Trenching AT GALLIPOLI,

By JOHN GALLISHAW.

The personal narrative of a loyal Newfoundland soldier in the disastrous Dardanelles campaign. An adventure-story stranger than fiction; as well as a reliable account, by an unusually keen participant, of the gigantic failure at Gallipoli.
For obvious reasons not a great many details of the Dardanelles campaign were permitted to be published while it was running its dramatic and terribly costly course; nor since, either, for that matter. Mr. Gallishaw, a student at Harvard when the war began and now, wounded, again in this country, is at liberty to write about what happened. His book, moreover, gives an extraordinarily vivid impression of what trench-fighting and trench-living is like.
If you haven't heard or seen it, get it now.

HOW MRS. BEAN MET THE CRISIS

Carried Safely Through Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Nashville, Tenn.—"When I was going through the change of life I had a tumor as large as a child's head. The doctor said it was three years coming and gave me medicine for it until I was called away from the city for some time. Of course I could not go to him then, so my sister-in-law told me that she thought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure it. It helped both the Change of Life and the tumor and when I got home I did not need the doctor. I took the Pinkham remedies until the tumor was gone, the doctor said, and I have not felt it since. I tell every one how I was cured. If this letter will help others you are welcome to use it."—Mrs. E. H. Bean, 525 Joseph Avenue, Nashville, Tenn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a pure remedy containing the extractive properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, meets the needs of woman's system at this critical period of her life. Try it.

A Child of Sorrow.

CHAPTER XL.

Mr. Spinner looked on in a discontented and uncomfortable fashion. "You seem to think it is a joke, Miss Carrie," he said; "but I assure you that I am in sober earnest. I am—er—a well-to-do man. My wife will be a rich woman. I shall not stint her—there shall be a proper settlement."

Carrie leant back in her chair and wiped the tears from her eyes, but a laugh gurgled in her speech, as she said:

"Don't be silly, Mr. Spinner! You are old enough to be my father—oh, I didn't mean that! But, of course, it is absurd. Why, I am too old to be married—I mean too young, of course. Besides, it's too absurd. Oh, I don't want to laugh. But the idea! Why, I've only just put my hair up."

"And very charming you look," said Mr. Spinner, whose face was the colour of beetroot. "Come, be serious, Miss Carrie. I am making you a proposal of marriage. I am what is called in the city 'a warm' man; I don't think you can do better. Now that your sister has broken with Lord Heroncourt, you are alone in the world; you won't be so foolish as to refuse a good offer—"

Carrie pushed her work from her and stood upright. "I beg your pardon, Mr. Spinner," she said. "It was difficult to realise that you were serious; but I see now that you are. I am very much obliged to you; I am very grateful; but I couldn't do it—I couldn't marry you. I don't care for you. As you say, Maida and I are alone in the world; I couldn't leave her. But that is not the only reason," she hurried on, as Mr. Spinner displayed his teeth in a smile. "I don't want to marry anybody, least of all you. Oh, why on earth did you ask me? It's too absurd. Let's treat it as a joke."

Mr. Spinner rose and turned his immaculate hat in his hand, brushing it carefully but mechanically, his eyes, small and foxy, fixed angrily on the girl's face.

"You may treat it as a joke if you please," he said; "but it is no joke to me. The pleasure part of my visit appears to have been a failure; but the business part remains. I came to enquire the whereabouts of your friend, Lord Heroncourt. As I said, he is deeply indebted to me. If he appears, I shall serve him with a writ; unpleasant results will ensue. If you had accepted me, I should have been inclined to have been more considerate, for your sake and your sister's; but as it is, I shall know no mercy. You are sure you won't change your mind?"

"Quite sure," said Carrie, almost as pale as she had been when she had found Maida in the hut. "You must do your worst, Mr. Spinner. I could not marry you, even to save Lord Heroncourt."

"Very well," Miss Carrie; you and your sister and Lord Heroncourt will find my worst very bad indeed. I wish you good-afternoon."

"Good-afternoon," faltered Carrie. When the door had slammed behind him, Carrie tried to laugh; but the laugh died on her lips and her head sank on to her arm, her tears besprinkling Maida's dress. It was too absurd, of course—the idea of Mr. Spinner wanting to marry her! And where was Ricky?"

Maida returned with the lining, and saw by Carrie's expressive face that something had occurred to upset her.

"What is the matter, dear?" she said. "Oh, nothing," said Carrie. "Only that Mr. Spinner has proposed to me. Think of it, Maida! Old enough to be my father, or my uncle, at least. And he says that if Byrne returns, if he sees Byrne, that he will sue him! Oh, where is Ricky?"

"They talked it over, as women will, late into the night; they talked it over through the next day. Ricky's absence was the pivot upon which the Simple Wash Cures Eczema.

A great skin specialist who has compounded for his patients a marvellously effective cure for Eczema, Bad Leg and all other forms of Itch, has recently given his valuable preparation to the world. It is known as D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema, a simple external wash, easy to apply, a reliable home remedy.

D. D. D. gives instant relief from skin distress the moment it is applied. It penetrates the pores and kills the germs which are the root of skin disease. Nauseating stomach drugs are worthless, for the disease is in the skin, not in the blood. Greasy salves are dangerous for they clog the pores and aid the growth of germs. D. D. D. washes out disease, cleanses the pores, then soothes and heals the skin.

Test this simple cure; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere. Recommended by T. McMurdo & Co., A. W. Kennedy, M. Connors, Peter O'Mara.

conversation turned. Where had he gone?

The house at which Maida was to rectify was a well-known one—no less a one, indeed, than the Countess of Crownbrilliant's. So much—one might say everything—depended on her success, that Maida was more nervous than usual. Your true artist is always nervous, even though he may be an old hand. She drove with Carrie in a hansom to the big house; the rooms were crowded; her appearance had been announced in the society papers, and the Countess of Crownbrilliant was all smiles, for Maida was the principal item on the programme. The two sisters were received in an antechamber leading to the principal room, and the countess, who was young and somewhat inexperienced, was filled with misgivings as she looked at Maida's slight form and somewhat pale face.

But her misgivings vanished as Maida gave her first recitation, for Maida's voice had gained a fulness and strength from the wonderful Australian air; and perhaps the ordeal she had gone through in the hut had lent her art that touch of tragic force which is generally lacking in women of her age. Her heart bounded with satisfaction as she realised, from the emphatic but well-bred applause and the subdued cries of encore, that she had not lost her power, and that she would be able to support Carrie and herself.

Lady Crownbrilliant, all in a flutter with the success, came up smiling graciously and asked Maida to rectify again; and when she had done so accompanied her to the anteroom and pressed a cheque for a substantial amount into Maida's hand. Carrie was helping her on with her cloak when a lady, pushing the portiere curtains, called upon them by name. It was Lady Glassbury.

"You wicked, heartless girls!" she exclaimed. "Oh, Maida, you never wrote to me!" she caught both Maida's hands and drew her towards her and kissed her. "I have been so anxious—Glassbury's had the gout—where are you staying? At the old place? Really? I came back only last night; it was by mere chance that I came on here this evening. How well you are both looking; and Carrie is quite a woman now!"

There was a pause, but Maida read Lady Glassbury's question in her eyes before she uttered it.

"Is there any news—have you heard—"

"No," said Maida, in a low voice.

Lady Glassbury sighed.

"I cannot tell what has become of him. I—we are all getting anxious. He has never written; no one has the least idea where he has gone. Something may have happened to him; he may be—"

She did not speak the word, but Maida knew what it was, and her face grew white and she turned aside.

The anteroom began to fill.

"I will come to you to-morrow," said Lady Glassbury, in a whisper, as she pressed Maida's hand.

She left the house soon after the girls had done so, and on her reaching home she was going straight to her room, for the sight of Maida had awakened all her anxiety as to Heroncourt's fate, when a tall figure came out of the drawing-room to meet her. She uttered a faint cry, half of pleasure, half of alarm, and caught the balustrade with her hand.

"Byrne!"

"I am sorry; I did not mean to frighten you, Ethel," he said. "I have only just got back to England, a few hours ago, and I came on here at once. They said they thought you would not be late, so I waited."

She drew him into the drawing-room and sank into a chair and looked at him with anxious scrutiny.

"Oh, Byrne, where have you been? How ill and thin and worn you look! Have you been ill? But I can see you have."

"I am all right now," he said. "I've had some kind of a fever and it has pulled me down a little!"

"A little! But where have you been? I am dying to hear everything—everything! Sit down, sit down, beside me here." She put her hand upon his arm, as if to convince herself, by touching him, that it was really he. "Why, your arm is quite thin!" He moved it away, with a man's impatience of his own weakness. "But, tell me all, begin at once!"

"I have been to Australia," he said; "at a station of Dartford—you remember Dartford?—I am his partner."

She started slightly at the word Australia.

"Why, that is where Maida and Carrie have been—Australia."

"I know," he said, quietly.

"And they have come back. I saw them this evening; she was reciting; she looked the picture of health, and more beautiful than ever. Oh, Byrne! I hope you have come back to put it all straight between you; surely, if you and she still cling to your scruples, some way may be found, something can be done—!"

He rose and leant against the mantel-shelf and looked at the fire. Should he tell her of Maida's marriage? It was evident that Maida herself had not told her. Perhaps Maida wished it, for some reason or other, to remain a secret; if so, he must respect her wish; his lips must remain sealed.

"The scruples still remain, Ethel," he said; "and there is another barrier between us. No; I cannot tell you what it is; you must not ask me."

She regarded him anxiously.

Our Baseball

PLAGIARISED

LAST NIGHT'S GAME.

Thrills—and yet more thrills—the outstanding feature of last night's ball game when the B.I.S. Wanderers game had to be called at the end of the seventh inning with the score tied 13 to 13. The uncertainty of a baseball game until the last man is out was fully demonstrated when the B.I.S. went to bat in their last inning with a lead of 5 runs on them. The Wanderers, which they just made in the darkness. Both pitchers—Fowles and Carey—were in excellent form, allowing only one walk each. Striker both were hit very freely, and it was easily the best hitting game of the season. In addition the fans were thrilled with fast basestealing and action all through, and at times with throwing and unexpected plays. The game were Britt's three bages and Brazle's hit for two sacks, both of which were threatened. James were it not for the high wind, prevailed. French, the first baseman of the B.I.S. in addition to playing his usual consistent game on the sack was responsible for 4 of the Wanderers' runs.

The box scores were:—

Wanderers 13

B. I. S. 13

Herewith we give the game in brief:

1st.

WANDERERS—Britt opened hostilities by taking his three hits. McLeod hit but was laid low on second when Hartnett fielded. Ford's single was gathered up by French. No runs.

B.I.S.—French binged. Williams walked. Channing struck out. Grace's feeble tap was not effective though it scored French. 2. Grace was hit by a pitched ball. Doyle's line grounder was a beauty's scream. Williams, P. Grace got in on a base ball. Brazle fanned. 3 runs.

2nd.

W.—Brown singled but was forced at second when McCrindle hit. Dobbins biffed the ozone but Bertie's hit safely. He was left on second when Jerrett failed to reach first. No runs.

B.I.S.—Carew's weak tap was unavailing but McGrath had some success. Before French was retired, however, McGrath died stealing home. No runs.

3rd.

W.—Britt lined one out, as did McLeod. Hartnett was out at first on a close play but scored. Britt, Ford struck out but Brown's single scored McLeod. He was left on second when McCrindle failed to reach the initial sack and safety. 2 runs.

B.I.S.—Brown found Williams number quite easily. Channing's hit was a beauty, but the Grace Bros. both died before Punky's onslaught. No runs.

4th.

W.—Dobbins could not find Carey's offerings but the Irish circle gave Berteau free transportation. First, Jerrett lined out a Texas league scoring lineout. Britt hit but in a smothering to secure a resting place in the keystone was caught between the bases and pitched. McLeod fanned. 2 runs.

B.I.S.—Doyle was hit by a pitched ball from Brown. Brazle's hit was a nice one. Carey sacrificed, coring Doyle. Hartnett pulled the hidden ball trick on McGrath at first but in the meantime Brazle stole home. French lammed out another of his hot ones and Williams scored. Channing failed to reach first. 3 runs.

5th.

W.—Things now began to look very healthy for the Irishmen. Manager Hartnett however ordered a batting rally, and some rally it was. Hartnett, Ford, Brown, McCrindle and Carey to come over the plate. Berteau however made a hole by hitting thirder Jerrett hit, and Britt's three bages cleaned up the bases, he getting home himself on Carey's tumble of the throw-in. McLeod's air one was nabbed in centrefield. 3 runs.

B. I. S.—The big score rather shattered the Irishmen's hopes as the Wanderers. At this period the managerial decisions began to get both ears "battered" and disputes were very frequent. C. Grace hit and stole second promptly. Here he was found to be asleep at the switch by McCrindle. Grace also hit and on Doyle's left one scored, but Doyle went to his room at the keystone. Brazle (the one) by slugging out a two bager scored. Carey gained first but was laid low when McGrath fanned. 1 run.

6th.

W.—Not satisfied with the success in the previous inning, they promptly found safety. Brown struck out but McCrindle's hot liner scored. Ford, Dobbins fied. Berteau was laid out at second. 2 runs.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

LAST NIGHT'S GAME.

Thrills—and yet more thrills—were the outstanding feature of last night's ball game when the B.I.S.-Wanderers game had to be called at the end of the seventh inning with the score tied 13 to 13. The uncertainty of a baseball game until the last man is out was fully demonstrated when the B.I.S. went to bat in their last inning with a lead of 5 runs on them by the Wanderers, which they just made in the darkness. Both pitchers—Brown and Carey—were in excellent form, allowing only one walk each. Still both were hit very freely, and it was easily the best hitting game of the season. In addition the fans were thrilled with fast basestealing and action all through, and at times wild throwing and unexpected plays added to the fans' ecstasy. Features of the game were Britt's three bagger and Brazie's hit for two sacks, both of which were threatened home runs were it not for the high wind which prevailed. French, the first baseman of the B.I.S., in addition to playing his usual consistent game on the sack, was responsible for 4 of the Irishmen's runs.

The box scores were:—
Wanderers 062 272 0—13
B. I. S. 300 311 5 13
Herewith we give the game by innings:

1st.
WANDERERS—Britt opened hostilities by taking his three healthies. McLeod hit but was laid low on second when Hartnett fied. Ford's single was gathered up by French. No runs.

2nd.
W.—Brown singled but was forced at second when McCrindle hit. Dobbin biffed the ozone but Berteau hit safely. He was left on second when Jerrett failed to reach first. No runs.

3rd.
W.—Britt lined one out, as did McLeod. Hartnett was out at first on a close play but scored. Britt. Ford struck out but Brown's single scored McLeod. He was left on second when McCrindle failed to reach the initial sack and safety. 2 runs.

4th.
W.—Dobbin could not find Carey's offerings but the Irish twirler gave Berteau free transportation to first. Jerrett lined out a Texas leaguer scoring Berteau. Britt hit but in attempting to secure a resting place on the keystone was caught between the bases and pinched. McLeod fanned. 2 runs.

5th.
B.I.S.—Doyle was hit by a pitched ball from Brown. Brazie's hit was a nice one. Carey sacrificed, scoring Doyle. Hartnett pulled the hidden ball trick on McGrath at first but in the meantime Brazie stole home. French lammed out another of his hot ones and Williams scored him. Channing failed to reach first. 3 runs.

6th.
W.—Things now began to look very healthy for the Irishmen. Manager Hartnett however ordered a batting rally, and some rally it was. Hartnett, Ford, Brown, McCrindle and Dobbin all hit safely, and the runs began to come over the plate. Berteau however made a hole by biffing thrice. Jerrett hit, and Britt's three bagger cleaned up the bases, he getting home himself on Carey's fumble of the throw-in. McLeod's airy one was nabbed in centrefield. 7 runs.

7th.
B. I. S.—The big score rather shattered the Irishmen's hopes as the Hartnett crew were now leading by 5 runs. At this period the umpirical decisions began to get both team's "nannies" and disputes were very frequent. C. Grace hit and stole second promptly. Here he was found to be asleep at the switch by McCrindle. P. Grace also hit and on Doyle's long one scored, but Doyle went to his doom at the keystone. Brazie finished off by slamming out a two bagger. Carey gained first but was left there when McGrath fanned. 1 run.

8th.
W.—Not satisfied with their success in the previous inning, Ford promptly found safety. Brown struck out but McCrindle's hot liner scored Ford. Dobbin fied. Berteau hit but died at second. 2 runs.

9th.
B. I. S.—French again hit safely. Williams fied. Channing's single scared French. C. Grace fanned, and P. Grace's hit was nabbed in left field by Jerrett. 1 run.

10th.
W.—Britt again found Carey's high coaxed. MacLeod bingled. With two strikes on Hartnett, Britt died at Brazie's feet. Then Hartnett vainly swished at Carey's inshoot. No runs.

11th.
B. I. S.—With the Wanderers leading by 5 runs and the B. I. S. last turn at bat, the game looked hopeless to their supporters. The players however kept up a continuous din on the bench which showed they were not taking their defeat with their chins on their breasts. Doyle started the display by banging a beauty. His example was followed by Brazie, Carey, McGrath, French, Williams and Channing who all lammed Brown unmercifully. By this time it was quite dark, and it was with great difficulty the fans could follow the ball about the diamond. McGrath attempted a steal home on Channing's single but died at the plate. The break came when C. Grace hit to Hartnett but allowed Williams to score, thus tying the allies. Great enthusiasm now prevailed and the cheerleaders were on their feet as it need only one run for victory for the Irish crew, with two men down. P. Grace was in the pinch but proved the veritable "Casey at the Bat" when he failed to find Brown. At this juncture, Umpires Chesman and Montgomery decided to call the game owing to darkness, fearing injury to the players. Thus the game ended 13 to 13.

SUMMARY.
Hits:—Off Carey, 20; off Brown, 23.
Strikeouts:—By Carey, 8; by Brown, 6.
Walks:—By Carey, 1; by Brown, 1.
Hit by Pitcher:—By Brown, 2.
2 Base Hit:—Brazie.
3 Base Hit:—Britt.

PLAYERS.
WANDERERS P. B.I.S.

In the 4th Doyle replaced P. Grace, Williams replacing him.

NEXT GAME.
In the Baseball League all unfinished or called games are played over the next date. Therefore the Wanderers and B.I.S. will again try conclusions on to-morrow evening at 6.15, and in view of the tie last night will no doubt attract a large gathering.

Says Germany Near Collapse; Knows Her Peril

Swiss Observer Asserts Leaders See Inevitable Doom if Peace Does Not Come—Limit of Effort Reached—Her Man Power Exhausted, Her Transport Facilities Falling, Her Allies a Burden—Economic Ruin Menaces—Allies, and Especially America, Can, by Defeating Her "Peace Offensive," Win Victory.

Paris, Aug. 29.—"Germany is on her last legs, but her feet are still firmly planted."

This is the summary of the situation, given me to-day by a prominent Swiss manufacturer whose position enables him to obtain exceptional knowledge of affairs in the Central Empire. "I am surprised," he said, "to find how many persons here fail to realise the state of affairs in Germany. Your optimists exaggerate the stories of starvation and bloody revolts; your pessimists say gloomily 'Germany is as strong as ever,' and no one seems able to judge the question on its merits without prejudice."

"Naturally when you are carrying a tremendous burden yourself you are apt to lose sight of the other fellow's trouble, but surely a moment's comparison of the respective positions of the belligerents would show that whatever the weight on French shoulders, it weighs doubly on German, and that while France's load is being lightened by the Allies, especially by America, Germany's is growing daily heavier and cannot fall ultimately to crush her."

"If Frenchmen knew how steadily and inevitably the war pressure on Germany is increasing, there would be none of this talk about their own difficulties. Remember Japan at the end of her war with Russia. The world knows now that Japan was exhausted and that had Russia persevered, she must have been victorious. That is the situation to-day."

"If the Allies can surmount the 'last quarter of an hour,' victory is in their grasp."

"Like Japan, then, Germany has the advantage of being a close corporation." Her press and public opinion are well in hand. She can maintain the bluff right to the finish unless the Allies force a showdown, but her apparent strength is delusive—the building looks as strong as ever, but its foundation is crumbling.

"I will tell you the facts on which my opinion is based. At the beginning of this year well informed Germans admitted freely that their situation was desperate. The peace diversion had failed, and Germany had to meet the combined forces of the Allies at maximum strength with her own army, so shattered by losses as to be almost a skeleton."

REAL LOSSES CAREFULLY HIDDEN.

"The world will probably never learn the real figures of German losses. Even the high officials tell you that much has been suppressed, 'in the public interest.' Heroic measures were necessary and they were adopted."

"Mines, factories, offices, even the army services behind the front, were implacably combed out, and every man who could stand active service was transferred and his place was taken by the old, the unfit, women and prisoners. In Germany to-day there are literally no able-bodied men under forty-five years save a limited number of specialists who are absolutely unreplaceable."

"No other country could have scraped the man-power bucket to the bottom so thoroughly, but the German people have been disciplined to an extent unthinkable in France, England, or America."

"The Allies, too, are at a disadvantage in respect to the utilisation of prisoners. Let alone everything else, their public opinion would never stand for the brutal savagery with which prisoners in Germany have been forced to work to release soldiers for the front. In the mines and munition factories, on the land and on the railroads, all the roughest labor is performed by prisoners' 'slave gangs,' whose taskmaster is armed, not with the whip, but the rifle. There are a million prisoners, and they have been ruthlessly exploited. What allied country can affirm that her prisoners have released even a hundred thousand men for army service?"

"Thus Germany has contrived to pass 1917, but in doing so she has reached her limit. There is now no issue from her difficulties and her leaders know it."

"There has been much talk in the allied countries about the shortness of the German food supply. It is true that her food is reduced, but make no mistake; Germany will never fall by starvation. I should not be surprised if half those stories were deliberately circulated by the German Government to distract attention from their real weakness."

THREE WEAK SPOTS.

"No, Germany's weak spots are to be sought elsewhere. They are three men, transport, and allies. The first two are intimately connected.

Apart from the never-ending and gigantic drain of the armies, Germany has made colossal efforts to cope with the huge demand for war materials. By concentrating on a standardized pattern of their most useful weapon, the cannon, she has been able to reply to the allied artillery's bombardment and still increase the output of other growing necessities, like grenades and machine guns.

"The same way with airplanes. They standardized the Benz and Mercedes motors and turn out 250 weekly. For the airplanes themselves the decision to abandon Zeppelins has been exceedingly valuable. The huge Zeppelin factory at Friedrichshafen alone produces a hundred planes a week."

"But all this effort has been screwed up to the topmost notch. No further increase is possible, and even to attain that result sacrifices have been imperative. That is where the question of transport becomes important. Not only are the railroads—lines, sleepers, and roadbeds—in bad repair, and short of men to operate them, but war material requirements have compelled the Germans to withdraw large quantities from the manufacture of new rolling stock. Men who have worked on the German railroads tell me they are often forced to put in thirty-six hours without relief, and with that he incessantly at grips with defective material. German militarism. Like Japan against Russia Germany is victorious on the map. Like Japan she is straining every nerve to uphold the phantom of victory. Like Japan she knows that her enemies will win if she does not obtain peace.

"There have been many great German offensives. They have failed because directed against the heroic armies of the Allies. Her last and greatest will be a peace offensive, directed against the war-weary allied peoples. Let the latter be worthy of their fighters at the Marne, Ypres and Verdun. Let them look at the burden of Germany and think less about their own."

AMERICA'S OPPORTUNITY.

"The thought of America should be enough to steel their perseverance, but when you have struggled and suffered for three years it is hard to wait for a fourth. That is where America should act now. While her men are being drained she should stimulate the spirit of the Allies with money and propaganda."

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A gas range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD, THE GLOW GAS STEAM RADIATOR WAY. MAY 25, 1917

"About the popular situation in Germany I will say only this: Every one knows how strong was the Socialist Party before the war. In view of what has happened, is there anything to save Germany from popular fury unless those masters can plead victory as the final justification for everything?"

"There we come to the only hope of men, transport, and allies. The first two are intimately connected.

Your Boys and Girls.

No one knows at what early stage a child receives its first impressions, but we would perhaps be surprised if we could see the effect produced on the baby mind by its environment, whether it be cheerful, placid, and uplifting, or gloomy, depressing, and nerve-exciting. The home in which the little one enters into existence and its atmosphere are the first influence which are brought to bear on a young child and which are often of lasting effect. It behooves every mother to try to keep the atmosphere of the home as peaceful, as happy and cheerful as possible.

When a child grows older and begins to notice objects, even when very young the picture in its home, and more especially those in the nursery where it spends most of its time, come in for a large share of this silent influence.

As soon as the little one is old enough to understand anything he usually exhibits a fondness for stories. Even babies will sit spellbound listening to the short tales suited to their comprehensions.

The stories told should always be happy ones, especially at bedtime. They should set before the child pleasant mental pictures, and be calculated to instill into his mind an interest in and a love for dumb animals, and to foster his higher instincts—courage, unselfishness, gentleness, ambition. Stories form one of the most potent influences in the character of the growing child.

The Need of Economy.

We cannot complain that fate has dealt unkindly with us here in Newfoundland. The summer of unusual abundance, affected a little adversely by the recent shortage of salt. It is likely to be affected far more seriously by lack of carriers to take the fish to the foreign markets, and it seems likely that we shall have to rely this year entirely upon ourselves in that respect. The loss of the Durango is a sharp reminder to us of the real tenacity of our communication with the outside world; the serious loss of the cargo apart, another ship will have to replace her at all costs. Next to the marketing of our exports, the local food situation demands our first attention. It is most gratifying to know that the propaganda of the Agricultural Committee and others earlier in the year, aided by unusually good weather conditions, promises to bear large fruit. It is estimated that the hay and oats crops will be large this year and the potato yield a good 35 per cent. above last year's. We shall need every bushel of the increase. It is impossible to speak with too much emphasis. Up to the present Newfoundland has been a sort of a paradise. The whole world has short of its most vital food, flour. Almost the whole world has, voluntarily or compulsorily, cut down its consumption of flour. We have not. We not only do not produce any ourselves but are glutinous in the consumption of it. If we do not make a change voluntarily we shall be compelled to do so; compulsion is, in fact, already on the way. With North America some 400,000,000 bushels of wheat short of the requirements of its European Allies, it is inconceivable that any part of it will be allowed to consume so large a proportionate share of the existing stocks as we have always done. Even if we want to, two gentlemen by the name of Hoover and Hanna will not allow us to. A large system of rationing is already under way, and it is the right and proper thing. We must reconcile ourselves to the prospect of having our customary supply of flour cut down considerably, probably at least 20 per cent. In other words, instead of getting about 400,000 barrels a year we will be allowed only 320,000, and will be lucky to get that. There is only one way to face such a prospect, and it is the simplest and easiest—to reduce our consumption in proportion. It is what they are doing in the States and Canada and what they have done with amazing results in England, where the available stocks have been greatly increased almost entirely through a moderate and mostly voluntary economy on the part of every man, woman and child. Mr. Gosling's suggestion of a breadless meal for everyone once every day would, if carried out, merely be conforming with the practice elsewhere. It would automatically offset the diminution in supply that clearly threatens us. The problem is a very simple one in such a country as this. The Food Control Board and the public between them can solve it without the least difficulty. The Board can do, must do, two obvious things. It can see to it that our supply is the greatest that can be obtained. That, we understand, is the first object of the Chairman's mission to Canada and the States. It can then distribute equally and impartially, in fact ration, the supply obtained. If any here and there will not economize the Board must compel them to. It must make impossible a state of things wherein a unselfish and patriotically uses less flour and B. selfishly and unpatriotically, goes on as before. As we have said, equal distribution should be a simple matter in Newfoundland, where the requirements of every settlement are so exactly known. For its own part, the public can, and must, assist the Board. If we have a surplus of potatoes, it must not be a surplus in fact but must supply the certain deficiency of flour. There is not the slightest call for anxiety. The last and worst thing to be done is the laying in of large stocks of flour, which would only precipitate action by the foreign controllers and aggravate matters at home. All that is needed is economy in the use of flour, but that economy must be genuine and it must be universal. The Board can see that it is both. We are not giving advice as to what ought or can be done; we are merely stating the simple truth of what must be done.

MINARD'S LINTMENT CURES DIPHTHERIA.

Thoughts Upon the Times.

(By PATRIOT.)

We live in an age of pleasure. We crave for excitement. The pomps and vanities of this old world seem to have caught us in their vortex. In a bygone age a great calamity caused a nine days' wonder. Now it only lasts a fraction of that time. It is speedily forgotten.

"Lost in the mass of mean forgotten things." We are liable to forget that all our pleasures and profits are bought with a price—the sacrifice of thousands of human lives in Belgium and France.

The newspapers announce that recruiting has practically ceased, only three having volunteered and were accepted last week. This is an appalling state of affairs. What is the Government going to do about it? Is this the result of adding to our financial burdens the expense of a Ministry of Militia? Are we, as a people, going to be satisfied to see our Newfoundland Regiment go out of existence, surely an unthinkable thing.

When the National or Coalition Government was formed we expected them to take immediate steps to keep the First Newfoundland Regiment up to its required strength. They have lost valuable time already. We expect the Government to govern us, and in the event of their failing to do so, popular opinion is likely to express itself in ways which do not make for peace for the Government. Among the members of the House of Assembly are several men well under the age of 45. Why have not some of them volunteered? Over a score of the members of the Canadian Parliament are fighting to-day in the trenches.

There are two courses open to the Government to-day. One to devolve immediately some stringent measure to provide recruits, or resign at once, and appeal to the country. Emphatically the latter course was the one that should have been adopted. They have never ceased telling us that the great cause which they have at heart is the carrying on of the war. It is time deeds took the place of words. Rest assured gentlemen the one thing which the people will not stand for is inaction. It will exasperate public opinion beyond human endurance. By their actions they are making the country responsible for the bloodshed in Europe. It is almost impossible to control one's feelings when writing on this matter.

Truly the old order of the world is hastening to an end. People in England seem terribly in earnest about the war. Speaking before a War Agricultural Committee meeting the Earl of Kimberley said, "that game is a thing of the past. Kill all the game," said the Earl, "it is a luxury and an amusement for the rich."

GERMANY BACKS DOWN.

BUENOS AIRES, To-day.
According to the newspaper La Razon, the German note meets all the demands of Argentina. The note says: "Germany, in order to maintain friendly relations with Argentina and is willing to modify the blockade on enemy coasts, allowing the freedom of the seas to vessels under the Argentine flag carrying food." The note also promises payment of an indemnity for the sinking of the Argentine steamer Toro by a German submarine.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANSWER TO THE POPE.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
President Wilson has rejected the Pope's peace proposals. In a note despatched last night and made public here to-night the President says: "While every heart not blinded and hardened by the terrible war must be touched by the moving appeal of His Holiness, it would be folly to take the path of peace he points out, if it does not in fact lead to the goal he proposes. To deal with such powers as the present rulers of Germany upon justice and fairness and the common rights of mankind. He adds: "And we cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure, unless explicitly supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting." The text of the note follows: Aug. 27th, 1917. To His Holiness Benedictus XV., Pope. In acknowledgment of the communication of your Holiness to the belligerent peoples, dated August 1st, 1917, the President of the United States requests me to transmit the following reply: Every heart that has not been blinded and hardened by this terrible war must be touched by this moving appeal of His Holiness the Pope and must feel the dignity and force of the humane and generous motives which prompted it and must fervently wish that we might take the path of peace he so persuasively points out, but it would be folly to take it if it does not in fact lead to the goal he proposes. Our response must be based upon stern facts and upon nothing else. It is not the mere cessation of arms that he desires; it is a stable and enduring peace. This agony must not be gone through with again, and it must be a matter of very sober judgment what will insure us against it. His Holiness in substance proposes that we return to the status quo ante bellum, that then there would be general condemnation, disarmament and concert of nations based upon the acceptance of the principle of arbitration; that by a similar concert the freedom of the seas would be established and that the territorial claims of France and Italy, the perplexing problems of the Balkan States and the restitution of Poland be left to such conciliatory adjustments as may be possible in the new temper of such peace, due regard being paid to the aspirations of the people whose political fortunes and affiliations will be involved. It is manifest that no part of this program can be successfully carried out unless the restitution of the status quo ante bellum furnishes a firm and satisfactory basis for it. The object of this war is to deliver the free people of the world from the menace and actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible Government which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry the plan out without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long established practices and long cherished principles of international action and honor; which chose its own time for war, delivered its blow fiercely and suddenly, stopped at no barrier, either of law or mercy, swept a whole continent within the tide of blood, not the blood of soldiers only but blood of innocent women and children also and of the helpless poor, and now stands the balked, but not defeated enemy of four fifths of the world.

This power is not the German people. It is the ruthless master of the German people. It is no business of ours how the great people came under its control or submitted with temporary zeal to the domination of its purpose, but it is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its hand-

Durango Torpedoed and Sunk—Crew Safe.

Word has been received by the Furness Withy Company that their steamer Durango, had been torpedoed and sunk, but that the crew had been saved. The ship was on her way to this port with 400 tons of general cargo and had an English mail on board. The Durango, which was in command of the veteran Capt. Chambers, was a steel screw steamer of 3,067 tons, gross, 1355 net, 325 feet long, 47.1 feet beam, 22.4 feet deep and was built in West Hartlepool in 1895. Ever since she had been running between Liverpool, Halifax and St. John's. Her consort, the Tobacco met a similar fate last year. The Durango was well known here in the local trade and her loss to the mercantile marine at the present juncture will be keenly felt.

Lt.-Col. Franklin Removed to Brighton.

The many friends of Lt.-Col. W. H. Franklin will be pleased to hear that he has recovered sufficiently from his wounds to be transferred from London to Brighton. Lt.-Col. Franklin was cut down in the Battle of the Somme in July, 1916, while at the head of his troops in an attack on the German trenches. Since then he has been in Queen Alexandra Hospital. The journey from London to Brighton was made in an automobile, which took over six hours to cover the distance.

1. Load light and drive slowly.
 2. Stop in the shade if possible.
 3. Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in moderate quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still.
 4. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth, and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.
 5. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a wet sponge. Use vinegar water if possible. Do not turn the hose on him.
 6. Saturday night give a bran mash, cold, and add a tablespoonful of saltpetre.
 7. Do not use a horse hat unless it is a canopy-top hat. The ordinary bell shaped hat does more harm than good.
 8. A sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.
 9. If a horse is overdone by heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs and give him four ounces of aromatic spirits of ammonia, or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water, or give him a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water, or if necessary, chopped ice wrapped in cloth.
 10. If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran and a little water, and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.
 11. Watch your horse. If he stops sweating suddenly, or if he breathes short and quick, or if his ears droop or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke, and needs attention at once.
 12. If it is so hot that the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside. Unless he cools off during the night he cannot well stand the next day's heat.
- Beries may be washed, drained and dried on a cloth in the sun or set over the range.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.
PARIS, Aug. 28. The War Office communication issued last night says: Artillery fighting has been rather violent on the left bank of the Meuse, especially in the region to the north of Hill 344. The enemy made no attempt against our new positions during the day. In Lorraine in the direction of Zeelche-Prey and in Alsace at Tharémis, Weiskopf, we have repulsed ten surprise attacks and have made a number of prisoners.

BELGIAN REPORT.
Belgian Communication.—During the days of August 26 and 27 German artillery followed along the Belgian front. Avecapelle and Adinkirke were bombarded by long range guns. Army of the East, Aug. 26.—Canonading and patrol encounters have taken place to the north of Monastir.

TREASON IN MONTREAL.
MONTREAL, Aug. 28. At an anti-conscription meeting held here last night, attended by several thousand people, the speakers counselled their hearers to resist the conscription measure by every means possible. One of the speakers, Robt. Parsons, an anarchist, told them that an effort was being made to make what were really murderers of them. He condemned Mayor Martin for sending so many policemen to the meeting. The policemen were of the people and they shouted, "To Hell with our jobs," rather than fight the people in connection with conscription. Then he advised a general strike where the workers would feed themselves by taking what they needed from store-houses. "Are you going to submit?" he shouted, and the crowd roared back "No." He told them to get together and be prepared to resist violence with violence. Mogeau advised his hearers to kick down the stairs ways such recruiting officers as might come after them.

CAUGHT A TARTAR.
A GULF PORT, Aug. 28. The capture and destruction of a German submarine by an American destroyer and the killing of four members of the submarine's crew who had boarded a British steamer, is reported by William Raymond Brown, an American seaman, who arrived here to-day aboard a British steamer. According to the story told by Brown the submarine emerged near the steamer but soon after she came alongside, an American destroyer came up and destroyed the U-boat. After the submarine was destroyed the men who had previously gone aboard the British vessel tried to take charge. One of the German officers was hit on the head and killed as he was going to the engine room and three others were killed in the fighting that followed. Brown said that only two Germans remained on board the submarine after she came alongside the steamer. The Germans who were not killed in the fight on the steamer were turned over to the destroyer as prisoners.

STEAMSHIP OWNER DEAD.
BALTIMORE, Aug. 28. A cable received last night by the agents for the Johnston Line Foreign Agency, announced the death in England of Wm. Johnston, head of the steamship line of that name.

SOUKHOMLINOFF ON TRIAL FOR TREASON.
PETROGRAD, Aug. 28. At the trial for high treason of General Soukhomlinoff, former Minister of War, General Ivanoff, former Commander in Volhynia and Galicia, testified yesterday that he had information showing that military secrets had been communicated by Petrograd to Germany and Austria by way of Warsaw. General Volitchko, Deputy Director of the Engineers' Corps, said he regarded General Soukhomlinoff as having been principally responsible for the defeat of the Russian army. As soon as he was appointed Minister of War, witness testified that he suppressed various councils created for the purpose of lessening the questions of national defence.

ROUMANIANS REPULSE ATTACKS.
PETROGRAD, Aug. 28. Austro-German attacks on Routhmanian positions south of Oena last night were repulsed, the war office announces. Northeast of Soveia the Roumanians recovered a post which had been wrested from them.

KORNILOFF'S APPEAL.
MOSCOW, Aug. 28. Premier Kerensky introduced General Korniloff, saying the Government had thought it necessary to invite the Commander-in-Chief to lay before the conference the situation at the front and in the army. General Korniloff said the death penalty, the restoration of which he had asked, together with other measures, constituted only a small part of what was necessary in an army stricken with the terrible evils of disorganization and insubordination. During the present month, General Korniloff said, soldiers had killed four regimental commanders and other officers, and ceased these outrages only when they were threatened with being shot. Undoubtedly it will finally be repressed but the danger of fresh debacles is weighing constantly on the country. The situation on the front is no better. We have lost the whole of Galicia, the whole of Bukovina and all the fruits of our recent victories at several points. The enemy has crossed our frontier and is threatening our fertile southern provinces. He is endeavoring to destroy the Roumanian army and is knocking at the gates of Riga. If our army does not hold the shore of the Gulf of Riga, the road to Petrograd will be opened. The old regime bequeathed to Russia and army, which despite the several defects in its organization nevertheless was animated by a fighting spirit and was ready for sacrifices. The whole series of measures taken by those who are completely foreign to the spirit and needs of the army has transferred it into a collection of individual groups, which have lost all sense of duty and only tremble for their own personal safety. If Russia wishes to be saved the army must be regenerated at any cost. We must immediately take measures such as I have referred to which have been approved in their entirety by the acting Minister of War. General Korniloff then outlined the importance of these measures, in addition to the restoration of the death penalty, which are first, restoration of discipline in the army by the strengthening of authority of officers and non-commissioned officers; second, improvement of the financial position of officers who have been in a very difficult position in the recent military operation; third, restriction of the functions of the regimental committees, which although managing the economic affairs of the regiments, must not be permitted to have any part in the decision regarding military operations or the appointment of leaders. General Korniloff expressed his firm belief that the measures which he proposed would immediately be put into action. "I believe," he said, "that the genius and reason of the Russian people will save the country. I believe in a bright future for our army; I believe its ancient glory will be restored."

When General Korniloff had concluded his speech there were loud cheers from every side except from the extreme left, where several members of the Soldiers' and Workmen's organization remained silent. The General immediately left the hall and proceeded to a train which took him to headquarters. After the religious delegates had spoken, General Kaledines, leader of the Don Cossacks, representing the Council of Cossacks, mounted the tribune and read a resolution passed by the Cossacks, demanding above everything for the salvation of the country, a continuation of the war until complete victory was attained in close union with the Allies. General Kaledines proposed with the same end in view the following measures: first the placing of the army outside politics; second, the suppression of regimental committees and councils, and restriction of the functions of those which may be maintained with a purely economic mission; third, the reversion of the declaration of soldiers' rights; fourth, the reinforcing of discipline by strong measures and by the application of those measures to districts in the rear; fifth, the restoration of the rights of commanders to inflict punishment. The reading of the resolution was punctuated by cheers from the right, and by some protests from the left.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.
ROME, Aug. 28. (British Admiralty, per Wireless Press).—A desperate battle is progressing on the Bainsizza Plateau and on the north of Gorizia, it is announced officially. The resistance of the Austrians has been overcome at various points. On the Bainsizza Plateau the intensity of the struggle increases with the extreme desperation of the enemy who by a greater employment of forces is seeking to prevent us from progressing towards the eastern extremity of the plateau. Our troops are resolutely facing the new resistance of the enemy and have overcome it at various points. At Monte Tonalo and Monte Pasubio Alpine battalions distinguished themselves by their valiant conduct. We took more than 500 prisoners yesterday. Our airplanes by effective and repeated bombardment caused destruction in the interior of the enemy's lines, increasing the disorder which reigned there on account of his hurried retreat.

PROGRESS OF ITALIANS.
ROME, Aug. 28. The Italians made further progress yesterday on the Malsizza plateau, on the front north of Gorizia. The war office announces the Austrians made counter attacks, but failed to recover the positions taken by the Italians. The announcement follows: On the whole battle front there were artillery actions yesterday. On the Bainsizza plateau our troops, continuing their progress, have been in close contact with the enemy. Vigorous local attacks assured for us some positions which the enemy failed to recapture, although he made violent counter attacks. Unfavorable atmospheric conditions greatly impeded the activity of our airplanes.

EVACUATING TRIESTE.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. News despatches from Zurich, Switzerland, to the Rome newspapers telegraphed to the Italian embassy here to-day, say the civilian population of Trieste, Austria, toward which the Italian troops are advancing in their great drive against the Austrians, is evacuating the city by order of the Austrian military authorities. It was stated that it was not a military evacuation.

ALSO MONTE SANTO.
VIENNA, Aug. 28. Monte Santo on the Isonzo was evacuated by the Austrian forces on Friday night without fighting, the army headquarters announced to-day, the Italians occupying it. The Italians attacked on Saturday in San Gabriele district. Although costing the attacking forces heavily, they failed to result in piercing any part of the Hungarian front. It is declared there was a lull in the Carso fighting.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.
LONDON, Aug. 28. The official from the British headquarters to-night reads: Heavy rain has fallen to-day and the wind at times attained gale force. No infantry actions have taken place. Despite rain and wind our airplanes maintained contact with our infantry throughout yesterday's operations northeast of Ypres and successfully engaged enemy troops and transports with machine gun fire. All our machines returned.

ITALIANS CONGRATULATED.
LONDON, Aug. 28. King George telegraphed his congratulations to King Victor Emmanuel on the achievements of the Italian army expressing the opinion they will exercise a far reaching effect on the war. The King said he was happy that British guns and monitors had contributed to the success of the Italians.

VENIZELLOS ADDRESSES PARLIAMENT.
ATHENS, Aug. 28. In his address to parliament Premier Venizelos to-day traced the course of events in Greece from the last Italian war up to the present. He gave a detailed account of his conference with King Constantine in the early days of the war on the question of departure from neutrality and said the King acted in bad faith. Constantine's Royalist advisers, the Premier asserted, took advantage of the King's illness and duped the people by persuading them they must choose between the King and Venizelos, between peace and war. The Royalist policy sacrificed the interests of Greece to serve the Germans. Constantine's motto was "Deutschland Über Alles." Venizelos dealt severely with former Premier Connaridis, expressing the conviction he was in reality an agent of the Central Powers. Referring to the German propaganda, Venizelos said Baron Von Schenk, the chief propagandist, who was expelled from Greece last year was working under Royal patronage. The Premier corroborated his statements throughout his speech by interesting revelations taken from diplomatic documents. His address was interrupted frequently by applause. The opposition was represented only sparsely in the chamber and did not undertake to reply to his speech.

GERMANY'S REPLY.
BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28. Germany's reply to Argentina's note embodying demands in connection with the submarine campaign as affecting Argentine shipping, has been received. In official circles it was stated that the reply was satisfactory.

THE S. S. "Thetis" Brings Good News From the Coast.

Capt. Parsons Reports Fishery Splendid on the Labrador.

The S.S. Thetis, Capt. W. Parsons, reached port yesterday afternoon from the Labrador mail service, having gone as far north as Hopedale. Capt. Parsons made the round trip in 18 days and reports excellent weather throughout the voyage. The fishery is one of the best for many years, in so much that practically all the crews have secured big voyages. At Baateau fishermen have done exceptionally well, 150 schooners have full loads and as many more with saving catches. The great scarcity of salt has been a tremendous drawback to a large number of crews and as a consequence thousands of quintals of fish were lost to the fishermen. Captain Parsons brought along the following interesting report, the first part of which, was compiled by the Captain of the steamer Hawk up to the 19th.

Anchor Rock—One schr. here, well fished.
Moore's Hr.—Schr. Marsella, 350 qtls.; Lizzie E. B., 350; Pearl, 300; St. Clair, doing well.

Cut-Throat and vicinity—Fifty schooners fishing here; 30 of them well fished, some being loaded.
Daniel's Island—Seven schrs. here; fish not plentiful.
Kingslapot Hr.—Fish scarce.
Perry's Gulch—Fish scarce.
Solomon's Island—Schr. Oklahoma loaded; Ocean Traveller, 500 qtls.; Rose Clair, about finished; 9 others with good trips.
Savage Islands—Thirteen schooners here, poorly fished.

St. John's Tickle—Schr. Billow, Energy, F. P. U., Mary Rose, Minnesota, Etta May, Stanley Taylor, Annie Gladys, Gertrude Eureso, Anchorage, 250 qtls. each; Lillian Jane, loaded.
Farm Yards, N.—Schr. Josie F., 600 qtls.; Josephine, 500 qtls.; M. Pearl, 900 qtls.; Rosaline, 350 qtls.; and one other in Creek well fished.
Farm Yards, S.—Schooner Transvaal, doing well; fish very plentiful.

SOUTH.
Hopedale to Ilaco—Very little doing. E. & W. Turnavick—Crews about 100 quintals each; Dunn's crews have a fair voyage landed.
Iron Bound Island—Doing well. Several schooners loaded. Herithy's schooners 1200 qtls.
Ragged Island—Poor fishing.
Cape Harrison—Poor fishing early part of season; crews 100 to 300 quintals; doing well when Thetis was coming south.
Holtom—Traps 200 to 400 quintals; not much doing.
Emily Hr.—Poor fishing.
Horse Hr.—Poor fishing.
White Bears—Nil.
Indian Hr. to Smokey—Fishery fair. George's Island—Two schooners here well fished.
Pock's Hr.—Nil.
Long Island—Nil.
Grady—Plenty of fish. McRae 800 quintals ashore.
Black I.—Crews from 300 to 500 quintals, doing fair.
Wolf Islands—Schooners 400 to 600 quintals; fish plentiful.
Indian Tickle, Red Point, Domino, Spotted Island, Griffin's Hr., Black Tickle, Baateau, Sandy Island and vicinity, where the great majority of crews fish, all have big trips. Salt ran short three weeks ago and fishing had to be discontinued.
Baateau—About 150 schooners loaded here.
Griffin's Hr.—Biggest fishery in 40 years. Two crews report for 2300 quintals.
Flat Islands—Munn's crews hall for 1100 quintals, taken at Sandy Islands.
Webber's Cove—Crews 200 to 300 quintals.
Seal Islands—Not much done.
Comfort Bight—Poor fishing.
Boister's Rock—Poor fishing.

Veteran Painters Choose This White Lead

They do so because their own practical experience has confirmed tradition, which stamps it as the purest, whitest, longest-living white lead produced.

If these experienced painters, who are the best judges of white lead, pronounce

Brandram's Genuine B. B. White Lead to be their invariable selection, you are using common sense in profiting by their judgment.

Ensure a paint that will not disappoint by using this ideal white lead as its base.

We will be glad to supply your requirements at market prices

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, August 24th, 1917.

SOLDIERS' GRAVES IN FRANCE.

A number of professional women gardeners have just been engaged to tend the graves of our soldiers in France, and within a few days they are going over to begin their work. They are enrolled as members of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, are engaged for the duration of the war and will, I understand, work under the direction of the Kew (the famous botanical gardens, on the outskirts of London) authorities. Miss Helen Colt, the well-known writer on horticultural matters, is one of those selected. The problem will be to find plants that will be decorative, hardy, and permanent, and that will require a little care. There was a suggestion that trees from the various overseas dominions should be chosen to mark the graves near battlefields—the wattle for Australia, the maple for Canada. It will be interesting to see whether this idea is carried out for individual graves.

EXTENDING THE DIVORCE LAW.

Meetings are intended to be held in large centers of population in support of a movement to press on the Government an alteration of the divorce law as a measure of reconstruction after the war. This movement has considerable support among members of both Houses of Parliament, as was shown at a meeting held at Westminster recently. The idea is the promotion of a Bill to enact that all decrees for judicial separation and magisterial separation orders alike shall, after they have existed three years, have the force of a decree absolute for the dissolution of marriage. An even more striking proviso would be to render it lawful for any husband or wife to pray the High Court of Justice for a dissolution of marriage on the ground of continuous separation for three years, "whether by mutual agreement or for any other reason"—a provision that would open a very wide door for evasion of marital responsibilities, and one that stands on a very different plane from the other. A committee of five members of each House was formed to carry on the movement, which is certain to lead to a lively and heated controversy.

THE JEWISH REGIMENT.

The announcement that a Jewish regiment of infantry is being formed would be even more interesting if it had been added (as I understand is the case) for employment with the Palestine Expedition. A mule transport section composed of Jews from Palestine did good service in Egypt and Syria and was known as the Zionist Corps. Many of them fell in the fighting, and the remainder will probably be attached to this new regiment. There are many officers of Jewish race in the army, but the number speaking Yiddish or Russian is probably not very large. Three Jews in the army have won the Victoria Cross. A special Jewish regiment, with the honor of the race particularly in its keeping, will be a notable addition to the British force in the East.

THE NATIONAL WAR AIMS MEETING.

The brief announcement of the National War Aims Committee gave no idea of the spirit or the work of the new organization. The Prime Minister is its president, and its vice presidents are the official leaders of the other parties. The real intention is to use the party organization for a crusade in the country to remind the public of the facts of the war and to keep them fully informed of the aims for which the Allies are fighting. Local committees are to be set up all over the country. The party agents will be employed in the work of organization, and the mayors and local authorities will be brought on to the committee. The whole movement will be started by a meeting at the Queen's Hall, London, on August 4—the third anniversary of the outbreak of war. At this meeting the Prime Minister and Lord Crewe will be supported on the platform by members of the Government, by prominent members of Parliament, and by representatives of the London County Council, the mayors of the London boroughs, the heads of churches, and representatives of all sections and parties.

PAYMENT FOR DIGNITIES.

Lord Selborne desires Ministers to pledge themselves "that when any honor or dignity is conferred upon a British subject, other than a member of the Royal Family or the members of the naval, military, or permanent service under the Crown, a definite public statement of the reasons for which it has been recommended to the Crown shall accompany the notification of the grant; and that a declaration to the Sovereign be made by the Prime Minister, in recommending any person to his Majesty's favor for any such honor or dignity, that he has satisfied himself that no payment or expectation of payment is directly or indirectly associated with the grant or promise of such honor or dignity." As the son of one who won his peerage as Lord Chancellor, Lord Selborne is on safer ground in making this demand than might be the case with some other holders of peerages of recent creation. As a former party Whip in the Commons, he may also be in possession of facts which prove the existence of a "cash down" system in this regard. One is inclined to doubt, however, whether either the Prime Minister or party Whips are so very simple as to leave proofs of such a traffic—if such a traffic in these days exists—lying about.

AT WORK AND PLAY.

London is a merry place these days. The elementary schools have "broken up," and the youngsters, north, east, south and west, have been holding high revel in the miles of parks and open spaces which are among London's chief possessions, although the heavy rain of the last few days has temporarily put a stop to sojourning out of doors. Their middle and upper class cousins, who are learning the way they should go at public and private schools, are also experiencing the joys of the long summer holiday, but there are not the old-time scenes at the railway stations which one used to delight in before the war. Hundreds of the boys are to spend the vacation in the harvest fields, and it is good to know the farmers are more ready to accept their services than they were last year. I fancy it was Lord Selborne's idea that school boys should work their holidays on the land, but it was not as successful as it should have been owing to the objections of the farmers. But this year they have learned wisdom, and I am told that in nearly every part of the South and West country there has been a refreshing eagerness to take advantage of the offers of assistance which nearly every big public school has made.

WHISKERS.

Frank Richardson, who has just died, manufactured for himself an uneasy reputation among humorists. With an amazing ingenuity in resource, he laid himself out to exhaust the last drop of the comic from the idea of whiskers. He ended, as was natural, in exhausting his readers, who tired sooner than he did of the game of ringing the changes upon the word. Still he achieved his aim, which was to give himself a useful literary label. "Frank Richardson's Oh, yes, the man who writes about whiskers," people would say. So secure was his position as the great whisker expert that it was customary with the lighter newspapers in the slack season—what worlds away now!—to send a bright young man to interview Richardson on the latest phase of the whisker movement. I think this was overcome once during the war, and that was when the "spoofer" report came out that the French soldiers had been ordered to shave. That report, originally a comic effort in a French newspaper, was gravely copied as fact by some newspapers here. It gave Richardson his last effective opening. He was a clever man, and, as one or two serious novels show, capable of sound work, but, if I may use this vulgarism, it will be his nemesis that whiskers will grow on all he did.

The tops of young carrots and turnips are as good as beet tops to cook for greens. Orange juice is a preventive of scurvy among children who use pasteurized milk.

Four Sons Serving Two Flags.

IN ONE CAUSE.

Mr. Michael Sutton, employed at the new fish plant in the West End, is the proud father of four sons serving with the English and American forces. They are, David, Patrick, Con, and John. All four enlisted in the United States. David and Patrick are attached to a motor division and are now in training at Long Island, the former being since promoted to Instructor Sergeant. Con and John, who only recently made their homes in the United States and are still British subjects, have enlisted in an English division that is being raised in the United States. Con, the youngest of the four, is not yet eighteen years of age. All were born in Notre Dame Bay and are worthy sons of Newfoundland. Mr. Sutton was for seven years a member of the local police force and served under Magistrate Wells at Little Bay.

Ice Shortage.

A number of stores throughout the city where ice cold drinks are sold are greatly inconvenienced owing to the dealer from whom they received their supply of ice having disposed of the stock on hand to other parties. As the other dealers have only sufficient to supply their regular customers the storekeepers in question may have to wait till Jack Frost comes around again. We understand there is a considerable supply of ice in some of the nearby outports, but the proper mode of conveyance cannot at present be obtained.

At the Crescent.

The Crescent Picture Palace is giving its patrons a great holiday programme to-day, the feature picture is the celebrated Broadway comedy success "The Spring Chicken," a biographical production in three reels, featuring Gertrude Bambrick with an all star cast. A thrilling adventure of "Grant, Police Reporter" is "The Tigers Claw" with George Larkin and Alice Kirby. "When Cupid Slipped" is a smashing comedy with Seligs new comedy star Victor Ford. Madame Timmons sings the latest New York song hit by Charles K. Harris "A Cottage Some Roses and You." Don't miss seeing this big holiday show.

SMALL SOLDIERS.

Small boys have quit their playing, their sliding on the hill, and now they are displaying great military skill. All round I behold them, in marches and parades; small generals enrolled them in legions and brigades. They wield, with valor Roman, their rifles made of boards, and bravely charge the foe with little wooden swords. No kinds plead for exemption, all long to brandish arms, and none has asked redemption from war and its alarms. The old time hobby horses, the roller skates are gone; imaginary corpses are piled upon the lawn. The boys who would be pitchers, and make baseball a trade, are busy now as ditchers, for trenches must be made. They toil with wooden shovels, no soldier loafs or stalls, the boys from humble hovels, the boys from stately halls. There is no weary clacker for peace with shameful joys, there is no one whining slacker among the little boys. No kid so keen for peace is that he would dodge the fray because he buys three nieces and sundry uncles hay. The kid, so small their mothers put them to bed at night, are shaming elder brothers who fear to go and fight.
