SIFTON TRIAL
Crown Witnesses Allege That Prisoner Offered $1,000 to Avoid an Inquest.
London, Ont., Sept. 26. — At the Sifton murder trial this afternoon Rev. Mr. Cooper, a Methodist preacher at St. John's, a mile from the Sifton home, told the court that Gerald Sifton stated to him he had given Dr. MacNeil, the coroner, $1,000 in notes not to hold an inquest on the body of his father. Mrs. MacFarlane stated that on the morning of the tragedy, an hour before it occurred, she was at Gerald Sifton's. Gerald said he was going to the minister's to find out if the marriage had taken place, and if it had not, he was going to put his father where he would not be married that day. When Gerald heard he was going to be arrested he asked the witness not to tell the threat he had made.
James Morden, a respectable looking young farm laborer, related his story in a manner that did not break down before Mr. Johnston's severest cross-examination. He said that on the evening preceding the tragedy Gerald Sifton came to the place a mile and three-quarters distant from the prisoner's home and said:
"There is hell to pay at our place. The old man is going to marry Mary MacFarlane. He dragged her and got her into trouble in such a way the law can't take hold of him. I will give you $1,000 to come with me and we will smash the old man on the head on the road and hang the body up in the barn and say it was suicide. Morden did not go to warn the elder Sifton because if anything happened he would be mixed-up in it. He told Gerald not to do it, that he would be hung himself or get an innocent man hung. Ten days after the tragedy Gerald told the witness his father's body was going to be taken up. Gerald said that was not bothering him, that decomposition had set in and they could not tell anything. He said they could not scare anything out of Walter Herbert, either.

AGAINST TURKEY
European Cabinets Considering Combined Course of Action.
Paris, Sept. 26.—The Courier du Soir, which is usually well informed, makes the following sensational statement: One of the results of the conferences between Emperor Nicholas and President Loubet, M. Waldeck-Rousseau and M. Delcasse during the czar's visit to France is an exchange of views between European cabinets, now progressing with the object of arriving at an understanding as to action against Turkey.
Patrie to-day prints a sensational story to the effect that a conflict has broken out between Britain and Turkey, saying that three British warships have been ordered to the Persian gulf to suppress revolts at Toust, in the province of Bagdad, and that the Turkish government has dispatched a strong detachment of troops with instructions to oppose the landing of the British forces.
HAS KITCHENER RESIGNED?
London, Sept. 26.—The Daily News publishes an unconfirmed rumor that Lord Kitchener has resigned the post of commander-in-chief in South Africa, owing to disagreements with the war secretary.

W. E. Risip is advertising usual rates for Annual Western Excursion on Sept. 26th, 27th and 28th, to Detroit, Saginaw, Bay City, Chicago and other points, tickets good to return until Oct. 14th. LAST COURT SCENES IN THE M'KINLEY TRAGEDY

The Assassin of the President Sentenced to Death—Doomed Man Shows no Tremor—Declares he Alone was Responsible.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 26. — Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, was this afternoon sentenced to be electrocuted in Auburn state prison in the week beginning Oct. 28. Before sentence was pronounced, the assassin evinced a desire to speak, but he could not get his voice above a whisper, and his counsel repeated his words to the court. "There was no one else but me," said Czolgosz. "No one else told me to do it; and no one paid me to do it. I was not told anything about the crime, and I never thought anything about that until a couple of days before the crime." Czolgosz sat down. He was quite calm, but to one who watched him closely it was evident that his mind was flooded with thoughts of his own distress. The pupils of his eyes were dilated, making them appear very bright. His temples glistened with perspiration. His weakness and vanishing strength were well indicated by his difficulty of speech. The detectives touched the prisoner on the shoulder and told him to stand up, that they might place the handcuffs on his wrists. He looked at them with an expression of the profoundest fear and helplessness in his eyes. He glanced about at the sea of faces moving about him, crowded together to get a glimpse at his face. It was evident that he feared violence from the people in the room. At this juncture Judge Titus stepped over and said in a kind voice:—"Well, Czolgosz, goodbye. "Good-bye," replied the prisoner, tremulously. The prisoner was hurried down stairs and through the "Tunnel of Sobs" to the jail, where he will remain until taken to Auburn to meet death for his dastardly crime.
The police arrangements at the City Hall, where Leon F. Czolgosz was to receive his sentence this afternoon for the murder of President McKinley, were even more stringent than during the trial. All sorts of excuses were given by those anxious to gain admission to the room, and half an hour before the time announced for the opening of court, the place was filled, and the doors were locked. At 1:30 District Attorney Penney and his assistants entered the court room. He was accompanied by several distinguished guests, who sat with him at his desk.
At five minutes to two o'clock the prisoner was brought into court, shackled to Detectives Geary and Solomon, accompanied by Assistant Superintendent Cusack and Jailor Mitchell. Czolgosz was perspiring. He seemed a bit nervous, though he did not tremble, and his gait was steady. As he took his seat, he mopped his brow with his handkerchief. When he settled back in his chair his wonted listless attitude was absent. He kept his eyes wide open and looked about him occasionally, but presently he

SHAMROCK AND COLUMBIA QUIT UNFINISHED CONTEST

Light and Variable Winds Account for Failure of Race—Much Interest Evidenced in Chatham—Lipton not Discouraged.

Light and variable winds account for the failure of the Shamrock and Columbia race. The race was abandoned at 11:15 a.m. on Saturday. The Shamrock and Columbia were seen to start at 11:10 a.m. and were seen to be on the finish line at 11:15 a.m. The Englishman was well astern of her, the experts estimating her distance behind the Columbia at over three-quarters of a mile.
An exceptional interest was taken in the contest by Chathamites. The Planet's window bulletins were closely followed by many and both the office telephones were kept busy answering numerous enquiries. Of the latter a considerable majority were from the ladies, and the fact that the Shamrock was not always well in the lead, was repeatedly bemoaned. However, general satisfaction was expressed when it was learned that the race was not won on fluky drifting and had been declared off. The unfinished race will be resailed to-morrow and the course will be again fifteen miles to Windward or leeward, and return.
LIPTON CONFIDENT OF WINNING THE CUP.
When seen on board the Erin after the race, Sir Thomas Lipton said: "It was not a satisfactory race, because the wind was so erratic. I hope we shall have better luck next time. A race sailed on such a day, if it can be finished at all, depends upon the lucky chance position as to wind, of one boat or the other. I was never more hopeful for the Shamrock than I am now. I am confident I shall get the cup. I have never seen any more skillful handling of a boat than was shown by Captain Barr, of the Columbia, today. Shamrock, too, was well managed.

"Never have I received greater kindness anywhere than at the hands of the New York Yacht club. They have met my wishes at every point and have gone out of their way to show me courtesy. I can't express too strongly my appreciation of their treatment of me. All arrangements for handling the yacht and steamers at the course have been perfectly satisfactory.
"I said early this morning that it was not a Shamrock day, the heavy sea and light wind were not favorable."
Manager Jameson, of the Shamrock, when he came on board the Erin after the race, said: "I must say I am both surprised and pleased at the excellent manner in which the course was kept clear. I hope it will be kept as clear through all our races. Of course the day was a poor one for racing on account of the flukes."
DESIGNER WATSON SATISFIED.
Designer Watson said: "I am very well satisfied with what the boat did to-day. Whenever she had a breeze of any strength she did exactly as I expected her to do."
CAPT. BARR NON-COMMITTAL.
Capt. Charles Barr, of the Columbia, was non-committal. When asked what he thought of the race, he said: "I had no time to think," and when asked if the Columbia did as well as he expected her to do, he replied: "I have nothing to learn about her."
ENGLISH NOT VERY CONFIDENT.
London, September 26.—Neither the betting nor the comment of the newspapers respond to the optimistic views cabled here of the chances of the Shamrock II, in the race for the America's cup. Sporting men vainly offered $ to $4 on the Columbia, after the receipt of the early morning cable despatches from Sandy Hook giving the weather conditions, which are considered not too favorable to the challenger. Sir Thomas Lipton has the best wishes of the man-in-the-street, who has donned the green ribbon as a token of sympathy but confidence in Sir Thomas' ability to win is conspicuously absent.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 27.
APPRECIATED.

The Planet is in receipt of many congratulations upon the service this journal was enabled to give its patrons and the public in furnishing the international yacht race news yesterday.

But in acknowledging these commendations The Planet must pay tribute to those who assisted this journal very materially in its efforts.
The Planet's special despatches and bulletins came via C. P. R. telegraph and were handled with great promptness and accuracy.

CONVICTED.
Our neighbors are certainly to be congratulated upon the rapid and orderly and, above all, unostentatious and quiet way in which they have conducted the trial of Zolgoez.

out trial of Guiteau is most marked. There is a calm dignity about the proceedings now which deprive the incident of that element of sensationalism so dear to the heart of the crank.

LOOSENESS IN CUSTOMS DEPT.
Under the above caption the Toronto News says:—

The loose way in which the customs department is managed is again brought to the attention of the public by the complaint of the Windsor Board of Trade that the ferry and transportation companies pay for the overtime of landing waiters and customs officials on trains.

But in acknowledging these commendations The Planet must pay tribute to those who assisted this journal very materially in its efforts.
The Planet's special despatches and bulletins came via C. P. R. telegraph and were handled with great promptness and accuracy.

Columbia can have all those races that don't count.

Never mind, Shamrock, old girl, we're with you yet.

Shamrock isn't a drifter. She was designed and built as something better.

Well, here's hoping the best boat may win—and may the best boat be the Shamrock.

Just wait till a real good breeze comes along and see the Lipton yacht take advantage of it.

It's no more than reasonable to suppose that when a yacht is blanketed her crew should become warm.

THAT MOVABLE FESTIVAL.
Hamilton Spectator.
The people of Canada will not be pleased at the fact that the government has, this year, fixed Thanksgiving day for the last Thursday in November—about six weeks later than it was last year, and only a month before Christmas.

UNPALATABLE TRUTH.
Toronto World.
Canada's loyalty to the empire is not as practical as it might be, nor as it ought to be. We are doing a great deal of shouting over the Duke of York's imperial visit and we are proud to have our returned South African veterans decorated at his hands.

BRIDGE-GUARD IN THE KARROO.
And will supply details to guard the Blood river bridge.—District Orders—Lines of Communication.

Sudden the desert changes—
The raw glare softens and dings.
Till the aching Outdoorn ranges
Stand up like the thrones of kings—

Ramparts of slaughter and peril—
Blazing, amazing—aglow
'Twixt the sky-line's belting beryl
And the wine-dark flats below.

Royal the pageant closes
Lit by the last of the sun—
Opal and ask-of-roses,
Cinnamon, amber and dun.

The twilight swallows the thicket,
The starlight reveals the ridge;
The whistle shrills to the picket
We are changing guard on the bridge.

(Few, forgotten, and lonely,
Where the empty metals shine—
No, not combatants—only
Details guarding the line.)

We slip through the broken panel
Of fence by the gangster's shed—
We drop to the waterless channel
And the lean track overhead;

We stumble on refuse of rations—
The beef and the biscuit tins—
We take our appointed stations
And the endless night begins.

We hear the Hottentot herders
As the sheep click past to the fold—
And the click of the restless girders
As the steel contracts in the cold.

Voices of jackals calling,
And, loud in the hush between,
A morsel of dry earth falling
From the flanks of the scarred ravine.

And the solemn firmament marches
And the hosts of Heaven rise—
Framed through the iron arches—
Banded and barred by the ties.

Till we hear the far track humming,
And we see her headlight plain,
And we gather and wait her coming—
The wonderful north-bound train.

(Few, forgotten, and lonely,
Where the white car windows
shine—
No, not combatants—only
Details guarding the line.)

Quick, ere the gift escapes us,
Out of the darkness we reach
For a handful of week-old papers
And a mouthful of human speech!

And the monstrous Heaven rejoices,
And the earth allows again
Meetings, greetings and voices
Of women talking with men.

So we turn to our places,
As our own on the bridge she rolls;
And the darkness covers our faces,
And the darkness re-enters our souls.

More than a little lonely
Where the lessening tail-lights
shine,
No—not combatants—only
Details guarding the line!
