which, after a hard fight now nears us. We are on the eve of a great battle, for the enemy will be reluctant to abandon a prize he has coveted so long. Know then, true defenders of Przemysl, each must have but one thought. That is, forward, ever forward. Smash everything that bars your path.

"'Soldiers, we have shared our last provisions. The honor of our country and ourselves forbids that after your glorious struggle, we should fall an easy prey to the enemy. Be heroic warriors, and we shall open the way.'"

GENERALS DECORATED.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 23.—Gens. Maunoury and De Villaret, who recently were severely wounded while reconnoitering a German trench, have been decorated. Gen. Maunoury has been given the military medal and Gen. De Villaret a commandership in the Legion of Honor.

TO HELP HORSES.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, via Paris, March 23.—The Italian Government has asked President Hawkesley, of the English Society for the Protection of Animals, whether he would be willing to organize a Blue Cross Society in this country in case of war. Mr. Hawkesley estimated that the cost of a complete hospital, including horse ambulances, food for animals, surgical instruments and stables would be $15,000. It is said that if Italy enters the contest the British Blue Cross stands ready to provide a completely equipped hospital if contributions are started here.

Nervous Prostration and Heart Troubles

Nervous Prostration, or Neurasthenia, is one of the worst forms of nerve trouble and brings about a general weakness of the whole nervous system.

The symptoms presenting themselves are headache, a feeling of depression, disturbed and restless, unfreshing sleep, often troubled with dreams, fright when in crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, fright at travelling, muscular weakness, sense of fatigue upon effort, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected, too.

All are curable if taken in time.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just what you require at this time. They strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Mrs. John Hewson, Caledonia, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know the great benefit your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. I suffered for four years with heart trouble and nervous prostration. I was so bad I could not go upstairs without sitting down at the top before I could go to my room. I could not sleep nor could I lie on my left side, for it would seem as if my heart would stop. I thought my time had come. I was doctoring with the doctor, but didn't get any benefit. I took eight boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and am enjoying good health."

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto.

How To Get Rid of a Bad Cough.

A Home-Made Remedy That Will Do It Quickly—Cheap and Easily Made.

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth), pour into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes 16 ounces—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in five minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. It also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex"—do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Company, Toronto, Ont.

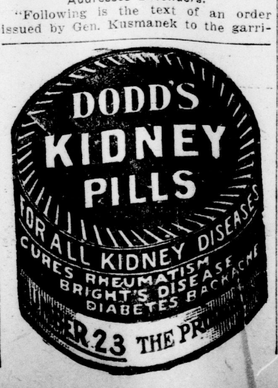

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

BRICS, LONGCLOTHS AND PILLOW COTTONS WERE THE FAVORITES OF OUR GRANDMOTHERS.

The best was none too good in those days, when most of the sewing was accomplished by hand. They knew well the sort required for this purpose or that; whether it must be the fine thread weave for one use or the heavier thread for another; and with what accuracy each stitch and detail was carried out. Grandmother's labor and knowledge of selecting good cottons were rewarded by the long-wearing qualities of her finished work.

Today you have the same privilege in being able to procure these famous cottons, acknowledged as the world's best in quality and finish.

PRIVATES TELL OF POOR BOOTS

Soles of Pair Worn Had Torn in Two Weeks' Time.

FAVORS ENGLISH BOOT

Manager of Montreal Concern Testifies as to Footwear He Turned Out.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, March 23.—Privates Ewing and McGarvey, of Montreal, the two soldiers with experience in boot manufacture, who had advised Montreal regimental boards as to the defects in condemned boots, were the first witnesses called at this morning's meeting of the Parliamentary boot committee.

Private Ewing produced the boots he had worn, and stated the soles had torn in two weeks. He also produced other Montreal boots with the same defect. These could not be repaired, he said, because if they would not hold stitching they would not hold rivets.

Private McGarvey, of the 6th Field Ambulance, said he had been a shoemaker, but admitted he knew nothing about tannage processes, or of Canadian leathers. He said the sole leather in the army boots seemed to be of inferior leather, the heels being spongy in the centre. He also stated there was sheepskin in one pair of Tetreault boots served out. The boots in general, he claimed, were "all right for a Sunday," but far inferior to the British boot served out to the Royal Scotch Fusiliers, to which he had belonged in Scotland. He was shown a sample British boot and asked how it compared with the one he referred to. He said it was lighter.

Mr. McCurdy: "The other day a witness told us it was heavier. We seem to be getting some contradictory evidence here."

A Manager's Testimony.

Mr. W. P. Matthews, manager of the factory of the Ames-Holden Company, Montreal, for the past three years, said he had 25 years' experience in every department of shoe manufacture, and had been manager of six different shoe manufacturing companies. On August 10 he had received a first order from the Militia Department for 20,000 pairs of boots. He had received a sealed pattern, a Gauthier boot. He had not cut it open to see what was inside, but considered that he had turned out a much better boot. Nothing but No. 1 quality leather had been used; a steel and leather board shank had been supplied because that was the shank used in all high-grade boots; zinc slugs had been used because they were specified in the sample boot. Such slugs were not intended to protect the heel; steel slugs would have done so and the firm would have been glad to use them, as they were cheaper, though somewhat harder on the machinery used in putting them in.

The second order from the Militia Department had been received on September 12 for 12,000 pairs. The witness said the first order had been made of storm winter calf, according to sample, and the second of chrome tan split leather, this change having been authorized by the Militia Department on account of the scarcity of winter calf. He considered this leather as good as winter calf; in fact, he had always used it in the manufacture of prospectors' and miners' heavy boots.

The side leather used, stated Mr. Pringle at this point, was the same as was now being supplied for army boots in England and France by Canadian firms.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES

In the Toronto city council last night Ald. Cameron raised the "Made in Toronto" cry, when he objected to contracts for stop and check valves going to Sarnia and London, because the outside tenders were slightly lower than those submitted by the Toronto tenderers. He made an effective plea for the changing of contracts, with the result that London and Sarnia contracts were vetoed and the work given to Toronto contractors. This required a two-thirds vote of the council.

London has not acted on this theory. It let a railway be built for the city, and it might fairly be said that no local contractors or workmen benefitted to the slightest degree, unless for the purchase of a few odd barrels of cement or kegs of spikes. London gave the contract to a foreign railway, while men shivered and contractors went empty-handed for lack of work.

ANNEXED DISTRICTS TO GET CARRIER SERVICE AT ONCE

Will Have Mail Delivered at Doors Immediately, Says P. O. Superintendent.

Major George Ross, chief superintendent of the Canadian Postoffice Department, is in London today. To Mayor H. A. Stevenson he made the announcement that letter carriers' service to the annexed districts would be commenced at once, and that letter boxes would be located at convenient places to facilitate the posting of mail matter.

"The carrier system will go into force immediately on all streets where sidewalks have been laid, and the houses numbered. It will be extended as the sidewalks are completed and numbering done," declared Mayor Stevenson.

The mayor was in consultation with the chief superintendent for some time.

The extension of the carrier system to the annexed districts means the employment of a number of additional carriers. The inside staff of the postoffice, it is expected, will not be increased as a result.

The superintendent is working out the number of additional carriers required.

TO COMPLETELY REORGANIZE CITY'S HEALTH DEPARTMENT

This Expected To Follow the Meeting of Board of Health This Afternoon.

Complete reorganization of the city health department is expected to follow the meeting of the board of health this afternoon. Such a move has been under consideration ever since Sir Adam Beck sprang his charges against Dr. T. V. Hutchinson, medical officer of health, some months ago. Mayor H. A. Stevenson at that time secured the resignation of Dr. Hutchinson, but no definite action has yet been taken to appoint a successor.

The plan most favorably considered is to have the new M. O. H. appointed to the dual office of director of the Institute of Public Health and M. O. H. of the city. An assistant will look after the majority of the city work, while the M. O. H. will be the executive and consulting head of the department.

were all well and happy. Two of the latter, Sergt. Growshaw and Sergt. Watts, he says, have been transferred from the 17th Battalion to the 48th Highlanders, of Toronto.

Most of the battalions, he says, have gone to the front as units, but the Nova Scotia Highlanders are acing as base battalion to the 48th, and the 5th Royal Montreals as base battalion to the Black Watch.

He says the belief is gaining ground in England that the war will be over at the latest by next Christmas.

Contradicts Wyse.

In contradiction of what Wyse says concerning the mutilation of Belgian boys is the statement of Hugh Brinsmead, of Toronto, who has just returned from a stay of eleven months in England, and who is at present on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Tanton, at 479 Maitland street.

Mr. Brinsmead says that the reiteration of the allegations concerning the atrocities practiced by he Germans towards the Belgians, he made inquiries on his own account, and came to the conclusion that the stories, while they probably were based on fact, were considerably exaggertated. He was only able to locate one eBlgian child who had been mutilated, and in this case he learned through the boy's mother that his injuries had been the result of a shrapnel explosion and had not been caused deliberately. On of his hands had been torn completely off and the other was very badly injured.

War Horrors Learned.

Mr. Brinsmead says the horrors of the war were bought home to him as they never could have been had he remained in Canada, by the sight of the hundreds of wounded and terribly mutilated soldiers who are being brought from France to the British hospitals every day.

At Exeter one day he saw a long train of 27 coaches pull into the station, and it proved to be full of wounded, including two nurses who had been victims of shell fire. The sight of the poor fellows being taken from the train in ambulances, he says, is one he never will forget. Most of them bore terrible wounds, some had lost limbs, others were blinded, and still others were crippled, probably for life.

Shot Through Face.

One man, he said, had been shot right through the face, and his jaw had been forced right over on to his shoulder. However, the doctors were able to fix him up so that, although his face was very badly disfigured, he could eat and talk after a fashion.

Wheeled Convalescents.

Mr. Brinsmead for some time was staying quite close to where one of the military hospitals had been established, and he wheeled some of the convalescent soldiers about the grounds in wheeled chairs. They almost all seemed quite cheerful and very anxious to be back in the firing line, he says, although there were a few exceptions to this rule. A few men said they had "had enough."

He says opinion is divided in England as to the probable duration of the war, but about the result there is one opinion only. And everyone is quite certain that the war will not end until Prussia has been absolutely subjugated, and made powerless to again plunge Europe into bloody strife.

SOLDIERS HAD GOOD TIME IN CHURCHES

Played, Sang, Ate and Otherwise Passed the Evening Well.

All of the men of the 18th Battalion who have not been inoculated recently, took part in the entertainments given last night in the churches of the city. The entertainments were under the auspices of the young people's societies, and each church entertained between 25 and 50 men.

Good things to eat, music, and varied programs, games and contests formed the evening's entertainment in most of the churches. Many of them introduced novel features.

At Talbot Street Baptist, where about forty-five soldiers were present, a guessing contest, introducing the names of about twenty of the leading business houses of the city, formed one of the amusements. Musical numbers were played, addresses and recitations made, and a general good time indulged in. Captain Prince, many of whose men were present, made a short speech, thanking the young people of the church for the program and entertainment which they had provided.

Col. E. S. Wigle, Major Ingram and Major Milligan, made the rounds of the various churches, speaking a few words of appreciation to the young people on behalf of the men.

Basketball Games.

Basketball games was one of the features of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church entertainment, at which about 25 men were present. Richard Greenlaw, the soloist with Dr. J. L. Gordon, sang several songs. The entertainment closed with a supper.

More than 100 lantern slides was a feature of the entertainment at St. John's the Evangelist Church, at which about twenty-five of the 18th were present. Refreshments were also served and a program followed, in which the guests took a prominent part.

Boxing, wrestling and indoor baseball, and similar sports occupied a good part of the time at the First Presbyterian Church. The sports were held in the gymnasium in the basement. Refreshments were served by the Proudfoot Mission Band.

Held in Most Churches.

The entertainments last night were held in almost every church of every denomination in the city, and was the second of the kind to be tendered to the men of the 18th Battalion since they have been at camp here.

The quarters of the 18th today hide a great variety of cakes and good things to eat which are not on the daily rations menu at camp, and which the young people of the churches were glad to be able to donate to the men last night.

Adelaide Street Baptist.

Last evening the Adelaide Street B. Y. P. U. entertained a large company of the 18th Battalion in the schoolroom of the church. The program, which was of a varied and interesting character, was in the hands of the president, Mr. James Baldwin. The following took part: Vocal solists, Mrs. A. E. Brown, the Misses E. Carson, B. Chamberlain, Zella Gillies and L. Boyd; pianoforte duet, Misses Quick and P. Maynard; trombone solo, Pte. Cassels; readings by Miss Georgia Newbury and Marjory Piercy; accompanist, Miss P. Maynard. Refreshments in the form of tea, coffee, sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served. After the singing of the National Authem, the guests expressed their appreciation of the kindness of the young people, and gave them three ringing cheers.

The patriotic decorations were attended to by a committee of which Miss Maud Carson was convener.

In adition to Pte. Cassels' solo, a number of the other soldiers sang solos.

INJURED SOLDIERS BLAME G. T. R. FOR MOTOR ACCIDENT

7th C. M. R. Men Claim No Watchman Warned Them at Crossing.

Ptes H. Hall, C. Duncan and S. Lucas, of the 7th C. M. R., were painfully injured last evening at about 9:30 o'clock at the Rectory street crossing of the Grand Trunk, when a private auto in which they were riding crashed into a flat car, which had been left standing across the street. Pte. Hall was the worst hurt, and is now in Victoria Hospital with a broken nose and many severe cuts about his head and face. The others escaped with numerous bruises and a very severe shaking up. The auto was completely wrecked, the two front wheels being torn off, and the engine ripped out and jammed into the seat.

The men who were in the car stated to The Advertiser today that their headlights were burning, and that when approaching the crossing they sounded their horn. They claim absolutely that they were not given the slightest warning by any watchmen, and that no lights were displayed to indicate that the car had been backed down a few seconds before they were on the tracks. The front part of the auto ran in under the car, and the soldiers were hurled in all directions. This probably saved their lives, as had they remained in the seat they would have been crushed by the engine of the auto when it was torn out. The radiator of the auto went in under the flat car.

It was stated to The Advertiser today that action against the Grand Trunk is contemplated.

ASK MAPLE SUGAR OF FARMERS FOR SOLDIERS

Will Be Sent to Front by Red Cross Society.

The London Red Cross Society asks everyone who owns a sugar maple bush which applies, of course, mostly to farmers, to help in the new campaign to give every Canadian soldier at the front a share of real Canadian maple sugar or syrup.

A letter was received recently by one of the Red Cross organizations in Canada, from Major Gorrell, in charge of a stationary hospital unit in England. He says: "We opened a case of maple syrup and sugar here, and the boys went wild over it."

In addition to sewing shirts, knitting socks, etc., for the men on the firing line, the Red Cross will endeavor to satisfy the springtime craving of the Canucks for their usual taste of the syrup and a bite of maple sugar. All of Ontario, in fact, has been invited to join in the campaign. All the farmers are invited to send in either a box of sugar or a can of syrup to the Red Cross Society headquarters at Hyman Hall.

PROPOSED PURCHASE PLAN IS NO BLUFF

Ald. Palmer Speaks Out on Street Railway Extension Fight.

Ald. W. A. Palmer, who has been fighting the street railway for the Hamilton road extensions, declares that his proposed purchase plan is no bluff. "I want to see the people vote on the purchase of the London street railway this year. I think that the time is opportune. The hydro-radial development scheme is at such a stage that the purchase of the street railway here by the people would be a stroke of good business, and at the same time help along the radial development planned for this city," declared the alderman.

At the special meeting of the council last evening Ald. Palmer suggested that the vote on the stockyards question be held over until June in order that the street railway question could be voted on at the present time.

WAR OFFICE TELLS HOW TO ADDRESS ALL MAIL

Practically All Mail Passes Through War Office Hands.

Information from the war office in London, England, asks that letters, parcels and money orders addressed to the Canadian troops now in France, should be addressed plainly as follows:

Regimental number.
Regimental rank.
Name.
Squadron or company.
Battalion or battery or regiment.
First Canadian Division, British Expeditionary Force.

The mailfor the Canadians in France is all sent first to the postal department of the British war office, and practically all of the mail from all over the British Empire for the men on the firing line passes through this department. A systematic method of addressing the mail is, therefore, necessary.

COLORED PUBLISHER IS ARRESTED HERE

Charles Scales Wanted In Brantford—Has Weekly Paper.

Charles Scales, colored, publisher of a paper known as the Canadian Tribune, was taken into custody today by Detectives Robert Egelton and Harry Down following information received from the Brantford police.

Scales' arrest, according to the local police, is the result of his alleged flimflamming of a number of Brantford citizens of sums of money in connection with paper subscriptions.

The publisher took his arrest as a matter of fact, and refused to make any statement concerning the affair when he was locked up at police headquarters.

Scales' paper, which was published in this city, was a five-cent weekly, and was issued exclusively for the colored race. Many businessmen here and a number in Chatham and Brantford advertised in the paper.

An officer from Brantford is expected to arrive at the Carling street headquarters late today, and he will accompany Scales back to that city.

BABY CARRIAGES EASILY GOTTEN

Advertiser Appeal Productive of Quick Returns to Local Organization.

The appeal for three second-hand baby carriages, appearing in Saturday's Advertiser on behalf of the Home Relief League, has already been amply answered by Londoners. The secretary notified The Advertiser this morning that four carriages had been received, and other offers as well, which had to be refused. The thanks of the league are extended to Mrs. Reely, Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Fitzgerald, who so promptly and kindly supplied carriages for the three little ones, who otherwise would have to go without.

CANADIAN ARMY NOW REAL ARMY

Almost as Large, at Present, as U. S. Regular Army.

Military men of the city are now pointing out the fact that the Canadian army, thitherto regarded as a mere bagatelle as armies go, now numbers almost as many as the permanent forces of the United States. The American regular army is 102,000 of all ranks, and comprises all auxiliary corps and instructors, while the Canadian forces now on active service, without taking the militia into consideration at all, numbers more than 90,000. Before long it is expected that the Canuck forces will outrank those of the neighboring republic. This is only natural, however, as the American forces are merely at peace strength now, while the Canadian army is on a war footing.

SOLDIERS WELL TREATED

Wolseley Barracks,
March 23, 1915.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Kindly insert in your valuable paper the following for the benefit of those misguided persons who are under the impression that the soldiers in London aren ot being treated properly by the citizens:

I only wish that Mr. Walter Smith, and others of like calibre, had been at some of the churches on Monday evening, especially St. George's Anglican (to which certain of the headquarters' details were assigned), when he would have had his eyes opened (also his mouth). I am certain that I am expressing the sentiments of all the boys who attended St. George's when I state that none of us ever enjoyed such an evening before, and on behalf of the signal section, I wish, through this medium, to sincerely thank the ladies of said church. All we want now is to get to the front of the firing line to do something to repay them for all the good times they have lavished upon us.

The evening was enjoyably passed by old and young (to see them you would think they were all young), in different kinds of games, of which there were many. The singing of Miss Elsie Smith was vociferously applauded again and again. She is possibly one of the best soloists in Canada. The comical side of the program was furnished by Corporal Fleming, who is some humorist. Several patriotic speeches were given, and the general sentiment was that nothing was good enough for the soldiers, so if anyone wants to deny that the soldiers are not treated properly let them meet me face to face.

LICENSE REDUCTION CASE NOT YET AT END

That the temperance people are by no means prepared to accept without protest and action the situation as it stands at present with regard to the license reduction petition, upon which the Legislature refused to authorize the city council to act, was made clear today by Rev. T. H. Mitchell, one of the most active workers in the cause of license reduction.

"We are not just sure yet what action we shall take, because we have not yet had a meeting to discuss the matter," he stated today, adding: "But we are determined to do something; we are not going to be inactive."

Mr. Mitchell said a meeting of the temperance forces would be called shortly, probably for one day this week, when the whole situation would be considered and a line of action determined on. The reason nothing had been done up to the present, he explained, was because it was hoped that the Legislature would announce its policy on the temperance question, and this would give the workers an opportunity of judging what was their best course.

"We want to have all the facts available before we act," he said, "and then we shall be in a position to work effectively."

IS ARRESTED FOR INSUBORDINATION

One of the most serious cases that has come up in connection with the local training camp will be heard on Wednesday before Lt.-Col. Wilson as a result of allegations made against a private from St. Thomas. Officers of the 33rd stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that the man is under open arrest on charges of insubordination and inciting other men to mutiny. The case, it is stated, arose over the recent fumigation of the main building following the inoculation for typhoid fever, the man claiming that he was entitled to 48 hours off duty and refusing, it is alleged, to fall in when ordered to do so.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full, bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisurated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisurated magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—G. J. G. Mar.9-23.

LONDON, TUESDAY, MARCH 23.

"Only those who have planned for war can prepare for it," said Sir Edward Grey, in a London address yesterday, and the military jingoist will wonder what he is talking about.

THE FALL OF PRZEMYSL.

THE surrender of Austria's chief fortress in East Galicia to the Russians marks the opening of a new era in the Russian invasion of Austria-Hungary. The fall of Przemsyl leaves the way clear to Cracow, and with the Austrian forces badly demoralized, as they appear to be, that rich prize is certain to fall into the hands of the Czar.

The capitulation ends any hopes that the German general staff has had that Austria could make headway against the Russians while Von Hindenberg was hammering the enemy in North Poland and East Prussia. The Austrians having failed to halt the advance of the Russian left, are being slowly pushed back across the Carpathians. Probably the German attempt to reach Warsaw will be abandoned, as the fall of Przemysl will release a large force of Russians for operations against the Germans.

That the saving of Przemysl and the occupation of Bukowina and Galicia were considered of vital importance was shown by the fact that the Germans sent an entire army corps to help in the attempt to raise the siege.

The fighting around the fortress was marked by unusual fierceness. Repeatedly the Austrians and Germans fought their way close to the fortress only to be thrown back. Russia's greater numbers and superior stamina finally winning the long duel. Russia now holds Galacia in an unshakable grip, and with Cracow, Budapest and Vienna as the big objectives, enters a new stage of the conflict. The fah of Przemysl is a big step towards the elimination of Austria and the crushing of Germany.

THE WEST LEADS.

A NOTICEABLE feature of the temperance movement in Saskatchewan is the apparent unanimity with which the Government's proposal to abolish the bar has been accepted. The leader of the Opposition has announced himself in support of the bill, and the probability is that the vote in the Legislature will be practically unanimous. It is creditable to the leaders of public opinion in the western province that Liberal and Conservative can unite to put down a recognized evil. It is not so creditable to Ontario that the party which favors the abolition of the bar is in a small minority in the assembly, while the great majority support a government which seems to be too closely allied to the liquor interests to be able to give any advanced temperance legislation. Of course, the abolition of the bar in Saskatchewan is nominally only for the duration of the war. But it will require a popular vote to reopen after the war is over. And that vote will not be given. Public sentiment is strongly against it now, and once the bar is closed there will be no danger of its being opened again.

One feature of the proposed measure will doubtless be subject to criticism. While the retail liquor business will be stopped, the wholesale business will be taken over by the Government. There will be many ready to say that the Government should not take up this business at all, or recognize it in any way. But there is this to be noticed. Whenever there is a prohibition contest of any kind, it is the liquor interest which supplies both the money and the energy in the fight against temperance. This will not be the case in the future. For there will be no liquor interests. No individual or company will be interested in the sale of liquor, because that will be in the hands of the Government. Under the provisions of the bill, as we understand them, if at any time in the future the people of any locality wish the Government sale of liquor to stop, there will be no organized opposition. The Government will be quite willing to close up its stores and stop selling. And that will mean prohibition on the local option plan. If the Government does not sell, no one else will. It looks like rather a shrewd device. While at first it only stops the retail sale of liquor, it at the same time eliminates the private sale in any shape, and at once clears away the only powerful opponent temperance has to face now. When in a few years' time there is a plebiscite for total prohibition, there will be no personal pecuniary interests to stand in the way, and the only opposition will come from the few who want to drink liquor—a number decreasing every day.

What effect will this movement have on Ontario? There are many supporters of the Government who are prohibitionists. They voted against Mr. Rowell and his policy for various reasons, which seemed to be satisfactory to them. But it was with the hope that the Conservative Government would provide some form of advanced legislation. Will they be content if nothing is done? Rumor says that there are already signs of serious divisions in the ranks over this question. Will the temperance Conservatives fall into line again, or will they insist on the Government moving forward? That is what time will tell. In the meantime, the Liberal Opposition in the Legislature stands by its policy, but will be prepared to support the Government in any advance it may make. Premier Hearst faces his great opportunity. The Liberal support he can receive will more than balance any liquor support he may lose. What will he do with the opportunity?

A CHEER IN CHURCH.

A THOUSAND soldiers in a London church Sunday cheered when the pastor denounced the men responsible for the manufacture of shoddy army shoes.

This is more striking testimony than any that will be taken by the investigating committee, because even full-spirited soldiers do not cheer in church unless they are deeply aroused. The men in khaki must have felt that they had been the victims of a horrible wrong. Many of them have worn shoddy shoes. Many of them have realized what it would mean if they had to fight in such shoes. It is a great outrage, and the soldiers know it. That may be one reason the Government is slow in granting votes to soldiers.

But that last statement throws the blame on the Government, which thus far is culpable only as its partisan appointees in the inspectors' jobs have permitted shoddy shoes to slip through. This is another tremendous indictment of the Tory ward-heeler system of dispensing patronage. Many inspectors have absolutely no qualifications whatsoever. The ordnance stores service, when manned by military men, has never been called to account. There has been no military graft up to the present.

Some of the manufacturers plead haste, but this is likely to be regarded as an excuse that accuses. It does not take any more time to buy proper material than poor material. The prices were good. This is a matter that hit the soldier hardest, and in a London church on Sunday the soldier's court gave its decision.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Firing will be the first job of Toronto's new fire chief.

It seems a hard and slow, if not a long way to Constantinople.

For a month with a bad name March has been remarkably good up to date.

The Dardanelles is living up to its traditions of being a tough proposition.

Italy and Holland will soon be serving as another nice hammer and anvil for the Germans.

Germany will no doubt protest over those North Sea gulls which warned a British destroyer of the approach of a submarine.

Most people have a song in their hearts in the springtime, but alas, most of them insist upon sending their songs to the newspapers.

The capture of Przemysl gives the Czar an opportunity to change the name of the fortress and win the gratitude of a sorely tried world.

The German submarines have done considerable damage, but one thing they haven't done is to take their promised heavy toll of the British warships.

The split in the Conservative party over the proposed liquor legislation is not because Hon. W. J. Hanna wishes to put his prison farm out of business by closing the bars.

As the casualty lists appear the men at the barracks and fair grounds manifest an eagerness to be away. They owe the Germans something now. Their brothers and sons and friends are being made the victims of the Kaiser's wrath. When they strike it will be with the spirit of free men. Those who serve Britain's King serve as volunteers.

LIFE'S UNCERTAINTIES.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Life's a game of wit and labor,
Feats of strength and feats of skill,
Some must play it with the sabre,
Some the peaceful stations fill.
Strife's the very savor of it,
Difficulties that arise
But enrich the flavor of it
And its charm is its surprise.
Oft when failure seems the nearest
Suddenly you come to see
Over you, of skies the clearest
And you claim the victory.

Never certain is the finish,
Oft when victory is near
Suddenly your hopes diminish
And disasters reappear.
Life's a game that all are playing,
Always is the end in doubt,
Bravely then should be a-staying
Till our final hope goes out.
Often when our fight is grimmest
And our foes the field command,
When our light of faith is dimmest
Victory may be at hand.

We then in this game of living
Should go on with pluck and grit
Taking blows sometimes, and giving,
Bravely smiling when we're hit.
With our best of brain and muscle
We should play the struggle through
Face front always to the tussle,
Doing all that we can do.
Many a man who's now succeeding,
Failure for her own had picked.
But, though battered, bruised and bleeding,
He refused to say, "I'm licked."

OUR POETS OF WESTERN ONTARIO

For Canada and Home.

In gardens fair of Liberty
'Neath a blue heaven's dome,
We onward strive, unfettered, free,
For Canada and Home.

Chorus:
For Canada and Home, boys,
For Canada and Home,
No matter where we roam.
Na matter where we roam.

Though other lands are fair to view,
We leave our verdant loam;
Unfurl the old red, white and blue,
For Canada and Home.

Out in the battle-sea of Life,
Adrift 'mid hostile foam,
We'll nobly dare the surging strife
For Canada and Home.

And when Fate calls us far away
O'er distant shores to roam,
This watchword ever thrills Life's fray,
"For Canada and Home."

Or fearless to war's grim array,
Where death and horror loom,
Undaunted will we toast "The Day",
For Canada and Home.

Pulling Faces.

I've got a very good, useful bass singer in my choir. He reads well and sings well, and can fish up from the bottom of the scale notes that the others can't get at. But he can't sing the high ones. E flat is just about as much as he can tackle, and that only when he's in particularly good voice. Last Sunday we sang an anthem, in which a very important E flat occurs in the bass part. After service, while waiting for the usual practice, I heard a friend of his, who has his seat next to him, make this remark: "Well, Bill, you pulled an awful face, but you got the note." Now, this same Bill is not given to pulling faces, at all, but he was determined to get that E flat, and I suppose the supreme effort did cause a slight temporary modification of his features.

Speaking of pulling faces, however, I suppose most choirmasters have had members of the distorted visage order. I had one who was very much in danger of dislocating his neck every time he sang. I used to ask a physician who attended our services to bring his instruments with him in case anything happened, but I soon found that this was not necessary. The other members told me that he had been going on like that for the last ten years.

I think one member like that is very desirable in every choir. They provide a pleasant diversion to the unmusical portion of the congregation. There are many people who are more or less bored during the performance of the musical part of the service, and, to such, a chorister of this kind whiles away the time for them. A really good one is hard to find, and some choirs are more fortunate than others. I once knew a particularly lucky one which had two such members, one in the tenor section, and another in the bass, and as they had different parts to sing there was something doing all the time. If you happen to get hold of a good one, never let him go, even though you have to offer him some tangible inducement to stay. You've no idea how much real pleasure the congregation gets from a choir member who pulls faces.

The Faces They Wanted.

That reminds me of a story I once read somewhere. At an entertainment in a village school Miss Willet, who had delighted the children on previous occasions, was next on the program to sing. The chairman had to make, however, an announcement to the effect that Miss Willett was suffering from a severe cold, but that she would recite them something, if the children preferred it. After a hasty consultation a boy was elected spokesman:

"Please, sir, if Miss Willett don't mind, we'd rather have her git up an' try to sing; an' if her throat is too sore to make a noise, she can make her funny faces while the pianner plays the tune."

On Genius.

Here's something newly written on the subject of genius, by G. Vere Tyler, an American writer:

"Apparently geniuses are advanced spirits doing penance on earth. They are, it seems, appointed by God to perform Herculean tasks that benefit the rest of humanity. Certain it is that they are slaves to an invisible power that drives them on. Having been assigned a task, they are kept at it like galley slaves. In many instances, a genius is not even permitted to look forward to pay, for the time fixed for reward, if there is to be earthly reward, is decided for him by the invisible power that assigned the task.

"Having succeeded in pleasing—once the world, in fact, has recognized the genius, and paid for his services—the whip-lash is from without as well as from within. He must go on working to supply the demand he has created. He can never shirk his duty, like lesser men, while another performs his task, for no other can. He is an instrument that must be kept in tune at the sacrifice of self."

Answers to Correspondents.

Questions sent to this department should be addressed, "Musical Editor, London Advertiser," and must be brief and to the point. They must also be of general musical interest.

* * *

Will you kindly explain the following terms a little more fully than a musical dictionary explanation:

(a) The word "colorature" in the phrase, "colorature soprano"?

(b) Nuances. A. L. M.

Your question is an interesting one, and I will venture some remarks in regard to colorature singing.

As you doubtless know, colorature is nothing more nor less than the florid style, consisting of runs, trills, arpeggio passages and such—like vocal gymnastics. Since the time of Wagner this style has been much less popular than in the days of the earlier composers. Writers previous to this carried the style to excess. They had their operatic stars perform their greatest feats of vocal ability after they had gone mad or were slipping into the grave.

There is no reason whatever why the voice should not display its possibilities in this direction, if only these efforts are well timed and appropriate to the occasion. The old writers, however, yielded to the public clamor, and introduced this style far more frequently than the principles of art would warrant. They degraded the voice to the level of an inarticulate instrument.

An offshoot of this style was known as bird-song. The words were of no account; in fact, they were scarcely used. The singer discoursed through a succession of scale passages, arpeggios and trills, much as a circus performer goes through his balancing feats on a tight-rope. All this brought the florid style at length into disrepute. Used judiciously, however, it is a great adjunct to the singer's art.

I shall answer the second half of your question tomorrow, or I shall be using more space than the editor allows me.

WITH A SMILE.

[Book News.]

If you're in a world of trouble,
With a hundred little woes,
Short of joy and full of sadness,
All your friends are slinking foes;
You are burdened with a soreness
Of the heart that makes it smile
With that lonesome sickly feeling,
Try that glad-game for a while.

When the world is hard and heedless,
Of its smiles to others lent,
And you owe your bank a million,
Though you do not own a cent;
Still you know that you are worthy
Of ten times the gold you owe,
Face the teller with the smile-game,
Watch it on his features grow.

Would you cross the happy threshold
Of prosperity and peace,
Shun the pathway of the moiler—
Toil your pleasures aye increase.
Lift your face and set it beaming
Like a smiling goldenrod:
Watch the joy-game lead you heavenward
Through prosperity to God.

I GO A PLAYING

[By Mary Roberts Rinehartt.]

Everybody said it was a wonderful chance for me, but, mother wasn't so sure. She didn't mind the stock company, where father could take me home at night, and Anne could sit around at rehearsals; but this was different. And then I think she was afraid of Mr. Cunningham. He was supposed to have as much temper as he had professional reputation, and, of course, that was colossal.

I coaxed mother over at last. Tommy had the mumps, and she was so worn out with him that she gave in. The whole family had a hand in getting my costumes ready, and I borrowed Anne's feather boa, little thinking what use it would be put to!

The rehearsals were pretty bad. One morning Mr. Cunningham made me go through a six-line speech—the one where I find the revolver and take out the bullets and then snap it at him—seventeen times. I was pretty tired, and when he said, "Now—again," I turned on him like a wildcat.

"If you make me do it again," I snapped, "I—I won't take out the bullets!"

He laughed—can you believe it? He laughed, and I fumed, and it was bedlam all around. I went home and wept it out on Tommy's pillow—which made him think he was going to die, and his poor, comical face went all mottled. But—Mr. Cunningham kept me. That's where the tragedy comes in.

He was very particular with me on the road. Once or twice he said that some day I would learn to act, and I walked on air for days. He had his private car, and was very comfortable; but the one-night stands nearly killed me. We followed right along after a monstrosity called "The Merry Maids of Manchester," and the bellboys thought it funny that we had no poodles, and that we didn't gather to sing in the parlor and call one another by our first names.

Baldwin, the juvenile, was very nice to me, and we took long walks in the mornings, picking up postcards to send home, and sometimes running over our scene in the second act, where my guardian—Mr. Cunningham—steps in and says: "Do you love him, Hilda? He—he is a splendid fellow." And, of course, every one in the audience knows the guardian is in love with me and is going to Africa if I take Baldwin. The guardian is married, you see, and Miss D'Arcy played the wife.

The funny thing was that Baldwin was really crazy about Miss D'Arcy, and talked about her all the time.

"I wish you wouldn't," I said one day. "I know she's beautiful, and can act like a dream, and all that; but you needn't rub it in."

"How about you raving over Cunningham all the time?" he retorted sulkily; which was so absurd that I went back to the hotel without speaking to him again.

And then the awfullest thing happened! You know the scene at the beginning of the last act—when we are all at breakfast and the wife sweeps in in a rage? Well, it starts with grapefruit, and I have a line when I taste it and say—to Mr. Cunningham:

"It's as bitter as—as you have been—to me this last week."

"Well, I put that stuff in my mouth, and at once the most dreadful pain began just in front of my ears and seemed to go all over me. My tongue drew up and my jaws locked perfectly tight! I tried to swallow and couldn't, and there I sat, while Mr. Cunningham looked at me and waited for his cue.

At last he went on without my speaking, which caused a titter and made him wild. However, the rest of the act went well. In the farewell scene, where he goes to Africa to the war, I tried to warn him to kiss me on top of my head because by that time I knew that I had the mumps and I was in a fever of fright; but Mr. Cunningham's big scene always carries him off his feet, and that night, to my horror, he kissed me twice.

Hopper, the stage-manager, nearly went crazy when I told him.

"Now I'll get it!" he groaned. "No, not the mumps, but the devil! You'll have to go on—that's all. Wear a night-cap—anything—but don't put Cunningham up against a new ingenue when he's up in the air with a new play!"

"Then you'll have to cut out the grapefruit," I said with a shudder. "It will have to be bananas, and I can wear big mull ties to my garden hat in the last act and a feather boa in the second."

So we fixed it. I was not very ill, and, after all, Mr. Cunningham took the news like a lamb, even sending me some jelly his chef had made.

But a week later Baldwin stopped suddenly and made an awful face over his lemonade in the tennis scene. I knew then what had happened; and when he came to rehearsal the next morning with his neck-line entirely obliterated, and with a silk handkerchief instead of a collar, we all knew. He was quite shiny in spots—I was never like that, thank goodness! Hopper had to take his place, and Mr. Cunningham looked like a thunder-cloud.

Then he sent for me. I went in fear and trembling. He was in front of his dressing-mirror, greying his hair on top. It is naturally a little grey over his ears. When I came in he got up very courteously and drew out a chair.

"Will you wait just a moment?" he said, and finished what he was doing.

The dressing-room was a litter, of course, and right at the bottom of the mirror was a picture in a silver frame, it was a girl in a black gown, and it was exquisite—the picture, not the gown. I thought that very likely it was the girl he was in love with, for, of course, he would be in love with someone.

I knew what was coming before he said it. I clasped my hands tight together to keep me from crying, and my feet felt numb and cold. I was horribly, awfully afraid of him, and yet I had the most dreadful inclination to pat down his hair where he had rumbled it up in the back.

"Now, Miss Eleanor," he said, turning round and facing me, "I'll tell you why I want to talk to you. You are looking ill and tired; what would the little mother say to me?"

That was the worst thing he could have said, I choked up in a minute and put my head down on the back of my chair.

"I—I—know I can't act!" I sobbed. "But it—it's mean to put it off on mother!"

"You can act," he said very gently. "That's the trouble. In fairness to you, I'll have to tell you that. But it's a hard life, and—I want you to give it up. You're too young, and you've been too much sheltered, to—"

"I'm twenty-one, Mr. Cunningham," I broke in defiantly. "Even grown people get the mumps. I'm not a child; I'm as old as—the girl in that picture."

I rushed out then, and in the first act, where I have the scene with my guardian's wife, I burst into real tears at the end and got a curtain-call. I was very unhappy; there were a number of things—but it doesn't matter. One thing was certain—I hated Mr. Cunningham!

II.

I was quite ill for a day or two at home. Then, nothing terrible occurring, I tried to put the whole thing out of my mind and to forget that my theatrical career had died of the mumps. But, the day before the New York opening I heard Ella admit someone. I had just time to slip a picture I had been looking at under some of Tommy's stockings I had been mending when he came in. It was Mr. Cunningham!

I shook hands with him and tried to hide the basket with the picture and the stockings. Mr. Cunningham did not sit down. He stood by the fire and looked down at me severely.

"You're a bad child!" he said at last; "a runaway. What made you do it, Eleanor?"

"I had to," I pleaded. "It was too dreadful—everyone getting sick and blaming it on me. Won't you take off your overcoat and—and have some tea?"

I was quite breathless with excitement and reaction, and I was still terribly afraid of him. My hands shook so that I could hardly pour the tea. He dropped into a chair and looked around.

"Jove, what a thing it is to be in a real home again!" he said, looking very human indeed with his feet out before him. "I always pictured you doing something like this—tea and mending—instead of roaming around the country with a theatrical company."

I gave him his tea, squeezing a bit of lemon in, and then—suddenly—he clapped his hand to his left ear, and I knew it had come. He waited until he could speak, and then all he said was "Good Lord!"

He looked at me helplessly. There were only two things I could do—laugh or cry. I had cried so much that now I laughed—laughed while I knew that there would be no New York opening; laughed while the great Mr. Cunningham glared at me; laughed until he looked injured, and then got over it and laughed himself.

"Well!" he said, when we both dried our eyes and got our breath. "I never expected to laugh over a tragedy like this. You make me do anything you want, Eleanor."

"Oh, I hope you won't be very ill," I said quickly.

"But I shall be; I'm sure to. I always have things hard," he replied, getting up and coming over to me. "I took you very hard indeed, Eleanor. I don't care anything about 'The Pillars of Society.' I only know I want my little ward again, Eleanor, the day you left I was wild. I can't act—I can't live without you, dear. Why, see—you've put your mark on me!"

When he said that, what could I do? Anyhow, I forgot completely that this was the greatest tragedian of his time. All I knew was that he was lonely, and that I—well, that I didn't hate him. He crushed me to him—I'll admit that; but Anne told it as a great joke, when the engagement was announced, that as she came into the hall she heard me say:

"Of course, you may. I'm not afraid. I've had them!"

Voice of the People

Which Is Correct?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

"As the public are well aware, Lieut.-Col. Wigle issued an order for the arrest of any of his men seen entering any of the hotels in what is commonly known as "Whisky Row", as he publicly stated (using his own words), they were 'out of all bounds' in supplying his men to an unlimited extent with liquor when in an intoxicated condition, as well as their bringing bottles of liquor home to the camp grounds and drinking it there.

"On the other hand, Mr. A. B. Greer, (as reported in your paper this week), declares that they are the 'best conducted' hotels in the country and would not be allowed to hold their licenses unless they possessed those 'beautiful' characteristics, and going out of his way by echoing further the old whisky yarn, that more liquor was sold in local option districts than when they were under license.

"It is not hard to see where he stands in his sympathies on the liquor problem, and in his position as chairman of the license board this public stand does not appeal very favorably to the general public that we may expect fairness and impartiality for the best moral interests of the community from a man publicly manifesting such tendencies in favor of the liquor business, as he has done all through his occupancy of his position.

If more liquor is sold under local option than under license then why do not the hotelkeepers pile in and get local option passed, save their license fees, and increase their business. This is surely a sound business proposition, but alas, well it may be said 'Consistency thou art a jewel.'"

WORRIED.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]

"What have I omitted?" she asked herself. "Here it is only 9 o'clock and I am ready for the theatre."

And so she was only an hour late.

ONE WAY ONLY.

[Judge.]

"I always pay as I go," remarked the careful individual.

"Lots of fellows do that who don't save enough to pay their way back," added the mere man.

DOUBTLESS.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

Chancellor Lloyd George says that drink does more harm to England than all of the Kaiser's submarines. Certainly. And if the Kaiser could get a pipe line from Bavaria's matchless breweries to the heart of England, the enemy would have to surrender.

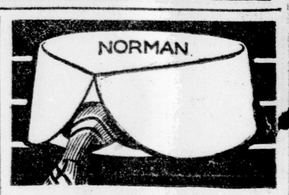

OMNIPRESENT MASHER.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]

Sin, radiantly beautiful, was peeved. "I was never winked at so often by even the most prominent men," she complained.

Which shows that beauty is no bar to male persecution.

DAILY PAGE FOR ADVERTISER WOMAN READERS

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Easter Next Year.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please print a reply to the following: What date does Easter Sunday, 1916, come on?

Thanking you in advance.

AYLMERITE.

Ans.—Easter always come on the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21. Not knowing about the "full moons" for March next year, I cannot say. Sorry.

No Trouble at All.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the first time I have written to you. 1. Would it be any trouble to you to send me the recipe for taking pimples off the face, as I had sent Monday's paper away before copying it?

Here is a recipe for egg tart, which is very nice—1 egg, 1 cup of sugar, small tablespoon of vinegar, 1 teaspoon of lemon extract; line a pie plate with good paste and fill with the above.

Please find stamped addressed envelope inclosed for the above recipe.

Hoping this will not trouble you too much, BRITISHER.

Ans.—It is no trouble at all. I am glad to send it for you. Your recipe sounds excellent. Call again.

Recipes and Experience.

Dear Miss Grey,—Now here I am again; do you recognize the writing? There, I caught you peeping at the bottom of the page for the signature. Yes, it is that old woman again. Did you think it a joke in my last that I had stopped school 35 years ago? Well, as the boy would say, it is (whole cloth).

Well, now to business. Someone asked how to make dutch cheese. I will send my way—Have the milk thick, pour it in a kettle and set on back of the stove where it will gradually form a curd, and when hard enough (practice makes this perfect, as care must be taken that it does not get too hard) pour it in a colander to drain, and it is ready for the milk, cream, sugar and salt. Can be spiced with a little nutmeg if wished.

I also saw where "S. W." is asking how to make salt rising bread. It is a very difficult thing to make unless one has an extra good recipe, for I tried it many times and failed until I got this recipe, but have never failed with it. Early in the morning put a small teaspoon of salt in an earthern vessel that has been well scalded (I use a pitcher), then pour in a pint of boiling water, and when cool stir in enough flour and a cup of germ meal to make a batter, and then about half a cup of flour; put on top of batter to stir in later on; set the rising in a kettle of warm water which must be kept warm, stir every two hours for three times, then do not touch again as it will soon start to raise; should it start to raise after the second time, do not stir a third time. When light, have flour in dish and put in more salt, a tablespoon sugar, cup of sweet milk and potato water, beat all to a stiff batter; keep in a warm place and when light make into loaves, and when they have raised bake. Now will someone please give the recipe for vinegar pie?

Miss Grey, can you tell me what has become of Mutt and Jeff; have they gone to the war? I enjoy "Bringing Up Father." Trust this will not reach the W.P.B. on account of its length.

Every success to you, I am,

ALWAYS GLAD TO HELP.

Ans.—Yes, I recognized the writing, and of course turned to the bottom of the letter to see the signature; so you guessed right! You are a perfect treasure-house of recipes and practical experience thrown in, so are always sure of a welcome in the mail-box. The man who makes "Mutt and Jeff" has, I understand, been very ill; but we'll welcome them back like old friends when they do come, won't we?

Vinegar Pie—1 cup sugar, ½ cup vinegar, tablespoon butter, 3 teaspoons flour, 2 cups water; boil till thick, pour into crust, and bake; some use less flour and a beaten egg.

May See File Copy.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Could you tell me what date the first episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" appeared in The Advertiser?

2. Do you think I could get the first chapters of "The Mystery" story at The Advertiser office?

3. Would you please give me the meanings of the following names: Lilla, Florence, Marguerite, Elizabeth, James, Sidney, Frank, Harry, Olga.

Hoping I did not cause you too much trouble,

A "FLORENCE LA BADIE" ADMIRER.

Ans.—1. October 17, 1914.

2. You could read it in the file copy. Ask in the business office; but it would hardly be possible to obtain a separate copy of an issue of that date.

3. Lilla, same as Lily; Florence, flourishing; Marguerite, a pearl; Elizabeth, consecrated or a worshipper; James, a supplanter; Frank, free; Harry, head of a house; Olga, noble war.

Answers for Motherless.

Ans.—1. Yes, indeed, the serge suit would be very nice and suitable.

2. Would suggest a pretty voile waist, say of navy blue with white or cream veiling it. This is a very popular style for this spring.

3. Anypretty straw in rustic or smooth weaves, small shape preferred; blue, tan, or black with feather or flower trimming, yes, wear the veil.

4. Your writing is excellent.

Cocoanut Puffs.

Dear Miss Grey,—I appreciate your page very much indeed, and always turn to it first. This is my first letter, so will be as brief as possible.

Some time ago you published a recipe for cocoanut puffs. I cut it out to keep it at the time, but some way or other it has gone astray; it is the only one of the Mail Box recipes that I wanted to keep that I have ever lost, and I have a great many. Would you please be so kind as to publish it again? It is the one that in your answer you remarked that you had once tasted some that did not puff, as the cornstarch had been forgotten.

2. Will you kindly give me Andrew Carnegie's address, and also Miss Mary Pickford's (the movie actress), if you would be so kind? X. Y. Z.

Ans.—I think this is the desired recipe, am very glad to give it again:

Cocoanut Puffs—Two well-beaten egg whites; add slowly a small teacupful of granulated sugar and a tablespoon of cornstarch; put this in a bowl and set in boiling water and stir constantly for fifteen or twenty minutes. Then remove and add half pound of sweetened cocoanut. Drop on buttered tins and bake.

2. Address Andrew Carnegie at 2 East Ninety-first street, New York City. Miss Pickford may be reached by writing to her, in care of Famous Players' Corporation, 301 Times Building, New York City.

Cleaning Wall Paper.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you kindly advise me what would be good to remove fat spots from wall paper, and what would clean the same?

Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience, I am respectfully yours, R. S.

Ans.—1. This is a "magic cleaner" for wall paper, supplied by a reader some time ago. It may help: Six tablespoons of salt, 6 tablespoons of flour, 3 tablespoons of coal oil, enough water to make it the consistency of layer cake; put on stove and cook until like paste; roll it in balls and rub on paper.

Before using this, take a moderately hot iron and several thicknesses of brown paper; place the paper against the grease spots and press with the iron. It should remove the worst of the marks.

11:30 Too Late.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the first time I have visited your Mail Box, and I hope it won't put you to too much trouble to answer these questions:

1. What day did August 19, 1898, fall on?

2. Is half-past eleven too late for a couple of girls to go into a cafe with a boy friend?

3. Are white shoes to be worn this summer?

4. What are the meanings of Eunice, Lorne, Herman, Lloyd, Gladys, and Nelson?

5. Is it proper for a girl to correspond with a boy and to have a boy friend close at home, both but mere friends?

6. What do you think of my writing?

E. B.

Ans.—1. Friday.

2. Yes.

3. Yes.

4. Eunice, happy victory; Lorne, same as Lawrence, crowned with laurel; Herman, a warrior; Gladys, lame; Nelson, name probably given after British hero.

5. Yes, as long as both are "but mere friends."

6. Fairly good.

For Easter Favors.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Would you please publish the formulas for stiffening crocheted baskets? Filled with candy eggs they make dear little Easter favors.

2. Also, with this style of notepaper, are the place of opening of letter in their correct places?

Your page in The Morning Advertiser is much appreciated in our home.

M. G. W.

Ans.—1. The only formula I know of time, squeeze and pull out as well as you can, and let each dry stretched over an inverted jelly mold. The individual aluminum molds are about the right size. Your Easter favor idea is a nice one.

2. Yes. Your entire letter is a model of neatness and "correctness."

is to make a thin solution of gum arabic and warm water; strain, and when cool dip in the crocheted baskets, one at a

THE KEEP-WELL COLUMN.

WHAT IS NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS? TEST YOUR VISION BY THESE RULES

EYES.

The health of the worker is a very important factor in the problem of industrial efficiency, and it should be duly considered by the employer if for no other reason than that of economy.

With transportation companies especially, the qualification of good physical health should be one of paramount importance. Under the physical requirements, one of particular import should be that of good vision.

Every man selected to fill a position which is in any way connected with the movement of trains or the guiding of vessels should have normal sight.

What is good sight as far as it concerns railroad employees who are in any way connected with train service?

To speak rather roughly, good sight means the ability to see clearly large objects in the distance, as well as fine print at about 12 inches, and to distinguish readily between colors.

The former is usually called acuteness of vision, an engineman in his cab is able to see clearly, in favorable weather, a signal 4,000 feet ahead.

The same individual is, by virtue of his color sense, able at night to distinguish between the red light of danger, the green light of caution, and the white of clear way.

The ability to see a long distance is a faculty of persons having normal sight. It is also possible in persons who are slightly far-sighted. It is absent in those who are near-sighted, to whom distant objects appear blurred or are even quite invisible.

Near-sighted persons, therefore, are excluded from train service, because they would be a constant menace to travel.

If food were properly cooked and thoroughly chewed we could cut our daily rations down one-half or two-thirds in amount.

WOMEN SEE PREMIER RE FEEBLE-MINDED

National Council of Women Urge Better Protective Laws.

Some very interesting reports and discussion marked the executive meeting of the National Council of Women held in Ottawa last week. Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught was present at nearly every session, and showed a great interest in the proceedings. The convener of the committee on suppression of immoral literature had prepared a list of books suitable for children's reading, and also a list which should be avoided and fought against. The convener of the public health committee, Mrs. Smellie, urged that all councils throughout Canada study the question of public health more with a view of bettering the physical condition of the people, especially the children. Miss Fitzgibbon, who is well-known through her work at the "Women's Hostel" in Toronto, stated that the immigration had fallen off considerable, but that as a large flood of newcomers was expected in the Dominion in spring, special preparations should be made to receive them.

More Room at MacDonald.

The National Council had been asked to begin a movement for larger accommodation for girls at the MacDonald institutes. It was stated that there was now a long waiting list of girls who desired to take domestic training. One speaker urged that girls take vocational training in several branches, as they would then be in a better position to adopt the one most suited to them. Such training would have a broadening effect, it was believed.

Mrs. Torrington, of Toronto, Miss Derrick, Montreal, and Miss Dennis, of Halifax, formed a deputation to wait upon the Premier in regard to better laws for feeble-minded women and children. A Government committee had been formed last year for this, but as yet little had been done. The Premier promised to look into the matter as soon as possible, stating that the Government should look after the feeble-minded ones.

London Woman There.

The question of where the next executive and next annual meeting should be held was left to the subcommittee. The meeting was a most representative one, all the provinces being represented except British Columbia. Interesting communications from Lady Aberdeen, the advisory president, were read, in which she congratulated the women of Canada upon their fine patriotic work within the past few months. Mrs. R. M. Graham of this city attended the executive, representing Mrs. Boomer, the local president.

HOPELESS CASE.

"Why Won't you marry me?"

"My friend," responded the young lady, "you couldn't even support my dog in the style to which he has been accustomed."

LONDON MARYS KNIT SOCKS FOR SOLDIERS

Lord Roberts Chapter I.O.D.E. Ask All Marys To Send Pair; Londoners Equip 15 Beds.

A splendid response to the appeal for citizens to equip beds in the Shorncliffe Hospital for Canadian soldiers in England at $25 a bed, has been met with by the Lord Roberts Chapter of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire. At a meeting held yesterday in Cronyn Hall, it was stated that fifteen beds have been provided for by the following members and friends: Mrs. T. H. Smallman, Mrs. W. T. Edge, Mrs. Niven, Mrs. T. McCormick, Mrs. Beddome, Mrs. Robert Wallace, E. A. P., Mrs. C. S. Hyman, Mrs. Burke, Port Stanley I.O.D.E., Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Boomer and four members of the chapter, Mrs. and Miss Mayo, Col. Shannon and "Anonymous." It will be remembered that the British Government is arranging accommodation for many more beds in Shorncliffe, and as many of the wounded and sick Canadian men will be looked after there, Canadians are given the privilege of equipping the beds. Twenty-five dollars provides and outfits one bed. The ward will be known as the "London (Ontario) Ward."

A communication has been sent by the regent, Mrs. Ernest Smith, to Lady Aileen Roberts, the honorary patroness of the chapter which was named in honor of her father, the late Field Marshal Earl Roberts, asking her to visit the Shorncliffe Hospital and interview Sir William Osler in regard to the arrangement of the beds. Lady Aileen is also requested to take a word of cheer to the men who may occupy them.

Marys To Knit.

In honor to Queen Mary, who has given royal patronage to the Shorncliffe Hospital, it was decided to ask from the Lord Roberts Chapter, through the medium of the press, that every Mary in London and the surrounding vicinity give one pair of socks within the next four weeks to go to the men convalescing in the over-seas hospitals.

A letter from the National Committee for Patriotic Service in regard to a Peace Propaganda emanating from neutral countries and being circulated at present in Canada, was given hearty indorsation by the chapter. The communication stated in clear terms that in a struggle between the principles of law and force, such as the present conflict in Europe, peace secured at this juncture would be harmful and but temporary. The voice of all women's organizations in Canada in this respect is being asked for by H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, who will send the result to King George by April 1.

Work for No. 3.

The chapter decided to take up work for the No. 3 Stationary Hospital being mobilized here under Col. Casgrain, a requisition to this effect being presented to the meeting by Mrs. Niven. The members will equip the men here and continue to do so after they leave for France. Mrs. E. H. Johnston, treasurer, gave a most satisfactory report of the finances, and an excellent account of the chapter's undertakings for the month was presented by Mrs. W. K. Ross, convenor of the work committee. Mrs. Smith asked all members to give enthusiastic aid to the recital to be given by Mr. Thomas Martin, in the Masonic Temple on April 12, when a musical treat is insured.

PUZZLES FOR MEN.

Here are a few girls' ways that no man can understand, at least, so a celebrated author tells us:

She will sit in a draught in a low-necked gown with her arms and shoulders bare.

But she will go out on the hottest afternoon with her head and neck tied up in a thick veil, if veils happen to be fashionable.

She will forket to pay a bill for months.

But she will make herself conspicuous in a car squabbling to pay for her friend a few coppers which she doesn't owe.

She will wear a skirt that fetters every movement, and declare that she is quite comfortable.

She is up in arms when she sees a horse whipped.

But she will drag a poor little dog on a shopping expedition that would enfeeble a good-sized man.

She has a will that no power on earth can bend. Yet she allows herself to be called "the weaker sex."

O SHAW!

[Chicago News.]

Bernard Shaw knew as much about Alaska when he called it a possession of Russia's as he does about some other things concerning which he thunders to the rapturous awe of his admirers.

SPORT NOTE.

[Cleveland Leader.]

And those who are slow at learning the names of the spring crop of ballplayers usually find that they have fewer to learn.

Tea sold in bulk by the average retail grocer cannot reach you entirely free from dust and contamination. When sold in the original sealed "SALADA" packets, however, it is delivered exact in weight, uniform in quality, pure and clean, at a fair even price.

MORE GIFTS FOR BELGIAN BABIES

Local Council of Women Preparing to Send Another Consignment.

Work for the next carload of supplies to be sent by the Local Council of Women for Belgian Babies' Relief, still progresses. From the Maple Leaf Dramatic Club, of Poplar Hill, and Coldstream, comes a donation of $39.68, being the proceeds of a successful dramatic entertainment recently given on behalf of the Belgian babies. Mrs. Boomer extends cordial thanks for the gift, and would be glad to hear of similar efforts from other organizations. Thanks are also extended to Warwick Patriotic League for a gift of $5; to Mrs. Kerr, 57 Beaconsfield avenue, for gift of garments; to Mrs. Gott for making 17 little dresses; the Lord Roberts Chapter I. O. D. E., for 37 garments, and the King Street Presbyterian Church women for two dozen garments, this being the second consignment received from them.

Any friends of the Belgian babies willing to work for them are asked to communicate at once with Mrs. Stevely, Dundas street, as she has more material at hand ready to make up. Contributions of money are gladly accepted, and may be mailed or delivered to Mrs. Boomer, 513 Dundas street.

TODAY'S LENTEN DISH

Baked Mackerel.—The fresh fish is best for this recipe, but the salted fish may be used, if soaked in tepid water until all salt has been removed. Cut off head and tail from fish weighing 1½ pounds and remove the backbone. Place the fish in baking pan, skin side down and sprinkle it with a little curry powder. Blend one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and spread over the fish.

Add the juice of one lemon to one cup of stock, turn over fish and bake in moderate oven 25 minutes, basting often with the juice in the pan. Serve with potato cakes.

Woodstock and London Juniors Meet Here Friday

Will Play Off for Championship of Local District—Local Club Was Awarded District Title, But Wanted To Win on Merits Instead.

Woodstock and London O. B. A. juniors will decide the championship of their district in this city on Friday night. Physical Director A. T. Taylor, of the local Y. M. C. A., who is also president of the O. B. A., wrote letters to the members of the O. B. A. executive, stating the facts in the trouble between the two teams, and asking for an opinion. By a vote of 9 to 3 the game was awarded to London, the three dissenting votes standing out for a play-off on a neutral floor.

Offered Woodstock a Game.

The London team, however, did not want to win the district by this means, if possible, and the management communicated with the Woodstock club. The locals offered to play a sudden-death game in Stratford, or else have Woodstock come up here and play. Owing to the two fiascoes at Woodstock the London team would not play there. The Woodstock team accepted the offer of a game in London, and the match was arranged for Friday night. The Baby City quintet beat the local juniors in this city some weeks ago, and they are confident of repeating. They have a strong aggregation and are practicing hard for the game.

Locals Practicing Hard.

The local team is also working out daily in preparation for the game, and it promises to be a battle-royal when the teams meet. The winners will play off with Hamilton or Brantford.

Hamilton After First Baseman Who's a Wonder

Cristall Will Not Divulge His Name for Fear He Loses Him.

HAMILTON, March 22. — If Manager Billy Cristall, of the Hamilton club, meets with success in his latest mission, the local club will have a first baseman this summer possessing both quantity and quality. The big fellow being sought by Cristall stands well over six feet in height and is proclaimed a heavy slicker and a sterling first baseman. Cristall was tipped off to him by a big leaguer, who informed the local pilot also of the price that he would pay for. The figure looked quite suitable and Cristall immediately got in touch with the heavyweight. He will know some time today how the offer is received.

In the fear that the mentioning of the name might result in the loss of the big fellow, Cristall preferred to keep the fans in the dark until he is sure of his man. However, he is a former Tri-State Leaguer and is highly recommended. The Tri-State has decided to cease operations for the season, and this will mean that many ball-tossers will be available from that source. It is likely that Canadian League managers will turn their attention that way.

Three more contracts were received at local baseball headquarters this morning, they being those of Outfielders Burns and Kane and Pitcher Rickert. Burns hit .367 in a class B organization last year and Kane awaited at a .295 clip. Pitcher Rickert hails from the Ohio State League, where he had considerable success.

GLEASON MAY REFEREE BOUT

HAVANA, March 22. — The naming of a referee for the fight between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard is the one remaining task that confronts Promoter Jack Curley. Fully a dozen names have been suggested to Johnson, but so far the black has not agreed to any of them.

Jack Gleason, who, with Tex Rickard, promoted the Johnson-Jeffries affair, is most prominently mentioned as a possible referee.

CLUB HAS LOST MONEY

Over $75,000 Indebtedness To Face — Gilmore Says League Prospects Bright

INDIANAPOLIS, March 22.—Alleging that the Indianapolis Federal League Baseball Club is insolvent, Pliny W. Bartholenew, former judge of the superior court, and a stockholder, brought suit today to place the club in the hands of a receiver. He alleges that in addition to indebtedness of $75,000, the club is indebted to the stockholders for the non-payment of 6 per cent on $50,000 worth of stock.

Judge Bartholenew alleges that the club is in an embarrassed financial condition, and is losing money every day.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Prospects for setting the circuit troubles of the Federal League were bright today, according to a statement by James A. Gilmore, president of the league. A meeting of the stockholders of the Indianapolis club will be held at Indianapolis tomorrow, said Mr. Gilmore. "They will determine whether to accept the offer of the league to buy the franchise. If they conclude to sell, we will be able to go ahead with our schedule meeting without waiting for a decision in the Kansas City injunction case.

"The fact that some one has applied for a receivership for the Indianapolis club will not make the slightest difference in the negotiations," added Mr. Gilmore.

MILITARY GUARDS BEAT SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

First Soccer Game of the Season Results in Win for 7th Men by 7 to 0.

The game between soccer teams of the Military Guard and the Provisional School of Instruction, which was played on Carling Heights, Saturday afternoon, resulted in a win for the Guards by the score of 7 to 0. The contest was a brisk sort of affair. The game started fast and furious and within five minutes of the kick-off, Crowder scored the first goal. Falshaw scored the second goal on a neat bit of combination play. The score remained 2 to 0 until half time was called.

The second half started in with some rough play, but when the teams settled down, Widdicombe scored the third goal after taking the ball from Reid. Ball, soon after, made the score 4 to 0, and in the last twenty minutes of the game, he ran in three more goals.

The teams were lined up as follows: Guard —Goal, Emeny; backs, Falshaw, Roberts; halves, Widdicome, Cook, E. Wakeling; forwards, McLoughin, Holmes, Crowder, Smith, Ball.

School—Goal, Watson; backs, Buller, F. Reid; halves, Galispie, Wilson, D. Reid; forwards, Roberts, Widrow, Cornford, Green, Watson.

Linesmen—Hodley, C. Wakeling.

Referee—George Reading.

WHAT THE FIRST WEEK IN THE BASEBALL TRAINING CAMP IS LIKE TO THE RECRUIT

Andrew Mack Never Won a Bet On Horse Named After Him

Frank J. Farrell, former owner of the New York Americans, named a thoroughbred in honor of Andrew Mack, the Irish comedian.

"Farrell's colt was bred in the purple, and his owner paid $1,600 to enter the horse in all the rich eastern stakes," said Mr. Mack. "The first time the colt started at Bennings, Farrell advised me not to bet on him, saying he couldn't beat Go Between. Andrew Mack went to the post at 10 to 1, and galloped in front all the way. He failed to win another race for three years, and kept me broke all that time. On day Farrell touted him heavily and Willie Collier bet $500 on the colt. Andrew Mack swung into the stretch last in a field of 20. Collier was watching the race through a field glass. My wife said:

"'Where's Andrew Mack, Mr. Collier?'

"'Why he's in Fall River,'" replied Willie.

Frank Farrell gave the colt away that fall to William Cahill. Billy found out that the horse had a split hoof. Cahill was a master mechanic at patching up cripples. He healed up Andrew's spreading foot, and made the horse beat the best ponies at San Francisco. But I never won a bet on the blooming skate."

BOTH FIGHTERS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

Johnson Has Only a Little Fat To Work Off.

NEGRO IS THE FAVORITE

Lots of Willard Money in Sight—Interest in Bout Is Very Keen.

HAVANA, March 22. — Jack Johnson and Jess Willard are rapidly rounding into shape for their championship bout on April 4. The big cowboy is in better physical shape than the champion, but this is due to the preliminary training he received at El Paso, when it was thought the fight would be staged at Juarez. But the "Big Smoke" is by no means in the poor condition that reports have credited him. He is a little fat, but with almost two weeks to work it off there is no reason why the champion should not be in as good physical condition as he was the day he wrested the title from Jim Jeffries.

Interest in the fight is keen. The training camps of both fighters are visited daily by crowds, who are trying to get a line on both fighters. There is no racial feeling over the fight. No one speaks of a white man being pitted against a negro. Everyone looks upon the coming fight as a battle in which the championship is at stake. Everyone is anxious for the date of the encounter to come around.

Johnson is a favorite with the bettors, but there is plenty of Willard money in sight.

Cobb Tipped Off Play, Then Beat Catcher On It

Charley Schmidt Not Fast Enough To Nab Georgian Peach on Bunt.

GULFPORT, March 22.—Ty Cobb and Charlie Schmidt had their friendly annual tilt, and the season now is officially on as far as the Georgian is concerned.

When he came to bat for the fourth time Sunday, Cobb told Schmidt he was going to bunt, and that he would beat the play if the catcher would field the ball.

Schmidt accepted the challenge, and ordered O'Dell, his third sacker, to keep out of the play. Tyrus bunted the first pitch fair, and Schmidt, in his hurry to field the ball, fumbled a little, and then made a bounding throw. Cobb beat it easily. He stole on the next pitch, but failed to hook the bag, and was out when he over-slid.

This safe bunt gave Cobb the longest and shortest hits of the day. In the third round he lifted the ball out of the lot, the sphere going over the fence just inside right field foul flag. The Tigers have had numerous four-basers in exhibition and scrub games, but this is the first one to go out of a playing field.

When we meet a man with his chest expansion increased by about ten inches passing out smokable cigars, we are in doubt as to whether he is the father of twins, or has just bowled a 300-score.

That sport writer in New York who keeps calling Jess Willard a big cheese must hate Welsh rarebit.

Bill Hopper, hero of the famous dog trade, is to pitch for Washington, and after he listens to Griffith on a losing game, he'll trade himself for a dog biscuit.

"Hooks" Wiltse Is New Manager of the Skeeters

International League President Announces Signing of Former Giant.

NEW YORK, March 22. — President Edward J. Barrow, of the International League, announced tonight that he had signed George Wiltse, formerly of the New York Nationals to manage the Jersey City team for the coming season. Wiltse will report immediately.

The Jersey City club has signed all of last year's players and several new men. The team will do its spring training at home and has arranged to play a number of exhibition games before the league season opens.

PRESTON TO HAVE TEAM IN WATERLOO LEAGUE

PRESTON, March 22.—The Preston Car and Coach Company have decided to enter a team in the Waterloo County Baseball League. At a well attended meeting of the employees, held the other day, it was decided to enter a team in the league, providing that no other team out of the town was entered in the league.

The employees as well as the management of the above named concern, always take a great interest in sport, and whatver they take hold of, they always make a success of.

It has been reported that the concern's next move in sport will be to enter a team in the Northern Hockey League next year.

The St. Louis Feds made nineteen hits and scored only five runs against the Almendares team. We could write a verbatim report of what Fielder Jones had to say without going within 2,000 miles of him.

FIRST TIME CURLEY SAW JOHNSON FIGHT HE WAS KNOCKED OUT

Chicago Smoke Put Big Dinge To Sleep in Second Round After Johnson Had Put Him Out in First Round.

Jack Curley says the first time he saw Jack Johnson fight, the big dinge met a Chicago smoke masquerading under the nom de plume of "Klondike."

"George Siler saw Johnson go through five black clouds like a cyclone in a battle royal at Springfield, Ill., and invited the Galveston brunette to visit Chicago," said Curley. "A north side saloonkeeper named Kennedy matched Klondike with Johnson. Malachi Hogan refereed the mill. Johnson floored Klondike in the first round with an uppercut to the chin. Klondike went up like a skyrocket, and came down with an awful thud. They were counting him out when Kennedy called time. He didn't think one round of fighting a run for his money. We doused Klondike with water, and held ammonia to his nose till he regained consciousness and was able to stand on his pins again. Johnson thought he had Klondike's 'number,' and was taking things easy in the second, when Kennedy's hurricane long right overarm haymaker that started down around the heel.

"'Sewed a button on Jack's peeper,' is right. The big Galveston cotton picker fell in a heap, and was out for an hour. When he came to he asked for the loser's end.

"'There's no loser's end,' growled Kennedy.

"'But I'm hungry, and have got to eat,' whined Johnson.

"I felt sorry for Jack, and handed him some bird seed (small change), telling him to go fill up on chile con carne. Although I've been busy ever since Johnson became champion trying to dig up a man to beat him, the negro has never forgotten the good turn I did him the night Klondike beat him in Kennedy's cafe."

SENATORS FADED AFTER FIRST PERIOD

Vancouver Won First Game For Stanley Cup by Playing in Brilliant Form.

Vancouver, B. C., March 23.—Vancouver, champions of the Pacific Coast, defeated the Ottawa' team in the first game of the world's series last night by 6 to 2. Playing in brilliant form from start to finish and rushing the Senators hard in the last two periods, Vancouver was easily the better team, and are warm favorites to win the championship in three straight games.

It was the fastest game ever played in the West. Ottawa surprised the crowd with end-to-end rushes in the first period, which was thrilling and replete with sensational work. Playing under western rules has handicapped the Senators, but they gave a display that was a credit to the National Hockey Association, and after twenty minutes of the fastest hockey ever served up in any city of the Coast League circuit, they left the ice at the end of the first period tied with Vancouver. It was in the second period that Vancouver got the jump on Ottawa. Playing brilliant combination and taking advantage of all openings, Vancouver gained a comfortable lead with whirlwind rushes, and when the period was ended had the game cinched.

Both teams made numerous changes in the final period, but Vancouver increased their lead, McKay scoring, after evading the Ottawa defence.

The play was clean throughout, although the checking was close and hard. Art Ross was "in bad" with the western fans by his aggressive work, and drew a penalty in the first period. Neighbor starred for Vancouver along with "Cyclone" Taylor.

Duford was the only player on the Ottawa team who played up to form. Broadbent was bottled up, and was unable to get through the Vancouver defence.

Both goaltenders made sensational saves, but it was Vancouver's combination that beat Ottawa. The teams play on Wednesday night under eastern rules.

The teams were lined up:

Vancouver.	Position.	Ottawa.
Lehmann	Goal	Benedict
Cook	Point	Merrill
Patrick	Cover	Ross
Taylor	Rover	Gerrard
Mackay	Centre	Duford
Neighbor	R. wing	Broadbent
Stanley	L. wing	Graham
Mallen	Substitute	Darragh
Seaborn	Substitute	Shore
	Substitute	Hebert

Referee—Tommy Phillips, Vancouver.
Judge of play—Fred Ion, Vancouver.

UNITED STATES SETS TENNIS DATES

Schedule Is Longest Ever Issued by National Association—167 Tournaments

New York, March 23.—The lawn tennis season of 1915 was formally launched today by the announcement of tournament dates issued by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association. The schedule is the longest ever issued by the national association. It contains 167 tournaments, covering every State in the Union. Later applications probably will add about 50 tournaments to this list.

The most notable change this year is the shifting of the national championships from Newport to the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, Long Island. This brought about a general rearrangements of local dates. Owing to this fact also the executive committee took the New York State championship from the Crescent Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, and gave it to the Yahnundahis Golf Club, of Utica.

The women's national championship goes to Philadephia for the week of June 7. To compensate Newport for the loss of the national championships the committee sanctioned an invitation tournament to be held at the Newport casino beginning August 16. The women's metropolitan championship, hitherto held in the fall, will be one of the early events this year, starting on the West Side Club courts May 22.

Forty-eight important tournaments are scheduled for August, leading up to the national championships on August 30.

Three tournaments will be played at the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds in San Francisco, the Pacific coast championship starting June 19, the Panama-Pacific championship July 10, and the California State championship, September 10.

THISTLE CLUB TO START EUCHRE TOURNAMENT

The Taistle Club will hold a four-night euchre tourney at their club roomg beginning Friday night. Play will start at 8 o'clock and will be continued for the three following evenings. A handsome brass bed is the prize, to go to the man having the highest score for the total four nights. All curlers and bowlers in the city are invited. Come along and make this a success.

VEGETABLE GROWERS PLAN COMPETITION

Provincial Association Advances Means of Stimulating Production On Farms.

At the regular meeting of the London branch of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, held Saturday afternoon, several members signified their intention to enter the field crop competition, to be conducted by the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association in the following classes of vegetables: Onions, tomatoes, celery and early potatoes.

But—to do unusually good work of any kind, fitness of body and mind are required.

Food plays a big part in this matter—food that contains true nourishment. FRENCH COMMERCE GOOD Mercantile Captains of the Republic Report Conditions Excellent.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 23.—Presidents of 75 French chambers of commerce met here yesterday under the presidency of David Mennet, head of the Paris chamber, to discuss the general commercial situation. All were agreed that the conditions which exist are as good as a state of war will permit. The volume of trade, it was asserted, gradually is increasing and certain districts even are enjoying unusual prosperity, notably those in which are factories working on army contracts and those beginning to manufacture products hitherto obtainable only in Germany.

It was decided that the Paris chamber should gather data regarding articles imported from Germany both by France and allied and neutral countries which could be made in France.

Speakers declared that slow and unreliable transportation facilities were hampering large scale operations more than credit difficulties and a resolution was passed favoring a return to the practice whereby courts had the power to relieve transportation companies of liability for lost or damaged goods if it was shown such loss was attributed to a state of war.

FEW CANADIANS ARE IN TRENCHES

Reports Brought by Wounded Men to Shorncliffe Hospital.

EIGHT MORE ON LIST

Toronto Man Hit While Receiving a Spelling Lesson From Officer.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

LONDON, March 22.—Eight more Canadians reached the Queen's Canadian Hospital at Shorncliffe yesterday, bringing the total number of patients since the institution opened to over 200. Only one, Maj. Higginbotham, has died.

The Canadians admitted yesterday were: Lieut. Fornueret, Corpl. Worrall, Lance-Corporal Pegram, Ptes. Louis Paterson, David Cuthbert, Clifford Pearce, William Trebble and James Abercrombie.

From what these patients say, it is evident the greater portion of the Canadians were held as a reserve. In the recent costly operations their duty was to engage the German reserves if the latter were brought up. As things turned out, the Germans melted away before the British artillery's attack.

Fifty Canadians Laid Aside.

Nevertheless, the Canadians in reserve had nearly fifty of their number laid aside. There is Pte. Louis Paterson, of Toronto, 4th Battalion, who has shrapnel in both feet and one arm, and to use his own word, "I scarcely know what part of my body has not a bit of shrapnel in it." He is cheerful as a cricket, and declares his wounds are nothing to mention. His situation, when he received the personal souvenirs from the Germans, was absolutely grotesque. He was in a small house with his company officer. Things were quiet in their immediate neighborhood, but the German artillery was busy. To while away the time, perhaps to keep both their minds off what might possibly happen, the officer was actually giving the youngster a spelling lesson. He was attempting to spell "comical" when a shell came right into the room. Pte. Paterson says he knew nothing more for five minutes. His officer came off with a bump on the back of the head.

Arm Shattered.

Much more tragic in the case of Pte. Abercrombie, who was acting as stretcher-bearer, and whose arm was badly shattered with shrapnel.

Several Canadians, incidentally, assert positively that the Germans rarely hesitate to fire upon a dressing station and stretcher-bearers. Pte. Cuthbert, of the Patricias, Winnipeg, who got a bullet in the arm, laconically remarks: "There were plenty of them to go around. I was not there an hour before I got my dose." He was hit about the same time as his fellow Patricia, Pte. Worrall, from Montreal. Their beds at Shorncliffe are within a couple of yards of each other.

A large number of wounded Canadians at Shorncliffe were able to go on the lawn yesterday, the weather being so balmy. One wounded Canadian, attired in comfortable hospital slops, and seated in a basket chair, remarked: "You ought to hear that row from six batteries, all within a mile of you, or rather you ought to pray to be saved from hearing it."

Ten at Notley.

The following Canadian wounded have been received into Notley Hospital during the week-end: Ptes. H. McDonald, M. Mehan, W. Moore, J. W. H. Dalliday, T. Fairbairn, F. Slater, J. Chamberlain, Sergts. W. B. Day, A. Steel, Bugler W. J. J. Cullum.

GEN. STEELE TO COMMAND THE SECOND CONTINGENT

WINNIPEG, March 22.—The Telegram this afternoon says private message received from Major General Steel at Toronto confirms the report he has been given command of the second Canadian Expeditionary Force.

FIFTY MINERS KILLED BY A SNOW SLIDE

VANCOUVER, March 22. — Fifty miners were killed, and as many more injured early today by a snowslide which swept away several bunk houses at the Britannia Mine, at Howe Sound, B.C., according to a dispatch received here. Besides the bunk houses, part of the aerial tramway of the mine was carried away.

The slides swept away a bunk house containing fifteen men, a cook house containing ten men, and several private houses, in which were a number of women and children. Several men who were going off the night shift at midnight were also killed.

WAR SCALE STANDS.

[Canadian Press.]

Calgary, Alta., March 23.—A conference between Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the representatives of District No. 15, of the United Mine Workers, has resulted in a compromise on the old agreement expiring this month, and the existing war scale stands, with very slight modifications and adjustments. The new agreement is for two years.

BIG HAUL FOR THE CZAR WHEN PRZEMYSL FELL

Eight Generals and Fifty Thousand Soldiers Taken Prisoner —Religious Services and Great Rejoicing Mark Event At the Russian Capital.

[Canadian Press.]

PETROGRAD, March 22.—7:15 p.m.—Via London, 11:05 p.m.—The Przemysl garrison, which capitulated to the Russian army today, surrendered without a fight. The hoisting of the white flag over this fortress, which was said to be on the point of surrender on a number of occasions, caused little surprise, as it was generally known that it was in a terribly weakened condition, without food or ammunition, and its endurance was only a question of days.

War Office advices report that nine Austrian generals were taken, more than 300 officers and 50,000 men. The Russian general commanding the investing army has been decorated with St. George's Cross.

A heavy snowstorm failed to check the enthusiastic demonstrations in which the civil and military populations united when the fall of Przemysl was announced. The crowds, floundering in deep drifts which tied up street traffic, cheered the officers and soldiers who remained to participate in the celebrations.

From Kazan Cathedral the strains of the national anthem swelled in volume as the crowd gathered; and from other points throughout the city mysteriously hidden behind the dense curtain of falling snow music burst forth and added to the general spirit of enthusiasm.

Releases Great Army.

The ending of the long siege is considered here of great importance. It gives Russia control of virtually all of Eastern Galicia, and releases the Russian army which has been besieging the city for service elsewhere.

Nothing since the capture of Lemberg and the victorious sweep of the Russian army through Galicia in the beginning of the war, has aroused an equal degree of enthusiasm. Newspaper offices and army headquarters were bombarded with telephone inquiries for information. Crowds stood in a pelting snowstorm before the bulletin boards.

Fate Was Inevitable.

The fate of the fortress had been inevitable since the failure of the last Austrian drive from the southward for its relief. There have been daily evidence of a shortage of provisions, and reports of the ravages of disease reached the besiegers from time to time. Gradually the lines about the city were drawn tighter, until within the last fortnight Russian riflemen were within range of the outer works. Russian artillery pounded the forts ceaselessly.

The Austrian sortie of last Saturday was preceded by such an extravagant use of ammunition by the artillery as to leave the impression that the besieged army was at the end of its resources, and desired to consume the remainder of its ammunition prior to surrendering.

Always Source of Danger.

Although Przemysl had been eliminated as a positive menace to the Russian troops operating in Galicia since it was isolated and surrounded early in October, it always had been a potential source of danger. Many stubborn battles have been fought by the besiegers with portions of the garrison which attempted to break through the investing lines to join relief columns, which on some occasions pushed to within 25 miles of the city.

It is believed here that the next important development in Galicia will be a new Russian advance toward Cracow, the Austrians having been virtually driven out of the territory as far southward as the Carpathians.

FALL OF PRZEMYSL MOST IMPORTANT CAPTURE OF WAR

LONDON, March 22.—10:25 p.m.—The long investment of the mid-Galician fortress of Przemysl has ended. Depleted by disease, subsisting on horse flesh and surrounded by a superior force of Russians, the garrison has surrendered to the besieging army after a defence lasting many months, which up to the present is recorded as Austria's most noteworthy contribution to the war. Petrograd, London and Paris are celebrating the event tonight—Petrograd and Paris in the spontaneous manner characteristic of those cities; London with silent and grim satisfaction, which is the Briton's way.

The newspapers assert that the fall of the fortress marks the most important capture of the war, not excepting Antwerp, in that it not only released considerable Russian forces which can be thrown into the fluctuating struggle in the Carpathians, but opens the door to Cracow and the plains of Hungary.

Tremendous Moral Effect.

It is argued, moreover that the moral effect of the surrender will be tremendous, the theory of the Allies being that it will stimulate feeling in their favor both in Roumania and Bulgaria, just as the operations in the Dardanelles are causing an agitation in Greece and Italy.

The Italian situation is receiving renewed attention by the press of the Allies, though rumors, rather than facts, seem to be the basis of most of the dispatches. The Italian embassy at London had no confirmation tonight of the report that freight traffic between Italy and Germany by way of Switzerland, had been stopped, nor was there any confirmation of the reported massing of Austrian and German troops along the Austrian Littoral, or the assembling of artillery at Trieste.

Withstood Assault Six Months.

Przemysl fell with honor, the British press concedes, for it withstood the onslaughts longer than any place during the war, the investment having begun about September 16, something more than six months ago. The duration of the siege, compared with the length of time it took the Germans to capture such strongholds as Liege, Namur and Antwerp, was due to two causes, one being the desire of the Russians to keep the loss of life among the besieging army at a minimum, the other to the lack of great guns, which the Germans had in Belgium.

The investment was not a close one, the garrison having had up until recently a radius of about twelve miles in which to move about, and some dispatches told of shooting expeditions indulged in by the officers of the garrison.

An aeroplane post was maintained almost up to the last, and it is said that even some scanty food supplies were carried in this way.

Garrison Greatly Diminished.

The Przemysl garrison was estimated at 80,000 men last September, and last week it was reported that it had diminished to 25,000. There have been recurrent reports of cholera and other diseases, but these were as vague as many of the premature reports regarding its surrender.

Nothing of great importance has been recorded over night in the western war zone. In the east, aside from the fall of Przemysl, the situation around the German port of Memel is the most interesting. From this town the Germans maintain they have driven the Russians, while a controversy is being waged by the press of the two countries as to the merits of the Russian contention that civilians fired on them in this latest incursion in East Prussia —a fact which demanded reprisals.

There is no late news from the Dardanelles, and the belief in England seems to be that the operations will perhaps be more protracted than at first expected.

SMUTS AND THE REBELS

He Would Release But Not Repeal Martial Edict.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 23.—A Reuter dispatch from Cape Town says that during a discussion of the indemnity bill in the Assembly, General Jan Christian Smuts, minister of defence, spoke in opposition to a proposal to repeal the martial law edict. The minister promised that when the indemnity bill was passed that the rebel rank and file now interned would be released, and that the military law would be lessened as far as possible. Notwithstanding the fact that there was a certain amount of risk in doing so, General Smuts said he believed that it would be in the interest of peace. He considered, however, that it would be better to retain martial law and release the rebels than to hold the rebels and repeal the martial law edict.

PRUSSIA'S LAST WAR IN EUROPE

Allies Determined Military Domination Will Come to End.

SIR ED. GREY SPEAKS

Must Live in Future Without "Sword Continually Rattled in Scabbard."

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, March 22.—"War might have been avoided by a European conference when and where Germany desired." Foreign Secretary Edward Grey told an audience in London this afternoon. At the time he was acting as chairman of a gathering which was listening to a lecture on the strategy of the war. Continuing along this line the Foreign Secretary said:

"Germany, from her experience in the Balkan conference, knew she could count on our good will and that we were ready to do last July what we did before. But Germany refused every suggestion, and on her rests for all time the appalling responsibility for the war. We now know that Germany had prepared for war, and only those who have planned for war can prepare for it."

Must Be the Last.

Amid loud cheers Sir Edward added: "This is the fourth time within living memory that Prussia has made war upon Europe, and we are determined it shall be the last.

"The expenditure of hundreds of millions of money and the loss of millions of lives might have been avoided by a conference of the European powers held in London or at The Hague, or wherever and in whatever form Germany would have consented to hold it. It would have been far easier to have settled the dispute between Austria-Hungary and Servia, which Germany made the occasion for the war, than it was to get successfully through the Balkan crisis of two years ago.

"In recent years," the Foreign Secretary went on to say, "we have given Germany every assurance that any aggressive movement upon her would receive no support from us. We withheld from her only one thing—the unconditional promise to stand aside, however aggressive Germany herself might be to her neighbor.

Responsibility On Germany.

"Last July, before the outbreak of the war, France, Italy and Russia were ready to accept a conference. Germany refused every suggestion made for settling the dispute in this way, and on her must rest now and for all time the appalling responsibility of having plunged Europe into this war."

Asking "what is the issue for which we are fighting?" Sir Edward proceeded as follows:

"In due time terms of peace will be put forward by the Allies. One essential condition must be the restoration to Belgium of her independent national life and free possession of her territory.

The Great Issue.

"The great issue is this: We wish the nations of Europe to be free to live independent lives, working out their own form of government and their own form of national development in full liberty, whether they be great states or small states. That is our ideal.

"The German ideal is that the Germans are a superior people to whom all things are lawful and against whom resistance is unlawful and must be put down, that they must establish domination over the nations of the continent and that all must be subservient to Germany.

"I would rather perish or leave the continent altogether than live under such conditions. After this war we and the other nations of Europe must be free to live without the interference of the superior war lord; without the clang of armor and the sword continually rattled in the scabbard. Heaven continually invoked and without our policy being dictated by the military domination of Prussia.

"We claim for ourselves and together with our allies we will secure that right to live and pursue our national existence, not in the shadow of Prussian suppremacy, but the light of equal liberty."

That Racking Persistent Cough

Can Be Quickly Cured By

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

All obstinate coughs and colds yield quickly to the general action of "Dr. Wood's" for the simple reason that this valuable preparation combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, with which is combined Wild Cherry Bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks. This makes it, without any chance of denial, the best cough medicine on the market today.

When you ask for "Dr. Wood's" see that it is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark, and that the name, The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., appears on the wrapper. Price, 25c and 50c.

Mrs. H. C. Kingston, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "I wish to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as being the best cough medicine on the market. A few months ago I took a severe cold which left me with a racking cough. After trying several cough remedies, with no result, I decided to get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking the first two doses it began to effect a cure, and after continuing its use for a short time, I was entirely cured. I cannot say too much in its praise."

USE WOMEN FOR WORK

Take Place of Italian Soldiers if Complete Mobilization Ordered.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, via Paris, March 23.—A movement is under way in Italy to substitute women for men in the work of industry and commerce in case of complete mobilization. It is proposed that the women be paid the same wage as now received by male workers, with the provision that part of it be turned over to the families of men called to the colors. The plan provides that the female workers shall surrender their posts to the soldiers when they are disbanded. An office has been opened where women may register and express an opinion as to what work they are best able to do in case of need.

STORM TURNS BACK RAIDING ZEPPELINS

Two Aerial Fleets Were Heading to Bombard the French Capital.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 23.—Georges Clemenceau and other prominent writers in the Paris press criticise the aerial defences of Paris. They declare Zeppelins should not have been able to reach Paris Sunday night, which was clear and starlit. The danger of an air fight over the capital with the possibility of the fall of a Zeppelin with its cargo of unused explosives is pointed out.

These views are shared by the deputies representing the Paris district, who decided at a meeting yesterday to make representations on the subject to Premier Viviani.

Details have not been obtained as to the circumstances of the second raid upon Paris, which was attempted last night. It is understood that two fleets had planned to bombard the capital, but it is supposed they turned back because of the heavy rainstorm when 25 miles from the city.

When announcement was made that a raid was impending French aeroplane flotillas took the air from the entrenched camps and searchlights were trained upon the sky from every quarter.

After the city firemen once had signalled that the danger was past, a second alarm was sounded because of a report that Zeppelins had been seen flying over the department of the Oize. When they had not appeared at 3 a.m., bugles sounded the "retreat" and the lights of the city were turned on again.

B. C. BROOKS ELECTED LONDON TP. REEVE

Majority Is 155 Over R. W. Dobson, Who Leads Barker by 22.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ARVA, March 22.—B. C. Brooks was today elected reeve of London Township, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Reeve Hodgins. The vote was large on account of three candidates being in the field. R. W. Dobson ran second, closely pursued by James Barker.

The vote at the close of the polls stood:

Brooks	457
Dobson	312
Barker	290

The interest taken in the election of the reeve of London Township yesterday is shown by the total of 1,069 votes, which is only slightly fewer than the average number polled in January for the election of the entire township council.

The election was held just in time to allow the entire council to form a part of the hydro-radial deputation to Toronto on Friday.

Of Pioneer Stock.

Reeve-elect Brooks is a descendant of Middlesex pioneers, his grandfather having settled in this county in 1831. Mr. Brooks now holds the same farm on concession 1, London Township, on which his father established himself in 1832. The farm is about 550 acres in extent.

Although Reeve Brooks has been out of the council for three years, he had previously been first deputy for two years, and second deputy for one year, and was chairman of the board of road directors. He was defeated in the election for reeve in January, 1913, when the position was won by the late J. H. Hodgins.

Reeve-elect Brooks received friends last night in the township office in the Coote block.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR WEAK BACKS

That Is What James Fair Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Manitoba Man Tells Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Become a Household Remedy All Over the Western Prairies.

Melton, Man., March 22—(Special).—Just why Dodd's Kidney Pills are so popular on the prairies is shown by the statement of Mr. James Fair a well-known farmer living near here.

"I was out in the field harrowing, and when I came in to get my dinner I found the fire out and everything cold, for I am batching. I had a distressing pain across my kidneys at the time, and I was so discouraged I just went and threw myself on the bed.

"Then I thought of Dodd's Kidney Pills and took some and I felt better at once.

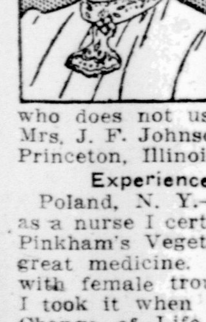

"Now when I am tired out and have a pain in my back I always look for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I must say to all who suffer from weak backs that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best remedy in the world for them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a household remedy all over the western prairies. They only cure sick Kidneys, but many diseases come from sick Kidneys. By curing the Kidneys Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Backache, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Dropsy, Bright's Disease and kindred diseases.

London District Provided Horses At $160 Each

Conservative Member Had Four Friends Acting As Agents.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 22.—When members of Parliament interest themselves in war supplies the Government apparently has to pay top prices.

W. F. Garland, M.P., showed some concern in connection with the purchase of medical supplies and interesting evidence concerning the transaction is now being given the public accounts committee.

A. Dewitt Foster, the Conservative member for Kings, N. S., got himself appointed horse buyer "without remuneration." A return today submitted to Parliament shows that for his patriotic performance the Government paid more per horse that in any other part of Canada. Under his direction 428 horses were bought, and for them the Government paid $77,894, or $184.50 per animal. It has been stated that many of these horses were poor affairs, but the price was gilt-edged. The average price paid in the Ottawa district was $157.99; Toronto district, $150.30; London, $160.79; Quebec, $174.20; Kingston, $165.45; Toronto division No. 7, $166.52; No. 8, $150.30; No. 9, $165.39; No. 11, $171.29.

Higher Than Average.

This makes Mr. Foster's horses $10 dollars higher per animal than the highest average in any other district, and $34 per animal higher than the lowest average elsewhere.

Foster was appointed to purchase direct from the farmers. It appears, however, that the appointed four friends to do the buying and he paid them or had Government checks issued to them. The check were signed by Mr. Foster and by J. F. Ward, a veterinarian. There were four checks issued: One was for $19,630 to W. P. McKay, of Ottawa, secretary to Mr. John Stanfield, the Conservative whip; to F. B. Keever, a personal friend and business associate of Mr. Foster, for $24,445; to T. C. Woodworth, of Halifax, for $21,784, and to Walter Moore, of Kentville, N. S., for $3,500.

HENSALL GIVES WELL TO PATRIOTIC CAUSE, AND DISTRICT BOOMS

Many Properties Change Hands—Three Cars Onions Sent West.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

HENSALL, March 22.—Hensall has outdone some of the larger places in her contributions to the various patriotic funds, as the following list will show:

Ladies' Belgian Relief	$ 130.00
Citizens Belgian Relief	669.85
Citizens Patriotic Fund	669.85
Clothing for Belgian Relief	600.00
Cash raised by Ladies	271.00
	$2,341.66

Material was purchased and 200 shirts and 150 pairs of socks made. Local ladies have been indefatigable and their patriotism and enthusiasm knows no limit.

Wes. Moore, a Hensall boy, who went west about four years ago is now in England with the second contingent. He is with the Winnipeg regiment.

The local dramatic club will give a play in Exeter shortly, also in the town hall here.

Hensall Oddfellows will give an "At Home" in the town hall on the 24th.

The proceeds of the recent patriotic concert put on by the ladies, were $109.

James Boulton has sold his fine residence and lots to John Glenn, of Usborne.

From six to ten fine brick residences will be erected here during the coming summer. Transfer of property and residences are taking place almost daily and prices are on the rise.

The "Onion King" shipped three cars of Dutch sets last week, one to Vancouver, B. C., and two to Winnipeg. He has still over a hundred tons to ship.

The farmers of this section are annoyed with the recent drop in the prices of wheat, eggs and cattle.

FOUR DEATHS RECORDED

All Ladies Well-Known in or Near Ingersoll.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

INGERSOLL, March 22.—A week's illness of pneumonia terminated today in the death of Mrs. C. B. Ryan, at her home, Thames street. The late Mrs. Ryan had resided in Ingersoll for many years, and was highly esteemed. Besides the husband she is survived by one son, Charles, and one daughter, Mrs. Dynes, of Chicago.

The funeral of Mrs. E. V. Bullock, formerly of this town, whose death occurred at Los Angeles, Cal., took place yesterday. Mrs. Bullock had resided in Ingersoll prior to her marriage, and she visited here about two years ago, with the hope that the change would benefit her health.

Mrs. Gregory, wife of A. Gregory, is dead. She had been confined to her bed for ten weeks, and previous to that time had been in failing health for over a year. She was 58 years of age and leaves, besides the husband, two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Thompson, of Detroit; Miss Hattie, at home, and three sons, George, the well-known hockey player; Lathan and Emmerson, of Ingersoll.

Mrs. Richard Embury passed away most unexpectedly on Sunday afternoon at the home of a friend in the vicinity of Otterville where she was visiting. Accompanied by her son, she had driven to South Norwich on Saturday. During the night she was apparently stricken with paralysis, as her condition indicated in the morning and she died without regaining consciousness. The remains were brought to her home in Dereham Township and the funeral will be held on Tuesday.

LAST BAR DOWN INTO HUNGARY

London Believes the Fall of Przemysl Leaves Road Clear.

LULL ON BATTLEFRONTS

Main Forts of Dardanelles Narrows Reported To Be Still Intact.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 23.—The fall of Przemysl is characterized here as the throwing down of the last bar of the gateway into Hungary, and an early Russian advance in that direction is anticipated in England. The German press praises warmly the gallantry of the defenders of this Galician fortress, while at the same time it does not attempt to minimize the effects of its surrender, and expresses uneasiness concerning the result on the long eastern battle front of the Teutonic allies.

The latest authentic information from the Dardanelles sets forth positively that only the secondary defences of the straits have suffered from the bombardment of the allied fleet; the forts in the Narrows are intact.

This report finds confirmation in the present status of the diplomatic situation in the near east, which indicates that the Balkan States are no nearer intervention in the quarrel than they were when the battleships of the Allies first appeared off the Dardanelles. In spite of the optimistic tone of the Greek press, it is not generally believed in London that the entente powers have made any further advances to the new Greek cabinet, while in Grecian circles there is growing an uneasy feeling that Bulgaria may again assert her primacy in Balkan affairs by taking the first step toward active participation in the struggle.

The lull along the western battle front now apparently is being duplicated in the east, where nothing more than isolated actions are being reported.

Aviators of the Allies have retaliated for the German raid on Paris by forays over territory occupied by the German army.

Interest in the blockade centres today on the attack of German aeropianes on Dutch cargo ships, one of which flew the flag of the commission of Belgian relief. Holland is awaiting information from Berlin before making a formal protest in this connection.

BERLIN'S REPORT.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, March 23—Via Wireless to Sayville.—The following report was given out today at the war office:

"Two French night attacks near Carency, northwest of Arras, were repulsed.

"In Champagne German troops successfully blew up mines and repulsed a night attack north of Beausejour. Minor French advances near Combres, Apremont and Flirey were without success. An attack against the German positions northeast of Badonviller broke down under the German fire. The enemy sustained heavy losses.

"Hostile aviators again threw several bombs on Ostend. No damage was done to the military establishments, but several Belgians were killed or wounded. Northwest of Verdun a French aviator was shot down. A French aircraft, manned with two French non-commissioned officers, was forced to land near Freiburg. The occupants of the aeroplane were captured.

"German troops are pursuing the Russians who were driven from Memel, East Prussia. The Germans occupied the Russian town of Krottingen, across the border from Memel, and freed more than 3,000 Germans, who had been dragged away from their homes by the Russians.

"Attacks made by Russian troops on both sides of the Orzyc River, in Russian Poland, were repulsed."

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, March 23.—Via London, 3:45 p.m.—The official communication given out this afternoon by the French war department says:

"The enemy yesterday bombarded Rheims. A German aviator dropped bombs on the town and claimed three victims among the civilians.

"In the Champagne region we made slight progress to the east of Hill 196.

"In the Argonne, near Bagatelle, the enemy twice delivered violent counter-attacks to recapture the ground he lost on Sunday. Both counter-attacks were completely repulsed."

WISE GENERAL VILLA

Will Not Make Britishers Contribute to Special Tax.

[Canadian Press.]

El Paso, Texas, March 23.—General Villa will not require British and other foreign merchants of Monterey to contribute to the million peso tax levied a week ago for the relief of the poor of Monterey. H. C. Myles, British vice-consul of this city, returnd today from Chihuahua State with assurances of exemption from General Felipe Angeles, at Monterey. A formal protest had been filed. Mr. Myles today received the following message from Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador to Washington: "Please express to General Villa, General Angeles and Senor Diaz Lombardo my high appreciation for their courtesies and quick action in protecting the coal mines at Cleote, and in exempting the tax of three million pesos in Guadalajara. Also that I am confident they will continue to extend complete protection for the British subjects and their interests in the districts which are under their control."

FALL OF PRZEMYSL WAS A HEAVY BLOW

Press of Berlin Say It Is Great Loss to the Austrians.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, via London, March 23.—The press of the German capital unites in paying tribute to the defenders of Przemysl, who, it is declared, only hunger could subdue. At the same time there is no disposition to make light of the defeat. The Lokal Anzeiger says: "We have no intention of minimizing the loss our brave allies have suffered. Przemysl was strong and a great fortress. It showed its strength in its proud defence. We mourn with our allies its loss, and the loss of its commander and garrison, who have won laurels whose glory captivity cannot destroy."

The Vossische Zeitung says the fort's fall releases the beleaguring army, but while it is not known where it will be employed, the Austrians undoubtedly are informed and will take the necessary steps.

"While we thoroughly agree with the view of the Austrian general staff that the fall of Przemysl can have no influence on the general situation," says the Kreuz Zeitung, "we nevertheless are honest enough to admit it is a painful blow dealt our cause on the right wing of our mutual thousand-kilometre front."

REGRETS THE KILLING.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, March 23.—Secretary Bryan announced today that regret for the killing of John B. McManus, an American, in Mexico City by Zapata forces, has been expressed on behalf of General Zapata by General Palafox, in charge at Mexico City, and that negotiations for paying indemnity to the dead man's family were progressing satisfactorily.

LITTLE DAMAGE TO THE TURKS' FORTS

Correspondent Says There Were Few Casualties Following Bombardment.

[Canadian Press.]

Dardanelles, Tuesday, March 16—Via London, March 23, 12 noon.—The warships of the allied fleet have made no attempt to reduce the Turkish defences about Kilid Bahr and Chanak Kalesi since March 7. Instead they have been endeavoring to sweep the waters of the straits for mines.

The correspondent of the Associated Press made a personal inspection of the effects of the bombardment of March 6 and 7 on the Turkish positions at Kilid Bahr and Kale Sultanie. While the fire from the allied warships was accurate, the Turks suffered virtually no losses in the Kilid Bahr works. At Fort Hamidieh the works were slightly damaged and one man was wounded. There was but one casualty in Fort Dardanus. A total of 300 heavy and 700 light shells were hurled at this position, and only one man was killed. The works were virtually undamaged. In every case the damage wrought by shell fire on the shore forts was astonishingly small. The most noticeable results of this fire were small funnel-shaped holes where shells had struck in soft ground.

Since March 7 a fleet of the Allies has remained inactive outside of the straits. No progress has been made since the Kum Kaleh and Sedd-el-Bahr forts were silenced by a cross-fire. Such a cross fire as this is impossible inside the mouth of the straits.

Officers here are absolutely optimistic as to the outcome of the operations of the Allies against the Dardanelles positions.

The foregoing dispatch was sent from the Dardanelles two days before the concerted advance of the allied fleet against the Turkish positions, which resulted in the sinking of the French battleship Bouvet and the British battleships Ocean and Irresistible. This engagement took place March 18. Dispatches from the Dardanelles have to come out by roundabout ways. In the case of the foregoing message, a week was consumed in getting from the straits to London.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

Hay, the Only Line of Any Account on Market Today.

About 25 loads of hay was the only line of any account on the market Tuesday. It sold quite briskly after several days of a scarcity, for from $14 to $16 per ton. The average price was about $15, although several loads brought the high figure.

Oats went up a cent, and the price is likely to remain for some time now at $1.85 per cwt. Wheat remains unchanged at $1.26 per bushel.

Another rise in pork prices may be expected, since a wholesale shipment will be made on Wednesday at a price not lower than $7.90 per cwt.

Eggs are selling now for a straight 20 cents a dozen retail, and 18 and 19 cents wholesale. Butter is scarce and sells at quoted prices.

Maple syrup has not sold for lower than $1.35 per gallon.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, March 22.—The wheat market opened unchanged to ½c lower, oats unchanged to ¼c lower, and flax ½c higher to 2c lower. The volume of trading was very light in futures, and with little or no export or cash business, prices declined rapidly. The range in prices before noon was 2¾c on May, and 2½c on July, and 2c on October, under Saturday's closing figures, with a tendency to go still lower. There were no new sales for export located, and in cash circles there were practically neither offerings nor buyers, with the exception of a light inquiry for No. 3 northern wheat. Oats and flax were on similar footing, and there was nothing doing.

Inspections on Saturday totalled 390 cars, as against 340 cars last year, and in sight today were 800 cars for inspection, being the largest receipts for some time. The loss for the day on wheat was 1¾c to 3c, on oats 1½c to 1⅝c, and on flax 3¼c to 4½c.

Cash Grain: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.48¼; No. 2 northern, $1.48¼; No. 3 northern, $1.45¼; No. 4, $1.39¼; No. 5, $1.34¾; No. 6, $1.30¾.

Oats—No. 2 Canadian western, 62¾c; No. 3 Canadian western, 60¼c; extra No. 1 feed, 60¼c; No. 1 feed, 59¼c; No. 2 feed, 58¼c.

Barley—No. 3 Canadian western, 78c; No. 4 Canadian western, 72c; feed, 70c.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $1.70; No. 2 Canadian western, $1.67.

Chicago, March 23.—Wheat eased off today in sympathy with lower cable quotations, and because of fine weather likely to promote the growth of the domestic winter crop. An increase in the European visible supply counted against the bulls, and so also did the lack of any urgency about export demand. On the decline there was some buying on resting orders. After opening ⅝c off to ¼c up, the market underwent a moderate general setback, and then regained most of the loss.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid, which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Sir Adam's Action On Stockyards Well Scored by Council

Condemnation Comes From His Staunch Supporters—Opposition Is "Unfair."

Condemnation of Sir Adam Beck's action in knocking out the stockyards clause of the City of London bill in the Legislature was a feature of the special meeting of the city council last night. This condemnation came not from the Liberal members of the council, nor from any who could in the remotest degree be called opponents of Beck's hydro policies, but from men who declared themselves unswervingly and unfailingly in favor and committed to all hydro and hydro radial schemes.

No words were minced by these Beck followers in their declarations that no matter how much they approved of his other schemes, they were opposed to his attitude in dictating to the city what it should and should not do in other respects, and in endeavoring to make the wishes of the council subservient to his own in this respect.

Pursuant to the action of the private bills committee of the Legislature in throwing out the clause, the council passed a motion to submit a bylaw to the people for the authorization of the expenditure of $7,000.

Opposition to Move.

In the original motion, as drafted and presented by Ald. G. H. Haney, chairman of the special stockyards committee, the council agreed to purchase the Collyer site, in the East End, subject to the vote of the people, and to have this vote some time before the end of May. Opposition developed to such an early election, and also to including the site, in the proposal to go to the people, and it was therefore decided to eliminate these two phases of the question.

Ald. Haney, who was present when Sir Adam effectively killed the stockyards clause, reviewed the circumstances surrounding the "obituary" performance.

"This scheme had the unanimous indorsation of the council and the unanimous support of the board of control, and yet Beck, a minute after the committee had passed his $60,000 request for the electrification of the London and Port Stanley, without a vote of a people, opposed this little $7,000 request of ours, and had it killed.

"I maintain that his opposition was unfair. I saw him whispering to the Toronto members when the clause was to be brought up. One of these Toronto members who opposed us was Robert Crawford, head of the commission that has charge of the Toronto stockyards. Naturally, he would be expected to oppose anything that might bring some of that business to London.

"He told us of the fate of the Toronto stockyards, but he kindly omitted to explain that Toronto asked the Harris Abbatoir people $40,000 for the use of the city yards, with the result that the company moved out and built its own stockyards.

The Difference.

"After the meeting was over, Beck came to me and said: 'Why didn't you come to me? You should have this on the London and Port Stanley line.' As I have said before, I am ready to follow Sir Adam Beck to Timbuctoo on his hydro scheme, but I deny his right to interfere with the other rights of the people.

"Sir Adam seems to believe that everything must be subservient to his hydro-electric policy, and to deny to other citizens the right to think."

Similar expressions were given by Ald. Palmer, Merryfield, Tancock and Wilson.

Ald. Merryfield declared that Beck had as much right to go to the people with his $60,000 request as the $7,000 for the stockyards had to go.

Ald. Wilson characterized Beck's action as "small."

"I won't go where he likes, and I won't hang on to his coat-tails and follow them, like some will," said Ald. Wilson.

Moore Champions Beck.

Beck's sole champion was Controller J. P. Moore, whose law partner is associated with Sir Adam on the London and Port Stanley Railway commission. He declared that Beck had as much right to his opinion as anyone else, to which Ald. Haney echoed, "Hear, hear," and then went on to criticise the site chosen, and to predict that stockyards would be a failure.

Mayor H. A. Stevenson and Ald. Haney referred to the fact that the representatives of one of the largest packing houses in the country had visited the site this week and had declared that it was ideal. Both, too, made the declaration that the purchase of the old Dominion Abattoir property by a new concern would mean a greater consumption of beef than ever, and that this would attract more farmers to the local market and would increase the trade of the city yards that much.

WHAT WILL REAL HELL BE LIKE?

Dr. Gordon Addresses Large Gathering in St. Andrew's Church.

NO PHYSICAL SUFFERING

Only Lasting Soul Will Suffer in After Life, Declares Speaker.

"The Real Hell" was the subject of Dr. Gordon's address in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last night, and the speaker explained that he had decided to discuss this topic because so many questions had been sent in concerning it. Some of these he answered before passing to the address proper. The following are samples of questions and answers:

Q.—Where is hell?

A.—In the lower regions of the spiritual universe, if there is such a distinction as higher and lower spiritual universe.

Q.—Will there be physical suffering in hell?

A.—No; because the physical cannot be projected into the spiritual.

Q.—How ling will hell endure?

A.—As long as the soul remains unreconciled to God.

Q.—Will there be another chance beyond the grave for the soul to be reconciled?

A.—No such chance is revealed in scripture.

Q.—Who shall be finally consigned to the regions of the lost?

A.—Those who have persisted in ignoring the truth and sinned because they loved to sin.

Q.—How can a mother be happy in Heaven while she has a son or daughter in hell?

A.—This is one of God's secrets and to that I have no answer.

Dr. Gordon prefaced his address with the statement that the main fact on which the doctrine of future retribution was based, was that the soul lived forever; lasting as long as God should last. It never died. Death, as we understood it, meant a full realization of gloom or glory. At present we were only about half conscious, but with death we entered into full consciousness of pleasure or pain, according to the life we had lived.

Different Aspects.

One aspect of hell was the soul's consciousness of loneliness. Dr. Gordon quoted the scriptural passage: "Wandering stars for whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever." The individual who found himself alone in eternity would experience a terrible lonliness.

Another aspect was the soul's consciousness of separation. It was a terrific thing to be separated from the presence of God in one's own consciousness. Those were among the most terrible words to be found in holy writ concerning Saul: "And when Saul inquired of the Lord, the Lord answered him not, neither by dreams, nor by the prophets."

A third phase of hell was the soul's consciousness of a downward classification. The saddest classification of the human race today was to be found in the red light district and within prison walls. There was a great moral lesson to be learned from what we called the chain gang.

The soul's consciousness of guilt was a fourth form of hell. Lady MacBeth felt the weight of guilt when she said that all the perfumes of Araby could not destroy the smell of blood on her hands. A consciousness of guilt was a very real thing and was something with which every detective and student of psychology had to deal.

Consciousness of Shame.

Then again hell was the soul's consciousness of shame. The speaker said he had met in Winnipeg an ex-convict who had said to him, "Everybody seems to know that I have been in prison." That was one of the saddest days in the life of Crippen, when, upon arrival at the port of Quebec, he found the hills congested with a multitude of 50,000 people who had come prepared to gaze upon him.

A sixth conception of hell was the soul's consciousness of a fixed limitation. In the Bible near the end the passage occurred: "He that is filthy, let him remain filthy." Students of the Bible believed that an hour came when character became fixed and destiny settled for ever.

Another aspect was the soul's consciousness of having missed the main opportunity of life, the principle prize. Stephen A. Douglas, the great American statesman, who was an opponent of Abraham Lincoln, had many more social and intellectual advantages than the great Liberator, but he began on the wrong side of the question of slavery and advocated its continuance instead of its abolition.

Douglas, dying at the age of 48, after the conflict was all over, uttered the words: "I have missed it." He had missed the greatest opportunity of his life. Destiny found him on the wrong side of a great moral question.

Hell's final aspect was the soul's consciousness of regret. Napoleon, a prisoner on the island of St. Helena, regretted three things: first, that his eastern campaign had not proven a success; second, that he had not died at the height of his military fame; and third, that he had lost the battle of Waterloo. Many a soul had been crushed by regret. That was a searching question which the attorney general in London had asked of the director and shipowner who had survived the wreck of the Titanic: "Did no thought ever enter your mind that you ought to go back and try to save some of the people on that vessel?"

Dr. Gordon announced that his subject for tonight, the last night of his campaign in London, would be "The Broken Engagement of Florence Nightingale: or What Shall We Do With Our Sorrows?"

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

GIVE SOUP KITCHEN IF IT IS NEEDED

This Decided Upon at Meeting of Council Last Night.

If the 18th Battalion requires a soup kitchen to take with it into active service, the city will provide one for the use of the unit. At a meeting of the council last night, the matter was brought up for discussion, with a result that the aldermen were unanimously in favor of supplying the needs of the battalion in that direction.

It has been stated on several occasions, however, that portable kitchens will be provided for the different units of the Canadian expeditionary forces, and that any utilized while in training here would be left, when the troops leave for active service. The council will communicate with Lieut.-Col. Wigle, and on his answer will depend the action of the council, regarding the purchase of kitchen.

W. U. PRESIDENT SPEAKS IN SARNIA

C. I. Pupils Hear Him in Afternoon—Canadian Club at Night.

Two addresses were given in Sarnia yesterday by Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, president of Western University.

In the afternoon all the teachers and pupils of the Collegiate Institute were gathered into the assembly-room and listened to the president as he told of the "forward movement" now in progress at the Western University, and the plans formulated for further advance which are sure to bring the Western into the very front rank of Canadian universities in the no very distant future.

Dr. Braithwaite was also the guest of honor at the evening luncheon of the Canadian Club, and spoke on "The Present Day Significance of Canadian Citizenship." Recent events are bringing Canada into a prominent place among the nations of the world, and affording unprecedented opportunities for the contributions that Canada will be able to make towards the world advancement, especially along political, social and economic lines. Education will be a great factor in the solution of these problems, from the public schools, where Canadian ideals are quickly adopted by the children to the institutions of higher learning, where these problems are handled by men especially trained for the purpose. It is necessary, therefore, to put our universities on the strongest possible foundation as well as our elementary schools. In a short time none should be stronger than the institution at London, which the speaker had the honor to represent, especially in view of its favorable location.

THE TEA MARKET STILL ADVANCING

Nothing definite can be ascertained with regard to a probable advance in package teas in Canada. But it seems to be common sense to suppose that tea men can't go on importing at high and yet higher prices every week without making some changes in their selling schedule to cover. There is nothing to do but follow Mr. Asquith's advice and "wait and see," meanwhile taking note of the handwriting on the wall.—Canadian Grocer, March 19.

Fruit-growers will find John Sharman, representative of E. D. Smith, nursery stock, etc., at Darch & Hunter Seed Company, Market entrance, Thursdays and Saturdays. ywt

COUNCIL TAKES FIRST STEPS TO SOLVE CROSSING MENACE

Special Committtee To Report On Scheme For Eliminating Death Traps.

First steps for the solution of the crossing menace were taken by the city council last night, when a special committee, composed of the members of the finance committee and Alds. Cooper, Summers, Donnelly, Lerner and Wilson, was appointed to deal with the question and report back to the council as to the most advisable scheme for elliminating the present menace.

The council meeting was a special one, crossings being one of the most important questions in the schedule. City Solicitor T. G. Meredith was present and suggested that the council first determine the system it proposed to ask the railway commissioners to adopt either gates, subways or some other scheme.

Ald. W. A. Wilson opened the meeting by reading the official report from the commission in reply to his questions as to whether the $5,000 grant per subway was still available for the city.

Wilson Outlines Scheme.

"Even supposing that we outline a plan for seven subways," said Ald. Wilson, "and that each subway costs us $60,000 apiece. We can assume that the Grand Trunk will pay two-thirds of the cost, or $40,000. That would leave us $20,000. Of this sum, $5,000 would be contributed by the Government, leaving us $15,000 to pay. For seven subways, it would be only $105,000.

"Subways are our only salvation. I am assured of that. Track elevation would cost the city alone at least $400,000 and then be only a partial solution of the problem."

City Solicitor T. G. Meredith outlined the report made last year by the commission, which placed a rough estimate of $16,000 for crossing gates at Waterloo, Colborne, Maitland, Burwell, William, Adelaide, Rectory and Egerton streets.

Says Keep Away From Board.

An effort was made to have the question of selecting the method, sent onto the board of control. Ald. Wilson objected. He declared that last year's report had been prepared by the special committee in June, but had not been sent out to the Dominion commission until two days after two boys had been killed at the Egerton street crossing some six monhs later.

The city solicitor and others referred to the question of land damages that would result from the construction of subways. Mr. Meredith also presented the reply of the Grand Trunk re the proposed Ridout street subway, in which the company declared that the present was an inopportune time to construct a subway.

The solicitor's advice was that before any definite plan was prepared for submission to the Dominion commission and a ruling asked from that body, that the city employ a competent railway engineer to go into the whole question and prepare for the council an estimate of cost, the best possible solution of the scheme and the question of land damages that might arise in connection with subways or any other scheme that might be considered feasible and reasonable by the members of the special committee and the council.

The selection of the special committee was only arrived at after special amendments and amendments to the motion had been considered. Ald. W. A. Wilson made the motion to appoint the committee that was finally chosen. Ald. Manness, seconded by Ald. Tancock, moved that the aldermen of the council constitute the committee, while Ald. H. B. Ashplant suggested the board of control, supplemented by the chairman of the four standing committees: Ald. Wilson, Donnelly, Tancock and Merryfield.
