The Champions have received a challenge for a friendly game with the Dantless Club of Toronto, to be played on the 24th inst.

They had a match in Ottawa on Wednesday between the "Curriers" and a picked nine from the Mutual and Ottawa clubs.

The Mutuals will have their hands full all next week. They play with the Philadelphia club on Monday, the Baltimore club on Tuesday and Friday, the Washington club on Wednesday and Thursday, and the Athletics on Saturday.

The Baltimore club defeated the Mutuals on Monday by a score of 6 to 1, and the Resolutes of Elizabeth, N.J., by a score of 8 to 3.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, May 9. At the meeting of the House Mr. Killam called the attention of Minister of Marine and Fisheries to the Bill presented by Mr. Pimms in the British Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell, in reply, said that as soon as he saw the Bill referred to, he observed the effect it might have on Canadian shipping.

The House then, after disposing of several measures, went into Committee on the Pilotage Bill.

After recess some Private Bills were disposed of, and the House resumed, in Committee, the consideration of the Pilotage Bill.

Mr. Killam advocated open competition as a principle now recognized everywhere.

Mr. Young (Montreal) opposed the Bill, and urged that many of the most serious accidents to the shipping in the St. Lawrence had occurred on the pilotage grounds.

Mr. McKay opposed the principle of monopoly contained in the Bill. The pilots of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia would not assent to any system piling all on one level.

The several clauses were then agreed to, the Bill was reported, and the House resumed.

Mr. Mitchell then moved the House into Committee to consider the clauses of his Bill for instituting throughout the Dominion a regular system of pilotage, measurement and registration of ships.

After some discussion the several clauses of the bill were passed in Committee, and the House resumed.

The second reading of the Insolvent Law Continuation Bill was then agreed to, and the third reading fixed for tomorrow.

On the second reading of the Militia Law amendment act, Mr. Anghin said the Bill authorized the magistrates to call out the Militia, fully armed, who would act under the directions of the said magistrates.

It was, in fact, introducing the English Riot Act without the safeguard attending the exercise of this law.

Mr. Mackenzie said the bill gave most extraordinary powers. Any magistrates might, under this Bill, call out the force at the mere appearance of a riot.

There were persons in the Commission of the Peace who were very ill qualified to exercise their powers, and he could not consent to the Bill passing in its present form.

After some remarks from Mr. Langevin, Mr. Mackenzie said he was not disposed to legislate for exceptional cases. Except in case of actual riot, power to call out a force of special constables ought to be sufficient.

Some further precautions were necessary before the bill could be allowed to pass.

Col. Higginbotham did not think that the bill need excite alarm.

The bill was then read by consent a second time, the Minister promising to consider any amendment that might appear necessary.

The House then adjourned.

The New Orleans Riots. The opposition to Kellogg's Government has taken a serious turn, and fighting has been going on for some days, and now we hear of openly expressed threats to assassinate Governor Kellogg, which have called forth extra precautions to guard him from violence.

It is believed an attempt will be made to stop the advance of the force of mounted police who left St. Martinsville on Thursday. None of the Metropolitan have so far been killed, and only two wounded.

Colonel DeBlanch says his attack upon him on Thursday was only a demonstration to ascertain his numbers.

A despatch from New Orleans says Col. Leblanc has surrendered to the United States forces, but the Kellogg militia declares that they will never surrender. The United States troops are held in readiness to advance at a moment's notice. Arrests are being made, and warrants have been issued for the arrest of DeBlanch and ten others, leaders of the insurrectionary movement.

The latest news is that Badger is holding St. Martinsville, and protecting the Court in session. He does not intend to go out to attack DeBlanch's forces, which is encamped two miles out, and is 200 strong; and they in turn, it is believed, are not strong enough to attack Badger in the town. The arrival of the Deputy Marshall, with his posse, will in all probability end the contest.

"Pa," said a son to his father, "what is meant by a 'chip of the old block'?" "Why, my son, do you ask the question?" "Because I was in Enfield this morning, and told them gentlemen while hunting I saw fifty squirrels up one tree. They kept trying to make me say that I did not see but forty-nine; and because I wouldn't say so they said I was a 'chip of the old block.'" "Hem! Well, my son, they only meant that you were smart and honest, like your pa. You can go out to play now."

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protochloride of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "athousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damage, and waste, searching out the "bad" secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of its wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Bolls, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

ANNABEL

OR THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER XVII.

JOSEPH LANGTON IS UNEXPECTEDLY DELIVERED FROM HIS DIFFICULTIES.
Simmons, the carpenter, had mistaken Mrs Langton's orders, and instead of waiting in the ante-room, had returned to the kitchen.

On returning to the dining-room, however, she instantly rang the bell, and when Sally Primrose appeared in answer to it she was commanded to send the carpenter up that minute to screw down the lid.

Sally returned to the kitchen and gave Simmons the message. This latter had not quite finished his supper, but being busy with it he thought there could be no harm in ending his meal ere going to execute his task.

The girl's first impulse was to fly from the room, but when she looked again the face, though so pale and fixed, was yet calm and placid beyond all living expression, and she stood still and gazed on it.

What a change had made, she thought. The face was like and yet not like Annabel's. She fancied the features resembled those of Ellen Mattocks, but presently she called to mind that between Ellen and Miss Annabel a strong likeness had existed, and this accounted to her for the impression she received.

The sweet beauty of the face was such that she had a desire to kiss it, and she bent down to do so, when her eye fell on something which arrested her attention and stayed the act.

This was the carring which had not been removed, and which beyond all doubt she knew to have belonged to Ellen Mattocks, for she herself had put it into Ellen's car before she left for France.

Could she have exchanged with Annabel? Could Annabel have fancied them and—

Great heavens, the car itself was the ear of Ellen Mattocks. She knew it by that old scar which went across its upper portion. She had seen that scar when she pierced Ellen's ears, and the latter had told her it was the indelible mark of a wound received when she was young.

Sally Primrose was amazed, petrified, and was staring motionless at the object which had transfixed her, when a hand grasped her arm with a force which made her leap back with a scream.

She turned, and met the stern, angry face of Mrs. Langton.

"Girl, what are you doing here?" fiercely demanded her mistress. "I only wished to take a last look of— of—Miss Annabel."

Just then Simmons came in, when the collar lid was screwed down, and all the while Mrs. Langton was keenly watching Sally's face, to know if she had made a discovery.

Sally, however, managed to keep her countenance, and when the carpenter finished they all left the room together, Mrs. Langton locking the door and taking possession of the key.

On the second day from thence the funeral took place, the coffin being laid close to that of Mrs. Seymour.

And that very evening, after much agony of soul, Mr. Langton wrote a letter to Philip, breaking to him, with as much gentleness and sympathy as he could find language to express, the dreadful intelligence which must, when it reached him, strike him to the dust in agony and woe.

MATRIMONIAL.—When the Duke of Edinburgh and the daughter of the Czar are married they are to live half the year at Lonsdale House, and have one of the new houses on the quay in front of the Admiralty at St. Petersburg. The bride's fortune is to be a million of roubles. One of the chief causes of delay in the arrangement of the match has, it is said, been the wish on either side to stipulate for living the greater part of the year in England or Russia respectively. Hence the compromise of dividing the time equally between the two. A question of precedence in England is said to have contributed to this delay.

The Ontario Assembly, consisting of 82 members, contains 51 Canadians, 9 Englishmen, 8 Scotchmen, 8 Irishmen, and 3 Americans. Of these 82, not less than 26 are Lawyers, and they are looked after by 13 Merchants, 9 Farmers, 8 Lumbermen, 5 Doctors, 4 Land Merchants, 3 Wollen Manufacturers, 2 other Manufacturers, 2 Tanners, 2 Conveyancers, 1 Builder, 1 Painter, 1 Railway Manager, 1 Distiller, 1 Contractor, 1 Manager of Cheese Factories, 1 Insurance Agent, 1 Flour Miller.

positions, and I can assure you it is most gratifying to me on the eve of my departure, to know that my services have been so highly appreciated.

Believing that the highest aspiration which should animate the breast of man, is to stand well with his peers, I have endeavored as far as my ability would allow, to so conduct myself as to secure the confidence of my fellow countrymen. On the present occasion I see around me gentlemen with whom I have acted, both at our local Council board, and also the County Council.

Rest assured Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, that when I remove to the North West, I will always hold in pleasing remembrance my association with these gentlemen I allude to, as well as all my old neighbours of Wellington.

It is no trifling matter for a man of my years to break up all those old associations, and pitch my tent amongst strangers. I feel this keenly, now when the time of departure draws so nigh, and so painful is the thought that I almost wish the agony was over.

On behalf of Mrs. Smith and my family, I beg to return you my sincere thanks for your kind wishes as to their future welfare. You may be assured that she joins me in my attachment to the people, and the scenes of our old home in Wellington.

Accept my thanks for the very handsome and valuable watch you have presented to me. And as it will enable me to mark the flight of time during the few years left for me here, it will also call to my mind many happy days I have spent in the noble old County of Wellington.

JOHN SMITH.

Elora, May 9th, 1873.

He also made a short reply to the toast, in which he expressed regret at leaving, but said he did so on account of his family, as he was anxious to keep them together. He could assure them he would never leave the protection of the British flag. He went on to speak of Manitoba, its climate, fertility of soil, &c., and stated that after careful inquiry last year, when there, he found all the farmers who had gone out with any means were prosperous, and he hoped that he and his family would be equally so. He thanked them for the many tokens of their esteem, and hoped he would meet them at some future time; meantime he wished them all well.

The Chairman next gave the Legislature of Ontario, coupled with the name of Col. Clarke, which was enthusiastically received.

Col. Clarke made an appropriate reply. Adverting to the occasion which brought them together, he said he had probably been as closely connected with Mr. Smith as any man in the County. They belonged to the same County in England, they were brought up to the same business, they came to Canada and Elora about the same time, they were at one on religious and political questions, and they had worked together for years in Municipal matters. He felt therefore almost like parting with a portion of himself. He had learned to know Mr. Smith well, to appreciate his worth, and to like him both as a man and as a public servant. He deeply regretted his departure, and hoped he would ere long return invested with higher powers, and as a representative of the people of the Province which is to be his future home. He would fill such a place with honour and credit, for he was endowed with liberal principles, had a large public spirit, and an unflinching faith in free institutions. But whether or not he returned, they would always be proud that he had been a resident of this County. He concluded by wishing him every prosperity in his new sphere.

Mr. Roberts then gave the "Mercantile, manufacturing, and agricultural interests," to which Messrs. J. M. Fraser, R. Dalby, George McKenzie and John Beattie responded in appropriate speeches. They all bore testimony to the great respect and esteem entertained for Mr. Smith, to their regret at his departure, and cordially wished him every success and prosperity for the future. The "Press" followed, which was duly responded to by the representatives of the three papers in Elora, and of the Maneuver and Herald. The health of the Warden was next proposed, and responded to in an appropriate speech by the chairman. "Success to Manitoba" followed, to which Mr. Smith responded. The "Municipal Institutions" followed, responded to by Messrs. Hamilton, Roberts and Brohman; the "Town of Guelph" responded to by Mr. Thomas Ellis; the "Educational Institutions of the Province"; the health of Mr. E. H. Newman, duly responded to by that gentleman; "The Ladies," coupled with the name of Mrs. Smith, which was acknowledged by Mr. Smith and other gentlemen; and last of all "The Host and Hostess," responded to by Mr. Dalby.

Several excellent songs were given during the evening, and after spending a few hours very pleasantly together, the company broke up after singing "God save the Queen."

Guelph Evening Mercury
SATURDAY EVENING, MAY 10, 1873.

Death of John Stuart Mill.
On Friday, in Avignon, France, a great and original spirit passed away—one whose life and thought have been the admiration of the literary world, and whose memory and works will live when future generations have swept into oblivion the social and political phenomena which agitate the leading minds of the day. John Stuart Mill was born in 1806, and was therefore 67 years of age when death called him away. He had received a private education, and in due course of time obtained a clerkship in the East India House. He gradually rose until, in 1856, he succeeded to the position his father had occupied before him, and retired from that service on the transfer of the administration from the Company to Her Majesty's Government, in 1858. Lord Stanley offered him a seat in the Indian Council, but he declined the offer. Mr. Mill's name is best known to the world as a political economist, and as the author of "A System of Logic," which was published in 1843. From 1833 to 1840 he was editor of the Birmingham Review, and during life was a contributor to the Edinburgh Review and some of the monthly magazines. He published "Essays on Political Economy," "A Treatise on Liberty," and "An Examination of Sir W. Hamilton's Philosophy." In 1867 he was elected rector of St. Andrew's University, and his inaugural address stands out in striking contrast to most of those delivered from the same chair. He served one term in Parliament as member for Westminster, but was defeated at the last general election, because he refused to obtain honors by bribery. He was a Liberal in politics, and did good service to the party with his ever ready pen. Had no other works been issued from his pen, his

The Chairman next gave the Legislature of Ontario, coupled with the name of Col. Clarke, which was enthusiastically received.

Col. Clarke made an appropriate reply. Adverting to the occasion which brought them together, he said he had probably been as closely connected with Mr. Smith as any man in the County. They belonged to the same County in England, they were brought up to the same business, they came to Canada and Elora about the same time, they were at one on religious and political questions, and they had worked together for years in Municipal matters. He felt therefore almost like parting with a portion of himself. He had learned to know Mr. Smith well, to appreciate his worth, and to like him both as a man and as a public servant. He deeply regretted his departure, and hoped he would ere long return invested with higher powers, and as a representative of the people of the Province which is to be his future home. He would fill such a place with honour and credit, for he was endowed with liberal principles, had a large public spirit, and an unflinching faith in free institutions. But whether or not he returned, they would always be proud that he had been a resident of this County. He concluded by wishing him every prosperity in his new sphere.

Mr. Roberts then gave the "Mercantile, manufacturing, and agricultural interests," to which Messrs. J. M. Fraser, R. Dalby, George McKenzie and John Beattie responded in appropriate speeches. They all bore testimony to the great respect and esteem entertained for Mr. Smith, to their regret at his departure, and cordially wished him every success and prosperity for the future. The "Press" followed, which was duly responded to by the representatives of the three papers in Elora, and of the Maneuver and Herald. The health of the Warden was next proposed, and responded to in an appropriate speech by the chairman. "Success to Manitoba" followed, to which Mr. Smith responded. The "Municipal Institutions" followed, responded to by Messrs. Hamilton, Roberts and Brohman; the "Town of Guelph" responded to by Mr. Thomas Ellis; the "Educational Institutions of the Province"; the health of Mr. E. H. Newman, duly responded to by that gentleman; "The Ladies," coupled with the name of Mrs. Smith, which was acknowledged by Mr. Smith and other gentlemen; and last of all "The Host and Hostess," responded to by Mr. Dalby.

Several excellent songs were given during the evening, and after spending a few hours very pleasantly together, the company broke up after singing "God save the Queen."

He also made a short reply to the toast, in which he expressed regret at leaving, but said he did so on account of his family, as he was anxious to keep them together. He could assure them he would never leave the protection of the British flag. He went on to speak of Manitoba, its climate, fertility of soil, &c., and stated that after careful inquiry last year, when there, he found all the farmers who had gone out with any means were prosperous, and he hoped that he and his family would be equally so. He thanked them for the many tokens of their esteem, and hoped he would meet them at some future time; meantime he wished them all well.

FOUR ATLANTIC CABLES.—It is expected that four cables will be working across the Atlantic and five across the Gulf of St. Lawrence before the 1st of September. But to the public on both sides of the water what is the difference between one cable and four cables, if the four are in the hands of a monopoly, who put their charges at the highest figures which the public can be made to pay? An opposition cable is the cable wanted by the public, and such a cable at half the charges of the existing monopoly could be made to pay and pay handsomely. N. Y. Herald.

THE BEAUTY OF LIFE.
Life is beautiful; its duties cluster round each passing day. While their sweet and solemn voices warn to work, to wait, to pray. They show such blessings forfeit. Who through sloth, their spirits cheat; Or, in selfish stupor sitting, See the rust their armour eat.

Life is beautiful; its affections—
To part with joy its golden string, In its opening blossoms gleam, Bid-like and its fragrances sing, Soothe its rock its emble gleam, Guard with pride its youthful bloom, Fondly kiss the snow-white temple, Dew the turf that decks its tomb.

Life is beautiful with promise
Of a crown that cannot fade;
Life is fearful with the threatening
Of an overlasting shade.
May no thoughtless working across it,
Wandering wide in folly's maze,
Duty, love, and hope, adore it,
Let its latest breath be praise.
