REICHSTAG HENCEFORTH TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR WAR AND PEACE

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS HAVE REACHED A CRITICAL POINT, SAYS CHANCELLOR MAX.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 23.—Peace conversations between Berlin and Washington have reached a critical point, according to Prince Maximilian, German imperial chancellor, speaking before the Reichstag yesterday. In the course of his address he stated that the debate on the situation arising from the exchange of notes between himself and President Wilson, would be restricted as much as possible.

The German people must not be blindly brought to a conference table, said the chancellor. The German people today have the right to ask if peace is realized on the basis of President Wilson's conditions what they mean for our future. Our answer to the president's question must be framed on the German people's understanding of that question. What it now wants is clearness.

HOUR OF DEFEAT FOR ENEMY WILL STRIKE SOON, SAYS FRENCH PRESIDENT

PARIS, Oct. 23.—President Poincare visited Lille yesterday and received an enthusiastic ovation. In reply to the address of welcome the president said that the hour of defeat for the enemy will strike soon. The party then went to Roubaix. During an address there, President Poincare said that no peace was possible without the return of Alsace and Lorraine, to France. At Douai the president was met by the British Prince of Wales.

GERMAN STATE OF AUSTRIA CREATED

BASEL, Oct. 23.—The German-Austrian deputies in the Austrian Reichstag have formed an assembly for the purpose of conducting the affairs of the Germanic people in Austria and have issued a declaration announcing the creation of a German state of Austria. Measures are being taken to carry into effect the proclamation of Emperor Charles, conferring independence on Hungary. It is reported that Count Julius Andrássy will be Hungarian foreign minister. Hitherto Austria and Hungary, although having separate ministers for the administration of internal affairs, have had one minister in common for each of the departments of Foreign Affairs, War and Finance. Count Andrássy is the former premier of Hungary and has figured prominently in the efforts toward peace.

FRENCH PENETRATE THREE MILES ON SERRE RIVER

EVACUATION MUST PRECEDE ARMISTICE PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The statement was authorized today that there is nothing in Germany's latest communication to alter the decision of the president that he will not propose an armistice to the Allies before the Germans evacuate all occupied territory.

IMPROVEMENT IN INFLUENZA SITUATION

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—Reports for Ontario, with the exception of Ottawa and surrounding districts, today show considerable improvement in the influenza epidemic situation. In Toronto the record of deaths which yesterday was somewhat alarming, indicates today a much smaller number for the twenty-four hours. On the whole, health officials are fairly confident that the disease is passing its peak in most parts of the province.

Wedding Bells

McKEOWN—PITTS

At Kew Beach Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon, October 19th, the marriage was solemnized of Dorothy Mary (Dodo), daughter of Mr. Alfred Pitts, Cedar Avenue, Balm Beach, to Charles Keith McKeown, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McKeown, Toronto. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. J. Stewart, assisted by Rev. Robert Herbison of Richmond Hill. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father. She wore a travelling suit of trench brown velour, chestnut brown velvet hat and crossed fox furs (the gift of the groom) with a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Hazel Cromarty played the wedding march and during the signing of the register Miss Jeanette Stevenson sang "Love's Coronation." Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McKeown left for western points to spend their honeymoon and upon returning to the city they will reside at 514 Bathurst street, Toronto. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Geo. R. Brown, Sidney street.

WHEN WILL WE PASS THE CREST?

When will the worst be over? When will the crest of the influenza wave be past? These are questions that are being anxiously asked by multitudes of sufferers from the plague or by those who fear they may soon become victims. The questions are difficult to answer.

In New York the pestilence has been raging for five weeks and still the number of cases shows a daily increase. The same is true of nearly all large centres of population along the east coast where the epidemic obtained an early start.

There is no doubt that the disease is decidedly on the increase in Belleville although it has been bad enough for a whole week past. In all probability we may look for at least two or three weeks yet of progressive virulence before the contagion begins to subside.

This looks like cold comfort, but it is better to prepare for what may be before us than to go on deceiving ourselves that Spanish influenza is a joke or a disease whose dangers lie chiefly in the imagination.

The city hospital is now overcrowded and the faithful but sadly depleted band of nurses grievously over-worked. A number of families in the city are all prostrated with the disease and are unable to procure nurses or help.

We are of the opinion that the Council and Board of Health should take immediate steps to procure temporary hospital accommodation. More urgent appeals should be issued for volunteer nurses. Mr. L. C. Yeomans, who has just returned from Ottawa, has told The Ontario of a splendid work being done by amateur nurses to assist in coping with the scourge in that city. We would like to see something of the same kind done here. There is the greatest necessity for it.

The famous gripe epidemic of 1889 was here and away in two or three weeks, except for a few sporadic cases. The present visitation, however, is far more deadly and more tenacious of its hold on the community. It is the part of wisdom to deal promptly with the situation in the adequate manner that its seriousness demands.

HEROES WHO FOUGHT NO BATTLES

All Belleville will mourn with those two lonely mothers, Mrs. Dillow and Mrs. Cox, who left this city yesterday on their melancholy journey to McKeesport, Pennsylvania. With them, on the same train, were two baskets containing the mortal remains of their two sons, who were two cousins, Ete. Edgar Dillow and Pte. Henry Cox. These two cousins, belonging to the Depot battalion, the one twenty and the other twenty-one years of age, had passed away within a few hours of one another at the city hospital from the deadly pneumonia, now so prevalent. Pte. Henry Cox was an only child. These two young men were English by birth but had spent the greater part of their lives on this side of the ocean. They were denied the glory and the sombre satisfaction that comes from death amid the sustaining clamor of battle but their sacrifice was no less willing and no less great. No hero has any greater gift to lay upon the altar of his country than his life. This finality of sacrifice these two valiant, young British-born Americans performed freely, uncomplainingly, regretting only the bereaved ones left behind and that they were not permitted to achieve their full share in the extermination of Hunnish brutality and despotism. Their heroism was none the less real because it failed to reach its full fruition.

MISS L. M. MONTGOMERY

We wish to thank most heartily our special contributor, "Wayfarer", author of those bright, versatile, impressionable and scholarly weekly talks in The Ontario, under the heading of "Thoughts by the Way", for her kindly words of appreciation of our articles published a few weeks ago, descriptive of our tour of the Maritime provinces. She inquires if we had read Miss Montgomery's latest book, "Anne's House of Dreams", before our visit to Prince Edward Island, "The Garden of the Gulf." We regret to admit that we had not done so. We have read Miss Montgomery's two earlier books, "Anne of Green Gables" and "Anne of Avonlea", but our limited spare time has not yet permitted a perusal of the later work. We must confess that we greatly admire Miss Montgomery's literary style, with its vividness of imagination, delicacy of touch, originality of design and appealing humor. Her "Anne Shirley" we regard as quite the most winsome and outstanding character that has yet been created by any Canadian writer of fiction. We are sorry that our hurried tour of only two days about the Island did not permit a visit to Miss Montgomery's former home at Cavendish and the scenes that have become a part of her delightful works of romance. Miss Montgomery, as most of our readers are aware, is now Mrs. (Rev.) Ewan Macdonald and has a wee family of her own and a home at the village manse at Leaskdale, Ontario.

Miss Montgomery's first book, "Anne of Green Gables", met with a phenomenal sale, hundreds of thousands of copies having been disposed of in a short time. "Anne of Avonlea" sold almost as rapidly.

Miss Montgomery is also a poet of merit and distinction. Her volume, "The Watchman and Other Poems", issued in 1916, met with ready welcome, and like her prose work shows a joyous outlook upon life, wholesomeness of sentiment and rare facility of expression. Her "When the Dark Comes Down", "Sunrise Along the Shore", "Of the Fishing Ground", "The Old Man's Grave" and "The Old Home Calls" are becoming very popular.

Lucy Maud Montgomery was born at Clifton, Prince Edward Island, but lived from her infancy at Cavendish, in the same province. Her father was Hugh John Montgomery of Park Corner, P.E.I., a son of Hon. Donald Montgomery, senator, and her mother, Clara Woolner Macneill, of Cavendish, a great-granddaughter of Hon. William Macneill, speaker. Hector Macneill, the minor Scottish poet, author of the popular lyrics, "I Lo'ed ne'er a Laddie but Anne", "Saw Ye My Wee Thing?", and "Come Under my Plaidie", was a first cousin of her great-grandfather.

Until sixteen years of age she attended the "district" school in Cavendish and then went to Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, for a year, taking a course for a first-class teacher's license. Later, she attended for one winter, Dalhousie College, Halifax, taking special courses in English and in languages.

"Anne of Green Gables" was published in 1908. "Anne of Avonlea" appeared a year later. In 1911 Miss Montgomery married. To supply the eager demand seven other books have followed the first two, "Kilmeny of the Orchard", 1910, "The Story Girl", 1911, "Chronicles of Avonlea", 1912, "The Golden Road", 1913, "Anne of the Island", 1915, "The Watchman and Other Poems", 1916, and "Anne's House of Dreams", 1918.

Of Miss Montgomery's first book Mark Twain wrote, "Anne of Green Gables" is the sweetest creation of child life yet written."

SHOULD INFLUENZA CASES BE QUARANTINED?

A correspondent, "Reader", in a well written and reasonable letter in Wednesday's "Ontario" asks the question if we think cases of Spanish influenza, in view of the very contagious character of the disease, should not be quarantined.

The question is a fair one and worthy of careful consideration. All cases of smallpox are sedulously quarantined, yet of the many hundreds of cases of that disease in Ontario in the past fifteen years there have not been more than half-a-dozen that have had a fatal termination. Spanish influenza, on the other hand, will, if it persists a few weeks longer, cause more deaths to Canadians than have been occasioned by four years of war.

Notwithstanding the extremely virulent and deadly character of this new influenza as compared with scarlatina and smallpox, which are always subjects for quarantine, but which are trifling in the loss of life they bring about, we would state frankly to "Reader" that we do not see how it is possible to set up or maintain with the Spanish "flu" a strict or effective quarantine.

We do not know of any town or city where close quarantine has been attempted. In London, Ontario, we note by yesterday's despatches that a regulation has been put into force making it a punishable offence for all persons with colds, coughs or influenza to leave their homes. This is supplemented by another regulation making it illegal for a person to sneeze or cough in public without covering the face. The law against spitting on the streets or in public places is also to be enforced in the most rigorous manner.

Such regulations as these are, we think, as far as it is practical to go. To these might be added a proviso making it illegal for a subject of influenza to leave his home until his physician declared him free from the disease.

There are special difficulties in the way of quarantining Spanish influenza. In the first place the period of incubation is extremely short. It does not come on the patient with the leisurely progress of smallpox or measles but generally with very slight premonitory symptoms or almost at a bound. A man may be stricken with the "flu" while walking along the street or while eating his dinner and, inside half an hour be intensely ill. In its early stages it may easily be mistaken for common cold, the sneezing and chills being symptomatic of both. Some people take it so mildly as to be scarcely sick at all. They do not call a physician but go on about their work and thus pass the disease along to others who may develop it in its aggravated or fatal form. The pandemic or exceedingly wide-spread nature of the disease, with nearly every household having one or more victims, is another big difficulty in the way of quarantine.

The Local Government Board of London, England, has handed out the following four practical suggestions:

"The sick should be separated from the healthy. This is especially important in the case of first attacks in a locality or household.

"The sputa of the sick should, especially in the acute stage of the disease, be received into vessels containing disinfectants. Infected rooms and articles should be cleansed and disinfected.

"When influenza threatens, unnecessary assemblages of persons should be avoided.

"Buildings and rooms in which many persons necessarily congregate should be efficiently aerated and cleansed during the intervals of occupation.

It has now been absolutely established that Spanish influenza is a new disease and entirely distinct from the old-time influenza that visited Canada in 1889-90. The germ causing ordinary gripe was discovered and isolated by Professor Pfeiffer during the last great epidemic of that disease.

The specific microbe causing Spanish influenza has been proved to be a new species and distinct in every particular from Pfeiffer's bacillus, by the researches of three surgeons with the British army in France, Captains L. R. Little, C. J. Garafalo and F. A. Williams of the Canadian Mobile Bacteriological Laboratory, attached to the British base-hospitals.

The new malady is distinguished from the old influenza by greater malignancy, a sharper fever, higher temperature, but of shorter duration. The total course of the new scourge is briefer with a greater tendency to pneumonia complications but with less disturbance of the digestive tract.

Spanish influenza seems also to be more strictly propagated by personal contact or by being in the vicinity of a person who already has the disease and does not appear capable of disseminating itself for any considerable distance through the air. The influenza of 1889-90 would often affect a whole town in a few hours.

As far as we have been able to observe, or learn by consulting the best authorities who have so far written upon the subject, the Spanish influenza is spread from person to person by discharges from the nose and the throat in the process of sneezing and coughing. There does not appear to be any great danger of people who have been exposed to it carrying the infection about in their clothing as is the case with diphtheria and smallpox. But it is highly contagious and communicable from person to person when one of the parties has it in its active stage.

In view of the above facts, therefore, we would say to "Reader", that while strict quarantine is not practical with this disease, it is quite feasible to obtain a reasonable segregation or isolation of those who have the "flu" in a more or less acute form. Every patient who has the disease should be compelled to stay in until he has completely recovered. Those who have not had the disease should stay away from it with quite as strict caution as if we were having an epidemic of smallpox.

If you are sick with influenza, keep by yourself. If you are well, stay by yourself and avoid taking it.

If you contract influenza observe the three brief rules laid down by Dr. Hastings, M.H.O. for Toronto: "Take a laxative; go to bed; send for the doctor."

SUCCESS

What is your idea of success? On Saturday afternoon we went to Trenton to attend the funeral of a woman whose work in life came very close to filling our ideal of success. She was not one of the wealthy residents of the town. She was not a leader in society. Her name was not coupled with the membership list of any of the women's societies, nor was her name generally known outside of the confines of the immediate circle in which she made her home. She had neither wealth, elevated social position nor any of the more sought-after honors. She kept a small grocery store in the eastern suburbs of Trenton. She achieved no exalted station in life. And yet her career was, in our estimation, a shining success. The little gathering of friends who assembled at the home on Saturday afternoon to do reverence to her memory felt indeed that a true, gentle, Christian spirit had taken its departure from earth and that this world was a poorer place because of the absence of her example and unassuming ministrations.

Evangelist Thomas Rich, in his brief reference to the life that had closed, said that no one had ever come to her door, at any hour of the day or night, in need of assistance, and had been turned away.

We knew this lady years ago as the wife of a school teacher. Her husband was struggling along on a mere pittance of a salary such as was then paid by the poorer country schools and was endeavoring to bring up a family of six children in respectability and at the same time to keep even with the world. Of the economies practiced by the housewife in the endeavor to make ends meet, no one who did not know the innermost family circle could ever realize. And yet the children always went abroad decently clothed and had no reason to feel ashamed to mingle with their neighbors. Only an amazing capacity for business-like management could have brought about so remarkable a result with such slender means.

We wish to speak more particularly however, of the characteristic that called forth the tribute from Mr. Rich. No one ever sought her assistance in vain in case of illness. She was a Florence Nightingale of the rural settlements.

When will Ontario learn to do proper homage to those noble women, who, before the days of professional nurses, went about on their errands of relief and mercy? We have known these Florence Nightingales to leave their homes in the midst of driving storms, at the darkest hours of the night, in order to answer the call of some neighbor who sorely needed assistance. These untrained nurses were present with the mothers in the agony of childbirth; they came when any members of the household suffered from disease, contagious or otherwise; they helped to ease the bed of the dying and to close their eyes in death. Their natural skill and long experience was often more fruitful of beneficent results than all the academic acquirements of the regular physician. But at the particular time and place to which we refer the doctors lived at some distance and telephones were unknown. The amateur nurse was oftentimes the sole dependence.

For all this great work for humanity we never knew of one of these neighborhood nurses to ask or to receive or to look for one cent of remuneration. They sought no other reward than the knowledge of duty done. Their pay was in the unstinted gratitude of those whom they had ministered to and benefited.

Ian MacLaren in his "Doctor MacLure" has immortalized the noble work of self-sacrifice of the country physician. When will we have a writer whose pen will do adequate justice to that great, unrewarded labor of love of the pioneer nurses of the rural settlements of Ontario?

Two things stand lyke stone— Kindness in another's trouble, Courage in your own."

These words of an old English poet form a fitting epitaph for Mrs. Adelaide Ely, whose life was a continuous benediction.

And we speak of such a life as a success because it was a big, full, fruitful life, replete with acts of kindness, magnificent in its courage, and rich in all the things that make life worth living.

THANKSGIVING HYMN

When in thy dawn of grace Was in its dawn of splendor, A nation on its knees, With chastened hearts and tender, Besieged Thy mercy-seat With many an earnest plea, And trusting in Thy truth Cast all its care on Thee.

In lowly, grateful love We kneel today before Thee, For mercies manifold To praise Thee and adore Thee. On many a hill and plain We scattered wide our seed; The sunshine and the rain Thou gavest at our need.

Our hands, now clasped, have reaped Full harvest of our sowing. Our fruits are gathered in, Our barns are overflowing. We hold these gifts in trust From Thee from whom they came. With voices love-attuned We magnify Thy name.

We thank Thee for the love That answered to our calling. When, set in slippery ways, Our feet were kept from falling. When duty's clarion voice Called forth our manhood's flower, We thank Thee that unashamed They met their testing-hour.

We thank Thee for the hope That in the midst of sorrows Can catch the dawning gleams Of beautiful tomorrows. And so with clearer faith Our Promised Land we see. And holding fast Thy hand Press on to victory.

ST. THOMAS CITIZENS WEARING GAUZE MASKS

St. Thomas, Oct. 21.—Physicians reported today to the St. Thomas Board of Health that the influenza is still spreading and that there is a shortage of nurses. Miss Hobson, who is the head of the St. John Ambulance Corps in this city, called a meeting of the nurses. About fifty were addressed by Dr. T. T. Gray on their duties in the care of influenza patients. A lecture will be given each day by Dr. Gray for a week to these voluntary nurses. The citizens are wearing gauze masks on the streets and the workers in the local factories are all using these as a preventive.

Mr. Miriam Long, road master of the C.P.R. in Belleville, is leaving town to accept a similar position at Hamilton and will be succeeded here by Mr. John Telford, Havelock.

Obituary

JAMES G. NUGENT

James Gillespie Nugent, vice president of B. Nugent & Bro. Dry Goods Co., died of nephritis at St. Louis, Mo., on October 15th. He had not been in robust health for about a year, but had continued to go to his place of business up to five weeks ago. He was 64 years old.

He came to St. Louis in 1877, joining his brothers, Byron and Daniel C., who had established at Broadway and Franklin a merchandise business which has since grown to the present establishment on Broadway at Washington avenue and at St. Charles street. He became actively interested in the firm in a managerial capacity and when it was incorporated in 1899 he was elected vice president, in which he continued until his death.

Mr. Nugent acted as superintendent of the Nugent store for many years, spending much of his time on the store floors. He consequently became personally known to thousands of shoppers.

He was much admired by his employees, who learned to look to him for many movements in their behalf. The Nugent store will be closed on the day of his funeral.

Mr. Nugent was born in Prince Edward County, Ontario, Canada, in 1852. He was married to Miss Lily Patton in Mount Vernon, Ill., in 1886.

He was born in Belleville, and leaves his wife and three children, one daughter and two sons. Two brothers, Wesley of Belleville, and Frank of Buffalo, besides his parents in Buffalo. Capable Young Nurse Passes From Works to Reward

Miss Queenie Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gardner of Bayville, had passed to the Great Beyond, she was a victim of the prevailing epidemic and although the city's best doctors were called in consultation their efforts were in vain.

About two years ago Miss Gardner took up her duties as a nurse-in-training at the Belleville General Hospital and in a short time had proven her ability as a student of exceptional merit. With cheerfulness, a kind heart and devotion to duty, she won the respect and admiration of those associated with her on the hospital staff, and a lasting friendship with the many patients she had nursed from sickness to health.

Until a short time before her death she remained on duty, administering to the suffering, dropping a word of cheer to each as she passed from ward to ward on her errand of mercy, little thinking that in so short a time she would be called from works to reward, from a world of sorrow to a home beyond the skies. And thus at the early age of twenty years, a young life that gave promise of so much usefulness in the service of Humanity, has been cut short. Verily we are led to exclaim:

"Our life is but a fading dawn, It's glorious noon has quickly past; Lead us, O Christ, when all is gone, Safe home at last."

Miss Gardner received her education at the Bayville Public school and in due time passed into High School, receiving her diploma. She took a timely interest in all good work, becoming a member of Bayville Sabbath School, Epworth League, and for a number of years sang in the church choir.

The funeral service was conducted at White's Methodist church by Rev. Mr. Wallace, Baptist minister, Belleville. A very impressive sermon was preached from the text: "Yes, though I walk through the valley of the Shadow of Death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me." Miss Forman of Belleville, sang beautifully. "There is no night there," and the Baptist church quartet, "Peace perfect peace." Among the floral contributions were wreaths, Mrs. Gardner's mother, of Trenton; Mr. L. Mallory, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beale, and Misses Graham, Humble, Carson and Rhodes, of Trenton; Sheaf, by Mr. Douglas Gunn.

The nursing staff of Belleville Hospital were represented by Miss McKim, Miss Howard and Miss Richards.

The pall bearers were L. Mallory, E. Wilson, F. Jeffrey, R. Bryant, D. Gunn and R. E. Finkle.

Interment at White's cemetery.

The heartfelt sympathy of a wide circle of friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner in this hour of their sad bereavement.

C.P.R. Consents to Reinstatement of Strikers

Senator Robertson Called Conference To Discuss Situation

In view of the growing seriousness of the freight handlers' strike in Western Canada, Senator Gideon Robertson Thursday had conferences with representatives of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as a result of which the company has consented to an adjustment of the difficulties on a basis more favorable to the men than hitherto proposed. The company agrees to reinstate all the men on strike outside the city of Calgary, and at least 75 per cent of those on strike at Calgary, the remaining 25 per cent to be dealt with by the company. The company agrees when the men return to work to submit all matters in dispute to the Railway Adjustment Board. Senator Robertson has forwarded the companies' proposal to Mr. Carr of Winnipeg, the representative of the men, whom he has requested to advise him as to whether or not the men are agreeable to the proposal as a basis of settlement of the strike. "My own view," said Senator Robertson, "is that the men would be well advised to accept an adjustment of the matter on this basis because other questions remaining in dispute can be satisfactorily settled by the Railway Adjustment Board."—Ottawa Journal Press.

Sends For 400 Doses Vaccine

Dr. Clinton to Get Supply for Belleville—Nurses Inoculated.

The influenza epidemic has shown no signs of abating in Belleville. Yesterday and today a very large death list was reported. Should its high rate of mortality continue many days Belleville will lose as many citizens by influenza and pneumonia as she has lost in over four years of war.

Sunday was a day unique in Belleville. The streets were deserted, the weather having put motoring out of question. It is the first day that Belleville did not have church service.

Dr. Clinton, District Officer of Health, has sent for 400 doses of serum to be shipped to Belleville. This, he states, is a preventative, not a curative.

The nurses at the hospital are being inoculated against influenza, and steps are being taken to inoculate the soldiers.

An influenza vaccine has been discovered at the Provincial Laboratories of Health. This is being sent as fast as possible to hospitals and as manufactured, to hospitals and medical men of the Province to protect nurses and doctors against the disease, so that they may carry on their work.

Gay Life Shut Off in Chicago

The Cabarets and all Forms of Entertainment and Social Affairs Are Banned

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 21.—With the proclamation of the State Influenza Commission, forbidding all public gatherings not essential to the war, in effect today, Chicago loses the last bit of its remaining gay life, the cabarets. The order shuts off all forms of entertainment in places of the sort, whether "wet" or "dry." The order now in the hands of the police officials for enforcement puts an end to banquets, dinners, club parties and similar social affairs, also athletic contests, indoors and out. Spectators were kept from all the court rooms and in many barber shops the barbers wear white masks while shaving or cutting the hair of customers.

FARMER ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Kitchener, Oct. 21.—Abram C. Hallman, of near Breslau, succumbed to the injuries sustained yesterday by a fall from the top of a silo to the solid cement floor, a distance of thirty-five feet, fracturing his ankle and causing internal injuries. The deceased was one of the most prominent farmers in Waterloo County, and for years has been a pioneer member of the Holstein Fresian Association of Canada. He was a scientific farmer, and his services were in demand in all parts of the Dominion as a judge of cattle at the big fairs in Toronto, Ottawa and Winnipeg. He was a former member of the Township and County Councils. He was about sixty years of age and is survived by his widow.

Judgment in icy Sidewalks

Interesting Case Disposed of by Judge Deroche in Which Town of Deseronto Was Sued for Damages

The following case of McAree vs. Town of Deseronto is of such interest to all municipalities that we reproduce in full the able summing up of the law bearing on the case by His Honor Judge Deroche: Judgment.

Aside from the wording of the notice served on Mayor Rixen, I am satisfied there is no cause for action in this matter.

The particular spot where the plaintiff fell and broke her ankle was on a well-constructed cement walk, level, except the usual fractional slant to shed water. It was, therefore, (as some of the witnesses testified) in perfect condition as to construction and repair except as it might have been affected by snow and ice.

At the time of the injury the ice covered the walk, as it covered all level cement walks in the town, and owing to the long-continued cold weather was very smooth.

The fall of the plaintiff was on Thomas street, a level street, but only a few feet from George street, which is quite a hill both before and after reaching Thomas street. St. George street is spoken of as a very dangerous street in winter, owing to the great slope of the walk, and the St. George-Thomas street crossing is spoken of as a bad crossing, but due entirely to the St. George street and not due to any special danger on Thomas street. As Mr. Radford, clerk of the town and police magistrate, said in his evidence, the moment a step off St. George on Thomas special danger ceases.

On these facts I make quotations from German vs. City of Ottawa, 39 O.L.R. 176, which has been affirmed in 56 S.C.R. Mr. Justice Rose at page 185 says: "Snow or ice upon a sidewalk, whether sanded or scraped or not, is not per se evidence of want of repair; and, even if it is the direct cause of an injury, does not necessarily give rise to a cause of action. Why? Because the statute says it is not per se want of repair." So the fact that the level slipping on that ice and that the broken ankle is not sufficient in itself to make a corporation liable.

Chief Justice Meredith at page 180 of the same case says: "Negligence alone gives no right of action; that is so expressly provided, 'now, in the statute creating the duty, (3) except in case of gross negligence a corporation shall not be liable for any personal injury caused by snow or ice upon a sidewalk.' Municipal Act, sec. 469. This provision of the enactment was passed to curtail the right of action, for injuries caused by snow or ice upon a 'highway,' which, it had been held, the Act had given; and, being remedial legislation, must be given full effect as such."

But even though the ice being in this condition might be considered gross negligence, if nothing were done to overcome it, there is the evidence of the mayor and chairman of roads that abundance of sand had been provided by the corporation for use on dangerous portions of the sidewalks caused by snow or ice. Also a street commissioner was employed, with two men under him, with instructions to see that the same was properly used. Also the evidence of the street commissioner that he and his men did use the sand and that this particular street was sanded on Saturday and again Sunday afternoon as the accident occurred Sunday evening. I am satisfied on the evidence of the street commissioner this was done but the high winds had carried off most of the sand at the time of the accident. Can there, therefore, be said to be gross negligence or even ordinary negligence on the part of the corporation?

I quote again from the judgment of Chief Justice Meredith in the same case at page 180: "what is ordinarily considered a neglect of duty is negligence; and what is ordinarily considered a great neglect of duty is gross negligence." This paragraph of the judgment clearly shows that there is a distinction between negligence and gross negligence. Again, at page 182: "The appellants' duty was not to insure the respondent's safety from accident and injury. Their duty was to take all reasonable means to keep the highway in repair; to do that which reasonable men charged with such duty would do in the performance of it in order to keep the highway in a condition sufficient for the needs of the traffic over it." And at page 184: "In my opinion, there was no evidence of negligence, not to speak of gross negligence, on the part of the appellants; but, on the contrary, there was uncontradicted evidence that the appellants took more than ordinary care to keep the highways in Ottawa in repair generally, and especially during the unusually trying weather conditions immediately before and at the time of the respondent's unfortunate accident."

These latter words, it seems to me, might well be applied to the facts in this case.

I therefore find no gross negligence on the part of the defendant corporation; it is therefore not liable in this action.

It is not necessary, under the circumstances, to consider the sufficiency of the notice of action served, but I might add that the original notice, which could not be found the day of the trial, has since been sent to me and corresponds exactly with the copy put in by the corporation.

It damages were to be allowed, I think $100 would be quite sufficient. The action is dismissed with costs.

REDNERSVILLE

While influenza has been making its inroads in so many of our Canadian burghs, we have been peculiarly free here. And really, Mr. Editor, we believe that it is not at all due to the quantity or quality of "good whiskey" in our midst, either!

Thanksgiving Day will not be easily forgotten in this community as a number of our citizens had near relatives in the danger zone about Trenton. The explosions were very distinctly heard here and the fire plainly seen.

Miss Annie Anderson, of Toronto, spent several days with her parents, following Thanksgiving, and remained for the funeral of her father, the late W. E. Anderson. The passing of "Capt. Ed." as he was often called, leaves a real gap. He was a hard worker, very progressive in his views and methods, and of an exceptionally broad community spirit.

Mr. Fred Redner has been so ill as to be confined to his bed for some time but is slowly recovering. We are glad Mrs. H. Lovelace is also somewhat better.

The Standard Bank of our village is open each Wednesday now. We feel sure that business here will merit more general service.

Our canning factory is still working part time and semi-staff.

Miss Sharpe and several friends spent Thanksgiving with her parents at the parsonage.

Mr. E. Thompson, of Colborne, visited his son, E. Thompson, the new merchant, recently.

Sunday's rain was responsible for a real gasless Sunday, and the evening service was cancelled. Friday evening bids fair to see a very interesting meeting, however, as Mr. W. Anderson is to give a talk on "The Responsibility of Citizenship to Boys and Young Men" and "The Value of Education to Girls" is to be discussed by our school teacher, Miss Anderson. There is to a contest also in which all are asked to take part.

CARMEL

The church and school in this district has been closed for a few weeks. We are glad to report Miss Mac Clarke is able to be out again after her severe cold.

Mr. W. A. Williams has moved to Belleville.

Mr. Chas. Brintnell is very proud of his fine baby boy.

Mr. B. Pitman is suffering from an attack of neuralgia.

Mr. W. A. Williams is at present at Parry Sound with her daughter, who had the misfortune of getting caught under a train. One foot has been amputated, and she still lies in a very critical condition.

Miss Wanda Reid and Miss Mildred Jones are home for a few weeks owing to the schools being closed in Belleville.

Mr. M. Jones spent Thanksgiving visiting friends in Belleville. Mrs. C. R. Foster and Master Earle Gilbert are spending a few days at Corbyville.

MELVILLE

No longer Autumn's gold and red upon the forest hills are shed. For Autumn's dress is frayed and brown.

No summer flowers her tresses crown. And vanished all the regal train That ushered in Queen Autumn's reign.

But in the place of pomp and power She gives our land a wealth of dower— The trees with fruit are bending low, With golden grain the barns o'erflow.

All brown and bent, the shocks of corn. And huckwheat red the fields adorn. While bracing air and sunshine gold Make Autumn's blessings manifold.

Your correspondent is indebted to Mrs. Nellie Carter, formerly of Hillier, now of the U.S. Army Nursing Corps, Base Hospital France, for a subject vitally important to the church at the present time. Some of these were: "Pastoral Visiting", "The Preacher's Library", "Co-operation with Other Churches", "The Rural Problem", "How to Conduct a Quarterly Board", "Professional Evangelism", etc. Every man did his duty and did well.

But possibly better still were addresses by the editor of The Gazette, Mr. Calnan of Picton, urging the pastor to write up articles of interest from time to time, and offering his columns for such for the public good. Then Mr. Benson, inspector of public schools for the county, gave a very valuable talk, showing the relation existing and more possible, between the school and the church. He placed a very high estimate upon the office and opportunity of the ministry and expressed the belief that the time is close at hand when preachers will be better paid, and more highly appreciated. He extended a most cordial and pressing invitation to all ministers to attend the Teachers' Institute in Picton, the following week. (We noted that many accepted, and expressed themselves as very pleased.) The day's events will leave a lasting and beneficial impression, we feel sure, and must surely be productive of better things.

New Jersey, Northamptonland, N.B., Oct. 21st. (Special)—Mrs. Frank Berry, a well-known resident of this place, is just now more added to the host of New Brunswick women who are singing the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills gave relief me," Mrs. Berry says. "I was weak, emaciated and nervous. I would start in my sleep, and had bad dreams and nightmares. I was unable to do my work, my eyes were dull and heavy, and I was troubled with biliousness, headaches and constipation. My hands and feet were always cold, my skin was dry and harsh, and my face was marked with pimples."

"I was always tired and weak, and I knew I had bad kidneys. I took just three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they have done me a world of good. They have cured me."

Mrs. Berry went right to the root of her troubles and treated her kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills. She got results. If you have any of Mrs. Berry's symptoms, and have not tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, ask your neighbors about them.

Blood-Making Medicine

It took centuries for medical science to discover that the blood is the life. Now, it is known that if the blood were always abundant, rich and pure, very few people would ever be ill. It was not until the end of the 19th century that an instrument was invented for measuring the red part of the blood. Then doctors could tell just how anemic a patient had become, and with medicine to make new blood the patient soon got well.

All the blood in the body is nourished and kept rich and red by the food taken daily, but when, for any reason, a person is run down and cannot make sufficient blood from the food to keep the body in health, then a blood-making medicine is required. The simplest and very best of blood-makers suitable for home use by anyone, is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When a course of these pills is taken their good effect is soon shown in an improved appetite, stronger nerves, a sound digestion and an ability to master your work and enjoy leisure hours. For women there is a prompt relief of prevention of ailments which make life a burden. As an all-round medicine for the cure of ailments due to weak, watery blood no medicine discovered by medical science can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Letter to the Editor

Editor Ontario:— Before paying my taxes on Monday last I made inquiries regarding one item of my tax notice—that of Municipal Patriotic Grant—and being informed that this item covered Belleville's contribution to the Patriotic Fund, the Red Cross and the Red Triangle Fund of the Y.M.C.A., I gladly paid my taxes for I have one son who is doing his bit in France. I imagine my surprise on reading your paper last evening to learn that on the very day on which our City Council had collected from our taxpayers, the money to assist the splendid work of our boys overseas, this same Council decided that they would divert this one grant and use it for other purposes.

Now, sir, the wonder to me is that this Council of ours did not appropriate the whole amount as levied for patriotic purposes, for then each member of the Council could have purchased a real good auto for himself, and when our splendid men return, next year, we hope, just think what a civic reception we could give them—our grand procession headed by our civic fathers, each man in "his own car" purchased with municipal Patriotic Fund money—with speeches by Ald. Robinson, Parks and St. Charles, and a brass band led by Ald. Hannan. I tell you, this would be some reception to our men who helped win this great world war!

But, seriously, Mr. Editor, this money was raised for a specific purpose—that of making a grant to the Y.M.C.A. overseas fund, and I know I am speaking for hundreds of taxpayers, whose husbands and sons are today in the front of battle, when I say I protest against this high-handed action on the part of our Council, and I insist upon my contribution as collected by our city tax collector being used for the purpose for which it was collected.

Yours on behalf of our men over-
