Petrograd, July 13 .- In the course of the battles in Eastern Galicia on Wednesday, says the official statement issued today by the war office, the Russians captured 10 officers and 850 rank and file, chiefly Germans. They also took five heavy guns and ten machine guns.

Petrograd, July 13 .- Now that Halicz is in Russian possession, the eyes of General Korniloff's Cossack cavalry are turned toward the railway centre of Styrj, a town of 30,000 inhabitants, a junction of the line from Lemberg to Lawoczne, and of a branch line to Chodorow. Military writers, des cribing the defensive, say its maximum of strength is on the east and northeast, but weaker on the south. There is widespread expectation of an important coun ter-attack on the northern front.

July 13—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agepcy),—Prmier Lloyd George has written to the chairman of the National War Savings Committee, thanking him for the committee's efforts and paying tribute to its success in effecting national food economy. What the committee has done may be illustrated by the figures relating to the reduction in the consumption of bread. Thus in the Paddington district of London the consumption of bread dropped by 25 to 30 per cent in two months. In Willesden bread sales for the week ending the 12th of May amounted to 481,839 pounds, whereas in the week ending the 2nd of June they amounted to 380,404 pounds. Brighton is eating 20 per cent less bread and Reading 25 per cent less.

Great Reduction.

Portsmouth reports that 180,540 pounds less of bread were sold during the last week of May as compared with the last week of April, and a further reduction of 78,840 pounds was achieved in June. Cheltenham's consumption was between 20 and 30 per cent below the average for March. Cirenchester, Bridgewater, Westbury and many other places in the provinces, show reductions varying from 20 to 35 per cent.

Berlin, Wednesday, July 11-Via London, July 13.-Emperor William has di-AMERICAN ARMY PLANS rected the following decree to the desperately pouring propaganda into Russia in a superlative effort to dampen popular war ardor. The directing point seems to be Stockholm.

Some of the evidences of this tide of argument, as gathered today, were German arguments against further Russian advances on the ground that Germann minority Socialists had agreed to every point of the Russian peace alms, even including Alsace-Lorraine. Agitators whose previous activities have given indication of their connection with the German propaganda system, are spreading these arguments.

Another rumor, apparently traceable to the same source, was that Germany was preparing for peace.

The introduction into the emperor's decree of the phrase "equal franchise" merely restores a provision which, according to Berlin gossip, was contained in the original draft of the emperor's Easter manifesto, and was eliminated at the last moment in consequence of reactionary intrigue. It was also pointed out that the new imperial announcement does not prescribe immediate adoption of the reforms, inasmuch as the next elections may not cts only Prussia, has not been avail asmuch as the next elections may not take place until after the war, and that there is not a word of the introduction of parliamentarism in the imperial ad-

KNIGHT THE FOOD BARONS! AND BENIGHT THE PEOPLE!

The knighted food barons of Canada have suddenly seen the ghost at the feast of war profits.

After delay of many months, the commissioner to investigate the high cost of living as affected by cold storages made known yesterday that two companies, Flavelle's, Limited, and the Matthews-Blackwell Company, had profited to the extent of many millions on one item alone-Canadian bacon.

The Flavelle Company made $4,898,000 in 1916 on the bacon it sold, charging an average profit of 5.05 cents. The Matthews-Blackwell firm made a profit on bacon alone of $1,513,000.

This information was not given to the public by the Government newspapers. For some reason or other neither the Mail and Empire nor the London Free Press prints anything about the most sensational revelation by which it is revealed that several cold storage firms made more money on bacon alone by five or six times than the city of London pays in taxes in a year. The food barons must be knighted and the people benighted, a perusal of the Government press would show.

While the country is suffering from the war, from the loss of men, knights, barons, etc., have been basking in the light of public favor through the positions they hold, and the average householder has been hard pressed to keep the dinner pail full and the larder replenished. The average London family has felt most of all the press of high prices for the necessities which, it is proved, are largely controlled by Canada's food barons.

The revelations of the tremendous profits coming to these firms are only the commencement of the matter. Other profits will be shown, indicating that the bacon profit secured by the Flavelles and others is only a small part of the "rake off."

The whole system of securing war profits has been along the lines of favoritism. Millionaires have been made by the score because of the greed of "great" Canadians. Every man of them who is concerned in the immense profits should resign from the public offices he holds. The Government should wrest their ill-gotten gains from them. Their titles should be handed back to the Government which chose them for selection as the patriots and aristocrats of the Dominion. The people of Canada, from coast to coast, will be enraged over the nauseous feast on the nation's misery.

The comment of the newspapers in Petrograd is sharp. The Retch declares it is impossible for Russia to tolerate Finland's move. The Birzh Eviya hints at armed interference, saying Russia is now about to make a last attempt toward a peaceful settlement.

According to the present program. Helsingfors will tomorrow put the bill passed Thursday into force "by simple declaration," meaning without Russia's sanction. This is the first formal denial of Russia's suzerain rights.

The law, which was engineered by the Socialists, proclaims that Russia has lost all authority in Finland except in the domains of diplomacy and in the army and navy wherein, however, Russia's rights are undefined. Petrograd, July 13.—The Finnish Diet on Thursday passed the second reading of a bill virtually establishing Finnish independence. The introduction of the bill has created a serious crisis here, and N. C. Tcheidse, president of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, has gone to Helsingfors to settle the differences.

An indication of the seriousness of the situation was a late sitting of the Petrograd cabinet and a decision of premier Lyoff to summon back to the capital the ministers who are now with the army. According to the Birxh-Eviya M. Lyoff's Socialist colleagues declare themselves in principle in sympathy with Finlands' move. The premier and other ministers belonging to the cabinet party refuse, however, to allow Finland to determine her relations with Russia insisting she must wait until the meeting of the constituent, assembly.

G. L. Bristol Declares That Local Men Have No Grievances.

G. L. Bristol, vice-president of the London street railwaymen's union, stated to The Advertiser last night that there was no talk of a strike in this city. The report, he said, that a meeting would be held Saturday night to discuss the situation was untrue. The men in London, said Mr. Bristol, have no grievances. They are satisfied with the cloth provided for the uniforms. While it is not what was expected, it is good value for the money. The company is providing stools for the cars, and lavatories are to be installed as soon as possible along the routes. It had been stated that these were points upon which the men and campany could not agree. Mr. Bristol asserts that they have all been adjusted. A statement was made to The Advertiser yesterday by a street car conductor that a meeting was to be held Saturday night to discuss grievances. This Mr. Bristol says is incorrect.

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF LONDON.—

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF LONDON.—

Seith Hammond has presented to the public library a framed print showing a birdseye view of London in 1872, a matter of 45 years ago. The picture, which has been hung on the stairway leading to the reading rooms, is a striking evidence of the growth of London and of the marked changes that half a century have brought. One feature that has struck many who have looked over the details is the large number of changes in the names of streets in that time. Probably nearly lone-third of the streets are known to day by names different from those in 1872.

Keeping Political "Pull" Out of Draft Exemptions

l'olitical influences in the working of the draft exemption boards in the United States is a peril various journals foresee with alarm, and in their support they have no less an authority than the president himself, who sounded a note of caution on this point in his proclamation announcing the rules and regulations governing the selection of men for service in the national war-army.

In a Washington dispatch to the Socialist New York Call, the charge is made that both Republicans and Democrats were wrangling for places on the exemption boards "in order that one party or the other may have an opportunity to punish their political foes by sending the sons to the trenches."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week, July 14 number, the general rules governing the selection of men for the national war-army are given, and the note of warning that boards shall not be derelict in their duty, is heard from various sources

Among other articles of supreme importance in this number of the Digest are:

Big Delegations From All Over District-Rousing Patriotic Addresses at Springbank

The glorious Twelfth celebration yesterday will go down in history as one of the best the Orangemen of London and district have ever held. For attendance, enthusiasm, and for excellent arrangements, it was probably one of the most striking in a long series. More than three thousand men and women were in line during the march, and throngs crowded the streets to witness the parade. ere was some misgivings as to the

There was some misgivings as to the advisability of holding the outing at Springbank, but the arrangements were perfect in every way, and the park proved decidedly attractive to visitors. In passing, it might be mentioned that London's playground was in gala attire for the occasion. The rosebeds particularly were worthy of mention, and the visitors were enthusiastic over the display. It is doubtful that London's parks ever looked so beautiful. It was a treat to look at the flowers.

Splendid Speeches.
But to come back to the celebration. The speeches of the prominent Orangemen were thoughtful, and dispassionate to a large extent. There was an undertone of seriousness regarding the future of Canada. There was an undertone of seriousness regarding the future of Canada. There was a call for conscription, not only of man-power, but of wealth and resources. E. T. Essery, K.C., criticized both parties severely. He declared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was neither British nor French, and stated that he was disloyal. He criticized Sir Robert Borden's dealings with the Nationalists, and declared that F. T. it is clear that Sinn Fein is winning ground. But what did the critics expect Ireland to be loyal to? To Castle Rule and to English domination? Here in Canada that sort of thing was never known, and any approach to it passed away in the 1840's; we should have been known, and any approach to it passed away in the 1840's; we should have been about as loyal as Ireland to a boss overseas. But the Irish people have been and are intensely loyal, even fanatically loyal, to what they perceive to be worthy of their affection and reverence. They are loyal to their religion, whether Roman Catholic or Protestant. They love Ireland and its shamrock, its poetry, history and traditions. The substantial classes are loyal to the British Empire, as this war has shown. Not given home rule as yet, merely promised it, they have made what Lord Kitchener called "a magnificent response" to the call to arms.

Loyal to England one can hardly expect the Irish pepulation to be, but loyal to the British Empire, yes, more indeed than might have been expected. What is the British Empire? She brushed back her thick, wavy hair into a roll at her neck, where Bob used to like it, and hurried into a dainty white dress, and was just clasping the necklace of seed pearls that he had sent her for Christmas, when there was the sound of a car, hurrying feet, and Bob's voice: "Hello, people, auntie, Ruthie! Hello, I say! Where are you?"

And in an instant everybody was in everybody else's arms. Ruth's fears flew to the winds. It was Rob, their very own Rob, home again. And he hadn't changed, except to become better looking than ever, and his clothes somehow had a different look than of old.

Bob held her off at arm's length and looked her over, and then turned her slowly around. "Ruthie, you're a stunner; that dress just suits you, and there isn't a girl in New York who wouldn't give her right arm for that complexion of yours. And that hair? Ruthie, you're a beauty! Isn't she, auntie?" And catching his aunt by the waist he spun her around several times in spite of her gasping protests, just as he had of old.

It was as long ago as last November that our assistant Red Cross commissioner to France wrote thus of the final our assistant Red Cross commissioner to France wrote thus of the French hospitals:

And now the French hospitals have almost reached the end of their supplies, for the outside help, upon which they were depending, failed them at the most needy time. It is coming now, however, late than not at all. Yes, the help is coming. It is coming now, however, late than not at all. Yes, the help is coming. It is coming on July 14, the pockets of the grateful Canadians, who owe their safety and their liberty to France. It is coming on July 14, the day when the heart of France is to be thrilled by the generous and substantial sympathy of those who have benefitted by her suffering.

To Make Ends Meet. To Make Ends Meet.

Dear Miss Grey,—I just saw a letter the paper of a soldier's wife asking that she could do to earn a little more oney. That is my trouble, too. I we five children and it takes me all the time to get on. My husband has en gone two years in December. He to with the 33rd. I would like "Solor's Wife" address. I wonder if she me from London, as I do? I often sh I could send my husband more reels, but it's almost impossible. I send his address. 33RD WIFE. Ans.—Referred to "Soldier's Wife" tose address I do not appear to have used to mention your street number. You do not mention your street number in giving address. Is it necessary? Expect to give out your husband's name to some inquirer very soon. Thanks for the snapshot; you have some very dear little kiddies.

Help Others, Too.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please and me two lonely soldiers' names. My send me two lonely soldiers names. My husband is on his way to England to do his bit, so I will soon have him to send parcels to, but will try and help two others if you will send me their names. Please find stamped addressed What are the meanings of the follow-ng names: Nellie, Rosetta, Arthur and What day did August 31, 1897, come what day did August 31, 1897, come on?

I have been a silent reader for some time. May I come again?

MRS. W. C.

Ans.—It is very kind of you to be wishful to cheer others as well as you own loved ones when overseas. The names of two have been sent you.

The meanings of the names are as follows: Nellie (derivative of Helen), light; Rosetta is presumably a combination of Rose and Etta; Rose would signify "beautiful as a rose," and Etta is a diminutive of Henrietta, the feminine form of Henry; Arthur, high or noble; William, defender or protector. w you have made your bow to our ites, perhaps it will be easier for to call again.

Picnics in Wartime. Picnics in Wartime.

If Miss Grey, — I see where the saking for a butterfly pattern, am sending a butterfly, blueand rose, which is just as pretty, e this will serve the purpose. Now, Grey, will it be asking too much i little help from your column. I you give me a menu suitable refor tea at a picnic of girls?

to serve for tea at a picnic of girls?

What time should a girl of 14 return to her home if unaccompanied?

Hoping to have an answer through your paper, HENRIETTA FORD.

Ans.—'Myrtle' is very fortunate to have such a nice pattern sent for her. The same has been forwarded.

1. In wartime, it seems to me, picnic menus should be as simple as possible, and I'd like so much to encourage this idea. We can have very pleasant times and an attractive "spread" without the olives, iced cakes in variety and other fancy things that we have been deeming a necessary part of the lunch. Here are two or three menus of a more simple nature: nore simple nature:
Peanut butter or cream cheese ches, home-made pickles, date it cake, fresh fruit, tarts, coffee made. Salmon loaf with dressing and ed lettuce, brown bread and carried in glass sealer withapy difficulty), cup cakes, coffee.

Minced ham sandwiches, stuffed baker's cimamon buns cut in and spread with butter and jam, wherry pie with top crust coffee.

Firstly, a girl should certainly not but in the evening without her nts' consent and an understanding she be home at a given time, or eabouts. Some parents insist upon r girls being in by 9 o'clock on all sions, unless accompanied by themes. Others are more lax as to the r, as long as they know where they and have reasonable assurance of f at all possible. Now, which is and which class I'd been in if a "fourteener" in my charge— 'Miss Ford" I control a "fourteener" in my charge— "Miss Ford," I cannot really say.

ar Miss Grey,—I always turn to page with interest every day. We having lovely weather here at pres-and only hope it lasts, I hear so housework tangle straightened out. If she had told us more about it I think I could have helped her. Thanking you all, I believe I am, SUN-KIST.

Ans.—"Sun-kist," eh? Perhaps the name might apply to more than one of our gardener-readers, or do they all wear sun-hat, gloves and veil before venturing forth? Will anybody wishing to send books or magazines for "Sunkist" please apply to me for her name first?

Mr. Meighen said that the bill did not state a position on this point, but there was a feeling that counsel should not be heard. Still, in some cases, there might be hardships if counsel were not allowed. The matter would be left to those who framed the regulations. Col. "Is there any possible offence that has not been raked into this section?" asked Sir Wilfrid.

Hon. Mr. Oliver wanted to know what source had inspired this provision.

Mr. Meighen said the source was the common sense of those who had framed the law; it was not based on British, American or German enactments.

It appeared that the law made it a crime to criticize the Government.

Mr. Wilson of Laval said that judges would be embarrassed by this act if the minimum punishment was for one year. There should be lighter punishment for minor offences; something should be left to the discretion of the judges. Judge Doherty replied that laws were made for prevention, as well as punishment. Judge Doherty said the section was to enable the authorities to get at men who merited condign punishment; it was to punish persons for the exceedingly grave offence of interfering with the enforcement of the act. Mr. Graham's criticism was beyond the mark of fairness.

Our Consumers' League

The following letter from "A Victim of Tuesday's Market" is worth ponder ing by the consumers of the city who are in the habit of buying on the market. Readers would doubtless be interested in hearing from others who have had similar experiences.

To the Editor of Consumers' League: Having read with interest from time to time your page in its attempt to keep within bounds the high cost of living, and also the efforts of the mothers' clubs of the city to do the same by devising different ways of buying, I thought I would drop you a few lines, asking you if there is not a city bylaw which prohibits hucksters or their agents from buying or even soliciting any articles of fruits, vegetables, etc., on the local market before a specified time each market day?

Why I ask this question is for the reason that if there such a bylaw, it is only "winked" at here. London is noted as having the biggest "hold up" market in Western Ontario.

Having been asked to purchase some strawberries for preserving. I was coming through the market on Tuesday morning last between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, and thought I would make my purchase then as there seemed to be an abundance of the fruit displayed. I asked one lady who had two large loads of berries what they were a box. I was politely informed they were all sold. I then passed to the next wagon and received the same answer. Going on to the fourth, the gentleman informed me they were not sold, but in about two minutes a huckster approached, and I was then told they were all sold. I may say that I was not trying to beat this man down in price. In fact, I was offering more than he received for the whole load. Now, these are facts. I think it is high time that if that bylaw exists, that the market clerk see that it is enforced, or get someone that will.

As a suggestion to the Mothers' Clubs of the city, I would like to see them form an association which would bind them together to abstain from buying on the local market until the prices suit their purses. I may say this was successfully accomplished in Montreal, and also to the west of us, at Chatham, in about two weeks' trial.

In conclusion, would be pleased if you could see your way clear to publish the above bylaw for the enlightenment of the citizens who are "stung" right along by hucksters or their "runners." I remain. A VICTIM OF TUESDAY'S MARKET.

WHAT BYLAW SAYS.

Bylaw No. 5513, Relating to the Public Market, Clause 8: "No huckster, runner or wholesaler or person other than an established grocer or butcher of the city, who directly or indiectly purchases or acquires them for re-sale, shall purchase meat, fish, fruits, roots, vegetables, poultry, dairy products, eggs or articles for family use which are usually sol market, BEFORE THE HOUR OF ELEVEN O'CLOCK IN THE FORENOON."

COOKS DINNER WHILE HOUSEWIFE AT CHURCH.

'I liked what you said in your page some time ago about fireless cookers, said Antoinette the other evening as she was giving the editor of Our Consumers' League department a ride home in her car.

"Use one?" queried the writer.
"I wouldn't be without it for the world—that is, if I could help it," replied Antoinette, who is a very honest person. Then she proceeded to enumerate in surprisingly logical order the advantages of "fireless" over other methods of

"In the first place," she said, "the great economy in fuel should be con sidered. It isn't difficult to appreciate the importance of this at the present time. In the next place, it is a real economy in buying, at least so far as meats are oncerned. I will explain just what I mean about that to you in a minute. In the last place, a fireless cooker saves a tremendous amount of wor I have been singing praises of the fireless cooker in the wrong order, and will be obliged to start at the end and go backwards. So far as the worry is concerned, every woman who does her own housework knows anxiety at times regard to whether the food that is cooking is going to be burnt when she called away from the kitchen by visitors, to the telephone, or duties in som other part of the house. Advantage No. 1. The housewife can rest perfectly as sured that the fireless cooker will never burn meats, vegetables, cereals, pastry bread or cakes or anything she likes to try in it.

"Yes, I am able to do all those things in mine. "We all go to church Sunday morning, yet we always have a hot dinner on the table a few minues after we get home, and usually a roast. I can devote my whole attention to the service without a single care lest the roast is getting charred or overdone, or the house burning up. It is all due to the fireless cooker.

There are three compartments in mine, and while I usually roast the potatoes meat as we like them that way I could cook two vegetables and dessert at the same time in addition to the meat.

"My cooker has radiators or soapstones. All that is necessary to do is to make these very hot on the gas, then place them in the cooker, and put in the food, which requires roasting, baking, boiling or stewing. It isn't necessary to heat the food before putting it in the cooker, though I usually place it on tog the soapstones while they are heating. It takes twelve, fifteen or twenty minutes to thoroughly heat the soapstones, and that is all the length of time the gas is required.

SAVES FUEL.

"The use of gas, say fifteen minutes, will accomplish just as much in the way of cooking my roast as burning it two and a half hours would do, did I not "If the roast for the Sunday dinner is small, I pop it in just before leaving for church; if large, earlier. I have never found it a failure. It is always cooked through perfectly, never in the least overdone, and what is more, juicy, tender

"CHEAPER CUTS" MADE TENDER

"That is another point, the economy in buying meat that is possible through this method of cooking. You see, cooked in a fireless cooker, the meat retains all its flavor and juices, and suffers practically no deterioration in food value. I have used my cooker for six years, and I think I am safe in saying that the meat has always come out of it in most palatable condition, whether it is one of the less expensive cuts or not. I am sure that quite often if the same meat had been cooked under the usual methods, it would have been really tough. This is what I meant by the economy in buying meat being made possible without the family suffering. We have had rump roasts that were delicious, and I am sure even a chuck roast would be good if cooked in this way.

"The cooker is excellent for scallops. I can stay out till the last minute be fore the evening meal, and know that I am going to have a nice, hot dish to coax the appetites of my family. No woman need be accused of neglecting he amily, so far as food is concerned, if she chooses to go out, provided she has a

BAKES BREAD ALSO.

"I bake bread in mine, and it is splendid for bread rolls, and fruit cake. I have tried tea biscuits with good success, and I have a friend who makes her light cakes in the cooker and is enthusiastic over it.

"Everybody must realize the advantage of cooking cereals and rice in thi way. There is no doubt about the thoroughness of the cooking process, and each grain stands out separate and perfect, as would be impossible if it were

A SALVATION LAST SUMMER

"Another consideration is the heat which one is spared in hot weather. I really do not know what I should have done without my cooker last summer. I am sure that some days I would not have had the courage to prepare hot meals, yet we really did enjoy them, and were strengthened accordingly when they were served up from the cooker. We paid $27.50 for ours, but it has paid for itself ore than once, yes, I should say, many times, in fuel, comfort and perfectly cooked food.

"There are other cookers, I know, which will give good service, and which are much less expensive. There are smaller ones, and also cookers which are not equipped with the radiators. In that case, it is necessary to thoroughly heat the food to a high degree before placing it in the cooker to continue the process." "Don't some people make fireless cookers for themselves? I think I have heard of it," said the practical Mrs. G., who had been listening intently. Antoinette and the writer both knew of such home-made cookers, manufa tured by packing cans or pails in excelsior in boxes. And assurance had been given in each case that these really proved quite satisfactory. One woman had sung the praises of her home-made "fireless" for making stews and cooking cereals. To be sure, it woldn't bake. SUCH FLAKY BROWN PIE CRUSTS!

Baking recalls another tribute of Antoinette to the cooker. She said, "And you should see the pies that can be baked in it. You know, it isn't always easy to get a nice, brown, crisp lower crust without scorching the pie. But the fire-less cooker always does this."

WILL ANSWER QUESTIONS. Antoinette is such an enthusiast over the fireless cooker that she announces she will be glad to answer any questions within her power in regard to it that are sent in through the editor of "Our Consumers' League." These should be addressed to the care of The Advertiser. The editor would welcome other "fireless cooker" experiences, and is always glad to receive suggestions or information on any subject suitable for the de

IN CANNING TIME.

The canning season is here at last, even if it is some weeks later than usual. As never before the appeal comes to the housewife to "can all she can," both of fruits and of vegetables, in order to conserve the food supply of the nation and make possible to a greater extent the helping out the Allies overseas. If never before in all the history of Canada it is important that not a box of berries should be allowed to go to waste, not a single quart of peas or beans or bunches of asparagus. "But I have never done it before" is no excuse for shirking patriotic responsibility in the matter of conserving the food supply.

If a woman doesn't know how, it is her duty to find out, just as much as it was earlier in the war to learn to roll bandages or other features of Red Cross work in which she has become an expert.

The Women's Gardening Association has made arrangements for the teaching of the proper methods, through securing a demonstrator from the department of agriculture, Women's Institute section, who will be in the city next week for three days under the auspices of the association. But in the meantime there are strawberries to be put away, and here are a few suggestions obtained from

Brave France Has Called for Help

Her Cry Has Come to Canada---She Appeals to London for Assistance--She Calls to YOU!

Throughout all Canada a special effort is being made to raise funds for France. Her vast resources have been exhausted-her treasury depleted. While her fair lands have been ravaged by war's relentless hand, she has not complained. She has borne the terrific financial strain without a murmur. But NOW she needs money-AT ONCE-to care for the French prisoners of war and the French sick and wounded soldiers.

Tomorrow-France's Day-a house-to-house canvass will be made in the residential districts, and French Flags will be sold on the downtown streets. Every patriotic Canadian should contribute liberally to this worthy cause.

This campaign will be conducted under the auspices of the Canadian Red Cross Society—assisted by all of the women's organizations of the city.

COLD STORAGE FIRMS HAVE BLED PEOPLE FOR MANY MILLIONS

Cost of Living Official Makes St rtling Report.

IMMENSE PROFITS MADE

Flavelle's Firm Is Named as One of the Many Big Profiteers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 13.—A startling revelation of profits taken in the sale of food, during last year particularly, when prices rose so spectacularly, was made to by W. F. O'Connor, K.C., the cost of living commissioner, in a report to the minister of labor of his investigation of cold storage in Canada. It is probable that in no country, alled or neutral, which have been supplying the Allies with food, have such tremendous profits been taken as by two Canadian firms—Flavelles, Limited, with which Sir Joseph Flavelle, Bart, of the Imperial munitions board is connected, and the firm of Matthews Blackwell, Limited. The profits run into millions on one article.

So great a sensation has the revelation made that members of Parliament were in a commotion tonight, and drastic action was promised. It is understood that action will be taken to demand for the public treasury the immense profits made out of the warwoe of the country, and when soldiers and civilians had to be fed.

Parliament Must Act.

Taken in conjunction with the report made by Mr. O'Connor yesterday that, in certain articles of food the huge suits and in farmer has not been small, and by Matthews Blackwell, and start the policy have been small, and have not a made that members of Parliament were of the country, and when soldiers and civilians had to be fed.

Parliament Must Act.

Taken for opposite taken in the sale by Mr. O'Connor yesterday that, in certain articles of food the huge suits with food where the profits of most of these companies have been small, and have not on any degree contributed to produce the very high prices prevailing. He says that "a world-wide shortage has induced high bidding in a world-market, domestic prices have followed the trend of export prices have followed the report made by Mr. O'Connor yesterday that, in certain articles of food the huge suits.

Taken in conjunction with the report made by Mr. O'Connor yesterday that, in certain articles of food the huge supplies held in cold-storage plants were unjustifiable, there is no doubt that Parliament will not be allowed to dissolve before the impossibility of the like happening again is provided. The report is the result of investigations held under the cost of living regulations which were put/into effect at the instance of Hon. T. W. Crothers. Action under these regulations was taken by the city of Ottawa last December, but when the action taken in December was completed in January, the present councompleted in January, the present coun-cil did nothing further, nor was any assistance given the cost of living commissioner.

with all the articles stored in these warehouses, the most sensational profits are found to have been made out of bacon. Flaveles, Limited, in 1916 exported 95,000,000 pounds out of a total export of 169,000,000 pounds by Canada last year. The markin of profit vas falset year. The markin of profit years warehouses of Canada was 4.58 cents per pound. If Flavelles' profit is subtracted, the average margin throughout. It is said that Von Gersdorff made the trip, but declined to make the affidavit.

Next morning as I rode to work I kept the road, so rough, and hadn't traveled very far when I struck luck, so tough, My wheel got caught in a deep rut. My balance went, I fell onto my trusty bicycle And smashed it pretty well. It is said that Von Gersdorff made the trip, but declined to make the affidavit.

After showing that the Flavelle firm made a profit of 5.05 cents per pound on 95,000,000 pounds of bacon, which is a profit of about $4,898,500 for the year 1916 on this one article alone, Mr. O'Connor points out that the margin of profit of the same company the previous year on bacon was 5.67 cents per pound on 57,500,000 pounds, and says: "There is no evidence of correspondingly increased storage or other costs. Finety-four million pounds at least of the sales of 1916 were for exportingly increased storage or other costs. Remarking that "this bacon situation is in a class by itself, and will stand explaining." Mr. O'Connor says that Matthews-Blackwell were nearer the common margin in 1916 than were the Flavelle firm, and it was largely the figures of Flavelle which made the common margin so high.

The bacon business and the profits taken on each pound by Matthews-Blackwell and the Flavelle firm from 1913 to 1916 were as follows: 1913 to 1916 were as follows: Flavells, Limited.

In 1914 these two companies exported more than half the total bacon exported by Canada. Their control of the bacon situation has been much strengthened since. Possibly no more striking example of a monopoly of any one commodity can be cited from the trade records of any country supplying the Allies with food."

In dealing with the egg situation Mr. O'Connor states that "in partial justification of cold storage companies generally it is necessary to state that the war time advance in the average profit on eggs has been greatly influenced by war time advance in the average profine eggs has been greatly influenced by excessive profits derived by two par

Profit On Stored Eggs.

The Flavelle firm in 1915 sold 5,-565.505 dozen eggs at a margin of profit of 7.27 cents. One branch of this company bought in 1916 approximately 4,000,000 dozen at 24.8 cents, (the average cost of the year's profits), and sold 3,500,000 dozen at 34.7 cents (the average selling price for the year). He adds that a small independent company nearby bought 500,000 dozen at 24.4 cents and sold at 36.3 cents. "This proves," he says, "that among the smaller cold storage companies the spirit at least is willing where profits are concerned."

Referring to the Matthews Blackwell Company, the commissioner says: "Crompany No. 5, it will be observed, sold 42,500,000 pounds of bacon. Its margin was 3.56 per pound. The margin of its competitors was small. They were, however, feeding the home market; its need was not so great."

This would indicate that the Matthews-Blackwell firm made a profit in 1916 on bacon alone of about $1,513,000.

MOTOR CAR SKIDS AND FOUR PERSONS ARE THROWN OUT

A remarkable escape from death was experienced last night about midnight on King street, near William, when an automobile, with two men and two wrote: "There will probably be no peace till the same thing happens as happened in Russia. Chicago, July 13.—For the first time since the establishment of the Chicago Boardof Trade, business in wheat came today to a dead standstill. Not a single transaction took place for an hour after the opening, and there were no bids or offers whatever on which to base even nominal prices. The halt was attributed in the main to uncertainty as to what would be the outcome of pending food legislation in Congress.

This movel and highly valuable apparation is further than the action of the story moves into the trenches and dugouts, where Warner, as William Berner, is fulfilling his duty as a spy. The instrument is shown in use by an officer, and then is more clearly explained by a view of the results of its use—i. e., the reflector clearly mirrors the activities of the troops in the territory surrounding the trenches and dugouts. This unusual bit of photography, it is said, was obtained only after many hours of experimentation by Cameraman Charles Kauffman.
