WON AT LAST.

CHAPTER XXII.

"You must not be hot enough in that," I remarked.

"In this climate of yours?" he retorted, raising his black delicately traced eyebrows, as he held out his slender hands to the blaze of the hall fire. "Is it ever hot here?"

"Oh, yes! About July and August, we're sultry enough, though to be sure, it's rather chilly during the balance of the time. Nat couldn't stand it at all at first—felt it awfully. Are you ready?"

He said "Yes," and we passed out of the hall, striking off into the Lady's Walk to get to the little gate in the park palings which was the readiest way of reaching the lane. The moon was shining brightly and I could not help seeing the glances—very far from being friendly they were—which he kept casting furtively at me. He had looked at me like that more than once in the course of the evening, and now I fancied that I understood why. My familiar allusion to Nat had not pleased him, and I verily believed that he was quite ready to grow jealous of me in default of having anyone else. He had dropped his way of treating me as a boy too. I was taller and broader than he, any way. But his evident suspicions struck me as being so good that I laughed outright, making his dark frown draw his black brows together as he flashed me a look of angry questioning.

"You are amused?" he said, stiffly.

"I beg your pardon," I returned civilly. "I'm sure I don't know what I was laughing at. Which way would you rather go—through the village or round by the river?"

"Which will be the shortest way?" he asked, shivering in spite of the thick coat.

"By the river, a good deal. You see the village is really on a curve, but the river runs straight, and the station is almost in a line with it. By the river, then?"

"I think so," he replied, shivering again, although we were walking briskly. "Is it often as cold as this?"

"Oh, dear, yes!" I said, cheerfully, moderating my pace, for I found that he would soon be breathless trying to keep up with my ordinary one. "We're having it pretty stiff this year. This frost has not broken since the week before Christmas. You don't skate, I suppose?"

"If I know what you mean, it is as

Schoolgirl's Exhausted Nerves

Headaches, Dizzy Spells and Weakness Overcome by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Miss Gallop.

At about the age that most girls are working hardest at school studying for examinations there are important physiological changes taking place which are an additional strain on the nervous system.

Mrs. Gallop has had experience in the cases of her daughter and granddaughter, and for this reason her letter is particularly interesting to parents.

"Mrs. J. A. Gallop, 135 Victoria street, St. John, N.B., whose husband is a carpenter, states:—'We have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in our family for five years. Headaches, dizziness and nervous dyspepsia, and have found them satisfactory in every particular. My daughter Beale was going to school, and became quite run down in health. By the time she had used three boxes of this remedy her nerves were steady, her general health was excellent and she was entirely free from headaches and dizzy spells. We are more than pleased with the results of this treatment.'

"More recently we used the Nerve Food for my granddaughter, who was out of school for nearly a year from nervous troubles and noticed improvement in her condition at once."

Cocoa beans come from nearly every tropical country.

The prices for these beans, as cocoa manufacturers buy them, range from 7c to 30c a pound.

Some of these beans are bitter. Some have a mild flavor. Others have a stronger richness. And there are endless variations.

No one kind of cocoa beans can give the best cocoa flavor. They should be blended.

The choicest, finest-flavored cocoa beans from several countries are used in the Lowney blend.

And m-m-m! How good it tastes!

The rich, full flavor of Lowney's is simply delicious. And coming newly tinned from our Montreal factory it is always fresh.

Sold by grocers. In tins—10c to 50c sizes.

been a startled one. From behind the interlaced snow-covered branches a man came out with such a roughly abrupt movement that the blow he struck my shoulder almost made me stagger. He was very much muffled up; and, what with the thick shawl round his neck and peaked cap drawn tightly down over his brows, I could make nothing of his face but a pair of keen eyes. He looked at us both—at me especially—and then, bending his head forward on his breast, passed rapidly down the river path, and in another instant had disappeared in the darkness.

"Who is it?" Raby St. George asked, staring after him.

"I'm sure I don't know," I returned, for I felt certain that I had never seen that thick-set roughly clad figure before. "A clumsy customer, whoever he is!"

"He knows you," St. George said faintly.

"The dickens, he does!" I exclaimed, astonished at the tone of cool conviction in which he spoke. "What makes you think that?"

"I could see it. Did you observe how he looked at you?"

"He might do that without knowing me," I returned, a little irritated.

"I think you're mistaken. Whoever he is, he doesn't belong to Whittlesford—I know every man and woman in it." We had left the river now, and were almost in sight of the station. "Are you cold?" I asked—for he was shivering again.

"Yes, horribly! Is it far now?"

"No, we shall be there in a couple of minutes," and indeed as I spoke a turn of the road brought us within view of the lights of the Station Hotel.

Raby St. George shook hands at the door, thanked me for walking with him, and took himself upstairs to thaw, his handsome face looking uncomfortably cold and livid in color. I was not sorry to be rid of him. I must confess.

I was tolerably chilly myself through walking so slowly, and put my best foot forward now as I turned back. I went round by the river, choosing it as the shortest way; but, although I kept my eyes about me keenly, I saw nothing of the rough shabby figure which had brushed against my shoulder by the group of pollard willows—not, in point of fact, meeting a soul at all.

9503. — TWO PRACTICAL SIMPLE IDEAS FOR LINGERIE.

Ladies' One Piece Corset Cover and One Piece Drawers.

Dainty lingerie is always pleasing to a woman, especially if good effect can be gained with little labor. The Patterns here submitted are easy to develop and suitable for all lingerie fabrics. The Corset cover and drawers are each one piece models. Flouncing could be combined with lawn or muslin or, cross bar dimity, or batiste with lace edging and insertion. Ribbon run heading would trim and also hold the fullness of the cover. The Pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. It requires 2 3/4 yards of 36 inch material for the medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

9515.—A UNIQUE AND COMFORTABLE HOUSE APRON.

The "body and sleeve in one" idea has been carried out in garments of every sort, hence the busy sewer and home dressmaker, will welcome this mode in an apron that is not only simple but practical in that it covers most all of the dress worn underneath, and is easy to make because of few seams. The design is suitable for percale, alpaca, lawn, Anderson gingham, seersucker or chambray. The free edges could be scalloped and embroidered. Blue and white checked gingham, with bandings of white would be neat and would launder well. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium, and Large. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for the medium size.

Broadening Ones Sympathies.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The more we know the better we forgive. Whoever feels deeply feels for all who live.

—Madame de Staël. It has often surprised me to find that women who are towards their own family and their own intimates are the most tender-hearted and sympathetic creatures in the world, are sometimes lacking in human feelings towards all outside circles—especially towards those in the so-called "lower classes."

I am thinking of a certain woman who is self-sacrificing to a fault towards her own brood and cannot do too much for them. From seeing her in her family circle I had imagined her to be full of charity and kindness to all the world. Now I happened to be at her house one morning when the young woman who does the washing failed to appear on the scene. Instead she sent a message to the effect that he was obliged to stay with her mother who was seriously ill with acute indigestion. She said she would come just as soon as possible.

I expected to find my friend full of sympathy. Instead she said fretfully, "Well, isn't that annoying. I should think she might have found someone to stay with her mother. She knows how it puts me out to have my washing late."

Just think of that! Suppose one of that woman's children had been

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. J. Innes, of 321 S. Benton Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—the weight at birth was 12 lbs. She is the third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Smart-Weed. I never had a well day before I took your medicine. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 12 pounds before and now I weigh 125. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it."

To keep lettuce fresh for some time wash thoroughly shake off the water and put the leaves in a tin pail tightly covered, then set it in a cool place.

To make boys' rubber boots last long, have the cobble put one thickness of leather inside the heel and another outside, and then fasten on the regular heel plate.

A teaspoonful of camphor added to a quart of soft water will kill earthworms in house plants. The plants should be quite ready for water when it is applied.

Durable covers for school books are made of imitation leather—the sort used for covering chairs. This leather looks better than oil cloth, yet is waterproof.

A good furniture polish may be made of ½ pint linseed oil, ½ pint turpentine, ¼ pint vinegar, ¼ pint mentholated spirit. Shake together thoroughly in a bottle.

Round centrepieces may be dried by laying them when wet on a sheet of clean glass, kept for the purpose. See that the linen is placed smoothly and then set the glass in the sun.

A Child's Waste Clogged Bowels

Makes Them Cross, Peevish, Restless and Feverish—See if Tongue is Coated.

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish, Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little one's stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectually, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

Motor Car Leaps Wall.

At Church With Bridal Party, But Bride is Taken From Wreckage and Ceremony is Held.

New York, Feb. 4.—A heavy limousine automobile containing six persons, among them a bride-elect and bridegroom elect, leaped from the embankment in front of St. Peter and Paul's Church, in Passaic, N.J., yesterday, wrapped itself about a telephone pole, and slid fifteen feet down and on top of a crowded trolley car.

Miss Josephine Sareness, of Second Street, Kingsland, about five miles from Passaic, and Stanley K. Pawley, also of Kingsland, were on their way to the church to be married. They were accompanied by Mrs. Anna Sareness, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Augier, Andrew Lahash, Jr., was driving the car, and beside him was John Tell.

To reach the front door of the church, which stands high above the street, it is necessary to ascend an inclined roadway which is supported above the sidewalk by a stone wall, which at the top of the roadway is fifteen feet above the sidewalk. The car was going up the incline and was travelling at a rapid rate when Lahash lost control and the machine shot over the wall, leaped above the sidewalk and struck the pole.

At the same time a trolley car travelling between Paterson and Hoboken was coming down the hill in front of the church. John Meyerhoffer, motorman, saw the automobile leap from the stone wall when he was only fifteen feet from it. He threw his weight against the brake handle and the car stopped with its forward end opposite the pole just as the automobile hit the pole.

Part of the automobile crashed through the roof of the car platform, and it was jammed between the trolley and the pole in such a manner that neither of the doors could be opened. It was believed at first that those in the automobile had been seriously hurt and calls were sent for ambulances, but a moment's investigation revealed the fact that none had been severely injured. Miss Sareness received a severe wrench to her back, but she and the others were unable to get out of the machine until the roof of it had been broken off by the men from the trolley car and from the church. Then they were lifted out through the hole in the top.

Miss Sareness' mother and Mrs. Augier were a little stunned, but after they had rearranged their dresses as the young woman, who apparently was suffering pain, insisted on the ceremony proceeding.

They left the wreckage of their car in the street and climbed the hill to the church, and the marriage was performed. Then they drove back to Kingsland behind a team of horses from a trolley stable.

John Tell's hands were bruised where he fell after leaping from the automobile just as it started over the wall. Lahash was held firmly in his seat by the steering wheel and besides a few bruises was unharmed.

Notes and Comments.

Capt. Bob Bartlett's views on the Scott expedition and on Polar work evoked much interest in the city last night.

The information about the Antarctic tragedy is still most scanty.

The sad tragedy recalls the line of Gray: "The path of duty leads but to the grave."

The story as it comes to hand confirms the surmise of Capt. Bartlett which we published yesterday. After nine days struggle with the blizzards the Scott party were forced into camp again with food and fuel exhausted.

This is the news that comes to hand to-day. Yesterday in his interview with the Telegram Capt. Bartlett expressed an opinion to the like effect.

"Capt. Bob Bartlett thinks that the unfortunate members of Capt. Scott's party held on as long as they could possibly do so, believing that they would get back to their base in a certain time and with a certain amount of provisions to supply them. It is likely, he thinks, a continuation of blizzards prevented them from consuming this idea, and the result was that they were too weak to withstand the rigours of the last journey."

Capt. Bartlett paid a fine tribute to Capt. Scott and the morale of the men of the Antarctic expedition, which is fully borne out by Scott's last appeal for those whom they left behind in the old land.

It will be read with satisfaction that the Premier of the British Government in the House of Commons yesterday pledged himself that the appeal would be responded to in the same noble spirit in which it was made.

It was the appeal of men who died doing their duty. The response should be as magnanimous. The feeling of noblesse oblige is not dead in the old land yet, nor has the spirit which made the Empire and prospected the world died out. It lives as it did in the pioneer days of the T. J. Edens.

Among the records of the Scott expedition discovered by the Terra Nova was a letter from Capt. Raul Amundsen to the King of Norway. We presume the meaning of that statement is that Capt. Scott and his brave companions discovered it at the South Pole in the cairn built by Amundsen there a month before Scott arrived.

Delayed by Ice.

The S. S. Ethie has been now several days detained at Placentia as the whole Bay, as stated in the Telegram yesterday, is covered with ice. Ice out of the Gulf also came down and blocks the Bay, is very heavy and the ship may be delayed there for a long while yet. The Coban with coal from Sydney for Reid's is due there and may have to come here to discharge.

With The Puck

The Victorias and St. Bon's will play in to-night's hockey match. The City Fourteen, whose names we published yesterday, will practice to-night at 10 o'clock at the Prince's rink.

To-morrow, we learn, the selecting committee Messrs. Higgins, Jeffrey and Parsons, will choose the seven who will play against the Wanderers.

Badly Burned.

By a letter received in the city to-day from Harbor Grace South, we learn that a serious accident befell a little girl of Mr. Leonard Parsons of that place. It seems that the mother had gone to a well nearby for water, and during her absence of about three minutes' duration the little one's clothing in some mysterious manner caught fire and the child was terribly burned about the legs and body. A doctor was telephoned for and responded as quickly as possible. The little girl is suffering intensely and it is not known whether she will pull through or not.

McMurdo's Store News.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 12, 12.
We have just opened some all rubber bath, flesh and massage brushes of a new pattern. They are of first-class quality and will, we think, stand a great deal of wear. Rubber brushes never harbor germs and never become slimy, and they are excellent friction producers. For many purposes they are superior both to sponges and to wash cloths. Price 50c. each.

We suggest Sybol Liquid Soap for shampooing and for general use for washing purposes. It is always ready for use, and is as good as an individual cake of soap for each user; it is economical, only a very little being needed; and it is absolutely pure and of the best quality. Those who are using it speak very highly of it, and it appears to be growing in favor. Price 20 and 50c. a bottle.

To-Morrow no Holiday

The Importers' Association met yesterday afternoon to consider Premier Morris's request for a whole holiday to-morrow in honor of Governor Davidson's arrival. The Importers very properly decided not to interfere with the present schedule of holidays and they referred to the storm of opposition raised last year when it was proposed, to alter them. The Governor may or may not arrive to-morrow. It all depends on the condition of the ice in the Gulf and the weather on the run from Sydney.

Asquith's Tribute to Capt Scott and Companions.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-day.
The tragedy of Capt. Scott's expedition was referred to to-day in the Commons by Asquith. Speaking with evident emotion he said: "We all at this moment are under deep emotion created by reading the last message to the world left by Capt. Scott, one of the most moving and pathetic utterances in the annals of discovery. We can only say his last appeal will not fall on deaf ears. Mrs. Scott is assured of a good pension from the British Government." A memorial service for Scott and his companions is to be held at St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday. Many flags in all parts of London are flying to-day half mast. Telegrams from all parts record profound regret, mingled with pride felt throughout the British Empire. While messages of sympathy reached the Government in considerable numbers from Foreign States.

United Services.

AT GOWER ST. CHURCH.
Of the many good meetings that have been so far held, we think that of last night was certainly one of the best. There was a very large congregation present and all of the ministers were to the front. The entire service was harmonious and inspiring, and the singing and music were especially adapted to Gospel services.

The meeting was in charge of the Rev. Dr. Curtis, and he displayed much zeal and good judgment in his leadership. The address was given by the Rev. Mr. Bartlett, who based his remarks upon the prophecy of Isaiah, wherein the prophet speaks of the highway of peace and righteousness that is to come. The speaker was at his best all through, and drew some very excellent lessons and applied his points very closely.

The result was that a deep feeling of concern pervaded the entire meeting, and all felt that good was accomplished. We feel sure that the ministers must have been greatly encouraged with last night's results, and that the same spirit of unity which has so far marked these efforts will continue, and that deep and greater good will follow the services to come.

Fogota Won't Go

The S. S. Sagona is due here to-day from Sydney with coal for Crosbie & Co. She will be made ready for the seal fishery, and the S. S. Fogota which will not go to the icefields this spring will take her place on the Halifax, St. Pierre, Sydney mail route. The men of the Fogota will transfer to the Sagona and the same captain and officers will navigate the ship. The Sagona will prosecute the seal fishery at the north.

Girl Hurt.

Last evening, three boys coasted over Springdale Street on a bob slide and came down the incline at great speed, one of three girls passing along at the junction of Pleasant and Springdale Streets was hit and thrown some yards, and was so badly hurt that she had to be carried home. The bigger of the boys ran away but the other two small lads rendered necessary assistance.

Brigade Sports.

The Newfoundland Highlanders will hold their annual indoor winter sports in their Armory, on King's Road, March 11th. The programme this year will be varied and interesting. The members are already in training for the different athletic events.

Small-Pox at Placentia

Dr. Brehm had a wire from Magistrate O'Reilly yesterday afternoon saying that smallpox had developed at Placentia. Mr. Thomas Dunphy is stricken with the melody and is being attended by Dr. McKendrick who will try and prevent the spread of the disease. It is not known how the disease was brought there.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mrs. Thomas Martin went to St. John's on Thursday last to enter the General Hospital for treatment.

Capt. Thomas Dunn, of Riverhead, left for St. John's on Saturday last and sailed on Monday on the s.s. Sardinian en route to England on business and pleasure combined. The genial captain will be absent about six weeks, and we wish him a very pleasant trip. Mrs. Dunn accompanied the captain as far as St. John's.

His Lordship Bishop March celebrated Mass at Riverhead at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning, in the absence of Rev. Father Walker, who was conducting the services at Holyrood. His Lordship also celebrated Mass at the Cathedral here at 10.30 the same morning.

The harbor caught over last night, and if the weather is calm for the next few days our citizens will have a "bridge" on which to cross and visit their friends across the way.

Coal is now very scarce at Carbonear, but we hear Messrs. John Rorke & Sons will soon have a cargo there.

A large number of men from this town and neighbourhood go to the woods every day and bring out good loads of fuel. They have to go a long distance in, and we told one man we supposed he would get sufficient to do the family during the summer. "Not at all," said he; "if I can only keep the pot boiling while I'm at it I think I will be doing very well."

Yesterday and last night were very cold with high wind, but the frost was not so intense as on Friday last, which is said to be the coldest for the season.

Where is the S.S. Kite.

Since she left Wesleyville for Conche, about 10 days ago, from which port she will clear from for the northern seal fishery, the sealing steamer Kite, has not been reported. It is more than likely she is jammed in the heavy Arctic ice which extends from Belle Isle Straits to Fogo. It is likely that the Kite harbored at Fogo Island.

Slight Fires.

At 5.40 last evening, an alarm of fire was sent in, bringing the Central and East End Companies to the house occupied by Dr. Roberts, on Duckworth Street. The fire broke out in the top flat of the building and was supposed to be caused by papers being lit by plumbers who were working there. A stream from the chemical extinguished the blaze. The damage done was only trivial. The "all out" signal rung at 5.55 p.m.

No Halibut.

As the Telegram exclusively reported some time ago the halibut fishery on the South West Coast is a 'bad failure. Recent reports confirm this. Though the fish are fairly plentiful the men can't get to the grounds owing to the bad weather, and this is a great loss to them as there is a good local and foreign market for the fish.

IS YOUR COUGH GOING FROM BAD TO WORSE?

If you catch a cold (which very often develops into a cough) everyone can tell you how to cure it! If one tried half the things his friends recommended he would be a physical wreck!

Fortunately it isn't necessary to experiment with ginger tea and such things, get a bottle of Stafford's Rhodone Cough and Cold Cure, take according to directions and you will be relieved in a few hours.

Phorone is not like most things put up for this purpose. There isn't a particle of Quinine in it. It relieves the inflamed congested condition of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat, and soon rids the system of the poison that cause colds.

Don't wait until you get that horrible, hacking cough which you are not able to get rid of. No treatment having been found successful up to the present time. Try Phorone Cough Cure at once.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DYS-TEMPER.

They Want an Increase
At a meeting of the Marine Engineers Association held last night the matter of asking for a raise of wages during the progress of the seal fishery was discussed. The men at present receive a monthly wage and an extra share. They deem this insufficient as the voyage is short and all are paid off from the ships except chief engineers when the seal cargoes are landed. The matter will be more fully discussed at another meeting soon to be held and later the ship owners will be approached though these people have already intimated that the profits of the voyage do not warrant an increase in the stipends of the men.

Hidden Skin Troubles

Have you on some part of your body a sore, or eruption, or ulcer, or eczematous patch which, hidden from the gaze of others, yet causes you hours and hours of pain and inconvenience? Have you tried this, and that, and the other remedy in vain, and are you feeling disheartened and discouraged? If so, read the following instances of Zam-Buk's healing power, and apply it to your case:

"I had an ulcerated leg for several years. The ulcers spread all round the limb, which was swollen to nearly twice its normal size. Several doctors treated me. One suggested amputation. None did me any good. Zam-Buk healed the sores!" So says Mrs. Gilmour, of Princess St., Kingston. Or, read this—
"My mother tried many things for abscesses and eruptions, but in vain. In Zam-Buk she found a complete cure." So says Miss A. Cagill, of Wapella (Sask.).
Sufferers from these "Hidden Skin Troubles" of any nature should profit by such experiences as this. Zam-Buk is seen at its best when applied to cases which have defied ordinary treatment. Write for trial box, and test it at our expense.

ZAM-BUK AND A MIRACLE OF HEALING

Over and over again Zam-Buk has performed a miracle of healing when applied to various skin injuries which have refused to heal under any other form of treatment. Why? Let it heal four troubles! Immediately Zam-Buk is applied to a sore or wound or diseased portion of flesh it commences a work in two directions. It soothes the exterior, and its antiseptic properties prevent any germs and bacilli from creating trouble. Then the herbal essences and juices, so finely purified and concentrated, penetrate the subjacent layers and stimulate the weakened or diseased cells to a new, healthy operation. These cells then put forth their "Building" products, and place the diseased outer layer with fresh and healthy tissues. By degrees the whole diseased surface is thus replaced by new healthy skin.
In this way Zam-Buk cures cuts, lacerations, ulcers, abscesses, itchy eczema, eruptions, pustules, scabby, salt fluenza, blood poisons, and other forms of skin trouble. Zam-Buk also cures piles, varicose ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes $2.50.

Complaint From Miner.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—My chief reason for asking you to favour me by publishing this letter is that the Evening Telegram is a widely read paper, and so with the miners and underground workers of the country. The miners want to know what Sir Edward Morris meant in his manifesto four years ago, when he was looking for the miners' votes; viz: Mineral development, Rewards for discoveries of minerals, Housing of miners, Encouraging of mining laws, Weekly wages for miners. The miners have had four years of Morris experience and administration and they find out now that he has practically done nothing to better their condition, and it is now up to the underground workers in this country to vote for a new government and a square deal, which they have not got yet in Newfoundland. The miners have proved Morris to be a failure in every respect. He has no backbone. His reward for the discoveries of mineral is useless. If a man finds a deposit of minerals he must pay the Morris Government $11.00, or in other words, the Government put their hand down in the prospector's pocket and extracts $11.00 from him on the plea that when there are 50 men employed on the deposit the Government will give the discoverer a thousand dollars. This is a case of live horse and get grass. Where are Morris's mining laws enforced? Are the underground workers getting mine inspection? Are they not at times forced to work in bad air, and under bad ground and under bad timber, and under other conditions that would not be tolerated in any other part of the world? Wild animals have better protection from the Morris Government than miners. The graballs only want your vote. I will give you an instance of my own experience. A short while ago I was employed in one of our mines as a miner. Myself and partner were sent one day to put in a piece of timber. I noticed the ground was heavy and bad, so I ordered a good piece of timber to be sent down in the mine. Timber was sent down. I examined the piece. It was 12 x 12, fourteen feet long; a piece of old, dry pine. I found it was bad and had only one good side. I reported this to the captain who was in charge. He told me to put it in use and turn the bad side in to the ground so that the men working would not notice it. I told him to do so was not right, that sooner or later it would give way and perhaps kill some one. He said I was paid to do as I was told and if not to go on deck. We are running this mine and we will do as we please. You fellows here keep your mouths shut. No one in the country is looking out for good timber or bad. I worked in another mine in this country and the shaft was about 300 feet deep. There was a skip working in the shaft. There was no main road only for about 250 feet. The men had to slide down on their back with a hold on the skip rope with their hands and then swing at 50-foot below the deck and let the skip pass up. I spoke to the man in charge about it, and told him that we had law in this country and that he ought to have some way for the men to go up and down without going between the rails that the skip was working on, and I also told him that he should have guard rails on the skips and also on the flats, but he said it would last to do the work and we had no practical man in the country that knows the difference, anyhow; and in the face of the above there were rules and regulations for the miners posted up at this place signed by T. A. Hall, Government Engineer. Who gave Hall the authority to draw up rules for mining in the country? Is he a practical man? I would respectfully draw the attention of the Minister of Justice to the above facts.

Yours truly,
UNDERGROUND MINER,
Placentia, Feb. 10th, 1913.

Breaks a Cold in a Few Hours—Pape's

First dose Pape's Cold Compound relieves all grippe misery.

After the very first dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" you distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this wonderful Compound with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery so promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—it contains no quinine—be sure you get what you ask for—accept no substitute—be long as in every home. Tastes nice—acts gently.

Indian Island Notes.

Quite recently a resident of Easter Cove was again reminded of John Gilpin's ride, and strange to say it was his birthday. He left home with horse, slide and gun, intending to bring home a load of wood and any game that he may kill. While passing through some shrub wood he saw a fine bird and took aim and fired. It was the last he saw of the bird; the horse took fright and for about two hours he galloped all over the place, going north, east, east and west, the owner holding on to the side for dear life. The horse at last became quiet and the owner was not much the worse for his experience.

The F. P. U. are having a parade at Seldom to-day and intend holding a demonstration here Feb. 11th. Next election this district will be sold for clean government. The Bay Roberts affair and the trampling of the Union Jack in the mud is an eye-opener.
The harbor is a solid sheet of smooth ice. No doubt the skaters would avail themselves of the opportunity but for the very high winds.

Helped Defend Rorke's Drift.

Sudden Death of Veteran Hero Who Won the Victoria Cross.

(Lloyd's Weekly.)

Memories of one of the most thrilling episodes in the annals of the British army, are recalled by the death of Private Frederick Hitch, who won the Victoria Cross by his heroism at Rorke's Drift during the Zulu War of 1879. Hitch died suddenly on January 11th at his home in Cranbrook Road, Chiswick.

Hitch was a private in the old 24th Regiment (now the South Wales Borderers), which in January, 1879, was stationed at Rorke's Drift. On the morning of the 22nd Colonel Durnford was ordered to move up with all his command from Rorke's Drift to the camp at Isandlwana. This was an amazing blunder, for this left the post, a point of great tactical importance, practically unguarded. The position was being used as a base of supplies, and enormous quantities of provisions and commissariat were stored there. But it had no defences. The Mission House at the post had been converted into a hospital, and contained many wounded and convalescent soldiers.

At Isandlwana Colonel Durnford met with a tragic and historic disaster. His force was annihilated, and the victorious Zulus pressed on to the apparently easy task of overwhelming the post. Two horsemen, survivors of Durnford's command, riding for their lives, reached the drift, and warned Lieut. Chard, R.E., the officer in command of the post, of the oncoming danger.

With the assistance of Lieut. Bromhead, commanding a company of the 24th Regiment, Lieut Chard constructed a laager, with two barricades made of biscuit boxes and mealie bags, and connecting the two houses of the mission station. Thus a square was formed, and the buildings themselves were loopholed. The active garrison consisted of eighty men.

Fought With Smashed Shoulder.
Within half an hour of the warning the Zulus appeared. At four p.m. Private Hitch, posted as look-out on the roof of the hospital, saw a Zulu on the crest of the hill, and fired at him. This was the first shot in the action. Unfortunately the garrison had had so little time to prepare that they had not been able to complete the barricade on one side, where there was a gap of thirteen yards. Trees leading up to this spot gave cover to the attacking force, and here the fighting was fiercest. The Zulus attempted to carry the barricades with a rush. At the gap they were only repelled at the point of the bayonet. For twelve

RAILROAD MAN HAD TO LAY OFF

Until He Took GIN PILLS

Buffalo, N.Y.

"I have been a Pullman conductor on the C. P. R. and Michigan Central for the last three years.

About four years ago, I was laid up with intense pain in the groin, a very sore back, and suffered most severely when I tried to urinate.

I treated with my family physician for two months for Gravel in the Bladder but did not receive any benefit. About that time, I met another railroad man who had been similarly affected and who had been cured by GIN PILLS, after having been given up by a prominent physician who treated him for Diabetes. He is now running on the road and is perfectly cured. He strongly advised me to try GIN PILLS which I did—with the result that the pains left me entirely."

hours this terrible assault continued. The defence of the hospital was in itself an affair of extraordinary persistence and heroism. The defenders, carrying the sick men, retired from room to room, fighting desperately until, with the aid of a pickaxe, they entered a window in the outside wall, and escaped into the laager.

The Zulus set the thatched roof on fire, and many of them perished in its fall. When the patients were brought out they had to be carried across the square to the inner line of defence, which had been constructed between the two outer barricades, forming a smaller square, and which ultimately proved the salvation of the defenders.

To Private Hitch and Corporal William Allen was assigned the dangerous duty of covering the communication between the hospital and the inner defence. Taking terrible risks, and firing rapidly, these two men kept back the enemy and enabled the wounded to be brought in. Hitch was struck by a Zulu bullet in the shoulder, and was terribly injured. But with only one hand serviceable he continued to fire, and killed three natives who had crossed the stockade.

Sat For Famous Picture.

Ultimately the smoke and flames of the burning hospital attracted the attention of Lord Chelmsford's column which came to the relief of the heroic little garrison.

Private Hitch received the Victoria Cross from the hands of Queen Victoria, at Netley Hospital, in the summer of 1879. Unfortunately, it was stolen from him while acting as commissaire at the United Service Institution in 1901, but King Edward gave him a duplicate.

Some time later he became the owner of several horse cabs in Chiswick, but had to give way before the taxicab invasion. But he was not one to give way before trouble, and, recognizing that the new machines had come to stay, he took service with the General Motor Cab Company at their Chiswick garage. He was discussing the strike with a neighbor, when he suddenly collapsed and died.

Lord Chelmsford took a close personal interest in Hitch whose simple calmness in attacking his slithering arm to his waist-belt and then continuing to use his rifle with the other made a great impression on his many admirers. Among the latter was also Cecil Rhodes, who, when in London, a few years before his death, called upon Hitch and complimented him on his bravery.

It was one of the pleasures of Hitch's life that he had been chosen by Lady Butler to sit for her while painting one of her pictures, a copy of which occupied the place of honor in his room at Cranbrook Road.

One of his sons is a master tailor in the army, another is in the Metropolitan police, and a third in Canada.

The inquest was held by Mr. Gordon Hogg, who referred in glowing terms to the part played by Hitch in the famous episode.

Dr. Dawe said the cause of death was pleuro-pneumonia and heart failure, and a verdict was returned to that effect.

Hitch was buried with military honors at Chiswick cemetery. It is understood that Private Williams, now the only Victoria Cross survivor of Rorke's Drift, was present at the funeral.

Visited Lodging House.

London, Feb. 5.—Former King Manuel of Portugal, yesterday visited one of the London County Councils lodging house for single men. He ate a penny worth of bread pudding, and pronounced it excellent. He afterwards chatted with several of the inmates. The manager offered to keep the former monarch for a shilling a day. King Manuel said he would think the matter over, adding "I have often slept in worst places."

Circumstantial Evidence.

It Looked Like Curtains for Ponsonby-Price on New Year's Eve, but His Explanation Was Quite Satisfactory and Domestic Felicity Was Restored.

Mrs. Percival Ponsonby Price was a very suspicious woman; almost invariably so, in fact. Having passed the stage of gullibility with the demise of her faithful husband, she had embarked for the fifth time upon matrimonial bliss with a dreadful conception of man's inconstancy, and also of the habitual disregard of the species for truth when prevarication would serve better.

Consequently, when she arrived home late on New Year's Eve and found her husband's underclothing tucked carefully and securely in the waste basket by the desk of his den, had rescued his shirt, hat and cravat from the impromptu hangers supplied by the candleabra on the mantel, and extracted from the pockets of his dress suit, an empty bottle, two dozen white chequers, a corset string, a hat pin, one battered cribbage board, one new and scarcely soiled ladies' glove, and a much mauled and very small Angora kitten, it seemed certain that Ponsonby Price was in for an unpleasant half hour; also that he would have much to explain.

Laying the articles on the table, with the exception of the kitten, which she held gingerly by the silk ribbon about its neck, she approached the form of her sleeping husband, who was snugly coiled beneath the Persian rug at the side of his bed, and with a menacing look of determination in her eye, sternly demanded him to arise. Unaware of the presence of his better half, Percival slept on, the nasal accompaniment to his breathing searching out every silent place in the boudoir.

"Get up, you villain! Come out of your drunken slumber, and tell me the meaning of this," hotly demanded his love, as she indicated the articles on the table and kicked him accurately in the midriff.

The victim stirred uneasily in his sleep and, raising one hand, rubbed his eyes. Then, with a yawn, murmured, in a conciliatory tone, "Now, Marie, don't bother me, Percy, there's a dear good—"

Suddenly the dreadful realization of his wife's presence smote him, and fully awake, he sat bolt upright on the floor.

"Why, dearie," he began in honeyed accents, "I did not expect to see you home to-night."

"I can easily see that," his better-half replied, venom and vitrol in every syllable. "You base puss! Inimious creature. Where have you been? Trucking with another woman? Drinking wine again? Spending the money that should go in the support of your home? Get up," she ordered, as the object of her tirade remained speechless. "Get up," and she illustrated her meaning with another kick. "Explain, I tell you. Explain, where have you been?"

Obediently her husband arose, draping the Persian rug about his form at the same time with a fine air of masculine delicacy. His features were suffused with a kind of sad dignity in which every filament betokened determination. He strode toward the mantel and reaching therefrom a small pillbox, extracted three white, cylindrical capsules. Turning to his wife with pitying forgiveness in his eyes he raised them to his lips.

"You have driven me to this with your injustice," he said.

Horrified, Mrs. Price staggered back her fingers coming in contact with the tender frown and quick as light she had clutched the poker, leaped across the intervening space and struck the box and tablets from her husband's grasp. Still aggressive, she drove him to a chair, but there was a new respect in her voice when she spoke again.

Quick to take advantage of the momentary turn in his favor, Mr. Price stiffened into aloofness and looked his wife squarely in the eye. "I can't explain all," he declared impressively. "Last evening I was returning from the office at 8.30," said he, speaking rapidly and with convincing emphasis. "When I chanced to glance in at the window of the fur store around the corner, I saw a beautiful set of mink furs, just like the ones you have been wanting for ever—"

"Don't try to bribe me," interposed his wife, felly.

"Nothing could be farther from my intention," proceeded Mr. Price, suavely. "As I said, I was looking into the window of the fur store, when a shabbily-dressed young man came out of the store and began gazing at the window also. I must have inadvertently said something indicative of my intention to buy the furs, for the young man touched me on the arm. 'Don't pay three or four times the price you should pay for that mink collar and muff,' he said to me. 'I will sell you an outfit with which you can catch mink yourself and not only be able to give your wife a magnificent set, but will be able to make a handsome profit also.'

"The man's words and manner," continued Mr. Price, "were so convincing that I fell in with his proposal and allowed him to lead me to his apartments in the second story of a third-rate lodging house on Cordova Street."

"Were you alone," asked Mrs. Price.

"Ab-so-lute-lee," replied her husband, "and those articles there," indicating the glove, sponge, string, kitten, etc., "were the articles he sold me. They constitute the component parts of the most magnificent apparatus in existence for catching fur-bearing animals."

Mrs. Price, now thoroughly interested, leaned forward in rapt attention, and her husband, thus encouraged, proceeded:

"That cat," said he, "is the greatest mink-hunting feline in the world. To-morrow is New Year's Day, and my office will be closed. I will visit Scourmour Creek and bring back the skins of many mink. I will explain the process:

"Those white and red discs which look like chequers or poker chips," he averred "are a deadly poison, which, in solution have the same effect as ether or chloroform. Before starting on the hunt, I will dissolve two in that bottle filled with ordinary water. I will then attach the corset string to the sponge, and placing the other articles in my pocket depart on the expedition. When the hunting ground is reached I turn the cat loose and allow it to quarter the ground in front after the manner of a pointer or setter dog; owing to the formation of it paws it makes little or no disturbance to alarm any animals that may be in the vicinity."

"When a mink is scented, the cat turns and faces me, at once giving me warning of the proximity of the beast, at the same time pointing with its tail to the exact spot where the quarry is hidden."

"Then," triumphantly announced Mr. Price, "I turn a small portion of the anaesthetic from the bottle into the sponge, which I have explained is attached to the corset string, and holding one end of the string in my hand I fling the sponge over a branch just above the unsuspecting animal; gradually I lower it by letting out the slack string until it rests just in front of the mink's nose, who breathes in the deadly fumes and drifts off into a deeper unconsciousness. Once it is well under the influence I approach and pass the hatpin through its heart, thus administering death painlessly and in such a manner as not to destroy the skin as in the case of a trap. I then register the kill on the cribbage board in order to eliminate any confusion when disposing of the skins, and proceed on my way, the kitten in front still hunting. The glove is required to handle the poisonous discs in order to avoid danger to the operator," concluded Price as he rose from his chair.

"But Marie! Who is Marie?" queried his wife, still unconvinced.

"Oh! That is the name of the cat," promptly replied Mr. Price.

Five minutes later a tearfully penitent woman was sobbing in the arms of her husband, who was still clothed in a heavy Persian rug, that gave him the appearance of an ancient Roman.

"How can I have wronged you, dear," she cried. "Can you ever forgive me?"

Outside the church the bells were ringing in the New Year, and there was a proud light in the eyes of the man as he looked down and promised to forget the gross injustices she had done him.

"And to think that you would have killed yourself, darling," wept Mrs. Price, and at the awful realization her arms tightened convulsively about his neck.

With a sidelong glance at the door Price located a small box of capsules marked "Peppermint." With a movement of his foot he kicked them into the glowing fireplace. Then he kissed his wife behind the ear.

BIBLE CLASS MEETING.—Last night the weekly meeting of St. Thomas's Men's Bible Class was held, with a large number present. The question of holding a sociable after Easter was discussed, but nothing definite arrived at.

Coming Long Distances.

From 5.30 till 10 o'clock each morning since the Mission in the R. C. Cathedral began the treads contiguous to the Cathedral have held a number of vehicles of all kinds in which women folk have driven to be present at the service. These have come from all parts of the country and from very long distances, some driving in from a distance of 10 miles out of the country. The intense frost and blizzards of Monday and yesterday did not prevent these people from making the journey and they have determined to come along until the end of the week when the mission for them will conclude. People have also come along by train—men and women—from various parts of Conception Bay and also from Placentia and St. Mary's Bays and the Southern Shore. The Mission Fathers are agreeably surprised to see the people, especially the women folk, disregard the inclement weather so that the may share in the Spiritual benefits that must accrue to them by their devout participation in the religious functions associated with the mission.

Train Notes.

A Bruce express left here last evening for Port aux Basques, with several passengers including a number of Naval Reservists.

An express with mails and passengers is due here from Port aux Basques this afternoon. Rotary No. 1 arrived at Kitty's Brook last evening after being over the Gait Toprail clearing the rails. No. 2 rotary was at Bishop's Falls last night and will remain for a while on that section.

Both Coming

The steamers Bruce and Invermore left North Sydney at 11 last night with mails and passengers and freight for St. John's, coming direct. The Bruce being an ice breaker will necessarily be here first and the Invermore must necessarily take the line of least resistance and dodge the ice in the Gulf. It is likely the Invermore will lay up here for a while but the Bruce will continue the Sydney-Port aux Basque run.

Durango Delayed

The wheel chains of the Durango became frozen yesterday and when the ship hauled off from the pier she was delayed until the were attended to. The ship also had a heavy list to port owing to the spray and water freezing on her and the weight of the ice drew her down. A number of men were sent on board the ship to put her in trim and when they had finished could not get ashore until the Inghram came for them, as the ice all along the ship was broken up and unsafe to cross.

KNOCKED OVERBOARD.—On Monday evening a workman named Stanley was knocked over Harvey's wharf, in his descent it must have struck something, as after he was taken out of the water his head was cut and he had to be brought to a doctor for treatment.

Who's Afraid in Dark.

"Not I!" said the owl.
And he gave a great scowl.
And wiped his eye.
And fluffed his jowl.
"Tu whoo!"
Said the dog:—"I bark
Out loud in the dark.
Boo-oo!"
Said the cat: "M-ew!
I'll scratch any who Dare say that I do
Feel afraid. M-ew!"

"Afraid," said the mouse.
"Of the dark in the house?"
Hear me scatter
Whatever's the matter.
Squeak!"
Then the toad in the hole,
And the mole in the ground,
They both shook their heads
And passed the word round.

And the bird in the tree,
The fish and the bee,
They declared, all three,
That you never did see
One of them afraid
In the dark!

But the little girl who had gone to bed,
Just raised the bedclothes and covered her head.

Yrille Chartrand Sentenced.

Assault of Katie Marks Got Ten Years on Another Charge.

A stiff sentence was imposed this morning on Yrille Chartrand, who has appeared in the courts on several serious charges of late, when he was sentenced to a term of ten years in prison on a charge of assault committed in the jail while Chartrand was awaiting sentence on a charge of having assaulted and attempted to kill Katie Marks, a young girl student, about a month ago. He has not been tried on the latter case, but will be up for voluntary statement next week.

The second charge is considered of a much more serious nature, so it is presumed that Chartrand will have more than a few years in which to repent. He is not by any means a stranger to the police or to the jail authorities, as he has been several times imprisoned. On one occasion he served a term for impersonating a Protestant minister.

The assault on the child was one of the most cowardly and brutal crimes which has been committed in Montreal for a long while. The little one, while on her way to school, was met by Chartrand, who decoyed her to the basement of the institution (in which he was working), and attempted to assault her. The child screamed for help, when Chartrand opened the furnace door, and threatened to throw her into the flames. When help arrived the monster had fled, and the child was lying unconscious on the floor. Her hair and scalp were so badly burned that she has been unable to appear in court since.—Montreal Witness, Feb. 4.

Another Mystery of The Silent Sea.

New Port News, Vt., Feb. 5.

Another mystery of the deep, practically paralleling the unexplained disappearance of the crew of the schooner Marie Celeste, several years ago, has come to port with the British tank steamer Roumanian. On Jan. 19, churning along ten days out from Port Arthur, and near the Azores she picked up the Norwegian bark Remittent, seaworthy, provisioned and fully rigged but without a soul on board, and no indication of the crew's fate. The Roumanian after towing the Remittent to within 100 miles of Cape Henry lost her in a violent gale.

The Remittent was commanded by Captain Torgersen and she sailed from Rio Grande, Solsud, October 15, for Liverpool. She was 351 tons, a comparatively small ship and probably carried in addition to her master a crew of five or six.

Stomach Misery Just Vanishes.

Time! No Indigestion, Gas, or Sourness five minutes after taking "Pape's Diapepsin".

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Biliousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

Mule's Kick Worth $3,865.

Enid, Okla., Feb. 1.—John Allen, a farmer, living near here, as the result of an accident, forgot where he had buried $3,865 in the financial trouble of 1907, and as the result of another accident remembered where the money was hidden, and recovered it.

Several days after Allen buried the money in his pasture he was seriously injured in a runaway accident, and as a result lost his memory as far as his resting place was concerned.

Then last Saturday, while hitching up one of his mules, the animal suddenly kicked Allen on the side of the head, and for some time he was unconscious. Physicians removed a piece of his skull, and with its removal Allen at once recovered his memory. Later he dug up the money.

Success in Life

It's easy to be a success—as thousands of winners confess; no man's so obscure or unlucky or poor that he can't be a winner, I guess. And success, Mr. Man, doesn't mean a roll that would stagger a queen, or some gems of your own, or a palace of stone, or a wagon that burns gasoline. A man's a success, though renown doesn't place on his forehead a crown, if he pays as he goes, if it's true that he owes not a red in the dod-gasted town. A man's a success if his wife finds comfort and pleasure in life; if she's glad and content that she married a gent reluctant to organize strife. A man's a success if his kids are joyous as Katy H. Dids; if they're handsome and neat, with good shoes on their feet, and roses and things on their lids. A man's a success if he tries to be honest and kindly and wise; if he's slow to repeat all the lies he may meet, if he swats both the scandals and flies. I know when old Gaffer Pete Gray one morning was taken away, by Death, lantern-jawed, the whole village howled, and mourned him for many a day. Yet he was so poor that he had but seldom the half of a scud; he tried to do good in such ways as he could—he was a successful old lad!

Now Seeking The Man Higher Up.

District Attorney of New York is on Right Trail of Policemen.

New York, Feb. 5.—As a result of further disclosures in the police graft situation made to the District Attorney, to-day, by Eugene Fox, the policeman who has confessed to levying tribute as collector for superior officers, it was decided with the consent of Supreme Court Judge Goff to assist the investigation of the extraordinary Grand Jury by having that body convene to-morrow instead of next Monday.

District Attorney Whitman conferred with Justice Goff after Fox and a relative had been questioned all afternoon, and it was agreed to subpoena a Police Inspector, mentioned by Fox, to appear as a witness before the Grand Jury to-morrow. A direct trail of the much talked of "men higher up" in the Police Department is thought now to have been struck by the prosecutor.

Thorpe For The Giants.

Carlisle Indian to Receive over $5,000 Salary.

New York, Feb. 1.—With the signature to-day of a contract to join the New York National League Baseball Club, Jas. Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, is grabbed up by Manager McGaw, of the New York Giants at a salary reported to be over $5,000 with only an ordinary record behind him of ability as a ball player.

McGaw never saw Thorpe play ball. He will make a valuable acquisition to major league baseball. McGaw, who pays little attention to averages, is certain that the Indian has the makings of a great ball player.

Thorpe played in the south as a pitcher, outfielder and first baseman. In the box, he won a few more games than he lost, and in in fielding he had a per centage of over 900. He was not a scientific batter, swinging at the ball freely and not being satisfied unless he hit it out of the lot. His average, however, was over 250. He was regarded as a wonderful thrower, and a speedy base runner.

LONDON, Feb. 11. Despatches give details of the Antarctic tragedy. Capt. Oates evidently set out from the tent in which his four companions had all but succumbed to starvation and exhaustion, to brave death alone in the blizzard which had overwhelmed them. After a brave struggle of weeks, his hands frostbitten, Oates declared to his comrades that he was going to set out in the storm, but did not know when he would come back. He left the tent and was never seen again. The others, later, tried to push on, but were forced into camp again on March 21, after nine days' struggle with the blizzard. Food and fuel were alike exhausted. Probably realizing that his party were doomed, Captain Scott entered in his diary, four days later, on March 25th, a message to the public. In this he declared that disaster was not due to lack of organization, but to misfortune. He said nobody in the world could expect successfully to encounter such temperature and storms as they had met, and which had so retarded their progress. When they arrived within 11 miles of the depot they had only fuel enough for one hot meal and food for two days. The doomed explorer wrote apologetically his rough notes. He said that these and their bodies must tell the tale. He appealed to his countrymen to care for those depending on the perishing explorers.

LONDON, Feb. 11. According to special despatches, the Terra Nova Relief Party, which found the bodies, read a simple ritual and erected a cairn over them. They then set out to search for the body of Captain Oates, but, although they covered over twenty miles, discovered no trace of it. It was with great difficulty they brought back all of the records, including Raoul Amundsen's letter to the King of Norway, and a large quantity of geological specimens. March 25th, 1912, was the date of Capt. Scott's last message, and it is believed it was written only four days before death overtook the party.

BERLIN, Feb. 11. Dr. Friedmann has decided to sail for New York from Bremen, on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie on Feb. 18th. He returned to Berlin to-day, saying that he had been to Frankfurt-on-the-Main, where he had handed over his remedy for Tuberculosis to Dr. Paul Ehrlich, who will make experiments with it at the Government Institute for Experimental Therapeutics at that place.

TOKIO, Feb. 11. Rioting continued until the early hours this morning, when the mobs dispersed owing to intense cold, and a lack of further object on which to vent their fury. At noon to-day the patriots and soldiers were withdrawn from the streets. Prince Taro Katsura, the Premier, and the members of his Cabinet, who had assembled at the Premier's official residence at 10 o'clock last evening, remained in session till this morning. The building being strongly guarded, the Council of Elder Statesmen was called together at the Palace this afternoon. Statements made in well-informed circles lead to the belief that Katsura and his colleagues will resign. Count Kombe Yamamoto, formerly Minister of Marine, has signified his willingness to accept the Premiership, together with the leadership of the old Constitutional Party, of which Marquis Sarouhi is now the chief. Prince Katsura will, in the meantime, proceed with the organization of his proposed new party.

SOPIA, Feb. 11. The Turkish Army in the Gallipoli peninsula, lost between 5,000 and 6,000 men, and 50 officers, during the fighting at Bulair. Several thousand Turkish soldiers have fallen in a battle before the Tchatalja lines on Feb. 9th, and thousands more at Charkeui, southeast of Rodosto. Report says that the Bulgarian army, having repulsed several Turkish attacks along Tchatalja lines, except on the extreme right flank, where they were exposed to a convergent fire from the Turkish warships in the Sea of Marmora and the Gulf of Buzuk. Cherkowje, retired to fresh positions, five or six miles in the rear. Large bodies of men have been sent out to clear the field of battle of the Turkish dead bodies, which number over 5,000. It is believed that the number of Turkish wounded must be more than double as great. Turkish warships shelled the Bulgarian line flank all day, but only killed one, and slightly wounded another. Bulgarian soldiers in the Bulgarian losses, were insignificant.

In housekeeping, as in other things in life, one should look ahead. Do not be induced to spend a few pence less to-day on buying Soap of an inferior quality which will ultimately cost shillings, and even pounds, in ruined Household linen and clothes. This is not economy. True economy is to use a pure Soap.

SUPPERS.

BY H. L. RANN.

Supper is an emaciated substitute for a full meal which contains nothing that will interrupt the flow of conversation or impede the all-important tract as it usually consists of something that has kicked around the house for several days without being set upon by any of the members of the family. It takes the place of a remnant sale in the home circle and is highly prized for fear of being attacked by a spirited nightmare.

There are two kinds of supper—church and lap. The church supper is a soul satisfying combination by which a tight brother can eat for 25 cents what it has cost 65 cents and several cases of nervous prostration to produce. It is nothing uncommon for a zealous absent-minded member of the official board to attend a fifteen-cent supper and while in a reverie eat a pound and a half of creamy butter, quoted on the Elgin market at 40 cents per pound. This is one reason why so many earnest sisters advocate a per capita tax upon the male membership.

The lap supper is a nervous arrangement which was designed primarily for the express purpose of humiliating bow-legged men. The guests are lined up around the room and showered with crockery and silverware, which are allowed to re-

Cleans the Hair and Makes It Beautiful—25c. "Danderine."

IN A FEW MOMENTS YOUR HAIR'S SOFT, FLUFFY, LUSTROUS AND ABUNDANT—NO FALLING HAIR OR DANDRUFF.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil.—In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Mr. Allen can receive a few additional names for his private Singing Class for gentlemen. Address, "Clifton," Rennie's Mill Road.—Feb. 11, 21
