Canada from Coast to Coast

Sydney, N.S.—Tests made some time ago with fireclay from two of the Cape Breton collieries, have produced a splendid brick which is being used at the Sydney steel plant. There are other purposes to which this clay has been applied and hundreds of tons are used each month.

St. John, N.B.—It is understood that plans are under way for the establishment here of a cigarette manufacturing plant, and a plant for the canning of fruit. The establishment of these two new industries, according to a reliable authority, is assured, providing that certain concessions are made by the city and the railways.

Quebec, Que.—The population of the City of Quebec, exclusive of suburbs, reaches 119,488, divided by nationalities as follows: French-Canadians, 104,969; Irish, 6,029; English, 5,490.

Toronto, Ont.—The value of mineral production of Ontario for the first quarter of the current year, as shown by a report of the Dept. of Mines, has increased $2,333,000 over the corresponding quarter of last year, the totals being $11,575,151 and $9,241,853, respectively. Silver was the only metal of importance to record decreased production during the period under review.

Winnipeg, Man.—It is reported that there are no less than 200 prospectors working in the Rice Lake mineral district this year, and that the total number of men engaged in mining activities is not less than 900. The Rice Lake district is what is known as the Southeastern Manitoba Mineral Area and lies east of Lake Winnipeg and north of the Winnipeg River.

Regina, Sask.—The total value of farm livestock in the Province of Saskatchewan is placed at $115,240,900, according to the latest report of the Provincial Dept. of Agriculture. Since the year 1906 the number of horses in the province has increased from 240,566 to 1,152,409; milch cows from 112,618 to 456,006; other cattle from 472,254 to 1,046,780; all cattle from 472,254 to 1,502,786; sheep from 121,290 to 191,937; and swine from 123,916 to 563,069.

Edmonton, Alta.—Sheridan Lawrence brought out furs from the Fort Vermillion district, in the far north, valued at $22,000. They include silver fox, cross and red fox, otter, wolf, wolverine, beaver, mink and muskrat.

Vancouver, B.C.—The Vancouver Board of Harbor Commissioners has asked for competitive plans for construction of another one million bushels annex to number one elevator. This will give the plant a storage capacity of three million bushels.

New Zealand Farmers Ask for Agricultural State Banks

A despatch from Wellington says:—Great pressure is being exerted on the New Zealand Government to establish agricultural state banks, the Agrarian interests urging here, as they have done in Canada, and other agricultural countries, that farmers need further credit facilities. Mr. Wilfrid, the Opposition leader, moved a vote of censure on the Government on Thursday on the ground of their failure to extend pensions, and to promote other social and humanitarian legislation; to relieve soldier settlers; to solve the housing and unemployment problems, and to establish agricultural state banks. Mr. Stewart, the Minister of Customs, in reply, defended New Zealand's sound financial position, and contended that the Australian experience did not warrant the establishment of a state bank here. The debate is proceeding but defeat of the Government is considered highly probable.

Channel Tunnel Scheme Voted by British Cabinet

A despatch from London says:—The British Cabinet, accepting the views of its military and naval advisers, is understood to have decided against the construction of a Channel tunnel between England and France. The supporters of the scheme will, however, press for a public inquiry, and for an explicit statement of the strategical objections taken by the defence authorities to the project.

Success of "Beam" Wireless Abolishes High-Power Station

A despatch from London says:—Following announcement by Senator William Marconi of the success of his short wave, low-power "beam" wireless experiments in both telegraphy and telephony, Godfrey Isaacs, head of the Marconi Company announced his firm will build no more high-power stations.

All the stations of the future, according to present plans, will be under 25 kilowatts in power. Both Marconi and Isaacs predict that a substantial reduction in rates can be made when the new stations are in operation. The four advantages are: Low power; comparatively inexpensive short wave stations will maintain direct high-speed service with the most distant points; more words can be sent a day; the system is directional, and can be received only by stations within the restricted sector of the beam; economy in the cost of new stations, and in operation due to the low power.

Norway's Capital to Resume Old Name, Oslo

A despatch from Christiania says:—Christiania, Norway's capital, will revert to its ancient name, Oslo, on January 1, next. The proposal, which has been long discussed, was finally adopted by Parliament at a recent sitting.

FIRST TREATY EVER SIGNED IN CANADA, COMMERCIAL PACT WITH BELGIUM

A despatch from Ottawa says:—There was signed at Laurier House on Thursday night the first treaty ever signed in Canada, a commercial treaty between Canada and Belgium, in which each nation grants to the other most-favored-nation treatment on its whole tariff schedules. The treaty follows negotiations extending over a considerable period, which were begun during the presence of the Canadian Ministers in Europe last year, and are now brought to a successful conclusion. Plenipotentiary powers were asked by Canada from King George for Hon. James A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, and Hon. Dr. Beland, and were received a few days ago, and on Thursday night the treaty was signed. Baron de Selys, Belgian Consul-General, acted for the King of the Belgians.

Canada extends Belgium the benefit of its intermediate tariff, and receives from Belgium most-favored-nation treatment, which is a wide variation from its regular tariff, which is rather high. Canadian imports from Belgium for the year ending March were $5,340,875, and exports to Belgium $17,452,442. Our principal exports were grains ($14,000,000), automobiles ($200,000), tires ($108,000), canned salmon ($400,000), asbestos ($400,000), raw tobacco, implements, butter and cheese. Among the imports were considerable quantities of glass, on which the importation will not prove injurious to our manufacturers, as the duty under the intermediate and general tariffs is the same. It is understood that negotiations are also under way for a somewhat similar treaty with the Netherlands.

LONDON CONFERENCE AIMS AT RAPID PACIFICATION OF EUROPE

A despatch from Paris says:—The London conference on July 16 will try as to hamper Premier Herriot at a large opposition to it in Parliament according to the program unofficially reaching Paris.

Prime Minister MacDonald has not issued the official invitation yet, but it will contain four principal points: 1. All must accept the experts' plan without reservations; 2. The conference will fix a date for functioning of the plan; 3. A date will be fixed two or three weeks later for Franco-Belgian evacuation of the Ruhr; 4. The Allies will agree not to apply sanctions in case of future German default unless a new body, not the Reparation Commission, decides it is necessary.

It is expected this new body will be either out of the League of Nations or The Hague court. This creates something of a sensation here, as it will mean clipping the wings of the Reparation Commission, which the French dominate. Former Premier Poincaré's followers are preparing to fight on this point and may succeed in rousing such all the freedom she needs. According to the latest news from Ireland in connection with the impending election in Mayo, the Republicans have now adopted the Canadian analogy for more sinister uses. They are arguing that as under the treaty the Free State enjoys the same status as Canada, she enjoys Canada's right, already admitted and defined by British statesmen, to secede from the Empire and become an independent state. They are making this a contentious issue in Mayo and for this and other reasons the by-election is regarded as fraught with great significance for Ireland's immediate future.

IRISH BY-ELECTION ASSUMES IMPORTANCE Because of Claim Set Up by Republican Leaders in Campaign.

A despatch from London says:—That the Irish Free State considers her position in the Empire the same as that of Canada, and in matters of status takes a reservationist yet, but has been the Free Staters who have taken this attitude and stressed the analogy to prove that the Free State under Dominion constitution enjoys

WEST INDIES BARRED BY U.S. QUOTA LAW

Denied Unrestricted Privileges of the British Self-Governing Dominions.

A despatch from Washington says:—Immigration officials have corrected information given out at Secretary Davis' office that the British quota restrictions will not operate against British subjects of the West Indian possessions. Under the regulations of the new Act, Commissioner-General Husband explained, the quota exemption of the Western Hemisphere applies only to the self-governing Dominions of the British Empire, which means that the well known Dominion Hydro-Electric West Indian Islands possessed by Great Britain and the other European powers fall within the quota restrictions.

CANADIANS FLOCK TO THE OLD COUNTRY

Tourists from the Dominion Attending Variety of Social and Other Functions.

A despatch from London says:—There are more Canadians in London to-day than at any other time in its history. The Dominion Day dinner had a record attendance, including Canadians from every point of the world, some of whom had come over from the continent specially for the occasion. Wembley is the magnet which draws a great number of Canadian visitors, but other factors are the world power conference, to which the well known Dominion Hydro-Electric Empire Chamber of Commerce, which is attended by many officials of Canadian Boards of Trade, the visit of the weekly newspaper editors, the Disley shooting and even the international lifeboat conference. There was a Canadian competitor in the early rounds of the tennis championships at Wimbledon and a Canadian entrant for the Diamond Sculls at Henley. There are also one hundred members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here under the leadership of Col. Hatch, of Hamilton. A number of prominent Canadian lawyers are in London in connection with the Privy-Council cases, including E. L. Newcombe, Dep. Minister of Justice, who will be joined by hundreds of others when the Bar Association comes here in a few weeks. Many of these Canadians have been playing their part in society during one of the most brilliant seasons London has known since the war. Many attended the Royal Garden party and courts.

Fifty Australian Lads to Tour Canada Next Month

A despatch from Montreal says:—Fifty boys, ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, members of the Young Australia League, will make a tour of Canada in August of this year. The visit is a return of that made by the 101st Canadian Cadet Corps to West Australia in 1912. The boys will arrive at Quebec on Aug. 23 and will spend a full month in Canada visiting such points as Montreal, Ottawa, Niagara, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Jasper Park Lodge and Vancouver. They will also be the guests of the directors of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Their rail journey across Canada will be made in two special cars over the Canadian National Railways, and their itinerary will be so arranged that they will spend not less than twelve hours at any one point.

Square scarves of vivid colors, for men to wear on the tennis courts, are said to be gaining popularity.

The astonishing increase in exports of grain through the port of Vancouver to the European and Oriental markets during the past two or three years, is evidenced by figures issued by the Federal Government which show that during the eight months ending April, 1924, 30,000 cars of grain were delivered to Vancouver. Shipments were made to Japan, China, Great Britain and other countries.

WHO'S WHO AMONG THE NORTH PARK PEOPLE

Another one of our interesting North Park residents, is Mr. Freg M. Hahn, who has been a business member of this community for a goodly number of years.

Mr. Hahn was born in Ontario, Canada, in 1864 and lived on his father's farm most of the time, but during some of those years he went to Mildmay, in Ontario, where he learned the trade of shoemaker in 1880. It was near Mildmay that Mr. Hahn, as a lad, pulled flax and spread it for drying, and tended it, until it was thoroughly cured, working for Messrs. E. Siegner, Wm. Rosenow and F. Voigt, prior to 1880.

In 1885, he left Canada for Kansas, where he worked at his trade, remaining there over fourteen years. Kansas brought him much good luck and good business, and here it was that he married Miss Augusta Sor-gatz in 1891.

In 1897, Mr. Hahn took a trip to California, going to the Christian Endeavor convention in San Francisco, and also visiting San Diego on the same visit west. It was so attractive here, that he decided then and there to come back at the first opportunity. It was in 1899, that he and his family came to San Diego to stay. He opened a first class shoe shop at the Walk Over Shoe Store, when they were still down on Fifth street between F and G streets.

In 1905, through the influence of his relatives and many friends in Canada, he sold out here, and went back to Canada, intending to remain there. But in the fall when the weather was cold and snowy, rainy and slushy, he told his family "I am going back to California if I have to walk back," and he really meant what he said. But as he had means, it was not necessary to walk, so he and his wife and children came back again to San Diego, and were very happy to be back again in the land of sunshine.

In 1912, Mr. Hahn bought several lots on Thirtieth street, and April 1, 1913, the two-story building, 3880 Thirtieth, was finished and it was then that Mr. Hahn opened his shoe shop, where he remained until the building next door was completed, when he moved his shop in there. It was here that the North Park Checker club had its headquarters and met often to play, but now that Mr. Hahn has retired, which he did on May 3rd, the members of the club are contemplating organizing a permanent checker club.

It was not only the shoemaking business that Mr. Hahn was interested in, for in 1910 he took up chiropractic, and received his diploma from the San Diego school, but never actually practiced; only giving adjustments to his friends, gratis.

Mr. Hahn owns quite a good deal of property in this district, which he bought while North Park was only a vision, and when he first built, there were no structures around this corner, with the exception of in the minds of men. So it is, and so it has grown until, we have not the vision but the actuality now.

Mr. Hahn has two daughters, both married, one living in San Diego and the other in Vallejo. The one daughter has a beautiful voice, and is a talented musician.

Mr. and Mrs. Hahn have a pretty home on Twenty-ninth and Upas streets, which they bought in 1922, where they moved from Eighteenth street.

They are leaving this week for an extended trip to Canada and New York, where they will remain until fall, visiting friends and relatives, but will return to San Diego again.

Mr. Hahn is called by his many friends a man of reason, because he always weighs every thing fully before acting, and reasons every thing out before taking a decisive step; he never acts impulsively, therefore he always realizes before leaping just what he is doing. That is how he happened to be a member of this community.—San Diego Daily.

RETURNING TO FARMS

Unfavorable industrial conditions in the United States, particularly Detroit, is having a beneficial effect on the Western Ontario farm labor problem it became known.

A prominent agriculturalist, whose work takes him all over Western Ontario reports that a number of young men who left their homes and farm jobs near Glencoe have come back from Detroit and were glad to get back their old positions.

"I talked to some of these boys and they all said work was mighty scarce on the other side, and they thought the best thing they could do was to hustle back to Canada and farm work while the going was good," declared the farm expert.

"I found similar conditions in Bruce County. The young men are leaving the cities and flocking back to the land. I also find that farmers are not so anxious to hire help at wages beyond $35 a month and board. In fact, a number won't pay more than $25 or $30. They explain that they can't tell what they are going to get for their crops and if they take a chance on hiring several men at high wages they will be out of pocket in the fall. "They will hire men, they want them, but they simply won't pay any big wages, and you can hardly blame them."—London Advertiser.

The amusement tax is a direct levy paid by the people to a municipality. It was imposed by the Ontario Government when looking around for more revenue during the war but the method of selling amusement tax tickets is being protested in various parts of the province. The cities especially are urging that a portion of the tax should revert back to the municipality wherein it is collected.

We claim that outdoor sports should be exempted from the tax as they make for vigor and manhood and womanhood. Let us have some amusements without being taxed.—Newmarket Era.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER

Without wishing to comment on the merits of any of the many cases of the kind that have cropped up in the county within the past month or so, we would like to ask when the authorities intend to deal seriously with those who operate automobiles in a way that is dangerous to the lives of others. There should be one fixed rule that when a man is found in charge of a car while he is under the influence of liquor he is to be forbidden to run a car again for a stated time. The same rule should apply to those who run their cars recklessly in congested districts or where the traffic is heavy. The rule at present is to let such offenders go with a fine. There must necessarily be a lot of common sense displayed in the making of laws to govern the automobile traffic and the administration of the same, but the two classes above mentioned—those who drive cars while drunk and those who act as if they were drunk or crazy—should get no mercy. The very least that should be done is to put them on the prohibited list so far as driving their cars is concerned.—Ex.

Warton was stirred last week by the death of a young married man who died as a result of "drinking swamp whiskey to which had been added some poison," as the coroner's jury found. After saying that "the tragedy is very regrettable and sad. The facts are very plain. Drinking adulterated swamp whiskey in abnormal quantities. There is no mystery about it, other than who manufactured it. If that can be ascertained, somebody will suffer severely," Warton Canadian-Echo remarks:—Swamp whiskey and bootleggers have been the most commonly discussed subjects this week in Warton, caused of course by the regrettable death of the young man on Saturday last. Some pretty strong language has been indulged in, and the reputations of a number of our citizens have not been enhanced in the course of being banded from mouth to mouth during the week. If even 50 per cent of the talk is true, swamp whiskey is about as abundant in town, and as easy procurable as ginger ale, and there is a larger percentage of the population engaged in the traffic than in any other line in town. Everybody seems to be perfectly conversant with the personnel of the fraternity that is handling the stuff, although they act as though it were a dead secret. Here is one tale which can be taken for what it is worth, but it came from a perfectly reliable source. One man was told by another man, who had bought a bottle of the stuff on a Saturday night, that the bootlegger had told him that that was the seventy-third crock he had sold that day.—Some liar, or some business.

There is one word in the dictionary which so far as it applies to the liquor question, should be eliminated or sent back to the spirit of Sam Johnston for revision, and that is "Prohibition." It is at present a misnomer. Howard Ferguson, on whose shoulders rests the responsibility of bringing forward some solution for the present state of affairs has our sympathy. If he is inclined to take the matter too seriously, it will likely either send him to an early grave or turn his hair grey. We have come to the conclusion that liquor, like the tariff, can be placed amongst the "eternal questions."

WAGE CASE SETTLED

Trench of Teeswater, which the plaintiff claims Trench owed him as balance in wages for working on his western farm was tried before Judge Klein here on Thursday last, and after a stout legal fight between David Robertson, K. C., for Trench and H. G. Tucker of Owen Sound, for O'Hagan, the matter was settled by consent with Trench paying the plaintiff $50 in full of his claim, and each party to bear his own costs.

Howick School Re-union

PRESENT AND FORMER RESIDENTS OF P.S.S. NO. 1, HOWICK, HAVE AN ENJOYABLE RE-UNION

Last Thursday afternoon was a memorable occasion for the people of No. 1, Howick, where many acquaintanceships, long since forgotten, were renewed. The occasion was the re-union of the old boys and girls of the section, and, judging by the amount of handshakings and exchange of greetings, there must have been almost a full representation. The idea was originated a few months ago by a quartette of former residents of the section, W. H. Stewart, a former teacher, Dr. Wilson of Guelph, Miss Priscilla Gowdy, and Mrs. C. E. Bell, (nee Dennis), of Wingham, and immediate action was taken to secure the names of all the former pupils and residents of the section. Hundreds of invitations were sent out, and the response was so spontaneous and enthusiastic, that soon the entire community became interested, and co-operated to make the event enjoyable and successful.

There were upwards of eight hundred people at the re-union, and it is doubtful if a happier gathering ever assembled in Howick. Friends and schoolmates who had not met for a generation were brought together again, and many interesting and mirth-provoking reminiscences were recounted.

A fine platform had been erected, and the following program was given, with Mr. Thos. Inglis, Reeve of Howick, acting as Chairman. After the program, the ladies of the section served a fine lunch of sandwiches, cake, pie and tea.

Public School Section No. 1, Howick, was organized in 1863, when one-quarter of an acre was deeded by the Crown to the Trustee Board. In 1877 an additional half acre was purchased from James Lowish by the Trustees, who at that time were Jas. Ritchie, Geo. Howlett, and Jas. Armstrong. Extracts from a letter written by Mr. Jacob Halliday of Devil's Lake, North Dakota, who at one time resided on Lot 2, con. 16, Howick, contains much interesting information concerning the section and the teachers who had charge of the school from 1863 to 1886.

Devil's Lake, North Dakota, to the Old School Friends and Others

of No. 1, Howick:—

When I received the invitation to your great Re-union on July 3rd, I assure you it afforded me a great deal of pleasure, and I regret very much that I cannot accept your invitation, but let me assure you that wherever I am that day, your gathering will have a warm spot in my memory. Could I meet with many faces and persons that were so dear to me when I left the old familiar playground forty-three years ago, distance would be no barrier. It is fourteen years since I last paid a visit to the old homestead, and I only met some half dozen of the old school friends, among them being John Gowdy, Levi Galbraith, Mrs. McGavin (nee Elizabeth Wallace), a lady who before her marriage was Annie Burns (cannot remember her married name), my own brothers and sisters, and I must not forget Bill Scott. He is one of the oldest pupils of the school. If I could only meet the many old familiar faces, the Gowdy's, Ritchie's, Braden's, Wallace's, Lowish's, Harkness's, Pomeroy's, Nay's, Scott's, Wilson's, Galbraith's, and scores of others it would give me the crowning joy of my life to once more greet you. I sent a list of some 175 names, once pupils of No. 1, some time ago, and where are they all now?

In beginning my letter, I shall give you a list of all the teachers who have been in the school since its beginning in 1864:

1. Robt. Forbes, for two years.
2. Mr. Besanson, for a little over a year and a half, when he lost his reason.
3. George Wright, who finished Mr. Besanson's year and taught the following six months.
4. Miss Martin for six months.
5. James Ferguson, (one of the original pupils,) for one year.
6. Miss McNaughton, for one year.
7. Johnson B. Ferguson, for three years.
8. John Ross, for two years.
9. Miss Hill, for one year.
10. Mr. Jamieson, for six months.
11. Mr. Chisholm, for one and one-half years.
12. Robert Harkness, for one year (now Rev. Dr. Harkness of Ripley.)

Of this list of 15 teachers, I have only met Mr. Harkness, Mr. Fletcher, Johnson B. Ferguson, Geo. Wright, and the first teacher who taught in the school, Mr. Forbes, since they left the school. I met Mr. Forbes a few years ago in our city out here in the West. He rose to be Bishop in the Methodist Church.

I will now give you a list of some, if not the whole of those who held dominion over our school as school trustees. Alex Gowdy, John Johnston, William Lowish, William Pomeroy, Jas. Halliday, (my father,) Jas. Suddan, Jas. Edwards, Chas. Wilson, Geo. Howlett, (I believe he is still living in Clifford, though about 95 years if not more,) James Ritchie, Wm. Wallace, Alexander Findlater. Some pretty level-headed men, you say?

In 1864 there was only one road past the school, and it ran east and west. The pupils from the north came through the woods about 40 rods to the west of the school. Those from the south came through Lowish's bush, and through the woods west of the school, it depended whether they were east or west of the school.

You can imagine the consternation among us youngsters when our teacher, Mr. Besanson, went out of his mind. He rushed out of the school calling, "Go, tell them to get a rope and hang me." We rushed out of the school and ran until we reached Mr. Pomeroy's farm, now owned by Mr. Lowish. Mr. Lowish, Mr. Green and Mr. Wade, seeing us coming, scented trouble. This was my first year at school, but I remember it as if it was only a year ago. I wonder that none of us scholars went insane when we consider our surroundings. The school was perhaps 18x24, built of logs, two windows on the north side, two on the south, and a door in the west end. This building held as many as 65 at one time. But, boys, those were the days. Wind blowing through the cracks in the wall, and the floor, and when we went to eat our lunch we often found it frozen.

The teachers were paid in the early days some $200 a year and got two week's holidays, from July 15th to August 1st.

One of the things we learned, although we were not taught it, was fighting and politics. I tell you our leaders in parliament little knew of the intelligence that was being wasted on the swampy air. We never discussed (or cussed) politics until about election, and then it would usually end up in a free-for-all fight between the Grits and Tories and then when we got into the school the teacher, though he never heard the argument, would proceed to give his decision by giving us a good sound flogging, and the worst of it was that the one who got the best of it in the fight generally came out with the worst flogging.

I cannot remember what kind of a school you have now at No. 1, but it seems to me that when I was there 14 years ago it had been bricked on the outside. I did not call at the school as it was in the winter, and none of the pupils would have known me anyway.

In conclusion, let me say that Mr. Forbes, the first teacher, died only four or five years ago after a brief illness, having reached the pinnacle of fame in the Methodist Church, from the first teacher at No. 1, Howick.

Many of those who were my first associates in No. 1, have gone the way of all flesh, and it won't be long before many more will join the "rest" through, and let me say ere I close that I hope and wish you one and all the best of a time, and may it not only be a Re-union in person, but in heart and hand that we will do our utmost to usher in that glad day when, as Robert Burns says:

And man to man to world o'er
Shall brothers be, for a' that, and a' that.

Adieu to you all,
J. Halliday.

A MODERN DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

From Judge's Weekly, July, 1909

The unanimous declaration of the Bachelor's Brotherhood of America.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created free and single, that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights, that among these are the single life, unhampered liberty, and the pursuit of individual happiness. To secure these rights we are informally banded together, and have been from the time that whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, and whenever any government, petticoat or otherwise, presumes to infringe upon these rights, it is the duty of those affected to alter or abolish it, as seems best, to assure unto themselves safety and happiness.

Such have been the encroachments of women upon these our rights and privileges that we can no longer suffer in silence, but are, perforce, compelled to drag the matter into the glaring spotlight of publicity. It would ill become us to put forward these declarations were it not that we have been most grievously used, and in proof of this we submit facts to a (we fear) prejudiced world.

She has laughed to scorn the ancient faiths of our Brotherhood.

She has constrained many of our fellows to take the great leap into a "Cottage built for two," furthermore, she has incited them to tempt the weaker brethren into the self-same snare.

She is vigorously waging a war of extermination against those of us who are left.

She has endeavored to have various legislatures impose a grievous tax upon us because of our condition, when, in the majority of cases, the cause of such condition can be traced directly to her door.

Not content with Leap Year and its presumed privileges, she has tried to inculcate the opinion that custom should sanction the proposal of marriage by women, thus virtually making every year an open season for bachelors.

Failing in this she is considering the advisability of taking the matter into her own hands, and, in spite of custom, herself proposing marriage when all other means fail to break man's determination, trusting to our innate chivalry for the acceptance cannot tell which way you'll flop; of such proposal.

We, therefore, The Brotherhood of Bachelors of America, in secluded conclave assembled, do solemnly publish and declare that we bachelors are absolved from all allegiance to women, and that all sentimental connections between ourselves and women is, and ought to be, totally dissolved, and that as free and single gentlemen we have full power to frequent clubs, maintain cozy bachelors' quarters, act as impartial judges at baby shows, give expert advice on the rearing of children, and to do such other things as free and independent bachelors may have right to.

And to signify our determination to stand by these our declarations we pledge our single lives and fortunes, and affix hereunto our hands and seals this Fourth day of July, Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-Four.

BOB, BOBBER, BOB

When'er the women stop to talk when restin' in the evening air, their topic turns as sure as must unto the bobbin' of the hair, and to each sister what has gone and moved the locks from off her head, a chapter and a verse beside is duly passed upon and read.

They meet a dame upon the street, they tell her that the cut looks slick, and thereupon they saunter forth to find upon the road a brick.

Ah, gentle sisters how you love to take each bobbed head in your lap, and gather in the neighborhood to they knock and rap and rap.

"There's Mrs. Blink, she's forty-six, how come she with a bob like that, a-runnin' round the streets likewise a-wearin' a new bob hair hat."

"She seems to think it makes her look like she was in the sixteen ring, her hair ain't of the bobbin' sort, it's straighter than a piece of string."

"Yet when they meet this Mrs. Blink they change their conversation pace, and vote as how she is a peach, and call her things like angel face."

There's Mrs. B. and Mrs. A. who went and hacked their tuft away, they swear they are a sight to see like loads of fresh cut clover hay.

But when they meet this B. and A. it's petals 'neath the morning dew, "You look so sweet I think I'll go and get my hair shaved off like you."

Ah, sisters, you're a fickle lot, we cannot tell which way you'll flop; you're knocking at bob heads today, the next you're at the barber shop.—ARK.

CHEVROLET

—a factor in modern business and social activity

If the automobile were suddenly withdrawn from our modern business and social life, do you realize how speedy and complete would be the disorganization?

Wider in its influence and effect than any other factor of present-day existence—the automobile has become of vital importance to commerce and society.

And Chevrolet can claim a prominent place in automobile progress, because it has brought quality and dependability within the realm of the popular-priced car.

Chevrolet transportation is the most economical per mile. Chevrolet reliability is an established fact among motor-car users. Chevrolet exceeds expectations in the beauty of its appearance and the completeness of its appointments.

The Chevrolet Utility Coupe (with its handsome "body by Fisher") is the choice of the commercial user—the business or professional man, or salesman, whose business the automobile has assisted so materially. The Utility Coupe is a car of which anyone may well feel proud.

"When Hearts Command"

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

"When hearts command,
From minds the sagest counsellings depart."

CHAPTER XXIII.—(Cont'd.)

Hugo and Alice tried to comfort her without avail, until Alice found an ear and whispered that she wouldn't leave her precious mother, that she wouldn't get married, they'd send a telegram to Philip telling him it was all off. Then Jean came to her senses and started explaining.

All that was the matter with her, she said, was Uncle John's bluffing the Italian bank into believing that he had a fortune and their allowing him to draw ten thousand lire on the strength of it. And he didn't know yet whether it was true or not.

Hugo began to laugh. "But you've been worried about it yourself," she said sharply. "Not about that I haven't," he said. "You've been worrying about something. What else could it have been?"

"If you don't know I'm not going to tell you." He stopped laughing and looked very cross. "Here—graze on that."

He took a crumpled paper out of his pocket and handed it to her. It was a brief note from the local bank to say that they'd had their telegram from Monte Nero; it was quite all right. The balance of the $5,000 cash was safe right here in Bordighera.

As is usual, relief turned to indignation. "When did this come?" Jean demanded. "Last evening. A boy brought it up," Hugo replied.

"Why didn't you tell me?" "I dunno. I didn't think." "But I've been nearly mad with anxiety!"

Hugo shrugged his shoulders. "I don't see why," he grumbled. "I've told you all along that it was safe enough. I don't see why you couldn't believe me."

As usual, she had tried to cross a bridge that didn't exist. "CHATER XXIV. "Could we take a little walk, mummy darling. Not too far, of course, and you might put on my tennis shoes."

Mrs. Carnay's rather tired face broke into bright agreement. "I'd love a walk," she said. "But first I must find out what Uncle John means to do."

"Without hurting his feelings, could we leave him behind?" Alice asked quickly. Her mother nodded. There was no need for explanations. This was her very last evening with Alice before life changed entirely, and the fact that her daughter wanted to be alone with her for a little while was natural enough. They had been so rushed getting ready for the wedding, and while there was still another day before the two ceremonies took place, tomorrow would be another rush with Philip Ardeyne at the end of it anxious to claim Alice and make up for what he had lost of her society.

Mrs. Carnay trotted into the house and found Hugo at the writing bureau in the salon submerged in a sea of calculating. He was a picture of virtuous, clerical energy, his shoulders humped over the task, his near-sighted gaze bent upon long columns of figures, his lips severely pursed.

"Well, my dear, what is it?" he inquired when Jean had stood by the desk a moment a little loath to interrupt him.

"I only just wanted to know if you'd mind if Alice and I went for a stroll," she replied.

Hugo did mind, since the request so pointedly left him out, and he hated to be left out of anything, but he gave her a grudging permission.

"I dare say I can manage without you for an hour or so. But don't be too long. I want to tell you what I'm planning to do."

"It's the last chance I'll have to be alone with Alice," Jean faltered. "Oh, I'm not a bit hurt," Hugo assured her.

Jean was silent as they climbed up through the old town, and then farther up to the groves above Sasso. They sat down to rest beside the path looking towards Monte Nero, the hillside falling away sharply at their feet into a dark gorge, from which came the tinkle and murmur of water rushing over stones. "Black Mountain," indeed, with its hooded crest of sable firs. How lonely it must be up there at night—yet how beautiful.

Jean thought that she would not be really lonely if someone she loved were there too. But Hector Gaunt had nobody for company, unless one counted old Maria. Hours and hours and hours he spent alone on that mountain-top.

A great log came sailing majestically across the valley from the western slope to the sawmills at Sasso. The steel cable which carried it was almost invisible, and it looked like some new form of aircraft.

"Look!" Alice cried. "There's a man on it! I wish we could get on one and pay Mr. Gaunt a surprise visit." She reached out and squeezed her mother's hand. "Mr. Gaunt's the nicest man I've ever met—except Philip, of course. I'm glad you're going to stay here for a little while, mummy darling. I'll feel happier, somehow, knowing that Mr. Gaunt's keeping an eye on you."

"Will you dear?" Jean asked wistfully. "You're such a little mother. You need looking after. I'm being so selfish in leaving you!"

"No, you're not," Jean said, her voice bright and quick. Alice mustn't guess for a moment how desperate she was feeling about this parting. "I can't tell you how thankful I am you've found such a good man. And I want you to be just the happiest girl in the world. As soon as you are nicely settled in your new home I'm coming to pay you a long visit. Dr. Ardeyne asked me, and he also asked Uncle John."

"Poor Uncle John!" said Alice thoughtfully. "Twice Alice had said 'Poor Uncle John!' Would it be too risky to ask her why she thought of him as an object of pity? Since that night when she had asked her terrible questions, Alice had avoided personal reference to Uncle John. So had her mother. Just the one word "madhouse," or the suspicion of it as figuring in Hugo's past, might have altered the whole situation. Alice was so terribly conscientious. She would have insisted upon Ardeyne's knowing, would have insisted upon being told how it might affect herself, since madness runs in families. Oh, these had been so many near shaves, and even now when everything—including Alice's suspicion—seemed lulled into security, an upset might occur at the last moment, at the very altar itself. Jean knew her daughter. Alice had a will of iron, and even love itself would not shake her convictions as to right and wrong.

Why—Mrs. Carnay reflected with acute dismay—if Alice knew the real secret of her birth she was quite capable of breaking her engagement without a single word of explanation to anybody.

It was like a beautiful castle built of cards—a breath could destroy it. "Sometimes I feel I have no right to be so happy," Alice said. "What have I ever done to deserve it?"

"You've been the best daughter in the world," protested Jean, half choked between emotion and her heavy sense of guilt. "It's I—I, who don't deserve anything!"

"But you're not getting anything, mummy dear. And you are the one who deserves everything the world could give anybody. Don't think because I'm getting married and it looks as though we'd be separated, that we really will be separated. Letters are wonderful things—and there'll be visits. When you'll come to live in England, I'll have Philip, but I can't do without my mother. You see how selfish I am. If I thought I'd have to do without you—"

"Oh, you won't! Yes—yes, I'll come to England. I must be near you, particularly in case—" Old-fashioned Jean blushed, faltered, and broke off self-consciously.

But Alice was of a generation which looks nature in the face and sees no reason to make secrets of its laws. "Yes, if I have a child—children—I'd want you, mummy."

Jean squeezed her hand. "How do you mean?—that it may be possible. Why, you're only a baby yourself! You aren't even married yet. It doesn't seem quite—quite—"

"Oh, darling, how funny you are!" Alice laughed heartily now. "Why, Philip discusses children."

"Not with you!" Mrs. Carnay was horrified. "Yes, with me, mummy, darling."

"But—" "He talked so beautifully, it simply made me want to weep."

"How do you mean?—What could he have said? Really, Alice—"

"All about the great responsibility of parenthood. How nobody, no intelligent man or woman, had any right to bring children into the world unless they could guarantee them a clean bill of health—mental and physical."

Jean shivered. "I cannot understand any man talking like that to the girl he's going to marry," she said. "But Alice was unperturbed by this criticism."

"Philip's a doctor," she reminded her mother. "He sees a great deal of the misery that—that parents do inflict upon their children merely by bringing them into the world."

"My dear, those things are better left to a Higher Being, and the better I don't believe," Alice said slowly, "that leaving things to chance is the same thing as leaving them to God."

The sun had gone down, and suddenly it was quite chilly. Monte Nero was like a giant shadow, and the little white farm gleamed ghostly in the twilight. A light shone from one of the windows. That would be Hector's dear, untidy sitting-room, the room in which Jean could not help remembering he kept her photograph to bear him company. While Alice and she had been wandering about from pension to pension Hector had always been there on his mountain-top.

"We must hurry," she said, "or it will be dark before we get home. I hope Uncle John hasn't got into any mischief."

"Why should he?" Alice asked sharply. "But Jean did not reply. (To be continued.)"

REMOVING SUMMER STAINS.

Now is the time one must watch most carefully for fruit stains on the table linen and light dresses. If before sending articles through the laundry all fruit stains are well dampened with alcohol or camphor all traces of discoloration will have vanished after they are washed.

If the children get grease from the car or tractor on their clothes, spread butter or lard evenly over the spots and let it remain until the grease is soft, then wash with soft, soapy water.

To remove blood stains, soak the spots in salt water, wash and rinse in the usual way.

Grass stains may be removed by saturating the spot with kerosene before washing the garment in the usual way.

For tea or coffee stains, soak the stains in cold water, wring, spread out and pour a few drops of glycerine on each spot. Let it stand several hours, then wash with cold water and soap.

In removing iron rust, soak the stain with lemon juice, sprinkle with salt and bleach for several hours in the sun.

Mildew stains should be soaked in a weak solution of chloride of lime for several hours and then rinsed in cold water.

There are some fruit stains that will disappear if the fabric is stretched tightly over the top of a bowl or pan and boiling water is poured slowly on the stained places.

CHOCHECHERRY SANDWICHES.

When our four families gathered for a picnic by a little stream of water under the trees, our chokecherry sandwiches were extremely popular.

It all happened on a rainy day when nothing else could happen. We were making chokecherry jelly, the best jelly in our cellar, when we put our heads together and decided to make chokecherry jam out of the remains.

We squeezed some of the pulp through the sieve and some through the potato ricer and then mixed it with some apple pulp. We added sugar and put the mixture on the stove. The longer it cooked the better it tasted. We stood around the kitchen, spoons in hand, for a good part of the day. Then we cooked it some more, let it stay on the back of the stove all night, and the next morning we tasted it all around again, and made sandwiches of it for the picnic.

Since then we have done some experimenting to find what proportions are best and these are our conclusions: About one-eighth as much chokecherry as apple is best of all. The bitter taste which the cherries on the bushes have turns into a delicate, aromatic one when used as flavoring, and the coloring is rich.

kitchen things stood out as if suddenly illuminated. She had not realized that the two shades would make such a difference.

"I'm getting to be quite a crank about these dark green shades," said the doctor. "In half the kitchens and living rooms of this country women are pottering around in a half-light because they deliberately shut out from twenty-five to fifty per cent. of the daylight with the darkest shades they can buy on the market. If you have to have shades, why not buy them of white, thin, translucent material, such as will admit and diffuse all the light possible when the sun is shining directly upon them, and roll them up out of the way when there is no sun."

"We might as well, doctor," admitted Mary. "I suppose most of us use dark shades partly because we have become used to them and partly because they don't show the dirt. But we could use light ones. We have to have shades, you know. They serve for other things than to keep the sun from looking in."

"Then why not hang them at the lower part of the window. It's quite possible. Don't you realize that the place from which you want light to shine on your work is in the middle. You may blot out the entire lower half of your window without noticing the loss if you will just have a few inches of clear light from the upper part. In doing any work your eyes naturally look down rather than up. Ever notice that? Try reading a newspaper held as much above your eyes as you would usually hold it below and you will realize that your field of vision is much better downward than upward. Use the upper part of your windows. Strip them clear of everything. Let the light come in and you will not realize that you are on the better side of forty."

Mary Drake was not an old woman—only just the other side of forty. It was annoying to find that her work was slowing up because she no longer could see as of old. She said as much to the doctor who stood in her kitchen for a moment after dropping in to see Grandpa Drake.

The doctor's reply was to reach his long arm up to the top of the dark green window shade and lift it from its fastenings; then he crossed to the north window and did the same thing there. To Mary's great surprise her

EUGENE LEPAGE GIVES TANLAC FULL CREDIT

Stomach Trouble Vanishes and Montreal Man Gains 14 Lbs. On Four Bottles.

"Since I began taking this wonderful Tanlac I seem to be getting younger every day. I have gained 14 pounds on four bottles, and everybody speaks about how well I look."

The above statement was made, recently, by Eugene Lepage, proprietor of the Wales Hotel barber shop, Montreal, Canada, one of the most exclusive tonorial parlors in this city. Mr. Lepage further said:

"Stomach trouble had almost completely wrecked my health. I was a mere shadow of my former self and so run-down and nervous I thought I would have to give up my work."

"Tanlac soon had me eating everything, sleeping like a log at night and feeling as fine as one could ask to feel. My only regret is that I did not learn about Tanlac long before I did."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Surnames and Their Origin

KENNEDY
Variations—Kinnity, Kinnity, O'Kennedy.
Racial Origin—Irish.
Source—A nickname.

For the most part, the Irish clan names, which were virtually family names, and have become so absolutely in modern usage, were formed strictly from given names, from the names of those chieftains who first gathered about them a sufficient number of followers to be designated as a clan. But sometimes these chieftains received nicknames, descriptive of some trait or honor achieved, and it was the nickname which became the clan name. This is the case of the Kennedy clan.

The Gaelic designation of this clan is "O'Ceannata," and with the exception of the last syllable, which has naturally become slurred a bit in the Anglicized form of the name, its pronunciation was precisely that of O'Kennedy.

Of the clan was a chieftain named "Fergus" and surnamed "Ceannata" or "long-head" (in the sense of being far-sighted), who flourished about the time of St. Patrick. Thus this clan or family name is about as old as Christianity in Ireland, and antedates the Christianization of Anglo-Saxon England, which was several centuries to the Norman invasion of that country, with the subsequent formation of English family names.

KEATS
Variations—Keet, Ketta.
Racial Origin—English.
Source—Personal characteristic.

By no means have all family names developed from occupations, places of residence or given names of parents. Probably as large a class as any, in English nomenclature at least, developed from nicknames descriptive, or allegedly descriptive, of personal peculiarities.

Such names were given to men in medieval times in exactly the same manner that a small boy is given a nickname to-day by his companions. The difference lies only in the fact that the need for the nickname or descriptive surname was greater in those days than to-day. In this manner such names as Brown and Black have developed, just as boys to-day acquire such names as Reddy or Skinny. The modern boy lives them down eventually, for he has a family name which better serves the purpose of a surname when he grows up. But in medieval times the nicknames were turned into family names, for populations were growing so fast that a given name was not enough to distinguish a man from all of his fellows.

Names in this group were taken from the word "kete," which since has become obsolete. It meant "force" or "bold."

ARCTIC GUARD TO SAVE MUSK OX

GOVERNMENT SENDS AN EXPEDITION.

To Establish Police Offices Within 800 Miles of the North Pole.

In carrying out the task of establishing the sovereignty of the British crown in the Arctic islands which form the northernmost part of the Dominion of Canada, and which in size are equal to the combined territory of Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Northwest Territories Branch of the Canadian Department of the Interior sent the government steamer, the Arctic, last autumn, to within 800 miles of the North Pole to establish permanent police posts and police offices.

These expeditions, which culminated during 1923 in the establishment of a police post at Cape Sabine, on the eastern coast of Ellesmere Island, have been used also for the purpose of conducting examinations of the country by competent scientists and engineers.

At the present time Major Burwash is carrying out an examination into the natural resources of Baffin Land and the islands immediately to the west. He will continue this investigation until next autumn, when the Arctic will pick him up at Cumberland Sound on the east coast of Baffin Land and bring him back to civilization.

In order to expedite the opening up of this country a second vessel, the Franklin, will be taken over by the department, and will make its first voyage this summer.

Three Posts Established.
The three posts which have been established are at Cumberland Sound and Foul Bay, on Baffin Island, and at Cape Sabine, far to the north on Ellesmere Island.

The necessity for the establishment of the post on Ellesmere Island was made manifest by the rapid depletion of the musk ox herds which have their habitat there. It became known that the government regulations under which a musk ox cannot be killed except in the face of starvation were being flouted grossly by Eskimos from Greenland and other foreigners who could cross the narrow channel—Smith Sound and Kennedy Channel—in the winter months, kill the musk oxen and return with the pelts to their native country. Incidentally, Greenland has far outstripped the northern Canadian islands in the exportation of furs.

Police to Enforce Rules.
The government decided that it was time to acquaint the Greenlanders with the fact that Canada is a country with a rigid customs barrier, and if they desire to take Canadian furs back with them they must meet the requirements of the law. Hence the establishment of a Royal Canadian Mounted Police post at Cape Sabine, Inspector Wilcox and six other ranks are stationed there.

This summer the department hopes to establish more posts on some of the islands further to the west. Bathurst Island has been marked but as one of the islands best suited for the purpose because of its central position.

Have You Heard?

That horse's tongue is considered a great delicacy among the peasants of Scotland?

That a form of wireless telegraphy was used in China at the time of Confucius?

That walrus hide, applied lightly to the scalp night and morning, is a sure cure for baldness?

That in certain tropical islands in the Pacific bestroops grow to the height of fifteen feet?

That at the North Pole the temperature frequently is higher than it is in London?

That there exists a tribe of savages in Central Africa having eight fingers on each hand?

That mice suffer greatly from indigestion?

If you have, then someone has been pulling your leg—London Opinion.

GREEN TEA IMPORTS LARGER.

Statistics from Ottawa show that in 1923, 553,977 pounds more Green Tea were brought into Canada than in 1921, and 906,728 pounds more than in 1922. The reason given is that the fine quality Green Teas of India and Ceylon have displaced the inferior Japan and China Greens which, due to their low price, were imported heavily some years ago. Salada Tea Company is the largest importer of India and Ceylon Green Teas.

Stockings which are too long or too tight can do as much harm as badly fitting shoes.

Pride.

Why do I rise at the dawn's early light,
To clean the car after a rain?
When I'm perfectly sure it will be, before night,
Quite dirty and dusty again?
Why do I hasten to give it a bath,
To polish it after a ride?
I'd much rather follow the easier path,
But I can't—it's a matter of pride.

Why do I hunt for a rattle or squeak,
In a most inaccessible spot?
Why am I willing to work for a week,
When the weather is terribly hot?
It's not that I love all the grease and the grime;
That's something I cannot abide;
Moreover, the job takes a lot of my time.
It's merely a matter of pride.

A man may be known by the car he will keep—
The way that he keeps it, I mean;
Perhaps it is one so remarkably cheap,
Or else an expensive machine.

It isn't the money expended that counts,
It isn't the price that's the guide;
It's really the care that he gives—that amounts
To the strength of his personal pride.

—Harold S. Osborne.

Life's Meanings Complicate and Wide.

Life's meanings complicate and wide
Into a narrow compass come
As we approach the sea whose solemn tide
Must bear us home.

A bleak-blown stretch before our eyes,
Some sterile rods of bleak-blown shores,
And we must leave familiar lands and skies
Forevermore.

Earth, with your countless gentle ways,
Sky, with your limitless desires,
Take of us tender love, sincerest praise,
Ere we retire.

Life, with your meanings complicate,
Your sorrow and your bitterness both,
How are we fain to prove our untried fate,
How far we loath!

Friends.

Friends are pearls o' precious price,
That God gives us here on earth;
Bits o' gold from Paradise—
Heaven's jewels o' priceless worth,
Sent to bless us for a while,
With their lovin' ways, an' true
With the sunshine o' their smiles—
That God made for me an' you.

We should cherish them above
All things else on this o' sphere,
For they're bringing us their love,
Just to cheer us while we're here;
All the silver an' the gold
In this world o' wealth on end,
Couldn't buy for us, or hold
One true, honest, lovin' friend.

They are given you an' me—
Gifts o' love from Heaven's heart—
To be with us, an' to be
Of our lives a lovin' part;
We should thank the Lord each day,
For the blessings that He sends,
An' the love that lights our way—
In the hearts o' lovin' friends.
—James Edward Hungerford.

A SPLENDID LAXATIVE FOR THE BABY

Mothers should constantly be on guard to keep baby's bowels working freely and his stomach sweet, for nine-tenths of the ailments from which little ones suffer are caused by derangements of the stomach and bowels. Baby's Own Tablets are a splendid laxative for the baby. They are mild but thorough; contain neither opiates nor narcotics, and are absolutely guaranteed to be safe and efficient for either the newborn babe or the growing child. By their action on the bowels and stomach they drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; make the dreaded teething period easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prince of Metals.

In the Woolworth Building, New York, which is to-day the world's tallest skyscraper, approximately a million pounds of copper was used for roofings, lifts, pipes, and interior decorations.

Probably few people realize the numerous uses to which copper can be put. But one thing is certain. If the supply failed we should soon be without electric lights and bells, telephones, electric trains and tramcars—to say nothing of copper coinage!

At first glance the amount of copper used in the building trade, in comparison with the quantities of iron and steel, would seem to be negligible; but when one takes into consideration the fact that every motor-car has anything from 10lb. to 200lb. of the metal in its composition, and that there are about 3,000lb. in every railway engine, one can appreciate the extent to which the demand for it is increasing.

Escape.

Let me not be caught in the corn,
Or the waves, or the trees;
Not even a bird will I be
When I die.

Once is enough to be born
Into the kinship of these
Strange, strong things of the sea—
And field and sky.

When I slip the net that swings
Hot from the sun,
And break this tangle of grass,
I will go
As nothing that stirs or stings,
Unborn, undone,
Into the dark, and pass
To things I know.

—Florence G. Jenney.

A REAL NERVE TONIC

Is a Bountiful Supply of Rich Health-Giving Blood.

Sufferers from what medical men speak of as nervous debility find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears and cannot sleep at night. Their hands tremble, the legs feel as if they will give away following a walk or any exertion, and the mind is greatly disturbed by the most trivial incidents.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. To secure this new, rich blood use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which have a direct action on the blood and through it stimulate every nerve and organ in the body. Mrs. Alpheus Merritt, Fenwick, Ont., gives her experience with this medicine as follows:—"I had a nervous breakdown and was in the Welland County Hospital for some time. As I was not improving my husband took me out and took me up to my mother's. I doctor-ed there but it did not help me. Then I returned home, and was again under a doctor's care, but with no better results. I would tremble and get numb all over, and the least noise would affect me. I was quite unable to do my housework, and was in a terrible condition. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and am thankful that I did so, as after taking about a dozen boxes I was again a healthy woman. I have used the pills since while nursing my baby, with equally good results, and I strongly advise other ailing women to try them."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Love Song.

It must have been the wind that stirred my hair;
But all my will
Called it your fingers, not the wind,
I would not look, nor ever shall I know,
Whether the touch that put a score of years
To deepest sleep, and rest beyond all sleep,
Was your shy hand, or just some lost, light wind.
Nothing in all of love was sweet like this—
To let love sleep;
To ride alone the curling, star-lit deep
And know
That love can go;
That there is rest between the day and night,
That time may flow
Like water singing to its stones below,
And laughing to the light.
—Florence G. Jenney.

About the Busy Bee.

The busy bee may not be so busy as she is supposed to be. Entomologists who have been checking the flights of a number of marked bees have found that each insect makes on an average only five or six trips a day for honey, and that each trip lasts only about fifteen minutes. Between trips a bee spends half an hour or more in the hive and gives at least half a day to uninterrupted rest. Moreover, it appears that the hardest workers live about three weeks, whereas some of the lazier ones survive for five months. The discovery will be a great comfort to members of the Sons of Rest everywhere.

Pieces of Eight.

Hidden treasure has always acted as a lure to the adventurers of the world, but though treasure hunts are many, treasure findings are few.

In a great cavern in the cliffs on the Auckland Islands lies the General Grant, which was wrecked in 1866, with 50,000 ounces of gold on board. It is known that the bulk is still within the cave, but expeditions from Australia and New Zealand have been baffled by the undertow and the great combbers.

Somewhere in the East River, U.S.A., is $2,500,000 in gold. It has lain there since 1780, when the British frigate Huzzar, carrying money for the Royal forces engaged in the American War, struck a rock opposite the upper end of Randall Island and sank only a hundred yards from shore. Lovers of romance, too, will find food for dreams in the thought that on the mainland of Panama is a great store of gold hidden by Sir Francis Drake after he had sacked the city of the same name. The treasure was never retrieved, and no one knows where to look for it.

He Forgot.

Mike and Pat were "gentlemen of the road." It was not often they were lucky enough to secure such satisfactory quarters as they had on this particular night, but a kind-hearted gentleman had given them a very cosy bedroom over the stables.

When the pair were comfortably lying in bed with the light out Pat suddenly got up and struck a match. He had a good look around, then blew out the match and lay down again.

"Why did you do that?" asked Mike. "Oh," replied Pat, "you see, I forgot whether I blew the candle out or not, so I just looked to see."

High Living.

Early mountaineers, says the leader of the third attempt to climb Mount Everest, feared lest they should collapse at an altitude much less than that which warranted any such fear. He believes that almost anyone can remain for long periods at heights of twenty-one thousand feet or more if he is not afraid. When European men were supporting at the top of Mont Blanc—science were debating whether life Blanc—at an altitude of less than sixteen thousand feet—there was a road over a pass in India nineteen thousand feet high that had been in constant use for centuries.

The evil wound is cured, but not the evil name.

CUTICURA HEALS LARGE PIMPLES

On Face, Itched and Burned. Lost a Great Deal of Sleep.

"I had pimples on my face for several months. They were hard and large, and the skin was sore and red. The itching and burning almost set me crazy at night and I lost a great deal of sleep. The breaking out caused disfigurement. I tried many different remedies but found no relief. I almost despaired of help when I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Annie Fischer, Box 45, Hutton, Saskatchewan.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap and occasional touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soften, soothe and heal. They are ideal for the toilet, as is also Cuticura Talcum.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARVEY MILLIGAN, Sydenham, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

NEUHAUS—WEBER

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neuhaus, (nee Bertha Weber,) recently arrived from Swormville, N. Y., on their honeymoon trip. A reception dinner was given in their honor at the bride's brother, Mr. William Weber, Elora road, Carrick. Followed by a Reunion at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. D. Kuntz, Culrose, there were present the bride's father, Mr. Math. Weber, also four brothers and their family and many nieces and nephews and some other friends. The young couple left for Kitchener to visit their uncle. They carried with them the best wishes from their many friends for a happy journey through matrimonial life. On their return they will make their home in Buffalo, N. Y.

A pretty wedding occurred at St. Mary's church at Swormville on Tuesday morning, June 24, 1924, when Miss Bertha M. Weber, daughter of Mr. Mathias Weber of Formosa, Ont., became the bride of Mr. Fred N. Neuhaus of Swormville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Dehlinger at 8 a. m.

The bride's gown was of peach embroidered georgette over yellow. She wore a large leghorn hat adorned with yellow flowers and with ties the color of her gown. She carried a large bouquet of sunburst roses. Her only attendant, Miss Genevieve Neuhaus, the groom's sister, wore a gown of blue georgette and a leghorn hat with blue flowers and ties. Her bouquet was of pink and orchid sweet peas. The groom's attendant was his cousin, Mr. Edward Neuhaus.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom left for a trip to Formosa, Ont., where they will visit J. D. Kuntz and other relatives of the bride.

After a week's stay there, they will go to Port Huron, Mich., to visit Mr. Neuhaus' sister, Mrs. Edward Hanel. They take with them in their new life the best wishes of many friends.
