Sir Thomas White Corrects Statement Claimed Made to Prov. Premiers.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Sir Thomas White, minister of finance, declares this morning that the statements said to have been made by him to the provincial premiers to the effect that additional revenue to the amount of $100,000,000 would have to be raised by the Federal Government through taxation during the coming year is without foundation. The minister did say that compared with 1914, the year before the war, the expenditure of the Dominion during coming year on account of added interest on the national debt and on account of pensions would be a hundred millions higher. Meantime during each year since the war there had been added taxation, with the result that this year the total revenue will reach $300,000,000 as compared with about half that amount for 1914.

A special committee was appointed by No. 1 committee last night to inquire into the housing stituation in the city. The chamber of commerce and the trades and labor council will also be asked to co-operate with the committee in the preliminary investigation. It is pointed out that the need of medium-sized houses in the city is great at the present time. With the return of the soldiers this will be increased.

The committee is already getting to work and expects to have something to report at the meeting of the council on Monday evening next. The plan as tentatively outlined is to limit the cost of the houses to $2,500. Loans will be made to complete the building, but the owner must put in a sertain percentage of the cost in cash as well as own the lot on which the house is to be built.

PUBLIC SYMPATHY TO BE ENLISTED IN BABY WELFARE MOVEMENT

Montreal Suffered From High Rate Mortality Among Infants.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—That, during the past month the death of children under five years of age in Montreal reached the alarmingly high total of 1,090, only 15 per cent of these deaths having resulted from the influenza epidemic, was the report made at the annual meeting of the Affiliated Baby Welfare Stations (English), held last evening. A discussion took place as to the best method of coping with this condition, and Dr. James Duncan was of the opinion that the only way to grapple with the problem was to enlist public sympathy by propaganda as to the need of supporting the work, and to this end a committee was formed. Interned Aliens In Canada Clamoring For Their Liberty

Government Will Hold Them Until Peace Treaty Is

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Twenty-five hundred interned aliens in Canada are clamoring at the gates and wire fences that inclose them and asking to get out. Many of them want to go home to Germany and Austria to see what is doing and, if there is any Bolsheviking, to get in on it. The position of the Government is that they must stay where they are. The armistice conditions do not contain any provision for the reciprocal surrender of prisoners. Once peace is signed, however, they will be allowed to go. Meanwhile about a thousand of them are working on railway construction in the Lake Superior division. All are warmly clothed and given substantial food.

Why the Merchant Who Advertises Can COMMITTEE WIL Afford To Sell Cheaper Than the One Who Does Not.

[From Printers' Ink.]

In practical business modern sales promotion has so influenced economic law that old Adam Smith would never recognize his science were he to come back to earth again. One of the big things in determining the price nowadays is the rapidity with which the article sells. If a product sells easily and quickly, this fact alone will tend to cut down its price. Rapid sales make for quantity production, and hence reduces the manufacturing cost per unit. On the

Have you a boy in France or Siberia? Have you sent him a Christmas gift? If not, there is still time. The immense stocks in this store contain hundreds of articles that would be keenly appreciated. That the war is over is all the more reason for remembering the boys and now that the task of demobilization has begun the weary and lonesome days and weeks will seem like years, from the activities of the final months of the victory drive to the stillness and inaction until they are ready to return will be the most trying weeks of the whole campaign. Never during the whole war will Christmas gifts be more appreciated by the boys than they will be this year, when they have plenty of time to enjoy the contents of a good Christmas box. Even if it arrives a little late the boys won't worry about that.

Church people could double their givings if they liked, he insisted, and if they had their heart in the work of the church as they should. He considered it a shame that a young man should be obliged to spend seven years in college after leaving high school before being ordained for the ministry, then offered an income of $1.200.

Mr. Campbell of Glencoe called it a crying shame that ministers should be inadequately provided for.

"It is absolutely necessary that banks and other credit institutions work on the same basis to maintain Germany's economic affairs, secure for the country supplies of provisions and raw materials and obtain credit abroad for the German Republic."

Among the various speakers was Kurt Eisner, Socialist leader of the revolution in Munich, who warned the conference against any attempt to establish a pure socialistic state while disorder was reigning.

Phillipp Scheidemann, who resigned as minister of finance, recently insisted that it was impossible to create a socialistic state at a time of disorder like the present. He opposed a class parliament such as the soldiers' and workmen's council must be for a long time. Dr. Mueller said that if the present lawless situation continued the German state would break financially.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTIST AT WORK ON SATURDAY

Current reports say that a check artist paid visits to several merchants of the city on Saturday last and left behind alleged valueless paper to the amount of $40 in each case. The man, who is alleged to have beaten the merchants, signed his name as "T. H. Quick." He had been in training at Carling Heights for some time and had made purchases in the stores where he cashed the checks on Saturday. In one case he presented a check made to "bearer or order" and indorsed by himself. The merchant cashed it, as he had cashed several others for the same man in the past. This one proved to be of no value, and the matter was put in the hands of the local detectives. While it is rumored that at least half a dozen businessmen cashed checks for the man, only two have been reported. Catalano & Sansone and Selak-Orth were among the number who have a keepsake from the much-longed-for man.

MILITARY TRAINING.

N IMPORTANT question that will probably be before us in the near future for solution is the general military training of Canadian youth. To be or not to be? We may say that the answer to this question will partly depend on what becomes of the movement for a league of nations. But even with such a league apparently set up, there may remain uncertainties as to its successful working out. Will an organized, compulsory military training of the school boys and young men be felt to be a wise and necessary safeguard of our liberties? It may be urged that the success of the untrained democracies in this war is a knock-out blow to the insistence, in these days of rapid scientific and mechanical change, upon a system of stereotyped military training. Modern war is so much a matter of general national efficiency, initiative, and freedom of thought and action, that a lengthy preparatory training may be of lesser importance. Have not some of our officers said that the beforethe-war drill was about as much a drawback as an advantage to the rank and file of our army?

On the other hand, in his treatise on "A Nation Trained in Arms or a Militia?" the German general, Freytag-Loringhoven, makes much use of a passage in one of Sir Douglas Haig's dispatches, lamenting the number of men under his command that were not fully trained. General Freytag-Loringhoven argues that "a militia organization-a military system under which the land forces of the state are composed mainly or entirely of troops who spend only short periods in the ranks in peace time—cannot be relied on to safeguard the realm." What would he say, then, of no training at all in peace time for the general mass of the youth?

But it may be replied that Freytag-Loringhoven wrote before the war was over and has now seen that not Prussian iron could "safeguard" Germany from the Nemesis of her own policy. He made another mistake perhaps in writing re the British army that "it is in fact impossible to build up an army adequate to all the demands of war in the course of the war itself." Has the prepared German army and still more the organized German people, proved "adequate to all the deboasts of the invincibility of a Germany organized for war, for aggressive war indeed? The answer to this line of argument will be, in some serious quarters, that it was not until after three years of name for the golden rule. struggle that "Kitchener's crowd" began to deliver the punch that wins. And what might have been the fate of the free nations had the trained British fleet not laid siege to Germany, hampering her rage at every turn and more and more to the final surrender?

Perhaps the strongest argument at any time against the compulsory military training is the And still retreating. tendency it shows to develop not only a bad spirit of aggression, but an anti-democratic character. And has not the war discredited the spur-jingler and the would-be autocrat either individual or national? There were enemies of military training even in Germany before the war and no doubt there are more of them there now. It was partly as a manifesto against these German peaceables that General Loringhoven wrote his clever treatise last year. Might he not now despair in November, 1918, of stemming the tide of antimilitarism amidst the defeat of "blood and iron"? In the face of all this we must reflect that self- take over his beat. preservation is the first law of our existence: that there are peoples in the world not particularly injured, but rather strengthened by this civil war of Christendom, who may try to take advantage of the altered conditions; that the league of nations, if called into being, may not by its international police and tribunal do away altogether with the need of local or national self-help; that there are hundreds of millions of people in various lands, "les miserables," who in their desperation and blindness may be willing to pull down the pillars of civilization even to their own distruction; that as live men and women we have not ture seems the safest attitude. only to lend the helping hand, but to be on our guard ourselves.

There is nothing after all in the nature of a moderate military training to make necessarily against democracy. It is the traditions of the old army, in England of "the old gang," that are at fault. France is the most democratic country on earth, and yet its military life is far more intense, and has been since the Third Republic was founded, than any one would think of asking in Canada. While in Germany militarism has been bound up with the Prussian autocracy, in France the nation-in-arms is a republican creation.

As Lloyd George said the other day, we must attack the after-the-war problems without too much care to be fully consistent with our pre-war opinions. We must rid ourselves largely of cramping prepossessions or prejudices; our old world has passed away. Perhaps some who were favorable in 1914 to a military training in peacetime will now be opposed and vice versa. The outlines of our need in this direction will probably become clearry in the course of the next two years.

KEEP THE PREACHERS STRAIGHT.

MONG the reports of last Sunday's sermons is an expublish of the West Church. Dr. Braithwaite and there is laid on him a double responsibility to he wo to he line. In the account of his sermon the wait is also president of the West collect him with saying. "The cost of the war is the extent to which we have voided the war is the extent to which we have voided the war is the extent to which we have voided by the Rev voided and the world has shown have been been a submodulated of the war is the extent to which we have voided the war is the extent to which we have voided the war is the extent to which we have voided the war is the extent to which we have voided the war is the extent to which we have voided the way in the submodulation of the golden rule!" He claimed by violation of the golden r that all nations had violated the golden rule, Great Britain among the rest, and that the war was due to this violation, Germany being probably a greater sinner than the rest.

Announcing as his theme, "The universalizing and unifying effects of the principles of Christianity," Dr. Braithwaite insisted that the only foundation upon which an enduring practical league of nations to prevent future war can be built is the foundation of the principles of Christianity, the religious foundation expressed in the golden rule, "Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you."

"It is not only good religion, but good politics and good business as well," he said, "the one thing that really pays in individual, national and international religion."

Dr. Braithwaite has reached the very opposite conclusion to that given in the same issue of The Advertiser in our editorial columns. Commenting on Richelieu, Wilson and Foch, the editorial con-

Wilson with his pen and Pershing with the boys of the American Union came into the war in time to clinch an early victory. The principle at the bottom of their action is "the brotherhood of man," "the golden rule." It is shared in by Lloyd George, Asquith, Balfour, Law and all of Great Britain's statesmen, by Clemenceau and France, by Italy and all the soldiers and generals of the Allied lands. Through it all while we have not the slightest desire to dim the lustre of the sword of Foch, or take from it the slightest touch of its power and glory, we must admit that Wilson has given new and powerful meaning to Richelieu's statement that

"Beneath the rule of men entirely great, The pen is mightier than the sword."

Throughout the whole war the leading statesmen of the United States, Wilson, Taft, Rout, Roosevelt, have had their hearts in the right place, they have acted, thought and worked with Lloyd George, Asquith, Balfour, Law, Churchhill, of Great Britain, with Viviani, Clemenceau and all France heart and soul, with Italy, Greece, Serbia and Rumania and these and all great men in all lands would say with Richelieu: Let us own it: There is One above,

Sways the harmonious mystery of the world, Even better than prime ministers."

It is impossible in the view we hold of the great war to place the blame on any nation except Germany. Germany's first act was the monstrous murder of Belgium and all that followed. Contrast that with the brave, plucky defence of Belgium, with France at Verdun declaring, "They shall not pass," with Great Bri- wearily. "Thirty mistakes a minute." tain following Shakespeare's advice "Beware of entrance to a quarrel, but being in, so bear thyself that thine enemy shall beware of thee.' Great Britain did not lightly draw the sword, but did so in defence of Belgium, with no selfish motive in view. The power of Germany threatened to engulf the world. So dangerous did this seem that the United States abandoned a doctrine dear to it, the "Monroe doctrine," and risked all to is the Clown Prince's head like a dollar We'd surely shun him if we could,

Dr. Braithwaite placed blame where none but praise belonged. The glorious boys of Canada, of Great Britain, France and America fought in the noblest cause and won the most glorious victory in the world's history.

THE GRIST.
By Archey Cameron New.

John Gates came out of a trance-like stupor and started in disgust. He had not been the victim of a bad dream, not been the man who stood close leading the victim of a bad dream, not been the victim of a bad dream, not been the man who stood close leading the victim of a bad dream, not been the man who stood close leading the victim of a bad dream, not been the victim of a bad dream. with a chuckle, and Bletzman bent a beady eye on the man who stood close to Pete's desk.

the last remark caused him to shiver anew. Lucille, his wife, a yegg? Never! She was a fine girl, through and through. They just couldn't get along—that was all. And someone had suggested Bletzman to him, and—"Y'll come outa th' mill sadder an' poorer," vouchsafed another waiting one. "Bletzman'll see t' that." poorer," vouchsafed another waiting one. "Bletzman'll see t' that."

"Out of the mill," echoed Gates to himself in horror. To be sure, it was a mill, but what kind? Bletzman's mill swallowed up human souls and gave up what? Fine white flour? Could that hoidenish girl be likened to his father's flour? Or the decrepit, red-nosed wreck at his side who call his—wife—a—yegg? Or that old woman who flirted with him, and in whose brassy locket at her wrinkled neck there probably reposed pictures of her grandchildren? And was he to be made a party to "fixing" his wife—little winsome Lucille, whom he had wronged? Yes, he reflected, he had wronged her. No wonder she had complained of his friends coming to the house, drinking heavily, talking loosely and gambling madly. It had offended those finer sensibilities that now, in him, in the midst of Bletzman's revolting atmosphere, came back with a rush. Why hadn't he given up those "friends"? Why hadn't he kept that promise to do so, the giving of which he had called hen-pecky? If he only had kept it—she might still be—with—

High Tension Work

O understand the work of the girl at central is to sympathize with herfor hers is a continuous high nervous tension.

At these critical times, when help is so scarce and the wires so busy, the task of the telephone operator is made doubly trying on her nerves.

How like her own nervous system is the complicated electrical equipment which she manipulates.

The central station may be likened to the brain, and the cables and wires, which go out from it, correspond to the spinal cord and intricate nerve fibres which branch off to the members and organs of the body. The electric current is similar to the nerve force in the human system, for without this nervous energy the human mind and body would be just as dead as a telephone system without electricity. The continuous strain to which the brain and nerves of the operator are subjected exhausts the nervous energy at an enormous rate, and starved nerves cry out for nourishment with headaches, neuralgic and sciatic pains, nervous indigestion and sleeplessness.

The functions of the vital organs become weak and irregular, as is shown by the feeble action of the heart and the tardiness of the liver and bowels.

It is comparatively easy to restore exhausted nerves if Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used regularly when these early indications of trouble are apparent.

This food cure is also effective in the treatment of nervous prostration, and even in many cases of locomotor ataxia and partial paralysis, but when these ailments develop it is usually necessary that considerable patience and persistence be applied, as recovery must necessarily be a tedious process.

On this account we always like to look on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as primarily a preventive treatment-a means of restoring feeble, wasted nerves while there is yet a foundation to build on.

Rest, gentle exercise out of doors, cheerful companions help the sufferer from nervous exhaustion, but there must be additional nourishment supplied to the nervous system, and the ideal way to supply the essential elements is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. According to a long train of planetary aspects, both Mutual and Lunar, involving all the planets in more or less degree, this should be a memorable and active day, though one of complicated situations. The luminaries being sextile to each other promise advantage and possibly promotion to those in employment; to others this aspect denotes honors, favors or distinction from superiors or those in high places, and it is a time for seeking such preferment. However, it isn't an auspicious time for risking

Who Makes Turnip Jam? Dear Miss Grey,-I thought I would write to the Mall-Box to see if you! could give me a recipe for making turnip jam, also a recipe for pickling turnips, if you have them. I remain, ECONOMICAL.

Ans.—Sorry, but I have no recipe for either. Am hoping some of our Pagelites may be able to supply one or both for your benefit.

Dear Miss Grey,-I wonder if I am too late to have the address of one of your "lonelies"? If you have any, I your "lonelies"? If you have any, I wish you would please send me one. I have had three brothers in the war, but one was killed a year ago, but the other two are all right so far. I wish you would se so good as to let me have a pattern of a knitted sweater coat. Well, good luck to you. ENGLISH BILLIE.

Ans.—A name has been sent you with pleasure. I have no directions for the sweater coat just now, but if any are received I shall publish them for the benefit of all.

When Mother's Sick. My Dear Miss Grey,-This is my fourth letter, and still I have some nerve left. My last letter, signed "Oak Leaf," which was written about a month ago, has not been printed yet.

tell me why?

My mother is sick in bed with the "flu." But, thank God, she's not very bad now, or at least she's improving. I have had to do all the work myself, and I must say I'm getting tired of it, and would very much enjoy a rest. I am baking bread tonight, and it is real good so far.

That Lemon Pudding.

Dear Cynthia,—I saw in our "Tise a short time ago a nice recipe felemon pudding. I laid the paper aw but same has got lost. I got the lemo and went to get recipe, but could find same. I forget date of paper, it must have been the latter part October or the first part of Novem october or the first part of Novem october. ago, has not been printed yet. Can you tell me why?

Not So Scarey.

Not So Scarey.

Dear Miss Grey,—The mystery has come again, hope it will not sound so scarey this time. I have come to bother you again. Could you tell me what colors go nicely with dark brown? I am a little miss wight light hair, light blue eyes. What colors should I wear? Would like to correspond with anyone interested in music. I am in the intermediate grade. Do many write to the Mail-Box from here? What would be nice for a simple Red Cross luncheon? Where can I improve my writing? Am sending my address and a war bread recipe.

MYSTERY.

War Bread Recipe—Half cup brown sugar. ½ cup raisins, I cup sour milk, ½ cup white flour, 2 cu. graham flour, 1 teaspoon soda, salt; bake ¼ hour. Ans.—I. For a blouse, do you mean?—canary, maize, shell, ivory and cream. 2. Any musical folks wanting to correspond? I have "Mystery's" address. 3. Yes, one of our most interesting correspondents (a gentleman, too!) writes from your town.

4. By a "luncheon," I'm not just sure whether you mean a "sit down" meal, or what is often termed "a hand-out." Here is a suggestion for both:

Cold Tongue, Escalloped Potatoes, Celery and Apple Salad, Pickled Beets, Apple Pie, Ice Cream, Coffee, Chestnuts.

For refreshments to be passed around, you might like chicken or ham sandwiches, brown bread sandwiches with date filling, lemon or custard tarts, crumb cake, and tea.

5. You write very well now.

Dear Cynthia,—I saw in our "Tiser" a short time ago a nice recipe for lemon pudding. I laid the paper away, but same has got lost. I got the

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you welcome another member to your page? I thought maybe this would be of some use, so am sending (my favorite chooslate layer cake recipe):

P.S.—When the crochet book comes back, may I have it?—M. J.
Ans.—Dear "Mary Jane," you're welcome as the flowers in May to come as often as you wish. Am sure your recipe makes a nice cake. I don't just know what you mean by the "crochet book." There's none going the rounds that I can think of.

Doesn't Get Mail.

Dear Miss Grey,—I was glad to see my last letter in print, and I hope to see this one. Will you please tell me what these names stand for: Louisa, Stanley, Morley, Hughie, Eunice, Audrey, John, Evelyn, Nellie, Noble, Estella Diana? What do you think of my waiting? It isn't very good, is it? But my right arm bothers me a lot, so I can't write much.

Miss Grey, do you know if there is any place we could write to to find out why my brother doesn't get our mail? He seems to get other mail, all but ours. We sent a box and he never got it, or doesn't get our letters, and it seems so funny. No, I have never been in a sugar-beet factory, but I see lots of beets; they are drawing beets yet. Doesn't Get Mall.

of beets; they are drawing beets yet.

Ans.—1. Louisa, is a feminine form of Louis, which signifies "bold warrior"; Hugh, spirit or soul; Eunice, happy victory; Audrey, presumably the same meaning as Aurora, dawn; John, gift of God; Evelyn, lively; Nellie (Helen), light or fair; Estella, a star; Diana, a goddess. 2. Rather cramped looking. 3. It is too bad that your brother does not get the home letters, for I'm sure he'd rather have these than any other. Be sure you have the correct address (you could write the militia department at Ottawa for it), and beyond this precaution I really don't know what you can do. Wonderful though is the thought that soon will "the boys come home," and no need then of letters or parcels of goodles. Probably some of the mothers are already preparing the "fatted calf."

Holland's Attitude.
It is added that Holland takes the view that she has not the power to surrender such persons without the consent of Germany.
The French premier, M. Clemenceau, recently requested of Charles LyonCaen, dean of the faculty of law of the University of Paris, an opinion on the possibility of the extradition of William Hohenzollern, former kalser of Germany. M. Lyon-Caen asked to be given time to prepare a decision.
One of the leading French authorities on international law, Edouard Clunet, is reported to have advanced the opinion that it was impossible to demand the one-time emperor's extradition.
The former emperor has been indicted three times for murder in England in

DOROTHY GISH IN "BATTLING JANE" AT THE MAJESTIC TODAY

Dorothy Gish's first Paramount star-ring vehicle, "Battling Jane," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre today and Thursday, is said to be one of the finest photoplays issued any-where in many months. That it affords Miss Gish a role of wondrous appeal is conceded by all who have seen the production. appeal is conceded by all who have seen the production.

Miss Gish appears as Jane, a nomad who rides into a town in Maine out of nowhere on a bicycle while a thrift stamp drive is under way, and who meets with most unusual adventures. She betriends a woman whose husband has deserted her, and when the woman dies she takes charge of the latter's child, which is found by Jane in the deserted home. This babe wins, first prize at a baby show, and when the prize at a baby show, and when the inhuman father returns to claim the Thursday in "Battling Jane."

CHURCH EXTENSION

KEENLY DISCUSSED AT DEANERY MEETING

Missionary Apportionment of Parishes Also Taken Up.

REPORTS HEARD

Nearly Every Parish Has Subscribed For the Memorial Victory Bonds.

Church extension within the bounds of the deanery, missionary apportionments of the parishes, and the report on the Victory bonds purchased by the the Sunday schools as war memorials, constituted the chief business discussed yesterday at the meeting of the East Middlesex Deanery Association, held in the schoolhouse of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and presided over by Rural Dean A. L. Beverley. From 2 o'clock to 3:30 the deanery branch of the W. A. held a meeting in the same building, joining with the deanery representatives at 3:30 to hear an address from the Bishop of Huron on the revision of the prayer book, and a report on the meeting of the general synod held in Toronto from a lay delegate, R. E. Davis.

Church Extension.

Concerning church extension, the question was brought up of establishing work in Knollwood Park. It was pointed out that the Presbyterian Church has been doing work for a number of years there, and is at present enlarging and strengthening its work. Under the circumstances it was decided to take no steps for the present at least.

decided to take no steps for the present at least.

Encouraging reports were given of the work that is being done in Manor Park and Chelsea Green, a layman, Mr. Heathcote, looking after the services in the former, under the direction of St. James' Church and Rev. Prof. Wright in the latter.

Every parish that reported stated that one or more Victory bonds had been subscribed for by their schools as war memorials to the members who have fallen in action. The war bonds being purchased will go towards an endowment fund for the support of Indian missions in Canada, a responsibility which the missionary society of the church in Canada is taking over entirely from the church in the motherland in 1919.

R. E. Davis, J. K. H. Pope and Mr. Mitchell were appointed a committee to interview the laymen of the deanery. Mitchell were appointed a committee to interview the laymen of the deanery Addresses of Chapiains.

In the course of his "Impressions of the General Synod," Mr. Davis referred particularly to addresses from two chapiain bishops, Bishop Richardson of the Maritime Provinces, and a bishop of the American church, Bishop Mc-Cormick. Both made a strong appeal for clear union of the churches, as Cormick. Both made a strong appeal for closer union of the churches, as died the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, the primate of all Canada. They, with other returned chaplains, referred to the eagerness of the men overseas for the things pertaining to the higher life. With regard to the American soldiers, the American bishop stated that they recognize the fact that the British and other Allied soldiers have borne the brunt of the fighting and are consequently willing to take a Indorsed Recommendation.

The association indorsed a recommendation from the committee on teacher-training, drafted as a result of conference with the executive committee of the deanery, to the effect that teacher-training classes in each of the schools be established instead of an institute in the city. Rev. G. W.

J. K. H. Pope ursed the importance of missionary training in the Sunday schools, and of training children in the grace of giving, in order that they may be fitted to take their places as leaders in church activities in the years to come.

An interesting meeting of the East Middlesex W. A. was held in St. John the Evangelist Church yesterday afternoon. The education of the deanery child was discussed.

An interesting talk was given by Mrs. Sage on "The Changes in the Constitution Made at the Tri-annual Meeting." Instructive letters were read from Mr. and Mrs. Middleton and Miss Warnock. Miss Moore also spoke in connection with the W. A. literature. The meeting was well attended.

COMMITTEE DECIDES

TEACHERS OUGHT TO RECEIVE INCREASE

Recommends Rise For Members of Collegiate Staff.

Salaries, as far as they concerned the members of the London Collegiate staff, was the sole business taken up by No. 3 committee of the board of education yesterday afternoon.

After some discussion it was decided that the committee would recommend to the board an annual increase of $100 for two years te all members of the staff, no distinction being made between male and female teachers.

Principal W. T. Mooney of the Collegiate will receive $5 per evening for acting as principal of the night school. He explained to the board that as he was responsible for the work done at the night school it was absolutely necessary that he be present at the school every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

It was arranged that some latitude should be allowed in the minimum salaries to be paid heads of departments and their assistants. Following is the scale recommended by the committee: Heads of departments, $1,800 or $1,900, with an annua! increase of $100 till the maximum of $2,200 was reached. Special assistants' minimum will be from $1,600 to $1,800, with an annual increase of $100 till $2,100, or the maximum, was reached. Other assistants' minimum will run from $1,500 to $1,700, with the annual increase of $100 till $2,000 is attained. The leeway in the minimum was decided on, as often a capable man had to be turned down owing to the small stipend to start with. Those present at the meeting were Dr. W. M. Sheebottom, chairman, and Trustees W. T. Strong, A. A. Langford, John S. Barnard, Secretary R. M. Mc-Elheran, and W. T. Mooney, principal of the London Collegiate.

The Advertiser therefore requests that all those in arrears remit promptly, and see that the label indicates that proper credit is given. Methodist Church was accompanist during the evening.

A vote of thanks to the talent was moved by Bro. Wm. Ball. P. C. R., and seconded by Bro. E. Knight, P. C. R., and carried with acclamation.

The proceeds of the concert go to the members of Court Welcome, No. 12, who have been fighting overseas, and are still over there.

SOLDIERS' COMFORTS

In order that the members of Court Welcome, No. 12, of the Independent Order of Foresters will each receive a box of Christmas cheer, a concert was given last night to raise funds for this purpose. Instrumental and vocal solos were much enjoyed, and a pleasant social evening was spent by all.

The occasion was the thirty-fourth anniversary of the court, and the concert was put on in the rooms, Dundas and English streets.

Bro. J. H. Laughton, high chief ranger, occupied the chair.

Solos were rendered by F. Callard, F. Dowling, C. Pink, F. C. Ball and Miss Martin, and readings by Miss Read and Miss Baskett; comic selections were given by Mr. Froban of St. Marys, and Pte. Belland, C. A. M. C., accompanied by Corp. Simister of the Royal Irish Rifles; Scotch dances by Miss Galdys Comber. Wee Master Harold Pearson gave the highland filing in good form.

Bro. F. J. Darch, supreme secretary, gave an excellent address on "Fraternity," and Bro. C. H. Merryfield spoke

Frail, Sickly Children Improve Rapidly on Vinol

The reason we so strongly recommend Vinol for frail, sickly children is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates - but no oil - the very elements needed to build them up. It is delicious to the taste, and children love it.

These Two Mothers Have Proved This.

Bainbridge, N.Y.

"My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was run-down, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. Vinol has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches and has returned to school again."—Mrs. Lester Andrews.

Williamson, W. Va.

"My little boy was weak, puny, to do anything. Vinol was recommended and it built up his strength and made him healthy. Now he romps and plays like other children. We certainly believe in Vinol for children."—Harley Clay.

"Shipping Difficulties"

These are quotations from cables which reached Toronto last week, and may be taken as an indication that fewer woollens will reach Canada during 1919 than did in 1918. The demand for civilian cloths from all countries will be greater, competition amongst buyers to secure materials to meet their needs will still further increase prices.

As a citizen of London, that is what you want done, isn't it? That the "Y" should make the soldier feel that we are glad to have him here, glad to do anything we can for his welfare?

There is no other institution in London doing that work but the Y. M. C. A. There is hardly a day but what 200 to 1,000 soldiers use the "Y."

50,000 soldier boys will be demobilized in London within the next few months. They have learned to look to the Y. M. C. A., the "Red Triangle," at the front for services that the Government cannot or does not supply, and they will be looking to our Y. M. C. A. in London for the same helping hand.

You want them to have it, don't you? You want the "Y" to show these men who have fought for Can ada and made her name glorious that we appreciate their faithfulness.
