AU REVOIR.

Oh ! solemn words, which have of all Leave-taking words the deepest spell, From careless lips I hear them fall, Sounding like a prophetic knell, Each day in idle hearts farewell.

To meet again ! Ah ! yes ; again Life's chances may together bring, These two who thoughtless part. But when ? The leaves which wild winds toss and fling, Of years kept slender reckoning.

To meet again ! Ah ! if God will, With health and youth their veins are red, Bat grave stones gleam on every hill ; And buried services are said Each day above the early dead.

Oh hearts ! these solemn words of all Leave taking words have deepest spell : In tender whispers let them fall : And lest they prove prophetic knell, Add reverent prayer to each farewell !

With quiet sarcasm a Maine paper remarks that after the "Chase heirs" get their thirty-five million of dollars, more or less, from Eng land, they will confer a favor by liquidating a small bill at its office.
