CHAPTER XXVIII.

"I am very strong," said Nora, with a sigh.

If she were only quite dead.

"But you are knocked up, and ill and faint," said the girl, with gentle eagerness. "And have you much further to go? Oh, I hope not!"

"I don't know," replied Nora, looking straight before her with that look which the homeless, friendless fugitive so soon acquires.

The girl leaned forward in her chair and scanned the pale face with pitying scrutiny.

"You don't know?" A long breath then a soft, "Ah! you are in trouble!"

Nora's color flickered, then went again.

"Yes," she said in a low voice.

"Will you—can you tell me?" asked the girl, gently, and she stretched out her hand and laid it timidly on Nora's arm.

Nora touched it gratefully.

"No, I can not tell you," she said, "I could not tell any one. It is not a great trouble," she went on, almost to herself; "it only means that I am alone in the world—"

She stopped.

The sick girl's hand tightened on Nora's arm.

"All alone in the world? How dreadful! And you do not know where you are going?" Her eyes filled with tears.

"Oh, you must let me help you. You must let papa—"

Nora shook her head.

"Oh, but you don't know how good he is and how clever! He will be sure to be able to help you, for he always knows what to do. You need not tell him anything more than you like—indeed you need not. He is so clever and so quick at reading people and understanding them that he will not need to be told anything."

Nora's face flushed and then went pale again.

"I must be going on," she said hurriedly; and she rose. But she did so with difficulty, and the girl could not see how weak she was. She held Nora's arm and tried to force her down on to the seat again.

"Not yet," she said, pleadingly. "Do not go yet. Wait just for five minutes." As she spoke she glanced impatiently toward the inn door.

"Wait until you are a little stronger—please do, and just to please me. No one refuses me anything, because—well, because I am spoiled and a—cripple, you see."

Nora sat down again.

"I will wait a few minutes," she faltered.

As she spoke the servant came out of the inn with a tray.

The girl uttered a cry of thanksgiving, and held out her hand impatiently.

"Thank you, thank you! Go in please. Do not wait," she said to the servant, who examined Nora with some surprise. "This is my tea. I isn't tea, really, but one of those new-fangled foods they give to invalids. And they always send me such a lot of it—as if I were a plow-horse—and if I don't finish it papa is heartily broken. Will you help me? You are so kind, I know. Help me to eat it."

She poured half of the contents of the basin into the saucer and pushed it eagerly into Nora's hand.

Nora did not hesitate, but smiled faintly.

"Yes," she said, simply. "I am very hungry. I think that is why I nearly fainted."

"I know it!" exclaimed the girl, almost tragically—"I knew it! Oh, take this! Do, do, do!" and she held out the bread and butter and a glass of wine which were on the tray. "To think that you should be wanting food!—you so young! Why, you can't be much older than I am! And so beautiful! Oh, I have read of such dreadful things, and now I know that they can be true! You will eat it all, won't you?"

Nora smiled again.

"Every bit," she said.

The girl watched her with the quiet joy, which, thank God, is still left us—the joy of feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, succoring the helpless.

"There!" she exclaimed, as Nora set the empty plate and saucer on the tray. "Do you feel better now? Better and stronger?"

"Ever so much," said Nora. "So much better that I can go on my way now. Good-bye, and thank you; and she held out her hand with a kind of boyish frankness which doubtless she had acquired during her masquerading period. The girl caught her hand and clung to it.

"You must not go," she said, her color coming and going. "I can not let you go, not yet. Don't be angry and—don't laugh at me, please."

"I am not likely to laugh," said Nora, in her downright fashion, but with a quiver of her lips.

"No, I didn't mean that; you are so tired to laugh. But you must wonder why—why I ask you to stay. You think that it is because I pity you. Yes, yes, I do pity you, of course, but it isn't only that. It's your selfishness as well. I know I'm selfish; sick people always are; and I want you to stay for my own sake. You see it is so lonely here. Papa and I have been here for weeks, and here is no one, absolutely no one to speak to. And—and"—she hesitated then went on shyly—"and I have taken a fancy to you; oh, it is true, believe me, it is true. Do you ever take fancies? No? Ah, you see you are not a sick cripple tied to a chair. Wait and let us talk for a little while."

She had half raised herself as she murmured this rapid appeal, and had displaced the cushions at her back; so that when Nora firmly drew her hand away the girl slipped into the chair into an uncomfortable attitude. Nora took her on her arm and raised her, setting the cushions in their place with her disengaged hand. The girl drew a breath of relief and gratitude.

"Thank you, thank you! How kind you are, and how strong—oh, how strong! Why, only a minute or two ago you were fainting, and now you can lift me as if I were only a baby. I wish—"

"What is it your wish? Is it anything I can get before I go?" asked Nora, gently.

The girl shook her head, the color coming and going in her wasted face.

"I was going to say that I wish you could be always with me."

Nora touched her hand and smiled a sad incredulity.

"You don't believe me; you mean that I don't know anything about you; that I have only seen you for a few minutes. Ah, you don't know what it is to be like I am; to feel lonely and to long for some one—some girl like myself, I mean, of my own age—to talk to and—she blushed shyly—"to love. Of course I have papa; and you must not think that he is not everything that is kind and good; and that I don't love him. I love him dearly, but—but he isn't a girl. And I've no mother nor sister," she went on; "only him. Tell me your name, will you? Mine is Milly—Milly Lester. My father is a lawyer, and we live in London; in Elm Square. Do you know it?"

Nora shook her head. She had sat down again, and was holding the girl's hand, hot and restless now with an excitement which Nora felt was bad for her.

"It is a delightful old square! Not fashionable, you know, but such a quiet and peaceful spot in the midst of the hubbub of the great city. Papa says it is an oasis. But it is dull—ah, yes! it is dull!—when he is away at the office all day, though he does not know that I feel it. But you haven't told me your name, I haven't given you time, have I? That's because I'm afraid you'll run away if I stop talking."

And she laughed wistfully, the laugh suddenly broken by a cough that shook her from head to foot.

As if he had heard the cough, her father came quickly from the inn to her side, and bent over her, scarcely seeming, in his loving absorption, to notice Nora.

Milly caught his hand and put her flushed face close to his.

"Papa," she said, eagerly—"this young lady—you see her?"

He glanced at Nora with a kind of impatient attention; then with a faint surprise in his eyes. He had thought that it might be one of the inn servants.

His manner changed to the reserve with which we Christians always regard the stranger within our gates, and he bowed.

"Who—who is it, Milly, dear?" he asked in a low voice. "Why are you so agitated and excited, my darling? What is the matter?"

Nora rose.

"It is my fault," she said. "Your laughter has been very kind to me, sir, and has talked too much. She is not strong. I will go now."

He watched her and listened with increased surprise. A man of the world is quick to discover the signs of good breeding, and they were evident enough in Nora's face and voice.

"Don't let her go, papa," said Milly. "She is tired. She has walked twenty or thirty miles, and she does not know where she is going; and—bowed down lower, papa—she was faint with hunger until I gave her my tea!"

Very naturally, Mr. Lester grew suspicious, and his manner graver and colder. Nora had risen; she inclined her head slightly, and with a stifled sigh moved away.

LADIES!

Have you seen the New Manicure Requisite?
The ROLLER POLISHER for the Finger Nails? Makes Pretty Hands.
The Roller Polisher just naturally fits the hand, making it easier to use; it polishes all the nail, without rubbing the cuticle; it has eight times more polishing surface than the old style buffer; it fits the nail perfectly; it polishes the nail up close to the cuticle without rubbing or inflaming the latter; it is made of the best materials that money can buy; it comes to you in a sanitary container, which is, at all times, desirable, but particularly so when travelling—and, quality for quality, Roller Polishers undersell the old style, oval-shaped, finger nail buffers. From 25c. to $1.10 each, at our Showroom. Only one or two of each. See them.

WILLIAM FREW.

My Football Secrets.

Sidelights on the Art of Goal-Getting. (By Steve Bloomer.)

What is the biggest reason for my goal-scoring success? It is difficult to decide. Perhaps more than anything it has been due to the fact that right from my earliest footballing days I have just kept pegging away at the goalkeeper.

There would be many more goals scored by forwards to-day if they would shoot oftener. They are too keen on walking the ball into the net; they persist in dribbling here and there, and passing backwards and forwards in front of goal. They tell me it is done to get into a position from which they cannot miss scoring. But, though the sentiment is all right, it does not work out. Instead of getting into a fine position, they just play about until the ball is lost.

In Times of Doubt.

"When in doubt, shoot!" is a fine motto for a forward, and one which I have kept before me. It was taught me by Johnny Goodall in my early days, and Johnny was a player who knew. I shall ever remember him scoring a goal one day—further back than I dare to think—with a soft sort of shot. If the truth must be told, the goalkeeper blundered rather boldly.

I turned to Johnny and said: "That was a poor sort of shot to get a goal with, wasn't it?" But the reply came quick as thought: "Don't you believe it, Steve. The best shots are those which get the goals." After all he was not far wrong. Most goalkeepers will stop some of the shots all the time, but the cleverest of them cannot stop all the shots all the time.

The forward who shoots at every opportunity, and sometimes when there is really no opportunity at all, will get no end of disappointments. But I have never allowed a miss to worry me. The greater the number of shots, the greater the chance of scoring at least some goals.

A Silent Listener.

In the train the other day I sat in silence through a little discussion by two football enthusiasts about Steve Bloomer. They were in blissful ignorance of the fact that the subject of their remarks was listening. Perhaps, if they had known it they would have been less severe. "I can't understand that chap Bloomer," said one of the fellows. "He never seems to do much work on the field except score goals!"

It was a back-handed sort of compliment, but I didn't mind. Between ourselves, the critic had hit on another of the secrets of my success. I never did believe it a part of my duty to kill myself. The player who wants to do all the work—who rushes all over the field—is not often where he should be when he is wanted. To be on the spot near goal is the thing at which the forward should aim. It is on us being miles away when the ball is sent across.

Getting Tired.

In addition to banking the other fellows of his side, the wanderer is just tiring himself out.

I might say that more than once I have assumed absolute indifference—or laziness, if you like—as a matter of policy. It is like this. The man who has any sort of reputation in the goal-scoring line, is sure to come up against players who have been told off to watch him. Talk about policemen footballers! I have come across a few in my time. They have gone on the field with only one aim in view—to stop me.

Under such conditions I have often told the men on either side not to worry about me. They were not to give me the ball; for what good was it, so long as the other chap was at my feet all the time? To all intents and purposes, then, I had no interest in the game—band, incidentally, I have heard candid criticism from the man in the crowd because of my seeming indifference. But, seeing that I was doing little or nothing, the man who had been told off to watch me has tired, and decided

Nurse's Years of Experience

Proves Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills: Best Treatment for Kidney and Stomach Troubles.

The trained nurse has even greater opportunities than the doctor himself, to watch the action of medicine in specific cases.

For years the writer of this letter has been recommending the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills among her patients, and is firmly convinced that no treatment is so prompt and effective. This is the most valuable evidence obtainable, and we believe that all who know Mrs. Duffy will appreciate it to the full, knowing that she would not recommend anything in which she had not the fullest confidence. Mrs. Duffy, nurse, 35 Lewis street, Toronto, writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for years, and recommend them to my patients for all disorders of the kidneys, liver and stomach. In all my professional experience I have found nothing better." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edman's, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

that he could be doing more service to his side elsewhere. He has withdrawn his too-close attentions. Then, and then, only, have I roused myself, and the opportunity coming, I have slipped through and got a valuable goal.

Shooting is a thing you have got to practice, and, moreover, practice in the right way. About a month ago I wandered on to a field where the players were getting ready for the season. The forwards were going through what they called shooting practice. And this is how they were doing it: The ball was being sent to them, each man was placing it nicely on a certain spot, and then shooting with a dead ball. Now, what was the good of that? Not once in a match does a man get the chance of shooting like that.

In actual play the ball comes to the player suddenly; and if he does not part with it quickly the back is there to do the parting for him. Shooting practice should be as near like the proper thing as possible. Football in these days is faster than ever it was, and the man who cannot do things quickly gets no chance of doing them at all.

Tactics for Forwards.

That is one reason why the successful forward must be able to use both feet. A manager who had travelled thousands of miles in search of a centre-forward, and who had tried about a dozen in his team, asked me not long ago why there was such a scarcity of men for the position. I gave him my opinion. "Because too many of them have one leg—that is for football purposes. The other they use for keeping their balance; it is useful when running, but they can't kick a ball with it for nuts!"

He agreed with me, as I knew he would. It must be obvious to any observant person who has watched the desperate struggles of the forward to bring the ball to his one shooting leg from the right to the left, or vice-versa.

Of late years there has sprung up an idea that the centre-forward should do nearly all the goal-scoring. There are half a dozen teams in the First League losing matches week after week because the forwards are throwing away chances by feeding the centre-forward every time. They are probably playing under instructions; but the instructions are bad. The forward line should have five men who can all do a bit towards heating the goalkeeper.

The Herald Editor and Sir E.P. Morris.

Editor The Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—If Sir Edward Morris has been too busy canvassing for votes to notice how many votes a designing mentor can turn against him, then he ought to take particular notice of the asinine comments of the Herald, in the Hare shooting case. P. T. McGrath is aware that Hare's father spent some time in the Lunatic Asylum. If he has not experienced it he knows that the "faint" is hereditary. Yet he ascribes Hare's act to Socialism, anarchism, etc., etc., with a vicious directness. Here is the argument of the Herald:—

Hare, a Roman Catholic, "contended that he (the Bishop) and all the leading Roman Catholics of the place (Harbour Grace) were laughing at him." Therefore that he (Hare) was the victim of the vicious doctrines of incendiarism, anarchism, socialism, nihilism, etc. That is McGrath's miserable insinuation! Last evening's Herald showed whom these words were directed against. Will McGrath dare to say that he directed them against those who attend the Harbour Grace Roman Catholic Cathedral?

It is opportune to quote again what P. T. McGrath said about Morris, his leader:—"ANARCHIST, Tammany Boss Morris, is orating again in the West End, and sowing the seed of discord amongst all classes. This disreputable demagogue, with his mouth full of red hot ideas, is becoming a great nuisance to the Colony. Can't he be sent back to the 'Pole' House, or somewhere until the Election is over." Take another extract, also in the language of Sir Edward Morris's mentor:—

"We have characterized Morris's doctrine as Nihilistic. It teaches the reduction of everything around us to nothing. Does he not say the right must be? Fishermen against Merchants, Factory hands against Companies, Labour against Capital, Employer against Employed, Courts, Judges, Law, Order, the Throne itself, all are to be trampled under feet by this blatant, hoodling demagogue, WHO BOASTS OF HIS INDIFFERENCE TO THINGS SACRED. Has Morris not shouted from the houseposts his leather-tongued threats TO DESTROY THE TEMPLE AND NOT LEAVE ONE STONE UPON ANOTHER?"

According to these extracts Sir E. P. Morris is an Anarchist, and a Nihilist, and if he is either, then it does not matter much what else he may be.

If McGrath's vision sees such things in the Hare case, then if it is not a "mental deformity" he ought not to be at large. Further if Sir Edward's political bentment sees such visions then E. P. Morris ought to consider his position for two reasons:—

First, if he, by any chance, retains his seat, by the strength or the prejudice of such stuff, then it were better for him to hang a mill stone about his neck.

Second, if he can only be elected by the strength of the prejudice of such stuff then he ought never to be elected, either by Roman Catholics or by Protestants in these days of graft.

A desperate party will often adopt desperate tactics, but no futile being can force how dangerous an explosive a "mental deformity" can be.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer.

Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.

The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated.

We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.

The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating.

9688-9689—A COMFORTABLE STYLISH GOWN FOR HOME OR AFTERNOON WEAR.

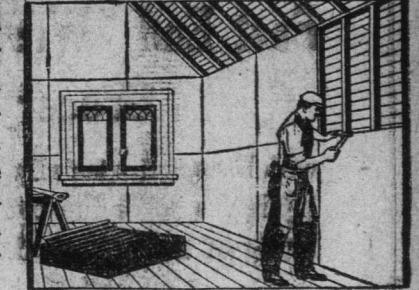

Blouse effects are so comfortable, they continue to be popular. Blue crepe with silk in Bulgarian colors, for trimming is here shown. The waist is cut in surplus style below a square front yoke that is finished with a shawl collar. The sleeve in either length is effective. The skirt finished with hen neck stitching has simple straight lines. The Waist Pattern 9688 is cut in 5 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure. The Skirt, 9689, is cut in 5 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches waist measure. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 36 inch size. This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. FOR EACH pattern inclusive of stamps.

Bishopric Wall Board.

BEATS LATHS AND PLASTER.

MADE TO LAST.

Bishopric Wall Board is made by imbedding kiln-dried dressed lath in hot Asphalt-Mastic, under a pressure of 500 lbs. to the square inch. The other side of the Asphalt-Mastic is surfaced with smooth, heavy sized cardboard.

COSTS LESS.

Bishopric Wall Board saves 75 per cent of the labor cost and about a month's time in finishing walls and ceilings. With it there is none of that expense for repairs and re-decorating that you incur so often when plaster cracks or falls.

DRYER AND WARMER.

The layer of Asphalt-Mastic in which the laths are embedded is absolutely air-tight and damp-proof. It blocks all drafts, and keeps the inside of the house dry, warm and cosy.

RAT AND VERMIN PROOF.

These pests find it impossible to gnaw or bore through the tough, gummy Asphalt-Mastic.

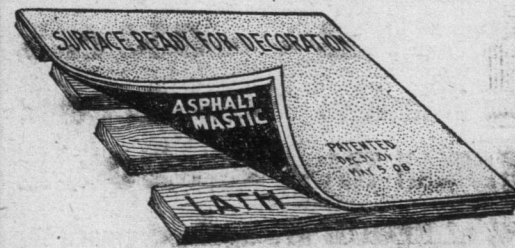

EASILY DECORATED.

Bishopric Wall Board is surfaced with heavy sized cardboard, which forms the ideal surface for Wall Paper or Burlap. Artistic paneling adds to its attractiveness.

THE ONLY WALL BOARD MADE WITH LATH. Laths are positively necessary to back up wall board and Bishopric is the only Wall Board that has them. They make it rigid and substantial and prevent it from working, cracking or pulling away at the joints.

INVESTIGATE.

Whether you intend to build or remodel, don't overlook this opportunity to get a better house—at lower cost— in less time—by using Bishopric Wall Board. Ask your dealer for information. Write or 'phone for sample and descriptive circulars to

Of Higgins and Howley--Their Silly Attempt to Gull the Premier Liberal District of the Island by Introducing Two Red Hot Tory Sealing Skippers of the North.

I wonder if Higgins has lost the little common sense he may have had at one time? His action in introducing such Tories as Skippers Kean and Barbour, two Red Hot Dred-in-the-Wood Tories to instruct the old tried and true Liberal District of St. John's East how to vote, is beyond comprehension. As for Howley's share in the matter, it is nothing. He has no common sense, never had any. He is led through the nose by Higgins, and of course must do as he is told. Skipper Abraham Kean has been telling the electors in Torbay and other settlements that the Bond Liberal-Union Party has no chance--north, especially in Bonavista Bay. This same Skipper Kean has acknowledged to his friends in Greenspond and other places in Bonavista Bay, that the Government to spend their earnings in his stores. This is how he treated the fishermen of his own district until Coaker got at him with the power of the P. E. U. to his back and compelled him to alter his terms. Liberals, resent this introduction of red hot Toryism in your midst by Higgins. Show this youth he is "too green to burn" when he brought such men as Kean and Barbour to instruct the voters of the Grand Old Liberal District of St. John's East how to cast their ballots. The number of votes you give on next Thursday for KENT, DWER & RYAN will show how you take this insult.

Special to The Evening Telegram. BURN'T HEAD, via Cupids, To-day. An enthusiastic meeting was held here last night in the C. of E. School House by the Liberal-Union candidate, George Grimes. Elijah Bishop presiding. Nearly every voter home was present. Grimes told of Coaker's magnificent work the past three years in the interest of the toilers; Bond's great record as a statesman, and contrasted it to Morris's, which received hearty applause. Old Age Pensions, Postal Savings Banks and Tariff reform, occupied the rest of his speech. The meeting closed with cheers for Bond, Coaker and Grimes. Burnt Head will cast seven eight vote for Grimes.

"Just as He Did Last Year"

The Herald says that Billy Winsor will command the Beothic "just as he did last year."

Last year the noble Billy Winsor commanded the Beothic for twenty-four hours or less, and as a result she had to go on Dock. Will Billy do again "just as he did last year?" Will he command her so that another 200 men will lose their "Bill" at the seal-fishery? What a noble Bill those poor 200 men made in the Beothic last year? THEY all had to go home with empty pockets. Was it because the noble Billy issued so many noble commands that the men lost their "berths" to the ice, and all the prospects of a sealing bill, whilst Billy smoked two cent cigars, which he keeps up his sleeve, and the Beothic got a snug berth on Dock? P. T. McGrath sticks himself up as an authority on "Godless Schools" and the moral laws. He ought to know something about the laws of navigation and so ought Billy Winsor. Will Patsy tell us then: Is Billy Winsor going to do "just as he did last year" and put the Beothic on Dock, and lose the case in the Supreme Court, and have to send another 200 men home without their Bill? If Billy Winsor could not navigate the Beothic without getting her on the rocks how can he navigate himself against a cold east wind in Bonavista Bay? Billy can't do it!

Bazaar Closes.

The grand bazaar in aid of the N. B. Society was brought to a close last night by a very enjoyable dance, in which about 100 couples participated. The music of the C. C. C. band was excellent and won the approval of all present. During the interval, Mr. W. H. Goodland, President of the Society, made some congratulatory remarks on the splendid rendition of the music, and on behalf of the N. B. S. heartily thanked the members of the band for their kindness in tendering their services free of charge. Teas and refreshments were served during the evening by the ladies who had been stallholders during the sale of work. Dancing was kept up till an early hour this morning. On the whole the bazaar was a great financial success and much praise is due to the efforts of the zealous promoters.

Rossley Theatre.

There was a large audience at Rossley's last night who were all charmed with Miss Arkandy's sweet song, "By the Old Rustic Seat." She is a gifted young lady and her sweet songs and violin solos please all. Carroll had a bewildering feat when he escaped from a nailed up and roped packing case, which was secured from the K. & A. Store. The pictures are all of the finest. Judging by the rehearsal of H. M. S. Sirius concert party on Thursday afternoon there is a great treat in store to-night. On Monday, 27th, the famous Dora Patterson Co. will open. This talented trio should prove a great attraction, as they are pronounced the very finest colored troupe in America. Rossley is certainly digging up some features.

QUEBEC, Oct. 23.
The Empress of Britain, with the Duke and Duchess and Princess Patricia aboard, is delayed by fog, but is expected to arrive here on Friday afternoon. The Duchess has stood the journey well.

DAWSON, Oct. 23.
Between 200 and 250 men are still entombed in No. 2 shaft of Stag Cannon Coal Mine. During the night 14 dead and 22 injured were recovered. The rescue parties are still a long way from the imprisoned men. Most of them are Italians.

LONDON, Oct. 23.
The Arson squad destroyed the Sports Pavilion of Bristol University today. Usual placards. The Public Prosecutor will not proceed against Mrs. Flora Drummond, who was taken ill in June during her trial. She has been in continual ill-health ever since.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.
Fur farming is widening in Prince Edward Island. The Department of Lands and Forests have been asked by the Secretary of the Fish and Game Association at Charlottetown for a number of young beaver for breeding purposes, to form the nucleus of a beaver raising industry. Five beavers will be sent from Algonquin Park.

SYDNEY, Oct. 23.
Particulars of the collision between the schooner Annie Roberts and the s.s. Wabana, last night are difficult to obtain. Bennett, the only man saved from the schooner, says she sank three minutes after being struck, carrying down Capt. Buffett and three men, who were lost, John Francis, Arthur Coffin and John McDonald, all from Lamaline, where the vessel was owned. The schooner arrived at Sydney two weeks ago, and had been unloading ballast. She had taken a cargo of coal and was bound to Lamaline, when the collision occurred.

SWINDON, Oct. 23.
Chancellor Lloyd George expects Woman's Suffrage in a short time, but not during the present Parliament, so he informed a deputation from several suffrage societies. He added that the militants had converted many people from indifference to bitter hostility; and that the militant suffragettes had created a situation which was the worst he had ever seen in Parliament for women's sake. He was glad to see the spirit of military was "withering." In conclusion he told the women to undertake pilgrimages, for that is the way women have won the vote in other countries.

False Economy.

When you're buying, buy the best; cheap things are the dearest. If a sock or vest, you are buying, or a car. Better do without the hat you are needing, till you know you can buy the smoothest that any man in town can show. Better do without the sword that you need to shave your chin, till you feel you can afford one that isn't made of tin. Better go the same old course, living with your wife along, than to buy a cheap divorce which is sure to turn out wrong. Cheap things always break your heart and depreciate your fame; therefore, in the changing mart, seek the best, and buy the same. In the whole long catalogue, seek the best and order that, whether it's a bobtail dog you are wanting, or a cat; whether it's a pair of shoes, or a pound of boneless prunes, or a paper with the news, or a pair of pantaloons; whether it's a book of verse, or a padlock for your chest, or a shotgun or a bear, it will pay to buy the best. Weariness and discontent of cheap buying are the fruit; better go as Adam went then to buy a shoddy suit.

Tory Fizzle At Twillingate.

Special to The Evening Telegram. TWILLINGATE, To-day. Milley, Temple and Yates arrived here at noon yesterday and met the oldest reception of their lives. Flags from only eight poles greeted their arrival and not a gun. They attempted to hold a public meeting here last night but completely met their Waterloo. The meeting turned out to be a complete fizzle. Temple's remarks were very short and could not be heard half way down the hall. He was compelled to take his seat quickly. Yates was then called upon to address the meeting and the reception in the way of hisses, groans and cries of traitor, traitor, he received he will remember as long as he lives. There stood for over ten minutes waiting for an opportunity to speak. Several appeals were made by the chairman to get him a hearing, but the audience refused, and being convinced of the indignation of the intelligent electors before him he returned to his seat without the chance of saying a word. He was not permitted to stand again. Milley then took the floor to fill the gap when a little better hearing was given him, but he was continually interrupted. He steered practically clear of party politics to save himself being hissed down and soon brought his remarks to a close. The meeting then closed with deafening cheers for Lord, Cliff and Jennings. This first and only meeting of the Tory trio for this District was a dismal and complete failure. The above is absolutely correct and we challenge contradiction. This District will positively give the Graball candidates the biggest snowing under ever they received. Bond and his colleagues will poll record vote in this District. North, South, East and West can depend on this statement. Just wait and see, for "BOND CAN'T LOSE!" S. Freck, House, Norman Stuckless, Samuel Wells, Ambrose Stuckless, Elias Blacklar, S. OCTOBER 24. Days Past, 269. To Come, 68. Last Quarter. THE EVE OF AGINCOURT, 1415. The disordered state of France during the reign of Henry V. encouraged that King to revive the claim of Edward III. to the French throne. He landed in France and found his way blocked by an immense French army. Expecting to be attacked, the English prepared to spend the night in carousing, which gave the English troops an opportunity for a night's rest. In the battle on the morrow the French were totally routed, chiefly owing to the skill and bravery of the English bowmen. Take care to be an economist in prosperity; there is no fear of your being one in adversity. —Zimmerman.

S.S. Canning.

The repairs of the S.S. Canning, now at the Dry Dock pier, are progressing very favourably, and she will likely get away in a few days. The old thrust shaft is now removed, and the work of replacing the new one is already begun, but will take considerable time as the mechanism is very complicated, and requires great precision in fitting the different parts. From here the S.S. Canning sails for New York, and after discharging her cargo there, will proceed to Manchester.

WHAT DID THEY GET?

Reid got millions. Crosbie got thousands. Morison got the "forgets." Moore got all the plumbing and a dose of swelled head. Downey got fed the past four years from the Agricultural Department. Devereaux got ditto. Emerson got arbitrations galore. Gibbs got ditto. Bennett got ditto. Jordan Milley got ditto. Goodison got ditto. Parsons got ditto. Whiteaway got ditto. Gambo got Honourable (?). Oh, they all got. What will they get on the 30th October? What did you say? Oh, yes; they will certainly get it in the neck where the Pullet got the axe.

'Affidavit' Duffy.

Ha, ha, ha! "Oh ye gods and little fishes!" Just listen to the Honourable (?) Patsy and Morris shouting socialists and atheists. Isn't it great? Just fancy the manufacturer of the infamous "Duffy Affidavit" calling people socialists and atheists. Can't we prevail on you, Mr. Editor, to publish that abominable "affidavit" to let the people see the class of scoundrels that are putting up such cries as socialism and atheism. I don't think that the fact of that affidavit being such a vile and horrible affair should prevent you from publishing it. The God-fearing people will, in my opinion, thank you for showing up the ruffianism of those who were interested in its making and circulation, and it will tend to set the proper value on their present hysterical shouting. Why is it that the people in the Northern Bays were told about the "Duffy Affidavit" last election and that the "thing" was kept so quiet in St. John's? VOTER.

Why Are the Dagos Shouting

AND BETTING ON MORRIS? Newfoundlanders are come to something when those "Dagos" are taking so active an interest in our affairs.

Some of those are the fellows that are making a profit of 40 and 50 per cent. off the natives with their shoddy wares.

The money they are betting with is the hard earned dollars of the fishermen of this country, whom they are "fleecing."

Men of Newfoundland, teach those fellows a lesson.

Show Morris and his gang that you are no longer going to stand idly by and allow yourselves to be bled and then insulted by "Dagos"

Bond and Coaker will deal with those fellows in the future. No more 40 or 50 per cent. on shoddy wares.

Did you get any of the Boodle? There's great givings out.

All the Hooligans who have been soliciting 5 cents heretofore are now asking do you want a dollar?

Who's money is it. Where are they getting it? Free drinks and pockets of money. Hurrah for the Jar and the Barrel. The Tories "slogan" is, we'll win if we have to spend a million! Where's the million coming from? Why is the million being spent? Who's million is it? OF INTEREST TO MEN. Men's Fancy Lama Unshrinkable Top Shirts, with collars, 95c. and $1.10. THE HARE CASE.

Dr. Walter Strapp Scores the Herald for Endeavoring to Make Political Capital Out of the Unfortunate Affair.

Special Evening Telegram.

HARBOR GRACE, Last Evening.

The Herald is trying to make political capital of James Hare's insane action on Sunday last. The Tory district surgeon of Harbor Grace, on Sunday afternoon, declared James Hare insane, suffering from what is known as paranoid, and yesterday I handed in my report. After examining Hare and about ten people who know him for the past four years, I find him a victim of the paranoid variety of dementia praecox. It is not commonly reported as either socialist or anarchist, and it is an outrage on the Herald's part to utter such rot. The friends of James Hare will likely institute proceedings against the Herald for these and other utterances which are calculated to prejudice his case.

W. A. STRAPP, M.D.

The Man From Harbor Main.

What "Justice" Has to Say.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—As Mr. William Woodford was nominated yesterday as a candidate for Harbor Main, it behoves every voter to examine with close scrutiny his conduct towards us during the past four and a half years. At the beginning of that time he came to us in the same capacity as he did yesterday, and introduced to us one J. J. Murphy and asked for our trust and confidence, with the assurance that our rights and prerogatives would be fairly proportioned and maintained to our best interests. And men of Harbor Main, you did your part, but how did they treat you in return? Could any greater insult be offered you, men, than J. J. Murphy's banter at you in bearding you, as he did to elect him as your representative, and to play the part of Sir Ralph as soon as you complied, by holding you "good-bye ye poor fools." Where is Mr. Murphy to-day, men of Harbor Main? Ponder on this question, and see how that worthy used you for his own gain and aggrandizement. Are you any better off for your acquaintance with Mr. J. J. Murphy? No! You have been humiliated by his codding and his sheer neglect of your welfare in the Assembly. But, what is his gain through you, men of Harbor Main? You opened up a big and free field of speculation for him in timber lands, to add to his immense thousands, and he is now an Honourable (?) in the Council with no use for the voters of Harbor Main any more. Your gain from him has been nothing. Men of Harbor Main! But, he has not even recognized you by a visit after Polling Day.

And men of Harbor Main, whom do you thank for this misuse of your power, for your less during the past four years in not having a good and able man to represent you in the House of Assembly, and which the intrusion of J. J. Murphy deprived you of. You have to thank William Woodford, who was put in nomination again yesterday, for your suffrages on the 30th inst., and he would bring to you again this time some nominated friend from St. John's or elsewhere to dupe you a second time, but he knows your eyes are opened and that it would be useless for him to try to foist on you a second J. J. Murphy.

Not only did this man whom Mr. Woodford introduced to you as one worthy of your confidence, leave you in the lurch when you had served him, but he remained active long enough to add his voice and support in aid of that supreme gratification which all feelers received, who were pronounced in their approval of the election of Woodford and Murphy in 1908 and '09, and which in one particular case infinitely redounded to your crowning insult and to the insult of that refined spirit of true British justice which is inherent in us all. I refer to the appointment of one M. F. O'Toole as Stipendiary Magistrate of our district to administer His Majesty's laws to us British subjects resident therein. For some years previous to that time this royal office had been filled by Mr. Edward Murray, at Harbor Main, the capital of our district, a man in whom all in the land had confidence for his good Christian qualities and strictly conscientious administration of His Majesty's laws within his jurisdiction. His annuity was three hundred dollars; he was comparatively young and energetic, with a natural love of adherence to the dictates of justice that he filled with the highest respect and esteem of the public, so much so that he resisted for some months after the ascendancy of the present corrupt Tory regime the forced efforts of William Woodford and J. J. Murphy and others for his retirement on a pension. They eventually succeeded in severing this pure fountain head of justice in our district, and provided at Conception Harbor a substitute in the person of an unworthy and undeserving citizen, M. F. O'Toole. That is but half of the story, men of Harbor

Warren Routed At Clarkes Beach

Special to Evening Telegram.

CLARKE'S BEACH, Last Evg.—The greatest political meeting ever held here took place last night in the F.P.U. Hall. There were over five hundred present, including ladies. Warren being present was invited by Mr. Grimes to the platform. Grimes spoke first telling of the benefits of Unionism, commercial and political, and scored the Government for wilful waste of public monies, its mismanagement of railway affairs and other contracts and outlined the policy of the Liberal-Union Party. Warren followed. He agreed the Union was beneficial and defended the Government record and received scant applause. Grimes replied with telling effect, receiving the hearty approval of the audience. Mackinson spoke, praising Bond for his statesmanship. The meeting closed with rousing cheers for Coaker, Grimes and Mackinson—Warren not getting a cheer. About two-thirds of the audience stayed behind, promising their support to Grimes. (Sgd.)

Main! They centred their efforts on the accomplishment of this action for some months after their return to power and only succeeded by burdening you with an extra thousand dollars as a yearly liability to meet the exigencies created by the unholy change. The ex-Magistrate's pension of $300 is paid, and the new Magistrate (the Lord protect us) is paid $750 and perquisites, making in all about $1,500 where stood the figure of $300 prior to Woodford and Murphy's deception of the electorate of Harbor Main. Wherein, men of Harbor Main, do you find your interest foremost in this transaction? Are you even thought of? No! You are in the background entirely in their minds. To the great inconvenience of the Southern portion of the district they removed the Magistrate's office to Conception Harbor, and appointed thereto M. F. O'Toole, who bowed to the dignity of your magisterial chair. What recommendations has he branded on his character? How many Court charges for being a "disturber of the peace" has he had made against him? Nor have you the full story yet, electors of Harbor Main! To this dire insult wrought by your false representatives against you, and your high honor for the laws of your land, there has been added injury immeasurably greater by rowdism and de bauchery on more than one occasion. Witness the scene at Conception at the beginning of the past holy yule-tide. Who was it that beat another citizen to a finish when a third party happened along only in time to save him from greater degrees of brutality? Intoxication was conspicuous on the part of both and the darkness of night shielded the combatants from the gaze of the members of the public but not from them all. Witness another occasion at a house a very short distance from the scene of the battle above referred to. And there are other occasions too.

Now we have heard of high-handed corruption in the Tory constitution—$150,000 wasted on Agriculture, $7,000 each to Morris and Morrison for work at the Hague and more besides; $2,200 to Crosbie for old $28 spars. But, men of Harbor Main, when Morrice and his gang thought we could be satisfied with Mickey O'Toole as our judge, we want to tell him we do not want specimens like him. Many a man goes to the Supreme Court for the trial of a simple question as has happened, and many a poor woman prefers to go to St. John's Court also. even if it cost $25 to do so. Men of Holyrood and the portion of Harbor Main District from that south, think with what confidence you approached the Magistrate's office at Harbor Main when Mr. Murray filled it, and when business called any of you there. Because Mr. Murray's essence of true manhood, love of truth, probity and all other good virtues that qualify a man for the administration of His Majesty's laws impressed you with assurance of justice at his hands.

With volumes to follow, I remain for the present.

Yours truly,
JUSTICE,
Hr. Main, Oct. 21, 1913.

Morris and His Policy.

Here I am heart-sick and sore Tramping around from door to door Up in the loft and down on the flake Begging a vote for mercy sake.

Hard is the task and weary the day Working and toiling without any pay; Night in and day out guiding the State Hoping to enter in at the Gate.

"Straight is the gate and narrow the way." So the good book distinctly says, Consistency with me is do and dare, For Public Opinion I little care.

People however, have come to believe, My Policy only was meant to deceive; Fishery, minerals, lumber and land, I've held for them with a very loose hand.

Reid and the Railways have accomplished much, With them for years I've been in close touch, Bonds and debentures in galore I have sold, Paid for them all in silver and gold.

Millions of dollars for these I have spent, And now the country is left to lament, But the logic of Reason discovers the Fault, And Bond and the country cry out for a Halt!

Their Blood is Up

LAST NIGHT'S MAMMOTH DEMONSTRATION — ALL POLITICAL RECORDS BROKEN — 2,000 LIBERAL STANDARD BEARERS OF ST. JOHN'S EAST MUSTER TO WELCOME THEIR REPRESENTATIVES, KENT, DWYER & RYAN, FROM BELL ISLAND — GRAND PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY — THE WHOLE EAST END SECTION OF THE TOWN KEPT AWAKE — EVERYONE DELIGHTED WITH THE LIBERAL CANDIDATES.

Not since the day that the Liberal Party was launched in this Colony — and that dates back to the time that Responsible Government was granted — was there such a whole-hearted expression of loyalty to the cause of Liberalism, as the mammoth demonstration which took place last night in honor of the return of the Liberal candidates Messrs. Kent, Dwyer and Ryan from Bell Island where they had been on a visitation since Monday last. That St. John's East is stronger Liberal than ever it was, despite the mean, low and dastardly sectarian cries spread throughout the district by Tory opponents, there is not a shadow of a doubt. The members had a pleasant sojourn on the island. They got a wonderful reception and were treated most cordially. Their meetings were triumphs that exceeded everything of their kind on the Iron Isle. As Mr. Kent put it, and his word is always looked upon as authentic:

"In all my Experience I Never Witnessed Such Wild Enthusiasm." It is beyond question that the Liberal Party will get the biggest vote on record on Bell Island. Yesterday the candidates were given a splendid send-off before they crossed the tides for Portugal Cove, where another grand reception awaited them, and where a meeting was held last night in the L.O.A. Hall. This building was filled to its utmost capacity and many who were unable to gain admission remained outside and listened to the speeches made. Capt. G. Somerton was appointed Chairman and in well-chosen remarks introduced the candidates who showed up in Detail the Squander, Graft and Greed of the Irresponsible Tory Party, that has been in power for the past four and a half years. Mr. John Giles and Mr. Joseph Peckford, who were present, gave practical and convincing addresses on the policies and merits of both parties. The people of Portugal Cove expressed their unanimous opinion that they would stand by

Sir Robert Bond, the Greatest Statesman and Premier Ever the Country Had. On leaving the Cove, Kent, Dwyer and Ryan were given a royal send-off. While en route to the city, they were enthusiastically welcomed by the patriots of Liberalism at Rickett's Bridge and the Major's Path. Bonfires and stage powder were kept burning while guns repeatedly blazed forth. The cheering made the hills re-echo, whilst in every home countrywards there was great rejoicing for the Grand Old Liberal Party. On arrival at Robinson's Hill the members were met by Full Two Thousand East End Voters, Who Amid Tremendous Cheering and a splendid display of fireworks, escorted the candidates by way of Rennie's Mill Road and King's Road to the Mechanics' Hall. As this would only hold a small portion of those who took part in the assembly the three candidates stood in a carriage on the historic Beach, and spoke to the vast concourse that assembled. They first gave glowing reports of the enthusiastic reception they received at Bell Island and Portugal Cove, and thanked their supporters for the wonderful demonstration, which has unquestionably proved that Toryism in St. John's East is driven into insignificance, and that Kent, Dwyer and Ryan Can't Lose!

Some Pointers.

Tremble, Tories, Tremble! The death-knell of the Tory Party is sounding throughout the length and breadth of the country. Last night's demonstration was a real scorcher and some of the Tories who became panic-stricken, as the procession passed by, are indisposed to-day.

A fellow from the Herald office "primed up" had the impudence to use blasphemous slang when the two thousand Liberal voters were passing. Lucky for him he made himself scarce in a hurry, but if he ever repeats it he will get what that prominent figure of the "Pullett's" committee received. He who got squashed quickly and to-day is again a nose.

Marching on to Victory

Sir Robert and Colleagues at Grand Falls.

Special to Evening Telegram.

GRAND FALLS, To-Day. Sir Robert Bond and his colleagues arrived here at two o'clock yesterday. Later they visited the recreation grounds and Sir Robert inspected and addressed the Boy Scouts. He complimented the boys on their being the first Newfoundland boys to don the distinctive uniform of the Boy Scouts and to come in close touch with one of the greatest revolutionary movements of the age—a world wide movement that stood for clean, honest, manly manhood. Some years ago there was a revolutionary movement in Northern France. It was at a time of despotism and the boys of France inscribed on their banners beneath which they marshalled their forces, these words: "Tremble, tyrants, tremble, we are growing up." That is a military movement. That in which the boy scouts are participating is a peaceful one, in which the moral force was to be brought into operation against the forces of evil tendencies. Boy Scouts stood for truth, loyalty, honour, kindness and clean manhood. They might fittingly adopt the motto of the boys of France in their fight against the forces of evil that they would surely meet in their march towards manhood. At the conclusion of his remarks the boys loudly cheered Sir Robert. At 8 o'clock a public meeting was held in the rink, over five hundred persons attending. Great enthusiasm prevailed, and Sir Robert and his colleagues received hearty cheers as they concluded their speeches and as they passed through the streets to their hotel.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, Oct. 24, 1913. She said "Nelson's Chocolates are far and away the most delicious I have tasted. The flavor is simply delightful, rich yet delicate, and there is none of that mawkishness about them that some chocolate candies have. And there is that taste on them that cannot be described, but can be appreciated all the same, which divides the high class from the inferior kind. Bring me these, please." What that lady said, many others are saying, and more still will be saying the same when these Chocolates become known. Depend upon it, people know good candies when they taste them, and so be up to date by procuring the best to give to your friends. If you buy her Nelson's Chocolates she will not be disappointed. We have just opened a new fresh stock, including a good variety—caramels, bon-bons, week-end assortments, fruit glace, etc., etc., and the prices range from thirty-five cents to two dollars and fifty cents a package.

MOTOR MAN From Ferryland on the War Path

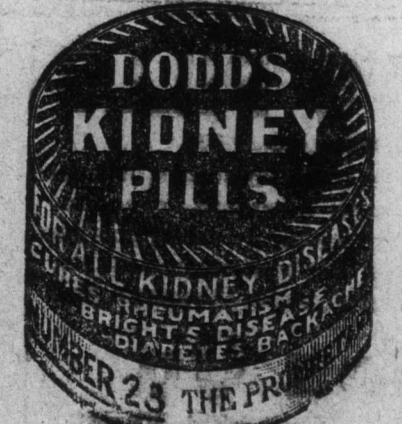

Editor The Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Just a line to tell you Cashin and Moore got a bad setback here to-day. Cashin could scarcely get a hearing and Moore had very little to say. What could they say? What have they done for the past four years ago to the public? A few fellows got some pickings but that is not what men are sent to the House for. Most of the people here think it is about time to dismiss Cashin and Moore and try what Hartery and Williams are going to do for the District. Considering what happened to Childrey a few days ago, and that the case is now before the courts for assault and battery on the King's highway, I don't see how any decent man would yet for men who could so far forget themselves. Ferryland always had a character for respectability; but if we associate ourselves any longer with rowdism we will not have much further claim to our good name. People get a good many copies of the Telegram lately, and we see the fine letters every time showing up the doings of Morris, Cashin & Co. It is pretty clear that if we don't get back to Bond this country is gone. We see that the men of the other Districts on each side of us have decided to turn Morris and his hoodlums out and put in the men the country can have some faith in. According to reports from the other end of the District Cashin and Moore will get no show. They were treated pretty bad if all the papers say is true, and there's no smoke without fire somewhere. And if the fellows up this way would look about they would find lots of reasons to follow suit. Moore is too busy getting through plumbing contracts, and Cashin begging loans for railways and so forth to think of anything for the good of the District. A good many of us up this way have been fooled with promises and soft talk and Moore's gush, but we are beginning to see there is nothing behind all this. We feel pretty cheap after listening to all that stuff about education. Since we read what "Pedagogue" says on the subject we'd like to know what the fellows about Renew's think of themselves to be listening to such rubbish. Wait till Hartery and Williams get around and a good many will be having a different way of thinking. Both ends of the District hang together last time for the new Government. The new broom always sweeps clean. But See Now What the Clean Sweep Meant. If we put the Morris Party back again every cent will have to go to pay for Interest on all those millions they borrowed, so that there won't be a copper to build a wharf or a bridge or anything else. We will have to look sharp, sir, if we don't want to get left. We are out in the fog up this way and that must be the reason why we are so shortsighted. However, we are not all in the fog, and I think by the look of things now the people along here are going to back up the men in the other end and vote the straight ticket for Williams and Hartery. Certainly, no one takes Mike Condon seriously. He has been at it for the last twenty years and never got anywhere. He would be a fool that would vote for a man standing by himself. What is he going to do? Sell himself to what ever party might want him? Risky business, Michael. If you are honest and have any of the man about you help the Bond candidates.

If You Have Any Regard for the Shore or the Country

that's what you should do. By the way, Mr. Editor, I heard that the Bond Government, sure I might as well say so as the Morris Government is on its last kick, will give a guarantee to every fisherman who wants a motor to get one. That's a good plan. I am told they are doing what they like with fish about Bay Bulls. I was always of the opinion that if men wanted fish in the fall of the year they would have to get boats that would take them in and out quite here would be hundreds of quintals on this shore now more than there is if men had motor boats fitted up for trawling. We'll have to get a new Government and better ways of getting fish in the fall than we had. If we had handy motor boats a lot of those young fellows—sunning their jobs, or loafing about the corners, talking about the members and the stuff they get pumped into them at times like this, would have a good catch of fish to look forward to in the winter and not be wondering what the Government will be going to do for them and how much they are going to get out of the merchant. If these fellows so fond of chatting about politics would put a few days on the roads to save their boots it would be better than talking about what they know nothing, only what they hear. Begor, if I was a young man and got any one to give me a motor boat I'd see what I could do for myself and give an Example to these "emine Me Me Me" to hustle for a living, be independent of any Government, and see while men are in the Assembly they are looking after the country's business and not making jobs for themselves and their heebies and wasting public money to hold their seat. Williams and Hartery won't be looking for contracts or speculating in money for roads, bridges, or wharves. If a fellow earns a dollar of Government money he'll get it in his slippers if they had one. I am told some people down along wouldn't get cash for what they worked. What would you call that? Is that honest? As far as the Cape Breton men are concerned they won't have any of that sort of thing. As far as I can see Williams and Hartery are about the two best men we ever had. They are fellows that are never satisfied because they can't get things first their way, and for the turn of your finger they'd go the other way. Those two men, one in each end of the District, will get our share of what is going and won't borrow too much money and rob the country. As far as I can see now the fishermen of the country wants Bond and Conker. I say honestly vote for them, turn the hoodlums out, and let us have one clean Government in our lifetime and how.

With Loads of Money.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—The Tories were at their best on Monday night and had high carnival, much to the disgust of the residents who are a respected class of honest fishermen as can be found in any part of Newfoundland. Therefore they strongly resent the insults given them by Messrs. Bartlett, Howley and Higgins on the above mentioned night. It is true there are a few Tories in the settlement who benefitted somewhat during the past few months in the way of road work. The restlessness of the above few were illustrated with candles purchased at a store near King's Bridge by heeled Tories in advance of the Tory candidates and their followers from both sides of the city, including several of the Tory officials, notably Joe Perez and Dickey Rodgers with loads of money; while the Premier's poole was to the front with a plentiful supply of whiskey which he generously offered to many of the fishermen who gathered around, but to their credit he said refused to accept the bribe.

In the face of the above stated facts ought not Wiggins & Co. to be ashamed of their conduct in permitting their heeled to grossly insult the voters in such a manner and then the next day to cause to be published in the Daily News and Herald a full page of lies and buffoonery, and asking the people to believe such. They are putting up a huge bluff, simply that and nothing more. Their sectarian cry ignominiously failed and now they are compelled to permit their heeled to bring around with them generous supplies of Whiskey, in their endeavors to bribe the independent fishermen of Torbay, Flatrock, Outer Cove, Loyal Bay, Pouch Cove and Portugal Cove. Still with all their cunning.
KENT, DWYER and RYAN
Can't Lose!

Our Breathers Club.

BY RUTH CAMERON.
This is by way of being a little plea for someone who seems to me an under-appreciated personage. For want of a better title, I'll call her the "errand-doer."
The errand-doer, as you may suspect, is that soft-hearted person, who is always so weak mindedly amiable about doing errands for other people, that she is always doing them.

home—or in the office, as the case may be. Quite so, my friend. I'm sure you would—but I am not asking you to dispense with the errand-doer's services. All that I ask is that you shall not underrate what she does, and not fail to fully show your gratitude and not overload her.
Remember that the difficulty of an errand done for oneself is multiplied by three when you do it for someone else. In this way, first, if you are doing an errand for someone else, you have her taste as well as yours to consult—which takes twice as long, and is an anxious task to both. Secondly, if you are doing an errand for someone else, you do not have the privilege of elasticity of detail you would have in buying for yourself. Third, you do not have the privilege of elasticity of detail you would have in buying for yourself.

For instance, the lady who wanted the yard of lace said, "I don't believe it will take you very long. Go right to J's lace counter—I saw just what I wanted there the other day." But she asked for a yard two inches wide at one dollar and one-half. They were out of that width at that price at J's. If the errand-doer had been shopping for herself, she would have paid the next price, one dollar and eighty-seven at once. But she knew her friend had to count pennies and so she didn't like to go above the stipulated price. Consequently, she visited four shops before she found just the right price and quality.
Once in a while an errand pans out just as described, but more often it doesn't. Of course, there are two sides to every situation. I believe that the woman shut in by office or home work has a moral right to the services of her less confined friend. But I do think she ought to appreciate how much she is getting. Don't you?

Old Folks Find Croxone Relieves All Kidney and B'adder Miseries
Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Few Doses Relieve Backache and Bladder Disorders
Sleep disturbing bladder weakness, backache, rheumatism, and the many other hindrances which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.
Croxone relieves all such disorders because it reaches the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Croxone is so prepared that it practically impossible to take it without result. There is nothing else like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.
An original package cost but a trifle and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

what was left of the Roman empire. When Horatius held off Mr. Porsenna's hordes he became suffused with patriotism and talked in short meter poetry for several minutes, after which he suggested that the bridge across the Tiber river be removed while a couple of sub-patriots stood on the other side and decorated the right of way with Etruscan gore. This proposition was adopted by a unanimous vote and Horatius and his comrades passed over and threw themselves and some more poetry into the breach. A number of the Etruscan militia came down the pass and made several earnest efforts to pulverize Horatius before the bridge fell in. Horatius gave them all a cordial welcome and soon had the pass choked with large quantities of deceased foe. Every time he would run his sword through somebody with whom he was not personally acquainted he would give vent to four lines of hectic verse, which Lord Macaulay afterward upholstered and sold in book form. It must have been an inspiring sight to have seen Horatius slaying the Etruscan army with one hand and hurling strophes, dactyls and impromptu poetry at them with the other. Finally, after Horatius had caused one of Porsenna's non-commissioned officers to blow up with considerable emphasis, the bridge sank into the rushing Tiber, carrying with it the two companions of Horatius, who knew when they had enough. This was the sublime moment in Horatius' career. Facing the foe with calm courage and a gaping wound in his collarbone, he turned, delivered an original poem in a haughty tone of voice, and plunging into the Tiber swam across in 9 4-3 seconds. Thus was Rome saved by a union of poetry and puck, qualities which are not often fused in the same individual.

Indigestion, Gas Or Sick, Sour Stomach

Time It!—"Pape's Diapepsin" makes your upset, bloated stomach feel fine in five minutes.
"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that's just what makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes, it's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness. A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest, and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

Lad Killed.

The following message was received by the Minister of Justice: BISHOP'S FALLS.
"A sad accident occurred here at the Mills, yesterday, when John Smith, aged 15 years, son of Emanuel Smith of Trinity Bay, was accidentally killed when fixing a belt on an iron pulley, with a plank which broke, striking him in the breast killing him instantly."

Schr. Lost.
Capt. Joseph Legge returned from the Labrador by the Invermore, and reports having lost his schooner Hazel B. Mozler, on that coast recently. Capt. Legge had 300 quintals of fish on board which was not insured, and is thus a total loss. The affair occurred in Table Bay where the vessel was running under stress of weather. She struck a flat rock that lies right in the run, but which could not be found on the chart. The vessel now lies on the rock a total wreck, but is insured. The loss of the fish is a very serious one to the crew, as well as to the members of the "Picnic Party," whose negligence in making an efficient survey of the coast, will be properly resented on Polling Day.

Some Nuts for Morris to Crack!

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Is Sir E. P. Morris, President of the St. Bon's Old Boys' Association?
Is E. Leo Carter, Esq., Solicitor, candidate for Harbor Mah, a member of St. Bon's Old Boys' Association?
Why, yes! Is it part of the duty of the President of an Association to have a fellow member held up to ridicule by his official organ?
Did not E. Leo Carter pass with honors in the different grades in St. Bon's and as a London Matriculant?
Yes.
Did he not sign articles in Law with M. W. Furlong, Esq., and serve his course—four years—in his office, passing his different exams creditably?
At the end of his term was he not congratulated by Mr. Furlong and presented to the Court by him, and there congratulated by the Chief Justice, Sir William Horwood?

Is not M. W. Furlong, Esq., Vice-President of the St. Bon's Old Boys' Association, and was not the low ridicule of the Herald editor a direct insult thrown at M. W. Furlong Esq., with whom Carter served, or studied his law?
Will Morris tell some of us, who already know, what means, if any, outside of personality (?) he used to be elected to the Presidency of the St. Bon's Old Boys' Association. Don't say "don't heed them," 'tis too late now, for the cat will come out of the bag in a hurry; so get to work and explain, or get Duffy at it.
Yours,
MOIKE.

Revival of Old Tory Tactics in Ferryland District.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Rumor comes from the southern shore that intimidation is going to be tried, and that Cashin and Moore are enlisting mercantile influence. The men of Ferryland and on this side made things hot for them, they know what the other end of the district is going to do for them. I hear some of the lawless at Tor's Cove but they were going to speak, there that night, Tuesday, but Cashin and Moore came on to town. It is said that flags were flying on a certain mercantile premises along the shore next day. We know that Cashin and Moore will leave nothing undone to get back to power and their jobs. They evidently feel the fates are against them, and they are going to have recourse to coercion, men of Ferryland District! Men of every district in the Island! Be prepared for treachery, for tyranny, and everything that money and influence can do to capture your vote. The Morris faction everywhere will move heaven and earth to get the Govt. they know what it means to them, but they allow themselves to be terrorized; bear in mind you are still freemen and not slaves! Bond secured for you the protection of the ballot box and gave to young men of twenty-one years, the power of voting. Away with monopoly, down with mercantile tyranny, crush you, fishermen, the brazen head of intimidation! Tell your would-be master that this country is not a cattle ranch, and that you won't be like "dumb cat, driven." Shame on you Cashin and Moore; you so loud-mouthed in your professions of regard for the people, to have recourse to means so reprehensible. Now the men of the Southern Shore will know how to measure your sincerity.
Now They See You in Your True Colors.
Now they understand that where they cannot draw you by sops and bribes and jobbery, they would drive you. There is a mean, contemptible crowd that for the sake of being spit on outside the gate, would follow you to hades; but the majority of the men of the Southern Shore have the blood of men in their veins, and will not allow you to walk roughshod over them. The poor fisherman is always the victim of some foul plot, or some base tyranny. Now you see what the Fishermen's Union mean to this country. Too long have the men who brave the tempest, plow the field, and run the machinery, been sweated to swell the coffers of the Government, to be swindled of it again by political Grubblers; too long have they been driven to pile up wealth for those who would ride over them. Tell those who would use you or drive you.

That You Were Born in a Free Country, of as good a Blood as Flows in Their Veins.
and that you are going to live in a free country so long as you can escape the ranks of paupers. Give them to understand that you have more confidence in your own brain and muscle to get the wherewith to sustain yourselves and families than you have in politicians or merchants; and if this country, through any misfortune that may be brought on her by dishonest voters, political gamblers, or mercantile swindlers, you are prepared to do as many are doing to-day, betake yourselves to some other land where industry will get its value, and men rank with men of the North, take this warning that all the elements of destruction are combined against you. Wealth and treachery, threats and bribes, false promises and sops are trying to you in their dastardly work, and you, the men of toil, if you are not loyal to one another and do not stand shoulder to shoulder in every Settlement Throughout our Island Home, and Vote Solid for BOND and His Men, will have to live but a short time to witness the ruin brought upon your country, upon yourselves and upon your families. The monopolists hate Bond; the merchants hate Bond; the political office seekers and jobbers hate Bond. The fishermen need him, the laborers need him, the agricultural need him, stand together for him, be loyal to him, vote for him and he will be loyal and true to you. He who flaunts his colors in your face will batten over you like a vulture; he who would win you by promises will desert and despise you; he who would force you by threats would crush you. Free men of the yet free country, the weapon of the ballot box is still in your hands. Let not that weapon drop from your hand till you have struck off the hydra head with its jaws open to devour you. It is the story of Peasants and the serpent, so tragically dramatized. Now or Never. Be silent, be steady, and make your bows tell! The 31st of October comes but once this year, and

For You It Will be a Day of Victory or Death!
Away with intimidation then, down with tyranny from whatever source it springs; bring monopoly to its knees. Stay the hand of bribery and corruption; save your country, now in peril. Strike one strong, united blow for freedom, hurl Morris and his satellites from power; give Bond the reins of Government, and we may yet live to see this struggling land of ours, "Great, Glorious and Free!" "For Freedom's Battle once begun, Bequeathed from bleeding sire to son, Tho' baffled oft is e'er won."
Out upon Cashin and Moore!
Yours,
RETRIBUTION.
St. John's, Oct. 23, 1913.

Not Much of a Meeting.

Editor The Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I suppose the wires were ringing with reports of last night's meeting held here by Cashin and Moore. There was a big crowd but mostly women and children, and a good deal of shouting was done. Some of the "ring" were primed up for that purpose. Cashin talked a lot but said very little. He is at home at finance, and spent most of his time telling us about how the railway money was got and why they paid Reid in gold. We had all that business off by heart and learnt it from a better source. He told us he was to get the railway and that we were going to have hospitals and I don't know what not next year. He spoke a good deal about tuberculosis and other things such as old age pensions, and that there were $200,000 in reserve for the old men if suppose the chaps who would vote for him this time would get that. He also referred to reduction of taxes. We saw all about that, too. Some of the balloons swallowed all that, because they didn't, and many of them wouldn't read Bond's Manifesto, or Kent's speech in the Telegram. A good many men were away, and many there listened but didn't shout. Cashin was careful enough to Keep Away From The Things We Wanted to Hear About.

For instance that breakfast he told us to petition for and he would do what he could, but told us six months after it would be a good place to waste money. He nor Moore didn't come to see us for the past 4 years whether it would be wasted or not; and this showed how much he cared. He had no apology to make for turning out the Doctor and taking away the little salary he got to help him to keep a horse so that he could come up a couple of times a week and see sick people, and give any one else a chance to see him. He had nothing to say about throwing out that petition got up and signed by the three priests on behalf of the people and presented to the House of Assembly to get a stipend for the Doctor to help keep him so that he could get round as before. No, he threw that in the waste basket, treated priests and people with contempt and left us up here without a doctor, or get one the best way we could. He talked about tuberculosis, but it is not to him not the Government we are indebted for bringing it under control when it was so bad amongst us. The people who shore know who had the most to do with consumption. He said in the end he defied anyone to get on the stage and show that the Government didn't keep to their promises.
Hartery and Williams Will Tell us Something about These Things When They Come.
We noticed himself and Moore didn't go see the Parish Priest. They could not muster up cheek enough for that; they knew they treated him and us badly about those petitions; and he was let go ahead last night, and let down easy, we won't forget him when the time for voting comes. We all know here what Cashin and Moore care about us; but there are some here, if he kicked them to-day they would kiss his toe to-morrow. The same crowd were always after jobs and the drops of ram and the petty dollar and that's the price of them. Everybody knows the kind they are. I suppose there are some like them everywhere. There are men in Tor's Cove, too, that won't be put aside and won't be insulted and won't see their priest insulted by the likes of Cashin and Moore. If we put them in again we wouldn't see any more of them for the next four years, and I suppose there wouldn't be any Government after that. Some of the boys had tar barrels ablaze. Every thing went

A Prize Worth Winning

Any person or persons coming into our Drug Store (Theatre Hill) and asking us to show them orders amounting to over Ten Thousand Dollars of Stafford's Liniment which has been sold up to the present time during this year, and by us not being able to produce them, will receive a reward of $5,000.
We do not publish statements like this unless we can back them up, and we will be only too glad to show you those orders when asked for.
"Stafford's Liniment" is one of the biggest sellers in Newfoundland at the present time and the sale is such that "it can't lose."
Besides "Stafford's Liniment" we have the two other Specialities—
"Stafford's Prescription" a cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Gastritis and Nervous Dyspepsia. Price 25 and 50 cents. Postage, 5 and 10 cents extra.
"Stafford's Phosphate Cough and Cold Cure" a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and various Lung troubles. Price 25 cents. Postage, 5 cents extra.
These 3 Specialities are prepared only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Newfoundland.—oct 22, 14 off quiet, because we had reason to believe there would be a row and Cashin and his henchmen would Find There is Some Good Blood in Tor's Cove.

Moore didn't make any speech. But though he knew some one would report him, he would sing a song and he sang the "Dinkey Bird." He then called for three cheers for Father O'Brien. He was too ignorant to know that this was an insult, and only the Liberals present were on their guard, we would have sent Phil off with a new tune. Everything is got back to the same old rut again, the flags are all down and put in salt and nobody is much the worse or the wiser for what happened. The opinion all along is that Cashin and Moore smell defeat. If Condon had the sense to keep quiet, Hartery and Williams would poll the biggest Liberal vote ever got on this Shore. It would be a good thing for this shore if Cashin and Moore were dumped. They did nothing for the people, but put as much opposition as they could against those who were trying to do something for us. Every man on the Shore should vote for Hartery and Williams and give Bond and the Fishermen's Union a good strong majority.

Testimonials.
St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 3rd, '13.
Mr. Geo. M. Barr, City.
Dear Sir.—I beg to say from experience that the Perkins Morse Engine you sold me last spring has given me every satisfaction. I was delighted with its simplicity in working, also at the speed derived from her together with the advantage derived from working her on kero. oil, if required. It has indeed exceeded all my expectations and for the Lobster business I cannot too strongly recommend her to all intending to buy an engine.
Yours truly,
(Sgd.) W. D. ROSE.

Mr. G. M. Barr, City.
Dear Sir.—My engine gives me perfect satisfaction. No engine can be better. No trouble whatever, I am going to build a larger boat this winter for my engine, as it is very powerful.
Yours truly,
(Sgd.) THOS. MANNING.

Varicose Veins and Itching Piles
Usually Arise From Same Cause—Relief and Cure Effectuated by Dr. Chase's Ointment.
Nearly everybody knows of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the most effective treatment for piles of hemorrhoids that medical science has been able to compound. So much suffering and misery arises from this ailment that one is not long in telling his friends when he has found an actual cure. This accounts for the enormous sales of Dr. Chase's Ointment.
This letter tells of relief from the suffering of varicose veins by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Many suffer from this trouble not knowing the comfort to be obtained by the use of this great soothing ointment.
Mrs. R. J. Evans, 187 Munro street, Toronto, writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years. I have been troubled with varicose veins, and find it the only thing that gives relief. For every purpose when a soothing, healing ointment is needed there is nothing so good as Dr. Chase's Ointment." 68 cents a box all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Select Securities for the Woman Investor

Women who save will find in our monthly lists of investment offerings and special descriptive circulars many helpful suggestions for the safe and profitable employment of their surplus funds.

It will be a pleasure to place on our mailing list the names of all women who signify a desire to receive these publications regularly as issued.

Our latest circular concerns an investment of $5,000 which we proposed to one of our women clients. This is diversified among five excellent securities which possess ample security and return the attractive yield of almost A DOLLAR A DAY. Smaller sums could be invested with the same proportionate results.

A postal will bring this circular and particulars of an easy method of paying for the securities.
