CHAPTER XIII.

"No!" he said. "I had an idea all eyes loved fair because of the crowd and excitement. Do you remember Cumberland Fair, Madge, and how you told my fortune? By the way, I didn't hear what it was, after all. Suppose you were to tell it to me now?" and he held out his hand, palm up. It was as brown as her own by this time. She looked at the hand, but shook her head.

"No! Too bad for telling!" he said, with a laugh; "or don't you believe in your own magic, Madge? How well 'Madge' and magic go together! Come, tell me just a little."

"Yeth, tell him, Madge," hissed up Tony. Madge smiled slowly and touched his fingers, then she drew her hand away.

"I hate it!" she said, almost below her breath.

"All right," he said; "I didn't mean to worry you;" and he laid his hand on the child to keep it steady.

As they were going along in this familiar and confidential way they passed a van in the care of Steve. He was sitting on the shafts, smoking a pipe, and as he looked up at the group, his swarthy face grew black and his eyes flashed.

"Here, look here!" he said in a kind of snarl, turning his head toward the van. Mother Katie came to the door. "Look at that," he said, pointing with his pipe. "Things is coming to a pretty pass. She was holding his hand a minute ago, I'll take my oath. Riding there beside him as if she belonged to him. Cuss 'em both!"

"You hold your tongue," said Mother Katie, "or he'll hear you, and there'll be mischief in the camp."

"There'll be mischief sure enough!" he snarled. "Look at her! And she's the rest of us! mighty to come anigh the rest of us! She'll scarcely speak a civil word to me—to me!—but she'll ride beside him like a child!"

"Best hold your tongue," said Mother Katie again. "It's no business of yours, Steve."

"Yes, it is! It's the business of all of us. What's it coming to? Here!"—and he swung round upon her—"I want to know the truth—the truth, mind you—is our Madge gone on that chap or not?"

Mother Katie looked after the group. Madge was drooping forward with a downcast face, up to which Royce's was turned, his hand still holding the child, and as it seemed to the two spectators, Madge as well.

"Lawks a mercy me, how can I tell?" she said, defiantly, but there was a hesitation and uncertainty in her voice, and her dark eyes grew troubled. "No, 'tain't likely. Besides, Madge can take care of herself," she said, with a little sigh.

"Oh, can she?" retorted Steve, with an evil sneer. "Anyhow, I'll take care of her—and him, too. I've kept quiet, but I've had my thoughts. Do you think I ain't noticed the change in her? She liked me well enough long, so that the crisp curls were now, though still short, curls indeed. Yes, what would the countess say, and—what would Irene? As he thought of her a short, sharp pain ached somewhere in his heart; but he drove the thought of her from his mind and set to business, for a man had come up to buy a horse. Royce was completing the bargain with him when Uncle Jake came up. Uncle Jake had been drinking—it seems rather unnecessary to waste ink upon such a quite superfluous statement; but let it stand—he had been drinking, and his once handsome face was flushed, and his shifty eyes shined with "the light that never was on land or sea."

Behind him were Davy and one or two of the gypsies, and Steve.

"Well, Mr. Jack," said Uncle Jake, as the purchaser led away the horse. "Feeling pretty fit, eh?"

"Thanks—yes, very," said Royce, cheerfully, slipping the money into his pocket. "Why are you so anxious about my health at this present moment, Uncle Jake?"

"You're wasted on the wrestling-platform," he said. "Bill has slipped and sprained his ankle, and you're the best man we've got."

CHAPTER XIV. Royce started slightly and looked straight before him.

"Is there no one else?" he asked. "I can scarcely leave the horses besides—he hesitated a moment, then went on frankly—"I don't particularly care for that business."

"No, there's no one else," replied Uncle Jake. "You're the strong man. Why don't you care for it? You seemed to rather like it at Cumberland."

Royce looked at him absently. It would have been a waste of time and breath to try and explain to Uncle Jake.

"Well, I don't," he said. "Present business pays better," remarked Steve, with a sneer.

Royce looked up at him with a half smile.

"That's true enough," he said. "But not in the way you insinuate, Steve. What a charming villain in a play you would make!"

"There's worse villains than me," snarled Steve, glancing at him significantly.

"Meaning me?" said Royce, pleasantly. "Steve, you're a small young man, and you take advantage of it; but don't go too far."

"Stop squabbling, you two," cut in Uncle Jake. "Are you going on the platform or are you not, Mr. Jack?"

"I'm going to obey orders. Yes," said Royce, grimly. "Here Davy, you take the horses." He beckoned the old man to him and gave him some directions about the prices and so on, and then followed Uncle Jake toward the booths, among which the platform stood. He had promised to share their work, had pledged himself to obey orders, and—he had been a soldier.

They reached the platform, round which a crowd was collected, and Royce proceeded to take off his coat. A group of gypsies stood near and looked at him curiously, and Uncle Jake watched him sideways with a leery smile. As the coat came off, Steve sprang on to the platform, and shouted:

"Now, then, for the champion wrestler! Who'll try a bout with the champion? Walk up, boys, walk up!"

"Up you get!" said Jake, with a chuckle.

Royce tightened his leather belt, and got one foot on the steps, when the group of gypsies parted, and through the narrow lane a slight figure made its way. Royce felt a hand upon his arm, and, turning, saw Madge. Her face was pale and her bosom heaving.

"Where are you going?" she asked. Royce nodded upward. His own face was rather pale and very grave.

"Who sent you? Who told you?" she demanded.

Royce did not answer; but Uncle Jake pushed forward with an air of bravado.

"I told him," he said. "What are you interfering for, Madge? He's the best man we've got, and"—he swore—"why shouldn't he?"

"Uncle Jake is right about the last," said Royce. "Why shouldn't I?" She turned on Jake with flashing eyes.

"Go away—out of my sight!" she said, through her clenched teeth; then she turned to Royce:

"You shall not! I—I forbid it!" (To be continued.)

"I Had General Debility," Writes Mrs. Pelletier.

General Debility or a run-down condition of the system may be due to overwork, going out too soon after an illness, worry, neglecting to take proper care of one's health, sleeplessness, etc. Its symptoms are: weakness, lack of energy. The person so afflicted is easily fatigued, nervous, depressed. Headaches, nervous dyspepsia are other symptoms of nervous debility. Building up the system with Carnol is the way Mrs. Pelletier was benefited. Her letter follows:

"I had general debility. I was all run down. I hadn't any appetite and could only digest liquids. I was nervous, I couldn't sleep. I was losing weight. The least exertion tired me. I consulted my doctor. He said I had general debility. He told me to take several bottles of Carnol because I needed building up. When I told Mr. H. H. Page, the druggist, my trouble he said he knew of no finer tonic. He said he always recommended it when a good, reliable tonic was needed. After taking three bottles I got relief, but I am still taking it. My appetite has come back. I can sleep. I have no more headaches and have already gained ten pounds. I am well satisfied with Carnol and always recommend it to my friends.—Mrs. M. Pelletier, Riviére du Loup, 1923. Carnol is sold by all good druggists everywhere.

CHAPTER XIV. Royce started slightly and looked straight before him.

"Is there no one else?" he asked. "I can scarcely leave the horses besides—he hesitated a moment, then went on frankly—"I don't particularly care for that business."

"No, there's no one else," replied Uncle Jake. "You're the strong man. Why don't you care for it? You seemed to rather like it at Cumberland."

Protection and Capital Levy

VIEWS OF MACDONALD. LONDON, March 18.—Much importance is being attached to the statement of Premier MacDonald on capital levy and protection made during his speech in the House of Commons. The text of his statement regarding the two subjects follows:

"Capital levy is in exactly the same position as protection. It cannot be enacted in this Parliament. We shall not deal with capital levy. No change of that character can be made until a majority of the country is in favor of it. I have not the least doubt that Mr. Chamberlain will go on propagating his doctrine of protection; but, until he or somebody else produces some scheme which will save this country from the exceedingly bad effects, as I think, of a too heavy national debt, increasing the cost of production, diminishing the purchasing value of money, depressing the wage-earning classes in mass, as I think, until the national debt is diminished and paid by honest means, I regard two means as dishonest, one repugnant and the other objectionable—until the national debt is paid off—"paid off" is too long—until the national debt is diminished, until its burden becomes of the nature that can be borne by the people, by the whole body of producers, functions of master and man and so on, I cannot be happy, because I do not believe the country is going to be free to compete in the markets of the world as soon as we enjoy normal conditions again."

If purity and wholesomeness mean anything in a soap then Ivory soap is the correct soap to use, for no soap is more pure, or more wholesome than the white, floating Ivory.

British Crop Prospects Poor

LONDON, March 1. (A.P.)—Grain crops in Great Britain will show a further decline this year. The long spells of wet weather, which have been experienced of late have caused serious delay in the preparation of the land for sowing and ploughing and sowing. Consequently it is impossible for the farmers to make up all the arrears.

Dynamite Smuggling Gains in the Southern Philippines

Manila, March 19. (A.P.)—Smuggling of dynamite from British-North Borneo into the Sulu archipelago is increasing despite the efforts of the Philippine customs authorities. The dynamite is chiefly used by the Moros to kill fish in the waters of the Southern Islands, although the practice has been prohibited by law for many years.

The Moros, who are familiar with all the small coves and harbors, are able to evade the customs authorities who have only a limited patrol service in that region. In their fast vintas (native sailboats) the Moros are able to load their cargoes of dynamite, and frequently a shipment of opium, on the Borneo coast, and under cover of darkness slip across to one of the small islands in the Sulu group, only a few miles away.

Only in rare instances are these smugglers caught, customs officials say.

Don't Say — "Just a Sore Throat"

IN a few days, you know, "just a sore throat" may be something much more serious. For science has proved that the throat is not only the first spot reached by infectious germs, but also forms the ideal soil for them to multiply on.

Throat protection, therefore, means germ destruction and is a duty that you owe your health. It is easily achieved by the regular use of Formamint—the germ-killing throat tablet.

Formamint (which is endorsed by over 5,000 American physicians) is the scientific way of disinfecting the mouth and the throat. Handy to have with you—pleasing in taste—it frees an efficient germicide that mixes with the saliva and so reaches where gargles cannot go.

And a tablet taken occasionally during the day not only brings grateful and immediate relief from "sore throat"—but affords protection against even more distressing ailments that so often follow infection of the throat linings. At all druggists.

Who sent you? Who told you? she demanded.

Royce did not answer; but Uncle Jake pushed forward with an air of bravado.

"I told him," he said. "What are you interfering for, Madge? He's the best man we've got, and"—he swore—"why shouldn't he?"

"Uncle Jake is right about the last," said Royce. "Why shouldn't I?" She turned on Jake with flashing eyes.

"Go away—out of my sight!" she said, through her clenched teeth; then she turned to Royce:

"You shall not! I—I forbid it!" (To be continued.)

Scourge Drives Settlers Home FROM SOUTH SEAS.

PAPEETE, Tahiti—(A.P.)—One of the perils that menace the settler in the South Sea Islands is the strange disease called elephantiasis. This malady, which is prevalent on Tahiti and the neighbouring islands, is an affection of the lymphatic system caused by the invasion of a microscopic worm called "filarii Sanguinifera."

There is a wide difference of opinion as to how the infection enters the system. Some investigators declare that the mosquito plays host to the worm until he enters the human body through the mosquito's attack thereon; others believe that the infection comes from drinking impure water, while the natives hold that the disease is contracted from walking in certain infected districts, through the pores of the feet, in much the same manner that hookworm invades the body.

Many Europeans who have settled in the various islands have contracted the disease. Indeed, on some islands, every European resident suffers from it in a more or less advanced stage.

Elephantiasis takes the form of a chronic intermittent chill and fever, with inflammation and swelling of the lymphatics. With each attack a deposit of morbid lardaceous matter is left in the tissues of the arms and legs, and in time these become permanently deformed and of prodigious size.

The only treatment is residence in a cold climate. For this reason a goodly number of whites who have settled in the islands during the past few years, and who do not know how to take care of themselves in the tropics, have been compelled to abandon their homes and go to a cold country for a prolonged sojourn.

Prehistoric Skeleton Found in Side of Cliff

LEWISTON, Idaho, March 16.—A huge skeleton, believed to be that of a prehistoric human being, has been discovered in the Salmon river country, south of here, by two members of the state highway department who have brought their find to this city. The lower jaw and vertebra will be sent to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D.C., for analysis as to the probable date of existence.

Finally I ventured on a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and kept on using it. At last we were rewarded by the steady healing of the sores, and finally he was completely relieved of them. Premier Poincare Has Tendered His Resignation

Bus and Tram Strike Negotiations Break Down—Lockout in Southampton Dockyards—Destructive Fire in the Suburbs of Tokio.

MINISTERIAL CRISIS IN FRANCE.

PARIS, March 26. The Poincare Ministry has fallen. Premier Raymond Poincare, after an adverse vote in the Chamber of Deputies, this morning, handed his resignation to President Millerand, and it was accepted, carrying with it the resignation of every member of the Cabinet. "Gentlemen," said M. Poincare, as he left the Elysee Palace this a.m., after an interview with President Millerand, "my resignation is final." With that he lifted his hat and, stepping into his carriage, was driven home. He would not, even at the President's earnest request, agree to carry on the remainder of the day. The adverse vote came on a most trifling issue.

PREMIER POINCARÉ DEFEATED AND RESIGNS.

PARIS, March 26. Premier Poincare immediately tendered his resignation to-day, following defeat in the Chamber of Deputies on the Government's Pension Bill. The measure, acceptance of which was made a question of confidence by Finance Minister Lasteysie, in the absence of Premier Poincare, was rejected by a vote of 271 to 264; the Government thus being defeated by 7 votes. Premier Poincare was before the Foreign Affairs Committee at the time, and when the news of the defeat came he immediately called the members of the Cabinet together, and, after consultation, it was decided to resign. They proceeded at once to the Elysee Palace, where President Millerand was awaiting them, and their resignations were presented. The Poincare Government was formed in 1922 to succeed that of Briand. Indications are that M. Millerand will ask Poincare to form a new Cabinet, but the latter has often declared that if part of his Cabinet went down it would all go together.

MAY REORGANIZED.

PARIS, March 26. Premier Poincare will (give?) his decision to-morrow as to whether he will form a new Ministry, as requested by President Millerand.

50 KILLED IN LANDSLIDE.

ROME, March 27. Fifty persons have been killed in a landslide in the seaport of Amalfi, 23 miles southeast of Naples, according to a despatch from Amalfi to the Giornale d'Italia.

BIG FIRE IN JAPAN.

TOKIO, March 27. Six hundred houses were burned to-day in a fire which swept Yosokigaya, a suburb of Tokio. Twenty persons were injured; three thousand are homeless.

FROM CALSHOT TO LYONS.

LYONS, France, March 26. The British world flight aviators, who left Havre at 11 o'clock this a.m. for this city, landed here safely at 3.40 o'clock this p.m. The distance from Calshot, their starting point, yesterday, is 453 miles out of the total of 23,254 miles the schedule calls for.

THE BUS STRIKE.

LONDON, March 27. Replying in the House of Commons to-day to a suggestion of Viscount Curzon that in view of the threat of the strike of the tube railway men to join the strike of tram and bus employees, the Government should organize for the emergency with chairmen and lorries in order to minimize the intolerable suffering and hardship to which workers who have to depend on transport to earn their daily bread would be deliberately subjected owing to the continuance of the dispute, Premier MacDonald stated that an emergency committee was preparing to meet immediately to present proposals, but he still hoped it would be unnecessary for any action to be taken, particularly as it is understood the points in dispute have very considerably been reduced.

STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS FAIL.

LONDON, Mar. 26. Negotiations looking to a settlement between the striking bus and tramway workers and their employers which were underway throughout the day at the Ministry of Labor, under the Chairmanship of Minister of Labour Shaw broke down last night. Deadlock came in consequence of refusal of the bus and tram men to accept an increase of five shillings weekly instead of the eight shillings demanded, leaving the additional three shillings to arbitration.

A LOCK-OUT.

LONDON, Mar. 26. Efforts to induce the striking shipyard men at Southampton to resume work having failed, shipbuilding employers decided to-day to enforce a general lockout in all shipyards.

A BOLSHEVIST LEADER MURDERED.

LONDON, Mar. 26. The Bolshevist leader Davidoff, member of the All-Russia Central Committee, has been murdered in a village, near Stravropol, in Cis-Caucasia according to the Daily Mail's Riga correspondent. He was heading a commission inquiring into the execution of peasants by the Cheka, and was struck over the head by an axe in the hands of the son of one of the Cheka victims.

SWEDISH-RUSSIAN ACCORD.

STOCKHOLM, Mar. 26. Another step towards closer relations between Sweden and Russia is seen in the reciprocal appointment of Envoys, which has just taken place. Russia has named M. Vossinsky, previously unofficial commercial representative in Stockholm, as her Minister to Sweden, and Sweden has designated Councillor Carl Gerhard Von Heidenstam, Secretary to the Swedish Legation in Petrograd during the Czarist regime, as her Charge d'Affaires in Moscow.

STEAMERS COLLIDE OFF DUNGENESS.

LONDON, Mar. 26. Messages to Lloyds from the North Foreland report that the Japanese steamer Tokofuku-Maru sank after collision with the German steamer Heimdel, and that 23 of her crew were missing. The collision occurred near Dungeness in a thick fog last night. The Heimdel took off fifteen survivors and landed them at Dover.

WATCH FOR FRIDAY NIGHT'S BIG BILL.

Opening of Blaney's Great Stage Success

"More to be Pitied than Scorned," the first of a series of screen revivals of the thrilling stage plays of Charles E. Blaney, opened last night at the Crescent Theatre.

With an all-star cast of players comprising J. Frank Glendon, Alice Lake, Rosemary Theby, Philo McGilgoush, Baby Josephine Adair and others, the great Blaney play made an instant hit with the first-night audience.

Baby Adair scored heavily as Ruth Lorraine, and Alice Lake as the wife and mother made a figure which appealed both to the eye and the sympathies. Glendon was his usual dramatic self, and his work held the audience breathless throughout the six reels of the picture.

The scenic investiture is unusually rich and attractive, especially the interior views of Julian Lorraine's home.

The New York critics, who were unanimous in their expressions of approval, appear to have been justified in their comments.

While we are at it, we wish to call the attention of Crescent patrons to the big Amateur Contest which takes place to-morrow night. This is an event you look forward to each week, and an enjoyable night is always assured.

The scenic investiture is unusually rich and attractive, especially the interior views of Julian Lorraine's home.

Obituary.

LAURENCE BARRON.

The remains of the late Laurence Barron, the unfortunate victim of the fatal train accident on St. Patrick's night were enclosed in a handsome casket by Undertaker Dunphy and Constable Grouchy conveyed to his home by other helping hands and waked for the night. Dr. Paterson held a post mortem examination next morning, and ordered the body to be buried that evening. At two p.m. the members of the Star of the Sea Association met at his late home, and attended in processional order at the funeral of their late brother member. The funeral took place from the home to the church where the last prayers were read over him by Rev. Fr. Finn and thence to the cemetery where interment took place. This tragic happening has saddened the community whose heartfelt and sincere sympathy goes forth to the sons of the ill-fated man, and may his soul rest in peace.

Patrons Delighted With "The Great Alone"

MONROE SALISBURY REACHES APEX OF HIS CAREER.

Picture-goers will have no regrets in seeing Monroe Salisbury in "The Great Alone," at the Nickel. The confirmed fan who has seen this virile star in "The Barbarian," "The Man in the Moonlight," "The Sleeping Lion," or other of his pictures will find even greater delight in this latest of his films, than the occasional playgoer. As "Silent" Duval in "The Great Alone," Salisbury reaches the apex of his screen career, giving an interpretation of the character of the half-breed which is a polished bit of acting.

We must pause to mention a name new to us, but which we believe will be one to conjure with—Maria Draga, Salisbury's leading lady in this production. We are told she has not yet celebrated her sixteenth birthday, a fact which is easy to believe. But her emotional powers are so great and her artistry so perfect that it might well be the envy of more mature actresses, and we predict stardom for her.

Language Question in Ireland Complicates Court Procedure

Dublin, March 15. (A.P.)—The question whether the Irish language will be used in the courts of Ireland has its side lights, one of which concerns two interpreters.

It is admitted that at present in Irish speaking districts the chances of litigation depend largely on the good faith and accuracy of the interpreters. At the end of one case, a juror, the winner, said to the loser: "What did you pay your interpreter?"

"Five pounds," was the reply. "I gave my man ten pounds," said the winner, "and the money was well spent."

President Cosgrave has declared that under present circumstances the law would not be able to man the bench if a practical knowledge of Irish was obligatory.

Rio Girls Desert Beaches

Rather than wear skirts, Rio de Janeiro, Mar. 19. (A.P.)—wing to a sudden burst of modesty on the part of the police, the thousands who enjoy the splendid sun-bathing on this city's beautiful beaches have been submitted to new and severe regulations. The new rules are especially irksome to those youths and maidens who feel that they have no reason to complain of nature's handwork. A considerable number of bathers have been rudely yanked from the beaches because they tried to get by with "one piece" bathing suits. In addition to paying fines, they were obliged to wear them below the knee hereafter. The frequenters of one fashionable beach were indignant at the new restrictions, and planned an unique protest. They agreed to go for their morning plunge on a certain day, the men being dressed in frock coats and high silk hats, and the women in their demurest day' dresses. This scheme was accompanied by a campaign of publicity. The police checked this move also prohibiting the demonstration. The organizers of the protest then sought a court injunction against the police to enable them to bathe in their silk hats and everything if they wanted to. The court ruled, however, that the police were within their rights because the purpose of the protest was to ridicule established

As a result of the dispute, the sea waves now wash Rio's beautiful beaches in lonesome monotony. MONARD'S LINIMENT FOR CORNS.

INTER-CLUB BILLIARDS.
Honors Evenly Divided on Last Night's Play.
One of the largest gatherings that ever attended a billiard tournament was present at the B.I.S. rooms last night to witness the B.I.S. and Masonic players in action. Two very interesting games followed, and the final outcome resulted in the Masonic team gaining a one point advantage.
Although the first game between Wallace and Harnum was rather slow, good billiards was witnessed in spots, but the final game between Freeman and Skinner was probably the best played match of the series. Skinner, who had a splendid run of breaks, lost to his opponent by 27 points. Freeman played a steady game right through and made several rather difficult shots.
Last night's scores are as follows:
W. J. Wallace (B.I.S.)—24, 11, 15, 14, 15, 22, 11, 11, 13, 11, 15, 11—172.
L. J. Harnum (Masonic)—24—10, 12, 10, 14, 10, 20—86.
G. Freeman (Masonic)—350—11, 20, 10, 20, 18, 12, 21, 17, 12, 16, 26, 12—195.
W. B. Skinner (B.I.S.)—225—11, 33, 24, 14, 11, 26, 23, 10, 16, 24, 17, 22—231.
Two games will be played to-night as follows:—H. Buckingham (B.I.S.) vs. F. Wornell (Masonic); and D. French (B.I.S.) vs. G. Knowling (Masonic).

A GENEROUS OFFER.
It is understood that an executive meeting of the Star of the Sea Association was held last night at which it was decided to give their hall to the Newfoundland Billiard Association for the championship billiard tournament, which begins next week in aid of the G. W. V. A.

A meeting of the Amateur Athletic Association will be held in the office of Messrs. Higgins, Hunt and Emerson to-morrow night at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of finalizing arrangements in connection with the forthcoming boxing tournament. At this meeting it is said one of the members will make some startling exposures regarding the amateur standing of several of our foremost athletes. It is hoped a large attendance of members will be present.

WILLIE RITCHIE TO TRY ANOTHER RING COMEBACK.
Willie Ritchie is going to try a "comeback."
This is interesting rather than important. Ritchie, once holder of the lightweight championship, tried one comeback in 1919, and failed after a game, spirited battle against Benjie Leonard. Ritchie will probably fail again this time, only quicker and with less attendant fireworks. Ritchie was a gallant fighter in his day—not a great one, perhaps, but game and colorful in action. He won the title from a little savage, Ad. Wolgast, and whipped all the tough eggs that flourished a decade ago.

Few fighters will ever be able to point to a more meteoric career. Ritchie went to bed one night an unheard of fourth rater and awoke the next day a championship prospect.
He Subbed.
A last minute substitution for Ad Wolgast, who had been stricken with appendicitis, Ritchie took on the great Freddie Welsh in a twenty round battle and gave him the fight of his life. Ritchie scored the Britisher in the eleventh round and had him running away in the last three rounds. Due to stage fright, Ritchie was slow to start, and Welsh piled up an early lead which saved the decision for him. The splendid showing against Welsh led directly to a title fight with Wolgast, and Ritchie won on a foul in the sixteenth round.

Ritchie was one of those rare battlers who strike straight from the shoulder.
Ritchie would have lasted longer and made more out of the business if he had been less headstrong.
He Bit.
Ritchie showed little intelligence in agreeing to defend his title against Welsh in London, under English prize ring rules, which place a premium on flashy footwork and light jabbing. Welsh had the footwork and the jab, also the bat with which to lure the American champion overseas—a $20,000 guarantee. Ritchie put up a thrilling fight and was the aggressor all the way. Moreover, he landed all the hard, telling blows.
Here in America the fight would have gone to Ritchie without question. Fighting the way Americans fight, Ritchie had scored an American victory.

Welsh, on the other hand, had fought in typical English style, had danced around Ritchie with an easy grace and peppered him with light, annoying jabs, each of which counted a point under English rules.
At the end of the fight Eugene Corri, a referee, tallied his points, and announced that Welsh had won the fight and the championship by half a point—the narrowest margin by which a title ever changed hands.

CANADIENS BEAT VANCOUVER THREE TO TWO.
Superior Speed Won The Game For Montreal Team.
MONTREAL, March 18.—Canadians took the lead in the Stanley Cup semifinals here to-night when they defeated the Vancouver Maroons in the first game by a score of three to two.
Superior speed in the last two periods accounted for the N.H.L. champions' margin. Vancouver players showed signs of their recent cross country journey and a slight unfamiliarity with the eastern style of play.
The line-up:—
Vancouver—Lechman, goal; Cook, Duncan, defence; F. Boucher, centre; Skinner, Bostrum, wings; MacKay, Parkes, Matte, Catch, subs.
Canadiens—Veniza, goal; S. Cleghorn, Coutt, defence; Morens, centre; Jollit, W. Boucher, wings; O. Cleghorn, R. Boucher, Bell, Mantha, Cameron, subs.
Referee—Art Ross.

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE INCREASE OPERATIONS.
Expansion at Rate of 5% Monthly from April 1 is Pres. Vauclain's Plan.
Phila.—I expect to increase operations at Baldwin Locomotive Works 5% April 1 and expand at the rate of 5% per month thereafter," says Pres. Vauclain. "New business is increasing, and the outlook is better than it was at beginning of the year."

So far this year we have booked about 80% of our budget for the period covered, and unfilled orders at present approximate $8,500,000, the highest point they have stood this year, and are about double what they were at beginning of the year.
For first quarter of 1924 operations were reduced early in January after running at capacity the last half of 1923. Although business has been increasing, some orders are for forward delivery, which has delayed increasing the rate of output. Number of employes has run fairly uniform since the first of the year, and will be gradually built up beginning next month.
Since first of the year the company has booked orders for 148 locomotives of all sizes, of which 84 were booked in January, 20 in February and 44 in March to date. Orders for foreign engines are, of course, separate from repair work and orders for parts and specialties. Of the total, 125 are for domestic roads and 13 for foreign roads. Largest order booked so far this year was 57 engines for Atchafalaya, to cost about $3,840,000. Other orders included six for International & Great Northern, valued at about $306,000; 10 for Union Pacific valued at about $300,000; 25 for Atlantic Coast Line valued at $1,250,000; five for Reading valued at $270,000; five for the Southern Railway valued at $400,000.—Boston News Bureau.

The Overthrow of a Strong Man.

The resignation of Premier Poincare following immediately upon his defeat in the Chamber of Deputies does not come as a surprise to those who have been watching events in France, but it will be the occasion of general regret even to those who believed that his attitude on the reparations question was to a great extent responsible for the weakening of the bonds of the entente cordiale.

Premier Poincare may be termed obstinate, and he certainly does possess that characteristic; he may be said to have considered french interests first, and to have shown but little regard for the war claims of Great Britain. In that opinion too there is more truth than fiction. By some people he is accused of insincerity and of having deserted his ally, but the accuracy or otherwise of these assertions depends entirely upon the point of view from which his actions and the actions of others are judged.

It will be generally admitted, however that he has proved himself a strong man, and that his actions have always been prompted by intensely patriotic motives.

The occupation of the Ruhr may have been and probably was an error of judgment, but it was a mistake of which under similar circumstances any statesman might have been guilty. Numerous conferences over the reparations problems invariably ended in a stalemate, and in the meanwhile the industrial life of the country was showing but little signs of recovery. Seeing no hope of wringing from Germany by united action the compensation due the Allies under the terms of the treaty, Poincare decided to take the matter in his own hands, and compel Germany to pay what was owing to France, or take the consequences. The cost of the occupation of the territory, the effectiveness of the passive resistance of the German people, and the opposition of the allied powers to France's taking more vigorous measures resulted in the defeat of Poincare's plans.

Since the Armistice, France, like Mr. Micawber, has been living on expectations, and when the occupation failed in its object, she would have been, but for immense reserves, thrown on her beam ends. Even with those, her financial stability received a shock, and the only alternative to borrowing, was to increase taxation and reduce expenditure.

Taxation, and particularly direct taxation has always been the bete noire of the Frenchman, and for that reason no government has had the courage to impose upon the people anything like the burden of taxation borne in the neighbouring countries. Realizing this fact, and realizing also that he might stave off a financial panic for the time being by raising loans, Poincare proved his strength of character, and instead of taking the line of least resistance, he decided to attempt to balance the Budget.

At once he met with the strongest resistance to his financial measures, and it was only by his own aggressiveness that he carried them through. His victory, however, only served to call attention to the failure of his policy in the Ruhr, and his enemies, quick to take advantage of the gathering wave of indignation, have at last succeeded in their object and brought about his resignation. Now it remains to be seen what policy they will follow. We have watched the franc day by day fall lower and lower until it almost looks as though it might like the mark become a cipher. France is heavily in debt to Britain and America, and there is little hope of stabilizing her finances by means of the long looked for reparations from Germany.

In referring to this problem, the Manchester Guardian says: "The French investor is a very different person from the French politician. The new taxes frighten him, the Ruhr frightens him, sixty million Germans across the Rhine frighten him, estrangement from England frightens him. The small investor of France, as much as bigger capitalists elsewhere, wants above all else a sense of security. For the time being he has lost it. The future of France requires that it should be restored. If French politicians of the Left can succeed in turning the policy of their country to whole-hearted co-operation with England they may do far more for the financial credit of France than all M. Poincare's taxes.

"They cannot now get a great deal out of Germany for some years to come, and some increase in taxation is unavoidable, but if they will restore the Ruhr to full productivity under German control, if they will so far as possible obliterate the follies and wrongs committed against Germany, which are the chief causes for France's fear of her, and if they will work loyally with England for happier political relations on the Continent, they will probably find the quickest if not the only road to French solvency. The collapse of the franc is a calamity for France and a danger to everyone. But if it produces a revulsion of feeling against the financial chicanery and political blindness of the last few years we shall not, and even a Frenchman need not, regret."

The Humber Strike.

The situation which has arisen in the Humber area calls for prompt action on the part of the Government, and we feel certain that they will not fail to see that the grievances of the Newfoundlanders employed by the Company are thoroughly investigated. Complaints from the works have reached us from time to time, but in the absence of evidence to corroborate them we have been compelled to withhold them from publication.

It is doubtless necessary as a precautionary measure to bring police to the scene, but smothering the flame does not mean quenching the fire. An enquiry on the spot is essential, and this should be conducted by someone who is familiar with such work and who would be uninfluenced in his judgment by the magnitude of the corporation or by the attitude of the strike leaders.

We suggest that the Hon. Mr. Hawco be sent to make the investigation, as he is not only fully conversant with such work, but he also seems to possess the necessary tact and fearlessness which would command respect and confidence.

ATTENTION OF BRITISH PUBLIC CALLED TO ALLEGED BESCO DEAL.
LONDON, Mar. 26.
(By Can. Press cable)—A correspondent of the Daily Herald, alluding to the Newfoundland craft revelations, says that while it is up to the people of that Dominion to deal with Squire it is up to the people of Great Britain to realize that there are two parties to that offence, and that if the Premier of Newfoundland is guilty of taking bribes, the Dominion Steel Corporation is guilty of tendering them corresponding proceeds, and commiserates those who are the British directors of this concern. It is shown that they are also in the front rank of the British coal and steel barons. One of their companies has been announced guilty of bribing the Prime Minister. They owe us full and frank explanation, writes the correspondent. The Canadian Press invited one of the directors in question to comment on the foregoing, but he declined neither could he say if the British directors would make any statement. The British directors mentioned in the Herald's correspondence are Lord Invernairn, Lord Purness, Sir Newton Moore and Benjamin Talbot.

PROPAGANDA IN THE FORM OF RELIEF.
BERLIN, Mar. 27.
Japan's suspicion of the sources from which contributions of 15,000 men was recently received ostensibly for relief of workmen victims in the recent earthquake apparently is well founded, in the opinion of a section of the German press. These newspapers say so called Germany's workmen's relief is really a form of propaganda financed by Moscow but operated out of Germany.

ITALIAN DISASTER CAUSED BY OVERFLOWING RIVER.
LONDON, Mar. 27.
Despatch to the exchange telegraph from Rome says that the disaster at Amalfi in which fifty men were killed by a landslide was caused by the river Cannetto going out of its banks which was followed by landslides which destroyed the famous Capri convent and some hotels and buildings in the village. Grave fears are felt for tourists many of whom were stopping in local hotels.

AUSTRALIA BUILDING WAR SHIPS.
MELBOURNE, Australia, Mar. 27.
Confirming the report that the Federal Premier S. M. Bruce has announced the immediate construction of one light cruiser in Australia and one in England, the Melbourne Herald says it anticipates that Premier Bruce will announce in Parliament a proposal to order six modern submarines from England of L class.

STRIKE THREATENS TO EXTEND TO UNDERGROUND AND ELECTRIC TRAINS.
LONDON, Mar. 27.
There were no signs to-night of any settlement of the strike bus and tramway workers, and with the threatened lockout in the shipbuilding trade and the dispute with the coal miners still unsettled, the Ministry of Labor seemed destined for a while to have their hands full with work. All these labor troubles have been slowly maturing for months but opponents of the Labor government connect their having reached an acute with the advent of the MacDonald government, the ministers of which daily have to sustain questions and attacks in Parliament. To-day the attacks took the form of heckling. They were asked whether the government was disposed to place any lorries and other conveyances at the disposal of the much harassed citizens of London in the event of the strike extending to the underground and electric railways next Friday. On this subject Premier MacDonald declined to commit himself. He expressed hopefulness of an early settlement of the strike, but announced in view of the threatened expansion of it, an emergency committee would meet immediately to arrange to combat the situation.

PROMINENT CANADIAN FINANCIER PASSED AWAY.
TORONTO, March 27.
Sir Edmund Walker, D.C.L., LL.D., C.V.O., one of the most outstanding figures in the Banking and Financial world in Canada, and who was internationally known, died early this morning at his home here after an illness of only a few days of pneumonia. He was in his seventy-sixth year. Lady Walker passed away last summer.

POINCARÉ MAY RECONSIDER HIS RESIGNATION.
PARIS, March 27.
It was regarded as virtually certain to-day that Premier Poincaré would reconsider his resignation according to the majority of the Press and the advice of his friends to reconstitute a Cabinet. Thus the unexpected defeat of the Government yesterday would not serve to infuse new blood into the administration and allow the continuance of M. Poincaré's policy.

PRIVY COUNCIL MEET TO CONSIDER STRIKE SITUATION.
LONDON, March 27.
So seriously does the Government regard the situation created by the continuance of the tram and bus strike and the apparently inevitable entry of the subwaymen into the fight to-morrow night, according to the morning newspapers, that a Privy Council has been called for to-day to consider a question of national emergency. Some go so far as to say that the order has been issued and awaits only the King's signature.

Strike of Workmen At Deer Lake
DEMAND MADE FOR INCREASE OF PAY FOR ALL CLASSES OF LABOR.
According to messages received yesterday by the Prime Minister from Major Butler about 1000 employed at Deer Lake have gone on strike. Up to noon to-day the strike was still on. The Prime Minister, Hon. W. R. Warren, has offered to mediate between the men and the Company. The strike broke out at Deer Lake, the men ceasing work yesterday afternoon and demanding an increase of five cents an hour for practically all classes of workers. In reply to a message asking for particulars, the Prime Minister was informed last evening that the following rates of pay prevailed: Ordinary labourers, 25 cents an hour; carpenters, rough work, 30 to 40 cents an hour; other tradesmen 35 to 45 cents an hour; while the men were boarded at 85 cents to $1.00 a day. Boarding, of course, is optional, and the men could provide for themselves if they preferred to do so.

Police gathered from Grand Falls, Bay of Islands and other nearby places are being dispatched to the scene, although it is not thought that the strike will be accompanied by acts of violence. Inspector Peet from the city left by train to-day, and it is understood he is proceeding to the scene.

THE HUM ON THE HUMBER.
Murmurs of dissatisfaction from time to time have been heard from our people who have gone to the Humber for employment. There is a feeling that for doing equal work our men are not receiving as much pay as the outsiders, whom the different sub-contractors have brought in. If this contention is true it ought to be remedied with dispatch. Regarding ordinary navy work, the contract specifies that the minimum rate of wage is not to be less than $2.50 per day. At this rate the men are being paid, but they contend for the same class of work outside this country the contractors have to pay a higher wage. Considerable dissatisfaction has been experienced by the local workmen with the bosses from outside, but exactly what the complaint is has not been definitely ascertained.

Rocksheds Closed
Work at the rock shed, east and west, closed down yesterday. The men are now engaged cleaning the streets and opening up roads in the suburbs which are blocked with snow. All relief work in the city will close on Saturday. Arrangements are being made to secure employment for several hundred of the men at the Humber. Nothing definite can be decided at present owing to the trouble at Deer Lake.

SEALING NEWS

According to messages received last night from the sealing fleet on the northern front, the respective ships are trying their utmost to force their way into White Bay. The steamers Eagle, Thetis and Seal altered their former positions slightly, and very poor progress was made, due to the rafting ice. The Thetis made four miles and reported sighting scattered old harp on the barrel. The weather and ice reports received by the Department of Marine and Fisheries to-day state that N.W. winds and S.W. winds prevail at St. Deep and Coecharn's Cove respectively. Should the wind from these directions grow stronger during the day it would help the ships considerably, and news of a more encouraging nature might soon be received. The messages are as follows:—

BOYRING BROS.
Saguenay—Position unchanged.
Ranger—Hauled to-day 360 young hoods. Total stowed 3,400.
Eagle—Making a slow progress. Blasting and butting all day.
Terra Nova—Position unchanged.
Yiking—50 miles S.W. by W. Entry Island. Thick fog, ice tight; ship jammed.

JOB BROS. & CO.
Neptune—Position 6 miles east of Horse Island. Light breeze, north west, Eagle 8 miles south by east. Men working all day clearing ship from rafters.

Sealhunters Adrift

FOUR MEN IN PUNT CAUGHT IN ICE OFF GREENSPOND.

Yesterday afternoon Hon. W. H. Cave received a message from Magistrate James of Greenspond stating that a punt containing four men that were engaged sealhunting had been driven off the land and that men in boats had put off to their assistance. Later the following message was received:—"Punt drawing slowly with ice towards off Gooseberry Island. Estimate the position with spyglass about three miles N.N.E. off Gooseberry Island. Motor boats and punts have been trying to get to them, but find it impossible, and have returned. Water is about three miles eastward of men. Grave fears as to their rescue entertained until the aid of a steamer."

J. W. JAMES.
On receipt of the message arrangements were made to have the Daisy dispatched to the scene. The ship left here at 4 p.m. and passed Capt St. Francis a few hours later. This forecast a message stating that the Daisy was about 10 miles South Cape Bonaville and about 4 miles off the land in ice and apparently jammed Mr. Cave received a further message from Magistrate James to-day stating that from the 19th inst. four men have been on the off. Gooseberry Island seal-hunting and that last night signals (gares) were showing which, it was assumed, meant that the men adrift in the dory had landed. He received a wire this morning from Plat Island stating that a punt with sails up had been sighted 6 miles East of that place.

It is well indexed, it contains no advertisements, and the articles are written by recognized authorities. Illustrations of the New Flags of Europe in colour form an interesting feature. That it is up to date is shown by the fact that the last Election returns in Gt. Britain are given. It is a most valuable book of reference to the student, and to the ordinary reader. It supplies a fund of general information.

A Beautiful Cream.
Three Flowers Vanishing Cream is a non-greasy cream, but unlike many vanishing creams, it is so constituted as not to be too drying to the skin. It is instantly absorbed by the pores, leaving a smooth, velvety surface. Any shine there may be on the skin, disappears as this cream is absorbed. It protects the skin from wind and cold, and prevents chapping.

For Reckless Motorists

It will be interesting to see whether the clauses about reckless motor-driving in the new Criminal Justice Bill will be evaded—if they pass—or rigorously applied, as they ought to be.
They permit first offenders to be fined £50 with three months' imprisonment. The imprisonment is the part that matters.
At present imprisonment is an alternative penalty for a second offence and it is very seldom allotted.
We all know that, in consequence, there are road-pirates who are continually "guilty and proud of it."
They regard endorsed licences much as the globe-trotting traveller does a well-used passport, freely stamped with visas and permits. All this is evidence of their prowess in speed.
Imprisonment would usually condemn them to an irksome immobility and give the public time to get out of their way.—Daily Mirror.

Well Done The Telegram

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The expression contained in the above words typified public sentiment on Saturday after the reading of your great editorial on the conditions disclosed in the recent enquiry. It ranks amongst the greatest public pronouncements ever made in your fine old paper, and it will assuredly accomplish an immense degree of good. Justice must be meted out now to all designated malefactors, otherwise conditions in the Colony will revert to a far worse state than we have been obliged to put up with since those persons seized the reins of power in 1919. I do not desire to dictate to His Excellency the Governor as to what is his obvious duty with respect to the retention amongst his advisers of certain individuals who have been referred to in such definite terms by the Royal Commissioner. He is fully cognisant of that duty, I presume and will not be impressed with the contention that he is powerless to act. But the facts are too plain to be ignored. He is the representative of the Crown, the symbol of honor, purity, and justice, and as such cannot permit that symbol to be surrounded by any man whom a Royal Commission charged with having been guilty of acts corrupting and nefarious. Respect for the bulwarks of the Empire, the British Crown and Constitution, will rapidly vanish should His Excellency fail to measure up to the exalted ideals he represents, and then nothing but Bolshevik law will rapidly ensue. The great moral loyals public, the respecters of law and order, the men who are endeavouring to make an honorable struggle for a living in this country, to make conditions fit for their families to live here, are about fed up now with such politicians, many of whom still retain the power to sink this Colony into further ruin and degradation. Business men, mechanics and all class of trade developers, men earnestly desirous, if honestly death with, of turning over the wheels of commerce to promote prosperity are still eager to do so, but these trade developers will not stand for another moment's perpetuation in office of those who would relentlessly exact huge taxes from them, either directly or indirectly, and use these taxes again, as they have used them before, for the purpose of wholesale bribery. Business men who toll in their stores and offices from early morning till late in the evening, at the ceaseless unvoluble problem of grinding out a living, will not submit any longer to be the convenient prey of professional tax-gatherers who would extend outrageous taxes from them in order to prolong a reign of further infamy. They are not going to complacently bend under the torture any longer of working on behalf of a practical gang, rank failures and incompetents, who luxuriate in governmental surrounding and are aided by their parasites to purchase the votes of deluded men who fail to understand that the money accepted is a part of the spoil to which their own very selves have already contributed in the shape of crushing taxes, and which money will be taken back from them again by means of still more taxes on every bit of food they eat and every article of clothing they may wear. Innocent men should be made to understand that the so-called gift of money from those who are offering it bears the same resemblance to a home in the middle of the night, that would partially restore the following day, only to again return a few nights later to rob that and much more still; except with the difference that the political thief is low-towed to, and not rounded up by detectives or police officers, whilst the common thief is put in a chamber of horrors on Market Hill, pilloried next day before a bar of justice, bored with an inquisitorial angur by relentless court prosecutors, censured and condemned by the frowning magistrate and then conducted hand-cuffed to the Penitentiary dungeon branded as a criminal and an out-cast for ever and ever. To set Justice upon a dignified pedestal in reality, is the duty now of all honest men. Let the Governor begin the work at once; then all of us shall give him our heartiest and strongest support. The oldest Colony of the finest Empire the world has ever seen, stands now at the parting of the ways, brought thither by individuals whose heads should hide in shame for evermore. Which way will the Master of the situation, that is the voters, direct its further course? The road to anarchy, more poverty, desolation, and Bolshevik disruption and disrespect, or the reverse? I have faith that our sturdy people are yet true to the best traditions which stand for the maintenance of those honorable principles essential to the present of the ordinary happiness we all desire. Dismiss them first and foremost from those high positions of state all who have proved themselves unworthy of their trust and deal out their just deserts to all associated with them so that the country may obtain a fair chance to right itself again and to give to all its inhabitants an honest and contented living. So say we all who love our native land.

Your truly,
HONESTY AND JUSTICE.

Ruins of a Long-Forgotten People

Donald Richardson, a traveller who has just arrived at Lerwick, Shet Islands, tells a fascinating story of the search for the history of an ancient race by the Japanese in one of the islands taken over from Germany by Japan in the world war.

"On the island of Lule, one of the Caroline group, where I spent several months," says Mr. Richardson, "a Japanese scientific expedition is studying the marvellous ruins of an ancient race and civilization which cover hundreds of acres.

"These ruins are said to far exceed in interest and possible importance those of any other part of the world. They possess all the mystery of the pyramids of Egypt and may have back of them the secret of a vast continent that now lies under the deep waters of the Western Pacific.

"I was told that enough had been discovered in these ruins to prove that they belonged to a race of people of which there is now no connecting knowledge. That the remains of one of the deserted cities upon Lule must, at one time, have had a population of more than 200,000 is apparent. The ruins consist of wide and deep canals, great stone walls, massive staircases, a multitude of rooms, earthworks that consist of mounds and long parallel embankments.

"So far as I could learn no exploration of the mounds has been made. In the buildings some beautiful specimens of pottery, unlike any found in prehistoric ruins in other parts of the world have been discovered by the Japanese investigators, I do not know.

A Venice of Long Ago.

"The deserted city with its network of canals must have been a Venice in its day. The ruins run abruptly into the sea and how far they extend under water no one knows. The blocks of stone in the walls and buildings are of enormous size and to have raised them to their present positions must have required more than man-power. Where the stone came from is a mystery; none of the kind is found in the islands. No more stupendous ruins are to be found anywhere.

"It was to the island of Lule that 'Bully' Hayes, a notorious chief of the Pacific, came in the early eighties and sought to set up a little empire of his own. Hayes was a native of Cleveland, O., and his wild exploits in the waters of the antipodes and the more northern seas bordering Japan and China made him a terror to peaceful merchantmen and the natives of beach towns on scores of isolated islands.

"When Hayes landed with his crew on Lule there were big prices put upon his head by the authorities ranging all the way from Sydney to Shanghai. He had barely got his little island government going when a barque from Honolulu put into the harbor and its skipper informed Hayes that a British warship was on its way to Lule to take him captive. The outlaw of the ocean gathered his motley crew on board and set sail. It was his last voyage. Way down in the South Seas he was shot and killed by one of his own men."

Production of Coal

Wood to-day is being deposited in swamps over most of the earth. The necessary elements required to make coal are an abundance of wood to be submerged, a marsh full of water for the wood to lie in, and a supply of mud to cover the wood occasionally to seal it up from decay. Whenever these conditions are fulfilled wood is put to rest. Peat differs from wood in that it is lightly oxidized, but otherwise its structure is unchanged. The second stage of coal is lignite. Here the woody structure is still discernible, but the hardening process has gone further. The third stage is bituminous coal. This mineral is black instead of brown, and woody fossils in it are somewhat rare.

Captain John Burke

A Famous Seal-Killer of the Past Century.

(H. F. SHORTTS.)
During the latter half of the past century we had many famous seal-killers, and amongst them I have selected in this issue, Capt. John Burke, father of our popular local poet, dramatist and inimitable comedian, Mr. John Burke of this city. Capt. Burke was a highly educated man, a thorough navigator, and as capable and experienced mariner as ever walked the quarter deck. As a seal-killer he was in the front rank, having brought in many loads of seals while in command of the James Henry, Kingsloch, Nautilus, and other vessels, out of the enterprising firm of Lawrence O'Brien. In the Spring of 1852, memorable for the great destruction amongst our sealing fleet, Capt. Burke was in command of the Kingsloch, and, although it was a terrible Spring, he managed to save his vessel and arrive in St. John's with 6000 seals. Not alone did he save his own vessel and cargo, but he also was the means of saving two other ships and having them brought to St. John's by a portion of his crew which he placed on board them after they had been abandoned by their own masters and crews. This is how it happened. In the year 1852 young Capt. Joe Houlihan took charge of his father's vessel, the Caledonia, and secured a full load of seals, but had to abandon the vessel in the neighborhood of the Wadhams. Capt. Burke in the Kingsloch, owned by Lawrence O'Brien, some days after discovered the Caledonia with no crew on board—put eight or ten of his own men on the brig, and brought her to St. John's. I think there was some litigation over the matter, and finally a settlement was arrived at. Capt. Burke also brought in the "Dash" the same Spring, by putting his master watch, Pat Kelly of Cochrane St. and 7 men on board her, after finding her abandoned in the ice-floes. The Dash was owned by the famous Capt. John Barron, grandfather of Mr. John Barron, merchant of this city, and Mr. Denis Barron of the Commercial Cable Co. Capt. Barron was undoubtedly one of the most successful seal-killers in our history, and in my young days he was known far and near as the "Great" John Barron. He was also engaged in several other vessels during his eventful career. I do not think he was in command of the Dash that Spring—as it comes to my memory that she was commanded by Capt. Gallishaw—a name also famous in St. John's. The same year the schooner George, which sailed from St. John's on a second trip to the icefields, was struck by a heavy sea, about 250 miles N.E. of the Grey Islands, which washed the master (W. Linegar) and six of the crew overboard, carried away both masts, bulwarks, stanchions and boats. The vessel arrived in St. John's under jury masts on June 6th. They would never give up their ships in those days while they had a plank to stand on. On May 13th there were a number of sealers jammed at the head of Green Bay, most of them with good trips. Old Capt. Joe Houlihan had 5,500 in the Coquette, owned by the great firm of W. & H. Thomas of this city—the Brothers, Bartlett, 3,400; Creole, Staunton, owned by Brocklebank & Anthony, 3,700; Scottish Lass, Neill, owned by McBride & Kerr, 3,500; Chedabucto, Cole, 2,500; Margaret, Cummins, Job Bros. & Co., 4,700; Jno. Stafford, owned by Lawrence Macassey, 2,200; Lena, Foshan, Bowring Bros., 3,800; Norwal, Lynch, L. O'Brien & Co., 2,000; St. John's Lass Egan, Hunter & Co., 2,100; Argo, Pomeroy, Brooking & Son, 2,000; John & Rachel, Taylor, Beine Johnston & Co., 2,400; Cora, Jackman, Mudge & Co., 3,500. The remainder averaged something like 1,500. The total number of vessels which sailed from St. John's that Spring (Spring of the Wadhams) was 97—aggregating 10,236 tons, with crews of 9,862 men. The total amount insured in the St. John's Mutual Insurance Association was $50,375 (fifty thousand three hundred and seventy-five pounds). Of course many of the vessels were insured in other offices. The year 1852 was also a very disastrous Spring, known as the Spring of Green Bay. The famous Capt. Edward White wrote to Job Bros. & Co., on board the Evinthos at sea dated April 6th, 1852:—
"As to losses I am afraid the number will be fearful. I have seen some six or eight go down the last few days, among which are the Emily Tobin, Melrose and Margaret, besides several others I cannot name."
"I have been driven from the Fuiks since the 28th ult.—tightly jammed. We are now off Cape St. Francis and expect to be driven to Cape Race before getting clear."
"The young harps are in Green Bay and White Bay. The vessels cannot enter more than half a mile in the jam of ice, and then they subject themselves to damage and loss from the fearful sea."
I remember the old skippers always dreaded White Bay, and did themselves from being jammed in that locality. One year the Antelope, Capt. Delaney, did not get clear until, I think, the 5th July, and in the sixties the Islay was jammed until the middle of June.

One year the large brig Mountaineer, Capt. Smart, was jammed in the bottom of White Bay. He did everything possible to get clear by blasting, and after giving it up as a bad job, he was surprised one morning to see the ship surrounded by thousands of seals. His crew went to work and quickly secured 6,400, and could have loaded the vessel twice over, only he thought it prudent to stop killing, as the ship's bow was damaged by ice, and he would not risk any more on board.

These old skippers and crews of our great sailing fleet were a hardy and fearless race—their daring and agility were proverbial, and the captains and officers never asked a man to go where he would not go himself, should the occasion require it. It was truly wonderful the command the masters had over their crews, and seldom indeed was it that the masters had any trouble with them. Their discipline was as perfect as that practiced on board a man-of-war. Every man knew his place and his work, and well did they play their part. As I have said on a previous occasion, there is one fact that should be written in letters of gold in the history of this country, and that is: Notwithstanding hundreds of thousands of men have been employed in the prosecution of the seal-fishery during the past century and more, there is not on record a criminal case in which any one of them used a weapon to take the life of his fellow-man, although they were all provided with knives, gaffs, guns, etc., nor have I heard of any case in which such weapons were the cause of malicious injury to any person on board.

In 1842 the brigantine John & Rachel, Capt. Ned Purcell, a very fine vessel, was wrecked in St. John's with a load of young seals. The vessel was owned by Mr. Wm. Walsh of the Beach, father of our respected townsman, Mr. Richard Walsh, who had also several other vessels during his career. She arrived on the 15th April, and previous to that date the cargo was sold at so much per seal. Purcell's trip was the first to be sold by weight, and has been continued so to this date.

Not alone was Capt. Burke a successful seal-killer, but he was one of our best known foreign-going masters in his day. After returning from the seal-fishery, in which he was generally successful, the sealing was removed from his vessel, and she was employed in conveying seal oil and skins to Glasgow, and after discharging proceeded to Hamburg and return to St. John's with a cargo of the famous Hamburg bread, butter, etc. She was also employed in conveying cargoes of fish to the Mediterranean market and elsewhere, as well as making trips to Sydney in the coal trade. It was while returning from one of those trips from Sydney that disaster overtook the famous mariner, as on the 1st of January, 1865, he, with his son, and three of the crew of his brigantine "Nautilus," were lost at Petty Harbor Motion. And so passed away one of those heroes of the past, who by their daring, perseverance and enterprise performed so much in placing Newfoundland in the proud position as the first fishing country in the world. Our good, genial, clever old friend, Mr. John Burke, of this city, may well feel proud of his progenitor—the old Viking of the past century. The old and worn-out heroes of the icefields are slumbering peacefully in the churchyard, and some rest beneath the ocean in which they fought their hard-won victories. Even the implements of their prowess and energy are fast disappearing. The historic tin-horn gun and the artistically carved powder-horn no longer take the place of honor on the kitchen rack. They are now relegated to some outhouse or unfrequented place, or as a solitary relic of the past in the Museum, and with the passing away of these, the last vestige of our illustrious forbears, will have gone forever. And in those days—the days of daring, hardihood, intrepidity and skill, the subject of this brief sketch, Capt. John Burke, played a prominent and heroic part, while in command of the historic brigantines James Henry, Kingsloch, Hollyhoob and Nautilus, from the foremost head of which fluttered in the breeze the time-honored and well-remembered house flag of the enterprising firm of Hon. Lawrence O'Brien.

There are two cardinal points which we have always striven to observe, viz., to render THE HIGHEST DEGREE OF SERVICE, and THE BEST POSSIBLE VALUES, and that our efforts have been crowned with such a large measure of success is a matter of pardonable pride in our achievement, whilst our sincere gratitude is extended the purchasing public who have appreciated the merchandising efforts we have made on their behalf.

Operations are being rushed in order to have necessary alterations completed next week, when the formal opening of our New Department will take place. Thousands of dollars worth of New Spring Merchandise have been purchased for this SALE, which we purpose making

ON SYMPTOMANIA.

One of the most reticent and the most well bred women I know was ill recently. She is one of those people who are really and truly (not just pretence) so much above the most of the ordinary foibles of humanity, that when you catch her in one you feel comforted and uplifted.

And so when I met her after this illness and she spent almost a half hour telling me about the peculiar symptoms she had experienced, I had this comforted and uplifted feeling. I wonder if there is anyone in the world who is above this particular foible.

I doubt it. We overrate their News Value. There is something so vital, so compelling of attention, about one's feelings at a time of physical derangement that one is blinded to their highly personal nature. The importance of the news of a railroad accident or similar catastrophe is rated in a newspaper office according to how near the city in which the paper is published the thing happened. If it occurred within 50 miles it will take up the whole paper, within 500 miles, it will get a couple of columns, 5,000 miles, it will get a few inches. And so it is that news that happens right inside ourselves, appeals to us as of vital interest and we forget that that body which is so very close to us is foreign territory to our neighbors, and hence that its accidents are loudly deserving of the several columns we are inclined to give it.

Wesley Debate

"Resolved: That the evils following the enactment of the Prohibition Law are greater than those under the license system." Such was the topic of debate at the Wesley Young Men's Literary Class on Tuesday night. The set speakers for the Affirmative were, Messrs. B. Simmonds, and H. G. Ford, and for the Negative, Messrs. E. M. Knight and E. Barger. Mr. W. Joyce conducted the debate. The Affirmative argued that the dope, script, smuggling, contempt of law and other evils had followed the enforcement of Prohibition; while the Negative contended Prohibition had improved matters, and there was not so much drunkenness as under the license system, and the trace for the younger generation growing up were not so many. Many members spoke from the floor, and the debate proved one of the most interesting held by the class. The vote showed a majority of one for the Negative. The Class intends holding a Mock Parliament on the 8th and 15th of April, and the members are requested to attend the meeting on Tuesday next to finalize the arrangements.
