First Honors go to S. Hastings But No Disparagement to North—Exciting Race for Prince's Flag

Last night's splendid total of Tyendinaga township, are close behind with 13.33. Both teams have vowed to win. Early morning and late at night trips speak for the keenness of the contest. The brand new runabout which the Tyendinaga team is burning up the roads with is sadly losing its pristine duster but little matters except to win. Mr. Laing and Mr. Yates, the two young returned officers of Deloro, are rallying with energetic publicity. They have held a big public meeting and on Halloween night are holding a fancy dress dance to boost the Loan which they term on their invitation, "A Little Jazz." So far the Tyendinaga team has collected $14,500 while Deloro has brought in $5,956.

STEAM BARGE GOES DOWN OFF PORT OF ROCHESTER

Finding of Two Bodies on Shore of Lake Ontario Tells Story of Probable Loss of the "Homer Warren" of Toronto in Yesterday's Hurricane—Crew of Eight All Missing.

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.) ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 29.—The finding at daybreak today of two bodies on the shore of Lake Ontario, wearing life preservers, bearing name of the steam barge, "Homer Warren," of Toronto, revealed the total loss of that vessel with her crew of eight. The shore was strewn with wreckage. The "Warren" in charge of Capt. Scallier, of Toronto, left Oswego, homeward bound, yesterday morning with 500 tons of coal. She was last seen off Pultneyville, 35 miles east of here at 11 a.m. yesterday, while the gale was raging fiercely. She is believed therefore to have gone down during the night. The bodies were not identified. At the offices of the Milne Coal Co. it was stated that the barge "Homer Warren," usually carried a crew of seven men, but generally signed one at the United States ports. Nothing officially concerning the wreck had reached the offices of the company up to 3 p.m.

E. C. DRURY LIKELY TO BE CHOSEN LEADER OF U. F. O.

Liberals Also May Enter Coalition and Secure Cabinet Representation—Conventions Settling the Problem of Leadership Today.

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.) TORONTO, Oct. 29.—With E. C. Drury, of Simcoe, the well known agriculturist leader, again apparently the most likely possibility for the Government leadership and the post of premier of Ontario, separate conventions of the U.F.O. and the Independent Labor party opened here today to settle the matter. Added interest is given to the situation today by the report that the Liberals have now officially approached the farmers with a proposition for entering the proposed Farmer-Labor Coalition, on the understanding, it is said, that one of two portfolios in the new cabinet will go to their members.

Freddy Goyer, Belleville's south-paw who pitched for the Ontario G.T.R. team into the Ontario amateur championship is receiving some fine offers for his services next year. President J. J. McCallister of the International League has entered into negotiations with the amateur stars, Goyer and Western Y.M.C.A. south-paw Crowe. These boys are sure a nice job in south next spring with the Goyers. Goyer was also received an offer from the Edmonton team in the Pacific Coast League. Toronto will spend $500,000 next year on athletic fields.

C. P. R. Takes Twenty Millions of Loan

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.) TORONTO, Oct. 28.—It is announced today that the C.P.R. has taken twenty million dollars of the U.S. Victory Loan which is three millions more than last year. Employees of the C.P.R. will also take another big slice. Reports from all over the province indicate that the canvassers are working well, and turning in subscriptions that augur well for the success of the campaign.

Over $67,000,000 for Victory Loan

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.) TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Victory Loan totals for the Dominion up to 11 o'clock this morning were as aggregating between sixty-seven and sixty-eight million dollars. Of this Ontario has contributed forty-three millions. Large contributions, through special subscriptions come, such as the C.P.R.'s twenty millions are not included in the above amounts. Saskatchewan and Quebec have not yet reported.

Fate of Proposed Electric Railway

Peterboro, Oct. 28.—The election has upset more than one household and undertaken. A Hydro radial line from East Whitby to Peterboro was practically assured and the Hydro Commission had an engineer on the job a few days ago looking over the ground from this city to Boboyagon and Kinnmount. The election has thrown the Government out of power and Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Commission, has called a meeting of the Hydro Commission next Tuesday to find out where they stand. Mr. G. N. Gordon, of this city, will attend.

Schooner Sank; Three Drowned

Huge Waves Broke Lifeboat Into Kindling Wood—Fourth Man Rescued.

Quebec, Oct. 29.—Three men lost their lives in a cabin on the St. Lawrence river, barely five miles from Quebec harbor during the night of Friday and Saturday, and the fourth victim was rescued unconscious after being hauled to the mast of the vessel for the entire night. Pierre Dion, aged 70, an old navigator, was taking his schooner down from Quebec to the island of Orleans. He had with him his two nephews. The old man was at the rudder and near the point of Leuson, a squall suddenly sprang up and the boat went down. The crew took a life boat but huge waves struck the row boat and broke her into kindling wood. The younger sailor managed to reach the schooner again and was rescued next morning.

Tobacco is Next Says Speaker in a Toronto Pulpit

Rev. Dr. Honeywell Predicts a Strong Campaign Against It—Cigarette Will be First—Should be Cut Out, He Says, or Sake of Incoming Generation.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—The storekeeper who opens his store on Sundays and the man who patronizes that store on a Sunday are not good citizens, said Rev. Dr. Honeywell to the Men's Own Brotherhood at the Central Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon in an address on "Paying the Piddler." The speaker differentiated between the drug stores, which had to be opened for medical purposes, in referring to the recent case of Dr. Honeywell said the success of the Ontario referendum committee at the polls had robbed him of a good sermon, one of his best—the booze sermon. Touching on the subject of swearing, Dr. Honeywell said the sin of profanity was a national curse and gave several instances of shocking profanity among children of tender years, due to the neglect of their parents. No gentleman, in the proper sense of the word, was ever guilty of swearing, he said, if a man wanted to swear let him go to the backwoods and swear into a good big hole, but not in decent company.

Chicago's Example

According to Dr. Honeywell the next campaign, now that drink had been abolished, would be against the cigarette, which, he said, should be cut out for the sake of the incoming generations. Out of 47 big Chicago banks the doors of 42 were closed to the man who used cigarettes, and the speaker said that Henry Ford would not give a leading position in his factory to any man who used tobacco. The United States railways were also against cigarette smoking among their employees. The Y.M.C.A. at the front sold cigarettes to the soldiers because they thought it best to do so under war conditions, said Dr. Honeywell, but the Salvation Army refused the cigarettes. The alarming increase in cigarette smoking was largely the outcome of the war and had become a danger and menace to the young men of the nation, he said.

THE DIFFICULTY

"It doesn't follow that a successful business man can be a success in politics." "No?" "No, a man may be able to run a big business without any trouble at all, but the minute he tries to run a big city he finds that he's got to please everybody and that's a job he knows nothing about."

VERY HOT

First One—"Who broke that pane of glass in your house last night, old bean?" Second One—"Oh, it was only a burglar getting in at the bedroom window." First One—"I bet he caught it rather hot, what?" Second One—"Yes, rather. The wife mistook him for me."

Law Suit Over Auctioned Cow

Interesting Case in Napanee Court Yesterday.

An interesting case was decided at Napanee yesterday, which involved the question of liability at an auction sale. A sale was held by the Whelan estate of the farm stock and implements of the deceased William Whelan, and one Felix Courneyea bid upon a cow which was designated as cow No. 7 on the list, and the same was knocked down to him at $75.00. Before completing the sale by payment he secured one Thomas and Andrew Kilty to take his place, and they went to the auctioneer's clerk and had Courneyea's name erased from the books, and Thomas Kilty's name substituted as the purchaser. McGrath was also a bidder at the sale, and when he came to get what he thought was the cow he purchased he found that Kilty had driven away the same and claimed it was cow No. 7. McGrath brought an action against Kilty for the conversion of cow purchased by him, and Kilty appeared and defended the action, and applied to the court and obtained an order adding Felix Courneyea of Hungerford and the Whelan estate as third parties, setting out the fact that if the cow really belonged to McGrath that Courneyea and the Whelan estate were liable to the defendants. There were some 15 witnesses examined as to the cow known as No. 7, and the evidence was very conflicting in regard to its identification. Judge Lavall, who tried the case, found that Kilty had obtained the cow bought by McGrath and adjudged him liable in damages to the extent of $100.00 and costs. He also found that there was no justification whatever in adding the Whelan estate third parties, and that there was complete novation in reference to Courneyea, and that fraud had not been charged nor proved Courneyea was not liable, and consequently dismissed the action as against the Whelan estate and Courneyea with costs. W. S. Herrington, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, J. E. Madden, Napanee, for the defendant, Kilty, E. J. Butler for third parties, A. B. Collins, for the Whelan estate.

Port Hope Soldiers Decorated by Prince

His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales presented medals and decorations to over one hundred veterans for distinguished conduct on the battlefields of France and he shook hands with each man at Kingston. At the conclusion of the presentation the children sang "Rule Britannia." One of the most interesting things about the presentation of these medals was the fact that the men from every part of the district went to Kingston in order to receive the medals at the hands of His Royal Highness. Many of them had met him before in France and England and took pride in the fact that he had served like one of themselves in trench, dugout and crater, and knew what they had gone through to preserve the honor of the British flag, the safety of the Empire and Canada. Nursing Sister Mary McNaughton of this town was among the number to be decorated by the Prince. Sgt. Arthur Taylor, Hill street, received the second bar to his military medal and Mr. Fred Adamson, Walton street, received the military medal. The second bar awarded to Sgt. Taylor is an honor to be greatly prized. Of the whole Canadian Army only ten won this distinction. We congratulate Sgt. Taylor and our other two young friends upon their decorations.

Fred Cox, was arrested at Galt charged with burning his residence on Alex. Sprone's farm, near Speyside.

Pleasant Point Cottages Entered; Effects Stolen

Lindsay, Oct. 25.—Some time Thursday night thieves broke into and went through some eight or ten cottages at Pleasant Point.

About nine o'clock that night Dr. Irvine and Mr. Sissons were in Dr. Irvine's cottage. Nothing had been disturbed then, but in the morning it was discovered that the cottages had been broken into, things turned topsy-turvy, and about $25 worth of furnishings missing.

The following cottages also had their summer homes broken into: Ford Moynes, Miss Merton, Conductor Thompson, Mr. Goldstein, Toronto; W. D. Hay Toronto; Mr. Hazelwood and H. Brimble.

The damage has not yet been ascertained, some of the cottagers living in Toronto. High County Constable Conquerog had been notified, and a reward will likely be offered for the capture of the thief and the return of the goods stolen.

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, the best remedy of the kind that can be had.

Sometimes a man misleads people by being honest with them.

Why suffer from worms when they can be painlessly rooted out using "Colloway's Worm Cure."

Dr. McCulloch will be at his office, 47 Campbell St., every Saturday for consultation on diseases of the eye, nose and throat.

Leading Lights in the U. F. O. Party

The people of Ontario feel keenly interested in the U.F.O. group of men who will meet in Toronto on Wednesday of the present week to select a leader, who, in the regular course of events, may become premier of the province as soon as he accepts the task of forming a government.

What are the ideas, temper and position of these farmers, who, within the period of a short campaign, have defeated the two entrenched political parties, and, by holding them divided, now discern a long-winded opportunity to correct, or attempt to correct, some hoary abuses of government under the party system?

A week ago many of the social and political leaders of the country were wagging their heads in assumed amusement over the visionary expectations of the rural revolutionaries. Today, strange to say, the college professors, capitalists and captains of industry are offering congratulations and sincere co-operation, the single factor of success making all the difference to the critics.

The members-elect to the Ontario Legislature who have won on the U.F.O. platform are, without a single exception, native-born sons of the soil and bona-fide farmers. Coming from every part of the province, they have but little knowledge of each other; and it is all the more curious, for this reason, what a hold their common purpose has taken upon them. They represent almost all the religious denominations and their racial character is equally representative of the old stock of Ontario settlers.

Death of Mr. Michael Malyea

Well Known Citizen Succumbed Last Evening

Michael Malyea, one of the best known residents of Belleville, where he had lived his entire life time, passed away last evening at his Coleman street residence, at the age of 83 years after an illness of some months. He for many years conducted a successful barbering business on Front street, which latterly since his illness has been run by his son, Mr. Walter Malyea.

The late Michael Malyea was highly esteemed by all classes of citizens and his death is deeply mourned by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He was a faithful member of St. Michael's parish, of the Belleville Council Knights of Columbus and of St. Michael's Total Abstinence Society. He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow, two sons, Edward of Dauphin, Manitoba, and Walter of Belleville and two daughters, Miss Mary Allison of Kingston and Margaret of Belleville, besides two brothers, Austin of Chicago and John of Toronto.

Precautions Taken for Prince's Safety

A Pilot Engine Proceeds the Royal Train and Switches are Spiked

As the Prince of Wales on his tour throughout the Dominion visits various cities and towns travelling via special train, very few Canadian citizens who act as his host en route are aware of the elaborate precautions taken by the railway companies of Canada for the safety of the future sovereign. Practically the same precautionary measures are followed as were observed when King George the Fifth toured Canada some years ago when Prince of Wales.

The Royal train has the right of way over all other traffic, and regular trains, the running time of which conflicts with that of the prince's entourage, are held 30 minutes in order to eliminate all possibility of accident from this source. That is to say the royal train has a 30 minute clearance of all trains on the road.

Put Dynamite in Ear

St. Catharines, Oct. 25.—The body of 60 year old Thomas Gray was found this morning in his little shack at Port Weller, having apparently killed himself by sticking a dynamite cartridge in his right ear and attaching a fuse to it, lighting the fuse and then lying down on the floor to wait for the explosion.

City Safe Robbed; Employees Unpaid

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Oct. 25.—This was pay day in Mount Vernon's city hall but no "ghost walked." The $3,000 which was to have been paid city officials yesterday was taken from the safe in the city treasurer's office Thursday night, according to the police. Robert P. Lewis, son of the city treasurer, who said he locked the door of the office, declared the "safe was so 'rickety' it could be opened by shaking the handle."

The Liberty League wants an opportunity to present its views regarding the Federal Government's Prohibition Bill.

Cow Caused Fatal Wreck

EMPTY FREIGHT CARS STRUCK IT AND WERE DERAILED.

James Anderson of Mud Lake Killed And Another Seriously Injured

Kingston, Oct. 25.—One young man, James Anderson, 18 years old, of Mud Lake was killed and an older man, A. D. Rocheford, of Smith Falls was seriously injured as a result of a peculiar accident on the C. P. R. at Mud Lake on Thursday.

The men were riding in some empty cars on the east bound way freight these cars being ahead of the engine. When about a half a mile west of Crow Lake station the train hit a cow that was crossing track, with the result that the empty cars piled up on the engine.

Young Anderson and Mr. Rocheford—the latter a brakeman—were in one of the empty cars at the time, and the former was buried completely under the ruins of the car. Rocheford escaped with serious injuries and was immediately removed to Smith's Falls, where he lives. He has a wife and two children. The dead youth had a sister Gladys, in Perth.

Bear in North End of the City

Auburn Woolen Mill Employees Peeted Animal With Stones

Peterboro, Oct. 25.—A very amusing incident occurred just after six o'clock Saturday morning as some of the night operatives of the Auburn Woolen Mills who reside on the west side of the river were going home, and upon nearing the bridge a black bear suddenly appeared from the other side of the railway embankment, whereupon a couple of young men suddenly thought of home and mother and made most excellent time in that direction. Others more courageous pelted it with stones while his bearship trotted briskly off toward the north.

Prince Has Income of Half Million

From his duchy of Cornwall the Prince of Wales is said to receive an income of something in the vicinity of $500,000 a year.

The heir to the British throne was proclaimed the Prince of Wales June 23, 1910, and invested at Carnarvon Castle, Wales, July 13, 1911.

The Prince is a healthy, wholesome man with light hair, blue eyes, and a somewhat plain, good natured face.

The Prince of Wales is a splendid swimmer and dancer.

His Royal Highness is 25 years old but looks much younger. He is the eldest of five children of His Majesty King George V. and Queen Mary. The Prince's only sister and three brothers are, respectively, Princess Mary, 21; Prince Albert, 23, who has been previously referred to; Prince Henry, 18; Prince George, 17. The youngest brother, Prince John, died, Jan. 13, 1919.

The fact of being Prince of Wales does not imply that His Highness receives large revenue from his principality. He sits in the House of Lords.

EVOLUTION

The program of modern evolution is simply bewildering in its vastness. It is a panorama so stupendous and varied that no single mind can begin to grasp it.

From star-dust to solar system, from crude, inanimate stuff to living beings; from earth-worm to St. Paul and Shakespeare, from great brute masses of matter to the wonderful thing known as the human intellect with its visions of infinity and eternity.

What must have been the agitation of the first one mentally to grapple with such conception!

How did he contrive to stand before such an idea without literally going mad with excitement?

And who was the pioneer, the real path-finder, along the way of the evolutionary idea? His name was Titus Lucretius Carus, better known simply as Lucretius.

This wonderful man—and the more he is studied the more remarkable he seems to us—was born in Rome about B. C. 99.

His family was one of the most illustrious in the Eternal City, standing second to none in wealth, social prestige and solid learning.

Born in the lap of luxury, Lucretius might very well have squandered his splendid talent and devoted his time to idleness and dissipation, but the young Roman aristocrat elected otherwise.

Shunning the young idlers who were prepared to make him a loafer and a libertine, Lucretius dedicated himself to study and in the virtuous privacy of his father's house prepared himself for the production of the work that was destined to make his name immortal.

That work, published in the year B.C. 60, when its author was thirty-nine years old, is entitled "De Rerum Natura," or "The Nature of Things." Of this work a distinguished scholar says, "It is perhaps the most powerful and triumphant book ever written, the most magnificent account of Creation that ever flowed from mortal pen."

And yet, not one person in a thousand, perhaps we should say not one in ten thousand, has ever read the work. There is no excuse for this, since there exists for those who do not know the Latin fine translations in the leading living languages.

Some books are written for the mere pleasure of writing, some for fame, and some for money, but Lucretius wrote for none of these things. His sole purpose, it seems, in writing "De Rerum Natura," was that he might enlighten the minds of men and thereby emancipate them from the degrading influence of superstition and fear.

"Free yourselves from all superstition," said Lucretius, "and be rational. Cut loose from the gods and the devils the hells and the tortures. These things are but the result of the nightmare that is born of your ignorance. Stop being afraid. Become intelligent and calm and happy."

He told them that Jupiter and Pluto, Hades and Cerberus, the Gorgons and the Furies, were but the shadows of their ignorant surmises and cowardly fears.

He told them that they were in the kindly keeping of natural laws, which, if understood and obeyed, would bless them every day. "From nothing nothing comes," he declared. "But the world is here, and since it is impossible to get something from nothing, we are obliged to conclude that there never was a time when, in some form or other, the world did not exist."

Creation, he taught, is the eternal transformation of things by natural law. From as low down as we can go right up to the shining summit of things. Nature, through her laws, slowly but surely brings things to pass.

Briefly summarized, the Roman's teaching is as follows: Natural law is the highest. Respect it, and it will bless you, scorn it and you will be crushed. Obedience to natural law is heaven, just as disobedience to it is hell. Get knowledge and the knowledge will cost out the fear that paralyzes you and enable you to live the happy life of rational beings.

Such, in substance, is the philosophy of "De Rerum Natura," the work in which Lucretius, the first evolutionist, put down the ideas that Kant, Spencer, Darwin and the rest of the evolutionary school were to repeat after the lapse of twenty centuries.

THE KINGSLEY CENTENARY

Among the centenaries of 1919 is that of the birth of Charles Kingsley, poet, novelist and social reformer. Kingsley deserves to be read these days because the causes for which he fought and for which he wrote fifty and sixty years ago are once again to the front, as they perhaps have not been at any time in the intervening period. Kingsley loved to face the difficult, the impossible; perhaps that is the reason why his aims and hopes were not realized in his own day.

Kingsley's fame in literature has dwindled of late years, dwindled undeservedly because he has a message for men of today, a message they would do well to heed. His was an age of reaction, a time when men were afraid of the new in politics, religion or science.

While Darwin and Huxley were being assailed as enemies of true religion because of their teachings on science, Kingsley was assailed almost as bitterly because he exposed the cruelty of society to the poor and championed the cause of the workingman. He was even forbidden to preach in the churches of the diocese of London, so fearful were some of the church dignitaries of the day of what was termed his "Christian Socialism."

Kingsley's views would not shock the most conservative today. Indeed, in his politics he was more Tory than radical. His novel, "Alton Locke," however, shows a passionate sympathy for the sufferings of the agricultural laborer and the London artisan, and there are many passages of it that might easily be applied to conditions that are still with us. He was no revolutionist, but strove to direct popular aspirations by Christian principles which, alone he felt, could produce true liberty and equality.

"Alton Locke" is a novel that can be read to day with peculiar interest. Into all his novels Kingsley poured his affection, his humor, his joy in life, not going very deep but viewing a world with a wide horizon. He understood the men and women of his time because he loved humanity, and if it had not been that he could not shake off his own partialities and prejudices he might have been a great writer. He could hate as fiercely as he could love, as those who have read "Yeast" will know.

Kingsley wrote considerable poetry and some of it is standing the test of time. In "Andromeda," he showed himself a master of language and there are lines in this long poem that even this critical age will not despise. The last lines sum up for us some of the teachings of our own age:

Athena still in her chamber Bent herself over her loom, as the stars rang loud to her singing, Chanting of order and right, and of foresight, warden of nations; Chanting of labor and craft, and of wealth in the port and the garner; Chanting of valor and fame, and the man who can fall with the foremost.

Fighting for children and wife, and the field which his father bequeathed him. Sweetly and solemnly sang she, and planned new lessons for mortals: Happy you hearing, obey her, the wise un-sullied Athena.

Better known to English readers are some of his shorter poems, "The Sands of Dee," "The Three Fishers," "Ode to the Northwest Wind." What a surprise it must have been to those reading "Alton Locke" with all its turbulence and dreary sorrow to find in such a setting the beautiful "Sands of Dee." A woodland violet in a dark London alleyway could scarcely be more a surprise. Kingsley's faith, his passion for truth, his love of beauty were always in evidence. In many ways he was akin to Robert Browning, though Browning was the greater whether as poet or thinker. But both were of the company of noble hearts, who have made England what she is and Englishmen what they are the world over.

UNION STOCK YARDS. TORONTO, Oct. 28. — With 6700 cattle on the market yesterday, there was a good trade in many grades showing quality and fat and this class realized good prices, and more good butchers would have sold at steady prices had they been there on sale.

Altogether we had an active market yesterday and the prospects are favorable for steady prices. There appears, as stated before, to be a marked scarcity of finished butcher cattle. There was a fair clean-up, notwithstanding this.

There was a heavy run of sheep and lambs—7263, according to the board. The lamb market was lower, choice lambs selling at from 18c to 14c (a few only at the latter price). The market was inclined to drag, the bad weather of the last day or two militating against trade. At the close a good many were left over.

Sheep held steady. There was a big run of hogs—4691, to be exact, and the price ran all the way from 17 1/4 to 18c per lb., fed and watered. For yesterday's loading the packers are talking 50c more off.

AMERICA AND THE AGITATORS

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Bice, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

The secretary of war and the Attorney-General of the United States addressed meetings recently at Cleveland and in Pennsylvania, on practically the same subject—the disclosure of anarchistic plots in different parts of the country with intent to overthrow the government.

They spoke with authority. They are informed of what is taking place behind the scenes and they are not alarmed. Nor can it be charged that they are reactionaries. The war secretary has been condemned often times as a visionary and sympathizer with the extremists. His views five years ago were extreme. The Attorney-General of the present administration has been with the advanced elements in his party. What they have to state, therefore, is of great significance.

"Force is going to be met with force wherever in this country it appears," Mr. Baker told a federation of Clubs recently. The United States army will be employed to put down unlawful uprisings.

Instructions to that effect have been given to department Commanders in every division of the country. Red tape has been cut out. Hereafter an application from a state executive for federal army aid goes direct to the officer in charge at the nearest post and he responds without a moment's useless delay. Troops are dispatched to the disorderly district to restore order and obedience to law. Compare this with the procedure in former years, as in the Debs case and action of President Cleveland and the fierce criticism directed against him in sending federal troops to Chicago to save government property.

The new order from Washington is necessary and requisite for many reasons. One is because the state national guards were made part of the U. S. expeditionary forces in France, and there has been no time for the States to recognize their militia, but the chief reason is that extraordinary conditions have arisen and prevail here, as throughout the world. Mr. Palmer, the legal adviser of the federal government, dwelt particularly on the world disorders and the effect it must have on this country, since the Atlantic has dwindled to a "big ditch" and the Pacific not much more. The immigrant too often brings with them a concept that force is the only weapon. He cannot differentiate between the laws and customs and assurances of liberty granted by this country and the land he left. He is too internationalistic. In addition to him, there is the brand of professional agitators furnished with funds from the Lenin treasury bent on Russian methods in this peace loving country. It is with this element that federal agencies are having the most trouble.

To many Americans, in their snug satisfaction, the idea was unbelievable that a revolution by force to uproot society, such as was undertaken in illiterate, oppressed Russia, would be attempted seriously in this country. They are having the scales removed from their eyes somewhat harshly. The awakening was necessary, and it is fortunate that it came in time. The American house is going to be put in order in the next few years. Neither the Atlantic nor the Pacific doors will have their latch-strings on the outside. Congress has sensed the public demand. It is passing an emergency measure against wholesale admissions from war-stricken and revolutionary countries. Permanent legislation is sure to follow. There is no partisanship division on this subject.

Canada may not need to take these precautions, but if her press is reliable, she, too, has the Bolshevik fever, or the I. W. W. which is the same thing though possibly in a less arid form. The best and safest way is to be prepared for emergencies of this kind, and to take vigorous measures upon the first uprising and crush it out before it gains momentum. The Canadian people are as sound and level headed as any in the world, and can be relied on to oppose Bolshevism in any of its repulsive forms, but Canada has an element derived from foreign revolutionary countries under lax immigration laws that needs watching, especially during these reconstructing times, and vigilance, she will find, is the price of liberty and should never be relaxed.

GREEN POINT. Mrs. Walter Scott, of Frankford, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Ezra Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. John Parks spent Sunday at Cherry Valley. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Roblin and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Reynolds spent a Sunday recently at Damon Anderson's at Hawley. Mr. Anson, of Allisonville, who purchased J. Park's farm is moving in his new home. The mild weather has caused the fowls to think it is spring instead of fall as some of our farmers' geese have commenced to lay. The stork has again visited the shore and left a fine baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Anderson's.

CARMEL. Quarterly communion service was conducted on Sunday by the pastor, Rev. McMullen. The friends and neighbors of this district met at the home of Mr. Roper on Tuesday evening last and presented Miss Avis Roper with a shower, prior to her marriage with Mr. F. Whitney, of Betheny. She received many beautiful presents, among which was a cabinet of silver from her friends at Corbyville. The best of wishes of a host of friends go with them to their new home. Mr. and Mrs. John Pittman spent the week-end visiting friends in Hastings. Mr. and Mrs. F. Gray, Plainfield, took dinner at Mr. Dafoc's on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. O. Dufoc and family Foxboro, spent Sunday at Mr. N. Britnell's. Mrs. M. Reid, Derronto, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Parks, Halston, spent Sunday at Mr. Patterson's. Mr. and Mrs. F. Bennett, Belleville, have purchased the farm lately occupied by Mr. S. J. Clark. We bid them a hearty welcome to our neighborhood. Mr. Roper returned this week from a fishing trip on which he had the best of success.

WELLMAN'S CORNERS. Mrs. A. H. Beckett and Master Frederick left recently for their home in Winnipeg after spending the summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Snarr. Misses Elsie and Mabel Snarr left last week for Toronto.

MARRIED. Married, October 22nd at the Methodist parsonage, Canishton, by the Rev. J. S. McMillan, Mr. Frank W. Whitney to Miss Mary A. Roper all of Thurrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Preston took the train on Thursday for Maynooth for an extended visit. Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Preston celebrated their golden wedding on Sunday, the 19th inst. Mr. Chas. Dracup accompanied by Mr. R. A. Elliott, of Stirling, have gone to the Sudbury district for a moose hunt. Mr. Bert Nix is enjoying a holiday in the north country. Mr. and Mrs. E. Masten, of Belleville, were week-end visitors at Mr. Carman Nix's. Miss Jean Ingram, Campbellford, is spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. Chas. Dracup. For the first time in the history of the local Epworth League it really froze up during the hot summer months, but since the evenings have become cooler it has thawed out again and a warm welcome is awaiting any who may attend these meetings under the efficient leadership of Mr. Geo. Godden. Much good may be expected from the young people in this part of church activities this coming season. Another young people's society was launched on Friday evening in the Orange Hall which will be known in future as the Wellman's Literary Society. Mr. Charlie Morton was chosen to father this organization through its trials and tribulations and to see that the program committee put on a good literary entertainment every second Friday evening during the winter months. The committee have installed a piano to aid in the music. The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 7th, when everybody will be welcome, providing you have got the mighty sum of ten cents. The Wellman's cemetery was the scene of much activity about a fortnight ago. Like too many of our rural cemeteries it had become a place rather untidy and neglected, but a better day has dawned. About fifty men and women gathered and removed the shrubbery, etc. The committee in charge intend to employ a caretaker to keep this hallowed acre in good condition and a credit to the community.

CHEAPEST OF ALL OILS.—Considering the extraordinary quality of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price you should not be without a bottle of it.

TIME TO SAVE AND INVEST IN VICTORY LOAN

Mr. W. S. Herrington K. C. Points Out Investment Advantages of Today—Attack on Two Thousand Dollar Gratuity Demand—Addresses By Chairman W. B. Deacon, Col. O'Flynn and Rev. D. C. Ramsay at City Hall

"Canada has come to her people asking for enough money to finish the job," declared Chairman W. B. Deacon, at the Victory Loan rally in the City Hall last evening.

"The mere fact that Canada is paying 5 1/2 per cent for money should be enough to convince the public," said Col. O'Flynn, another speaker.

"The time to save money is when wages are up, the time to spend is when wages are down and things are cheap. The man who saves when wages are high and invests is gaining as much as 45% to 65% in fluctuation," was a remark of Mr. Walter S. Herrington, K.C., of Napanee.

The Rev. D. C. Ramsay said:

"The work that is past, noble as it was, was destructive work. Construction lies before us. That can only be done if we lend to the government our money at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent."

Attack on $2,000 Gratuity

One feature of the meeting was an attack by Mr. Herrington on the demand of some returned men for a $2,000 gratuity. He called it a most monstrous demand, and he thought he had a right to speak as from under his roof there went forth four of whom three only have returned. When soldiers who won glory in the war by their indomitable spirit, put a price upon their labor, they became as mercenaries. He declared he would not for an instant support the Victory Loan if he believed the government was going to accede to the demand of a few of the returned men.

It had been intended to give a fine musical program by Mrs. (G.O.) Allen, Miss Gladys Vermilyea, Miss T. Ketcheson, Miss Helen Thompson, Miss Alice Cherry, Miss H. Lazier, Mr. Fred Sprague, Mr. Sam Anglin, Mr. R. J. F. Staples and Mr. Allan Schryver with musical hits from Mr. W. L. Doyle's "Winning Girl," but while the artists were present, the necessary piano was not and accordingly the songs and choruses were also not.

The Real Victory Loan

Chairman W. B. Deacon made a short address, saying: "This is the Victory Loan for the Dominion of Canada. Other loans we called the Victory Loan in confidence of victory. But now Canada has come to the people for enough money to finish the job. Our men went into the trenches. They did not falter for hardships or death. The soldiers did their part. 352,000 of them have returned. Canada is not through with the war. The citizens have got to finish the job and pay the bills. Demobilization is costing nearly $400,000,000. Then Canada has to give credit to foreign lands. Our soldiers have to be reinstated. It is hoped this will be the last loan."

Col. E. D. O'Flynn: "The mere fact that Canada is paying 5 1/2 per cent for money should be enough to convince the public. The loan is not taxed all that is being done is not to exempt it from income tax. It only affects the man with a very large income. No greater security can be secured than by Victory Loan. The Veterans' Association invested money as trustees in the Victory Loan from the points of security and patriotism. The money is needed. Europe is 'broke' and needs goods. The people of the old world can secure credits in the U.S. or in Australia, but they prefer to come to Canada."

"We get every dollar of this money back—the county as a whole. The workingman, the investor shall put his money in it. Every dollar comes back."

"If Canada asked us to give $350,000,000 we would give it but we seem to hesitate."

Col. O'Flynn was certain the people of Belleville and Hastings would over subscribe.

Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C., of Napanee, discussed the loan under three heads, (1) "What do we want the loan for?" (2) "What security do you give?" and (3) "What terms do you offer?" There is absolutely no politics in the loan. It is a straight business proposition. The first question was answered as follows: (a) For paying the expenses of demobilization; (b) for paying the war-incurred obligations; (c) for providing a fund for a national working capital to establish credit in Europe.

Mr. Herrington attacked the $2,000 gratuity demand in the following strain: "Why do we honor our boys so highly? Was it because they went as mercenaries? No; but we do so because of their spirit of self-sacrifice. The very minute they put a price upon their labor, they forfeit their self-esteem and would become mercenaries. He could not be on the platform for one instant if he believed the government was going to pay the $2,000 demand, the most monstrous demand, he had ever heard of. He thought he had a right to speak on this as four left his home and three returned and his home would profit by the gratuity. Thank goodness it was only a few of the soldiers who demanded this. He honored the soldiers who, when they received the war gratuity volunteered by the government, were satisfied and then said: 'Look after our wounded comrades.' Mr. Herrington made a few happy homely illustrations to show how the loan worked out to the advantage of the public.

Keep Faith With the Fallen. "Our patriotism should not end in the signing of the armistice. What about keeping faith with the boys who sleep in Flanders? We have to preserve our country and do everything for its credit and keep its name unsullied. When our country makes a claim upon us, we should satisfy that demand."

"A word to the small investor—your contribution will not be despised." "High prices are not going to keep up for all time. The price of work will go down. It is prophesied that three or four years from now, you will not earn more than $1.25 or $1.50 where you earn $2. now. The time to save money is when wages are up, the time to spend money is when wages are down and things are cheap. The man who saves when wages are high is gaining as high as 60% in fluctuations."

Real Work Requires Money. The Rev. D. C. Ramsay, pastor of John Street Presbyterian Church said that the returned soldier inspired us with emotion. "We might well hesitate in speaking of our patriotism in reference to the 5 1/2 per cent loan. The big things that called upon men to face death or worse than death, may we say thankfully, are past. Work remains to be done. Real work requires money. You cannot get things done without paying for it in this world."

"The work that is past, noble as it was, was destructive work. Constructive work lies before us. That only can be done if we lend our money to the government at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent. This is our country, one that has given us all the opportunities we have, all the institutions that make our life. Everything we give to our country comes back to us. The true greatness of a nation arises upon an industrial basis. We have the money. We have one billion and seven hundred and fifty million dollars in banks and post office on deposit. Every particle of my slice of this is going into this Victory Loan. If everyone else does the same, this loan will be over subscribed six times."

The chairman said the Belleville objective is $750,000. The county objective is $1,800,000. Trust Companies, the C.P.R. and all big co-operatives are investing in it.

Patriots Buy Bonds. "Seventy-five per cent of the people that buy bonds do so for patriotism," declared Mr. Deacon. The people were not educated to buy bonds until last year.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

United Farmers Take Three Seats From the Federal Government

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—By-election results did not cause much surprise at the capital last night. The five constituencies in which contest took place went about as anticipated, the chief surprise being the size of the U.F.O. majority in Carleton-Victoria, N.B. While reports from Victoria, B.C., indicated a strenuous fight, there were few who thought that Hon. F. S. Tomlin, the new minister of agriculture, was likely to be defeated.

The net result of by-elections is that while the government loses three seats carried by the Unionists in 1917, the regular opposition has not been strengthened. In the three seats lost to the government, Victoria-Carleton, N.B., Glengarry-Stormont and Assiniboia, United Farmers candidates have been elected to sit on the cross benches. In 1917 Victoria-Carleton elected Hon. P. B. Carvell by acclamation and Glengarry-Stormont did the same thing for John McMartin, Unionist. In Assiniboia J. G. Turfitt, Unionist, now in the senate, was elected by a majority of over four thousand. The seat now goes to Mr. Gould, the Farmer candidate, who took it over a Liberal, the Unionists not having a candidate in the field.

THE NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILD

Needs Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength.

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school rooms cause their blood to become weak and thin, their nerves over wrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a great mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, out-door exercise and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay strict attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep this rich and red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills according to directions and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Pearl G. Harrington, Kingsville, Ont., who says: "I have often felt that I should write you and let you know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me. At the age of thirteen I was afflicted with St. Vitus dance. The trouble became so severe that I had to be taken from school. I was given medical treatment but it did not help me, in fact I was steadily growing worse. Then a friend advised my mother to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she did, with the happiest results, as the pills completely cured me and I was again able to take up my studies and attend school. Again about three years ago I was attacked with nervous prostration and once more took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using five boxes was fully restored. I cannot praise these pills too highly as I believe they will cure any case of St. Vitus dance, or restore anyone who is weak, nervous or run down. You can safely give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the most delicate child, or take them yourself with equally good results when you need a blood tonic. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

GREAT SUCCESS OF FIRST DAY BEATS MOST OPTIMISTIC HOPES

Hastings County Subscribes Nearly Twice as Much as on First Day Last Year—Deloro Leads Race.

All doubts as to the success of the Victory Loan 1919 has been dispelled in the first day of the campaign, Hastings County having subscribed altogether $45,750 while on the first day last year only $24,450 came in. Reports from all over Canada indicate greater success than workers had dared to hope for. Late reports last night from far away districts in the county bring a total for the day's subscriptions considerably higher than the official total reported to headquarters of $45,750.

The leading team for yesterday's canvass in Hastings county was for Deloro, Messrs. Norman Laing and Arthur Yates, two returned officers, having brought in 12.48 per cent of their objective. This amount is $2,850, a total of 16 subscriptions. Mr. R. W. Adams, a Belleville canvasser brought in the greatest amount secured by any one canvasser, his total being $7,100, in five subscriptions.

Yesterday's results were considerably brought down, it is believed, owing to the bad weather which made it difficult for canvassers in the rural districts to get around. This only adds to the success of the day's results and it is expected that a few days of good weather will produce totals even better, in comparison, than last year. The day's results for Hastings County are as follows:

Orillia, Oct. 25.—F. W. Arksey, of Hilldale, was brought before Police Magistrate Clarke this morning and fined $800 and costs for having liquor on his premises contrary to the provision of the Ontario Temperance Act. Arksey was believed to have been a persistent violator of the act, and Inspector Fisher has been closely watching him for some time, with the result that he was able this morning to offer conclusive evidence, and the magistrate imposed one of the heaviest fines in the history of the court.

Do It Now.—Disorders of the digestive apparatus should be dealt with at once before complications arise that may be difficult to cope with. The strict remedy to this end and one that is within reach of all, is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. The best laxative and sedative on the market. Do not delay, but try them now. One trial will convince anyone that they are the best stomach regulator that can be got.

It is rather a conundrum to understand why the poor silent policeman at the corner of Jamieson and Victoria streets appeared decorated with crepe on the morning following the election. This bit of humiliation to the silent trafficman should have been postponed until the next January municipal election.

On Wednesday morning of last week one esteemed townsman, Mr. Wm. Green, arose from his slumbers to find that during the hours of the night he had been stricken blind. OBITUARY.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Perry Palmer took place from her residence River Valley, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 21, to St. John's Church, Stirling, to see the beautiful and impressive service of the Anglican church, was conducted by the rector, the Rev. Rural Dean Byers, who took for his text I Cor. 15—57 "Thanks be to God who giveth the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Mrs. Palmer had been poorly for some time and on Thursday the 18th of Oct. was taken to Belleville hospital for an operation. On Saturday morning at 5 o'clock she passed away.

Mrs. Palmer was one of a family of six children of the late David and Elizabeth Bradshaw, and was born in Madoc Township Sept. 30, 1864.

The family after some years moved to Sidney Township during which time the father and mother passed to the sweet calm of rest. On Dec. 17, 1900, Miss Bradshaw was united in the Holy bonds of matrimony in Trinity Church, Frankford, by the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, now vicar of Napanee, to Mr. Perry Palmer and settled in River Valley, where she resided to the time of her decease. She was an admirable type of womanhood, intensely devoted to every good work, most willing to render assistance, in the hour of need, and enriched her home with the essentials that make happiness, namely, love and devotion for her husband. She will certainly be a great loss to the community, not only in which she resided, also where she was known. Of her it can be truly said, "The memory of the just is blessed."

The church was filled by a sympathetic people while a large number of choristers sang the hymns which she prized so much. "When our heart is bowed with woe, and Nearer my God to Thee."

Interment took place in the Frankford cemetery.

The leader joins with the very large number of friends in expressing sympathy to the bereaved husband and the brothers and sisters, Byard, Edgar, Edward, Miss Mina and Miss Jane.—Stirling Leader.

W. E. Carnahan.

OBITUARY.

A very sad death was that of William Burleigh, aged 35, Norham, on Sunday morning, Oct. 19th, of pneumonia, leaving a young wife and eight children, the eldest 15. Funeral service was held in Norham church Monday afternoon, 20th inst. conducted by Reverend Mr. Swain and Mr. Butler, who spoke very beautifully of the deceased, the latter being intimately acquainted with him. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him. The choir rendered appropriate anthems, and the extreme kindness of friends and neighbors was abundantly evinced in floral tributes and every consideration that could be shown for the widow and children. He was ill for nine days, and the skill of three physicians was employed to save him if possible. Deceased was a brother-in-law of Mr. Ernest Mitchell, special representative for the Mail and Empire, a former student of Brighton High School. Mrs. Burleigh is the only daughter of Mr. Shredack Mitchell of Murray Township.—Brighton Ensign.

Mrs. J. C. Jamieson Has Passed Away

Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a year ago. Besides the husband, two sons survive. James W. Jamieson is Canadian customs officer at the Minnesota Transfer and Mackenzie B. Jamieson is a real estate dealer with offices in the Guardian Life building. Two brothers and two sisters live in Canada.

The funeral will take place on Saturday.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

And There Shall Be No Multi-Millionaires

"And there shall be no more multi-millionaires!"

"This was the first impression I brought back with me from visiting Charles M. Schwab in that colossal mansion—no other description quite so adequately fits it!—which makes such an imposing addition to the characteristically American melody of architecture adorning Riverside Drive, New York City," says Mr. Stanley Naylor in a very interesting interview in the Sunday Times.

A Millionaire's Home.

"In this gorgeous pile he has erected to serve his needs as a town-house the famous multi-millionaire, has certainly possessed himself of a multi-millionaire home, if ever there was one. It is, indeed, a home so resplendently ornate in its furnishings and trappings, so richly ornamental in decoration and design, that the puzzle at first is to find anything home-like about it at all. Its atmosphere is surcharged with luxury and opulence; there hovers around it an air of such limitless expense that when as a solitary stranger you are first ushered in you feel rather as though you had been suddenly walled to some staid and formal chamber of the Louvre in Paris or the Pitti Palace in Florence. You almost expect an obliging attendant to hand you a catalogue.

"Happily this impression of being in a museum rather than a private house is quickly dispelled when you see Mr. Schwab. Dismissed from that unassuming personality he radiates just those home touches his magnificence, his genius for getting things done, and, what is still better, for getting other men to do them—all this is felt as soon as you meet him.

His War Work.

"Schwab became a dollar a year man immediately America entered the war. That is to say, he was one of the first of them in standing at the head of big industrial organizations who volunteered to work for the State at a dollar a year wage. This was hardly surprising for he had been a pro-Ally enthusiast from the beginning. He spent the autumn of 1914 in England in conference with Kitchener and Churchill, the result being that the vast output of the Bethlehem Steel Works was almost entirely secured to Great Britain. In the manufacture of armaments, Mr. Schwab then frankly boasted he would "beat Krupp" at their own game. How well he managed it was shown when, later in the war, he scornfully refused an offer from Germany of a hundred million dollars for the whole of his plant.

Income Tax Leveller.

"But why should Charles Schwab, of all people, declare that multi-millionaires, as a species of the human race, will soon be defunct? His answer to the question is simple and direct. He points first to the ever-growing income tax just now a thorn in the side of so many wealthy Americans. This tax is a great leveller," he says, without bitterness.

"Faced with payment of it our so-called millionaires quickly become men of moderate means. I do not see how present-day Americans will ever amass such great fortunes as they have done in the past. Personally, I am sorry there will be small room in the civilized scheme of things for millionaires in the future. One does not like to think there should be this clog to initiative; that there should be this set limit to the heights to which an ambitious and hard-working young man may attain!

High Prices Come to Stay

"On the subject of high prices that just now rule the world, Mr. Schwab is also pessimistic. 'My own belief is that these high prices are here to remain. Once having gone up they will not easily, if ever, come down. It surprises me to hear experienced business men say they will do this or do that as soon as prices become normal, because I feel that the higher rate at which we now pay for most things is unlikely to grow less. I believe that abnormal prices have become so much a fixture of our present-day finance that henceforth we shall have to regard them as normal.'

"Continued high prices as Mr. Schwab interprets them do not mean, however, that we shall all spend less. Instead he thinks we shall inevitably spend more, and to cope with our increased expenditure more money and still more money will have to be made. Since high consumption must be met by high production the world's commerce, the whole standard of our productivity must be speeded up and increased all over the globe.

A Passion to do Things.

"Yet, despite these gloomy reservations, Mr. Schwab is no pessimist. He predicts that we may look for rapid trade expansion in the very near future. 'The war has brought into being a vast mass of men and women with a passion to do things, and, depend on it, they'll do them.' To give full rein to this new universal zest for achievement, normal business relations must be resumed between the different countries with all possible speed. Friendly business competition he regards as the most potent of all Hydro-Electric.

factors in welding nations together. Why should not England and America cultivate a spirit of sporting rivalry in business, such as Sir Thomas Lipton introduced into yacht racing, with his motto of 'May the best boat win'? Man is by nature a sporting animal. Let him keep the sporting note uppermost in his business affairs and all will be well.

Rival Work-Shifts.

"Of how Mr. Schwab himself contrives to combine sportsmanship with business, setting coeks fighting in the best sense of the term, here is a story: 'How many boats has your shift made to-day?' he recently asked an operative at the end of the day's work in one of his mills. 'Six,' was the reply, whereupon Mr. Schwab, feeling this was not nearly enough, said nothing, but chalked a big '6' on the floor of the factory. When the night-shifts came in they evidently grasped the meaning of this curious '6,' for next morning, when Mr. Schwab visited the mill, the '6' had been rubbed out and a big '7' substituted. On his return again in the evening he found the day-shifts had done even better, for the big '7' was replaced by a still bigger '10.' And so the sporting contest between the day and night shifts continued, until this particular mill eclipsed all records for production in the Bethlehem plant.

My 20,000 Partners.

"Put men on their mettle in this way and they won't fall their employers," says Mr. Schwab, provided

— But the provision he makes are very important. One of the first of them is profit sharing. His steward is paid a percentage on the savings he effects in the household bills. And at the Bethlehem Steel Works, Mr. Schwab refers to his work-people as "My 20,000 partners." Everybody shares in the profits. From the directors, who sometimes net a million dollars a year for themselves down to the men whose jobs are so menial as the wheeling of a barrow or the handling of a shovel.

"Collective bargaining also holds sway. Every three hundred workmen have their own appointed spokesman who voices any grievance they may have to the management. That much-abused word, 'Bolshevism' troubles not Mr. Schwab. According to him, Capital and Labor do not fly at one another's throats when each meets the other half way."

The Real Liver Pill—A torpid liver means a disordered system, mental depression, lassitude and in the end, if care be not taken, a chronic state of debility. The very best medicine to arouse the liver to healthy action is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are compounded of purely vegetable substances of careful selection and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not gripe or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

 Fitzpatrick of this city.
 The bride, who was given away
 by her father, was attired in a navy blue serge suit and peacock blue hat with ostrich feather and white fox fur. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. Miss Theresa McCauley, sister of the bride was bridesmaid, wearing a navy blue serge suit and grey velvet hat, and

P. C. I. by Close Score Defeat Belleville

Score Kick Over in Last Quarter That Wins The Game By One Point.

Peterboro, Oct. 28.—Revenge is sweet. So state the Collegiate rugby players who defeated the Belleville
 High School boys at Nickoll's Oval
 Saturday afternoon by the close score of 7 to 6. Although the rain was falling in torrents throughout the whole time of play neither the players, referees, or spectators appeared to notice this in their excitement.

It was a battle royal from the first kick-off until the whistle blew for the final. It was a fast clean game all the way through with very few casualties or injuries of either a minor or more serious character.

The first quarter went scoreless with nobody breaking away and the respective captains contenting themselves chiefly with line plunging.
 There were several nice gains on the wing and half-line backs on both sides but neither team became dangerous in this quarter.

But in the second period the local boys started off at a tremendous slip that threatened to overthrow everything in their way. First of all, by some nice kicking, Green put one over the opponent's line for a rouse.
 Very shortly after the kick-off form quarter, Hunter grabbed the ball and by a splendid, speedy, circular run, went all the way over the line for a touch down giving the locals a lead of six points.

Then before the game had nicely settled down West, the speedy halfback of the Belleville outfit and former shortstop for the Ontario Baseball champions, broke away and after a long run succeeded in going over for a touch down. Score at halftime was Peterboro 6, Belleville 5.

After this things looked rather dark for the local boys as the visitors started pushing them gradually back. Belleville lost the ball on the Peterborough touch line and when the signal was given for Green to kick the ball out the line failed to hold and he was brought down behind his own line, trying to score.

Then the locals started a kicking but Green, who before this had been having difficulty getting hold of the wet ball, opened up with a few long high punts that sent the Bay of Quinte aggregation back into their own territory. At least he succeeded, shortly after the final quarter commenced, to boot one over the winning point.

The locals lost a beautiful chance to score a touch in the last minute of play when Sloan, who had been making some extensive gains on the wing back, was brought down actually on the Belleville touch line. The visitors, however, did not prove dangerous at this stage and the locals remained victors.

Narrowly Escaped
 Death When House
 Burned to Ground

Charles Healey Was Awakened By Neighbor Who Saw Reflection of Flames.

Peterboro, Oct. 28.—The home of Charles Healey, 133 Woodbine Avenue, Ashburnham, was burned to the ground on Sunday morning, between three and four o'clock. Healey saved only his working clothes and was lucky to escape with his life. The reflection of the flames awakened Mr.
 L. Coughlin in a neighbouring house Coughlin immediately gave the alarm and when Healey was aroused the flames had a fatal hold of the house. It was impossible to save any of the furniture or the personal belongings of the occupant except his working clothes. The building was a frame structure and was situated nearly 1,800 feet from the nearest hydrant. The Fire Department were helpless and could give no aid. The house was valued at $1,000 and was insured for that sum. It was stated that Healey was to be married in the near future and had newly furnished the house. He had no idea of how the fire originated. He and his father were together until eleven o'clock on Saturday night. They had a hardwood fire in the stove Healey had no idea of how the fire could have developed between that hour and three o'clock.

Prince Saw Napanee Through Car Window

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales took a peep at the town of Napanee through the car window, as his train slowly passed through there Saturday morning, on the way to Kingston. The train did not stop, but quite a crowd gathered at the station, and as the train passed through the Prince waved his hand and there was loud cheering.

That the Prince has a great liking for little toys was further evidenced Sunday evening. A great many children thronged about his car to get a look at his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and but what did he do but through the doors of his car wide open and start his phonograph, which greatly amused and entertained the youngsters.

The Prince at Earnestown

On Saturday morning the train carrying His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales arrived at Earnest-town station at 1.30 o'clock when it remained until after nine o'clock when it left for Kingston. Very few people knew that the train was on the siding, so for that reason they were unable to see the Prince. The few people who got the news in time arrived at the station in time to see

Fine Function at Tabernacle Last

A real old-fashioned tea-meeting, which attracted a very large at-function was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the con-

The first part of the program was an excellent supper to which full justice was done by the large body

 there was an ample supply for all.

Two Women and an Automobile Participated.

Another accident took place at the corner of Charlotte and George street Monday afternoon at 4.30
 when Mrs. Herbert Johnston, Proprietress of the King George Hotel, attempted to evade two women who were holding a consultation in the middle of the road.

Mrs. Johnston was driving east on Charlotte street and was turning north on George street when the accident occurred. Mrs. Johnston blew her horn but the two consultants became flustered, dodged and made a jump for the sidewalk. Mrs.
 Johnston tried to avoid running over a little child, with the result that she ran over a hanging shoelace, which made one of the ladies lose her balance, precipitating her over the curb.

Her injuries are not serious and Dr. A. Moir is attending her.—Peter-bore Examiner.

Lofters Will Be Prosecuted

For some time complaints have been received from merchants regarding the practice of young men loitering in the store entrances on Sunday night and damaging the fronts. Mr. G. A.
 Little suffered damage when the side window at his store entrance was damaged. The police are determined to prosecute all found loitering in store fronts in the future
 so a word to the wise is sufficient.—

Section Man Killed

Thomas Morrow, a section man on the C.P.R., was killed at Havelock station when he stepped out of the of the express which was just pulling in. He was in his 69th year and leaves a widow and a family of ten, four sons and six daughters. Mrs.

 Hamilton, of Marmora township, is a daughter of the deceased.

Rawdon Boy Acquitted on Serious Charge

Unusual interest was taken yesterday in the trial of Reginald Magee, at Stirling, before Justice of the Peace, Morden Bird, on a charge of wanton and furious driving on the highway causing the death of Mrs. Franklin, of Marmora Township, in September last. Owing to the accused being under the age of 16 years, the public were excluded from the court which caused great disappointment, but many of them waited outside until the verdict was given. From the evidence it appears that the accused was driving north on Marmora gravel road near the 6th concession of Rawdon and overtook a buggy going the same direction, the accused stayed behind the buggy for half a mile until both carriages had crossed the bridge at Squire's Creek where the travelled part of the road widens; the boy then turned out to the left to pass the head buggy and as he came up level with the leading buggy saw it was a woman driving. The lady immediately hit her horse three or four times with the whip and Magee's horse became frightened and both horses apparently became out of control. The lady's horse took the lead and was leading Magee about three horses length when Cranston's Corner was reached Mrs. Franklin's horse turned the corner, the carriage taking the corner on two wheels. The boy who should have taken the corner to go home realized that an accident would follow if he turned the corner at the speed the horse was going and steered the horse north on the gravel road and succeeded in stopping his horse about a quarter of mile north from Cranston's Corner where Mrs.
 Franklin had turned. On returning to Cranston's Corner to proceed home he found Mrs. Franklin's carriage upset against a telephone pole and found Mrs. Franklin lying in the ditch near a stone fence unconscious, about forty feet west from the Marmora gravel road. The evidence showed that the boy did everything possible to obtain help and gave a full account of the accident to Dr. Alger on the day of the accident.

After hearing the evidence of 12 witnesses called by the crown, and the boy's story and the argument of counsel, the charge was dismissed and the boy honourably acquitted.
 Major R. D. Ponton defended the accused; W. Carnew, represented the crown.

La Beau Wrecking Company of Toledo, O., Interested.

Oswego, Oct. 29.—Going after wrecked and foundered sail and steam vessels that lie at the bottom of Lake Ontario and the St.
 Lawrence river, Capt. Clarence
 La Beau of the La Beau Wrecking Company, of Toledo, O., is here and will make his headquarters in this city permanently unless something arises to change them. The company will also maintain its Toledo office and docks and wrecking outfit there.

Captain La Beau is negotiating with the underwriters who own the big steel steamer Keystorm that lies at the bottom of the St. Lawrence river in 75 feet of water. The Key-storm is a modern steel boat that cost in the neighborhood of $500, 000.

Seven years ago this fall she went on a shelving rock in the St.
 Lawrence, 12 miles west of Brockville, punched a hole in her side, filled with water and slid off into the pool in which she now lies.

The La Beau company is also considering going to the Bay of Quinte to salvage the schooner Bertie Calkins that sunk there with about 500 tons of anthracite about two weeks ago. The Calkins lies in about thirty-five feet of water. The cargo is worth $5,000 and is insured for that amount. The insurance company will look after the salvaging of the coal. Bringing the coal up means that the vessel will be brought up at the same time.

The La Beau Wrecking Company is equipped with all kinds of deep water diving apparatus for going after such boats as the Key-storm and Calkins, and there is but a small amount of work on the upper lakes. The captain is giving attention to possibilities here.

Surprise Birthday Party

At Zion's Hill on Thursday, Oct. 23, a most enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. D. Palmer, it being the occasion of his grandmother's 78th birthday. At 11.30 o'clock about thirty-five ladies, members of the Women's Adult Bible Class and Women's Missionary Society, with well filled baskets met, and treated her to a surprise birthday party. Mrs. Palmer has for some years been the very efficient teacher of the women's Bible class. After the guests were seated at the well-laden dinner table, the gathering was called to order and the following address was read:—

To Mrs. J. Palmer:— From the Ladies' Adult Bible Class and the members of the Women's Missionary Society:— Dear Sunday School Teacher: We have gathered at your home today on this your 78th birthday, to show to you in a practical manner how we value you for your real worth and for your untiring zeal and labor of love in teaching us each Sabbath. Not many Sunday Schools can boast of a teacher of your years, who so faithfully is at her post under almost all conditions.

By your knowledge of Scripture and your Christian example, together with your natural ability and kindly manner, you have gained a warm place in our hearts. Your illustrations often lead us to think we were with you in your girlhood days in the home-land of dear old England. At the name of England comes a throb to our hearts and a feeling of honest pride, such as we never felt before the days of the awful world war, and we are aware of the fact that scores of young ministers come from England, and we believe that your early training was in Bible truth, finding its outlet in missionary effort. We find you standing for the best in questions of the day, and we know you are rejoicing in the splendid victory for prohibition which we are now celebrating.

Again we extend to you our kindest love and best wishes together with this purse, and we pray God's richest blessing upon you. Signed: Mrs. W. C. Ketcheson, Pres. Mrs. Thos. Lloyd, Secretary. Mrs. Mary Carver.

Mrs. H. Kemp, called forth hearty applause. These were "Excelsior," "The Village Blacksmith" and "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight." A silver collection at the door amounted to over fourteen dollars.

Some of the merchants of Trenton attended the meeting of the Retail Merchants held in Belleville on Thursday evening. Those who enjoyed the splendid banquet and speeches were Messrs. W. W. White, J. A. Sutcliffe, J. Shurie, H. Kemp and H. McClung.

Mr. Wm. Long, Henry street, who has been ill, is recovering.

Mr. Hornbostel and wife, of the Adanac Producing Company, have moved into Mrs. Robt. Cummings' house on Victoria avenue.

Mr. C. W. Saylor has sold a house on Lorne avenue to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Spencer of Redderville visited at H. Kemps' on Thursday.

Money Was Returned by Thief

Thief Stole Money One Night, and Returned the Same the Next. Lindsay Oct. 24.—It has just come to light that there are really and truly honest burglars in Lindsay. This statement may seem a paradox, but is true, nevertheless. Some time ago it will be remembered that shortly after Armstrong's store and other stores were entered by burglars, a thief also entered the home of Miss Bridget O'Boyle, King St., east and was reported to have stolen $90. It now appears that the thief only got away with $5.00, and that on the following night the thief returned to Miss O'Boyle's house and left the purse and the stolen money between the screen door and the door of the house. Her surprise was great but her admiration for the thief was increased.

Aged Indian Does Dance With Prince

The Royal Visitor Boyishly Does His Best to Honor the Chief. Brantford, Oct. 24.—An aged Indian chief, name unknown, certainly embarrassed the Prince of Wales in the blushing point here Monday afternoon when he insisted on doing a sort of native fox trot with him before a smiling audience of palefaces. The ceremony of making the Prince a chief of the six nations has just been concluded with this wrinkled, ancient brave, waited up to the Prince, shuffling and gesticulating. He was a befeathered, headed, warlike weird-figure from the ankles up. The Prince viewed him for a few seconds nonplussed, and then he began to blush. Some way or other the old man conveyed the idea to him that he was begging the honor of the next dance. So still blushing, the Prince danced, or rather he walked. It must be admitted very boyishly and shamefacedly across the platform with the redskin still pawing the air with silent torture beside him. When the fox trot ended the ancient Indian made a most wild bow swishing the Prince in the face with the feathers of his headdress.

They left here in the forenoon and were back in Kingston at 12.15 p.m.

Canada's Victory Loan Drive Opens Today With Enthusiasm

Applications for Canadian Victory Bonds May be Made at Any Time During the Next Three Weeks at Victory Loan Offices or Any Bank. Unlike any other bonds, Victory Bonds carry with them a sense of service. The need of Canada promptly the issuing of them and the desire to help promoted the initial purchase. Today the campaign opens for the Victory Loan 1919 when Canadians in all parts of the nation will unite again to keep the great dominion secure. Secure, not from the invasion of the enemy, but from the inroads of such monsters as hunger, want and unemployment. To re-establish the returned soldiers in civil life and to put Canada on a sound business basis are the paramount reasons for the flotation of the 1919 loan. "The bridge from war to peace" was the expression used by the Prince of Wales in connection with the Victory Loan 1919. The reconstruction program of Canada is a big one and to finance it will depend to a great extent upon the success of the loan. The Minister of Finance has issued $300,000,000 in Gold Bonds to be sold to the people at par, bearing interest at 5 1/2 per cent. This interest will be paid twice a year, on May 1 and November 1, without charge at any chartered bank. The bonds are issued in four dimensions—$50, $100, $500 and $1,000 and are for two maturities, 5 years or 15 years as the subscriber desires. Bonds may be secured from any official canvasser, any Victory Loan committee or any chartered bank. Payment may be made in full at the time of application or at the bank in instalments as follows: 10 per cent. on application, 20 per cent. on December 9, 1919, 20 per cent. on January 9, 1920, 20 per cent. on February 10, 1920 and 31.21 per cent. on March 9, 1920. This last payment is the 20 per cent. of the principal that remained and interest at 5 1/2 per cent. on the instalments from November 1. The first interest will be paid on May 1.

Chinese Bootlegger Fined in Cornwall

Wong Lee, With Chinese Liquor and Opium Travelled in a Motor Car. Cornwall, Ont., Oct. 24.—E. P. Foster, license inspector for Dundas and Stormont, has been up against all kinds of infractors of the Ontario Temperance Act, but his first experience with Chinamen occurred Tuesday when he encountered a couple with an automobile three miles west of Morrisburg. Mr. Foster had heard that Celastials were travelling back and forth between Toronto and Montreal, but he could not capture them. They gave their names as Wong Lee and Lee Wing. Their car contained 70 bottles of Chinese liquor, 36 bottles of whiskey and a small tin of opium. The men were taken to Ingoets and appeared before Justice James Collison and J. J. Payne. Lee was fined $400 and costs and Wing $200 and costs. They did not have the money so Mr. Foster said they would have to go to Cornwall jail to serve a term or until the cash was forthcoming. The Chinamen said their Toronto friends would not pay the fines if they were locked up, but would do so if Toronto could be reached, so Mr. Foster accompanied the two men to the Queen City in their auto and collected the fines. After settling with the inspector Wong Lee shook hands with the official and asked him not to be offended. The Chinaman on being assured that no ill-feeling was held towards him remarked that he would make the trip to Montreal again.

Foster, license inspector for Dundas and Stormont, has been up against all kinds of infractors of the Ontario Temperance Act, but his first experience with Chinamen occurred Tuesday when he encountered a couple with an automobile three miles west of Morrisburg. Mr. Foster had heard that Celastials were travelling back and forth between Toronto and Montreal, but he could not capture them. They gave their names as Wong Lee and Lee Wing. Their car contained 70 bottles of Chinese liquor, 36 bottles of whiskey and a small tin of opium. The men were taken to Ingoets and appeared before Justice James Collison and J. J. Payne. Lee was fined $400 and costs and Wing $200 and costs. They did not have the money so Mr. Foster said they would have to go to Cornwall jail to serve a term or until the cash was forthcoming. The Chinamen said their Toronto friends would not pay the fines if they were locked up, but would do so if Toronto could be reached, so Mr. Foster accompanied the two men to the Queen City in their auto and collected the fines. After settling with the inspector Wong Lee shook hands with the official and asked him not to be offended. The Chinaman on being assured that no ill-feeling was held towards him remarked that he would make the trip to Montreal again.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A POLICE MAGISTRATE

IN CANADIAN MAGAZINE.
By Colonel George T. Denison.

One of the most interesting cases I ever had was in connection with the robbery of a valuable diamond ring. One evening some thirty years ago, a commercial traveller, for a Montreal piano factory, was in Toronto on business and happened to have entered a tavern on Queen St., a short distance west of Osgoode Hall. He had a glass or two of liquor there but was quite sober. He had on his finger a fine diamond ring, worth more than $600. He was chatting with some people in the bar-room when eleven o'clock came, at which time the bar had to be emptied and the place closed for the night. About a dozen men left the bar, and some of them stood outside a minute or two before separating. When the commercial traveller started to go east towards his hotel, a short red-headed man said: "Oh are you going that way. So am I." and they walked eastward, on the way the red-haired little man suggested that the traveller should accompany him to a friend's house, where they might have another glass before they went to bed. The traveller consented, and on reaching the corner of the Osgoode Hall wall, they turned north, the east along Osgoode Street to Centre Street, which was the first street running north. They turned up this street to the first lane, then turned to the left into it. They had hardly entered when two tall men who had been hidden jumped on the traveller and with the assistance of the red-haired man threw him to the ground and stole his ring. He yelled "Help! Police! robbers!" at the top of his voice. It happened that just at that moment a policeman and two police recruits were walking down Chestnut Street, and hearing the cries, ran down the lane and approaching Centre Street saw three men over one on the ground who was screaming for help. The three men heard the police men coming and ran as hard as they could towards University Avenue. The older policeman passed two of the fugitives, leaving his probationers to secure them, and chased and captured the one in front. It was winter time and there was snow on the ground. The three prisoners were captured the foremost one only getting a few yards out of the lane, the others being caught in it.

The next morning the three prisoners were in the dock charged with Highway robbery. The ring was not discovered on them, but the deep snow prevented any possibility of finding it. Mr. Murdoch appeared to defend them. The first witness was the complainant who told me the story just as I have related it. He identified the red-haired man among the prisoners positively, could not be positive about the two taller men, as it was dark, but said that if the men in the dock were those caught by the officers they were the men as he saw them captured. The next witness was the policeman who said he was coming down Chestnut Street, and when opposite the lane, heard the shouts for help. He with his companions ran at full speed down the lane—the lane from Chestnut Street was about its own width or a little more to the north of its continuation from Centre Street west, so that they did not see anything until they got close to Centre street when they had a diagonal view, and saw the three men over the other, who was yelling for help. On his approach the men ran off at once, but they were all caught after a sharp chase. The two recruits corroborated this story, and the Crown Attorney closed his case.

Mr. Murdoch then put in his defense. He said that his clients had nothing to do with the robbery. That they had come from the eastern part of the city and on arriving at University Street they had turned north along the Osgoode Hall wall, and on reaching the first lane had heard the shouts for help. They had just reached him when they heard some men running towards them from the other direction, and becoming frightened they ran away and were caught.

There was also an attempt to prove an alibi showing that they had been in an eastern part of the city. This alibi failed as they had plenty time to have gone the short distance to the west, and to have met the complainant at the tavern. Mr. Murdoch also said that his clients were respectable farmers' sons from Alliston, a village about fifty miles from Toronto, and were men of good character. Mr. Murdoch did not seem to have much confidence in the story of his clients. I was uneasy, however, and called the traveller back to the witness box and said, "Are you positively certain that the small red-haired man is the same man you saw at the tavern and who walked with you to the place where you were robbed?" I walked with him talking to him under the lights of the streets, had an excellent opportunity of seeing him, and am quite sure he is the man, and besides your Worship, he was not out of my sight for a second. For I saw him caught in the lane." I then said: "Could you not have been knocked senseless for a few seconds?" "No," he replied, "I was in full possession of my senses all the time."

The case was finished and ordinarily I would have sentenced them to the Penitentiary at once, but for some reason I was uncertain, and to the astonishment of the Crown Counsel, I remanded them for a week.

Thinking over the case after the Court was over, I felt uncomfortable as far as the case was concerned, it was absolutely proved and it was not on circumstantial evidence, it was direct, positive testimony, showing that the prisoners had been caught in the act. It was a serious case, a Penitentiary offence, and yet I had a doubt, and was worried about it. I went to the Chief Constable and told him to send me a detective whom I would want for a few days, and to supply him with funds to take him to Alliston.

Detective Burrow came to my room shortly afterward. I told him I wanted to see him about the diamond robbery. Burrows said it was a very clever capture by the constable and a very clear case. He was very much surprised when I told him I was worried about it, and I gave him my directions. I told him to go to Alliston, a small village in the country and pretend to be an agent for the sale of fruit trees. I told him to put up at the tavern, and talk fruit trees to everyone—that he could in that way in the day time move about among the farmers and talk to them without exciting suspicion, and I said "The whole country side will be talking about these young men who are in prison on remand. In the grocery shop you can talk about this robbery case—the same way in the tavern bar room, find out what is the belief in the neighbourhood as to the guilt or innocence of these young men, and find out some way or other whether any of these men were ever away for any length of time in a large city, or whether any of them have ever lived away in the States".

Burrows came back in a few days and came to my room and said that he was puzzled about the case. He told me there was not a soul he could find that would believe one word of the story that none of the three had ever left their farms for more than a few days, none of them, had ever been in the States. I said at once, "Then we have the wrong men. This was a piece of skilled scientific criminal work done by old hands, and farmers' sons, never did it. Their story was true the man was knocked senseless for long enough for the transportation to take place, and he has not known it," and I told him to go to the tavern where the traveller had met with the red-haired small man who looks like the red-haired prisoner, was there that night, and when you find that out you will be able to tell who his chums were."

Burrows left and made these inquiries and either the next day or the following day, came to me and told me the names of the three who were all in the tavern that night. I said at once that the red-haired man looked very much alike. Burrows went on to say that they had knocked the man senseless, and escaped through a disreputable house just opposite to where the men were robbed. He asked me if he should lay charges against the real criminals, but I advised him not, as the traveller had been so positive, and insisted on identifying the wrong man, and that therefore we could not do anything.

The next day the three young farmers were up on remand, and when called, Mr. Murdoch asked to put in evidence of good character, and he had all the best people of their neighbourhood present to give that evidence of good character, and I mitigated of sentence. I stopped him at once and told the prisoners that I was going to discharge them, that I was satisfied that they were absolutely innocent, that I regretted very much having kept them in jail for a week, but that I did so in their interest and I discharged them. The Crown Attorney was astonished and came up to the front of my desk, and asked me what was the matter, that he never saw a clearer case. I said, "I will tell you after court." Murdoch came up shortly afterwards in his quaint way and said to me quietly "Heaven! Colonel what struck you? I had the warden and the Reeve and the Parsons, etc., all here to speak for them. I said, 'there has been a mistake. Your clients' story was true.'"

Now referring to this case I think I may say that I do not believe another Judge in Canada would have taken the course I did. I knew it was irregular and contrary to every rule of legal evidence, or legal procedure, but I have always felt that my first duty was to do justice, justice above everything, and to set legal quibbles at defiance. And while this was the most irregular procedure in my experience, it is the one of which I am most proud, and to which I look back with the most satisfaction.

To finish with this matter I may say that within a year all three of the real thieves were up before me for different crimes clearly proved and they must all have thought that I had eaten something that had disagreed with me, and put me in a bad temper, for I took a serious view of their cases and gave them severe sentences.

Rode Bike a Long Distance

Willard Halesone Caught at Belleville Police Station

Willard Halesone performed a feat on Wednesday and Thursday of this week which brought him to Belleville and incidentally to the lockup. Halesone is 18 years of age and has been working in the county of Wentworth. He arrived at the police station, Belleville last night with a bicycle and inquired for his relatives' address, as they had moved since he left here. Halesone was questioned where he got the wheel and finally he said he took it from a farmer, Thos. Edsworth, of Waterdown, Wellington county. He started from that place on Wednesday morning, passed through Hamilton to Toronto and passed through Oshawa, spending the night at a farm house near Oshawa. Yesterday he rode along to Belleville.

In police court this morning he pleaded guilty to theft of the Missey Harris bicycle and was remanded. He says he intended to express the wheel back to the owner. The accused had once been in the Mimico School.

Fuel Industry For the City

City to Provide Free Site and Garage to Ontario Oakcol Co.

The Ontario Oakcol Co. Limited, recently secured a franchise from the City of Belleville in return for an agreement to erect and equip a plant to convert Belleville's garbage and waste material into fuel, made under sanitary and scientific principles. Last evening, Mr. Long, managing director, addressed a public meeting at the city hall, Belleville to explain the industry.

Ald. W. A. Woodley occupied the chair and in a few words introduced the subject of anthracite substitute and bespoke for Mr. Long a patient hearing.

Mr. Long explained: "We are not asking you to buy stock in this company, but if you want to participate in the profits of all the plants, you can do so by buying stock within seven days." Then the books will be closed. Mr. Long said the dividends were estimated at from 22% to 36%.

"We are going to build a plant in Belleville and spend approximately $40,000 on buildings and equipment. This will manufacture a quarter of a million dollars worth of oakcol. The cities of Canada are bound to grow, this means more garbage and a bigger demand for fuel. The average family will not burn over 6 1/2 tons of oakcol during the winter. Oakcol will sell at $8. to $9.50 per ton, thereby saving $4. or $4.50 per ton to the people or a total of $96,000 per year."

"The company has an immense amount of anthracite coal dust used in the oakcol manufacture. This cannot go up in price. The only elements which can increase the cost of oakcol are wages and freight. The employees will be British subjects, and preferably returned soldiers."

The Belleville plant will use 60 horsepower. The city council may fix the assessment for ten years.

"We ask the council for a free site and free garbage. It would not be fair for us to have to pay for garbage, as that would only increase the cost of oakcol. The building will be sanitary and the use of the garbage will eliminate all danger of contagion."

Mr. Long referred to the use of garbage in feeding hogs, a dangerous practice, leading sometimes to the spread of disease.

He explained how the garbage was treated scientifically in the manufacture of oakcol, and thoroughly disinfected. It is ground in and reduced to a pulp and transferred to a mixing machine where coal dust is introduced and the mixture is then pressed into briquettes. There is no dust from it, the heat is claimed to be greater than that secured from anthracite coal and the ashes are a fertilizer.

Mr. Long regretted that the meeting was not more largely attended.

Retrospection of the Old Farm

Written for The Ontario by Hazel Alyea Asselstine, Belleville.

When I sit within the gloaming,
Resting at the close of day,
Then it seems my thoughts will wander
To the days long passed away;
To those golden hours so happy,
When my heart from care was free,
And my eyes grow dim with longing
For the days that used to be;
Dreaming of those happy summers
That I knew in days of yore,
Longing for those woodland places
Where I'll wander never more.

In the vales of Old Ontario,
Is a spot to me most dear,
Where in memory I visit
As I did in by-gone year;
There's a large and rambling farm house,—
Red bricked structure midst the trees—
Dear old maples of the Home-land,
Gently rustling in the breeze;
A long veranda wreathed in roses,
Balcony with woody red,
By the steps, trees of mulberry,
Where the eager robins fed.

Thru the lawn a little pathway
That my childish footsteps led,
Midst the roses and the lilacs,
Marigolds and dianthus red,
Morning-glories, sweet peas, astors,
In my sweet confusion rare,
Honeysuckles and the pansies
Midst the dainty maiden-hair;
At the left, the dear old orchard,
At the right, sweet new-mown hay,
In the background fields and maples,
Wooded hills that around them lay;

Of the humbler feathered caste,
Each returning in the Spring time,
When they know the winter's past
Oh, the maples; oh, the clover,
And the brooklet, sweet and low,
Where we gathered elderberries,
In that golden long ago,
Wild plum, cherries, apple blossoms,
Every flower and every bird,
Telling every day their story,
Sweetest one I ever heard.

Letter to the Editor

Editor Ontario,—

When passing the photo studio of Mr. McCormick's a few minutes ago, I noticed in the window a colored photograph of the country residence of R. J. Graham, Esq. To me it is the loveliest picture of its kind I have ever seen. It has not the stately grandeur or magnificence of Sir Henry Pellatt's castle in Toronto, but to me it is far more attractive because it is so quaint and home-like, so colonial in type, so countryfied so to speak. To me the house and grounds are a thing of beauty and a joy forever and absolutely perfect and in keeping with the surroundings.

French Woman Doctor Makes Plea For the Unmarried Mother.

New York, Oct. 22.—A plea for motherhood out of wedlock was made here at the international conference of women physicians by Dr. Anna Moutet of France.

"In a country, the population of which is decreasing," she said, "it is important above all to favor the rate of birth by every means to do away with all obstacles in the protection of all children indiscriminately."

"Motherhood outside of marriage must no longer be held as a disgrace or a burden. The girl mother must be lifted. The prejudice which make her an object of general censure must be combatted, and if irregular birth is no longer a disgrace to the child, neither must it be a dishonor to the mother."

"She must find in society for herself and for her child the support which in the past was refused her."

Describing what France has done in the matter, Dr. Moutet said: "The law has assured the protection of the child born out of wedlock, first in creating a bond of right between him and his parents when that is possible then, in assisting the mother when she is alone and without resources, and, finally, in taking full responsibility in rearing the child."

Wedding Bells

WATKIN — FARGEY

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Monday evening by the Rev. A. Kerr at St. Andrew's Church when Mr. George Evan Watkin of this city was united in marriage to Miss Annie May Fargey, eldest daughter of Mrs. Fargey, 86 Dundas street. The bride was assisted by Miss N. Latta, the groom by Mr. A. Fargey, brother of the bride. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The groom's present to the bride was a pearl pendant; to the bridesmaid a gold cuff links. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous wedding supper was partaken of. The popularity of the bride was evinced by the many beautiful presents she received. Mr. and Mrs. Watkin will take up their residence at 21 Catharine street.

Returned This Month.

Frank Corby, son of Geo. Corby, Toronto, is in town renewing friendships after being abroad in France, Belgium, Germany and British Isles, for three years, in the service of the Canadian Militia, having just returned this month. He is looking fine and fit for the next war, and hopes that when that takes place the Brighton Trench Club will again come to the fore in its established vigour. Frank feels like cheer when he thinks of the many blessings of the Brighton Trench Club. Stories are told by some Brighton soldiers to the effect that the Trench Club parcels were the means of special favours from men in their unit, in one instance extra rations of rum.—Brighton Ensign.

Women of Canada Will Buy Bonds

As in War the Women Stood by the Soldiers so in Peace They Assist in Reconstruction

The mobilization of the women for war work was one of the great achievements of the age. Women have taken a new place in the minds of all since it has been demonstrated just what they could do. In the time of stress, women have never failed. They have responded to every call.

Canada calls to the women to help to bridge the gap between war and peace. The reconstruction period is upon the country and many millions are needed to tide Canada over this trying time.

Today the Victory Loan campaign is being launched. Canada asks her citizens to lend their money that prosperity may be assured and that the obligations arising from the war may be met.

Women have learned that buying bonds is no mystery. Victory Bonds 1919 are issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000. Payment may be made at the time of subscribing or later at the bank. For those who cannot, or do not care to pay in full, any bank will arrange that the payments may be made weekly or monthly in small sums until the amount is completed, when his fully-paid bond will be delivered. Regularly every six months the interest is paid at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent. At the end of the time—five years, ten years, or whatever issue was purchased—the full amount is paid back to the subscriber.

What better investment could any woman ask for her savings than such a bond guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada?

Desolation Begins North of Verdun

Verdun—Over the hills north-west of Verdun silence reigns. It is not the silence of peace, I have seen the western battlefield from the coast of Switzerland; I have seen the war-torn mud of the fields of Flanders the stretches of nothing in the valley of the Somme, the tortured terrain, where was the Chemin des Dames, the ruins of Ypres, the remnants of Soissons, the tragic shell of Rheims, but there is no scene so desolate, so stricken, so dead as hills north-west of Verdun, over which the Yankees fought a victory a year ago.

Have Filled in the Trenches. They have filled up the trenches on many of the fronts of France and nature and the plowman have blotted out many of the scars. The people have come back to many of the wrecked villages of other parts of France and children play amid the wreck and ruin while parents patch up shelled houses. But not so in the Meuse-Argonne. No one has been so hardy and so brave as to try to restore that barren stretch. The trenches are there yet, and the wire entanglements, and the old dugouts, and the spots of ground stained yellow by hateful mustard gas. It is there as war left it. No trees no growths and no flowers bloom. Stand atop Dead Man's Hill and look as far as the eye can see and there is nothing living. No human being moves in sight. The countryside has died and the erection is not yet. There is no scene so dismal. Picture if you can the view. Hill after rolling hill, stretched away in all directions from this highest of them all. Innumerable brown traces of trenches wriggle across them in a thousand twists. Rows of tree stumps tell where a road once wound its way. Rusty wire in symmetrical lines runs in all directions. The one-time fields are potted as if by small-pox—like the face of a man who had died from this disease. Millions on millions of shells did that.

Down there in the valley is a sort of white smudge. It was once the village of Malancourt. Its stones now make the road I just came up. Here and there sticks the head of a German pillbox, more than one of them torn by a big shell, which left the iron skeleton sticking up in rusty ugliness. The debris of war lies about. Here an abandoned wagon; there an old overturned water cart. There lies a broken rifle; here a dented helmet whose wearer paid the price.

Over atop another hill rise the ruins of Montfaucon, from which the crown prince watched his costly and vain effort to take Verdun. It cost many good American lives to drive the Germans from that stronghold. Over the west one sees the wooded side of the Argonne, and involuntarily listens for the rattling of the machine guns heard so often in the dreary weeks it took the American to clean out the Germans. One wonders how goes it in the elaborate and fanciful German dugouts, built on the northern slopes of those wooded hills. What ghosts play in the old motion picture theatre over there north of the Four de Paris? Is the yellow old sheet hanging crazily from the stage wire as it was twelve months ago? Is the stream still bubbling where the members of the "Lost Battalion" braved death to quench their thirst? Is it still muddy over there?

Thinking about that and almost starting that way, one sees in the distance the Stars and Stripes at the top of a white pole and remembers that it is the great American cemetery at Romagne and one decides to go that way. American Bait Road Abandoned. Up the road the Yankee engineers built from ruined villages across what for almost four years had been No Man's Land. It is lumpy and full of holes. No one has paid any attention to it since the Americans finished using it. The chalky tone makes it lie white and crooked in the sunshine. Up towards Montfaucon, past the old ammunition dump just this side of the hill, where so many traffic jams formed and where one time American wounded lay for fifty hours in trucks, while many died, I shoot up on the hill where lies the bones of the town. There on the north side is the house which shielded the entrance to the crown prince's dugout and where the third division once placed its headquarters. I had to spend three hours once there because so many shells were falling atop the hill it would have been madness to try to get away. One remembers how the walls of that dug-out rang when German heavies lit near by.

Sea Tragedy Unfolded by Rescued Men

Free-For-All Fight Seen Aboard Newfoundland Schooner.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18.—Four sailors, saved amid all the perils of a storm at night in mid-ocean, are now held at the immigrant station at Gloucester, N. J., to await a hearing before the British consul on a charge of mutiny.

An air of mystery surrounds the causes which led to the death of the captain and mate of the schooner Onato, ending with the distress signal which summoned the steamship Zirkel to their aid. The Zirkel docked Thursday afternoon at the Washington avenue wharf and the captain Daniel A. Sullivan, of New York, told a story that rivalled the fiction of many writers.

On the night of October 8, during a heavy storm, the officers of the Zirkel saw the distress flares from some vessel ahead. As they pulled nearer signs of great commotion were noticed on the craft which appeared to be a two-masted schooner. In an effort to circumvent the schooner and approach closer, the steering gear of the Zirkel snapped and for four hours she wallowed helplessly in the trough of a heavy sea.

Finally a lifeboat was launched and, under the direction of Chief Officer Simms and six men, approached the distressed craft so that four men could jump into the boat. So heavy were the seas that when the return to the ship was made the boat was smashed while trying to haul it back on the steamship, but the crew and the rescued men were saved.

The four men rescued all from Newfoundland, were: Thomas Houlton and Earnest Fizzard, of Burin, and Douglas Nickol and Lorenzo Ash, of Carbonear. They said that the boat was sinking and that the captain, James Brussel, of Burin, and his brother, Earnest, the mate, were killed during a shifting of their cargo of salt some days previous, and buried at sea.

STORIES CONFLICTED.

Captain Sullivan gave the men the freedom of the ship and took good care of them, but the stories they soon circulated concerning the loss of the Brussia brothers becoming various and conflicting, easily exciting the suspicions that all had not been told. As a result they were turned over to the immigration authorities to await the action of the British consul.

Just after the docking of the Zirkel the captain told in detail the story of the mysterious affair. He was worn out and dead tired, for he had been continuously on deck since the breaking of the steering gear. He sat down wearily in the chair at his desk, and turned mournfully towards his interviewers.

"Really, I'm all in," he began, "and it doesn't seem natural that the newspapers should want to hear from me but since you are here I will tell you what I can."

"We had been a week out of Rotterdam, proceeding along the northern route for Philadelphia. On the afternoon of October 8 we ran into a heavy blow. About 10.45 o'clock that night the second officer Robert F. Fremont, noticed a light and flare off the starboard bow. At first I thought it a lifeboat which I knew would be in great danger on a night like that. Again we saw the flare and made it out to be a sailing vessel.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT.

"As we are often hailed for provisions by such craft we were not deeply concerned, but were ready to give aid. Suddenly another flare was lighted, and by its light two ship officers and myself could plainly see a free-for-all fight going on. I tried to manoeuvre closer when suddenly the steering gear on the ship gave way. We lay helpless in the heavy sea for four hours while repairing it.

"I then had to go aft but instructed J. O. Bailey, our super-cargo, to keep his eyes constantly on the schooner. She appeared to be in fair condition, easily riding the seas. While at work on the gear a rain-storm came up and we watched her going round us through the gusts and downpour. Suddenly she changed her course and headed straight for the ship, passing under the stern and hailing us.

"Save us, some one cried, 'we are sinking—could not last the night.' We told them of the damage to our steering gear and finally, at 3 a.m. we were able to launch a life boat under Chief Officer Simms and six men. The sea was very high, and the crew were in great danger. They finally approached the schooner and called to the men to jump.

"In the meantime, in order to keep the lifeboat to the lee side, I had contrived to pass close to the schooner, so that the vessels were barely thirty feet apart. However, on the deck, in the glare of our electric searchlights we could plainly see the form of a man. He was lying on his face with his hands outstretched. We passed the schooner and picked up the man from the lifeboat, but lost the boat while trying to hoist it aboard.

"The rescued men were then brought on deck and fed. They were then taken to the bridge to be questioned. According to their tale they had sailed from Oporto for Burin, Nfld., and had been in a storm for four days. Our log shows good weather for all this time and no wireless reports show evidence of a storm. They had a cargo of salt, and as the boat was leaking had dug a well 12 feet deep so as to bail her out.

BURIED IN CARGO.

"On October 4 the captain and his brother, the mate, were in the well when the cargo shifted and completely buried them. No attempt according to their story, was made to get them out until the morning of the 8 when they were buried at sea. We had distinctly seen a man's body on the deck as we passed. Furthermore, Mr. Bailey reported that when the schooner was on our port side, headed directly toward us, he heard two pistol shots.

"I gave the men the freedom of the ship, but carefully observed them. They told many different yarns to account for the captain's death. One was that he had shot himself, another that he had been washed overboard, and the like. It appeared to me that the men were divided. Houlton and Fizzard, who came from the captain's home town and new him well, were shaky and completely awed by fear of the other two. Ash and Nickol, however, were bustling and absolute strangers to the captain before shipping.

Joseph Mantell Voted Four No's

Toronto Oct. 22.—"I voted four no's because I had feeling for my fellow-beings and a brighter prospect for the women and children of the future," said Joseph Mantell, age 108, of 49 Rainford road, Toronto, Monday.

"I have always been a strong Conservative," he said "and have tried to support a man whose interests were other than salary and position. When referring to the gains made by the U. F. O., he recalled to mind the days when as a farmer he sold beef for 75 cents a cwt., and potatoes for 12 cents a bushel. "Many a time I could not get that much," he added.

Mr. Mantell waxed indignant Monday when he was asked could he walk to the polls.

He has excellent eyesight despite his age and reads all the newspapers without the aid of glasses. He has lived in Canada 83 years and Riverdale for the past ten years.

Tyendinaga gave the following (unofficial) majorities in Monday's election:

One Week More of Wetness in Ogdensburg

Unless the Unexpected Happens the Bone Dry Bill Goes Into Effect Next Saturday.

Ogdensburg, Oct. 23.—Next Saturday Ogdensburg will go bone dry unless, which seems improbable, the wartime prohibition ban is lifted in the meantime.

On that date the Volstead bill duly passed by the people of the United States in Senate and House of Representatives assembled, was transmitted to the white house.

Latest advices from Washington indicate that guardians of the President's health will not permit him either to sign or veto the bill. According to the laws of the States, Permans and the Constitution, it becomes law after ten days.

Therefore after October 26th any person who trades in intoxicating liquor—defined by the act as any beverage containing one-half of one per cent. alcohol or more—will come beneath the blue blute of the revenue officers.

Kingston Soldiers Unable to Vote

Hundreds of Soldiers and Wives Robbed of Vote—Demand Inquiry.

Kingston Oct. 22.—The Kingston branches of the Great War Veterans' Association and Army and Navy veterans claim that five hundred soldiers and two hundred wives of soldiers were unable to vote on the referendum here yesterday as a result of their names not appearing on the registration lists. It is also claimed that soldiers who were ill in bed and unable to look after themselves when the registration was taking place, were overlooked by the enumerator.

Jilted Lover Tries to Kill Sweetheart

Fredelin Leclerc, of Montreal, Attempts to Murder Young Girl.

Montreal, Oct. 22.—Fredelin Leclerc, a returned soldier, made an attempt on the life of Anna Lesperance 19 years of age a former sweetheart in a small dance hall on Notre Dame street west, last night. A few minutes after 8 o'clock, the girl was chatting with some companions while waiting for the dance to begin, when Leclerc entered the place and without speaking to anyone, detected Miss Lesperance, walked up to her, pulled out a revolver and, placing the muzzle close to her face, pulled the trigger. The hammer struck but the cartridge failed to explode. He pulled a second time, with the same result. When pulling the weapon for a third time, Leclerc was overpowered by Armand Lavole, who was nearby, and subsequently handed over to the police.

According to a statement made by Miss Lesperance, Leclerc had been keeping company with her before his enlistment, but since his return last spring, she had discouraged his attentions. At that time Leclerc had threatened her, but she paid no attention to it.

CANA'S STRENGTH EQUAL TO THE TEST

Eyes of the World on Victory Loan Drive Which Starts on Monday

The stage is all set for the great Victory Loan drive which opens on Monday. The continued prosperity of Canada hangs in the balance. Since war woke up Canada to a realization of her own strength, the nation has displayed that strength in all directions. Particularly in regard to the Victory Loans has this Dominion shone resplendent. All the world knows how Canadians lent their money to help in winning the war and now all the world must be shown how Canadians will lend their money again—this time to meet the many obligations imposed by the war and to keep Canada in the enviable position she now occupies as one of the most progressive peoples on the face of the globe.

The eyes of the world are on Canada once again. Canada must live up to her splendid reputation. The millions of dollars which are available must be subscribed by individuals to swell the Victory Loan. It is everybody's business to see that this loan becomes of such proportions that it will go down into history as Canada's most successful financial effort in connection with the war.

RETAIL MERCHANTS MET AROUND FESTIVE BOARD

Towns and Villages of Hastings County Represented Along With Belleville at Splendid Banquet Last Evening—Board of Commerce Attacked

That the Retail Merchants of the County of Hastings are alive to the need of organization in these days was shown last night when about one hundred prominent trades from Belleville, Trenton, Deseronto and from as far north as Bancroft met around the festive board at the Y.M.C.A. and heard addresses from officials of the Association. It was the finest demonstration yet seen of merchants in the same and allied trades getting together for mutual benefit and for service to the public. These men gave one a good idea of the class of men engaged in the distributing business. That they have a place in present day commerce was shown by various speakers.

Ideal of Service

Mr. D. V. Sinclair, president of the Belleville branch, was a very happy man. When he took the chair, he welcomed the out of town merchants to the city. The Rev. A. L. Geen, who has been active in the local work for many years, asked the blessing, after which a magnificent spread was set before the merchants by the members of the Women's Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary. When the delicious viands had been enjoyed a program of speaking followed in which quite a number took part.

"We are here because we believe in organization," said Mr. Sinclair. "Something has happened this week that no one expected—through organization—the U.F.O. We have never had organization on the part of the Retail Merchants of this county. We have to than the Retail Merchants Association, who have been looking after our interest, when we were not looking after ourselves. We must be impressed with the idea that we are here to serve the community in which we live. Unless a man has that as his chief aim, he will not be a success. The Prince of Wales' motto is: 'I serve.'"

Col. E. D. O'Flynn presented the claims of the Victory Loan as a patriotic duty and investment. "If the people of the county of Hastings will be as patriotic with their money as they were with their boys, the $3,000,000 will be over-subscribed." Ald. Jamieson Bone urged the retailers to be loyal in their support of local industries. He referred to Belleville's new industry, The Elliott Machine Company, now operating. The Judge Jones Co. broke ground yesterday to build an elevator. Mr. Bone urged the retailers to use their influence to help the council to secure a free bay bridge. Mr. Sinclair referred to the growth of Trenton. "Trenton's prosperity is Belleville's prosperity," he said.

Adequate Return for Service

The treasurer of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, Mr. Henry Watters of Ottawa declared he was pleased to see the result of co-operation in Hastings county. Mr. Watters said that it was unnecessary to speak of the indifference of retailers to organization, judging by the splendid attendance.

"There are men who wish you to cooperate with their service without allowing you an adequate return for your service, to enable you to become an ideal, high-standard citizen. If you will concentrate on service, they will not be able to keep from you your reward. One of the greatest obstacles to the achievement of that reward is the fear of something. You should be superior to the caprice of your customer. The man who gives a lower service than I do is the man I am never afraid of. It is the man that gives better service than I do, that I should fear."

Mr. Watters declared that there were only two political tendencies—the conservative and liberal. And agriculture, and labor had no more right to representation than the retail merchants. Without distribution, labor and agriculture would have no outlet. "You are the most important in the matter of distribution," he said.

"Every one of you young men should fit yourself for political life. It should not be necessary to spend 10,000 to win an election."

That Board of Commerce

Today we have a judge, a lawyer and a workman, but not a distributor on the Board of Commerce. The Dicoletian in 305 A.D., set prices. Anthem.

on merchandise, the producers quit and the emperor was driven out. The Board of Commerce put a one cent profit on sugar. The Board should do something more than to look for wrong-doing, they should try to stabilize public opinion.

The Association and Legislation

W. C. Miller, provincial secretary, reviewed the stewardship of the Retail Merchants' Association, which saved the retail merchants from being included under the Workmen's Compensation Act and from the original Bulk Sales Act. The transient trader invades the territory of the retailer and steps are being taken to put the license fee high for transient traders. Mr. Miller referred to the Trading Stamp Act and its infirmary. "Through the efforts of the Association false advertising is made a criminal offence under the criminal code. Realizing the unfair competition that the retailers were subjected to the Association secured legislation making it impossible for the dealer to handle merchandise according to other than standard weights.

The Small Debts Court Act, of Manitoba is favored in Ontario by the association and similar legislation may be secured. The Bankruptcy Act which becomes operative in November, 1919, received the attention of the Association.

The association has been greatly interested in a fair trading policy, whereby the firms would sell only to the legitimate retailers, refusing to sell to farmers' clubs, co-operative societies and so forth, as the retailers are the best distributing agency.

The distribution of mail order catalogues called forth criticism of the association. These catalogues are sent out by rail and sent out from the post office at the local rate, saving 14 cents each. Each catalogue costs about $1.25 each, and must mean a great cutting into the retail business.

Mr. Miller pointed out the activity of the association in examining legislation. The organization is now interested in the Produce Act, which in Manitoba places the dealers under a nominal fee to protect the merchants.

Retailers and O.T.A.

Four retailers, who sold extracts and were fined under the O.T.A., had their cases taken up by the association and had their $200 fines remitted.

The Credit Reporting Department was noted and commended to the retailers. The association also extends its service to auditing a retailer's freight bills.

Cost of Living.

Mr. E. M. Townen, secretary of the Dominion Board made a very happy address. His references to the Board of Commerce were applauded by his hearers. Instead of decreasing the cost of living it has increased. The Board cannot regulate it. The cost of living to go down with a few lawyers rambling up and down! It is the law of supply and demand. "We don't have secret meetings with doors tied."

"One thing we stand for, to make it easier to do right and harder to do wrong."

Mr. Sinclair said this association has rendered a service nothing else can give. "When will Sunday selling be cut out?" asked one merchant.

Mr. Townen said it was now a criminal offence to purchase or sell on Sunday. It comes under the Lord's Day Act.

"When will it be possible for us to have the large newspapers cease publishing unfair statements as to the retail trade and have them publish the names of big offenders under the False Advertising Act?"

Mr. Watters said the merchants had often themselves to blame, as the newspapers were anxious to get news of business. Early closing enforcement was discussed at some length. A council has to pass a bylaw enforcing the closing on a petition being presented signed by three fourths of the merchants. The splendid meeting was brought to a close shortly before ten o'clock with the singing of the National Dicoletian in 305 A.D., set prices. Anthem.

Presentation of Trophies

Champions to Receive Prizes on November 7th.

The C. O. League cup and the "News" trophy emblem of amateur ball for Ontario, along with individual presents for the G.T.R. players will be presented at the Armouries on Nov. 7th.

Let us show the boys our appreciation and support by trying to keep the team which brought Belleville its first real sporting honors, intact for 1920.

All the players with the exception of two were born in Belleville. These two are still boys and have spent several years here.

The following is a chart of the Belleville G.T.R. team:

"Billie" Mills, catcher, was born in Belleville 25 years ago. He first played in junior series in Belleville in 1909, later graduated to Sr. Ontario and Grand Trunk, and is now recognized as the premier amateur catcher of Ontario.

"Freddy" Goyer, pitcher. This big left-handed boy was the pitching ace of the Ontario champions, sensation of the Central Ontario League and class of all Ontario pitchers for the season of 1919.

"Doug" Simmons, the suburban haired coach and versatile infielder is one of the best liked ball players on the diamond.

"Tommy" Fegg, manager. is a real manager. We take off our hats to the manner in which he handled our team. He has shown results and to him belongs no small share of the team's triumphal success.

"Cap" Smith, 2nd base, is known to all of Belleville as a star on the home diamond for many years. In his earlier ball days, "Cap" played the part of pitcher and for local teams netted many wins over outside opponents.

"Ollie" Meagher, 2nd & 3rd base, although a youngster, has proved himself indeed an acquisition to the champions. His versatility in playing infield positions has kept the victors in first position.

"Vern" Weir, short stop, another young ball player, the product of our city's High School, was born in LeRoy, N.Y. He is nineteen years of age and has lived in Belleville for many years.

"Joe" Kelleher, pitcher, outfielder and 3rd baseman, one of the most willing workers on the team, has played at all the above positions during the season, having taken part in all games in which his team has played.

Mrs. Gael, Bridge street west, is still confined to her room as a result of an auto accident near Trenton.

Mrs. Henry Pringle, formerly of Belleville, who has just arrived home from a trip to England, is visiting friends here.

JAMES - WOOD

Beautiful sunshine and brightly tinted foliage combined to enhance the beauty of the day when the business manager of this great family journal took unto himself a wife.

Wednesday, Oct. 15, Miss Sarah Louisiana, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Woods, Owen Sound, was united in marriage with Mr. George William James, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. James, Bowmanville.

The drawing room was pretty with white streamers, caught with berries, white palms, ferns and chrysanthemums added to the beauty of the decorations.

At 3 o'clock sharp the bride, a picture of loveliness in her wedding of ivory satin with pearl and silver trimmings with court train and veil, and wearing the gift of the groom, a heart of pearls, and carrying a show-er bouquet of white roses entered on the arm of her father, preceded by her bridesmaid and maid of honour.

Miss Kathleen Ayles, Trenton was maid of honor and wore pink taffeta with silver trimmings and black velvet picture hat.

After the ceremony the bride and groom returned to home of the bride's parents where a buffet luncheon was served.

The happy couple left by the afternoon G.T.R. train for a trip to New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. The gifts to the bride were a most beautiful collection including a beautiful mahogany tray from the girls of the Statesman staff.

Mr. James was well known at Belleville, having been a captain in the 235th Battalion when that organization was located here.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette and satin with pearl trimmings, she also wore a veil of tulle and orange-blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of cream and white roses.

The groom's gift to the bride's maid was a cameo brooch, the flower-girl a ivory ring, to the plan-let & French ivory hand mirror and to the groomsmen, kid gauntlets.

On behalf of the Board of the we would like to thank and who enabled us to see the light at the end of the tunnel.

A quiet wedding took place at Trenton on Wed., Oct. 15th, when the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller, was united in marriage to Mr. Orville Bates, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bates, of town.

The marriage was performed by Rev. Mr. White. A few friends were present. After a trip to Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Bates will reside in Campbellford.

Ontario is dry, but will somebody kindly inform us which of the five parties in the House is likely to enforce the Ontario Temperance Act?

Parliament was successful in his run for parliament. Does Robert Norman, Esq., still live in Prince Edward County?

East Hastings was very liberal in its grant to Mr. H. K. Denyes. West Hastings is to be represented by the whole of Ireland.

Do you suppose there is likely to be any serious explosions in Trenton this year?

Mr. O'Flynn shouldn't take his defeat too seriously. He went down playing a clean game, and anyway, who'd want to be a member of the new House? Those farmers would be just as likely to set a fellow hoeing turnips as they would to give him a Cabinet position.

Sir William Hearst gave us the Ontario Temperance Act, (at least somebody gave it to us), and this same gentleman gave the fair sex of this province the right to the franchise, but judging from what happened up at the 800 on Monday, it would appear that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

And Sir Adam Beck! The high voltage wire of the Hearst power line has been grounded. What will become of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission now? Will it be confined to the towns and cities as it has been in the past? Well hardly!

Those United Farmers will light up every barn and barn-house in this province. And when there are new lines to be built or repairs made to old ones, the Labor element in the House will be given that job of course.

It would be a very "conservative" statement, (taking a "liberal" view of the situation) to say that if the United Farmers intend to carry on "Independent" of the other parties, they will have to "labor" for a majority.

It has been stated that Sir Adam Beck may be called to head the new government. We would imagine that a more serviceable man could not be found.

If a majority couldn't be whipped into line, he could electrify and electrocute until he got one.

The Liberty League's idea of freedom didn't seem to be shared by many outside the boozers, bums and bootleggers. Whiskey and freedom are no relation.

Is the Citizens' Liberty League related in any way to the whiskey interests? Well, you needn't guess again.

CLOSING IN ON BOLSHEVISM

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Blee, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

All the news from Russian sources tends in one direction—that the Bolshevik forces are nearing an end. Stories appear of the overthrow of the Lenin-Trotsky government, of the punishment or imprisonment of one of its strange pair of adventurers as ever plagued the world since we have record of its ups and downs, of the fight of the other, and of the general disintegration in the main cities. These stories doubtless are exaggerated, but the fact remains that they are all of the same leaning and there is no actual contradiction from Bolshevik sources, or recent claims of Bolshevik victories on any of the fronts. In a month the face of the situation has changed. Just what has changed it we little know at present. Forces are at work in the heart of Russia not revealed to the outside world as yet. If Petrograd has not fallen it will shortly; Kronstadt, its outpost, is insisted, has been taken by allied warships, and when Kronstadt falls the once great city goes with it. Three main armies have been at work against Bolshevism—the Judenich army that is now threatening Petrograd; Denikine or Cossack army on the Volga, and the principal Siberian army of Kolchak. The Kolchak and Denikine armies have been driving to the same end and Denikine forced a withdrawal of Bolshevik forces from Siberia in the nick of time. Allied armies have done very little toward subduing the Bolshevik forces for the reason that allied political leaders were afraid openly to order armies into Russia to fight the movement. In other ways the nations that were joined at war with Germany aided the redemption of Russia through naval power and stores and credits. But upon the whole it can be stated that Russia is redeeming itself, a much more satisfactory conclusion. If responsible government is established in Russia the whole world will feel the good effect of it. Just now we are all suffering for the losses created in Russia by the Bolshevik debacle. Russia was second only to the United States in her food exports; today Russia is calling on Europe and America to save her from starvation. This ought to be a lesson to those who are inclined to the communism that Bolshevism teaches. With the overthrow, "if and when it comes", to use the precautionary phrase of Wall Street, of Bolshevism, will the latter disappear from other countries? Ask the same question regarding the "flu". With the end of war the immediate danger of the flu germ has disappeared to a large extent, but the flu may flare up at any time. The subsequent attack, however, is not to be so deadly. With the Bolshevist germ the same diagnosis can be used. We must guard against it; we must build up the body politic by wise reforms to render the body stronger in resistance. Bolshevism is a new name but the doctrine has been simmering for seventy years under different names and disguises. Why suffer from germs when they can be painlessly rooted out by the "flu" cure.

Alfred Ringling, Circus Man, is Dead

WAS LONG IDENTIFIED IN THE SHOW BUSINESS. STARTED ON SMALL SCALE.

With His Four Brothers He Had a "Pin Show" Which Grew to Present Aggregation. The career of "Al" Ringling, who died at Dover, N. J., Tuesday, is synonymous with that of his four brother all of whom biozoned their names in big letters on the theatrical sky. The five brothers started out with a pin show which they "made up as they went along." Before long they were receiving real money for their efforts and started to tour the nearby towns carrying their entire equipment in a single wagon. In a short time they had added two more wagons to their train until they had a caravan of a score or more. Now firmly established in the circus world they started a railroad show which grew steadily. For a time Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey and Forepaugh and Sells brothers were the "big three" in the circus world. The Ringling aggregation bought the Forepaugh and Sells shows, forming a monopoly of circus business. The Forepaugh show was closed and the Barnum and Ringling circuses toured the country for several years, having a division of territory until last year when the two big shows combined. "Al" Ringling did not always travel with the circus leaving the detail work to his subordinates, but once in a while he would appear in town where the show was exhibiting. The winter quarters of the Ringling circuses are in Barboo, Wis. The brightly colored lithographs of the Ringling show of a decade or two ago always bore the picture of the five brothers, surrounded by a circle. It was a sort of a trade mark and was emblazoned on every barn and billboard from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate. As some of the brothers passed away this feature of the advertising was dropped and it has not been seen in several years.

Deseronto Man Murdered

W. J. DeForge, former Telegraph Operator Shot Down by Unknown Murderer Believed to be an Alien Connected with Recent Winnipeg Strike—Shot Down at Winnipeg.

From Winnipeg comes the sad news in the way of a despatch to the daily papers of the death in that city early Saturday morning of W. J. DeForge, formerly of Deseronto. The despatch reads: W. J. DeForge, who was attached to the Military Intelligence Department during the war, was found at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning shot through the heart, and it is believed that he was the victim of murder. He was about twenty-five years of age, and since severing his connection with the militia, had conducted a small confectionary store, in front of which his body was found. Robbery apparently was not the motive for the crime, as $200 was found on his person. DeForge left his store at 1 a.m. and walked toward home, accompanied by H. Scott, who stopped at his apartments, DeForge continuing on his way home. Mr. Scott states that he heard a shot just as he reached his room, and hurried to the street, where he found DeForge lying on his face with a bullet wound through his heart. The neighborhood was alarmed by the shot and hastened to the scene, but no one seems to have seen the murderer, who had every chance to escape, numerous lanes and alleys between the apartment blocks, afforded ample means of concealment. DeForge leaves a wife and a young son. Further evidence came to light to-day in support of the view that Sgt. W. J. DeForge, late of the Military Secret Service in Winnipeg, was done to death by someone who "had it in for him" because of his works in the rounding up of aliens during the war period. This is in form of a letter received by George Foss, late sub-inspector in the Dominion police force, who had been engaged in similar operations to DeForge, whom he knew. Foss was himself responsible for the deportation of some aliens engaged in many propaganda.

Chicago Artists Please Crowds

Unique Concert at City Hall for High School Memorial.

A unique concert program was given last evening in the City Hall in aid of the Great War Memorial Scholarship fund of the Belleville High School by a trio of artists from Chicago—Charlotte Bergh, soprano; Edna Wheeler Ballard, harpist and Tracy Jay Kingman, baritone. Mrs. Ada Lingham Wagner, who is conducting the tour of these artists through Canada, acted as accompanist in her usual high class style. She will be the accompanist for their tour. She deserves credit for bringing these artists to Belleville. Edna Wheeler Ballard as harpist played her way into the hearts of the large audience last evening. Her first number was a delightful pastoral. The second number, "Marche Triumphale" revealed her brilliance as an artist and the rich warm tones of the harp. The third harp number was a Mexican love song, which was interpreted in a flawless manner. To an encore she gave "Old Black Joe." Miss Charlotte Bergh gave a performance as a coloratura soprano. Her first selection, "The Bell Song" from Delibes' "Lakme" is one of the most difficult of compositions to sing. Miss Bergh's success in this number proves her an artist with a voice of rare beauty and with the finest training. The trills in "The Bell Song" were taken with a freedom and yet with a control that made her rendition comparable only to that of the prima donna Gail-Curci. Her voice is flexible and warm and she has the finest sense of shading. The "Butterflies" by Plum-Seller was a much lighter composition, but it proved her artistic accomplishment to be extensive. "There are Fairies at the Bottom of our Garden" was another appealing number as likewise the "Song Fairy" by Bombery and "Daddy's Sweetheart" by Lisa Lehman. An encore Miss Bergh sang "Annie Laurie" to harp accompaniment and "The Cuckoo Clock." Mr. Tracy Jay Kingman sang several songs in French, which were rendered with considerable Gallie embellishment. The songs "The Negro" by Bombery, "I was one of these" among his English numbers, were "Sylvia" by Specks, "O Let Night Speak of Me" by Chadwick and "Eyes of Blue." Mr. Kingman's baritone voice showed fine training and his sense of dramatic values was sound. As the artists have just come into Canada much of their music has not yet arrived and they were compelled to rearrange their program. The afternoon program by the trio was deeply enjoyed by a large number of music lovers.

Obituary

CAPT. HARVEY M. HART

Captain Harvey Montrose Hart, of Pope street, passed away about midnight in Belleville Hospital as the result of an illness which took a serious turn about six weeks ago. He underwent an operation about that time and it was hoped he would ultimately recover. The late Captain Hart was born in Tyrindnaga in 1852 but had resided in Belleville for 29 years past. He followed sailing, the greater part of his life. He was a son of the late Weymond Hart, who was of United Empire Loyalist stock. He was a member of Malden City, Lodge No. 13 P.A.F. and a former member of the Orange Order. In religion he was a Baptist. He was a man of a quiet disposition and had a wide circle of friends who mourn his death. Surviving are his widow and three sons, W. H. Hart, F. M. Hart and F. A. Hart, all of this city and three brothers and one sister. As an orator Miss Bergh sang "Annie Laurie" to harp accompaniment and "The Cuckoo Clock." Mr. Tracy Jay Kingman sang several songs in French, which were rendered with considerable Gallie embellishment. The songs "The Negro" by Bombery, "I was one of these" among his English numbers, were "Sylvia" by Specks, "O Let Night Speak of Me" by Chadwick and "Eyes of Blue." Mr. Kingman's baritone voice showed fine training and his sense of dramatic values was sound. As the artists have just come into Canada much of their music has not yet arrived and they were compelled to rearrange their program. The afternoon program by the trio was deeply enjoyed by a large number of music lovers.

Liquor Go-Between Scarborough Man

Oshawa, Oct. 23.—"These were not intended for today; they were meant for yesterday," said David Crawford of Scarborough Township, in reference to fifteen barrels containing whiskey which the county constables were unloading from a truck at the York County buildings, Toronto, Tuesday afternoon. The barrels were part of a lot of thirty-eight discovered by the police yesterday morning, after they had forced their way into Crawford's house at Scarborough Junction, on receiving notice from County Constables Dennis and Baker whose suspicions had been aroused by the large number of sugar barrels being removed from a car at the station. The barrels, it was found contained five dozen bottles of whiskey each, except for a few that held in all a dozen bottles of real beer. The constables, when they made the seizure, arrested David Crawford who is a farmer and his hired man Tom Foley, and put Crawford to work driving the liquor to the County Building. In an interview with Chief Constable Phillips, Crawford claimed that he was made the temporary custodian of the liquor; that a "guy" had given him $7,000 with which to pay for it, and that a man would be at his place that same evening to receive the money. On this understanding he was allowed to return to his home with the constables Crawford stated that there was another car of liquor somewhere on the track which was to arrive at Scarborough Junction that night. The bottles of whiskey contained in the sugar barrels were carefully packed in excelsior and lined so that it tapped—not too strongly—they would yield sugar.

Father Kills Son While Hunting Deer

In Second Adirondacks Fatality—Hunter Shoots His Brother-in-Law.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Two men were mistaken for deer and killed in the Adirondacks yesterday. The victims are Harley Martin, aged 50, Herkimer and Charles Ohi, aged 18, Utica. Martin and his brother-in-law, George Bunce, also of Herkimer, were out after deer near Russia, Herkimer County. Martin wore a light colored suit of clothes, and when about forty rods away from Bunce, stooped to pick up a flower. Bunce saw the movement, thought the object was a deer, fired and his companion fell dead. Ohi was hunting with his father, Charles Ohi, fifty miles in the woods from White Lake, Corners. The son was on the runway. He changed position, took his handkerchief from his pocket, wiped his face with it, and the movement attracted the attention of his father, who thought the white object was a deer's tail. He fired and his son fell lifeless. Mr. J. O. Herity, secretary of the Bay of Quinte Press Association, was in Cobourg yesterday attending a convention of the Midland Counties Press Association. By stopping to think a woman occasionally gives her tongue a rest. It is folly to tell a man who has the toothache that misery loves company.

Run Down Near Church

Cornwall, October 23.—Mrs. Jos. Mere, age 43 years, died at her home in Massena as the result of being run down by an automobile in front of the Catholic church. She and her husband had attended the marriage of their niece, Anna Mere, at the Sacred Heart Church. As they came out of the church they had to cross the street to reach the auto which was to carry them home. As they passed between two autos another car driven by Edward J. Whalen, came down the street. Mrs. Mere started to run across the street ahead of the car. Her husband tried to hold her back, but failed to reach her arm and she ran directly in front of the moving car. She was struck by the fender and fell, but the driver stopped the car before it passed over her. Her skull was fractured and she never regained consciousness. Mrs. Mere leaves eight young children.

HEAVY SNOWFALL THROUGHOUT PRAIRIE WEST

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—Snow is general over the prairie West, the heaviest precipitation being nearly a foot over the Edmonton district. Temperatures are mild, and the added moisture will be beneficial. Threshing is nearly completed. It is early for the freeze-up and the farmers will hope for a thaw, which will enable more fall plowing.

A REVOLUTION, NOT A STRIKE

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Dice, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

When the excitement dies down the people will not forget the lessons learned from the great steel strike. They will measure their own responsibilities for conditions that made possible the revolution we are reading daily and we are sure they will resolve to turn over a new leaf. They themselves not the steel strike agent or the agents of "big business," will keep closer tabs on Ellis Island. What if the country does not produce so many million tons of iron and steel a year and return so may additional millions per annum, the loss will be made up by a better citizenship and a more homogeneous people. The nation's assured stability is the first consideration for patriots. We can wait for the other things that required unrestricted immigration from any and every part of Europe. There will be no harm in letting the "melting pot" cool off a bit.

by intimidating strikebreakers and keeping the works closed. What was aimed at was an overthrow of capital and an upheaval that would place the pyramid of society upside down. The American may wonder why any number of people could believe such a thing possible; but it would be well for him to get with the foreign side in the manufacturing centres, then he could understand.

County and District

At Brockville, October 27th.

Brockville, Oct. 22.—Mayor Lewis will proclaim the forenoon of Monday, Oct. 27th, the day of the visit of the Prince of Wales to Brockville, as a half-holiday, and has also been largely instrumental in securing for the veterans of Leeds and Grenville counties the privilege of being inspected by the Royal visitor in their own county town, instead of being obliged to go to Kingston. A mass meeting of veterans of the counties and a municipal banquet to them are also included in the program for the day, which will rank as one of the finest celebrations in the history of the town.

Automobile Went Into Ditch.

While going back to his farm north of Brockville, the other evening, Jos Delanty met with a bad accident. Near Timlin's hill his car stalled and another car coming along offered him a tow. A steel cable was attached, and going down the hill the brakes on Delanty's car refused to work. The steel cable got caught in the wheel, and the car was thrown to one side, into a deep ditch, and striking a tree, which it broke off. The top, back wheel, axle and other parts of the car were badly damaged while Mr. Delanty was unconscious for two hours, he having been buried under the car. Fortunately no bones were broken.—Port Hope Guide.

Injured Arm in Fall.

This morning Lila Latham, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Latham, John street, fell while playing at her home and painfully injured her right arm. It is believed that the member was fractured. She was removed to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital where an X-ray examination was made this afternoon by Dr. W. E. Harding.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Teachers Organize.

On Saturday, Oct. 18, the executive committee of the Brockville and East Leeds Teachers Association, met at Lynn for purposes of organization. A statement of aims and a constitution was adopted. The object of the association is to promote the professional, social and financial status of all teachers in the inspectorate, and the bringing of the same, reasonable and energetic propaganda for higher salaries is to be initiated. The local association is only a part of a provincial organization which is being formed.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Motor Car Stolen.

Chief Burke has received the description of a 1917 model Ford touring car, state automobile from Toronto on Oct. 15. The stolen car had running boards trimmed with aluminum, carried a basket style tire carrier and was equipped with electric head and tail lights. The license number is 9764 and the serial number is C.92848.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Changes in Telegraph Offices.

E. L. A. Jones, for the past four years in charge of the Great North-western Telegraph Company office here, has resigned to accept a similar position with the C. P. R. telegraph office. Miss A. M. Lowney, Picton is temporarily in charge of the G. N. W. office.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Aubrey Marshall's Aeroplane Took First Prize.

Aubrey Marshall's aeroplane which he built and entered at the Broadview Boys' Fair, (the largest boys' fair in the world, according to Toronto papers, took first prize of all planes entered, first in its own class and first in the specials. Col. Barker, V. C., gave the first prize, a trip with him over Toronto in his aeroplane, which they took Saturday afternoon. Aubrey claims that the pleasure of an auto ride is not to be compared with that of gliding through the air as if you were a bubble let loose from granddaddy's old clay pipe. We are expecting great things of Master Aubrey in the days to come, and who can say what it may be.—Brighton Ensign.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Ellis spent a recent Sunday with friends at Picton.

Wells and cisterns are getting very low in this neighborhood, so some are having to draw water from a pond near the station, where gravel has been taken out for county road purposes, to supply the cheese and butter plant.

Silo filling is the order of the day.

WEST HUNTINGDON

Rev. E. E. Howard preached the anniversary in the Methodist church here last Sunday morning and evening. A very lively time was spent over the election as the ladies were so interested.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilnot Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. McInroy visited at Mr. E. Good's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Saries were visitors at O. T. Saries' on Sunday. They also took in the anniversary.

All the girls in the neighborhood were home to put in their first vote. Some people forgot to vote on Monday, while some others came and didn't vote at all—which were the worst?

Miss J. Adams returned home after spending some time in Belleville. Miss S. Wilson also returned home after spending a couple of weeks in Oshawa and Toronto.

Keep Canada's Farms and Factories Busy

MOST COMPLETE ORGANIZATION EVER OPERATED IN HASTINGS

E. E. Howard of Brighton, who preached at West Huntingdon on Sunday, it being their anniversary services.

Well known local business men are of the opinion that never before has such a complete organization worked in Hastings County as the Victory Loan, 1919. Down to the last detail everything is in shape to burst forth on Monday in the strongest campaign ever locally launched. Workers including prominent business men, farmers and returned soldiers, have been stowing away enthusiasm and no one is to be missed.

Next Monday evening, the opening day of the campaign, big rallies are being held all over the County. In Belleville citizens are to be treated to a programme of oration and entertainment which should be one of the events of the entertaining season. Prominent speakers of whom Mr. W. S. Herrington, Napanee, is one, will be featured with addresses and an excellent list of entertainers includes several members from that popular musical show, "The Winning Girl."

Full of "pep" and optimism the following band of canvassers are ready to commence their visits on Monday: Belleville: H. F. Ketcheson, W. R. McCreary, R. W. Adams, Lt. W. H. Finkle, Chas. Whalen, W. A. Woodley, A. S. White, Capt. H. Holton, F. O. Diamond, R. P. White, Trenton: W. H. Matthews, H. F.

Richard Strauss Hopes We'll Never Hear Note of His in "This Cursed Country"

New York.—At 5 o'clock on a cold rainy morning last January I crossed the French bridgehead at Mainz on a slow-moving train that stopped at every station to pick up sleepy, shivering workmen, and an hour later I arrived at Frankfurt.

It was dark as midnight, and I was alone on enemy soil—in unoccupied Germany. I had no passes or credentials of any kind. I was uncertain as to what sort of reception I would get, or whether I would be allowed to stay, but I was far more deeply concerned over the fact that I had broken my thermos bottle.

And—No Thermos Bottle
During the next six months I literally saw history in the making, but there are hundreds of things relatively as unimportant as losing my thermos bottle on that January morning that stand out in my mind just as clearly—gossip picked up here and there, trifling incidents that showed the way the wind blew, stories from the newspapers, personal experiences.

They are sidelights that show up present day Germany from an entirely different angle. For example, I shall never forget my arrival in Berlin. At that time the January fighting was on, the result was still in doubt, and few people had an idea of the actual state of affairs in the capital. Tickets to Berlin were not sold except on orders issued by the military authorities, and I had quite a time in Cassel, then Hindenburg's headquarters, where I stopped on my way from Frankfurt, to convince a stubborn captain that I was entitled to an officer's permit to travel on a military train to Berlin.

Strauss Affronts America
Music lovers had a succession of rare treats in Berlin last winter. There were several series of wonderful concerts by the Berlin Philharmonic Society, led by Richard Strauss; the Gewandhaus Orchestra from Leipzig, led by Arthur Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and the Weingartner's Orchestra, from Vienna, and innumerable delightful recitals. I heard two artists well known to Americans—Julia Clup and Marold Bauer, the great German pianist.

There were dozens of art exhibitions, one by the Society of Field Gray Artists, all men who had served in the German army, and another by the Berlin secession. I saw much that was interesting, but the dominating note was spiritual, physical and normal ugliness. Force and imagination were there, but beauty was conspicuous by its absence.

It is a rather diverting fact that Berlin artists, outwardly at least, are violently anti-American, but I suspect that it is a case of sour grapes. I shall never forget the tongue-lashing given me one day by Richard Strauss at the Adlon when I ventured to ask him something about the future of music of Germany.

In This Accursed U.S.
"I don't care to discuss the matter with any Americans," he said. "Our future is our own. America has boycotted German artists during the war, but it takes two to play the same game. I hope that you will never hear a note of my composition again in your accursed country."

But if I had had an American contract tucked away in my pocket I am inclined to think he would have been quite ready to "talk turkey." Reinhardt took exactly the same tone when I saw him at the first performance of a new and exceedingly tiresome play by Princess Lichnowsky. He is a great believer in the future of the German stage under the new republic, particularly the People's Theatre, which, in his opinion, holds infinite possibilities. Just what will become of all the theatres and opera houses in Germany under the new regime, however, is a matter for speculation. Many of them were supported from the royal revenues, which will all pass under state control.

Movies Dull, Indecent
Rotten is the only word for the Berlin movies, but there were hundreds of them; the prices charged for seats were anywhere from 2 to 10 marks; and every "kino" was packed. The comedies were either disgustingly vulgar or dull beyond description. There were ponderous "super-movies" that would have made a David W. Griffith 10-reeler look like a synopsis. The most popular of all were the sex dramas—plays that had been "verboten" by the Berlin censor before the revolution—and the so-called pathological movies, which left literally nothing to the imagination. To sit through one of these was literally to wallow in filth, but Berliners of all ages and sexes filled the houses to the doors. Two which I particularly remember were "Different from the Others" and "The Yellow Death, or the Path of Prostitution." There was no vice that was too low for exposition, no situation too nasty to be exploited.

Making Diamonds From Explosives

As a result of the war almost everyone will be able to wear diamonds! This startling statement means that the high explosives which have been discovered and used in the war may now be used for the purpose of manufacturing diamonds on a large scale, thus bringing these glittering precious stones within the reach of a large number of people.

Diamonds are merely carbon crystallized by enormous pressure, usually, it is believed, through the gases generated in volcanic eruptions crystallizing small particles of burning trees. The carbon contained in iron has frequently been turned into tiny diamonds in the process of smelting.

Although identical with the diamonds formed by Nature, stones accidentally formed in this manner are so small that they are valueless. The diamonds that the great French chemist, Moissan, manufactured were also of no commercial value, and for some years it was believed that it would be impossible to manufacture diamonds large enough to be of value through lack of concentrated power to develop the required pressure.

The war has solved this problem. Explosives have been used that exert a pressure of 95 tons to one inch. Carbon, rendered white hot through the medium of oxygen or electricity, and subjected to this pressure, crystallizes instantly and is transformed into a pure diamond. Until shortly before his death, the late Prof. Sir William Crookes was conducting highly successful experiments in diamond making by this method.

A MAN OF DEEDS

Col. Ripley Never Looked for the Spotlight

The khaki of returned men is fast being relegated to the limbo of half-forgotten things, and the thoughts of war experiences are transient now in the pursuit of the much longed-for return to a civilian occupation. A toast list beside me, with the simple, but apt quotation, "the true and the frank and the free," recalls the splendid qualities of Lieut.-Col. Blair Ripley, D.S.O., C.B.E., O.C. of the 1st Battalion Railway Troops, whose splendid leadership, untiring industry and pardonable pride in his crack railway construction unit, made his name to be a revered one among the men who had the good fortune to come under his command. A quiet and reserved man, he has that bipness which comes from big undertakings. As a C.P.R. engineer at the Lethbridge viaduct, and the North Toronto grade separation, were pre-war testimonials to his skill and efficiency. Twenty-seven months of unremitting work in France and Belgium have enhanced that enviable record and experience in supervising the laying of steel and the erection of bridges.

"Railways are the arteries of modern warfare"—this fact was early recognized by Sir Eric Geddes, and miles of light gauge railway track was laid with the rapidity of spreading a stair carpet, but it only partially relieved the congestion. Broad gauge railways were urgently required to bring troops and military supplies to the rail heads. In the autumn of 1916, the 1st Battalion, C.R.T., worked on the Somme, building narrow gauge, at Maricourt, Combles, le Ferel Farm, Rouge and Bouchevesnes.

Early in the following spring the Germans, yielding to pressure from the British, evacuated Bapaume and Peronne, leaving a vast tract of wilderness in their wake. It did not seem possible to lay heavy steel on this indescribable waste of mud, and interminable shell torn region. Could it be accomplished? Was it worth the tremendous effort? There was a diversity of opinion and many officers in high places were against the project.

Col. Ripley undertook the job, and in less than two weeks a train ran over broad gauge rails into Peronne yard, from Plateau, via Maricourt, (the jumping off place of the first Somme offensive). Skirting Trones Wood, through Clerly, then a heap of rubbish, the Scots Guards carried the 36 ft. length of rail, by number; ties and fastenings were rushed up through the snow on motor lorries, and the 1st C.R.T. spiked with commendable vigor. It was a feat of skill and determination, and another evidence of Canadian energy and enterprise was recognized by the British authorities. Consequently the 1st C.R.T. became the nucleus of the Canadian Railway Troop Corps, afterwards so ably administered by Brig.-Gen. Stewart. The 2nd Railway Troops came into the field during 1917, and when the armistice was signed thirteen units were in operation, two more in formation, with subsidiary companies of skilled railroad operators, tramway companies, engine drivers and a bridge building aggregation in Palestine.

The red square was a distinctive and a respected badge. The men who wielded the spike maul could also shoulder a rifle. One C.R.T. unit distinguished itself at Villiers Bretonneux, holding a part of the line until relief came.

Col. Ripley must have accepted the axiom that "actions speak louder than words," early in his professional career, and he followed that motto in the army. He was on the Western front to build railways and did it. Oratory and verbosity are foreign to him. He shunned eulogizing press men. Completion reports stated all, the blue print frame told its story. The numerous letters he received from army commanders pleased him because they reflected credit on his battalion. He had a very warm regard for those men, who ate raw turnips with him in 1916. A silent man, but a reservoir of warmth and kindness to those who sought him in time of trouble. He had no patience with maligners, but the punishment always fitted the crime. An officer and gentleman, one "who never turned his back, but walked straight forward," through the dark grey war days, he is held in high esteem by the old members of his battalion.

A Roumanian Jeanne D'Arc

One of the most interesting examples of Roumanian heroism has come to light in the story of a young girl named Ecaterina Teodorou. In August, 1916, before Roumania entered the war, Maj. Teiusanu was in command of some eighteen hundred Boy and Girl Scouts in the district of Gorj, when Ecaterina came from Bucharest to spend her holidays in camp. She was the sixteen-year-old daughter of a captain in the army. When the war broke out she decided to remain in Maj. Teiusanu's legion. Her mother was in territory conquered by the enemy and before long her father and two of her brothers had been killed in battle. To avenge them she determined to fight shoulder to shoulder with her third brother.

Repeatedly the colonel in command sent Ecaterina back from the front, but she always found a way to return. She disguised herself with a soldier's uniform over her Scout dress, and gun in hand entered the ranks as a volunteer; for twenty days she lived and fought side by side with her brother. At the end of that time he fell, mor-

HER CASE SEEMED HOPELESS

But "Fruit-a-lives" Brought Health and Strength

29 St. Ross St., MONTREAL.

"I am writing you to tell you that I love my life to 'Fruit-a-lives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well."

I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good. I read about "Fruit-a-lives" and tried them. After taking a few boxes, of this wonderful medicine made from fruit juices, I am now entirely well!"

tally wounded, and such was her rage and despair that she flung herself into the struggle with no thought of her life. She was taken prisoner, disarmed and conducted to the rear by a German soldier.

Finding herself in a dense wood when night fell, she took advantage of the darkness to kill her captor with a pistol that she had hidden in her clothes, and made her escape through the forest. She was drenched with rain and almost exhausted, but finally at two o'clock in the morning she found her way back to her company, bringing valuable information as to the movements of the enemy.

Five days later she took part in a battle, and an enemy shell fractured both her legs. She was cared for and completely cured by Her Majesty Queen Marie and the two princesses, and in a few months she asked permission to return to the front once more. Maj. Teiusanu forwarded her request with an account of her exploits to the King and the Crown Prince. She was then promoted to the rank of honorary second lieutenant in the Forty-third Regiment of Infantry and as reward for devotion and bravery she was decorated with an order of merit and a special gold medal given to Scouts for service during the war.

With her new regiment Ecaterina fought at the battle of Maresesti and, although slightly wounded in this engagement, refused to leave the front. At the suggestion of the soldiers, who idolized her, she was recommended for a first lieutenantcy and received her promotion. Two days later this brave young life came to its close; she fell pierced through the heart by a German bayonet.

In tribute to her patriotism, self-sacrifice and heroism, Maj. Teiusanu has proposed that Ecaterina Teodorou be acclaimed the Jeanne d'Arc of Roumania.

Won Cobourg Motor Club's Prize of $10

For Best Essay on "How Children May Help to Avoid Motor Accidents."

A very interesting event took place in the public school last week when Principal Orr, on behalf of the Cobourg Motor Club, presented to Miss Beulah Garland the sum of $10, being the first prize in the essay com- petition instituted by the local club, on the subject of "How Children May Help to Avoid Motor Accidents." It is needless to say that Miss Gar- land was not only a pleased but also a proud young person on having won this distinction. If all children, both young and old, would obey these ten commandments as given by Miss Gar- land, the number of accidents that occur on the highway would be re- duced to a minimum: I—Thou shalt not play upon the road. II—Thou shalt not cross the street only at crossings, as there thou hast the right of way. III—Thou shalt always look be- fore crossing the road. IV—Remember, after getting out of a car, thou shalt not cross the road behind the car, as a car may be coming in the opposite direction. V—Thou shalt not get in or out of a car when it is moving. VI—Thou shalt not interfere with cars, as thou may'st put them out of order and cause accidents. VII—Thou shalt not drop glass, nails, or pins upon the road and cause motorists to have blow-outs and perhaps accidents. VIII—Thou shalt not light matches near gasoline. IX—Thou shalt keep the motor rule when riding a bicycle. X—Thou shalt help old people a- cross the street as did the boy in the poem called, "Somebody's Mother." Beulah Garland, age 11, Box 415, Cobourg.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Massassaga

W. F. Osborne has gone to Kingston for a few days. Miss Juby entertained company from Toronto over the week-end. Mrs. Baker of Syracuse, N.Y., spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Jose this week. Mrs. Osborne, Melrose, has been spending the past week at her brother-in-law's, Mr. B. Osborne. Mr. and Mrs. D. Walker have gone to live with their daughter, Mrs. F. Anderson for the winter.

Gleed

Rev. McMillen preached a very interesting sermon on Sunday, basing his remarks upon the forty-sixth psalm. Great interest was manifested in the election on Monday last in in- terest of the referendum. Voters were seen going very early to the polls and we are greatly pleased at the enormous majority polled to rid this country of an awful curse. Surely there is great cause for re- joicing, especially on behalf of the younger generation. Mrs. M. Windover spent Wednesday with Mrs. W. Hodgen. Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchinson have returned from the west. We are sorry Mr. Hutchinson is not more improved in health. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morden, Mel- rose, visited on Sunday at Mr. A. Lawrenson's. Mrs. Manion Yorke, Roblin, spent over Sunday at her father's, Mr. A. Martin's. Mrs. W. Hodgen spent Wednes- day at Mr. Bruce Way's. Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Crawford and bride of Myra Hall spent a couple of days with the former's sister, Mrs. Bruce Way. General regret is expressed at the removal from Roslin of Dr. Hill.

County and District

Major Kidd Retiring.— Major T. Ashmore-Kidd, of Burrit Rapids, is retiring from the post of Deputy Assistant Adjutant and Quar- ter-master General at Kingston and is being succeeded by Capt. and Brevet Lieut-Colonel B. W. Blouse, M.C. of Vancouver. District militiamen feel that the appointment should have gone to a man from this mili- tary district instead of an outsider. —Brockville Recorder and Times.

Stolen at Westmount.

The description of the following articles stolen from the residence of A. Dionne, 413 Mount Stephen Ave., Westmount, has been received at po- lice headquarters: An Alaska seal coat valued at $1,500; a Persian lamb coat valued at $900; a khaki sport and fall coat valued at $30; an iron gray spring and fall coat val- ued at $45, and $230 in paper cur- rency.— Brockville Recorder and Times.

Given Three Months in Gaol.

For some time complaints have been going in to the Indian department at Ottawa as to liquor being sold to In- dians at Alderville. The department sent two officials to Alderville and as a result M. Marsden was charged the following charge: on Sept. 29 he had liquor other than in his own dwelling. He was fined $500 and cost or three months in gaol at Roseneath on Monday, and is taking the time. On Monday the two Dominion police seized a jar of what is supposed to be hard cider, though it is believed some other article is put in the cider to give it a harder kick. The jug was in an auto, which was being driven into a garage at Cobourg. The owner of the car was remanded until next week.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Auto and Buggy Collided.

On Sunday night a horse and rig, driven by Chas. Smith, with whom was riding Miss S. Pilo, collided with an auto driven by P. J. McGurdy of Harwood on Division street north. The auto, which was on the wrong side of the road, was travelling at a pretty fair rate of speed, struck the horse and cut it badly about the breast, while the buggy was also damaged. Miss Pilo was thrown out and rendered unconscious, and had to be taken to the hospital, where she is at present. McGurdy paid for the damaged horse and buggy which were the property of J. D. McIntosh.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Important to Automobiles.

In connection with the visit of H. R.H. the Prince of Wales to Brock- ville on Monday next, the municipal authorities have announced that park- ing of automobiles along Perth and King streets from the Union depot to Victoria building and down Court House will be absolutely forbidden between 9.45 o'clock and 11.15 o'clock that morning. Side streets may be freely used for that purpose, but the authorities are determined that the streets mentioned must be kept ab- solutely open.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Retain 38th Battalion.

The 38th Battalion will have a place in the formation of new vol- unteer force of Canada. The Depart- ment of Militia and Defence has au- thorized the formation of this fam- ous unit. It will retain the name of the 38th, around which are so many deep in Mr. Edwards. D. S. O., who commanded the old 38th with dis- tinct cherished associations. Col. Cam- erton in France, has been asked to take command and has accepted the position. The other officers have not yet been appointed.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Let Go On Suspended Sentence.— On Wednesday J. P. Harrington, who was arrested in Ottawa on the charge of a theft of a watch and ring from a Cobourg young lady, was let go on suspended sentence on making partial restitution. The watch he claimed to have given to an Ottawa girl, and the ring to a Cobourg girl, Harrington, who was orderly at the military hospital, was arrested in Ottawa on advice from Chief Ruse. —Cobourg Star.

Shop Breaking and Theft.

W. D. McQuaid, chief constable of Brighton, Ont., has forwarded to Chief Burke the description of three men wanted for shop breaking and theft. Clifford Holmes, a resident of Cornwall, is described as being slim, short, brown haired and wore a light checkered suit; Douglas Snider, no given address is about 18 or 20 years of age, has light hair, wore a small mustache, is five feet and nine or ten inches in height and weighs 150 lbs. He wore a blue suit and cap; Harold McIntyre, Cornwall, is 17 years of age, short, slim and wore a brown coat and cap.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Bolts on Plate Loose.

Friday morning a citizen complain- ed to the police, in Kingston, that several bolts in the "fish-plates," holding the rails on the G.T.R. sub- urban line, were loose, and should be repaired. The police investigated and P. C. Cotter found that on the line from Brock to Queen streets six fish-plates were minus bolts. The absence of bolts in these plates, leaves the spreading of rails more easily done, and an accident might at any time occur from this cause.

A Local Fish Story.

Owing to the heavy rains lately it was supposed that the water in the Moira Lake would have risen greatly but much to the surprise of an obser- ver it was found that the water re- cently had much subsided. An explana- tion of this strange phenomenon has been suddenly brought to light that Henry Mitchell had landed a "lunge of immense proportions. For details see Henry.—Madoc Review.

Jailed For Intoxication.

Henri Posuit, Montreal, who was arrested last night by P. C. Lennox while in an intoxicated condition, appeared this morning before Magis- trate Page and was fined $10 and 30 days of $6.50 with the alternative of 30 days in jail. In lieu of the fine he was committed to the county jail. The jag was produced by an overdose of hay rum.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

To Pass Here.

The Montreal Transportation Com- pany is having two of its largest steel steamers, the North Land and Palpoona, cut in two at Colling- wood to be put into ocean service on a later date. The sections will pass Brockville on their way down the St. Lawrence to the sea coast early next week. The North Land was origi- nally one of the crack passenger steamers of the Great Northern Rail- road running between Buffalo and Duluth. She was converted into a freight steamer about three years ago. The two boats are each 330 feet in length with a 45-foot beam. They will be joined together by Canadian Vickers Ltd., at Quebec.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Breach of Promise.

An interesting breach of promise case was heard before Justice Masten at the Lindsay Fall Assizes Wed- nesday namely Pogue vs. Eugenia. The defendant in the case failed to put in appearance but was defend- ed by Mr. L. R. Knight. Mr. I. E. Weldon appeared for the plaintiff. She was allowed judgment for $1,000.—Lindsay Warder.

Two Liquor Seizures.

Twenty-nine gallons of high wines and 36 bottles of whiskey was the ag- gregate of two seizures made on the Grand Trunk passenger trains last night by inspectors Taber and Sykes. On No. 19 train the inspectors seized two suitcases, one containing four gallons of high wines and the other 15 bottles of whiskey. On No. 12 train they seized six suitcases five of which each contained five gallons of high wines and the other 18 bottles of whiskey. No arrests were made. The value of the goods seized was $400.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Chevrolet Car Stolen.

W. E. Agnew, of Agnew & Co., had his touring car stolen last night as he was attending a banquet in Queen St. Methodist Church. On leav- ing the church the car was not to be found. Some time was spent in searching around town, the car finally being located on Wellington St. where the

The Senate Vote

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Bice, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

It is now quite clear that the Ger- man peace treaty and the League of Nations are going to be concurred in by the United States Senate. The American people insist on this and in their own way they have informed their servants at Washington of what they require. They have lost patience with out- near-sighted politicians who would make a political issue out of the League of Nations, and the American public is anxious to have an end to the debate of lawyer-politicians bent on putting up their self-concocted bugaboos in an effort to frighten the people from the League. When the United States unheated the sword it determined, there and then, that old conditions and rivalries and huge world armaments should not be continued after this war had been won. The vote of 55 to 35 against what is known as the Shantung amend- ment, the most plausible one pre- sented, ought to open the eyes of the opponents and bring them to their senses. If the American people could have their way they would give the dis- puted province back to China, its original owner. They are without sympathy for Japan in this matter; but the people are not to be fooled by the specious pleas and sentimental- ity of men like Johnson and Reed. Shantung was taken from China by Germany a score of years ago on a mere pretense, and no nation at that time protested. Japan was one of the allies, and early in the war did a great deal toward the Allied cause in equipping Russia and making it possible for the latter to strike at Germany before the latter was ready for the blow. In return Japan re- quires that the German rights in Shantung, and no more, be turned over to her. Not forty million peo- ple, as claimed by the opponents of the League, or any such nonsense, but simply certain trade rights. On the records of the peace con- gress it is in black on white that Japan does not intend to hold Shan- tung absolutely. We must take Ja- pan at her word. Her statements have stated publicly in recent weeks that Shantung is to be restored to China. As between the two nations there are a lot of things to be set- tled and Shantung is among them. Mr. Wilson did all that was possible to secure Shantung to China as part of the main treaty, and it became a question of having Japan out of the League or the treaty, as it is, and he chose the latter. Japanese basters in and out of the Senate maintain that he should have defied Japan in the interest of Shantung. But why this newly developed in- terest in Shantung and China? It will be for the League of Nations as constituted to see to it that in the interest of justice and world harmony Japan carries out her writ- ten pledge to restore this province to China. American reservations will doubt- less be made to the treaty, guarding American rights. These reservations will not interfere with the main pur- pose of the League, and they will receive the candid support of all friends of the United States in the League of Nations, and we have no doubt but that they will become a part of the amended covenant at an early day. There need be no mis- givings about American safeguards. The other nations as a matter of self- interest are ready to make the nec- essary changes to allay the fears that have been generated in this country during the partisan contro- versy.

The spirit of the League of Nations is tolerance, compromise, harmony. Whenever the League develops the spirit betrayed in opposing it, there is no further use for it. We have our idealism—yes. And thank God we do have it. That country which tried to get along without it now lies vanquished be- fore the world. We do not want real "politic" as our national gospel, but the man who thinks that our honest idealism is nothing but weakness will some day be disillusioned as keenly as ever was Hohenzollern or Tirpitz. This country, we believe, has en- ough quiet confidence in its "sleep- ing assets" to meet any one of the Machiavellian specters that are con- jured up against it. More than that, it is willing to face them in any in- tellectual combat and take its chances like a man.

On the records of the peace con- gress it is in black on white that Japan does not intend to hold Shan- tung absolutely. We must take Ja- pan at her word. Her statements have stated publicly in recent weeks that Shantung is to be restored to Police Made Mistake.

A Toronto despatch says that a con- stable there, apparently cross-eyed, issued a summons against a car, No. 102618, which happened to belong to H. Stephenson, a farmer near Ath- ens. An affidavit has now been re- ceived from Mr. Stephenson that nei- ther he nor his car has been in Toron- to for twenty-five years and affida- vits from his neighbors state that on Sunday, October 12, when alleged offence was supposed to have been committed Mr. Stephenson enjoyed the simple pleasures of his farm and attended divine service at Ath- ens.—Brockville Recorder and Times

Runaway on Cobourg Road.

While Mr. Walker Sculthorp, jr., and Miss Cox, of Cobourg, were driv- ing on the Cobourg road on Sunday evening the horse took fright and ran away, overturning the rig in the ditch. Miss Cox received a severe blow on the head when thrown from the rig, and was rendered uncon- scious for a couple of hours. No bones were broken, and young lady has fully recovered from her injuries. The rig was badly smashed. Mr. Scul- thorp managed to hold the horse af- ter the mix-up and by a miracle es- caped injury.—Fort Hope Guide.

Almost a Miracle But Very Simple

Was the Cure of John New by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

His Troubles All Came from Sick Kidneys and He Treated Them With the Old Reliable Canadian Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hillsdale, Battleford, Sask., Oct. 27.—(Special).—With a speed that was almost miraculous, Mr. John New, a well-known farmer here, has been cured of the kidney trouble from which he suffered for several years. "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me," he says. "I wish to give them all the thanks." Speaking further of his troubles and their sudden cure, Mr. New says: "I think I inherited my kidney disease from my parents, and I suffered off and on for several years. I had stiffness in the joints, cramps in the muscles, headache and neuralgia. "I perspired freely on the slightest exertion and my perspiration had an unpleasant odor. I was irritable, often dizzy, and was depressed and low spirited. My skin was dry and had a harsh feel and I was often nervous. "I took just one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured me." If your troubles come from the kidneys you will have some of the symptoms that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured in Mr. New's case. Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. and Mrs. James Dyer, of To- ronto, visited Mrs. Dyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bonsteel, over the week end.
