Hunt Missing Witness In Wyoming Bank Robbery

POLICE COMB DISTRICT FOR MISSING GIRL

Fiancee of Prisoner Disappears From Boarding-House in London.

3 WITNESSES FOR CROWN

Charge Suspects May Be Members of Extensive Gang of Thieves.

At noon Tuesday, provincial officers and Pinkerton detectives acting in conjunction with city police, were combing London and district for the fiancée of one of the four London men held at the county jail in connection with the Wyoming bank robbery on the afternoon of Oct. 20 last.

Monday night, the missing girl disappeared from her rooming house in this city, and all efforts to locate her have failed.

The authorities are particularly desirous of finding her, as they believe her evidence will aid materially in the conviction of the four alleged robbers on the charge of looting the bank of $13,000.

This girl is one of three witnesses for the crown.

A second girl, until recently a resident of London, but now in Toronto, is believed by officers to possess valuable information which can be used by the police against the suspects. She was ardently but unsuccessfully wooed by one of the accused men, it is said.

The third witness is a young London businessman, who is in touch with the crown attorney, and whose "tip" is said to have placed officers on the trail which culminated in the sensational arrests Saturday.

Deny Any Confession.

Despite persistent rumors, it was stated Tuesday afternoon that no confession has as yet been obtained from any of the four men who are being held in the county jail.

At present the police are concentrating their efforts on a search for other members of the alleged gang, and for the missing witness.

Contrary to the expectations of the authorities, latest developments indicate that in all probability the prisoners will not be transferred to the Lambton County jail until Thursday.

Sarna officers, in whose charge the alleged bandits will be given, have not yet arrived in London.

Operations in connection with the case which baffled officers for several months, were continued early Tuesday morning, and it is now believed that the apprehension of the quartet Saturday is only the forerunner of events, which will reveal the machinations of a band of Londoners who have for months past participated in daring robberies as well as big run-running deals.

The Oldsmobile auto, in which Edward McMullen, one of the prisoners, was riding when arrested, has been returned to John McMullen, his brother.

A check for $55, found in possession of McMullen, has been turned over to the man for whom it was originally intended.

PROPOSE HELP FOR WESTERN 'U'

United Boards of Trade Plan Campaign To Raise Funds.

Believe Counties Should Come To Aid of Institution.

Arrangements are being made for the organization of a campaign for the benefit of the Western University by the United Boards of Trade for Western Ontario. Various boards of trade throughout the district, members of the United Boards, will be brought into the scheme, if possible. It is hoped that if the campaign succeeds that a large sum of money may be raised for Western University. E. MacLure, Scandlers, commissioner of the Border Cities Chamber of Commerce, Windsor, stated Tuesday morning that it was the belief of the other counties in which the boards of trade of Western Ontario were situated, that Western University belonged as much to them as to London.

OFFICIAL DECIDES ARREST OF BIBLE VENDOR ILLEGAL

Ottawa, May 23.—Leopold Dumont, collector of the Ottawa Bible Society, who was arrested in Val Tetreau Saturday on a charge of selling copies of the Scripture without a license, was liberated after Rev. W. F. Crawford, Rev. O. D. Fournier and Rev. G. R. MacPail had intervened themselves in Mr. Dumont's behalf before Recorder Desjardins.

Mr. Dumont stopped at a house in Val Tetreau, where the husband was a Protestant and the wife a Roman Catholic, and sold a Bible, it is said. Subsequently Rev. Father Lombard arrived at the house and asked the collector if he possessed a license.

Mr. Dumont said he was acting for the Ottawa Bible Society, and did not require to take out a license. It is said this did not satisfy Father Lombard, who is alleged, telephoned for the Hull police and in a short time Mr. Dumont was under arrest. Chief Groulx refused to release the man, although three ministers argued that the detention was illegal. Finally they appealed to Recorder Arthur Desjardins, K.C., of Hull, who agreed the arrest was illegal and unjustified, and the prisoner was then liberated.

EXPECT BUDGET WILL CONTAIN TARIFF CHANGE

Parties Infer Much From Past Declarations of Liberal Party.

TRADE SHOWS DECLINE

Reductions in Customs Duties On Farm Implements Are Expected.

Ottawa, May 23.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Today, after eleven years in opposition, Hon. Mr. Fielding again brings down a Liberal budget. What his financial proposals are Mr. Fielding has kept strictly to himself and to members of the cabinet. But the general expectation is that he will announce some reductions in customs on farm implements and articles entering generally into the cost of living.

A casual remark made in the house by Hon. T. A. Crerar last night is causing much comment in the corridors today. Mr. Crerar observed that the "finance minister comes down tomorrow possibly with a program of increased taxation." He hoped not, but failed to see how, otherwise, Mr. Fielding was going to make his budget balance.

Was Mr. Crerar's remark an indication of the contents of the budget, is questioned today. Will, it is asked, reductions in revenue from reduced customs duties on certain articles be made up by increases in taxation, and an attempt also be made to bridge the gap existing between estimated revenue and estimated expenditures?

The budget recently brought down in the British house provided for a reduction of one shilling in the income tax. The view was taken that relief would in this way be given to industry, and that further debt reduction on a large scale might be postponed till trade improved. Great Britain, by means of heavy taxation, had, however, already reduced her war debt to a much greater extent than has been possible in Canada.

Different From Last Budget.

Today's budget will be very different from the last one brought down by Mr. Fielding, and comparison between the two will indicate the growth of Canada, and the part she played in the war. On April 4, 1911, when Mr. Fielding last made a budget speech, he announced the net debt as $340,000,000. It is now $2,384,998,381. Then, Dominion revenue totalled $14,000,000. Now it is $371,000,000. Total trade amounted to $278,000,000. It is now $1,501,731,000.

The budget speech is expected to contain some changes in the tariff, but no general revision. Budget secrets are proverbially well kept, but this much is inferred from past declarations of the Liberal party, and from the political situation in the house of commons, especially from the parliamentary influence of the Progressive bloc.

The budget is also likely to contain announcements of moment on taxation and on the methods to be adopted to bridge the gap between the revenue in sight and the estimates which have been brought down. It is regarded as probable that these methods will include an internal loan in addition to that

James Coote Has Come-Down in World When Garbage Wagon Spills Load

Employees of the garbage department thought that all the ill-luck in the world came their way when their wages were cut by the city, but Jas. Coote, 872, William street, learned Tuesday morning that the "worst was yet to come."

James was seated high up on a load of garbage being taken to the incinerator. His pal was driving the sleek nags fed by the city and it was city property that caused Mr. Coote's sudden drop in the world.

Just as the garbage equipage bumped and rumbled over the L. and P. S. tracks at Clarence street something went wrong with the "machinery" that it brought into play when the load is dumped at the incinerator, and the load, plus Mr.

Coote, was hustled off "too soon." The front end of the wagon went up like a sky rocket on the 24th of May, but Mr. Coote did not see the stars until he came down on the pavement with a thud. A really excellent load of garbage was scattered broadcast on the street, and excitement ran high.

Mr. Coote sustained injuries to his right shoulder and side, and was hurriedly removed to Victoria Hospital in the police ambulance by Sergeant Elmer Walsh and Constable Langford.

Dr. Hadley Williams and Dr. G. Ramsay, who attended Mr. Coote, stated that there were no bones broken, and that the patient was not badly injured.

Carefully Regulate Feeding of Your Year-Old Child

"CEREAL AND MILK FOR ME, PLEASE."

At one year of age, the average healthy baby may have a day's feeding, something like this:

- 8 a.m. A cup or bottle of warm milk.
- 9 a.m. Orange juice, mixed with water, one or two tablespoonsfuls.
- 10 a.m. A saucer of well-cooked cereal, with milk, but no sugar. In hot weather, cold cereal jelly may be used. A cup of cool milk.
- 2 p.m. A small helping of some green vegetable, mashed; a little beef juice, or some cold beef or chicken broth which has jellied; a small saucer of rice. A piece of crisp toast or dried bread. A cup of milk. A soft egg may be given in the place of the broth or beef juice, or a cup of vegetable soup.
- 6 p.m. Same as 10 a.m. At either of these meals a thick cereal gruel may be given with the milk.
- 10 p.m. A few babies may still require a cup or bottle of milk when the mother goes to bed, but many babies will have been taught before this age to sleep all night.
- At 18 months, the same plan will be followed, but at this age, the child may have a small helping of finely-cut beef, lamb, chicken or whitefish at his dinner, and may have a simple dessert, like custard or junket, afterwards.

Premier Drury Is Tired Of Sir Adam Beck's Scoldings

TORONTO, May 23.—That he was "tired of being shouted at and scolded at by Sir Adam Beck" was the declaration of Premier Drury this morning during conference of the Provincial, Toronto and Hydro-Electric Commission authorities regarding the "clean up" of the Mackenzie-Mann interests, in and about Toronto. There were several times when a clash between the premier and the chairman of the hydro commission seemed scarcely avoidable, but the situation was always smoothed over. Some progress was made with the negotiations.

REVISION COURT REFUSES TO ACT

Ald. May Alleges Unfair Discrimination in Assessment Appeals.

Three Rinks Succeed in Having Tax Adjustment Made.

An allegation charging unfair discrimination on the part of the court of revision is made by Ald. John T. May in connection with assessment appeals which he had entered on behalf of two residents of Stanley street, and which were not allowed by the court.

The basis of the alderman's charge against the court is that while his cases were thrown out, appeals based on the same premises were allowed.

The cases which the alderman was fighting were those of Arnold Swazie and W. G. Doidge, Stanley street residents. The basis of the complaint was unfair assessment, and that the tax notices were not left. Having had no notice, the people did not know that their assessment had been raised to the point where they contended it was unfair, and so lost the opportunity of appealing within the proper time.

Ald. May stated also that two of the permanent assessors went over the property in question afterwards and admitted that the assessment was unfair.

On the other hand, the assessors who made the assessment made the proper declaration that they had served the notices in proper order and the assessment act says that the entry of the assessors shall be taken as prima facie evidence of the delivery or transmission of the necessary notice.

The roll having been previously confirmed, the court held that it had no power to act.

However, allowance was made in the case of Jubilee Rink and the Thistle Club and Simcoe Street Rink. This is the basis of the alderman's charge of unfairness, as he contends that the circumstance in the case of Jubilee Rink is identical with that of the case he presented.

City Clerk Baker, however, stated that the court was able to reopen the case of the rink on Mr. Grant, having admitted that there was an error in the assessment of this property.

The court of revision, pondered long over the case of the three rinks.

Chairman Fetterley laid the case quite open when, after reviewing the financial position of the rinks, said that some of the members of these clubs had pointed out that the city spends a considerable sum of money on playgrounds, adding that since they were children till they die, they were entitled to some consideration for maintaining playgrounds at their own expense.

The assessment of Jubilee Rink went up with a bound a year ago, and the heads of that club did not get their assessment notice. The new assessment valued their property at $13,500. The Thistle Club was assessed at $11,000, and the Simcoe Street Rink $6,250.

After going into practically every phase of the matter, the court decided that it would make the assessment of the three $6,300. Thus, the Simcoe Street Rink, being treated like the other two, will have $50 trimmed off its assessment.

Sunday afternoon is the most popular time for the family to spend a few hours at the beach. On Sunday, after having attended morning church service, it is a joy unalloyed for father to be able to take the family in his auto or on one of the speedy electric cars to the beach. And who shall say that this outing is the plan of an unrighteous man?

SHERIFF WITH SQUAD MOVES FURNITURE OUT

Enters Quarters While Former Matron and Sisters Are Enjoying Breakfast.

GRAHAM WILL NOT TALK

Women Rent House, But Are Unable to Obtain Possession Until June.

After 34 years' continuous residence at the Middlesex County jail, Miss Minnie Harris, who six weeks ago was relieved of her duties as assistant matron, but had since refused to vacate her living quarters, was forcibly ejected shortly after 7 a.m. Tuesday.

Under the personal supervision of Sheriff Donald Graham, a squad of jail attendants and prisoners removed every article of furniture from the building, depositing the same just outside the courthouse door, where it was subsequently loaded on a moving van called by Miss Harris and transferred to a temporary storage.

Miss Harris and her two sisters, who have always made their residence with her, explained to The London Advertiser during the proceedings that they had been interrupted by Sheriff Graham and his "party" just as they had commenced their breakfast.

"They did not allow us to finish," said Miss Harris, "but banded us right out. The sheriff did not show us any court order, but explained to my sister that we were being evicted because we owed two months' rent."

"We have not paid any rent for years. It is about 12 years since the rent council allowed us the quarters free from charge, and this decision is recorded on the minutes of the council. The sheriff knows that. He has been both reeve and warden here."

Shows Sheriff Receipt.

"We have been days endeavoring to rent a house, and only within the past day or two were we successful. We have paid the rent for June, but are not able to move in until the first of the month, when the present occupants leave. I have the receipt for the rent and showed it to the sheriff."

Questioned if it was correct that he had secured an order for the eviction proceedings from the court, Sheriff Graham replied, "I would rather not discuss the matter at this moment."

John M. McEvoy, K.C., who has been interesting himself in Miss Harris' case since her dismissal, is still out of the city, and what action if any, he expects to take was not ascertained.

The Harris sisters were all at a loss to know what to do in the meanwhile. Having no house to move into, they proposed to store their furniture and take temporary lodging until June 1.

Securely Fasten Doors.

Seemingly to insure that no attempt would be made to re-enter the rooms the sheriff's men securely fastened the doors, affixing brand new padlocks.

While the prisoners continued their work of removing the piano and the heavier furniture to the outer air, a sister of Miss Harris enjoyed a snack in the sunlight.

With the advent of the present courthouse administration radical changes in the staff were made, and Miss Harris was tendered notice of dismissal. Since that time she has steadfastly declined to move. On May 1, however, she was served with what the sheriff termed final notice.

Then followed a period of "watchful waiting" by all parties interested, with nothing to report until the sheriff's drastic action Tuesday morning.

VETERAN ARMY DISAGREES ON FUTURE POLICY

McDonald's Staff Stages Oratorical Contest in Armories at Port Hope.

SETTLE DIFFERENCES

Send Telegram to Premier King, Requesting Deputation Appointment.

Special to London Advertiser.

Port Hope, Ont., May 23.—A stump oratorical contest staged by members of the staff of the McDonald's army in the armories here last night. The staff or executive had held a meeting in which there was a slight difference of opinion as to their future policy. Then they decided to leave it to the men. McDonald, after the idea of twelve apostles, chose an executive of twelve, and he was afraid there was a Judas among them. The fear, however, proved unfounded, and the whole affair was cleared up amicably at the mass meeting.

Three Discouraged Malcontents. Trouble arose when the two members of the advance guard, Geo. A. Allen and G. W. Suddess, returned before a telegram for their recall reached them. Unsatisfactory arrangements for the men's reception along the road were blamed on the two. It turned out, however, that they were the victims of three discouraged malcontents, who posed as representatives of the column and proceeded to tell a story that made municipal authorities suspicious. During the whole harangue the atmosphere was electric in its intensity.

McDonald left the question of his leadership to the men, whose loud chorus of approval when asked if he should remain was a complete vindication of his leadership. He stated that unless his authority were absolute he would resign and go home, but the whole party refused to think of another leader. The two members of the advance guard were reinstated and left for Cobourg to make further arrangements for the triumphant advance of the heart-conquering little army.

A telegram to Premier King for a deputation appointment was sent from here last night. It reads: "The executive of the unemployed veterans en route on foot to Ottawa, request a hearing before you and your cabinet on our arrival." Telegrams asking their party support were sent to Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. C. Crear.

Included Frosh Beef.

The same liberal donations as on other marches were received along the road into Port Hope. A farmer named Wallace met the column and gave every man an apple, an orange and a banana. The liberal donations of the town included fresh beef for a multigatway stew, prepared with a whole army touch by an old army cook in the army field kitchen that stood rusting from disuse. The citizens also furnished a quantity of canned beef and vegetables, also plates, cups, knives and forks. After supper the column marched in companies to the nearby park and listened to the band concert.

SEEDING PROCEEDS RAPIDLY IN WEST

Winnipeg, May 23.—Canadian Press.—Intermittent local showers throughout the west have slightly hampered work in some districts, but on the whole weather has been good and seeding has proceeded rapidly, according to the crop report issued yesterday by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Soil drifting, usually prevalent at this season, is entirely absent this year, and splendid moisture conditions practically preclude all danger of damage from that cause. Grass is growing fast, and livestock is improving quickly on new pasturage.

MEMBERSHIP OF CHURCH INCREASES

Steady Progress Marks All Departments of Ridout Street Methodist.

Evidence of steady progress in every department of church work were amply at the annual congregational meeting of the Ridout Street Methodist Church held Monday evening, and having the largest attendance in the history of the church. Rev. J. A. Agnew, the pastor, occupied the chair.

During the past year 145 names have been added to the membership roll of the church, with a total increase in membership of 100. One member was removed by death and 44 by letter. For the past three years the membership of the Ridout Street Church has annually increased by 100, and has now a total of 1,400.

For all purposes during the year the church raised $15,333. Of this the Ladies Aid, one of the most flourishing organizations of its kind in the city, raised $2,236. The society has a membership of 60. The Men's Brotherhood, with a membership of 80, raised $677.30. The Epworth League, with a membership of 125, raised $1,000. The church general fund raised $85 for missions. The sum of $162.40 was raised by the Women's Missionary Society, with $125.65 raised by the Mission Circle and $30.87 by the Mission Band. For the general mission fund $329 was raised.

The Sunday school showed particularly successful work during the year. At present there are 455 members on the roll, an increase over the previous year of 62, and the sum of $28 was raised showing an increase of $28 over the preceding church year. Thomas Spetigue, who has most ably fulfilled the office of superintendent for some years past, holds the office again for the coming year.

POLICE NAB 300 IN ULSTER RAID

aroused from sleep by the police demanding admission.

Capture Sixty Officials.

As part of the comprehensive scheme embracing all of Ulster, the special police were active in Fermanagh during the night and early morning, arresting every Sinn Féin known to be an officer, or to have executive authority in the ranks of the Irish Republican army. Only about sixty Irish Republican army officers were captured in Fermanagh. Late in the evening the police were making a fairly clean sweep of the men who exercised influence and control in the ranks of the army in that part of Ulster.

In Belfast 52 were arrested, but these did not include any well-known party leaders, while the Falls road section, with its big Republican population, was entirely unrepresented.

Absence of the Republicans from their homes is ascribed to anticipation of reprisals for the assassination of W. J. Twaddell, member of the Ulster Parliament.

In County Londonderry, extensive raids on Republican army officers' homes were carried out during the night. Fourteen arrests were made, those taken including several members of the irregular forces operating in the eastern part of County Donegal.

The Ulster government is taking immediate stringent steps to suppress in Northern Ireland the Irish Republican army. Irish Volunteers, the Sinn Féin, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts. The members of these organizations, it is announced, are liable to arrest and prosecution.

"Anything new in railway circles?" inquired the reporter.

"Nothing that I know of. Whenever I wish the latest in railway happenings I look in The Advertiser," was the clever rejoinder.

OCEAN TRAGEDY LIST TOTALS 102

Sixteen Passengers and 86 of Crew of S. S. Egypt Missing.

Sailors Report Struggles Between Survivors For Places of Safety.

Brest, France, May 23.—The British vice-consul here today announced that 102 of those who were on board the British steamship Egypt, sunk off the island of Ushant on Saturday night, are missing, of whom 16 were passengers and 86 members of the crew.

Twenty-eight passengers were saved, together with 204 members of the crew. Mrs. M. L. Sibley and Miss V. M. Boyer, American missionaries, are among the missing.

Many of the dead brought in by boats were wearing life belts. They had evidently died from exposure from having been so long in the water.

The fog was so thick off Ushant Island at the time of the collision between the Egypt and the French freighter Seine, that the inhabitants of the islands in the region had been living for three days in almost complete darkness, with all outdoor work suspended. The sudden rise in temperature in Northern France given as the reason for the unusually heavy fog.

Accounts of the disaster given by survivors and the captain's reports indicate that the loss of life would have been much smaller had not the fog been so thick as to hamper the rescuers. Additional details of the scenes following the crash are coming to light. Sailors on the French steamer declare they observed several struggles between survivors for places of safety on pieces of wreckage.

The survivors' account indicate that everything possible was done by the officers and crews of the two vessels to prevent loss of life, except in the cases of a few Indian seamen, who lost their heads and fought for lifebelts and places in the boats.

The predominance of women among the passengers saved is credited to sacrifices on the part of men. Men were not alone in this, however, for a nun, Sister Rhoda, whose name in private life was Miss E. R. McNeill, refused to take a place offered her in a boat, saying: "Give it to another." She was last seen kneeling in prayer on the Egypt's deck.

There is some comment among navigators as to what might have happened had the 1914 international radio agreement been signed by France. This agreement provides that coastwise and small sea-going craft shall be equipped with wireless receiving apparatus. It is believed here that if a number of small vessels near the scene of the disaster had been so equipped they would have picked up the Egypt's distress signals and taken part in the rescue.

Maritime authorities point to the similarity of the present case with that of the sinking of the French steamship Bourgoyne in 1898, with the loss of many lives. Both accidents occurred in a fog and on a calm sea, and each, the bigger ship was rammed by the smaller.

U. S. TRADE WITH CANADA SHOWS DECLINE FOR YEAR

Trade and Commerce Statistics Indicate Falling Off of 46 Per Cent.

Washington, May 23.—(Canadian Press).—The trade of the United States with Canada declined slightly less during the past year than United States' trade with the rest of the world. This is shown by statistics which have just been made public by the department of trade and commerce. United States' exports and imports for the year ending February, 1922, were 46 per cent. under 1921 in the case of trade with Canada. The decline in world trade was 48 per cent.

Of the decline in trade with the Dominion, $227,000,000 was in exports and $216,000,000 in imports. The total exports of the United States fell 52 per cent, the Canadian part only 29 per cent. The United States' import total declined 42 per cent; imports from Canada declined 52 per cent.

Bird Bulletin

Issued by the Macmillan Ornithological Club.

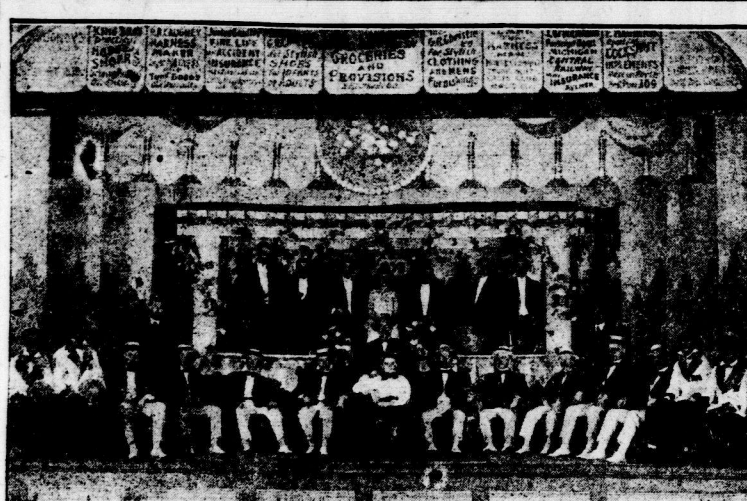

The Eave Swallow was noticed on the roof of a barn at a farm near the Base Line, where a few located that formerly belonged to the colony that was broken up when the barn on the McArthur farm was torn down some years ago. Their pear-shaped mud nests under the eaves of the barns are not as common as they used to be, which is unfortunate as all the swallows are very useful.

Four days of rainy weather intervened just here, which kept the bird men pretty much at home. The only new arrivals to be reported were the Gray-Cheeked Thrush, the Blackpoll and Connecticut Warblers on the morning of the 20th. The three are not very well-known even to bird students.

The Gray-Cheek is very easily confused with the Olive-Back, which is somewhat commoner, unless one gets the bird into a favorable light, and is able to see the difference in coloring of the throat and sides of the head. This is not always an easy thing to do, as the thrushes are rather secretive and usually slip away into the underbrush when one tries to approach closely. The Connecticut and Black-Poll Warblers are two of the rarer members of the family and among the latest to appear.

The Yellow-Billed Cuckoo arrived on the 21st, exactly on the day it was due, thereby giving notice that the migration season was about over. Unless, of course, there should be another wave of birds in the south, the field work this spring is pretty well done. It only remains to round up a few of the stragglers, or watch out for any strays from the beaten path of travel.

Offer Holiday Attraction At Grand

THE AYLMEY MINSTRELS.

THE AYLMEY MINSTRELS, one of the very finest companies on the road and one which has appeared with great success all over Western Ontario, will be the holiday attraction at the Grand Theatre for the matinee and evening performances on Wednesday.

This decidedly high class aggregation of entertainers includes 50 people, under the direction of Will H. Starr, who, for a number of years, was featured as a balladist with the Primrose shows. They have a clever up-to-date program, with a novelty in the way of the manner of presenting the minstrel part, which is staged with a handsome colonial setting and costumes of richness and beauty. Altogether the performance staged by the Aylmeys boys will be surprising for its excellence. There will be a big street parade at noon.

RESUME INQUIRY IN HUSTON DEATH

Commissioner Rejects Application of Toronto Telegram For Stated Case.

Toronto, May 23.—When Commissioner John A. Macintosh resumed his inquiry at Osgoode Hall today into the circumstances surrounding the death of Capt. Orville A. Huston at Fort Frances on Dec. 16, 1921, J. D. Spence, representing the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs and D. L. McCarran, appearing for the Toronto Evening Telegram, asked for a stated case with regard to production of telegrams which had passed between that newspaper and its representatives in connection with the Huston case.

The commissioner rejected these applications, complaining that the documents in question were relevant to the inquiry and should be produced.

The applicants for the stated case announced that they would carry their request to the second division court of appeal on Monday next. Here the application will be argued and the court will either sustain or override the commissioner's ruling.

The commission had intended to proceed today with the examination of Irving E. Robertson of the Toronto Evening Telegram, but on being informed that he was not well and accordingly unable to attend, the inquiry adjourned until Thursday morning.

Before rising, it was decided to request the Dominion board of railway commissioners to send a representative to Toronto with all the documents relevant to negotiations with Capt. Huston had conducted with them while seeking freight rate reductions on pulpwood.

EXPECTS TARIFF CHANGE IN BUDGET

which has already been floated in New York.

Been One of Decline.

The year which Mr. Fielding covers in his budget has been one of decline in trade and in the revenues of the country, but there are signs that a turn of the tide has come. The total trade figures of the fiscal year, which closed on March 31 last—the year of which the finance minister has to give an account—showed a big falling off, from those of the year before; but the figures for March were larger than those in any month in the whole fiscal year. The revenue figures for the year were also much below those of the year previous, but again March, the last month of the year, was marked by an increase in income.

The financial statement for the year closed in March shows a considerable surplus of ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure. The total revenue as announced is $371,000,000 as compared with ordinary expenditures of $324,000,000. This gives a surplus on consolidated account of some $47,000,000. For the year previous there was an even larger surplus on consolidated account of 600,000,000 as against expenditures of $357,000,000.

The largest item in the revenue of 1921-22 was derived as usual from the customs, which showed $104,000,000 as compared with $162,000,000 in the year before. Second place in the list was held by the income tax, which replaced sales tax and other special war inland revenue in rank of importance. The revenue from the income tax for 1921-22 was $78,000,000 as compared with only $38,000,000 the year previous; while the sales and related taxes sank from $76,000,000 to $72,000,000.

In spite of this favorable showing on consolidated account, however, there was an increase of $73,000,000 in the net debt of the Dominion. On March 31 last the net debt of Canada stood at $2,384,996,391 as compared with $2,311,294,443 for the end of the fiscal year previous. Curiously enough the gross debt of the country did not rise during the year, but, on the other hand, showed a falling off of approximately eighty-seven millions. The explanation of this condition is that there was a large decrease in the assets of the Dominion, especially in the advances to banks, at the same time that there was an increase in the list of assets which are regarded as "non-active." Among these latter are the

THINK COAL STRIKE MAY END IN JULY

Operators Differ as to Ultimate Settlement of Situation, Reported.

New York, May 23.—(Canadian Press).—Coal operators do not look for a settlement of the strike before July 1, the Wall Street Journal declares today in a review of the strike situation. Many operators expect the anthracite strike will last until September 1, the paper declares. In 1902 the miners were on strike from April 1 to October 17.

Authorities in the New York coal trade declare that consumers will not be seriously affected if the strike in both bituminous and anthracite fields lasts all summer. They say the coal market would be plunged into four weeks of extreme dullness if settlement were made immediately.

One official of a large company believes the strike will not be decided before winter comes. "Pennsylvania miners will not be back before the snow flies," he said. "The situation cannot be cleared up before September 1, and it looks as if it will last much longer. It has all the earmarks of a long struggle."

Stocks of bituminous coal on hand average 60 days' requirements, according to sales managers who regularly canvass the New York and New England territories for orders. They estimate that there is now a reserve supply of 39,000,000 tons in the United States. Prices cannot go much higher because of competition from England. Many inquiries are known to have been made in England by some of the largest United States consumers and brokers, and it is said that one cargo is already on its way across the Atlantic.

HOPKINS' SERVICE PLEA SAVES FINE FOR SPEED

Allowed Go When Officer Terms Performance "Unusual."

Crawford Hopkins, a taxi driver, believes in giving "service" even if it means an appearance in police court for speeding, as it did mean Tuesday morning.

"I had an emergency call to take a nurse to Victoria Hospital from 311 Wolfe street," defended Mr. Hopkins.

"Even doctors aren't immune," observed the magistrate.

"I only got 50 cents for the trip," replied Hopkins. "I was going fast I admit, but I was careful."

Constable Pope who took the number stated that he had never seen Hopkins drive like that before.

"In our business we like to please," declared Mr. Hopkins, with a smile.

"Do you know anything about the case?" demanded the court.

"It was for Dr. Moore," said the taxi driver.

"You would only save a few minutes at the most even if you were driving 40 miles an hour," observed the magistrate.

"I know that," said Hopkins, "but the passengers don't."

"There seems to be some reason for this and I gather from the reliable that it is a most unusual thing for you. I am going to let you go this time, but I am not making any precedent about it."

ADMITS ROBBING P. LEWIS' HOUSE

Harry Stone Pleads Guilty to Entering House on Waterloo Street.

Court Remands Prisoner Until May 31 for Sentence.

Harry Stone, alias Darwin of Hamilton, Ontario, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the house of Philip Lewis, 641 Waterloo street, on May 16, when he appeared in court Tuesday. The young prisoner admitted stealing jewelry valued at $200 from the Lewis home, including three ladies' brooches, a gold watch, gold chain with charm, three gold rings and a silver lead pencil. Mr. Graydon remanded Stone until May 31 for sentence.

Stone was arrested in the cellar of Harry Ranaahan's store, 515 Richmond street, early last Tuesday morning by Constable Leo Chamberlain, and had back saws, flashlight and a "jimmy" in his possession. He made no effort to resist arrest. A suitcase containing much valuable jewelry was found at his rooming house.

After reading the second charge, preferred by Lewis, Mr. Graydon told him he could be tried either by judge and jury, county court judge or right in police court.

"I guess it would be all right for you to try me," said Stone.

"There is no guess about it," replied the court.

"I will be tried by you, then," declared the prisoner in composed tones.

After the charge had been read again, Stone pleaded guilty.

"I have just had some vague telephone instructions from Hamilton regarding this young man," said Norman Newton of Parkhill, representing W. R. Meredith, who has been retained as counsel for Stone.

"I can only remain him for sentence," replied Mr. Graydon. "He has already pleaded guilty."

"I understand that, your worship," said Mr. Newton.

"I will be glad to hear anything that you have to say in the matter before sentence is passed," concluded the magistrate.

REPORTS INCREASED ISSUE OF AUTOMOBILE LICENSES

Records Show Advance of 550 Over
Total of Same Period in 1921.

Some 550 more automobile licenses have been issued this year up until May 20, than last year in Middlesex County for passenger cars. Up until this date last year there were 1,279 licenses for this class of car issued. This year the number has reached 1,824, nearly 550 more.

This is considered an indication of the buying power of the general public, and a particularly good omen in view of the prevailing business depression.

Not all of these licenses issued are renewals, since a great many, it is pointed out by C. E. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor League, of last year's cars have been disposed of by their owners and new ones bought this year, so that the number 550 does not entirely cover the new passenger cars sold in Middlesex County this year.

The places included in Middlesex County where licenses are issued are Strathroy, Parkhill and London.

CHATHAM VAGRANTS GET TICKETS FROM PARENTS

Warned by Magistrate Graydon Not
to Stray From Home Again.

Glen McNeil and Jack Kirkpatrick,
two young men who ran away from their homes in Chatham and were picked up by the local police and charged with vagrancy, have been forgiven like the prodigal son of Biblical days and will partake in Chatham Tuesday night, their parents
having sent them out their parents
to the expense of sending you tickets.

"You ran away from home, and if it were not for your parents you would be sent down
as vagrants."

"Don't you ever do anything like this again. You are going after this.
It is pretty humiliating for you to have to go back like this. Traveling about the county like you were is what makes criminals. You go back home and make the most of the chance that is being given you," concluded the magistrate.

The boys both promised to be good
and were taken back to jail to receive the cents and the $1 bill they owed between them before they were taken to the station.

DRAMA LEAGUE CLOSES SEASON

Presents Tennyson's "The Falcon" Before Appreciative Audience at L. C. I.

The London Drama League brought a most successful season to a close Monday night with the presentation at the collegiate institute of Alfred Tennyson's poetical drama,
"The Falcon," which proved to be one of the finest offerings of the year.

Although "The Falcon" is a bit out of the classics, and for that reason very difficult to present to a popular audience, it was so cleverly interpreted by the players of Monday night that it might have been played before almost any group of people.

Lack of action in the play itself was fully counterbalanced by the clever acting and effective stage setting.
Indeed a great deal of credit must go to the production committee and the cast of the drama, which depended largely on the effective reading of lines and costumes to make it a success.

The difficult role of "The Countess" was cleverly taken by Miss Margaret Gemmell. The part, entirely devoid of action, showed up effectively the dramatic ability which Miss Gemmell possesses. Appearing in a lovely old-fashioned costume with chaplet of pearls, she completed the quaint beauty of the scene and gave an interpretation of the Tennyson character, which was restrained and yet at the same time pregnant with emotion.

No less important a role was that of "The Italian Count," taken by L.
Gillingham. Indeed it might be said that there is no stellar role in "The Falcon." Each character has its own importance, none overshadowing the others.

Mr. Gillingham, as the love-sick count with his attendant falcon, enacted his part sympathetically and cleverly. J. Stanley Meredith scored another triumph as the clownish servant brother of the count, while Miss Amy Bartram was a most realistic
"old nurse." The nurse and the foster brother provided the undercurrent of comedy for the more serious
theme of the play.

The story of the play is simply told. The countess pays a visit to her old lover, the count, to ask him for his dearest possession, the falcon.
To cheer her child on his sick bed.
That the count, penniless, has sold have first sacrificed his beloved bird to provide a breakfast for the countess, and then the committee can decide what shall be done.

The members of the present executive will be asked to act as an advisory committee.

Special mention should be made of the effective stage setting and old-fashioned costumes, the difficult fashioning of doublet and hose having been in the hands of Mrs.
Doris Graydon.

The occasion of the play was also the occasion of the annual meeting of the League. The other officers are as follows: Honorary president,
Col. A. M. Smith; vice-president, Mrs.
E. V. Buchanan, Dean Sherwood
Fox; vice-president, Mrs. E. V.
Gahan; assistant secretary, Miss Ella Mootie; treasurer, Arthur Armstrong; executive, Mrs. A. D. Jordan,
Mrs. H. F. Skye, W. B. Pope, Col.
Lyne Evans, Kenneth Greene, S. J.
Meredith.

Two interesting baritone solos were also a part of the program.
Luther Jackson singing the Shakespearean songs, "Orpheus and His Lute" and "Blow Thou Winter Winds," Mrs. A. D. Jordan acting as accompanist.

ranges Old-Time Event For Holiday.

Hackett Loyal Orange Lodge will observe the 24th with an Old Time dance at Springbank Park at 2 p.m.
Wednesday. Arrangements have been completed to make the trip a highly enjoyable one. A special band will be in attendance, and other additional attractions.

Middlesex County Lodge L. O. L. will meet in Uister Hall, Saturday afternoon next. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock and a large attendance is expected to turn out.

Britannia Lodge of Southgate, put on degree work in their hall at Southgate, Monday night, at which a large class of candidates were advanced. Visitors were present from London, Lucan, Granton and other places, and the whole meeting showed evidence of a worthwhile revival in Orange Lodge affairs in that part of the London district.

CHATHAM VAGRANTS GET TICKETS FROM PARENTS

Warned by Magistrate Graydon Not
to Stray From Home Again.

Glen McNeil and Jack Kirkpatrick,
two young men who ran away from their homes in Chatham and were picked up by the local police and
charged with vagrancy, have been
forgiven like the prodigal son of
Biblical days and will partake in Chatham Tuesday night, their parents
having sent them out their parents
to the expense of sending you tickets.

"You ran away from home, and if it were not for your parents you would be sent down
as vagrants."

"Don't you ever do anything like this again. You are going after this.
It is pretty humiliating for you to have to go back like this. Traveling
about the county like you were is what makes criminals. You go back home and make the most of the
chance that is being given you," concluded the magistrate.

The boys both promised to be good
and were taken back to jail to receive the cents and the $1 bill they owed between them before they were taken to the station.

the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 a.m., during which period postage stamps

livery and registration wickets will be open.

There will be no delivery by letter carriers, but special delivery letters received will be specially delivered.

patch after 12 o'clock noon will be

APPROVE CLOSING OF SOLDIERS' AID

Commission Ratifies Decision to Disband Organization
at End of May.

A general meeting of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, called to ratify the action of the executive in deciding to disband at the end of May, was held on Tuesday evening.

Approval of the disbandment decision was given. The furniture will be turned over to the city and the funds, about $1,600, retained by an advisory council for distribution to needy cases.

There was only one little unward incident at the meeting. Provincial Secretary Warwick asked that an advisory committee be appointed to assist the district secretary. The executive when it came to the disposition of these funds, decided that they should be dispensed on recommendations made by the welfare worker.

"I'm not going to have any subordinate officers with power to handle funds over the secretary," said Mr.
Warwick, and he suggested that the funds be in the hands of the new secretary.

"You will split hairs," remarked
Col. Graham.

Secretary Lance said the executive wished to have the money to assist families that would not come in for aid under the provincial regulations.

He said they also felt that if the secretary had the local funds to hand out in local cases, he would not dispense provincial funds.

In the end it was decided that the secretary might present the cases to the committee, and then the committee might decide what shall be done.

The members of the present executive will be asked to act as an advisory committee.

LAD IS REMANDED AFTER ADMITTING BICYCLE THEFT

Inspector Kelly Makes Plea for Boy Who Escaped From Industrial School.

Cuthbert Telfer, who admitted to Magistrate Graydon last week that he has thrice escaped from the Industrial School in Toronto, was remanded until May 31, when he appeared in court Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty to stealing a bicycle.
The property of Bryan Branton of Belgrave avenue.

"What do you say as to your persistence in committing these thefts?"
demanded Mr. Graydon.

"I have nothing to say," replied young Telfer, sulkingly. "I have nothing to say."

"I have been trying to help this young boy go straight," stated Inspector Kelly of the C. A. S., "I would like a remand for a week, and see what can be done for him."

"He has escaped from the Industrial School three times," observed the court.

"I would like to see him go back to the school and come out right," replied the inspector. His employer on the farm after the last seven months says he is a good boy.

"This is the third time he has been here," stated the court. "He has been befriended, and every time he gets into trouble he sends a message to me or to Mr. Kelly. You don't seem to want to do right, Telfer, when you are out. However, I am going to remand you until May 31."

TO DECIDE REMODELING OF OLD VICTORIA SCHOOL

Board of Education to Consider the Recommendation of No. 3 Committee.

At a special meeting of the board of education Tuesday afternoon, the recommendation of No. 3 committee of the board, concerning the remodeling of the Victoria school into a high school for South London will be dealt with.

Should the board pass on the recommendation of the committee that the school be turned into a collegiate or high school for South London, an expenditure of a sum of several thousands of dollars will have to be made by the board to refit and renovate the school, in remodeling it for the purposes of a high school.

In addition to the expense of reconstructing the Victoria building, a new teaching staff will have to be secured by the board.

Sentiment among the members of the board is entirely for the passing of the recommendation of the committee, and it is not thought likely that any objection will be raised by any of the members to the passing of the proposal.

E. A. Miller, who is now on the staff of the main collegiate, is collegiate or high school for the principle of the new school which should be the recommendation pass.

VETERANS FAVOR SOLDIER BONUSES

At a meeting of the executive of the Great War Veterans Association in the club rooms Monday evening the members of the committee declared themselves in favor of soldiers' bonuses and would continue to fight for it. Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles acted as chairman.

It was pointed out that every branch of the organization throughout Canada has been fighting for soldiers' bonuses and would continue to fight for it. Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles
acted as chairman.

The Returned Men.

An army of unemployed men are on their way, marching from Toronto to Ottawa, in order to lay their case before the authorities there. No doubt they consider that in this spectacular manner they may attract attention to their case quicker than in any other way.

The merits or demerits of their individual cases are not in a position to judge, but in a broad, general way their case must be looked at in this way. Before the war they did not find it necessary to journey to Ottawa in this manner. The war has upset the life plans of many people, of many organizations, and of many nations, and there has not been a return to normal yet.

There are many men around who went to the front who have never been able to "come back." In many instances their employment was gone when they came back from the front. In others, companies that would have been glad to give them employment again, were so adversely affected by post-war conditions, that they were not able to do so, and at the present time are able still to do nothing.

Then, too, there are men who were so shattered by their experiences at the front that they have never been the same men they were before they went away. Some of these men look the picture of health, but they are nursing injuries from which they will never entirely recover. And it is a fact that in many cases they do not get the consideration to which they are entitled. They do not care to parade their infirmities, and perhaps for that reason, too much is expected of them.

There are, too, the hospital cases, where returned men are doomed to a life of suffering and of pain. It was an easy matter for the nation to express its gratitude in the early days of the return of these men, but time has a tendency to dry up national gratitude as well as personal effort in trying to make the lot of these men as comfortable as possible.

There is every reason to believe that the government at Ottawa will do all in its power to look after the returned men who are out of luck. Ottawa will realize that the obligation of this country to the men who went overseas and there received their honorable wounds is a debt that will never be discharged as long as these men live. We have no right to look upon these men as a burden. They are a binding, national duty. They played the part of men when men were needed. They were ready to fight when nothing but a fight would have saved the world.

Lloyd George Home.

LOYD GEORGE has returned to London from Genoa, and his return was the occasion for a demonstration that lacked nothing in warmth and popular acclaim to the premier.

It gave the sanction of British approval to the efforts the premier had made to put Europe and the rest of the world on a basis where the cards would all be put on the table, face up.

It cannot be claimed that the Genoa conference was a success, neither can the word "failure" be written over the records.

The world has two alternatives right now. It can go on with another conference at The Hague, or it can go back to the place where nations were armed camps, and where secret diplomacy made for fear, distrust and hatred.

LOYD GEORGE has seen this—has seen it for months, and has acted accordingly.

He played a game at Genoa that was the last word in daring, and the first word in clean diplomacy.

The British nation has sanctioned his attitude, and he emerges from Genoa a bigger statesman than ever.

A Closed Church.

TORONTO is opening up new churches, but it is also closing others. Now it is Elm Street Methodist that is doomed, and the congregation is to be sent over to the Metropolitan Church.

Does this mean that all the people in that section of Toronto are going to church, or is it to be interpreted as meaning that it is not possible to get them to go?

There is the danger of taking it for granted that when one church swallows another, there is no loss attached to the deal.

It would be better for the churches were they to take a view almost too much in the opposite direction, viz., that they are closing up a church in a district where there are enough people to fill it.

If there is one thing that is going to make a church get down to serious work and worth-while effort it is the realization of the fact that it may be losing ground.

The Passion Play.

A MILLION DOLLARS has been refused by the producers of the Passion Play at Oberammergau to reproduce it for the moving picture magnates.

For the first time since 1910 the famous spectacle will be re-enacted this year. It is done with a reverence that is traditional, and with a solemnity that makes the characters live again the hours of that dark day.

Yet these peasants of the little village of Oberammergau, most of them poor, depending for their livelihood on their trades and land, refuse a cool million to go through the performance for the benefit of the movies.

Small wonder that pilgrims from all over the world are already moving toward the little town, where the Passion Play is to be given.

The sincerity of the men and women engaged in its production is the thing that has kept it alive. A million dollars would kill it.

Poor Opposition.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN is losing caste at Ottawa, and for that fact he has no one to blame but himself.

He has come down to the level of petty politics, and from that level he shows no inclination or ability to rise.

He started on that sort of business the day the House of Commons opened, when he tried to throw the star on the premier of a breach of etiquette in the appointment of a speaker for the House of Commons.

Ever since that time he has been at the same trick.

He has been so busy trying to defend the errors of the past government that he has had time to think of nothing else.

The way in which he has been holding up the estimates by small talk might lead to the belief that he was going to unearth a scandal. He has not, and he will not.

There are signs that his own little following in the house is becoming tired of the class of leadership he is insisting on giving them.

Instead of weakening the King government he is adding strength to it, and there have been more instances in the last few weeks than ever before that the premier is absolutely in control of the situation.

The Calendar.

JUST BEFORE the world war broke out HERMANN RESE of Goslar, Germany, was asked by numerous university professors to devote his energies to the reform of the calendar, particularly with a view to fixing the date of Easter and other movable feasts.

With the help of METEOROLOGIST KOPFEN, HERMANN RESE has now offered the following proposal:

1. That the year be divided into four quarters of ninety-one days, four times thirteen weeks of seven days—equaling 364 days. The 365th day to be December 31.
2. That January 1 shall always be a Sunday. The first month of each quarter consists of thirty-one days, the second and third months of thirty days each.
3. New Year's eve and February 29 in leap year, the latter altered to June 31, will be reckoned as superfluous days and not counted in the week they happen the fall in.
4. Easter Sunday to fall upon April 8.

The question has again become interesting, since the new pope, contrary to his predecessor, is in favor of calendar reform. There is consequently much interest in the plans of PROF. PLO EMANUEL of the Vatican Observatory, which tally in many respects with those of HERMANN RESE.

The Episcopal Church is also said to be in favor of the stereotyped year.

If, and when it comes, it will put a lot of calendar publishers out of business. We shall not have to discard our old calendars on January 1.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Ottawa house is going to have both the 24th and 25th for holidays. One day to celebrate, and another to get over it.

MARY PICKFORD announces that she does on books and wants to accumulate a library. Honest, MARY, can't the book agents call on you? Let it be known that you are a buyer, and you can get a library a mile long in two days.

The Renfrew Mercury makes a very real point when it says: "How can any political party in Ontario hope to grow in the confidence of the people if their big men in the Legislature are constantly engaged in an attempt to discredit a temperance measure that has the support of nearly 80 per cent of the electorate?"

London City Council, and especially London's mayor, has found it is not an easy matter to cut salaries and do so with fairness to all concerned. A salary schedule is built up through years of effort to try and meet all necessary conditions, which differ largely in various departments. It is almost impossible

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

TUESDAY, MAY 23.

Weather—Fine and warm.

The following changes in the Salvation Army officers in the western district have been announced: Adjutant McAmmond, from Windsor to Deserades; Adjutant Dowell, Galt to Windsor; Capt. Slate, Windsor to Berlin; Capt. Coy, Bothwell to Tilbury; Capt. Riddell, Tilbury to Watford; Capt. Payton, Blenheim to Leamington; Capt. Fell, Leamington to Amherstburg; Lieut. Hancock, Amherstburg to Tilbury; Lieut. Ogilvie, Leamington to Amherstburg.

The pupils of Hubrey School held their tenth annual concert in the schoolhouse on the evening of May 21. The weather was delightful, and the school was crowded to its great capacity. The program was excellent and well prepared, especially the children, who did themselves proud in their singing, calisthenic exercises and dialogues. Mrs. Gaud, elocutionist, of London, pleased the audience by her pleasant manner and naturalness of dialect. The music, given by the Corbin brothers and Mr. Williamson of London, was loudly applauded by the audience. The club-swinging of T. Partridge was a novel feature of the evening. Mr. Peter's singing of "Life's Lullaby," was much appreciated by everyone. Mr. Elliott's violin selection reflects much credit on Miss McGill, the progressive teacher of Hubrey School.

James R. Dewar, private secretary to President Clark of the Union Pacific Railway of Omaha, Nebraska, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dewar of South London.

J. Macdonald, worshipful master of Ahoghill, L.O. L., No. 230, left yesterday for Windsor as delegate to the Grand Black Chapter B.A.A., also to the Grand Orange Lodge B.A., which meets there this week.

Hon. David Mills is spending the senatorial recess at his home in this city.

The anniversary services of Knox Church, Owen Sound, were of a most interesting character. In securing Rev. W. J. Clark of the First Presbyterian Church, London, the management introduced to the Owen Sound congregation another of the many influential and eloquent preachers whose denomination possesses.

The new Y. M. C. A. hall was crowded with visitors yesterday. Some of those present were: F. Chesley, Ingersoll; H. McDougall, Paris; J. Upton, St. Thomas; Rev. E. D. Silcox, Paris; H. A. Hodgson, Mont-real; William McBride, Ingersoll; W. S. Partridge, Woodstock College; Archie Piper, Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. James Leslie, Kingston.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE.

TUBERCULOSIS

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

It also explains why tuberculosis is not contracted out of doors.

When exposed to infection, people in good physical condition are safe enough, because nature provides defenses which destroy the bacilli. It is when the body is weakened by sickness or improper living that the germs gain a foothold.

When the disease has once started there is a battle on your body between the invading germs and the defenses nature has provided. It is your business to strengthen your defenses by rest, fresh air, proper food and good health habits.

The encouraging thing is that the tuberculosis death rate is decreasing—yearly more disease is being prevented and more lives are being saved. Most cases can be cured if the patient seeks medical care before too much of the lung tissue has been destroyed. Even in advanced cases the disease often may be stopped and many a man with only one lung is leading a useful life and supporting his family.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

BY EXTORRIS.

CORRUPTED NAMES.

Many names are susceptible of alternative explanations, and it requires a genealogist and generally some imagination to decide to what particular source a family can be traced. The arguments sometimes drawn from armorial bearings and mediaeval Latin forms are worthless. Names existed before such things as devices, and they are often mere puns on the names. An example is the Onslow family, which adopted the motto "Festina lente," hurry slowly.

The famous name Sacheverell is Latinized as De Sault Capelle, of the kid's leap. This agrees with the oldest form, Sau-cheverell, which might very well stand for modern French "saut di chevreau," but no evidence can be found to support such a claim.

The fact that Napier of Merchiston had for his device "a pier," no equal, does not make it any the less true that his ancestors were "like Perkin Warbeck's parents," "really respectable people." Napier is very probably one of the results of dissimilation. Two illustrations will make it easier understood. The archaic Pomander was originally Pomeander, and comes from Old Fr. pom ambre apple of amber. In this case one of the two in consonance has been dissimilated. A like change has occurred in Fr. nappa, cloth, from Lat. mappa, whence napkin—and in family name Napier. In relation to this is the word apron. Mid. Eng. napron, from Old Fr. naperon, a derivative of nappa.

Dr. Brewer, in his "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable," says of his own name: "This name, which exists in France as Bruhiere and Brugiere, is not derived from the Saxon briwan (to brew), but the French bruvere (heath), and is about tantamount to the German Plantagenet (broom-plant)." "German" Plantagenet should overawe even a Norfolk Howard, transformed by law from Bugg—Bugg being the family to "avoid the appearance of baseness," as Camden puts it.

to make a horizontal cut that will be fair to all. It is manifestly unfair to start reductions on the lowest paid men in the civic list, and the men least able to stand a cut.

Britain is gaining in her financial strength. The statement that London was through as the money market of the world has been disproved. The estimated expenditure for 1922-23 shows a decrease over previous years. Here are the figures, starting when the war was at its height and coming down to the present time:

(March 31)	(Million £'s)
1917-18	£2,697
1918-19	2,579
1919-20	1,666
1920-21	1,195
1921-22	1,079
*1922-23	910

*Estimated.

As far as can be gathered, Toronto interests wanted to have a live stock show that would centralize the thing forever in that would be center of all things. Guelph has a very excellent stock show, and has had it for years—in fact, the thing has been developed there in spite of poor buildings and poor accommodation. Now the Toronto performance is up in the air. Toronto has gathered together a great brass band, but the players do not seem to possess enough breath to make a noise.

A Human Query

[Ottawa Citizen.]

A correspondent in Wednesday's Citizen propounded the problem. Why does a young man not marry? He proceeded to prove that it was not because he does not want to, but because he could not afford to. A monthly budget of a single man in the civil service was set forth which showed that out of a monthly income of $72.88, including bonus, there was left for clothing, "etc." the sum of $6.79. Commenting on this, the correspondent observed that "the wages of today are insufficient for a young man to live on," and added that it would be unfair to ask a girl, who is often "better salaried," to quit her position for a second-rate house-keeping room on a salary of $65 a month.

To those who do not know the problems of rooming on sixty or seventy dollars a month, or the oppressive loneliness of single "blessedness" on a pittance, the underlying despair in the communication may have passed unnoticed. But it is a problem, not only for the young men in the position of the one quoted, but for the nation, for if young men do not marry it is generally accepted that national disintegration will set in. There is another side to the question of the girl, however. A young lady civil servant has written to this newspaper "in answer to, or rather in conjunction with," the plaint of the male correspondent.

"I would like to put in a few words," she says, "for the girls, who, like myself, are in the '600 class.' And she adds with a note of bitter gaiety, "It might be entitled, 'Why girls go wrong?'" She says:

Here is the way I, at least, spend my hard-earned salary:
Salary (just now without bonus) .....$47.50
Room with breakfast ..... 20.00
Dinner, 30 days at 40 cents 12.00
Supper, 30 days at 30c ..... 9.00
Carfare ..... 2.50
Laundry ..... 4.00

Total .....$95.00
Which does not include amusements of any kind, repairs of any kind, incidentals of any kind, extras of any kind, or clothing of any kind. When I want something extra, I have to go without a meal or two to get it. Could you blame a girl very much for taking the "easy" way?—One of the 600.

There is little need to comment on the above grim rejoinder to the man who would marry but cannot. Taken together, they reveal a condition of affairs which cannot contribute to a healthy social life or to happiness and freedom of spirit among a large and precious section of the population.

One thing might be noted by the powers that be. Both are civil servants and both will have their incomes reduced by the recent bonus policy of the government. There must be many in the "600 class" with the young lady correspondent who lack "extras of any kind." Is the government sure that its interest in these girls ends with the handing over of the salary check? Does not its responsibility go further? There has never been anything more than trifling with the question of welfare work among the hundreds of dependent girls in the service. Perhaps the letters referred to here will cause somebody in authority to study the problem a little more closely. It deserves study, especially by any who have the smallest interest in industry and human welfare.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is FLAIR.

It is pronounced—like flare. It means—smell, or sense of smell; or, as much more commonly used, a discriminating sense, or instinctive discernment.

It comes, probably, from—Latin "fragrare," to emit a fragrant smell, whence it was modified in Low Latin to "flaire," meaning odor.

It's used like this—"The late John H. Patterson of the National Cash Register Company had a flair for publicity."

Sir,—A farmer sells lake front lots off his farm with the right-of-way through the farm from the main road to the lake and the lots. Who is responsible for the upkeep of the right-of-way, the summer cottagers or the farmer, or both?

SPRING DEBILITY

Loss of Appetite, That Tired Feeling and Sometimes Eruptions. Thousands take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine for that tired feeling, nervous weakness, impure blood and say it makes them feel better, eat and sleep better, and "makes food taste good." Spring debility is a condition in which it is especially hard to combat disease germs, which invade the system here, there and everywhere. The white blood corpuscles, sometimes called "the little soldiers" because it is their duty to fight disease germs, are too weak to do good service. Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens the "little soldiers" and enables them to repel germs of grip, influenza, fevers and other ailments; relieves catarrh and rheumatism. It has a springing action on the system. Get it today, and for a laxative take Hood's Pills.

THE GIFT OF THE GODS. By Pearl Foley, a new Canadian author. Toronto: Thomas Allen, publisher.

WAR, patriotism, mysticism, love and romance, east and west, popularly blended for the most part, but here and there showing touches of universality and genuine brilliance of artistry, characterize Pearl Foley's recent book, "The Gift of the Gods."

Most fiction readers ought to enjoy this story—it is not excessively heavy and yet there is nothing rapid about it. The main characters in the story are carefully and deftly pictured, although the secondary characters, notably the American and English women characters, appear rather superficially depicted, even for the conventional fiction type of globe-trotting, afternoon tea type of female Anglo-Saxon.

To Hee, the heroine, really the child of American parents, but reared as the Chinese niece of a mandarin of ancient and imperial lineage, is a dainty, lovable creature with a good deal of depth of character and philosophical coherency.

David Marsden, the English officer, wounded in Europe, and afterwards assigned to secret service work in China, is also strongly represented.

Weng Toy, the mandarin of progressive new China tendencies seems reasonably real. Paul Hing Kwong, the Chinese adopted son of an American doctor whose own little daughter (Tu Hee) is supposed to have died in infancy during his absence and while his wife lay unconscious with fever, is a brilliant and romantic character not personally introduced into the story.

After winning great awards for his valor in the fields of endeavor, including the Victoria Cross and the sacred ruby of the Weng Toy dynasty of China, he is killed in action, and Tu Hee, never having actually met her dream hero and supposed cousin, at the end of the book discovers her real identity and weds the English officer.

The book is broad-minded and noble-purposed, but the interpretation of Chinese religions and Chinese viewpoints is perhaps more superficial than comprehensive and discriminating. The "paganism" rather than the "heathenism" of China is perhaps unjustly emphasized, except in one passage which is worth quoting.

Grateful for an act of chivalry towards his pretended niece, Tu Hee, the great mandarin, Weng Toy, has taken Marsden into the innermost shrines of the temple to show him the exact duplicate of the sacred ruby, which the Chinese soldier, known as Paul Culver, Harvard graduate, has been awarded.

David Marsden is impressed by the life-like features of the idol, evidently from the subsequent context of the chapter, an image of Gautama, the Buddha.

The tranquil expression led David's thoughts to the Nazarene, and it indeed seemed that the Christ was in that Chinese temple, tolerant and patient with a blindfolded world. A feeling, almost a conviction, swept over David that if he but knelt there for a brief moment, some wonderful blessing would fall on him.

"The mandarin's soul brought him back to reality. 'As you gaze on the God of Humanity, my friend, I note on your face that which pleases me, a look of, yes, reverence.'"

"David pulled himself together. 'Your God of Humanity, sir, resembles very much our God of Humanity, the Christ.'"

"Indeed, Ah, well, it is my opinion that at the root of the religions of the world are about the same. Our hearts instinctively go out to a God. Perhaps, we call him by different names, as we name our children, but the divine element is there, just as the human is in the other, and reaches the same, the same, the same."

And at the end of the book, the message of love and compassion, so similarly set forth, both in the teachings of Jesus and Gautama, so imbues the reader that he becomes sympathetic even towards the villain of the story, Chu Sing, the Chinese suitor for Tu Hee's hand, who kidnaps but yet kindly treats the little Tu Hee.

This kidnapping in itself, according to Chinese custom, constitutes one-sixth part of the marriage ceremony, and Tu Hee has already resigned herself to the prospect of having the ceremony completed when Chu Sing is killed by Su, the old nurse of the boy hero, Paul Hing Kwong, because he stole the sacred ruby, the one in the possession of Dr. and Mrs. Culver, Paul's adopted parents.

Of course, Tu Hee for some time (until the hero, Marsden, returned from England) was held responsible for Chu Sing's murder. But here and hereinafter soon afterwards sail for America, leaving both of the sacred rubies in the possession of the nearest kin of Weng Toy, who has been killed in a railway wreck.

Beware of Tender Gums

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound, keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

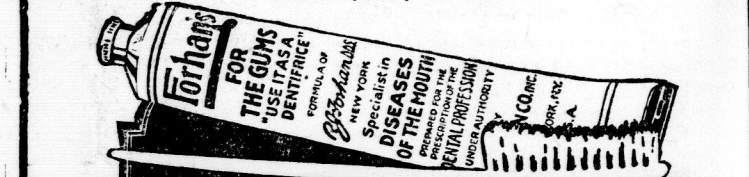

Pyorrhea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

HOUSE MAY CLOSE
MIDDLE OF JUNE

OTTAWA, May 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—The speed with which estimates have been slipping through during the past few sittings; the imminence of the hot weather and the fact that the budget will be down to arrow are all combining to give credence to the optimistic rumor now current in the corridors that prorogation will come by June 15, instead of July 1, as was generally expected.

This rumor is borne out by the reported tacit agreement among many of the members to cut down the time of their budget speeches, and also by the fact that after the holidays the house will, it is expected, sit on Wednesday evenings and on Saturdays.

So far there has been no official pronouncement from the government.

Boy Cripple's Dream of Heroism Is Realized As He Saves 3 in Buggy

BERKELEY, Cal., May 22.—Childhood dreams of an opportunity to display physical bravery, a chance denied him by deformity from birth, became a reality yesterday for Charles Arkinstall, 14 years old.

The boy limped into the path of a runaway horse, seized the bridle and clung to it until the frightened animal stopped, after running a block. The women and two children in the buggy were uninjured. Arkinstall's ankle was broken.

This was brought out at a meeting of the London carmen in the Labor Temple Monday night, at which Joseph Corbett, the London delegate to Montreal, explained the agreement to the men.

Corbett, who is general manager for the Grand Trunk carmen, explained at the meeting that by the agreement the continuance of time and a half rates for punitive overtime and for holidays, which for a time was in question, is assured, except in certain specified instances.

Representatives of the association and of employees in the mechanical trades have been in negotiation for the past month.

Between 30,000 and 35,000 workers are affected.

The most important changes discussed have been with respect to punitive overtime payments for Sunday and holiday work. It has been agreed that for work in main shops the payment of time and one-half for Sunday work will be continued, as it will also be for holidays, except that employees necessary to the operation of power houses, millwrights, gangs, heat treating plants and pipe line maintenance gangs, in so far as holidays are concerned, will be paid punitive overtime for New Year's Day, Labor Day and Christmas Day only.

Employees necessary to the operation of train yards, running repair and inspection forces will be assigned one regular day off duty in seven, Sunday if possible, and if required to work on such regularly assigned seventh day off duty will receive punitive overtime at the rate of time and one-half time. In cases in which such assigned day off duty is not Sunday work on Sunday will be paid at straight time rate. Employees engaged in running work will also be paid time and one-half for work on New Year's Day, Labor Day and Christmas Day.

Many other detail and technical matters affecting working conditions have been negotiated and disposed of in a mutually satisfactory manner. The men, Manager Corbett stated after the meeting, were not entirely satisfied with the conditions of the agreement, but were unanimous in the opinion that things could have been worse.

Corbett also said that the vote on the ten-hour day working agreement would not be voted on this week, time having to be allowed for the printing of the ballots.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa.

Ont., May 22.—So that the mineral rights on the lands upon which they have been settled will pass with the title into the hands of returned soldiers, established on farms in Ontario under the soldiers' settlement act of 1919, James Malcolm, Liberal for North Bruce introduced a bill in the house today to amend the act.

In every case except where the property is crown lands, as is the case in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, it is proposed that the soldiers have the full mineral rights of the land. Under the present act all returned men in Ontario have received titles to property minus this stipulation. The bill was given its first reading.

THE CANADA GAZETTE issued for the week just ended announces the following appointments:

Special customs examiner at Windsor, Miss Myrtle M. M. Fielder; trustee under banking act, Herbert A. Cullen, accountant at Windsor. The following have been placed on the list of eligible applicants as dairy recorders and testers as the result of tests held recently under the civil service commission: John Salisbury, Guelph; Clarence E. Slaght, Watford, and William F. Bates of Aylmer.

AFTER several weeks' delay the report of the examiners who conducted the test for applicants for the position of deputy postmaster at London was received by the civil service commission at Ottawa today, and an appointment will be made within the next three days, it is expected.

A copy of T. T. Bower's report was received by the postmaster-general from Winnipeg many days ago, but action was deferred until the original report was received from Mr. Beal of London, the assistant examiner, to whom it had been sent for confirmation.

That the postmen of London have experienced considerable anxiety over the appointment was evidenced by a visit of J. D. Archer of Hamilton, organizing secretary for the federation of postoffice employees for the London, Hamilton and Toronto districts, to the department last week. Mr. Archer did his best to hurry the appointment, but was able to do little with the non-arrival of the original report.

ALTHOUGH the budget will be brought down Tuesday there is little likelihood that its contents will be discussed to any extent until Monday of next week. Wednesday and Thursday of this week will be observed as holidays, and Friday probably will be devoted to estimates.

DONALD SUTHERLAND of South Oxford experienced a busy evening in the house Monday. For almost 45 minutes he delivered an impassioned plea on the naval estimates, urging the government to maintain the wee navy which had been established during the regime of the late government. Mr. Sutherland did not think that the time had arrived when an international questions would be settled amicably.

He asserted that Canada must contribute to the defence of the empire and of her own shores. It would be a dark day, he said, if other countries within the empire came to look upon Canadians as spongers.

He grew rather bitter in his denunciation of the government, claiming that the Liberals were autocrats in bringing down a policy about which nothing had been spoken prior to the elections. The Quebec bloc, he said, was in the saddle and were riding the government hard.

Mr. Sutherland spoke a second time, but was given a very warm fifteen minutes. He spoke against the abolition of the Lindsay Arsenal, claiming that it should be kept up in preference to the arsenal at Quebec, which was in a more exposed position. When Mr. Sutherland again made an uncompromising remarks of the people of Quebec, he was greeted with cries of "shame, shame." Three times he was called to order by the deputy speaker, and he finished his speech with the greatest difficulty.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie was the only other member from Western Ontario to speak on the naval question. He wanted to know what would become of the students of the naval school when it was closed.

Don't Grow Old
Before Your Husband

Science Now Shows What Often Causes Premature Loss of Youth, Beauty and Attractiveness and Makes Women Fretful, Nervous and Run-Down

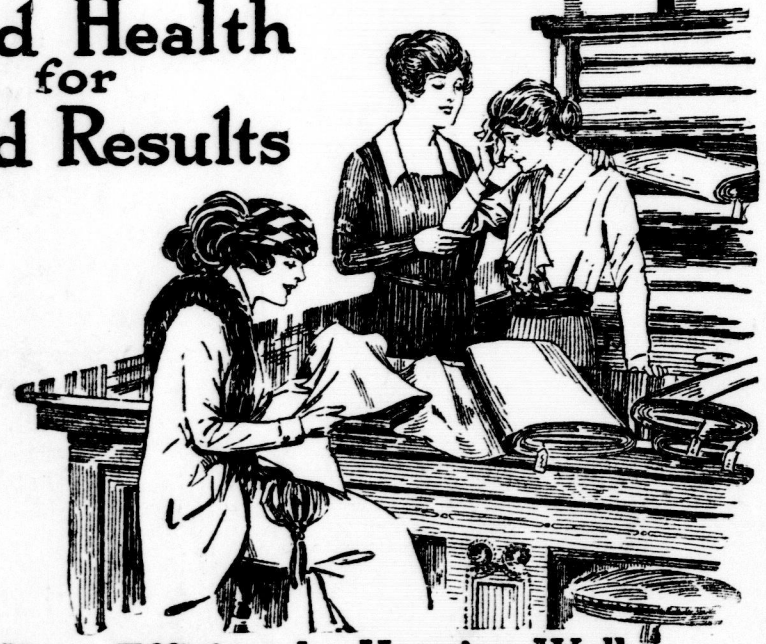

If Your Face Is Haggard, Thin, and Pale, Try This Simple Home Remedy Which Often Makes Women Look and Feel Years Younger and Surprisingly Increases Strength and Energy

Thousands of women are like the woman in this picture. They have grown old much more rapidly than their husbands. The roses have faded from their cheeks, they are weak, pale and careworn at a time of life when they should still be filled with buoyant health and radiant with youthful beauty—pale, thin, warty blood has fastened its grip upon them and is gradually sapping their health, vitality and beauty. In most cases men safeguard their health, better than women by eating coarser foods, being more out of doors and leading more active lives, therefore keeping their blood stream strong and vigorous. For want of good blood a woman may look and feel old at thirty; pale, haggard and all run-down—while at fifty or sixty, with good health and plenty of rich, red blood, she may still be young in feeling and so full of life and attractiveness as to defy detection of her real age.

For the purpose of enriching the blood and helping to create millions of new red blood cells, there is nothing like good old Nuxated Iron. Physicians usually prescribe two five-grain tablets after meals. Nuxated Iron directly increases the activity of the blood making organs and supplies true red blood food, thus increasing the power of the body to transform lifeless food matter into living cells, flesh and tissue.

Y. W. C. A. GETS NEW SECRETARY

Miss Marjory Morton Comes Here From Regina in September.

Took Prominent Part in Association Building Campaigns in West.

After waiting several months to appoint a general secretary to succeed Mrs. J. R. Henderson, the board of the London Y. W. C. A. is congratulating itself upon securing a trained and experienced worker who measures up to the high standard set, "ideal for the position."

Miss Marjory Morton, general secretary for the past twelve years of the Regina Young Women's Christian Association, has consented to accept the position. Miss Morton was in Toronto last week attending the Dominion triennial meeting, and members of the local association who met her there are rejoicing over the good luck coming to London. She will assume her new duties the beginning of September.

It is a coincidence that Miss Morton is coming to London just at the time of the launching of the new Y. W. C. A. Club and administration building plan. It has been her luck for years to be associated with "growing-up" of associations, and big forward movements. Going from Toronto to Winnipeg several years ago, she made a record for herself for the manner in which she took hold of the work of financial secretary, at a time when a large amount was to be raised to put the association there in a position to cope with the rapidly developing work.

As soon as an association was organized in Regina in April, 1910, the immediate choice for the general secretary was Miss Morton. The quick growth paralleled the overnight mushrooming-up of towns and cities of the prairies at that time. Seven hundred members were enrolled in a few weeks, and the first modest headquarters opened. But the Regina "Y" was firmly established, and its growth sure and speedy.

The rapid development under Miss Morton's guidance was the despair as well as joy of all connected with the young association's destiny.

The secretary saw the imperative need of prompt measures to secure an adequate building. A site was purchased at Western boom time, before the war-prices, a beautiful property overlooking the centre of the capital park. A grand campaign was inaugurated for funds, which went over the top without a struggle. The new building with its gymnasium and other up-to-the-minute features had just been formally opened when along came Regina's big cyclone and tore out one whole corner and side, smashing windows and battering things up generally.

There was no time to be downhearted with so much requiring to be done. Miss Morton, shoulder to shoulder with the board that had her own brand of vision, set to work on the reconstruction.

This is the woman that the board of the London Y. W. C. A. has secured as general secretary, to work with the industrial, girls' work, physical training, travelers' aid secretaries, whose achievements are every day winning added sympathy and support for the association.

Mrs. E. C. Bowker, "Cloverlea," has returned home after a most interesting week, filled to the brim with gaieties, spent in Toronto and Ottawa. Going to Toronto to meet an old friend, Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lytleton, who was traveling with Lord and Lady Astor, she proceeded with the party to Ottawa, where she stayed with her mother, Mrs. Kirchoff. She was a guest at the small luncheon given by Lady Borden and Lady Perley in honor of Lady Astor, and attended the reception in the evening for Lady Astor in the Russell Theatre with the box party, arranged by her aunt, Mrs. Harris. Referring to Lord Astor's obvious unbounded admiration for his brilliantly gifted and charming wife, she says, "A man might express his appreciation in words as Lord Astor did in Ottawa if he had the gift, because it was the thing to do. But he cannot look at her with such whole-souled admiration and adoration as he does if he didn't mean it. They are a beautifully happy couple."

In honor of Miss Lois Black and the girl graduates of Western, Mrs. A. D. Robertson entertained at tea Saturday afternoon at her home on St. James street. Spring flowers were used throughout the rooms, with rose tulips decking the tea table, where Mrs. W. E. Tamblin and Mrs. John C. Lamb presided, with Miss Helen Battle and Miss Margaret McIntosh as assistants.

The graduates included: Miss Blanche Tancock, Miss Catherine Campbell, Miss Rose Saunders, Miss Mary Granger, Miss Helen Carr.

Camp equipment cannot be moved from another military district for this purpose. Transportation and repairs are to be paid for by Girl Guides, as well as any deficiencies arising."

ST. GEORGE'S GUIDES ENTER-TAIN.

The Girl Guides of St. George's Anglican Church held a delightful mother and daughter banquet in the Sunday school room. Mrs. Frank Humphries (lieut.), assisted by the Nightingale and Oriole patrols, served the guests.

Miss Edith M. Johnston, captain of the company, presided over the toast list, which was as follows: "The king," proposed by the toastmistress and responded to by all singing the National Anthem; "The church," replied to by Canon Sage; "The mothers," proposed by Miss Margaret Bowler and replied to by Mrs. Guymer; "The daughters," proposed by Mrs. Johansson and replied to by Miss Ena Sanham.

A delightful program was arranged under the convership of Miss Edna Linnell, including a reading by Edna Skinner; solo, M. ## Why Let Moths Eat Up Your Sand-Pile? Store It For Sea son At Day Nursery

Does anybody own a first-hand or second-hand sand pile he or she would like to donate or loan to the Day Nursery? Is there such a thing as a nice, clean sand pile for which the family has no further use that might be passed along for the little folks who spend several hours a day at the King street creche?

Hands-up, readers of the Women's Department of The Advertiser, who have such an outgrown sand pile. You haven't the time or the inclination to play in it yourself? Why let it lie around getting moth-eaten this summer, when it would bring untold bliss to wet folks with pails and shovels, plump little folks, thin little girls, tiny girls with blue eyes, and tiny girls with brown, peachy, and cream-complexion boys, and bits of laddies with shining black eyes and kinky, woolly hair?

Can't you just see them reveling in that sand pile, and can't you imagine how much they are losing out of life without it?

Many good friends have sent in much valued donations to the Day

Nursery in the past few weeks, but nobody has come along wheeling a sand pile.

Among donations gratefully acknowledged, the board are the following: Mrs. F. P. Drake, children's linen books; Mrs. Smith, Talbot Street Mothers' Club, clothes; Friends' Class, per Miss Andrews, four laundry bags for children; First Methodist Sunday School, bread rolls; Mr. Gunn, toys; Mrs. Fisher, Gleanings, two dozen fresh eggs; Miss Kingsmill, two chairs for playroom; Count On Me Club, St. James' Presbyterian Church, through Miss McCrimmon, $10; Mrs. J. M. Bucke, $2; A Friend, $1; Mrs. Alex. Harvey, Talbot Street Mothers' Club, has distributed 30 empty fruit jars to the club members to be filled for the Day Nursery, and, it is stated, a number more are available at the nursery.

Those who are interested in promoting the happiness as well as health and general welfare of the creche girls and boys are hoping for good fairies to arrange some picnics and other outings for the little folks.

MOLLY'S VISIT CONTINUED.

Finally we reached Great Salt Lake and to my surprise we crossed it on the train, about 32 miles, I heard someone say. Part of the way was on a made road and part of the way on foot. The water looked rather white with salt, I suppose, and little white spots were floating on the water.

About 30 hours after leaving "Frisco" we reached Ogden, which is quite a railway center.

Here I stayed all night and in the morning left on the Denver and Rio Grande R. R. for Denver. We soon passed through Salt Lake City and I may say it was a mountainous region nearly all the way to Denver.

By night we had reached the highest peak of the Rockies, the moon was full, one could put one's face against the car window and look up at the tremendous height in wonder and admiration. Such strange and wonderful shapes.

When crossing the line between Utah and Colorado, the line was shown by the names being printed on the smooth rock.

Pike's Peak, near Denver, is one of the highest mountains.

Denver was reached at 12:45 noon, and a very pleasant two days were spent in exploring the city and calling on friends there.

I went up to the top of a high tower in one store which is over three hundred feet high and from which a good view of the surrounding country was obtained. There are many fine stores and buildings there.

Good apples to be a fairly good state, also Nebraska. Coming on toward Chicago we crossed the Mississippi River, and at 9:30 Thursday evening we pulled into Chicago.

Here I spent three days with friends and saw some of the big stores and skyscrapers. Sunday it rained all day and that night at 11 o'clock I left Chicago on the last lap of my long journey and the next day, about 11 a.m., I reached home.

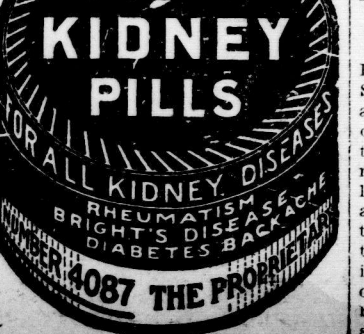

MOLLY MAGUIRE.

WHAT SHALL I DO? Molly—I think the person you referred to considers you a good pal and friend, but nothing more. Why not treat him accordingly? "Certainly go out with him—don't cut off your nose to spite your face. I would ask him what he meant by his statement when leaving."

WANTS SLIPS. Dear Miss Grey,—As this is my first visit to your Mail-Box I will not stay long. I would like to get some of those bulbs that Cinnamon Vine sent in, and am enclosing ten cents for same.

Would also like to get some slips of house plants or vines, such as Wandering Jew, to make hanging baskets. I would pay postage on them. I am also enclosing a mite for the sick children's hospital.

COLESTON. I have placed your name on file in case I am writing to ask for help for a very dear friend who is in great trouble. The Boxes will be saying another one asking for help, but if they knew this case as I do, I know many would be glad to help. I have helped some with food, but cannot afford to buy them.

Address News For This Column to The Editor of Woman's Page.

MOSA-NEWBURY W. I.

The annual meeting of the Mosa-Newbury W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. E. Redcraft on May 19.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. F. Robinson; first vice-president, Mrs. D. Stalker; second vice-president, Mrs. Ed. Haggitt; secretary-treasurer, Miss Ida Haggitt; district director, Mrs. Watson; directors, Mrs. M. Armstrong, Mrs. D. Logan, Mrs. E. Aeyoratt.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Miss Jennie Ryeveart, Mora, on Thursday, June 15th.

On Thursday afternoon, May 25, the summer meeting of the Institute will be held in the Newbury Hall, when Miss Emily J. West, of Toronto, will be the speaker.

ZONE CENTRE W. I.

The query "Of What Benefit Are Women's Institutes?" was very pleasingly answered by Mrs. Sifton of Muirkirk on Wednesday evening last at the public meeting held by the Zone Centre branch of the Women's Institute.

The address dealt with the routine of the institute work. In the new business it was decided to hold an ice cream garden party in the school grounds adjoining the town hall on the evening of June 11. It was also decided to reply affirmatively to the offer made to supply a speaker during the month of June by the superintendent of the Women's Institute department, Toronto.

In making the year's program the motto, "Be ambitious—be practical," was adopted.

HONOR EMBRO BRIDE-ELECT.

Miss Minnie Ross, Embro, gave a shower in honor of the bride-elect, Miss May Cody, last week. During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a large basket prettily decorated and filled with gifts, including linen, china, cut-glass, and silverware. The first part of the evening was spent in a guessing contest, after which Mrs. W. Murray and Miss Maggie Smith, accompanied by Miss Helen Ross, sang much-appreciated songs. A tempting supper was served by the hostess.

GIVES FORKS AND KNIVES.

An Embro correspondent writes: Wednesday evening the members and adherents of the Methodist Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cody and presented Miss Eva Cody with a dozen silver knives and forks. Mr. J. Hutchinson acted as master of ceremonies, Mrs. W. Barker reading an address of appreciation. A program included songs by Messrs. D. R. Halladay and Roland Mabel, piano numbers by Miss Mabel Garner and several impromptu speeches.

END SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the basement of St. George's Church on Thursday afternoon, when Miss Collins of Ancaster, the government representative, addressed the meeting on "Women's National Outlook." Miss Collins outlined the work that is being accomplished by the various institutes of Western Ontario, and showed the value of the Women's Institute in reaching the foreign-born women of Canada, who feel that the members of this organization are personally interested in their welfare.

For New Styles and Pretty Arms

(Beauty Notes.)

Women are fast learning the value of the use of delatone for removing hair or fuzz from face, neck or arms. A paste is made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on the hairy surface. In 2 or 3 minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every bit of hair has disappeared. No failure will result if you are careful to buy genuine delatone and mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

POPLAR HILL MISSION BAND.

Poplar Hill Junior Mission Band, of which Ralph Gray is president, has made arrangements with the Robinson Memorial Methodist choir to give the cantata "Paradise" in the Poplar Hill Baptist Church Friday, May 26, under the direction of Theodore Gray, organist and choirmaster.

This is the first public enterprise of the Mission Band, which is planning for further events along a similar line.

Really Removes Roots of Superfluous Hair

(Phelactine, the New Wonder-Worker.)

Without doubt the greatest thing yet discovered for hair-disfigured woman-kind is the wonderful phelactine method. It has none of the disadvantages of electrolysis or depilatories, and, best of all, it removes the hairs entire, roots and all; it does this instantly, leaving the skin so smooth and soft that no one can tell the user was ever the possessor of a moustache or other hairy growth.

"Phelactine is non-odorous, non-irritating, and so harmless a child could eat it without ill-effect. A stick of this remarkable substance, accompanied by simple instructions, can be obtained at any drug store. What woman would not be delighted after seeing those ugly hairs come out—including the roots—with her own eyes?—Adv.

Linda Lee Inc.

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

Bel would have her hand, there was no refusing him that open sign of friendship. There was nothing she could do now but take his cues as they fell, and treat the encounter as one of the most welcome she had ever experienced.

"But wherever did you bob up from, Bel?"
"From the east, naturally—last night's train. Never saw a movie in the making before, you know. Most entertaining. Congratulated you and Mr. Summerlad on the way you played your little scene just now. Only for the camera over there, I'd have sworn you both meant it."

"Don't put too much trust in the camera, Mr. Druce," Summerlad interposed blandly. "Rumor to the contrary notwithstanding it has been known to lie."

"Here you, Mr. Summerlad?" Bellamy met his impudence with irresistible audacity. "So we meet again. Well, pleasant circumstances than last time, what?"

"Conditions are what one makes them, out here in California. I hope you'll find the climate healthier than Chicago's."

"Trust me for that," Bellamy retorted in entire good humor. "But, I say," he glanced in feigned apprehension toward the camera—"not obstructing traffic, am I?"

"No fear of Jacques would've bawled you out long ago."

"Slight," Jacques averred, coming forward to be introduced. "All through for today, folks," he called back to the company. "Let's go!"

"Anxious to see you, Linda, of course, and have a talk some time when you're not professionally engaged," said Bel as they strolled toward the machines.

"You may call on me Friday, Bel."

"At the Hollywood, of course. Many thanks."

Bellamy was meticulously galling about helping Linda, and Fanny into their car, then returned to his own, wagging a farewell to Summerlad as the latter sped away with Jacques.

They had been some time under way when Fanny broke in upon Linda's meditations with an ecstatic murmur. "Priceless!"

Linda came to with a frown. "I'm glad you think so," she said shortly.

"Don't be upstage. You know it's priceless. Why didn't you tell me Bel was such a lamb?"

But Linda was inattentive; she had lapsed swiftly into an abstraction which had less to do with the reappearance of Bellamy than the issue of the Summerlad affair.

She was possessed with a species of rapturous alarm.

IN sequel Linda knew two days of emotions singularly stratified. Most of the time, of course, all of it spent with Lynn or in dreaming of him, she was merely but comprehensively a young woman in love and glad of it. Nevertheless, dark hours alternated in apprehension of what she was relieved must be her final talk with Bel.

Linda found it by no means easy to compose an attitude which she could depend upon to dishearten Bel decisively, without going to the length of telling him point-blank that she was in love with another man and meant to marry him as man and meant to marry him as man and meant to marry him as man.

Somehow, one got scant comfort of the retort obvious, that if Lynn did paint his nose he at least did it just to marry a man who paints his nose for a living.

She rehearsed the scene, but Bel failed not only to call the hour appointed or to send word of explanation.

Linda had sacrificed the evening to sense of duty; a true sacrifice, for Lynn was leaving early next morning to spend a fortnight with his company in an Oregon logging camp.

Losing patience, Linda called the Alexandria on the telephone, and was informed that Mr. Druce had "checked out" early in the morning, saying nothing of an intention to return.

No note came from Bellamy the next morning, and nothing transpired in the course of the next several weeks, except any due to the middle of the upshot that Linda thought about her husband a great deal more than she wanted to or had at any time since leaving Chicago. It was strange, it wasn't like Bel to treat any woman so rudely.

JACQUES kept the Summerlad company away so long that its return found the first Linda Lee production in full swing, with Barry Nolan in command, Linda playing the supple puppet of his whim.

Fanny demurely walking through the feminine part of second importance, and Lorraine functioning at the peak of his capacity as executive genius.

Why it should be so hard on him nobody seemed to know and Lorraine was too busy to explain.

To all his symptoms of haste and bounce, his wife played silent but attentive audience, though often questioning a sympathetic confidant, would find it without fail in Barry Nolan.

Irish both by descent and profession, Nolan had at least that sense conspicuously developed. What others he possessed was a question which came to occupy many of Linda's spare moments. She couldn't account, unless a spiteful disposition, a fetching grin, infectious verve, impudence without end, and a distinctly indicated vein of genius, summed up the essential qualifications of a director who pretended to err a wage of $25,000 per production.

But Linda first mistrusted his ability, because of his appalling ignorance concerning rudimentary principles of social usage.

Since the story they were concerned with had to do with people of fashionable New York, Linda thought it important that their manners should conform to approved convention; but Nolan was so little learned in such matters and his impatience with them was wholehearted. Why worry about little things like that? Life's too short, and we're wasting time!

But that distrust of Barry Nolan's competency which troubled Linda's mind almost from the very outset of their association had yet to crystallize on the Saturday when Summerlad was expected home.

To get rid of Linda's presence, which instinct was already beginning to warn him was silently skeptical of his claims—Nolan artfully suggested that she might like to review the rushes of yesterday's camera work.

Assuming that she would find the projection-room empty, Linda made her way to it without bothering to remove her make-up, but on opening the door saw a fan-like beam of lurid light wavering about its darkness, and would have withdrawn, had not Zinn's genial accents hailed her from the rear of the long, black-walled, tunnel-like chamber.

"Come right on in, Miss Lee. We'll be through in a minute. Just running some of the film come through from Joe Jacques yesterday. 'Ernest' stuff that boy Summerlad's putting over this time."

Then with a fluttering heart Linda identified her husband in Zinn's companion.

"Shake hands with Mr. Druce, Miss Lee; new tenant of mine, going to work here same as you, just signed a lease for space to make his first production."

"What?"
At that monosyllabic of dismayed protest, Linda saw Zinn's little eyes of a pig grow wide with surprise.

"But I am fortunate, Mr. Zinn, in already having the honor of Miss Lee's acquaintance," Bellamy took possession of her hand.

"Is that so? You two know each other? Why don't you tell me?"

Linda found her voice all at once, but hardly her self-possession. "It isn't—it can't be true! Bel! It isn't true you're—"

"Afraid it is, Linda," Bel's smile was lightly mocking. "The picture business has got me in its toils at last. Only needed that trip out here to decide me. Now I'm in up to my ears. Something to do, you know."

When Zinn departed, however, Bel's manner changed.

"I'm sorry, Linda—I really don't mean to be a pest."

"Give me half a chance."

"You had that chance weeks ago, and deliberately refused it."

"But surely you got my note explaining I was called east on two hours' notice, but would return as soon as I could?"

"Possibly," Linda suggested with labored scorn, "you misadvised it, forgetting which of your numerous acquaintances you were writing to."

"I addressed it," Bel insisted stoutly, "to Mrs. Bellamy Druce."

"If so, that explains it. They know me at the hotel only as Linda Lee."

When the screen once more shone blank and the ceiling light flashed on, Bel was smiling cheerfully.

"No wonder you fell for the screen so hard, Linda; you're exquisite, and no mistake."

"You said you wanted to explain, Bel; you won't get another chance. He nodded soberly. "I can say all I want to in three minutes. Then you're free to call it quits for good, if you like."

That posed her rudely. Did he mean—could it be possible he meant he had become reconciled to the rift in their relations?

"Can you doubt that's what I'll like, Bel?"

"Bellamy gave his head a stubborn shake and stepped nearer. "Please don't be angry because of anything stupid I may say. I came out here that first time dead set to win you back at any cost, still madly in love with you, absolutely unable to conceive of a life that didn't pivot on you, Linda. I was prepared to give you any pledges you could possibly ask—"

"Did you flatter yourself any pledge you could give would mean anything to me, when you'd broken your word so often?"

"I hoped you could make you understand that a blow your leaving me had been, how it had brought me to my sense at last, jolted me up on the water-wagon, where I've been ever since—I haven't had a suspicion of a drink, Linda, since that night you ran away—and made me see what an unrepentable potter I'd been, fooling around as I had. That's another thing I cut out like a shot. I haven't looked sideways at another woman since—"

"Not even after discovering I'd fallen in love with another man?"

"Not even after that. Somehow

Peasant Embroideries

PEASANT embroideries are all characterized by the use of brilliant colors—chiefly red and blue, helped out with touches of orange, purple, green and yellow. Odd looking fruit, tulips, bellflowers and bizarre birds are the favorite patterns.

Sometimes the designs are embroidered, but more often they are applied to a garment in some strongly contrasting color.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

ONIONS ADD MUCH TO VEGETABLE DINNER

DON'T overlook onions as a dinner vegetable.

The choice Spanish or Bermuda onions now in market can be served in a variety of ways both nourishing and delicious.

White rather eschew highly flavored vegetables as the weather grows warmer.

Onions can be prepared in such a way that the flavor is delicate and stimulating to the appetite.

When boiling onions keep the kettle uncovered.

Baked Onions.
Allow one large onion for each person. Wipe with a clean cloth to remove any mud, but do not peel.

Put in an old pie pan or dripping pan that will not be used for other purposes. Bake an hour in a moderate oven. Slip from skins and serve with butter, salt and pepper. Onions prepared in this way are remarkably sweet and inoffensive. Do not put any water in the pan for baking.

Stuffed Baked Onions.
Four onions, left-over veal, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 6 tablespoons soft bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, buttered crumbs.

Parboil onions for 45 minutes. Drain and let cool to handle. Cut a piece off the top of each onion and scoop out the inside to form a cup. Chop out the centre of the onion and add as much chopped veal as there is onion.

Season with salt and pepper, add parsley, bread crumbs and butter. Mix well and add the egg unbeaten. Mix with a fork. Fill onion shells with mixture. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven, basting every 10 minutes with boiling water and a little butter.

Remove from oven, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and brown quickly.

Scalloped Onions.
Four onions, 2 cups white sauce, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 4 tablespoons buttered crumbs.

Peel onions and put in a shallow pan. Cover with cold water and bring to the boiling point. Drain. Cut in thin slices and put a layer in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with cheese and cover with white sauce.

Continue layer for layer until all is used. Cover top with buttered crumbs and bake half an hour in a moderate oven. Increase the heat if necessary for the last 10 minutes of baking to brown the top.

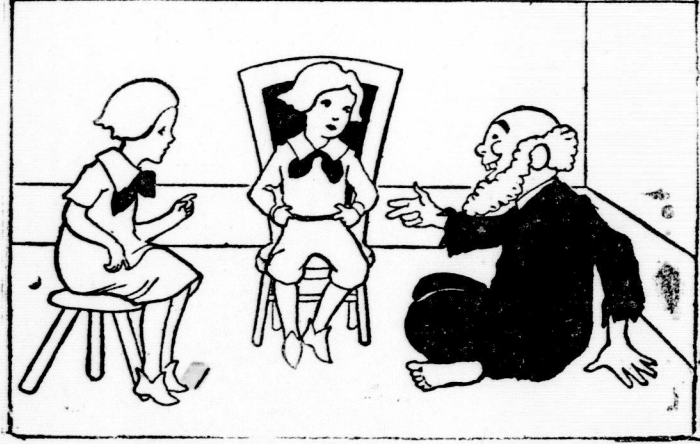

The cheese may be omitted and the onions served as a dinner vegetable. Left-over onions are often reheated this way.

Mr. Peersabout sat on the floor and crossed his legs.

"NOW then," said the Man-in-the-Moon, when the Magical Mushroom had gone, "I'll have to tell you all about my friends, my dears Nancy, you sit on this crooked little stool, and Nick, you sit on this wobbly little chair. There, that's all hunky-dory."

Mr. Peersabout himself sat on the floor and crossed his legs.

"I suppose," said he, "when earth people see the moon shining so peacefully in the sky high over the tree tops, they nod and say to each other, 'My, what a snap the Man-in-the-Moon has. Nothing to do but loaf around in his silver palace and admire the scenery.' They don't know in the first place that up here we have the utmost contempt both for silver palaces and laziness."

"They don't know, either, what a time my fairies and I have of it."

"Where do you keep them? Your fairies?" asked Nick.

"Well, in different places," said Mr. Peersabout. "My dream fairies live here in the moon in Snoozelium casual women don't mean anything to me any more—I mean, casual flirtations. They're too stupid—silly waste of time. I guess I had to be as squiffy as I used to be most of the time, not to be lured by them then."

"This is all very interesting, I'm sure. But after all, it doesn't explain—now, does it?"

"It explains why I followed you out here the first trip, why I had to see you in another man's arms, kissing him, and then hear all the small-town gossip about you two before I'd believe."

"There's gossip then?"

"What do you think?"

Linda affected a shrug of indifference. Bel mustn't guess she cared what people said.

"And what has that to do—?"

"Just this, I don't like it. As I say, if you want to run around with a movie actor, that's your affair; but so long as you remain my wife, it's my affair, too. Don't forget it's my name you're trailing through this sink-hole of scandal."

She flamed at him—"Bel!"—but he wouldn't heed.

WHAT IS ONE?

HAS WESTERN ONTARIO ANY GENTLEMEN?

MINDFUL of the fact that replies to the query, "Has Western Ontario Any Gentlemen?" must be in before tomorrow, Wednesday noon, May 24, all those who wish to voice an opinion should write immediately their letters answering this interesting question. Hundreds of letters have been received and hundreds more will pour in before the contest concludes.

This question, to judge from the letters received, has had an arresting influence on all who saw it. They at once began to ponder when they noticed the contest. There is a great deal of food for thought in these four or five words, "What Is a Perfect Gentleman?" To the one who answers this question the best The London Advertiser will pay $5, and for the next five best answers after the first, $1 each.

Remember the contest closes Wednesday noon.

MY NEIGHBOR.
You ask me to define the word "Gentleman," so often heard. I thought of one whose aged face, E'er beams with friendship, love and grace.

Whose greeting ever seems to be A word of cheer just meant for me, And thus I see him every day, A man, whose form is bent and gray.

And in and out the neighborhood His every act spells "Brotherhood." Whose clothes, perhaps, are not the best.

Whose manners, social code might quest. For when he passes on his way, Whether he raises his hat or not, I cannot say.

I only see his sunny smile, And life is brighter for a while, For, oh, the spirit from within Proclaims this man a gentleman.

MARY ELIZABETH McGRATH, Box 271, Stratford, Ont.

A GENTLEMAN?
A gentleman is just a gentleman, no more, no less.

A diamond polished that was first a diamond in the rough.

A human being who is modest and gentle, deeming others better than himself. He may be awkward, angular, homely or poor, his face may be bronzed at the forge or bleached in the mill; his hand huge and hard; his patched vest like Joseph's coat of many colors, but he walks with upright, courteous rightness, speaks the truth in his heart, values his character not so much of it only as can be seen by others, but as he sees it himself. And as he respects himself by the same law does he respect others.

He has less all, but retains his courage, cheerfulness, hope, virtue, and ever trying to follow in the footsteps of our Master, is a true gentleman.

MABEL M. LUMSDEN, R. R. No. 4, Norwich, Ont.

A TRUE MAN.
A perfect gentleman is first of all a true man, clean within and without. Fearing God with self-reverence, self-knowledge and self-control, and a well-informed mind. Reared in the atmosphere of a refined home, under the influence of his mother, a perfect gentleman, who has trained her son in the small courtesies (so dear to every woman's heart), as well as the more important ones. Through habits of self-control, unselfish service to others, the boy grows up to be the perfect gentleman, showing naturally and easily through home training and confirmed habits, the outward expression of the inward state of a perfect gentleman. Though rare, we do meet them.

ISABELLA GARDINER, Wardsville, Ont.

A COURTEOUS MAN.
In my opinion what constitutes a gentleman is a man that is courteous and kind to all, both young and old, and practices the same thoughtfulness towards his family as he does towards his friends.

A man that is benevolent in cases of extreme poverty in his immediate locality and willing to aid the sick and do whatever good his hand might find to do, and one that reveres God's holy word. Such a man as this will neither use profane language nor do the things which he ought not to do, morally and physically clean. In every respect he will be counted a perfect gentleman, even though his garments are not of the latest cut. I have several acquaintances who might be called perfect gentlemen and undoubtedly there are quite a number throughout Western Ontario.

MRS. ALBERT ALWARD, R. R. No. 2, Port Burwell.

GENTLE TO OTHERS.
You have asked the question, "What is a gentleman?" First of all, because a man stands with uncovered head in the presence of ladies, he may or may not be a gentleman. There are bad men who follow all the conventionalities of society. They are not gentlemen.

A gentleman is as the name implies—a gentle man. A man may not even lift his hat to a lady, but if he is a gentle man he is a gentleman.

Gentle and considerate of others' feelings constitutes a gentleman. "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you" constitutes a gentleman whether he wears broadcloth or overalls. JACK RILEY.

TREATS ALL ALIKE.
A gentleman is a man who is well bred, respectable and honorable. One who treats rich and poor alike and never brags about his victories or mourns over his losses. A man of high principles, courteous and kind to everyone. A gentleman is educated and has fine manners. One who never cheats or gets his money by gambling or any other dishonest means. P. J. E.

360 Central Avenue, London, Ont.

GUARDS GOOD NAME.
A perfect gentleman is a man who guards a woman's name rather than slanders it, a man that is the same in his inner life as he is in his social life. One that can be trusted and a friend in need, one that is honest, truthful, kind, considerate and courteous to everyone. Also one who has no bad habits or evil intentions. A man that is clean in mind, body and neat in appearance. A man is not a gentleman who ill-treats his wife and family at home but appears charming in society.

He is a man who sees fair play and is refined in his language and actions.

He respects his home and the old folks, too; he will do almost anything that man can do on the street. In the shop, in the factory, too, he never gives up while there's good work to do. He will abhor evil if it's in his way and cleave to what's good till the judgment day. He won't use language that is profane nor chew tobacco; that is not ordained. He will place no obstacle in the way of a brother or sister from day to day, but always be cheerful, kindhearted and true and do for others the best you can do.

HONORS ALL WOMEN.
A perfect gentleman is a man who treats every woman whatever her station in life, be it high or low, always with respect and courtesy; who treats every man, whatever his station in life, as he himself would wish to be treated, and who acts toward all God's harmless creatures with mercy and kindness. M. G. Rodney, Ont.

DENYING SELF.
This is my opinion of a true gentleman: Until a man becomes a Christian he can hardly be called a true gentleman. We read in II Corinthians v. 17: If any man be in Christ he is a new creature, old things are passed away, behold all things are become new.

When a man has taken his stand, he has denied self and sin and can truly be called a gentleman, for the fruits of the spirit are love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance.

If a man has the spirit of Christ dwelling within him he will be courteous, generous and gentle to all whom he comes in contact with, even to dumb animals. It pays to be a true gentleman. FLORENCE WILLIAMS, R. R. No. 3, Wyoming, Ont.

STUDIES CHARACTER.
After reading the question, "What is a perfect gentleman?" I began to study the characters of individuals with regard to their qualifications as such, and I finally formed the conclusion that there are none that are perfect, yet they may be gentlemen.

As proof of my statements I would like to refer to Romans III. 10: "As it is written, there is none righteous, no, not one." And if a man cannot be righteous I do not think he can be perfect. He may be a very courteous gentleman, when meeting strangers or in society, and probably held in high esteem by his companions, but does his disposition remain in the same attitude when he reaches the home of his wife or parents, or does it cast a shadow of fear and discontentment over the home. In many instances the so-called perfect gentleman are as wolves in sheep's clothing, deceiving others as well as himself. C. A. M.

A GENTLEMAN.
A gentleman is a man who is not gay, but just goes along in his own right way and doesn't heed gossip as some today, but strives to help others.

A RARE JEWEL.
The actions of a gentleman are the index of his soul. He is as ready to do kindly things to say civil things. A true gentleman is as courteous and kind to his inferiors as to his equals.

In a word, a good heart is at the bottom of all his acts, and a kindly spirit is the fountain from which his thoughts arise.

He has a pleasant manner, and this is like sunshine. At once you are attracted to a true gentleman without knowing why. He is truthful and honest beyond a question, and free from self-assertion, and consideration of the feelings of others.

One day there was an old lady at the crossing. The traffic made crossing impossible for her. The school was out, and all the boys and girls were going home. Gaily they passed by her except one boy, who took her by the arm and assisted her across.

When this boy grew to be a man he was brave, honest, helped the needy, and was a gentleman.

Some men, who think they are gentlemen but are not should read Burns' verse:

Oh, was power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us,
It wad frae mony a folly free us,
And foolish notion.

MARGARET STEVENSON, R. R. No. 1, Melbourne, Ont.

BETTERS MANKIND.
I think a gentleman is a man whose passage through life is such that the way is smoothed and brightened as he passes along, and all mankind is benefited by his having passed.

A man who is as near what God intended man should be as it is possible for man to be. S. CAMPBELL, R. R. 5, Bothwell.

HOUSE ADOPTS $1,500,000 NAVY SERVICE VOTE

Appropriation Passes Without Division After Three Days' Debate.

CONSERVATIVES CRITICIZE

Crerar Brings Discussion To Close With Slam At Meighen.

Special to London Advertiser.
BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.
HOUSE OF COMMONS, OTTAWA, May 22.—Three days of strenuous efforts on the part of the Conservatives to block the proposed vote on the naval forces of Canada went for nothing tonight when once again in the face of a savage onslaught the government was upheld without a division.

As the result of the vote estimates for $1,500,000 were passed and the country was saved the neat sum of $1,000,000 compared with the estimates of last year. The Canadian navy will lose the services of the cruiser Aurora and two submarines leaving one destroyer and two trawlers on each coast to guard the fishing waters and sealing industry.

Resumption of the debate at the opening of the house today saw the opposition forces begin again the long and meaningless speeches which already had been heard on two previous days. It remained for Hon. T. A. Crerar to bring the debate to a close, when he pointed out that arguments of the Conservative party amounted to nothing but talk. That Hon. Arthur Meighen had in reality taken no stand had outlined no policy and had offered no constructive criticism. The debate had already lasted two days too long, he said.

Conservatives Oppose Cuts. The Conservatives opposed any cuts in the naval estimates on the grounds that Canada must share a portion of the defence of the empire. Mr. Crerar pointed out that in developing and opening her resources, by building railways and bringing more land under cultivation, Canada was contributing far more towards the strength of the empire than the building of a few ships would be.

The debate was resumed with a brief revival of the discussion of last session over the sale of the Niobe. The subject was broached by E. J. Garland (Progressive, Bow River) who asked whether the government had received more than the $20,000 paid last year.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of defence, stated that acting under the advice of the justice department the government had resumed possession of the Niobe and put her up for sale again.

The original price offered for the Niobe and the two submarines was $155,000. Of this $20,000 had been paid. The government had recovered the Niobe and obtained $5,000 in the way of costs. The ships had since been sold to an American purchaser for $41,000. Thus the total received for her and the submarines was $56,000.

At this point T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto) resumed the speech which was interrupted by the adjournment last Tuesday after he had remarked that he would be "glad to talk for one, two or three days."

In opening, he asked whether the government was satisfied with "a miserable contribution of 72 cents a head as what we owe for maritime freedom." Canada, said Mr. Church, had always had a naval policy. "We have been content to sponge on the British taxpayer," he said.

Who had the government consulted? he asked. Had they consulted the British Admiralty experts, or their own experts? The government should ask the British government to get a report from the admiral of the fleet or someone in a position to give practical advice.

Church Renewed Criticism. The more one examined the government proposals, the more one concluded that they were impossible. Was it an honorable policy, justifiable or self-respecting, for Canada still to keep a burden on the backs of the British taxpayer, especially as she had prided herself on having attained the status of a nation?

It was idle to talk about training men to become seamen in three weeks. They could not learn to row a boat in that time, and half of them would be unable to swim. It was simply allowing Canada to go back 150 years to the status of a crown colony, and after all Canada had done in the war he did not think the people wanted this kind of a naval policy.

H. C. Hocken (Conservative, West Toronto) said last year the sum voted was an absolute minimum for efficiency, but this year the government proposed to spend $1,500,000 for no result whatever. The grant now proposed was a mere waste. It was the duty of Canada to show that she had some appreciation of her duty, and did intend to continue to lean on the navy of the mother country.

Mr. Hocken said he was not a militarist, but was a self-respecting citizen prepared to do his part and that, he believed, was the attitude of the people of the country. If the object of the cut was economy, other expenditures should also be reduced. Mr. Hocken characterized the proposed expenditure of $1,500,000 on Quebec harbor as a waste. It could not properly be justified.

J. A. McKelvie (Conservative, Yale) asked what the government was going to do about the cadets now training at the Royal Naval College. The government had a great responsibility as far as these boys were concerned, as they had already wasted several years of their lives in training.

Mr. Graham said that arrangements had been made with the different colleges to permit graduates of the Royal Naval College to enter the civil institutions as second year students. Arrangements were under way to permit naval undergraduates to enter as first year students.

Former Kaiser To Be Paid 200,000,000 Marks.

LONDON, May 22.—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Hohenzollern is to be compensated in full by the present German government for landed property taken over since the revolution and Wilhelm's exile in Holland, according to a dispatch to the Westminster Gazette this afternoon.

The former kaiser will receive 200,000,000 marks.

Guthrie Asks Question. During the last few years only four Canadian naval cadets had gone to the Royal Navy to complete their training. None of the cadets had gone this year. There were about 40 Canadian naval college graduates in the Royal Navy, and their training there cost approximately $73,000 a year. At present there were 42 students in the Royal Canadian Naval College, with twelve officers, 41 other ranks and 12 civilians on the staff. The college cost $175,000 a year and it cost the country $12,000 to give each cadet his three years' training.

The British navy was cutting down its establishment, and there was no career ahead for these boys. With each graduate costing the country $12,000, and with no careers provided, it was time to close down.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie asked what the government proposed to do with young men who went through the military college and the course of training, and were now in the Canadian navy. Some of these men spent five years or more at sea after concluding their college course. They had spent large sums of money on uniforms which they were required to wear. Surely they were entitled to consideration.

An impression seemed to have gone abroad, as a result of some quotations made by the prime minister in his recent speech on the government's naval policy that these ships which Canada received from England, had nothing more than "scrap value." This was not in accord with facts. The ships in question were thoroughly modern.

The Aurora was classed as a light cruiser, suitable for coast, river and harbor defence. She was built in 1914, carried two six-inch guns, six four-inch, one four-inch anti-aircraft gun and eight torpedo tubes. She had a speed of 28.5 knots an hour. At present she was manned by 19 officers and 307 men, the great majority of whom were Canadians. It would be seen that the Aurora was a particularly fast ship adapted for work in Canada.

Premier King asked if he was not right in saying that other ships of this type were being scrapped by the British admiralty.

Mr. Guthrie replied that he had no information on that subject. The Patriot and Patrician were sister ships. They were both oil-burners built in 1916. They each carried three four-inch guns, five machine guns, four torpedo tubes, and attained a speed of 35 knots an hour. They had each a complement of 5 officers and 76 men, the majority of whom were Canadians. The two submarines were modern in every respect. They were known as the CH-14 and CH-15. They carried 2 officers and 18 men. He was informed, said Mr. Guthrie, that the total expense of the whole fleet was less than two million dollars a year. The government had stated in answer to a question that the cost of maintenance of the Aurora last year was $39,516, the Patriot $257,204, and the Patrician $254,227, making a total of $1,341,027.

Duff Disputes Statement. The Aurora was an ideal ship for training purposes; the destroyers were ill-adapted for this purpose. If the Aurora was tied up to the dock it would be necessary to keep a crew on board her to prevent her from deteriorating. Destroyers and submarines also deteriorated speedily if tied up.

William Duff (Liberal, Lunenburg) disputed the statement that the Aurora was a good training ship. She was eight years old and pretty well worn out. Besides, no cruiser that steamed 28 knots would make a good training ship. Nelson's old flagship, the Victory, would be better for that purpose.

Hon. A. K. MacLean (Liberal, Halifax) seconded Mr. Guthrie's recommendation that "ample justice" should be done to the boys at the naval college. "I cannot say," he continued, "that I am enthusiastic about the government policy personally, but at the same time I am not in a position to make any suggestion that is more practicable."

Personally, Mr. MacLean feared that the government's policy was not practical and that a far trial would show it to be a failure. In the meanwhile, and for a year at least, proper care should be taken of the cruiser Aurora and the two submarines, in order that they might be returned to service if economic conditions allowed.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was of the opinion that the British navy was not scrapping cruisers of the Aurora type. The Aurora had been represented to the late government to be in every way fitted for the duties she was to perform. The committee should have the advice of men in a position to know. It was necessary to decide whether Canada was going to have a naval service. Canada had a debt, but so had all the other countries, including Great Britain and the other dominions. These countries were all maintaining naval services transcending Canada's.

"How will the prime minister feel when he stands before the prime minister of Great Britain and the prime ministers of the other dominions?" Mr. Meighen asked. Their countries also had debts.

The government could go into other departments and apply the knife and could save more than sufficient to maintain the navy.

Meighen Admits No Policy. The government's policy admitted a share in the burden of defence. At this point the prime minister asked why Mr. Meighen did not embody his opinions in a resolution. "Because it is not my policy," Mr. Meighen retorted.

"Yes," answered Mr. Meighen. Hon. G. P. Graham said that it was his firm belief that the proposal of the government would result to the best advantage of Canada. The policy of the government was to train men for the service instead of getting the service before the men. The United States had a force of 30,000 naval volunteers. Instead of running away from its duty the government was facing a great deal of criticism in order to establish a reserve from which a navy would ultimately grow. He was firmly convinced that the program of the government would result in the saving of a great amount of money while achieving the desired result. He would be willing to go to an imperial conference and stand behind the policy of the government.

Meighen Admits No Policy. The government's policy admitted a share in the burden of defence. At this point the prime minister asked why Mr. Meighen did not embody his opinions in a resolution. "Because it is not my policy," Mr. Meighen retorted.

"Yes," answered Mr. Meighen. Hon. G. P. Graham said that it was his firm belief that the proposal of the government would result to the best advantage of Canada. The policy of the government was to train men for the service instead of getting the service before the men. The United States had a force of 30,000 naval volunteers. Instead of running away from its duty the government was facing a great deal of criticism in order to establish a reserve from which a navy would ultimately grow. He was firmly convinced that the program of the government would result in the saving of a great amount of money while achieving the desired result. He would be willing to go to an imperial conference and stand behind the policy of the government.

NEW ATTRACTIONS AT PORT STANLEY

Western Ontario's Playground Transformed Since Farewell Dip Last September.

Port Stanley, Western Ontario's most popular summer playground, has been transformed since Londoners took their farewell dip in Lake Erie last September.

The Casino, one of the best dance pavilions at any of the beaches on the great lakes, has been remodeled and improved. This place has always been recognized as a most orderly one, and worthy of the patronage of the most discriminating of summer visitors.

Great improvements to the appearance of Port Stanley have also been made by the Lake Erie Amusement Company.

Its property from the west end of the beach to the roller coaster has been seeded and planted with numerous shade trees. The ground has been leveled; in fact the property has now all the marks of a real breathing space, especially on the north side of Cabell boulevard. On the beach side, too, the scenery has been made more attractive.

These are only a few of the numerous additions made to the attractions Port Stanley offers the tired city man, who, after a hard day's or week's work, as the case may be, longs to get away from all his labors and relax where cool lake breezes blow and dancing waves entice him to join the merry throngs of merry-makers.

Two "Soldiers of Soil" Cache Liquor In Brantford Officer's Backyard

Special to London Advertiser.
BRANTFORD, May 22.—Often the site which one selects on which to establish a business is responsible for failure. Naud Powlick and Mike Lozick are reported to have made a fatal error by burying their liquor supply in a policeman's backyard.

For some days Mike and Naud had aroused the curiosity of their neighbor, Police Sergeant Borthing, a St. George street resident, by digging in his backyard. Finally the sergeant became "real" suspicious, and called in some fellow members of the force to help solve the mystery.

Sunday the officers watched the two foreigners at work. Their suspicions were confirmed. They seized the diggers and two bottles of liquor. Now the two "soldiers of the soil" are in jail on a week's remand, awaiting trial on a charge of having liquor illegally.

The management of the PORT STANLEY CASINO has secured the finest dance orchestra that has ever played in this district for the summer season. Dancing every night on a floor that is the smoothest in America.

LAUD EMPIRE IN SONG AND STORY

London School Children Arrange Own Celebrations Tuesday Afternoon.

Canadian Club Awards Prizes For Best Essays On Subject.

Empire Day celebrations throughout the city schools have this year been more or less to the initiative of the teachers, so that practically each class had its own method of preparing a program, all, however, dealing with the one subject, the growth and glory of the British Empire.

At Ryerson School a delightful program was given by the children, preceding the presentation of the prizes offered by the Canadian Club for the best historical essay to the two winners, Roy Kennedy of the seventh grade and Jean Campbell of the eighth grade. A chorus by the children of the afternoon class commenced the program, and there was very pretty dancing by Florence Taddock, a vocal solo by Ellen Tustin, a recitation by Francis Williams, a song by Ivy Burdon, and a chorus by the pupils of grade five, "The Land of the Maple."

At the conclusion of the program, field sports were held in which the school was divided into two parts—the "Reds" and the "Blues"—in order to add zest to the competition. The Ryerson Mothers' Club held a successful sale of homemade cooking on the grounds during the field sports.

At Wortley Road School, the Empire Day celebration took place at the morning session. The children formed a square around the flagpole in the school yard and cheered lustily as the flag was raised, after which they enjoyed the singing of a number of patriotic songs. In the classroom, each teacher had a program prepared, and Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Buchanan presented the Canadian Club prizes for historical essays to the winners, William Smith and Kenneth Brown.

Mrs. J. Vining presented prizes at the Tecumseh Avenue School, and each class had a program of songs and essays dealing with the growth of the British Empire.

At the children of Talbot Street School observed Empire Day by marching in procession from the school to the park, where presentation of history prizes, the laying of a wreath on the monument in the park, and speeches took place.

Bruce Russell, winner of the history prize in grade seven, and Clara Clark, winner of the history prize in grade eight, received their prizes, consisting of several volumes offered for competition by the Women's Canadian Club of London, at the park. The presentation was made to the two winners by Mrs. R. J. Bowen.

After the wreath had been placed at the foot of the monument, the Rev. Dr. Beattie addressed the children for a few moments.

SEES RAY OF HOPE IN GENOA PARLEY

Canadian Delegate Claims Betterment of Europe Already Started.

LONDON, May 22.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—Sir Charles Gordon of Montreal, who, with Prof. Edouard Montpetit of the University of Montreal, represented Canada at the Genoa conference, has returned to London with really optimistic views concerning the outcome of the Genoa deliberations.

"We are in entire sympathy with all that was done," said Sir Charles Gordon, "and I think that the Genoa conference has been a great success. I think a great deal of good will ensue from the meetings, although perhaps it may be some time before there are visible results. A great deal to remember is that matters for the betterment of the European situation have definitely been started."

"It has been shown that there is a general disposition to help with schemes for economies and financial regeneration. The political end, of course, is by no means clear, but there is no need to despair. The end is growing nearer to Canada. We are looking to Europe for markets. Canada has a highly important export trade, not merely in agriculture, but in other products. Our interest in the improvement in the European situation is to this extent, therefore, identical with that of the other countries."

Extreme admiration for Premier Lloyd George was expressed by Sir Charles. The British prime minister, he said, worked tenaciously and unsparringly, and was one of the most dominating figures of the deliberations.

The following three committees were appointed to look into the work and report at the committee meeting at 8 p.m. on Friday night at the chamber of commerce rooms.

A committee of four was appointed to look into new activities—E. V. Buchanan, McConnell, C. Rountree and C. Watson.

A committee of three was appointed to investigate the question of Rotary boys A. M. Jarman, C. B. King and R. D. Dowler.

OPENS RETRIAL OF M'ILLANS

Judge At Owen Sound Requires Jurors To Sleep In Courthouse.

Will Prevent Irregularities Such As Occurred At March Sittings.

Special to London Advertiser.

OWEN SOUND, May 22.—The trial of Dan McMillan and his wife, Mary McMillan, on a charge of murdering Jameson Johnson, was commenced this afternoon before Justice Oude and jury.

Jameson Johnson died under rather suspicious circumstances on the evening of Labor Day, 1921, after having had a drink of porter at a local hotel with Dan McMillan. Five days after Johnson's death McMillan and Mrs. Johnson, wife of the deceased, were married.

This led to considerable talk, and an investigation was held, the result of which was a verdict pointing to the accused as having been responsible for Johnson's death. They were arrested, given a preliminary hearing and sent up for trial.

At the sittings in March the case came up before Justice Logie and continued until 10 p.m. On the first day one of the jurors, while getting some clothes from his room in a hotel, spoke for a few minutes to a friend. This was brought to the attention of the presiding judge, who ordered a new trial. The special permit was secured to have the case heard at the present court, and a special jury was empaneled.

The prisoners were brought into the court, looking rather pale after their long confinement. They were quite alert, but apparently not suffering any from the strain they must have been under during their confinement.

Many Jurors Called.

R. L. Brackin, K.C., M.P.P., and J. F. P. Birnie appeared for McMillan; H. G. Tucker, K.C., and W. H. Wright, K.C., appeared for Mrs. McMillan, and M. S. O'Reilly, K.C., of Hamilton, and Crown Attorney George H. Charles, of the prosecution.

Thirty-six jurors were called before twelve were chosen.

M. S. O'Reilly gave a lengthy address to the jury dealing with the history of the case. He pointed out possible motives for the two prisoners to have committed the crime. He expected to prove, he said, that Dan McMillan bought ten grains of poison a short time previous to the death of Johnson, though the name signed on the poison book kept by the druggist was "Dan Cameron."

Witnesses were excluded from the court while the evidence of other witnesses was being taken.

Mrs. Amelia Kern, a neighbor of Johnson's, was the first witness. She had seen Johnson and Dan McMillan greasing a wagon on the morning of Saturday, Sept. 3. About 5:30; later she saw Johnson sitting on a block near the kitchen. He had gone to breakfast at Johnson's. While he was in that condition his wife walked past him and went down to the barn, quickly returning to the house.

The Monday after Johnson had died McMillan had told her that he and Mrs. Johnson had been married.

Found Uncle Ill.

Donald McMillan, nephew of Johnson's and a cousin of the accused, was called. He had been working for Johnson some time before the latter's death. He told of the morning of Sept. 3, when Johnson had been sick. He had gone to breakfast at Johnson's. ## COUNCIL TO BUILD REGISTRY OFFICE

Inspector Piper Authorized to Prepare Plans at Once.

Building Inspector A. M. Piper has been ordered by the council to go ahead and prepare plans for a new city registry office.

This quick action was taken in an effort to try to pacify the law society and ward off drastic action to force the erection of a structure.

Mr. Piper, on being asked if his plans were ready, stated that he could not prepare plans as he does not know the dimensions of the property on which the building will be located.

Life and Character Reading.

MAY 23

People born on this date come under the sign of Gemini, the dual personality. This sign makes people an exact contradiction of themselves, and this contradiction causes a state of nervousness which is hard to overcome.

These people are not selfish or envious. They are thoughtful of the poor, and very sympathetic with the suffering. They are fond of the arts and sciences, are great readers and good talkers and very quick to see the point of a story or joke.

These people are very executive with the hands, and can do any kind of plan and see a device and pattern and, if not interfered with, will bring the work to beautiful completion.

Real Estate and lots for sale are the bargains the Want Ads have in store for today. Watch them carefully and if you have a piece of property you wish to dispose of, now is the time to sell it.

STATES ROAD EXPENDITURE.

OTTAWA, May 22—The Dominion Government has paid $1,552,335.77 to the Ontario department of public works in approved road projects, it was said, in the House of Commons question time this afternoon.

W. F. Nickle Brings Bishop's Pamphlet To Attention of Grant.

WOULD ALLAY IRRITATION

Minister of Education Intimates Question Will Be Left Over.

TORONTO, May 22.—When discussing the school estimates in the Legislature tonight W. F.
