THE RICH MAN'S FUNERAL. And there were gathered there, around his lifeless remains, the consolitors, the eloquent orators; and amid those rich partments of old and tapestry, lay in a splendid coffin, all that remained of him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered him, whose ships had whitened every ocean, and who had gathered had been arrested by the stroke of death. A beloved family, a great circle of friends, bent over him in anguish. And I said, Be-forder of the rich more than that of the poor? CELESTIALS IN CALIFORMA. The Chinamon are pouring into California at the rate of 160 to 00 per week, and very few of them abandos the country. The import of them steer their course straight for the mines, and thrive most industriously. There are now about 16,000 of them in Cali-fornia, and nearly all of these are males.—The women do not come, Who would have dreamed, five years ago, that in 1851, a State of this Union would aumher among its useful and industrious inha-fit of them to twenty thousand of the people of the "Central Flowery Land !" It is one of the gamps marries of that marrel-lowe courty—California. A correspondent of the New York Tri-bume says...The Chinese are slow in assuming the American cos-tume. Their clemes there our in a suming the American cos-tume. Their clemes there. They are fond of big boots, and will below submit to a good fit, if they can get a pair of boots of great-tions of mine had a stöck of small boots which he did not know what to do with...a Chinaman, attracted by their cheapness, bought a first of mine had a stöck of small boots which he show the theory and chartemolies shull be fore night. ARSENTIC EATERS IN AUSTRIA.—A poisoning case at Chir has procured the publication of some interesting facts, respecting the arsenic eaters of Lower Austria or Styria. In both these pro-vinces, it appears to be a common custom among the passanity, to consume every morning, a small portion of the deally poison, in the same manner as the eastern world consumes optim. Dr. Techn-di, the well-known traveller, publishes an account of several cases which have come to his knowledge. The habit does not seem to be so peraiciose in its rescits as that of optim-senting. It is com-menced by taking a very small does, any somewhat less than half a grain, every morning, which is gradually increased to two or three grains. The case of a hale old farmer is mentioned, whose morning whet of arsenic, reached the incredible quantity of four grains. The effect is produces, is very curios. The arsenic-enters grow fat and raddy, so much so, that the practice is adopted by lowers of both scres, in order to please their sweethents. It relieves the head and lungs very much, also, when moanting steep hills and eutering into a more rarefield atmosphere. The Augusta Ago, a Maine paper, gives the following description relieves the head and longs very much, also, when moanting steep hills and entering into a more rarefield atmosphere. The Augusta Ago, a Maine paper, gives the following description of one of the piscatory genus recently taken near the mouth of Saco river: The monster was captured at sea by some fishermen, a few weeks since, about twenty miles from the mouth of the Saco river, in Maine. He is sixteen feet long, and when taken weighed eight handred ponds. Any thing like an intelligible description of the monster is impossible—for he is emphatically a nondescript. He has a head somewhat resembling that of a tortoise, fins like a whale, and a tail like a lizzed. His bedy commencing back of the head, grows "small by degrees and benutifully lees," until it finally ter-minates in a flat tai about six feet long, recembling the flat por-tion of an ear, and indoubtedly serves the purpose of propulsion. What is most singular, it had no hones whatever, except its teeth, tail and fins are a sort of cardiaginous substance. It is supposed to be very young. Altogether it is a most wonderful—we cannot say fish-bat "thing." Mr. Clements will establish it in several towns on this river, when he proposes to carry it to Boston to New York. The monstor is worthy the attention of Barnum; he would make a fortune out of it.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.

LAW OF EVIDENCE. The Act of Parliament which alters the law of evidence in England, so that both the plaintiff and the defendant in every cause may be examined as witnesses, came into eperation on the first day of the present mouth. This alteration is the law, appears to be very popular in England, and we give the following spirited and elequent no-tice of this most important change from Dickens's "Household Words."----

The segment of the second seco an excellence; for it is better to be nearly sign than a strong. The working of the County Courts Act in England, which ena-bles all causes under £50 to be tried before a single Jedge, without the intervention of a Jury, or the necessity of employing either Ac-torney or Counsel, harbeen attended with almost unqualified suc-cess. At first the amount was restricted to £20, but the chanpness and simplicity of the form of procedare, and its prompt dealing-out of justice, gave ao much satisfaction, that the amount of the juris-diction has been since extended to Fifty Pounds, with equal advan-tage.

The friends, two nights ago, a very remarkable experiment illus-trative of his theory as to the formation of mountains. He meths nome substances, known only to himself, is a versel, and allows the liquid to cool. At first, it presents an even surface, but a par-tion continues to ozers up from beneath, and radoully elevations are formed, exactly corresponding in shape with those which are found on the earth. - Even to the stratification, the resemblance is complete; and M. Gorai can produce on a small acride, the pheno-mena of volcances and earthquakes. He contends, therefore, that the inequalities on the face of the globe, are be result of certain and then allowed gradually to consolidato. In another and more practically useful field of research, the learned professor has deve-oped some very important facts. He has succeeded in a most sur-prising estant, in preserving animal matter from decay without re-shown by him of portions of the human body, which, writhout any alteration is their natural appearance, have been expessed to the state of the atmosphere for six and seven years; and he states, that at a trilling cost, the cash the is remembered, that the size a discovery, if on a practical investigation it is found to maver, will be more readily understood, when it is remembered, that the size of Australia are boiled down into tallow, their fuels being otherwise almost valueles, and that is about America, vas herds of cattle are annually alagutered for the sale of their hides alone.

The tance of the last advices from the city of Mexico would seem to warrant the expectation that the troubles in the northern depict-ments will be adjusted without further bloedshed. It had previously been stated from Browneylie, that it the concessions were granted, the troops collected on the Rio Grands would probably be disbunded, and the revolutionary party yield to the cauted government.

Mr. M'Aulay Mr. Byrno 61 The issue of the Election at Georgetown has effec-tually removed from that place the strength flectofore attached to 2. No for the first strength flectofore attached to 2. No for the first strength of the hereafter call it a rolles borough; nor is it is prone; for, as we have seen, the partice are all bu. equal. Whether that equality will continue, remains to be pro-to the trial day is not far off; as well for George-ved, and the trial day is not far off, as well for George-town, as for every other constituency. The people eyes are beginning to open, and it is much more than probable, that at future Elections, the Candidates will have to announce the same political opinions that have ensured to Mr. M'Aulay a successful result. It is de-cidedly a triumph of principle, for we believe that as a man, Mr. Byrne is justly esteemed among his fellow-towsmen. The victory is therefore the more to be prized, and confers so much the more honor on the voters of Georgetown; who have been the first to op-pose a system, which, every day serves to shew, is no improvement on the preceding one, and abound: in impediments to good government peculiarly its own. Since writing the above we have read the editorial in the "Royal (Whelan's) Gazette. It is got up in the usual style, and presents a very distorted as well as absolutely untrue account of the Election, and im-putes motives to the voters that exist only in the base mind of the writer. orge

CHARACTER. A misstop may destroy life. One sin may ruis your character. Did you ever reflect on the consequences of a single indulgence in view of the best of mon have failen through the suggestion of another. How careful should you be, while in the freshness of your days, heat a blight fall on your character and ruin you for ever. Abstin to dificult to decide, take the safe course, stay away, and age your reputction. This is a jewel of inestimable value—too precious to be put in jeopardy. No man ever regrets that he kept alcoffrom temp-tation, and to the close of life he expresses his joy that he was asterd from the path of shame, by giving a desided negative, when the past to the close of life he expresses his joy that he was asterd from the path of shame, by giving a desided negative, when the past of the deside through which is in may render by on.
