SPEAKER SAYS HE HAS NO POWER IN THE MATTER

Attresses Want to Speak in Commons For Votes For Women

THEY PLAN CAMPAIGN

Them, However, is the Peaceful Method as Opposed to The Militants—Enough M. P.'s Favorable Had it Not Been For Outrages

(Canadian Press) London, Jan. 11.—Eight Hon. James Wimpey, the speaker of the house of commons, has written a letter to Mrs. Forbes Robertson who is president of the address franchise league, who asked permission to appear at the bar of the house and plead the cause of woman suffrage in which he says that he has no power either to grant or withhold this permission. Such powers, he says, can only be conferred by a resolution of the house.

When the franchise reform bill comes up in parliament soon, the members of the house of commons will find all the approaches to the chamber picketed by address and other supporters of the movement in favor of votes for women.

Throughout the entire debate day and night the women intend to be in parliament in strength and to hush-mouth members of the house as they pass in and out.

The Address Franchise League, which is organizing the movement, has called for the help of all similar societies in making a peaceful demonstration in support of the adoption of an amendment to the bill intended to give the suffrage to women.

They hope to be successful although the acts of the militant sisters have generally alienated sympathy of the cause in the United Kingdom. At the same time the militant section of the suffragettes is said to be preparing to provide a more exciting time for members of parliament.

As the present the suffragettes have a bare majority in the house of commons, it is understood, however, that many of them have at least temporarily withdrawn their support because of the methods adopted by the militants. A large number of Liberals who are in favor of suffrage for women will not vote for it now on account of Premier Asquith's opposition to the movement and also because of the fact he has been treated by the militants.

Should these members of the house of commons who favor woman suffrage, be made to include women in the bill, three alternative proposals will be made to include women.

Moncton, Jan. 11.—Moncton is to have a woman's suffrage exhibit. Literature and refreshments will be employed in an effort to educate the male mind to the necessity of votes for women. A literature depot will be established, the reading matter to be given away free in a tea room equipped on unique lines. The exhibit will be in February.

BRITAIN GETS SLICE OF TERRITORY IN EAST AFRICA REGION

London, Jan. 11.—According to the Daily Express a revision of the boundaries of British East Africa and the Belgian Congo is being agreed upon, and will be announced officially during the next few weeks.

Under the new arrangement there will be included in British East Africa a strip of territory some sixty miles long and thirty to forty miles wide. The effect of the addition to British East Africa will be to include the western slopes of the Mt. Mumbur Mountain region lying between Lakes Albert Edward and Kivu, in the British Empire, thus bringing British sovereignty farther to the south. The reason for the revision is to prepare the way for the final link in the Cape-Cairo railway, which it is important for imperial interests should be built, as far as possible in British territory.

One True Medicinal Whiskey

Beware of Imitations

While substitution is not a part of modern merchandising, it is still practiced to a greater or less degree by a few merchants who haven't the courage to compete with their fellows along legitimate, fair, lines, or who do not care for their customers' health, but their own profits only.

Substitutes Are Dangerous

And any merchant who practices substitution is unworthy of the public's confidence. When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, when it has carried the blessings of health to as many thousands of homes of the sick as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. Be sure you get the genuine.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Made for Medicinal Purposes Only. It is free from injurious substances usually found in beverage whiskies. It has given remarkable relief of all throat, lung and stomach troubles and all wasting and diseased conditions for over 50 years.

INSIST ON GETTING DUFFY'S

Little Beauty Chats

By BLANCHE BEACON

It is Foolish to Cut the Eyelashes

Too much has been said in the past about the wonderful results to be obtained by cutting the lashes frequently, that it may surprise you somewhat to be told at this date not to shear your lashes whenever you think they are not growing with the proper rapidity. Be quite sure that if the lan't nice to know that if one crop of lashes is a failure that another opportunity will be given you to acquire lash beauty? It is a fact that the hairs in the lashes live only one hundred and twenty days and are then replaced by a new growth. Instead of clipping your lashes, tantalizing hairs refuse to do their duty, that to clip them will be productive of but one result, namely, make them shorter. Just because one set of lashes are unsatisfactory is no reason for looking at the world through a mist of tears, as six short months you will be given another outfit, and, luck favoring you, they may grow and grow by day and by night until they form a most attractive curtain for the eyes.

Therefore, so nourish the hair roots that if one crop proves a failure, the second or third will fill all the requirements. Be it known how to all maids and matrons, that strive as you will, the lashes will not—perhaps it would be better to say, cannot—grow to be an inch or so in length, as so many women believe. There is no gaining the scientists who assert that it does no harm to put it in the oven to length!

Daily Hints For the Cook

GRANDMOTHER SAUCE

Four coffee cups sugar, one coffee cup water, put in enamel saucepan. Cook for a few minutes after coming to a boil. Add two quarts cranberries run through choppin' to syrup and cook until cranberries are done. Long cooking causes berries to taste bitter.

MERINGUE

Add about one-fourth of a teaspoon of cream of tartar and one full tablespoon of sugar to the white of one egg after whipping softly, then whip again, until creamy. This is good for any kind of pudding, or pie and can be flavored or colored and it does no harm to put it in the oven to brown.

TURBANS OF FISH

Take slices of halibut about half an inch thick, cut into fillets, dip in a mixture of 1-4 cup melted butter, the juice of 1 lemon, a little onion juice and a sprinkling of salt and pepper. Roll up like a little rosette, fasten with a toothpick and roast 20 minutes. Serve with cheese sauce and potato apples.

20th Century Brand garments are made with care, a definite purpose—to be the very best produced in Canada—and with accredited good taste. They are just as good as the makers can make them, and it is safe to assert that no tailoring establishment in Canada controls as much brains, intelligence and skill, combined with perfect facilities—surely no concern has richer experience in the making of really fine clothes.

SUDDEN DEATH IN SUSSEX. Mrs. Harry Sealey, of Markhamville, died suddenly yesterday in a Sussex hotel. She had come to town, accompanied by her mother, to consult a physician.

He found that she had some serious trouble with her teeth, and that a dental operation would be necessary. Her heart and lungs were examined, and it was de-cided that she was fully able to withstand an anæsthetic.

A dentist was called in, an anæsthetic was administered, and the operation was carried through. Then it was found that the patient was not rallying properly, and she soon began to sink rapidly. In spite of every possible effort she passed away. The dentist was at a loss to account for her unexpected collapse, as her condition before the operation gave no indication of danger.

Mrs. Sealey was a daughter of John Scott, of Markhamville and is survived by her husband and several children.

CHIEF KERR'S REPORT ON FIRE DEPARTMENT

The report of John Kerr, chief engineer of the St. John fire department, was pre-sented to the city commissioners this morning by Commissioner McLellan. His report states that the permanent force is composed of thirty-six men with a call force of 113 when at full strength. During the year the men's wages amounted to $14,996.75. There were 210 alarms, including still alarms, 172 on the east side and 38 on the west side. Several false alarms have been sent in. The chief recommends that box No. 8 be removed to a more exposed situation.

The total amount of insurance at stake in the city during the year was $1,067,100 and on this loss of $78,291, making a total fire loss of $108,374.

The chief reports favorably on the introduction of motor fire apparatus, submit-ting figures showing the saving that would be effected.

He recommends a new boiler for No. 1 engine and shafts for hose wagons in north and south ends; three horse mot-or pumps, one for the south end depart-ment and one for each ferry boat; a pop-pet or ladder truck for use in Castles; re-pairs to different stations and apparatus; new fire hydrants where desirable; pur-chase of several new horses; the consid-eration of reducing the present call force and introduction of a small permanent force and the purchase of auto apparatus.

LIFE BOATS ON THE BIG LINERS

London, Jan. 11.—The carrying of extra life boats sufficient for the accommoda-tion of all the passengers and crew of ocean liners, is recommended in the inter-im report of the departmental commis-sioner on boats and davits, appointed after the Titanic disaster, to advise the British Board of Trade.

The report, which was issued today, is of a highly technical character. The gen-eral trend of its recommendations is that the extra boats should be stowed under satisfactory arrangements for launching each of them in turn from the same set of davits.

In foreign-going vessels, it is recom-mended that all life boats should be stowed in such a way as to be readily accessible, and that the carrying of properly equipped revers-ible pontoons should be allowed. These should be capable of accommodat-ing not more than 25 per cent of the per-sons the vessel is certified to carry. The lifts should be of such size that they could be thrown from the deck if neces-sary.

UNIONISTS' MEMORIAL TO BONAR LAW

CITY PROPERTY SALES

The handsome two storey brick resi-dence, with freestone lot, 30 by 90 feet on the corner of Carmarthen and Orange streets has been purchased from Mrs. C. H. Leonard by Armstrong & Bruce for a client.

Two lots in Water and Ward streets be-longing to the Gilbert estate, were sold at auction this morning by T. T. Lalande. The lot 21 by 90 feet on the corner of Ward street and Tilton's alley, now under lease to M. & T. McGuire, was pur-chased for $4,000 by Harry McCullough for Messrs McGuire. The corresponding lot 21 by 90 feet, on the corner of Ward street and Tilton's alley, under lease to J. Willard Smith, was purchased for $2,000 by L. P. D. Tilly for Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, one of the Gilberts.

Armstrong & Bruce are showing their faith in the future of Brunsell street as a first class retail district in a substan-tial manner by the outlay they are mak-ing on their building 260 Brunsell street. They are remodeling the ground floor and providing an up-to-date store finished and equipped in a modern manner. They feel that there is more than enough business in this district to warrant a better class of stores than in the past.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 11, 1913. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act, 1885.

EXAMPLE FOR ST. JOHN The Times commends to every one of its readers the article in this issue telling how the citizens of Darwin, England, which is not much larger than St. John, take care of their children. Not only have they a most effective law for the protection of children, but they have an efficient and large enough staff to see that the law is enforced. One of the results has been a notable reduction in the number of neglected and abandoned children brought to the notice of the society, for parents have received such a wholesome lesson from the enforcement of the law that they are much more careful in their treatment of their little ones.

BRITISH TORY TROUBLES The Standard has a London cable service which is a most remarkable one in its way. In today's issue the correspondent early observes that: "For a full week Unionism has been walking in the valley of the shadow." Then he goes on to say that certain sensational newspapers were responsible for bringing the party to the verge of ruin, but now there is once more unswerving loyalty to Mr. Bonaer Law. After conveying the impression that all is joy in the ranks, this remarkable correspondent says: "It would be premature and unwise to assert definitely that all the danger has been averted. The situation is still delicate, and liable to be compromised by the freakish action of thoughtless extremists, but every moment brings a settlement nearer."

GOOD CLASS OF CITIZENS Last year was the most successful in the matter of immigration in the whole history of the Dominion. The number of immigrants arriving was 385,739, compared with 353,901 in 1911. Mr. J. Bruce Walker, immigration commissioner, says that the immigration of last year was better in quality than that of any previous year, and that physically, mentally and morally the newcomers measured up to a high standard that any improvement in these directions can hardly be expected. He notes the fact also that the arrivals this year were of a more prosperous class than formerly. It had not been uncommon in former years to distribute in his office $400 to $500 per week as relief for immigrants who were unable to find a satisfactory means of livelihood, but the total for the last three months of last year would not be more than $25. There is also the important fact that practically all of those who come out now come with the idea of going to a particular place for a particular purpose, which means that they have very much less difficulty in getting satisfactorily settled. There should, Mr. Walker says, be no serious difficulty in absorbing quickly and readily all of this great volume of immigration.

THE RIGHT POLICY In an interview which is published in today's Times, Hon. Dr. Pugsley sets forth very clearly the objections to the naval policy or lack of policy of the Borden government. Dr. Pugsley very properly contends that the government should declare its policy in full, and not be content with a make-shift contribution of cash. There has been plenty of time for the government to make up its mind, and take the country into its confidence with regard to its naval policy. Dr. Pugsley very properly resists the suggestion that Dreadnoughts could not be built in Canada. Even Mr. Borden himself agrees that we can build cruisers. If cruisers, why not Dreadnoughts? It merely means a larger expenditure for plant. Dr. Pugsley's statement in regard to young Canadians entering the naval service is found in the remarks of Hon. Mr. Hasen, who says that no serious effort has been made to enlist the young men because of uncertainty as to the future naval policy. When Canada adopts a self-respecting naval policy, approved by the people, there will be no difficulty in manning the vessels which will protect her coasts and trade routes, and be available whenever needed for the defense of the empire.

LIBERALS AND LOYALTY The flag-flapping campaign in the province of Ontario during the last federal election campaign has produced results that must be injurious to the welfare of this country. For example, a Toronto Tory, writing to the Canadian Courier of this week says: "You know that all those who vote for or try to sustain the Laurier opposition are Anti-British." No doubt the person who makes this grossly false statement believes he is telling the truth. There is probably more ignorance and prejudice among the Tories in Ontario than anywhere else in Canada. The sentence which we have quoted was called forth in protest against the course pursued by the Canadian Courier, which has consistently advocated a Canadian navy, built and manned in Canada. That is the policy of the party led by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and in the view of this Tory correspondent it must necessarily be disloyal, and anti-British. The editor of the Courier does not mind making in his reply to criticisms of this sort. He says he is not opposed to Mr. Borden's gift of Dreadnoughts, nor of building them in England, but he wants to go further and establish a Canadian navy. And especial-

LIGHTER VEIN "How is it I never see you about with young Filston now?" "Oh, I married him a fortnight ago."

WHAT AILED JOHN? "Maria," said Mr. Billians, "what ails this man?" "Never mind about the man, dear," said Mrs. Billians. "I'm more concerned to know what ails you. This is the first time for twenty-five years that you haven't slept up to no high a standard that any improvement in these directions can hardly be expected."

TRAPPED IN NO TIME "Thomas, you've been idling! I know you have, so it's no use to deny it!" The auditor had been away from the country calling upon a client, but on his return there were signs of loading and business on the part of the junior clerk. "Thomas, that typewriter has not been touched today!" snapped the man of law. "Oh, sir!" ejaculated the junior clerk. "I was using it only an hour ago!" "Then," thundered the employer, "how comes it that there's a spider on the machine, and that he's woven a web over the keyboard?" "Sir," remarked the lad, "I'll tell the truth. There was a fly in the works of that machine. Rather than waste my time entrapping the insect, sir—I—er—introduced the spider, sir!" "I see!" said the lawyer sadly.

GIRL OF 10 READS MINDS AND SECRETS

Tells Pastor What is in His Pockets; Gives Auto Number She Has Never Seen

NO FUN TO PLAY CARDS

Reason is That She Can Always Tell Who Has the "Old Maid."

Providence, R. I., Jan. 9.—The town of Warren apparently has a youthful phenomenon in the person of Beulah Miller, ten years old, of Market street. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Miller. Within the last two years she is said to have developed powers that any stage telepathist could use to advantage. Some of her reported feats in mind reading are almost uncanny, relatives said today. For instance, she astonished the Rev. H. W. Watson, minister of the church that she attends, by telling him what he had in his pockets one day when he came to visit her. On the way to the house Mr. Watson had bought a jar of honey to take home with him. Naturally it was something that he seldom has in his pocket.

When he had asked her several questions, then laughingly remarked that she couldn't guess what he had in his coat pocket. The little girl smiled, pursed her lips and then began to think. In a few seconds she began to spell. "H-o-n-e-y" she began, passing between each letter. "Oh, I know," she exclaimed, her eyes twinkling. "It's honey." "Whereupon Mr. Watson promised Beulah that she should have all the honey she wanted. Then there came to the house one day Dr. Henry W. Hopkins. He recently had bought an automobile and had attached his license number seven morning. Dr. Hopkins had heard of Beulah's remarkable gift, so in the course of his visit he asked if she could tell the number on his machine which he had left in his garage. Beulah never had seen the automobile, nor did she know anything about the number. She gave the figures correctly, however, on the first attempt.

Her father also has told of an experience with his daughter's mind reading power. Mr. Miller arrived home one evening after receiving a considerable sum of money for work that he had done as a contractor. Mrs. Miller at dinner asked if he had some money for her. "No," he said with a smile, "I haven't a cent on me." Beulah watched her father for a minute and then said: "Why, yes you have, papa." "Tell him how much it is," said Mrs. Miller immediately, and Beulah, after some thought, gave the amount in each pocket. In card games and tricks the little girl also shines, say her relatives. Long ago her sister and the children with whom she chums was up trying to beat her at Old Maid and similar games. Beulah seldom had to think more than a minute before she was able to tell who had the Old Maid.

The power with which Beulah is said to possess came to light in the course of a card game at her home. That was two years ago. The players were her sister and several children who live nearby. All of them were trying to do simple card guessing tricks. Beulah failed but once, and of course her sister told her mother about it. "I didn't pay any attention," said Mrs. Miller, "because I've never believed in such things as mind reading and spiritualism. But the children were all so full of talk about Beulah that I tried her out myself. Since then I haven't had any doubts about her gift."

Recently two visitors and Mrs. Miller had Beulah meet several tests. In each the girl was successful.

First there was a request to tell the number of keys in one of the visitor's vest pocket. She brought a few seconds and then said that there were two keys. That was correct.

Beulah's Guessing dates on coins. Beulah's Guessing dates on coins. The interviewer took a dime strong out. The interviewer took a dime strong out. The interviewer took a dime strong out.

Beulah is also practiced in telling what time it is by the clock, even after somebody sets the hands either backward or forward. She rarely fails in this feat.

Beulah is an attractive and rather bashful girl. She went to school when she was three years old, so that she is well along for one of her age. Her mother says that she has always been "quick to learn," though sickness often has kept her out of school.

Mr. Miller said that no one to her knowledge, either on her own or Mr. Miller's side of the family, ever possessed any ability to read minds.

TO CUT SUBSIDIES OF JAPANESE STEAMSHIPS San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 11.—According to advices received from the Orient the Japanese government is preparing to make a reduction in the subsidies granted to the steamship companies operating under the Japanese flag.

It is said that under the agreement already entered into between the authorities and the shipping companies the terms of subsidies on the European North and South American services, which were established in 1910, will not expire until 1914. This will make it impossible for the government to curtail the subsidies of the three services for the next two years. It is said that, even if the subsidy is decreased, this will not matter materially to the Japanese steamship companies, for they are able to operate their vessels considerably cheaper than their foreign rivals.

Not a single bank robbery was committed or attempted in Kansas in 1912, according to the reports of J. N. Dolley, state bank commissioner. It is said to be the first time in twenty years that no attempt was made in the course of twelve months to rob a Kansas bank. No Kansas bank failed during the year, so no bank depositor in Kansas lost a cent during the year because of bank troubles.

Several days ago, however, it was seen that he could not recover. He passed away in the early afternoon of yesterday. Mr. Stewart was in his 70th year, born in St. John, and all his life a resident here. For twenty-five years he was with G. S. AMERICANS PIRATING ENGLISH LACE DESIGNS

In Other Countries it is A's Done and Legislation to Prevent it is Sought

London, Jan. 11.—It was announced at Nottingham Chamber of Commerce that an important international conference is to be held at Manchester next month, when representatives of seven nations—England, the United States, France, Switzerland, the German Empire, Belgium and Russia—will attend for the purpose of devising an effective international law to prevent the pirating of designs of lace, jewelry, and similar industries.

P. Meyer said that the evil was getting worse. Hardly a mail from America without news of the Nottingham patterns, just imported, had been copied and sold at lower prices. He produced American advertisements which announced new and original designs lace made by Nottingham firms six months before the patterns in all countries, he went on to say, felt that it was time they obtained legislation for mutual protection.

B. F. Stibel said that the manner in which English brains were sucked by foreign manufacturers was disgraceful and that American manufacturers he declared did not want legislation, if their government did, and, despite a legislation, it would be impossible for English designers to get justice. American manufacturers were too sharp for them. Pirating in America, he said, in Vienna and Leipzig, where English patterns were obtained and copied before they could be distributed among the English trade.

Delegates to the conference were appointed.

CURLERS PLAN BIG BONSPIEL

Gathering From All Over Province in St. John Next Week

In the plans which are being formulated, it is likely that a big curling bonspiel will be held in this city some time during the month of February. The bonspiel will be under the auspices of the New Brunswick Branch of the Royal Canadian Curling Club and will last two or three days. Invitations have been sent out to all the curling clubs in the province and it is expected that about ten clubs will compete in the contest. Among the outside clubs expected to compete are Moncton, Campbellton, Newcastle, St. Stephen, Fredericton, Bathurst, Chatham and one or two other places. Then the three local clubs, the "Thistles," St. Andrews and Carleton Place, will also be among competitors. The games will be played on all three of the local rinks.

Suitable prizes will be awarded to the winners, and it is the intention of the executive to make the bonspiel a memorable one, and one of the largest ever held in St. John. As yet no replies have been received from the outside teams, but the acceptance of all the clubs to whom invitations have been sent, is expected at an early date.

TO THE MEMORY OF DR. J. P. McINERNEY, M.P.P.

Handsome Monument Placed Over Grave in New Catholic Cemetery

A very handsome monument has just been erected in the new Catholic cemetery. It is the largest in a city cemetery, and has been erected to the memory of Dr. James P. McInerney, M. P. P. The foundation and pedestal were placed in position about two months ago and this allowed a record to be established in this connection, the completion of the monument having taken place yesterday, in mid-winter. It would have been finished a couple of months ago, but for delay in waiting for two massive blocks.

The monument consists of a large rustic granite base resting on a concrete foundation. The next base is a block of granite with the name "McInerney" in large raised letters. The top then comes and next a massive cross of white marble with "H. S." neatly inscribed and with carvings showing on the face, bearing the following inscription: "To the memory of James P. McInerney, M. P. P. 1839-1912." The monument is carved in the work of P. Kinella & Son, Mr. Kinella's son, Joseph, displayed marked ability in the matter of carving the letters. The local members of parliament visited the grave of their late colleague in the sea-future.

FOUR LINERS AWAY

Heavy Cargoes From Winterport—Many Wrecks on Atlantic

Four winterport steamers sailed from this port yesterday. They were the C. P. R. liners Empress of Britain and Lake Champlain, the S. S. Inshore Head and the Allan liner Pomeranian. All cleared with heavy cargoes. The Empress had 285 bales of wool, the Empress had 285 bales of wool. On reaching the other side this steamer will be taken off the coast of the Lake Champlain had thirty-five passengers and the Pomeranian thirty-five. The South African liner Kwana will sail for South Africa on Monday. Included in her cargo will be 66,000 bales of wool and 10 automobiles. The Allan liner Carthaginian, Captain McKillop, arrived at St. John's, Nfld. yesterday from Liverpool. While at sea she broke out among the cargo in the hatches and was put out with difficulty. A large part of the general cargo was damaged, and it is expected that the repairs to the steamer will cost $10,000.

According to dispatches from Washington the Atlantic coast is practically strewn with wrecks, and the revenue cutters are working hard. The schooner Clara Jane was stranded yesterday at the entrance to Gloucester, Mass. The Russian bark Dorothea, the schooner Future and the bark Carrie Winslow have all been wrecked off the coast of North Carolina. The British steamer Indivale, which ran down the steamer Julia Luckenbach near Newport News a few days ago, is now leaking badly.

Saint John's Greatest Mid-Winter Clothing Sale Starts Off With A Rush

Yesterday, the opening day of our sale, the store was thronged with eager buyers all day, resulting in the greatest volume of business ever done in any one day during this month of January—and we've held many successful sales during January in the past few years—but this one promises to surpass them all.

It will be thronged today—it will be thronged every day while the sale continues because quantities are too large for one or two days selling to exhaust. And the values!

"After All, There's No Place Like Oak Hall for Real Bargains."

That's what we overheard a very contented looking customer say yesterday—a remark that gives us much satisfaction and pleasure, and that will be a still further incentive to try to do bigger and better things.

We want that there should be no place like Oak Hall—no place where you can get as much or as good for your money. Prove the above statement to your own satisfaction while this sale is in progress. Prices in themselves mean nothing—any store can advertise worth so much and reduced to so and so, but—it's what you get for what you pay that counts. Come every day while the sale lasts. Get your share of the truly remarkable values.

Nothing Too Good For North Enders!

MERCHANTS' JOY HAS BEEN MODIFIED

Cold and Snow Made Them Happy in Prospect of Business Increase

NORTH END NEWS
 Little Fishing in Kennebecasis So Far—Coasting Parties Enjoying Themselves—Personal and General

When the snow came this week and was followed by slightly colder weather the hopes of many merchants in North End were considerably raised. It was believed that the combination would benefit the roads throughout the country districts and with the more solid frosting of the river there would come a large number of country people to the city. Much disappointment was expressed when the snow became mild yesterday with only from an inch to two inches of ice in the Kennebecasis and just a little more in the main river. There was some crossing, but only on foot, and even on the river where the ice was thicker, only one of two teams took a chance and went across at Carter's Point, where the crossing was deemed the safest. The season in this regard is backward. A spell of colder weather would be greatly welcomed to strengthen the ice in the main river and in the Kennebecasis. Up to the present there has been no fishing done in the Kennebecasis this year, and from the outlook there does not seem to be much hope of the men interested in this matter, who are mostly from the North End, sharing profits in what the stream is willing to give up. It is usual at this time to have a large number of North End men and many from along the river as well fishing through the ice on the river and making very satisfactory catches, but with the ice in such a shaky condition there is little possibility of that.

Count deBury and deBocarsme, who formerly lived in North End, opposite St. Luke's church in Main street, is expected to arrive in the city today or tomorrow on board the steamer Sardinian for a brief visit to the city. Mrs. Daniel Martin. He is now secretary to the lieutenant governor of Manitoba, being in the Canadian service and stationed at Winnipeg, a fact which is well known to the British army.

Several coasting parties were on the hills of North End yesterday and what seems the most popular was that of the Victoria and Hiram, were thronged with merry-makers. The cold of the day previous had hardened the crust on the snow, and the latter had packed well so that the coasting was excellent and with such a fine evening the people greatly enjoyed themselves in what was practically the first real sledding of the season. The youngsters have become aware of their privileges in regard to these hills and are not filled with the fear which hitherto has been in their hearts, not so very long ago, when a policeman appeared in sight as they were enjoying a coast down hill. They know that other hills are forbidden them and they take full advantage of the privileges accorded them in respect to their being allowed the free use of these hills in the evening.

A visitor of interest in the city yesterday was a former North End man, William Baird, who was accompanied by his wife and who left his former home in Adelaide street in '83 to seek his fortune in the land across the border. He has done very well, and in addition to making considerable money, has managed to acquire more or less fame in his varied and interesting career. He has tried several occupations, but his chief success has been wrought in the saddle and he has made a name for himself in the south as a circus rider, and says one feature which distinguished him among others, was his riding the whole distance in the saddle from "Frio to Chicago at a time when he hadn't a son in his own home. He was compelled to shoot because it became so fatigued. He has crossed the Santa Fe and Peabody trails and knows by heart the landmarks and trails across the Rockies. "ATenas Bill" he is better known. This name was acquired in his cowboy days and it held good when he was traveling as a feature act with circuses. Under this cognomen, suggestive of the ranch and cowboy life of the far western plains, he traveled in many lands. When first he left his home in North End he went to Boston, and a short time later found him a member of the Buffalo Bill wild west show. For three years he made his home with the famous circus and in time a thrilling cowboy act in which he became proficient, skilled him sufficiently to permit of his being billed as a "feature unprecedented in the circus world," a headline act with the big show. After ranching for a time in Texas he took out his own act with which he traveled for some years, working in the territory from Texas to Renton, N. J.

This was a little tame compared with the lure of the sawdust ring, and he went back again to the realm of canvas dwellings, being featured at different seasons with such shows as Jones' Brothers Ranch Bill, Kennedy & Cummings, and the "Two Bill" show with which he remained until last year. For twenty years he has been constantly on the go and has seen a great deal of life. He has visited all parts of America and been in most countries of Europe, has even penetrated the wilderness of the African jungles, but he has not forgotten the place of his birth and he is back in St. John for a few days renewing old acquaintances.

John Roberts of 189 Metcalf street, celebrated on January 9, his eighty-first birthday. Born in St. John, in Paradise row, and having lived here nearly all his life, he is widely and favorably known, and his ready wit and cheerful manner have always made him a general favorite. Although an invalid for some time, he enjoyed the day, and he wishes to thank his friends in St. John as well as Boston, who so kindly remembered him, especially Mrs. Andrew Rourke for her pretty birthday cake.

COUNTY COUNCIL FINANCE COMMITTEE SUPPORTS CHILD PROTECTION ACT MOVEMENT

The finance committee of the municipal council yesterday afternoon received a delegation consisting of Rev. R. A. Armstrong, Mrs. T. H. Bullock, Mrs. D. McLaughlin, W. F. Hetherway, Rev. H. B. Thomas, Adj. Cummings and A. M. Bell, who urged the committee to report favorably to the council in regard to the Children's Protective act. Rev. Mr. Armstrong made a very clear statement of the case, and each of the members of the delegation added some further information in reply to questions asked by members of the committee. County Secretary Keller very emphatically endorsed the statement that such an act was needed by the city. After considerable discussion the committee adopted a resolution, affirming its sympathies and pledging its support to the cause, and appointed a sub-committee to consider the question of ways and means to report to the municipal council at its meeting on Jan. 21. The committee which was appointed by the meeting of representatives of churches and all other organizations interested in child welfare, held in Trinity school room recently, expressed itself much pleased with the sympathetic and business like way in which the finance committee dealt with the matter.

The finance committee discussed the estimates for 1913. The estimates for the hospital and municipal home are slightly lower and for the jail and court house somewhat higher, the total remaining about the same.

THE CHIEFS INJUNCTION.
 The proceedings in connection with the application of Recorder Baxter on behalf of the mayor and commissioners for the dismissal of the interim injunction granted on December 28 on the application of Chief Clark were resumed before Mr. Justice McLeod yesterday forenoon. Mr. Mullin, counsel for the chief, was heard in argument and the injunction was allowed to stand until the next hearing which will be on Monday or Tuesday.

The annual prayer meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held yesterday with the president, Mrs. John McVitty, occupying the chair. Prayers were offered for the abolition of the liquor traffic and also for the missionaries in their work abroad. The members of the union passed a resolution endorsing the movement for a Child's Protective Act, and expressing their sympathy with its promoters, and their determination to exert themselves to the utmost in its support.

Two houses have been quarantined in North End this week because of cases of diphtheria, one in Camden and the other in Portland street. There are one or two other cases under suspicion, as it is possible they may also be this disease. The case is now being traced. The quarantine cases are in two different families.

RELIGION AND SOCIAL SERVICE

BY KENNETH DOUGLAS, B.A., PH.D.

A few days ago I heard a man declare, with a certain amount of indignation, that the church is not doing its duty in its present frame of mind, to the social work it should do.

This man has been a life-long church worker. Until a year ago he would have refused to believe that any other agency than the church could take any adequate part in the redemption of the masses.

The failure of the church, in one respect at least, is the WHY of the social settlement. Thirty years ago, in the United States, ten years back in Canada, definite, organized, scientific work for the making of citizenship out of unpromising human material was unknown, but the church, in those days, was even more the parent to the great mass of the people than it is today.

There is, on the American continent, a social conscience the church is losing what ever she has of one it ever possessed. There is, on the American continent, a social conscience the church is losing what ever she has of one it ever possessed.

Among very many other reasons why it is not "making good" these two sick legs is out: First, a large majority of church members place their religion second to their business and politics—the call of the church is not clear, persistent and insistent enough to do so.

On the North American continent there are today 122 Protestant sects. In 1880 there were 145. Between the time of writing this article and that when it meets the eye of the reader there may be several more.

It is not "making good" these two sick legs is out: First, a large majority of church members place their religion second to their business and politics—the call of the church is not clear, persistent and insistent enough to do so.

Armed policemen cast loose the bound arms, and stood the men apart, one to each side of the tree, and the crowd ranged about them. Strange Case Gives The Paris Police Trouble FROM LUXURY TO PRISON

A New Police Fad Which Will Not Last—Some Labor Matters—Valuable Papers Lying Loose—Professional Suicide Caught

(Times Special Correspondence) Paris, Dec. 28.—A curious case lately came before the Paris courts, that of a young man belonging to a very wealthy family who, after reading M. Jean Richepin's "Chanson des Gueux," was struck with a violent passion for the hero of the roads and rags. In the month of March, 1908, he was going to a ball in the usual evening dress when some one across a beggar, whose pitiable appearance appealed to him. He began to talk, and, forgetting his friends and his ball, he spent the whole night in low taverns and slums with his new acquaintance, who proved to be a criminal forbidden to show his face in Paris.

The next morning the disreputable jailer started for the provinces, accompanied by M. Armand Albert, in a small coat and white tie. For six months the family sought him in vain, until they finally discovered him in the Santo prison. It seems that after quitting his first job, Albert came back to Paris and associated with a girl, through whom he was condemned, for an offense of which he was not guilty, to three months' imprisonment and five years' banishment from the capital.

After serving this time he was sent to a country property belonging to his father, but soon ran away, as if he were a boy, and instead of being twenty-three years old, just to see what it felt like to rob a man he attacked a respectable citizen on his way home, and for this he received two years' imprisonment. But even this did not cure him of his vicious tastes, and when he came out he happened to see the police arresting an outstaring virgin on the quay of Vaugoussier. His criminal instincts could not brook this ill-treatment of a "niece," and he began fighting the agents of the law, taking the blame, however, guiltily, and to escape the gaol.

The Paris police, however, have very long memories, and some months later on they recognized him quarrying stone outside Paris, dressed in the latest fashion. He was arrested and brought up the other day to answer for violence to the authorities in the exercise of their duties, and being unwilling to back in Paris, his lawyer tried to make the judges understand the strange craziness from which he suffered, and declared that he had been made of dollars lying in a bank in his name. A tenant was taken of the name of the modern Quixote, who was left off with a lecture and a fortnight in the cells.

A Police Fad It would seem that January is the month especially selected by the higher police authorities of Paris for the introduction of astonishing reforms. Last year, at the same season, M. Lepine not only prohibited the distribution of handbills in the public thoroughfares, but decreed that whoever dropped a scrap of paper in the streets should be ordered by the nearest constable to pick it up; and that the penalty for refusing to pick it up should be a summons and a fine not exceeding ten francs for the first offence. This order caused a sensation on the boulevards where a penitential bonanza had been accustomed to pick it up. For his tired envelopes and other ragged, useless papers. Scores of summonses were issued, and fines were imposed and the fine of the wonderful Lepine increased.

Today, however, has been surpassed by his rival, M. Tomy, chief of the municipal police. Bravely and boldly, M. Tomy has declared war against the "niece" who stop their rages, he cries. We must protect the public from it, we must save our shop-windows from it. And the key to achieve that is to summon it and fine it. What M. Tomy has instructed the municipal police to do is, either spontaneously or upon demand, to take proceedings against the driver of any vehicle that has disfigured a shop-window or splashed a passer-by with Paris mud. It is the driver (or his employer) who will be fined.

The policeman will proceed against the offender according to Article 405, Paragraph 8, of the Penal Code, "states M. Tomy's official circular. It would almost take a policeman to every passer-by, and another constable to every shop-window, to record every case of splashing. No doubt at first there will be summonses and fines. But it will not last, for Mr. Tomy's order of last year has been entirely forgotten, and so it will be soon in the case of mud.

Revolutionary syndicalism, which should not be confounded with the far pacific syndicalist movement, has come to be regarded in foreign countries as a dangerous importation from France just at the moment that the French republic has discovered that the General Confederation of Labor is practically powerless and its doctrines negligible. It can still aggravate social discontent and produce an occasional riot, which the Frenchman has come to regard as a useful safety valve, but any attempt at a concerted revolutionary movement simply renders it more ridiculous than it is at present, and plays into the hands of the government. Its leaders no longer have the courage of their opinions. The majority of them no longer talk of the general strike that is to overthrow society. Even M. Herve, the supposedly irreconcilable anti-militarist, ceases after many months that his insults to the flag were directed against the flag of the empire, not that of the republic.

However, a few revolutionaries endeavor to save their faces by preaching the salutary of mobilization in case of war. (Continued on page 13).

HOW AN ENGLISH CITY CARES FOR ITS CHILDREN

Timely Action in View of Movement Here For Child's Protection Act—Guarding the Little One From Birth to School Days and Beyond

(By Walter Brindle)

It is surely a strange thing that a province like New Brunswick, and particularly a city like St. John, should, in this twentieth year of the 20th century, be without its child's protection act. Every citizen worthy of the name will, I am sure, be really glad that at last a real agitation is on the move to induce the municipal council, and eventually the provincial legislature to give their sanction to such a much-needed act.

In view of this agitation, it may not be out of place to draw the attention of those in authority, and the public generally to the way the children are cared for in a city like St. John, viz. the best manufacturing town of Darwen, forty-three miles from Liverpool, England. The population of Darwen is now 22,000 and is for the most part made up of cotton, iron, wood and paper makers.

Some fifteen years ago, the health officer, notified from his statistics that far too many young children were dying every year, and he began to investigate and very soon found that where so many married women worked at the mill, necessitating the carrying out of young children to a daily nurse, those children did not have a fair chance in life.

In fact to many cases, the women who undertook to do the nursing were utterly incompetent for the task, and even where mothers remained at home to nurse their own babies many of them were inexperienced and their first children suffered and died in consequence.

The health officer, by facts and figures upon the minds of the city council that they engaged a professional nurse, whose duty it was to visit the home where a child had been born and carefully tabulate all information, regarding the physical fitness or otherwise of the new arrival and to give the mother full and detailed instructions as to the feeding necessary to meet the case. Each individual case is visited for a period of three months.

A Step Further Of course in Darwen, as elsewhere, there are parents who are unwilling to assume their proper responsibility toward their offspring, but the city has done its best to help them and in the suggestions and instructions of the nurse are ignored and the young life is likely to suffer, the (the nurse) calls in the aid of the N. S. P. C. C. The National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was formed twenty years ago by a group of prominent citizens who recognized that the police were incompetent to deal with cases of this kind ever reached their ears.

An inspector was engaged by the society, whose funds are kept up by public and private subscriptions, and it was his duty to pay regular visits to homes in the lower parts of the city where from the indifferent habits of the parents, the children were likely to suffer, neglect, or to any home that was indicated to him by the solicitor for the society or any private individual who knew of such a case.

The officer in question wears the uniform of the society, which gives him his authority to enter any house in the city and, if refused admission, any policeman on duty will add to the inspector's authority that of the law, which cannot be denied.

Any child that is not kept clean, clothed, and housed in a proper manner to satisfy the officer of the society, is taken to the health officer who certifies to the fact of the case and the child's protection act is put into force, the parent or parents, if both are guilty of neglect, are punished by imprisonment, and the children placed in proper keeping.

Have often assisted the officer in his work and I could tell of many really severe cases of ill-treatment to children that we bright doctors and why should it not be have met, cases of starvation, neglect and violence through the drunken or lazy habits of one or both of the parents.

Work Difficult at First In its first beginning the work of the society was difficult, because the public generally did not give that support, which is now so readily given. Many people were of the opinion that a city such as ours had no need for such a society, but the inspector tracked out one neglecting case after another, public interest, and sympathy, too, began to be aroused.

The number of cases dealt with grew from twenty in the first year to 230 in the tenth year, owing to the increased vigilance of the society. In the next ten years, up to present date, owing to the better treatment children now receive from their parents, the number for last year was below the 100 mark, and in most of these cases a warning was sufficient.

From the foregoing you will see that the child enjoys the dual protection of the city and the society.

Must Be at School Again the state requires that every birth shall be registered with the registrar of births in the city within thirteen days. The parents are quickly under the influence of the protection act and in the majority of cases a warning is sufficient.

Another thing the city council did some seven years ago and which called for much adverse comment at the time but which now meets with general approval was the appointing of two sanitary inspectors.

It is part of the duty of these officials to periodically visit the houses in their districts, and see that general sanitary conditions prevail. I have visited houses where so many as seven children slept in one filthy bed, in the lower parts of the city. Under existing conditions not more than four children are allowed to occupy one bedroom and this rule is strictly enforced. In the sleeping apartment, in the schoolroom and the workroom there must be so many cubic feet of air space for each child.

Evening Technical Schools One other feature of the council's care for the children is the throwing open of the city schools for the continuation of the day school. The full curriculum of the day school is repeated in the evening school, including domestic economy. The higher grade school is open evenings for technical education, when a boy or girl or young man or woman can learn the really technical part of the trade or profession in which they are engaged during the day. The fees are merely nominal, being only four cents a week to any department. A vast workshop is fitted up with all kinds of machinery for cotton, wood, iron and paper making.

Under existing conditions we can now say that a child has a real chance to make good in life. Nursed in childhood, educated in the most approved way, cared for in health, guaranteed sufficient food upon which to develop his body and at least one holiday in the year, which is assured to the very poorest by the Fresh Air Society providing every child whose parents cannot afford to do it, with a day at the seaside free. The present lot of our children is bright indeed and why should it not be so? They are our future men and women.

BEAUTIFUL EVENING GOWN

The distinguishing feature of this graceful evening gown is the method of trimming the long train. In sharp contrast to the dull powder blue of the velvet of which the dress is fashioned stands out the crimson edge with which the inside of the train is bordered. The full sleeves are attached to broad bands of jewel embroidered tulle, which are crossed over the corseage and back. The sleeves are short and somewhat wide, the crimson edge being completely visible.

BLUE VELVET AND SKUNK

The coat is cut with a high waist. The bouque and sleeves are trimmed with dome-shaped all buttons.

THE DISRUPTION OF THE PRINCE OF WALES MAKES HIS BOW AS A CLUBMAN

Has Been Elected Member of Marlborough, Founded By Grandfather SOCIETY LADIES TO CANADA

This Year to See Many Titled Visitors—Some Want to Invest Money Here—Mr. and Mrs. James W. Domville to Switzerland

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Dec. 28.—The Marlborough Club, which has enrolled the youngest clubman in London—the Prince of Wales—is the most exclusive club in the metropolis. It owes its existence to a suggestion of a former Prince of Wales, the late King Edward. He happened to say once to the late Christopher Sykes, that he wished to have a club of his own next to Marlborough House, where he then lived.

The Prince of Wales, who is now in London, is not yet a fortnight, Sykes wrote him a note: "Sir, the thing is done; only, the club is not yet open but nearly opposite Marlborough House." The original name of the club was the Prince of Wales Club, but it was changed to the Marlborough Club, many of whom have already followed him into the unknown.

It is not likely that the Prince of Wales will make much use of his new privilege at present, Queen Mary having strong views on the subject of club life in general and the Marlborough in particular.

Considerable surprise was caused by the inclusion of Mrs. Hartmann's name in the list of visitors invited to meet the Prince of Wales at Marlborough House, Lord Leicester's country seat. Mrs. Hartmann, you may remember, left England under some circumstances some time ago. She was a friend of King Edward's. She went bankrupt, a fact she attributed to the heavy expense of keeping up her home. Of late, Mrs. Hartmann has lived on the continent, spending a great deal of her time with the Duke of Devonshire, who has a lovely apartment in Paris. Now her financial clouds have rolled away, and it is quite likely we shall see more of her in England, a fact that will delight many of her friends, with whom she was always extremely popular.

Society Women to Canada Following the example set by their menfolk many prominent society women will visit Canada during the coming year. Some of the first to look for financial investment, they will visit chiefly for the purpose of rest and health. Sir James Grant, in a recent contribution to a London newspaper, alluded to the hot sulphur springs at Banff and the other numerous attractions of that health resort.

Society women are always looking for something new, and Kaye, the South of France and Switzerland and other continental resorts have become quite envious of what they have accomplished by her investment in Alberta.

A H. J. key street consultant, who frequently advises his patients to go to Canada for a change, advances as a reason the altitude and clear air of the Rockies. "Banff is unknown in the exhilarating air of western Canada," said a Canadian girl, who was presented at court this year, to a titled woman who complimented her on her beauty.

Mrs. Walter G. Kirby and her daughter, Miss Shelagh Kirby, of Winnipeg, are visiting friends and relatives in their old home. Mr. Kirby is expected in January, and with his wife and daughter will spend some time in the south of France.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of Ottawa are spending Christmas with friends in London.

Mrs. Reid, wife of the minister of customs, who has been in the south of France some time, has been joined by Hon. Dr. Reid, and will return to Ottawa early in January.

Duval Gillespie, of Victoria, spent Christmas in Paris; also Frederick Cameron, of Toronto; and Miss M. M. Moore and S. Grant, of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Domville, of Montreal, left London this week for Switzerland.

The mot d'ordre in the Tory party about Bonar Law's speech is to keep silence, in the hope that their divided ranks may close again. The whole-boggers, however, do not mean to let the matter rest, but intend to proceed with their campaign for imperial preference and taxes on food as if nothing had happened. But a hint has been sent round to all those who will receive it to let the question alone, and trust to Bonar Law to smooth matters down. Whether or not the Tory press will take this hint is another matter. The younger (Continued on page 13).

Bonar Law's Speech and What Has Followed LONDON NEWS LETTER

Newspaper Shots at the Party Leader—Striking Device For Safety at Sea the Work of an Engineer's Fitter (Times Special Correspondence) London, Dec. 28.—The recent speech of Bonar Law, leader of the Unionist, or Tory party at Ashton-under-Lyne, in favor of imposing taxes on food, has not only split his party, but caused an uproar throughout the country. The leader of the opposition declared that if returned to power the Tory party would call a colonial conference to consider the whole question of preferential trade, and the question of whether or not foodstuffs would be imposed would not arise until after these negotiations were completed.

If the colonies did not wish such an arrangement as food taxes would be imposed under any circumstances. The Tories did not wish to impose them, and unless the colonies regarded them as essential, for preference, they would not be imposed.

All that we say," he said, "is that our country should give no authority to enter into that negotiation, with power to impose certain duties on foodstuffs within strict limits, which will never be increased.

The leader of the opposition said he hoped it would be possible that, if any adjustment were necessary, it would only be in regard to wheat. It was impossible to give details of what they proposed until the negotiations had been completed.

In the early part of his speech the leader of the opposition advocated co-operation and co-partnership as a means of removing the grievances of the workers, declared that the Tories were not hostile to trade unionism, and expressed the belief that a rise in wages was not possible without the consent of the workers. He intended to impose a small tax—smaller than in any industrial country in the world—but they did not intend to prevent competition from the outside.

The "Times" endeavors to show that the claim is neither so deep as the Liberals appear to imagine. Nevertheless, the paper admits that it quite understands that its "suggestion" with regard to Bonar Law's declaration relating to the colonies and food-taxes has provoked "grave misgivings" in "many loyal members of the Unionist party."

Newspaper Shots The "Times" itself, on "broad imperial grounds," supports the policy of "not pressing" the food-taxes in existing circumstances. This is what it says: "We believe that an anniversary of our views upon them in a very few words. A section of the Unionist party still holds, and essential part of preference. Another section—in our belief the stronger section—is firmly convinced that the food taxes should not be pressed in existing circumstances, and that a reciprocal preference can well be established without them."

"We have already made it perfectly plain that, whatever may be held from the party standpoint about these contending views, the latter is the sounder on broad imperial grounds. We have pointed out the practical difficulty of recommending the taxation of food imports in this country while food prices are rising at their present rate. We have also said that a definite scheme of taxation, whether of food or other imports, should not be laid down in advance of all precise knowledge of the particular conditions with which a future Unionist government will have to contend. We have added that whether these contentions were sound or not, the food taxes should be justified first and foremost by the interest of the food producers in these islands; and for that reason we criticize the suggestion advanced by Mr. Bonar Law that their imposition should be made to depend upon the views of a conference of ministers from overseas."

But, unfortunately for those who hold the view of the "Times" that the food taxes, "in existing circumstances," should not be pressed, the smaller section of the party (the out-and-outers, the whole-boggers, the food taxers under any circumstances) have the control of the party machine.

The "Daily Mail" heralds Bonar Law's speech with the words "No Food Taxes." The "Liverpool Courier" declares that the party is drifting to destruction. It asks Bonar Law to consult the leaders of public opinion in every part of the country. It is theirs to let him know how matters stand. Then the paper goes on: "We have seen that the pledge now given achieves none of the ends it is intended to serve. It has not stopped, and will not stop, the flood of radical misrepresentation; it has not reconciled, and will not reconcile, the extreme tariff reformer; it has done nothing, and will do nothing, to smooth the path of negotiation with our colonies; it has not removed, and will not remove the apprehensions of those who—particularly the Irish Unionists—hold that a 'sleeping victory' is the only thing that can save Ulster from civil war or preserve our constitution from further outrages."

The mot d'ordre in the Tory party about Bonar Law's speech is to keep silence, in the hope that their divided ranks may close again. The whole-boggers, however, do not mean to let the matter rest, but intend to proceed with their campaign for imperial preference and taxes on food as if nothing had happened. But a hint has been sent round to all those who will receive it to let the question alone, and trust to Bonar Law to smooth matters down. THE MOST WINDY CORNER IN CANADA

At the corner of King and Yonge streets, Toronto, with the eighteen story C. P. MISS BUTT SIX FEET TWO; VOICE IN PROPORTION; A BOSTON CRITIC'S VIEW

She is to Sing Here—St. John Favorites on Broadway -- New Play for Edmund Breece -- Percy Haswell in Keith Theatres-- Tyrone Power Leaves Faversham

St. John people are to hear Miss Clara Butt, English contralto, in the Opera House on January 23. Here is what Frederick Johns writes in the Boston American of her appearance in Symphony Hall there—

Miss Clara Butt, the English contralto, who appeared at Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon, but not nearly so much as was granted a rather flabbergasted audience.

For when the door leading to the platform opened out, a giantess, for woman who dwarfed her accompanist, the piano, and even made the great organ look ordinary.

Six feet two is said to be Miss Butt's height, and one can well believe it; but as perfect proportion is she and as attractive as well as only by comparing her with other objects such as the door, can one realize how unusual she is.

Her voice is as extraordinary as her physique, for it is of tremendous magnitude. Her tones would smother the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and her fortissimo would make the organ of the Massachusetts sound like the piping of a little bird.

It is one of the most beautiful voices I ever heard. Despite its great size, it is a very flexible voice, with a lovely quality in the upper register, and glorious sonority in the lower part. She sings with a finish that would shame many Irish songsters, and one of her most effective songs was "The Rose Tree."

The programme ranged from German chamber to English ballads and was tremendously enjoyable. Katherine Mansfield, the English baritone who furnished ballads in the concert, proved very acceptable, but he was not a phenomenon like Miss Butt.

It will be of interest to the friends of Edmund Breece in St. John to know that Werba & Luescher, in New York, on Saturday, completed the cast for their new production of "The Master Mind" as a play from the pen of Daniel D. Carter, in which Mr. Breece is to star.

Among the players now on Broadway are three former St. John favorites: Hading, lead male with Grace George, in her production of "The Girl Married," which she gave here last season; and Bruce McLean and Robert McWade, Jr., two former Harkins favorites. They are playing in the same "Years of Discretion," a Belasco production, concerning the crimes and misdemeanors, some being well pleased and others disappointed, but the actors get their share of praise, which they all seem to be apparently well deserved. Here is what the Bill of the Bill—The acting saved the performance from falling into mediocrity. Every part was well played, and the company gave the impression of an all-star company producing an average play that made it appear far above the average.

Another former St. John favorite who made a hit with one of his "Harkins" companies here a few seasons ago is making a name for herself, or rather he, in the Great West. His name is Mary Ryan, and she is playing in New York. This time it is "The Girl in the Mirror" which is a colored scene in "The P. T. 17" in which she is playing with Rita Bennett, who is playing with "The Girl in the Mirror" with New Yorkers, and is destined for a long run, in which Miss Ryan will share honors.

Most favorably of the play said: "Soy, I think is most decidedly amusing and well-acted. The plot is simple, but the episodes follow upon episodes with a wit that leaves one gasping—they are almost comical, but not in the least silly. All their speech, anything in plausibility, the action of the piece is continuous, but a careful management lowers the curtain a couple of times to allow one to catch up one's breath. Stop this for a really too funny play to be safe to give it to us all at once. A deaf old lady has her ear-trumpet stolen and you laugh at her as she is active in the State of Rhode Island, has his watch 'pinched,' and you laugh. The bride has her wedding present stolen, and again you laugh. It does not laugh monotonously. In fact, the biggest laughs were when somebody looked at somebody else as somebody else. To say that it was probable and impossible, plausible and ridiculous is only to say half of it. Mr. Moore is clever to the point of genius in constructing his farce."

Requests to the amount of $30,000 have come to the Actors Fund of America, $35,000 of which was bequeathed by the late Henry B. Hyde last week, and the other $35,000 from Mrs. Martha Brize, an actress, who died in Dorchester, Mass., last year. The discovery was made several years ago that Mrs. Brize had made such a provision in her will leaving this amount to the Dramatic Fund of America, which was dissolved several years ago. The probate court of Boston held that the Actors Fund of America should receive the money.

A Shakespearian Record The longest run of any Shakespearian tragedy since the days of Edwin Booth is now in progress at the Garden Theatre, New York, with John E. Kellard and his stellar company. On New Year's day Mr. Kellard gave his fifth consecutive performance of Hamlet. In spite of competition from attractions at new plays, the production continues to draw large audiences, properly presented, it is a popular attraction. Mr. Kellard's interpretation of the lead character has brought forth high praise from all his New York critics. In the way of scenic investiture and other details, nothing is lacking and ever since the beginning of the present engagement the offering has proved a source of infinite delight and enjoyment to the more serious-minded theatre-goers. The original cast will soon include Theodore Roberts, Anna Gardner, Edward Mackay, Harvey Maughan, Charles A. Stevenson and Marguerite Campbell.

CLEAN, HOME-LIKE PLAYS AS OPPOSE TO THE ISQUE ONES

PROGRESS IN THE WORLD OF THE 'MOVIES'

"I am a firm believer that, in the abstract, theatregoers want 'clean plays,' said A. G. Delamater, a well known producer and manager of New York city, 'and a lesson, which does the utmost good when seen by children and the story is of that nature which admits of discussion in the boom of your own family. We do not want to risk thousands of dollars and pay wages of hard work, for sheer love of dramatic art. It is dollars and cents with him, just the same as it is with any other business man, and consequently he will produce anything which he thinks will sell, and if it is a 'modernism' it is not conscience-stricken, except when the public refuses to spend the dollars. And to produce over plays that are guaranteed against decent society they have coined the phrase 'modernism.' Virtually, indecent, smutty stories, which no decent man is going to take his wife or daughter to see, are not successful unless the greater interest is in the 'modernism' which suggests are traditionally reported to have been written to prevent the production of a play. The drama, which is essentially a poem of blood and passion, with a shady climax, is epitome of Annunzio's warm sensuality, and religious opinion is outraged by the exaltation of such a worldly story with Italy's holiest shrine."

George Backus, who was in St. John with a Harkins' company a few seasons ago, and who recently closed an engagement with the Coming Home to Roost Company, has been engaged by Elmer Delamater for an important part in "Prisoners of the Night," which is being produced in New York. He will go on the road for a few weeks, when it opens in New York for a run. He will go on the road for a few weeks, when it opens in New York for a run. PANTOMINE SEASON SWELLS THE THEATRE CASH RETURNS; NEWS OF THE LONDON STAGE

Beerbohm Tree Left Legacy to New York on Recent Visit -- "Hullo Rag-time" at Hippodrome -- Barrie's 'Skit Calchers' on -- Society Leaders Before Footlights

London, Dec. 28.—We have all been busy with pantomimes and other kindred entertainments that there has been little time for anything else. When you consider that the number of pantomimes produced in the West End and suburbs of London amounts to more than a score, you will understand that dramatic critics have had more than their full measure of work cut out for them during the last few days.

"The Sleeping Beauty" at Drury Lane has naturally attracted the greatest attention; it is upon Arthur Collins' customary scale of splendor and easily put everything else of the sort into the shade. There is no need to enter into a detailed account of its many attractive features, but it is worth noting that the production of George Birmingham's Irish comedy, "General John Regan," at the Apollo, has been a decided success. Mr. Regan's performance in "The Merry Widow" has been a decided success.

Next week managers who present at the theatre will be showing a variety of new pieces, which will make a real start with the return of the new pieces. There is already a number of new pieces in the air, and it is expected that the first rush for pantomime may be over and a comparatively quiet season will ensue. BEERBOHM TREE LEFT LEGACY TO NEW YORK ON RECENT VISIT -- "HALLO RAG-TIME" AT HIPPODROME -- BARRIE'S 'SKIT CALCHERS' ON -- SOCIETY LEADERS BEFORE FOOTLIGHTS

London, Dec. 28.—We have all been busy with pantomimes and other kindred entertainments that there has been little time for anything else. When you consider that the number of pantomimes produced in the West End and suburbs of London amounts to more than a score, you will understand that dramatic critics have had more than their full measure of work cut out for them during the last few days.

"The Sleeping Beauty" at Drury Lane has naturally attracted the greatest attention; it is upon Arthur Collins' customary scale of splendor and easily put everything else of the sort into the shade. There is no need to enter into a detailed account of its many attractive features, but it is worth noting that the production of George Birmingham's Irish comedy, "General John Regan," at the Apollo, has been a decided success.

The schedule of challenges for the cup, in order as filed and dates for play, season 1913, is as follows:

RINKS

Table with columns: Date, Winner, Opponent, Points. Rows include: Jan. 8-Truro vs Halifax, Jan. 15-Winner vs Bathurst, etc.

MONTECAL RINKS FOR HERE

Montreal, N. B., Jan. 11.—Montcal curlers last night decided to enter seven rinks in the St. John curling bonspiel to be held in February. Two rinks will be entered in the double rink competition and five in single rink competition.

ROCKEY

The Montreal Victorias defeated the Halifax Crescents 7 to 6 in their game, Halifax last night. The New Glasgow team defeated the Halifax Socials 10 to 7 in their game at New Glasgow.

TODAY'S UPPER CANADIAN GAMES

Montreal, Jan. 11.—The usual three games are scheduled in the National Hockey Association tonight. In Montreal there is called the first meeting of Ottawa and the Wanderers. The local team will not likely have the services of Roberts in this match, and even should be able to start in, he would not be able to finish the game, having been laid up nearly all the week. Miller has been practicing at Roberts' side of the ice and will do better than against the Canadiens when the position was new to him.

QUEBEC AND THE TWO TORONTO TEAMS

The Canadiens will meet the champions in Quebec and the two Toronto teams will clash at home.

BASEBALL

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—The Phillies are endeavoring to sign "Bill" Rixey, a nineteen-year-old brother of Eppa Rixey, who made a hit as a pitcher last season. "Bill" stands 6 feet 4 and weighs 185 pounds.

RUMOR OF TRADE

Christy Mathewson writes in the New York American:—"The latest trade in baseball has been a big one, that is, if you believe that the Chicago and Cleveland clubs of the American League. Those who have heard the deal will be awing. The men involved are to be Napoleon Lajoie and 'Eppie' Turner, of the Cleveland Club, and Rollie Zeider and Harry Lord, of the White Sox. All are valuable players, and local conditions are responsible for the trade."

AGAIN MANAGER

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—Jimmy Jackson, former Cleveland outfielder, whose home is in this city, has signed a contract to again manage the Wilmington club in the Tri-State League. Comm. Mack, of Athletics, has promised to assist Manager Jackson and will probably send a few of his recruits to the Delaware club for further seasoning.

HORINE, WORLD FAMOUS RUNNING HIGH JUMPER, MAY QUIT GAME

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—It now looks as if another famous athlete will be missing from the ranks next season. The latest rumor is that Horine will quit the game. Horine is considered the greatest running high jumper that ever lived. Last March when he jumped six feet six inches, breaking Mike Sweeney's record of six feet five inches made in New York, Sept. 21, 1908, it was considered a remarkable performance. Experts thought the jump would never be equalled. A few months later Horine jumped six feet eight inches, but it was not accepted by the officials of the Amateur Athletic Union. Horine's showing in the Olympic games last summer was a disappointment. After returning from Stockholm he declared that he was stale at the time and was unable to do his best.

Was Troubled With His Heart. HAD TO GIVE UP WORK.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitates and throbs, skips beats, and sometimes seems to almost stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm. Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through this unnatural action of the heart.

Mr. Alfred Male, Elmda, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my heart for two or three years. I thought sometimes that I would die. I went to the doctor, and he said he could not do anything for me. I had to give up work. My wife persuaded me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. The first box relieved me, so I kept on until I had taken seven boxes, and they cured me. I would not be without them on any account, as they are worth their weight in gold. I advise my friends and neighbors who are troubled with heart or nerve trouble to try them."

SHIPPING FIRM FAILS

Pacific Company Hit By Last Year's Rate War

San Francisco, Jan. 11.—A. S. Cheung, owner of the California-Pacific Steamship Company, with Harry S. Bates, confirms a report that the company has failed for $200,000. The California-Pacific had been in competition since October 1, 1911, with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, in the San Francisco and New York trade, via the Panama Railway. This is the result of the first attempt of independent American shipping concerns to successfully handle freight by way of the Panama route.

The rate war from February to June, 1911, when freight rates were cut to three dollars a ton, was given by Mr. Cheung as the main cause of the failure, although additional reasons were assigned. It is known that the debts included $100,000, borrowed from J. H. Welford & Co., of Liverpool; $17,000 due the Pacific Stevedore & Ballast Company, of the city, for a large overdraft in a local bank, claims for damages on freight and bills for supplies from San Francisco houses.

Mr. McCarthy, a brewer, who recently died in Wellington, New Zealand, has bequeathed $200,000 to local charities.

FRANCE MAY HAVE COINS WITH HOLE IN CENTRE PORTUGUESE AND BELGIANS IN CLASH ON FRONTIER

Nickel Pieces Likely to Take Place of Present Bronze Money

Paris, Jan. 11.—The question of the supersession of the bronze by nickel coins will soon come up for final decision in the chamber of deputies. A suggestion had been made that aluminum or an alloy of aluminum should be used. "Neither aluminum nor any alloy examined," says the report, "offers a better resistance to shock and friction than silver, which has not sufficient resistance; and in contact with bronze money the wear would be particularly heavy."

Aluminum bronze is too hard, and cannot be struck when cold; and it has thus been found necessary to have recourse to the pure nickel for the new ten-centime and five-centime pieces. But the most radical reform proposed is the issue of pieces with a hole in the centre, like the Chinese and Indian coins. The report dismisses the opposition which has been directed against the perforated pieces on hygienic grounds. "The size of the hole, and the absolute smoothness of its edges, will prevent any dangerous germs from lodging there; and from the hygienic point of view the new pieces are perhaps less dangerous than the old." The general lines of the new coinage are laid down subject to their final approval by the chamber. An open competition will take place to settle the design for new five, ten, and twenty-five centime pieces.

I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

A Few Days Will Be Sufficient to Prove That You Are Curable

A few minutes of your time for a few days and will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who will send medicine to anyone free of charge

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way to do this is to demonstrate that fact to you by sending you some of my medicine and sending you some of my medicine and sending you some of my medicine. I am glad to do this for any person who will take the time to write me. Understand, I will send you a so-called "sample" of my medicine, and you will receive it free of charge. I will also send you a package of medicine and say that you can use some of it and pay for the rest, but I will send you a supply free of charge and you will not be under any obligations.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is intended, as it is not a "cure-all," and give herewith some of the leading symptoms of kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles. BY REQUEST, NO PRESENTS AT WEDDING Movement Initiated by Mr. Samuel, Lord Mayor of Norwich.

SAYS IT IS IMPOSITION

Unjustified Tax on Private Resources of Friends of Bride and Groom—A Calculating View of the Business of Gift Giving

(London Standard.) Will the "No wedding presents, by request" movement, initiated by the Lord Mayor of Norwich, develop into a fashion? Arthur M. Samuel, the lord mayor in question, whose name, we regret to say, was wrongly given as A. M. Fletcher in yesterday's Standard, is to be married in London today. He has made a firm request to his friends not to send him any presents, on the ground that the custom is an imposition and an unjustified tax on their private resources.

This sentiment will probably find support in many quarters; in various circles also it will be received with the keenest opposition. The rector of a fashionable West end church, discussing the matter with one of our representatives, suggested that the custom of sending wedding gifts was open to serious objections. "To give presents," he said, "must be one of the oldest of all human instincts. It was most likely a custom long before the first fire was kindled, or the first language discovered. In those rude but rather healthy days if one man saw something he desired in the possession of another, he fought him for it. Taking was the rule then, not giving. So that when a man did freely give of his own will present a fellow creature with his favorite flint-axe, or a carving on reindeer horn, you can be sure it was an act of spontaneous friendship and simple sentiment.

SCENES IN PORTUGAL WHERE REVOLUTION THREATENS

Dispatches from points in Europe indicate a dangerous condition of affairs in Portugal, where the republican government is straining every resource to hold the situation in hand.

People give today to avoid some undesired result or to achieve a desired one, just as they did centuries of centuries ago. Civilization has its very foundations in the Gospel of Give and Take, which has nothing to do with the simple gospel of merely giving. "Having firmly laid down my premises, I can now justify my conclusion that most people give wedding presents as a matter of diplomacy, to avoid an unpleasant thwack from the social bludgeon. Most people have a few friends and a multitude of acquaintances. The friends are the 1 per cent. who give their marble clock or silver toast rack from an impulse of simple sentiment; the acquaintances are the 99 per cent. who grudgingly sacrifice themselves upon the social altar. "Why not be frank about it? The average healthy-minded bride and bridegroom get no shock of surprise when they find their friends have supplied them with a complete dynasty of household gods, from the Jacobean dining suite to the brass teasting fork. They expected nothing less. They relied on it; they probably drew up a rough estimate of what they considered each friend to be worth, and they probably sent wedding invitations with a purpose to the most out-of-the-way acquaintance whom they see about once a year. This is no cynical reflection on the average bride and bridegroom; they have probably been victimized often in the past, and will be victimized in the future. It would be foolish to let their own one opportunity slip, and it would be an act of treason against the law of equity. It is not grasping or reproachable; it is just plain business. Everybody is a wily nilly in business as an unlimited liability company to supply wedding gifts on credit. When he can once in a while get a cash return, so to speak, he would not be human if he refused it. "It is for this reason that I think Mr. Samuel's innovation is extremely sound. It would be a general relief if the practice were discontinued. It is a business from which most people would prefer to retire. It leads to much bad blood and disappointment; it encourages the cynical outlook, and it often causes financial strain. The unwilling giver is one of Convention's worst products; he is a sheer contradiction in terms, an anachronism which puts a cultured civilization to shame. "Really intimate friends, of course, who are obviously not likely to be victims of the custom, should be left free to do as they will. In their case the theory justifies the practice, but on general grounds the addition to all invitation cards of the words 'No presents, by request,' is a reform which seems to have everything in its favor and nothing against it. I dare prophesy that if Mr. Samuel's example were followed in six months' time it would be as much a breath of social etiquette to accept wedding presents as it is now not to give them."

AGAINST TARIFF REVISION IN THE UNITED STATES

Manufacturers in Many Industries Line-up Before Congressional Committee and Express Their Fears.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Fears that foreign producers would invade and injure the American market, were expressed today in the testimony on the metal schedule of the tariff before the house committee on ways and means.

The committee heard arguments from representatives of manufacturing and producing interests, press manufacturers, and zinc interests of the Rocky Mountains and the Joplin fields, the wooden screw manufacturers, of which the American Screw Company controlled forty or forty-five per cent, and the $40,000,000 output of machine tools and numerous other industries, presenting a practically solid front against revision of tariff rates.

"Keep on the tariff as it stands or it will work a hardship to American industry," was a consensus of the opinions of witnesses.

Chairman Underwood pointed out that the committee was legislating for the present and not figuring on what might happen in the future.

"This committee," said Mr. Underwood, "cannot legislate on your fears and on the conditions that you say you expect. The committee ought to legislate to meet conditions when they arise."

5,000 TORONTO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS GIVEN SAGE ADVICE

Toronto, Jan. 10.—In terms mild, yet unmistakable in sincerity, Toronto University, through President Falconer, today spoke out in condemnation of student misconduct. Five thousand undergraduates, ranged tier upon tier about the vast interior of Convocation Hall, listened amid intense silence to the grave admonition and advice which followed.

"Canada has established a fine name for law and order," he declared, "but if it is to be maintained in the country abroad, it also must shine forth in the university. Students must show that they respect law and order, for it is only in constraint and self-control that success in future life will follow. We must show here that we are fit to take our place in civic life."

FIND PORTION OF MONTREAL BANK CLEVER'S HIDDEN LOOT

Montreal, Jan. 10.—The sum of between $12,000 and $14,000 of the $35,700 stolen from the Bank of Hochelaga by Henri Legace, the ex-logger keeper of the institution, was recovered early today by Lieut. Savard. The money was found in the room of one of Legace's friends. As a result of his find Savard states that he has a clew which will most likely lead to a recovery of the rest of the money.

MERELY CLIMATE.

The American visitor wandered down into sunny Cornwall. Seeing some particularly large chrysanthemums in a garden, he knocked at the cottage door, and, in New York gutter language, exclaimed to the grower: "Fine flowers, these. Guess I'd like to know how you grow 'em." "Oh, climate," replied the yokel. "And them great cabbage, what makes them grow?" "Just climate," declared the Cornwall man, seriously. "Hut! Away in New York about all we grow is sky-scrapers. Only last year a fifty-story building sprang up like a mushroom. It grew up so quick that it had no stairs or elevator." And the yokel started against. "How—how do you get to the top, then?" "Oh, climate—just climate!" "President of the Coolidge-McClaino Bank of Silvertown, Or.," is the title now held by Miss Eva Coolidge, who has been elected to that position. Miss Coolidge is a business woman and a daughter of one of the founders of the bank.

WILSON'S INVALIDS' PORT
A BIG BRACING TONIC

Persistent Coughing
not only annoys others and exhausts the cougher but, by constant irritation and effort does real harm to the throat, bronchial tubes, lungs and heart—often lasting injury.

Wilson's Invalids' Port Wine allays the irritation and soothes and heats the fevered membrane, because it goes beyond the surface and reaches the essential cause of cough and expectation—impaired nutrition and lack of constitutional vigour. Doctors know!

Dr. J. Dunfield—"I have pleasure in recommending Wilson's Invalids' Port as a tonic of rare quality for debilitated patients. It gives tone to the stomach by increasing the appetite and very greatly assisting digestion. I believe that it alone would cure many cases of 'run-down' constitutions enabled by any other medicine."

Jno. Dunfield M.D.
