CHAPTER XII.
 AN EXCITED INVALID.

She jumped out of the chair and ran downstairs to her aunt, calling for the nurse as she went. Meanwhile the shots banged away in the bedroom.

"He's shooting himself, or thinks he's shooting something else," she cried. "Aunt! Nurse! Come up at once! Come! Goodness knows what he'll do next!"

Miss Holroyd came out of the drawing-room below, crying in a voice which had a very good imitation of tears in it:

"Oh, my dear Lillas, what is the matter? What has happened? Those shots! Are there burglars in the house?"

At the same moment the nurse, who had only lain down, dressed, for a couple of hours, called from the upper landing:

"Yes, ma'am; what is it? Who has been shooting?"

Without waiting for any reply, she ran downstairs, and met Lillas and her aunt on the landing.

She knew her business, and she took charge at once. She threw open the door of the sitting room, and hurried in front of them toward the bedroom.

"Ah, would you, you she devil! Yes, I know you'd like to, but you shan't! No, not as long as I've got a pair of hands to throttle the life out of you! No! You've done me harm enough already. Get out! Get out! Or, by all I ever believed in, I'll shoot you! I'll send a bullet through that miserable, scheming brain of yours! Curse you! It would anyhow rid the world of one venomous reptile! Get out, you beautiful beast, or I'll shoot you!"

They heard these exclamations screamed and shouted in Sir Arthur's voice, to the accompaniment of the snapping of a self-cocking revolver.

"What on earth can have happened?" exclaimed Miss Holroyd. "Poor Sir Arthur must have gone mad?"

"It certainly seems very like it, I am afraid," said the nurse; "and yet, I can hardly understand it unless by some means or other he has got something to drink, which is hardly possible. Still, I think we had better go in."

"Of course," said Lillas, putting her hand on the knob of the door.

CHAPTER XIII.
 A DEBT OF HONOR.

"Madam, I am exceedingly sorry. You can understand that, although I would do everything I can for you, especially under the painful circumstances of the case, lawyers, and especially lawyers of the reputation of Mr. Markham, do not interview clients except through the medium of their solicitors.

"Oh, Mr. Crudge, I'm sure that if you only knew what a difficulty I am placed in you would help me. This is not a matter in which I can employ a solicitor just as one would in an ordinary case. Mr. Markham is the one lawyer that I can ask to help me, and, although I know it is asking a great deal, I thought that perhaps he might help me, and I can assure you that he—"

Mr. Crudge, dazzled by such a vision of womanly beauty as he had never seen before, a picture of beauty framed in the most decorous mourning, had already felt that his scruples were melting away into nothingness under the influence of those dark-shaded, pensive eyes, the trembling lips, and the pleading voice that sounded so sweetly as it came in halting accents between them, had already come to the decision that under such conditions professional etiquette might possibly be dispensed with. But just at that moment the door of Kenneth Markham's room opened, an eminent solicitor came out, and Markham followed him.

In the middle of the anteroom he stopped. Lillas looked into his eyes, and he looked back into hers. He bowed, and then turned to Mr. Crudge.

"You didn't tell me that this lady was expected, Mr. Crudge," he said, in tones of mild reproof. "If she has an appointment, I'm afraid that I have kept her waiting."

"I have no appointment, Mr. Markham," said Lillas, rising from her chair, and taking a step toward him.

"I have come—well, to throw myself upon your mercy. To ask you to help me. I am Mrs. Ashley, and, of course, you know that Sir Arthur Eversley—"

"Yes," said Kenneth, with a coldness which she expected; "but excuse me saying so, if you wish my assistance, the regular course would have been to employ a solicitor."

"Oh, yes," she said, "your clerk has already told me that; but I have ventured to ask you—at least, I came here to ask you—if you could not relax your rule of professional etiquette for once. You see, the circumstances are, well, a little peculiar, and if you have a few minutes to spare, I should be so thankful."

Their eyes met again, and professional etiquette for the time being became nonexistent.

"Pardon me," he said, turning to his clerk. "Mr. Crudge, when is my next appointment?"

"Four-thirty, sir," replied Mr. Crudge, turning over the leaves of the diary. "Mr. Rivers, with Mr. Frank Johnson, in the case of—"

"All right," said Kenneth, "that will do; that gives us half an hour. Now, madam, I can give you that time if you want to have a talk with me."

He pushed open the door of his room, and stood aside to let her pass.

"Thank you, thank you, Mr. Markham," she said, as she went into the room, followed by the almost worshipful glances of Mr. Crudge.

Kenneth followed her and shut the door.

"You will find that chair comfortable, I think," he said, with a motion of his hand toward a big arm-chair standing in the corner of the room, in which he had smoked many a meditative pipe during the days he was making the reputation which his action with regard to his father's unsigned will had now become almost worldwide.

"Thank you," she said, as she sank into it with an action of almost indescribable grace. "It is so very, very kind of you to receive me in this irregular way. I know that your rules of legal etiquette are so very strict."

"They are," he replied quietly and somewhat coldly, "but I have broken them before, and shall probably do so many times again; and that is, by the way, somewhat to the point," he continued, speaking more slowly. "A lawyer, as perhaps you know, is supposed to take any case that is brought to him, no matter whether he personally believes in its merits or not. Now I have always made a practice—"

"Yes, yes," she interrupted, turning toward him with an appealing motion of her hand. "Indeed I know, and that is why I have come to you. I know that you never undertake a case unless you believe that your client is really and honestly in the right. Every one knows that; and if I can only convince you that I'm in the right—"

"Pardon me," he interrupted, with an abruptness which was almost rude, and which, for some reason, seemed to fascinate her. "Would it not be better if we had the facts first? You see, I can only judge by them."

"Will you?" she whispered in her soul, while she said to him very sweetly:

"Of course, you must know them before you can decide, and I have come to ask you to hear them from me, and then tell me whether or not you believe that I am in the right. After that, I suppose we—I mean my aunt and myself—will have to employ a solicitor in the regular way, to do the—what is it called, technical part of the business."

"Quite so," he replied, "that will, of course, be necessary; but in the meantime, if you would like to give me any information for my guidance, I shall be happy to hear it."

"That, of course, is all that I can ask you to do," she replied, with a gentle humility which had a somewhat disturbing effect upon him. "Sir Arthur Eversley and I were friends—in fact, I might say, we were almost boy-and-girl playmates, and it ended as such friendships sometimes do. He went into the army in the lancers; and then—well, then he wanted me to marry him. It was, of course, quite out of the question, under the circumstances. I was only a little over seventeen, and in those days—it was nearly seven years ago—there was hardly a possibility of his succeeding to the baronetcy and the estates. In short, my father would not hear of it, at least until he had become a captain. Then his regiment was ordered abroad, first to South Africa I think, and then to India."

"Yes," said Kenneth. "But I needn't trouble you with those details, Mrs. Ashley; I know them already. That is to say, I know that Mr. Arthur Eversley became Sir Arthur through that yachting accident in the Mediterranean; that he came into the title and the estates at the same time he was invalidated home from Somaliland, suffering from the after effects of malaria and sunstroke, complicated, as I understand, by what medical men nowadays call alcoholism. You must pardon me putting the matter so plainly, but it would be better, perhaps, if we got to the facts as soon as possible."

"Oh, yes, you are perfectly right, Mr. Markham," she replied, with another motion of her hands and a smile which he tried not to see. "Then I shall only have to tell you that after he had gone, and we had lost sight of him for nearly five years, I married my late husband. To be quite frank, I'm afraid I was not really in love with him; but, you see, I was only a young, inexperienced girl; my father and my father had got into rather poor circumstances, and Mr. Ashley was supposed to be a very wealthy man; and he certainly at that time appeared to have made a very considerable fortune in some West Australian gold mines."

"Pardon me for a moment," said Kenneth, turning quickly toward her. "Was your husband the Edward Herbert Ashley, who was interested in the Koomboora-Bonanza Mines in West Australia?"

"Yes," she said, "I think that was the name of the company. It was a very terrible matter for us all," she continued, with just a little, pitiful break in her voice. "He lost almost every penny he had in it in the failure, and my father and my aunt did the same. My father died of apoplexy, and my husband seemed to go out of his mind, and go from bad to worse till at last he shot himself. Perhaps you may have read about it at the time?"

"Yes, Mrs. Ashley," said Kenneth, rising from his chair; "I know all the details—I know them only too well. My father was supposed to be responsible for the promotion of those companies. As a matter of fact, he was not; he was himself deceived by a gang of swindlers, whom some day I hope to expose and punish; but, meanwhile I have, as perhaps you know, accepted full responsibility. As far as my father's fortune goes, everything shall be paid, although such enormous sums have somehow disappeared that I'm afraid we shall only be able to pay the poorest of the shareholders, but, of course, under the circumstances, you—"

"Please don't think about me," she interrupted. "It is true that we have suffered, but I'm quite sure that it could not have been through Mr. Markham's fault. I did not even know that he had anything to do with these companies, and the man who could sign such a will as that one you published in the papers could have been nothing but the very soul of honor. Besides, aunt and I have plenty to live upon, and there must be many worse off than we are. Then, if I could only persuade you to undertake my case, and know that you would win it for me, I shall have a great deal more money than I shall know what to do with. That, by the way, is what I ought to have said to begin with."

"Pardon me," he said, sitting down again, "but I am afraid I hardly take your meaning."

"My meaning is this," she said, clasping her hands and letting them fall in her lap; "When Sir Arthur came back, and met my aunt and myself quite by accident in Regent Street, we renewed our old acquaintance. He came to dine with us. I told him exactly what had happened, and then—then he asked me to marry him, and, of course, I refused."

"But why of course?" asked Kenneth.

"There were two very good reasons," she said, leaning forward a little and looking at him with a steady gleam in her eyes which he never forgot, and a little tightening of the lips, which meant something like conviction for him. "In the first place, Sir Arthur was not only an invalid; he was, as you said just now, a dipsomaniac, or, at least, was becoming one. I am not twenty-five yet, and I have had one adventure in matrimony. Of course, you understand what I mean."

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. I relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MAVIS BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

Making Precautions in Ireland

Passengers From Scotland Being Searched -- Former Boer Leader Hopes for Independence of South Africa -- Turkish Rebels Capture Town--Incendiary Fires at Cork and Dublin -- Prince of Wales at Sandiego.

REPORT ON SOUTH AFRICAN INDEPENDENCE.

PRETORIA, S.A., April 4. General Christian DeWet, who commanded the Orange Free State forces in the Boer War, declared in a speech on Saturday that South Africa should persist in pleading with England for independence until England had said that although he had been called a rebel he knew his cause was right. General DeWet said that Paul Kruger, former President of the Transvaal, and Marthinus Pretorius, former President of the Orange Free State, had sown a seed which it was impossible to eradicate. "We must steadfast in our determination to have that which is not far off, namely freedom," he continued. General DeWet said that no nation in the world would blame the South Africans for desiring to get back the independence they had enjoyed. They would kneel before England with prayer for independence, he declared, until she became so tired of it that she would say, "Go form your Government." General DeWet declared that it was impossible for the Africans to love the Union Jack, as Englishmen living in the Transvaal under the South African flag could never love the flag which was not theirs. He said that if restoration of the Vierkleur, or the African republican flag, should be in his day, it would be the greatest of his life.

IRISH NATIONALISTS ADVANCE.

LONDON, April 3. A saboteur, a town directly east of Sandinople and 23 miles from the British port of entry in West Asia Minor, was occupied by Turkish nationalist troops on Tuesday, according to a Constantinople despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co.

INCENDIARISM IN CORK.

CORK, April 4. Two fires, believed to be the work of incendiarism, occurred in Cork last night. The blazes broke out simultaneously in the inland revenue and pension offices. The water supply, which was insufficient at first, was soon increased, but too late to prevent the total destruction of both buildings.

ALSO IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, April 4. Masses of important correspondence and documents were burned in a series of fires which kept the fire-fighters rushing from nine o'clock last night until after midnight. The circumstances indicate a well-planned incendiary plot. The fires occurred in the offices of at least eight income tax collectors and surveyors in different parts of the city. The fires were well advanced before the fire brigade arrived. Just before the outbreak the caretakers of the burned buildings were held up by armed men. A man, believed to be Private Laurence Mackenzie, of Belfast, was shot through the head this morning in Howth, southeast of the city. It is thought the wound will prove fatal.

THE PRINCE TO SPEAK.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 3. The announcement that the Prince of Wales who is expected to arrive here next Wednesday en route to Australia will deliver a public address here, was contained in wireless advices received yesterday from the Commander of the battle cruiser Renown, on which he is proceeding up the Pacific coast from Panama Canal. The Prince will be met on the Renown here by a committee including Robert Wood Bliss. The evening programme includes an informal dinner to be given by Major Wilde and a ball at the hotel Delcoronado.

"CATTLE DRIVING" IN IRELAND.

LONDON, April 3. "Cattle driving" on a large scale occupied Galway and County Mayo on Saturday, according to news agencies' despatches received in London. At least eighteen hundred men took part in the drive in Galway, sweeping from Creggs to Castle Blakney and Roscommon on one side and to Dunmore on the other. Thousands of acres were cleared, the police being powerless to check the drive. There were three drives in County Mayo. The police and military are helping to collect the cattle. Some arrests have been made.

ALLIED NOTE TO TURKEY.

LONDON, April 3. The Allies have presented a collective note to the Turkish Government, reiterating their demand that the latter officially disavow the Nationalist movement, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Constantinople, under Tuesday's date.

HUNGARIAN STATESMAN ON PEACE TREATIES.

BUDAPEST, April 3. Count Albert Aponyi, returning here from Paris to-day for a conference with Admiral Horthy, the Hungarian Regent, and party leaders, declared that the peace treaties between the Allied powers and Central Empires were only temporary in nature. My impression is, he said, that no Allied statesmen sincerely believe the present peace treaties can hold for long. I have not lost hope and believe the position of Hungary to be better than it was a month ago.

HUNDREDS CHINESE SOLDIERS KILLED IN MUTINY.

AMOY, China, April 3. Several hundred soldiers were killed and many wounded in a mutiny of troops in Anhui province, according to advices received here. Fighting is continuing, and the inhabitants are fleeing in terror, the despatch adds.

U. S. NOT REPRESENTED.

LONDON, April 3. The United States will not be represented in any capacity on the special commission which the Council of the League of Nations recently decided to send to Russia. This announcement was made by the League of Nations here yesterday.

BOLSHEVIK LAUNCH ATTACK.

WARSAW, April 3. The Bolsheviks launched attacks yesterday on both sides of the river Dvina, apparently in the beginning of their threatened drive on the northern front designed to carry them in the direction of Vilna. Fighting at various points on this front is reported in Lithuanian communiques to-day.

VICTORY OVER REDS.

THE HAGUE, April 4. The general advance of the German troops along the entire front against insurgent forces in Ruhr and neighboring industrial regions, which began Friday, has been very successful, according to well-informed Dutch sources. The right wing of the advancing troops forced the Reds to retreat across the Testenberg and the Government forces have already penetrated Hamborn, advices stated.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

NEW YORK, April 3. Traffic in New York Harbor was still curtailed to-day by the strike of harbor employees, but the ferry lines except those of Erie and West Shore railroad were operating on virtually normal schedules. Railroad officials claimed that while many tugs, lighters and barges were out of service, all danger of interruption of food and coal supplies had been averted. Union officials reasserted that the harbor would be tied up before nightfall, claiming that a misunderstanding in HARRY McAVOY, well-known Los Angeles hotel man who says he spent a small fortune and tried every treatment money could buy without getting relief, until he tried Taniac. Says he suffered for twenty years.

"In 1900 I suffered a general breakdown and during these 20 years I spent a small fortune searching for health," said Harry McAvoy, with the "Alexandria Hotel of Los Angeles, one of the largest and finest hotels in Southern California.

"I went to the best specialists in New York, Chicago, New Orleans and Seattle. I tried every medicine and treatment money could buy, but the best I could do was to get a little temporary relief. Finally I gave out completely under the strain and had to quit work altogether. I was terribly discouraged over my condition and felt that I would be an invalid for the rest of my days.

"I had indigestion in its very worst form. In fact, I was a confirmed dyspeptic; nothing agreed with me and I suffered from all the terrible symptoms of indigestion. My heart palpitated so badly I thought I had heart trouble and I would get so weak and faint at times I fell flat in my tracks before I could support myself.

"I was absolutely afraid to eat, for it meant nothing but suffering afterwards and I would have awful pains and burnings in the stomach and chest. Sleepy, I didn't know what it was to get a night's sleep! I would lie in bed a while and then get so restless I would have to get up and walk the floor. I was almost a nervous wreck and couldn't even sit still and write a letter. I lost so much weight and strength I was almost too weak to walk, and I honestly believe no man in this world suffered any more than I did.

"Last September I realized I could hold out no longer, and as I had read a great deal about Taniac, I made up my mind to give it a trial. Well, sir, it was the greatest and happiest surprise of my life, for I began to feel better right away. My appetite improved, I began to sleep better, and my strength gradually returned. So I kept right on taking the medicine and in only a few weeks' time my troubles had all left me and I found I had gained 15 pounds in weight.

"From that day to this I have positively been in the best health I ever enjoyed in all my life. I never have an ache or pain. I eat anything I want and don't suffer any bad after effects at all; in fact I feel just like a new man and have plenty of strength and energy. My nerves are steady and strong. I never have a dizzy spell and my sleep is restful and refreshing.

"Taniac has been worth its weight in gold to me and all the money on earth could not buy the good it has done me."

Taniac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, and by the leading Druggist in every town.—adv.

orders yesterday had prevented all workers from joining the strike.

FRENCH WILL NOT GO TO CANADA.

DUBLIN, April 3. Official denial is made of the report that Field Marshal Viscount French would probably go to Canada as Governor General.

REDS CALL OFF GENERAL STRIKE.

COPENHAGEN, April 3. The decision to call off the general strike in the entire Ruhr industrial region was reached at a plenary session of the executive council of that district yesterday, according to a despatch received here from Essen. It will be renewed, however, if the Berlin Government fails to fulfil the obligations entered into with the workers and in particular if it fails to halt the movement of troops against Ruhr.

GETTING SENSE.

WASHINGTON, April 3. Picketing of the British Embassy by women favorable to an Irish Republic was called off on Saturday by leaders of the movement. At the State Department it was said that there were no developments in the situation. It was understood that no further action would be taken unless the women again appeared at the Embassy.

MILITARY ACTIVITY IN IRELAND.

BELFAST, April 3. In addition to pronounced military activity in the vicinity of Londonderry to-day, all roads about the town are being patrolled. The passengers who arrived by the Scotch boat at Londonderry were searched by the police. Meanwhile violent scenes were reported taking place among Sinn Fein prisoners confined in Londonderry jail. Unusual activity also was displayed by the authorities at Dundalk, midway between Belfast and Dublin, special patrols being posted at all approaches to the town. Drivers of motor cars, which vehicles were numerous on the roads because of Easter-tide activities, were required to produce their permits.

DUTCH STRIKE CALLED OFF.

COPENHAGEN, April 4. The general strike called as a protest against the resignation of Premier Zahle, on March 20th, was called off to-day, it was announced. The announcement stated that all parties had agreed it would be necessary to hold elections after the new electoral law has been passed. Premier Lieke declared upon the King's suggestion that he desired to retire. The King will now ask former Director of Ministry of Justice Frijs to form a cabinet with the understanding that the Rigsdag will resume its sessions as soon as possible.

PORTUGAL RATIFIES TREATY.

LISBON, April 4. The Senate and Chamber of Deputies have ratified the Treaty of Versailles. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs immediately despatched a courier to Paris with Portugal's ratification.

RUSSIA TO OPEN TRADE.

COPENHAGEN, April 3. A Russian trade commission, headed by M. Negin, Minister of Commerce in the Lenine Cabinet, and M. Rosovsky, accompanied by 24 experts in trade and engineering, arrived here from Moscow yesterday. Negin said that after a short stay in Denmark it was the intention of the commission to proceed to London, and perhaps later to the United States. It was the desire of the commission, Negin said, to get in touch with the merchants and manufacturers in Allied countries and start trade between them and Russia as soon as possible.

Essex Motors.

A Mysterious Message

And Other Historical Stories.

(E. F. SHORTIS.)

When events happen that cannot be ascribed to any human agency, they are generally placed in the category of the supernatural. We have many instances recorded in history wherein it is stated that supernatural agency played a prominent part, as for example, the appearance of the ghost of Caesar to Brutus, the night previous to the Battle of Philippi, and the ghost of Banquo, which would not remain away, as recorded by the immortal Shakespeare in his play of Macbeth. It may be said that the great bard of Avon, possessing as he did, a wonderful power of imagery, drew from his well-stored mind the events that made up his imperishable dramas, but we have also other instances, recorded by the greatest theological writers of the ages, which go to prove that such events have happened, and are still believed by the deepest thinkers and most profound scholars of the day, after the lapse of ages. Be that as it may, for my part, I cannot see that what happened in the early days of Christianity, cannot happen in our own day, because the days of miracles have not passed, and it is only reasonable to assert that they never will pass. In my own day, I was told by a most reliable and trustworthy gentleman of an event that occurred over sixty years ago in our own country that would give the scoffers and doubters an everlasting time at their usual method of decrying everything that they cannot, or will not understand, and whose arguments, if any, invariably wind up with the stereotyped sentence, "I don't believe it, and wouldn't unless I saw it." And yet these worthies, whose argumentative powers are limited to the above sentence, would feel aggrieved if one told them they possessed no brains, which according to their own dictum, they should believe, because they never saw them. Any intelligent parrot or cockatoo could adduce the same mode of reasoning after a little instruction from a past master in training.

THE SUPERNATURAL PREDOMINATES.

For my part when events happen which cannot possibly be attributed to human agency, I am inclined to think that the supernatural element predominates. There are many instances, as I said before, to prove the truth of my words. I do not wish it to be understood that I am a believer in spiritualism, seances, crystal-gazing, table-rapping, whirling about, chairs and other articles, tea-cup tossing or card-cutting, etc. Far from it, although we have several men to-day who are looked upon as scientists, literateurs, etc., who have a large following, and who believe in those seances and mediums, and hold conference with departed relatives, present their questions and receive answers through those mediums. All these may be classed as either clever tricksters or demonic abominations. Amongst those who believe in such, I may mention Sir Oliver Lodge, who published an account of a conversation he held with his son, who had passed away some time previously, and the wonder of it is that, from all appearance, he is sincere in his beliefs that he did really converse with his filial relative in the other world through a medium. The late W. T. Stead, who was undoubtedly a clever man, an able and voluminous writer and possessed of vast experience, had also a tendency that way, and the wonder of it is, that a man of the world well versed in almost any subject, should be obsessed with such a microbe in the brain as to give way and believe in the clever machinations or sleight of hand as those who run those paying institutions and prey upon the weak spots in the general make-up of humanity. Not only do they believe in those charlatans, such as Mrs. Piper and others, but they publish their belief to the world, and expect every intelligent, level-headed, and Christian mortal to believe in them also. In the olden days, such worthies, I mean the charlatans, spiritists, etc.,—would be burned to death, but in these days of freedom of conscience or what may be more appropriately styled, the doctrine of go-as-you-please, has such free scope that one can believe in anything, no matter how monstrous or ridiculous, and there are none to say him nay.

OCCULT AGENCIES AT WORK.

But there are cases that have been recorded wherein any intelligent man must give way to the fact that supernatural agency must have been at work to accomplish a fact that has puzzled the greatest scientists for centuries; and before I come to my story the events of which happened in our own country and amongst our own people, I shall give one from the most authentic sources, bearing truth upon the face of it, and could not possibly have any connection with or be the work of spiritists, charlatans or even duly qualified and recognized scientists of the highest degree. The method of embalming amongst the Egyptians of old was a wonderful art, and the remains of their Kings, Queens, and Nobles are as intact to-day as they were three thousand years ago, as witness the mummified remains of Rameses which was taken out of its tomb and placed in a Museum some twenty years ago. And yet this mode of embalming has for centuries been a lost art, and further it never did bear upon the supernatural, because it was performed by the hands of man, and by the process, chemical or otherwise, became as hard as stone. No doubt many of our young soldiers, more especially the Blue Puttee boys, such as Capt. Bert Tait, Lieut. Cyril Carter, Lt.-Corp. Jack Ryan have viewed the remains of some ancient Egyptian King, Queen or Noble, in the Pyramid of Cheops or Cephrenes, who had once been a living representative of all the grandeur, power, glory and majesty that this world contains, and who had "Walked about (how strange a story)! In Thebes' streets three thousand years ago. When the gigantic Memnon was in all its glory And Time had not begun to over-throw Those temples, palaces and piles stupendous Of which the very ruins are tremendous."

"Perhaps that very hand now pinioned flat, Has hob-a-nobbed with Pharaoh glass; Or dropped a half-penny in Homer's hat, Or doffed thine own to let Queen Dido pass, Or held by Solomon's own invitation A torch at the great Temple's dedication."

ANCIENT AND MODERN.

In imagination I can picture our brave boys, such as Lieut. Carter, Capt. Tait and Lt.-Corp. Ryan (the talented historian of our Regiment) and the rest of them, at the base of the Great Pyramid, from the summit of which forty centuries looked down upon them, the glorious little band of heroes from far-distant Newfoundland, who were there to fight in the great cause of Liberty and Humanity, contemplating the mummified remains of some ancient King, Queen or Noble—a descendant of the mighty Pharaohs or Ptolemys and addressing it in an interrogatory manner, as if communing with the great departed:

"Speak! for thou long enough hast acted dully! Thou hast a tongue—come let us hear its tune; Thou'rt standing on thy legs above ground, Mummy! Revisiting the glimpses of the moon, Not like thin ghosts or disembodied creatures; But with thy bones and flesh, and limbs and features."

"Tell us, for doubtless thou canst recollect— To whom should we assign the Sphinx's fame? Was Cheops or Cephrenes architect Of either Pyramid that bears his name? Is Pompey's Pillar really a misnomer? Had Thebes a hundred gates as sung by Homer?"

"Didst thou not hear the pother o'er thy head When the great Persian conqueror Cambyses Marched armies o'er thy tomb with thundering tread, O'erthrew Osiris, Orus, Apis, Isis, And shook the Pyramids with fear and wonder, When the gigantic Memnon fell asunder."

"Since first thy form was in this box extended, We have, above ground, seen some queer mutations; The Roman empire has begun and ended, New worlds have risen—we have lost old nations; And countless Kings have in the dust been humbled, Whilst not a fragment of thy flesh has crumbled."

"Statue of flesh—immortal of the dead! Imperishable type of evanescence! Posthumous man, who quitted thy narrow bed And standest undecayed within our presence, Thou wilt hear nothing till the judgment morning When the great trump shall thrill thee with its warning."

A MASTERPIECE OF EMBALMING.

But to my mind the most wonderful case of the supernatural that I have ever read or heard tell of occurred while workmen were engaged, about sixty or seventy years ago, in demolishing the ancient Church of Urbach, which dates from the earliest period of the middle ages, and was tottering to its fall. Enclosed in the wall of the choir, which was four feet thick, was found a marble coffin, nine feet four inches in length, and adorned with figures in relief finely executed. The opening of the coffin was a difficult operation—the joints having been covered with a cement which acquired the hardness of the marble itself. It had accordingly to be broken into from the foot, and revealed an object which took the spectators by surprise—a body, clothed in the sacerdotal habit, fresh as that of a man who died yesterday. The colour of the epidermis, firmness of the flesh, the hair, the nails—all were in the most perfect preservation. The flesh yielded beneath the finger like soft wax; the limbs had kept their suppleness, and the very eyes, but half closed by the eyelids had preserved a portion of their brightness. The dead man wore a cassock of pale blue silk, interwoven with threads of pure gold, and a linen gown, extremely fine and trimmed with lace. These garments worn so many hundred years ago, seemed quite new. Round the hands clasped on the breast, was twined a Rosary of white pearls, strung on beads of gold—to which was attached a small box, in form of a medallion, made of metal whose composition is unknown. The medallion contained, on one of its faces, the following inscription, in characters which suggested the date of the

A Famous Poet and Prose Author.

On Monday, April 4, 1774, Oliver Goldsmith died in London after his return from Hyde House Farm, his favourite resort in the Middlesex village of Hyde, where he wrote his "History of the Earth and Animated Nature," and another of his prose works, "The Vicar of Wakefield," and his poem, "She Stoops to Conquer." He was buried in Temple Church, London, where his tablet may be seen. A monument was erected to him in Westminster Abbey, and a statue of him in front of Trinity College, Dublin, he having been born at Pallas, an Irish hamlet, the son of a clergyman, in 1730. He obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree at this college in 1749 and afterwards went to Edinburgh to study medicine, but failed to pass the examinations. He then took chambers in the Temple, London, as if to become a lawyer, and there died. But it was as an author that he is celebrated, not only by his poems, "The Traveller" and "The Deserted Village," and many shorter ones, full of humour, such as "The Haunch of Venison" and "The Clown's Reply," and sometimes of pathos such as "Edwin and Angelina;" but he wrote also histories of England, Greece, and Rome, and the abridgments of these by William Pinnock, a London publisher, who lived from 1782 till 1848, were used as the books for boys in grammar schools during the first half of the nineteenth century, as, for example, at King Edward the Sixth's school at Bath, where the boarders and day-scholars included a large number of the high social class. His History of England contains verses which, with poetical taste, he either composed or quoted, and which became impressed upon the memories of some pupils of that time. For example, of the reign of Richard the Third, "The rat, the cat, and Lovell the doer, Ruled all England under the hog," meaning that Sir Richard Rateriffe, or Radcliffe, William Catesby, and Francis Viscount Lovell, were the chief statesmen of Richard the Third, whose crest was a wild boar. In the reign of Charles the ### HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

There is a certain character in our national life who has not, it seems to me, received his full meed of honor. I refer to that patient, courageous, kindly gentleman—the country doctor. Doubtless not all country doctors belong to this fine fraternity of service but I have met enough to convince me that though the individual may vary, the type, at least is high one.

Does Not See in You Only a Tonsil or Appendix.

Of course the country doctor is not a specialist. As a result he is with the idea which so often obsesses specialists, that any disease may be due to something wrong with the part in which he specializes and curbs treatment thereof. In other words the country doctor sees you as a whole, while the specialist sees as a person with a pus-producing tonsil or appendix.

The country doctor is almost always a genius with children. He really has several of his own who he taught him how to handle all their ailments.

Of course every doctor is liable to undergo tremendous strain but it is as if the country doctor had more than his share. The whole countryside often depends upon him and they are in a way his children cannot fall them.

A Typical Country Doctor.

The individual who most profoundly aroused my admiration for the country doctor in a little town in New England. In summer he made his rounds by automobile like any city doctor. But the first snowfall till the mud sprang had dried into the dusts of one saw no more of automobiles that little town than one did two or three years ago, and the doctor went forth in his sleigh in as primitive a fashion as his ancestors. The phone has enlarged the country doctor's circuit. He had to keep three or four (which he cared for himself) drove thirty and forty miles a and leave the horse to find his way, and sleep.

He Had to Unharness Three Times.

Oftentimes the roads were piled so high with snow that if the horse got off the road he was almost buried and could scarcely be gotten back without unharnessing. The doctor came to me one night indomitable as ever but plainly on the verge of exhaustion. He had driven forty miles that day and on his last trip had to unharness and harness three times.

Honor to whom honor is due. Surely no member of the community stands higher in real worth than a good country doctor. And surely no man, no matter how far he travels sees more of the real inwardness of life, more of the hearts of men and women, than he.

Household Notes.

Wash prunes thoroughly, then cook in the water they were soaked in, and use no sugar.

It is a mistake to leave lettuce leaves soaking in water. It makes them rather tasteless.

If sandwiches are not needed immediately, lay a damp napkin over them to keep them moist.

Save dish wiping by drying only glass and silver and rinsing other dishes with boiling water.

The greater part of the spring diet should consist of fruit, vegetables, cheese, eggs and fish.

Sweetbreads are most easily digested and make excellent food for those with faulty digestion.

Sandwiches with filling of finely chopped onion between, eaten before bedtime, are said to induce sleep.

Eggs and cream make the best thickening in soup, but cornstarch and milk can be used as substitutes.

Bohemian salad is made with diced cold lamb, diced cucumber, shredded lettuce and chopped parsley.

An excellent breakfast dish is made of finnan haddie, shredded into hot milk with butter and pilot biscuits.

A sprayer is an absolutely necessary thing in the garden unless one is willing to have it eaten up by insects.

Cold chicken left from the roast, cut into dice, mixed with cream dressing and covered with grated cheese is delicious baked.

If there is a quantity of hot cake batter left, stir in some currants and steam in small cups. This will make a good dessert.

Re-Establishment Committee Meeting.

Hon. J. M. Kent presided over the special meeting of the Civil-Re-establishment Committee held on Thursday afternoon, when some 35 cases were considered; 28 approved, and 11 extensions in various courses granted.

The attendance was a most representative one; Hon. H. J. Brownrigg, Hon. A. Campbell, Rev. Dr. L. Curtis, Dr. V. P. Burke, Lieut.-Col. W. F. Rendell, Major J. W. March, Major B. Butler, Major W. H. Parsons, Dr. W. W. Blackall, Vocational Officer, and by invitation, Lieut. Col. Geo. Carv, Capt. Leo Murphy, Capt. G. Whitty, and Capt. Gerald Byrne, Secretary to the Committee.

A most interesting phase of the session was the employment report, which showed that 58 men had applied for positions during the month of March and 48 had been accommodated, although 115 were still without work. In the matter of agriculture, several letters were read, which were received with sympathetic interest. These are from practical farmers, and the hope is expressed that the plans now outlined by the Government will be used to the best interests of the Veterans and to a real development of the agricultural interests of the Dominion.

A very busy session of the Committee terminated at 6.30 p.m.

An All-African Air Route.

Years ago, Cecil Rhodes, that ardent Imperialist, whose remains now lie amid the solitudes of the Matoppo Hills, having died before his plans could be worked out, had visions of an all-African British line of railway from Cairo to the Cape of Good Hope. But this imperial vision has not yet come to realization. Next to it, however, has dawned the day of the all-African air service between the points named, which is imperial in inception and all-British in execution. A regular aviation service is now about to be taken up traversing the African continent from North to South, a total flying distance of about fifty-two hundred miles, most of this being over the trackless equatorial jungle of the Dark Continent. Notwithstanding the immense length of the schedule, the official announcement of this enterprise places the actual flying time at fifty-two hours, or at the rate of one hundred miles per hour, while the machines are in the air, about twice as long as it takes an express train to go from St. John's to Port aux Basques, when everything is clear and running time certain.

During last year, three British exploring parties were continuously at work, surveying and preparing the route, constructing aerodromes and acquiring landing fields from local tribal heads. And this work was carried out without the knowledge of the world at large. It was shortly following the conclusion of the armistice with Turkey in 1918 that Sir J. M. Salmond, of the British Air Ministry, saw a favorable opportunity to make a selection of parties competent to survey and report upon possible air routes across Africa, and in December of that year, three expeditions, each consisting of six officers and the necessary assistants started out, each one taking a separate section of the planned route. The Northern section, in length about fifteen hundred miles, from Cairo to Nimule in the Sudan, was in charge of Major Long; the second section from Nimule to Abercorn in Rhodesia, over nine hundred miles was surveyed by that well known big game hunter from India, Major Emmett. The southern and longest stretch of two thousand miles from Abercorn to Cape Town was completed by the party under Major Court-Treatt, who had previously travelled through the great Sahara desert starting from Timbuctoo.

The result of one year's hard work of those intrepid explorers and pioneers of the African wilderness, one of the most uninviting regions in the world for airmen, is the establishing of a regular air service, the continent being traversed by a fully equipped route, with landing grounds at intervals of two hundred miles (in some cases less) beginning at the mouth of the river Nile and ending at the Cape of Good Hope, the Cape of Storms as named originally by its Portuguese discoverer, Diaz. On December 25, 1919, the British Air Ministry made known the outcome of the survey. The saving of time effected by the opening of this air route will be enormous. The total distance by sea and other methods of communication is six thousand, two hundred and twenty-three miles, to complete which a journey of from 59 to 75 days was required. The difference between this and the estimated 52 hours required for the air passage is so enormous that it cannot fail to become popular. No train could ever hope to make the through run in a similarly short period, and perhaps the spirit of Rhodes is thoroughly in sympathy with a project of which doubtless he had never dreamed, when his great design of connecting Cairo and the Cape with two lines of steel was born. Britain leads, as the great Empire Builder would have her, and this splendid conquest of the air would perhaps appeal more to the great South African than his own unaccomplished but gigantic project.

Beaumont-Hamel Battlefield.

The plans of the committee which has undertaken the responsibility of collecting contributions for the purchase of the Beaumont-Hamel Battlefield, are complete. Knowing how deeply we all feel our gratitude to those of our boys who fell, stopping the onrush of German enemies, breaking their morale, and keeping us so safe, the committee has decided to ask for no donation larger than one dollar, so that a far greater number throughout the island may share in this loving ownership of this cemetery of Newfoundland in France. We look to the women of Newfoundland to show their practical sympathy for these, our dead, in the same magnificent manner in which they worked shoulder to shoulder for these same men when alive. Remember, the results of the Great War are still with us, and we must not be weary in well doing, until all is cleared up and set right. This is one great occasion, one great opportunity that has come to us of unitedly sharing a responsibility that must touch every woman's heart—we know we shall not fall each other, and we shall not fall those who are gone. It is the intention of the Beaumont-Hamel committee to hold a mass meeting of women next Friday afternoon, the 9th inst. All women will be welcome. More details will be given to-morrow.

A Bad Break.

Through an oversight on the part of the Government, local firemen were not engaged to bring out the two new ships recently purchased for the coastal service. Firemen from the other side will bring them out despite the fact that a number of our men are walking around. The local Union contend that they could and would do the job cheaper, as the foreign firemen are paid higher wages. The Government will find themselves in a pickle if the imported men are engaged for a term as the locals say they will not be permitted to put our people out of a means of living.

Getting Ready for Rugby Games.

The Feildians who will participate in this season's Rugby games enjoyed a lecture on the subject given this morning in the C.L.B. Armoury by Major A. Raley, now a master at the College. The officers for the year are: A. B. Perlin, Captain; A. Rendell, Vice-Captain; Gerald Lemessurier, Secretary. The Methodist College officers are: L. Macpherson, Captain; D. Clouston, Vice-Captain; H. Joyce, Secretary. The games, which will be the first ones since 1917, will begin by the middle of May. It is not known, yet, whether the St. Bon's boys will enter the series.

Coopers Strike Hard Times.

Some 40 or 50 coopers are at present walking the street, owing to the great scarcity of work in their line. No cooper shops have closed down, but all are working much less than in normal times, and there is probably not one which has not laid off a man or two. The slump is the worst to occur since the beginning of the war, some 6 years ago. These conditions began some two months ago, and is an indication that "Tory times are hard times."

Don't miss the C. L. B. Concert, Methodist College Hall, tonight. A real musical treat for all who attend. Tickets at the store of Gray & Goodland's.

Lost His Prize.

A young man who drew the S.S. Seal in a sweep stake is out the sum of $600.00 as a result of not paying for his ticket. The man who got up the sweep asked for the price of the ticket yesterday, but the unfortunate holder had not the money on him. As an alternative he was offered half the prize money but refused it saying he wanted all or none. To-day he looked for his prize or the part but was refused both, so it is a case of none.

Boy Breaks Leg.

Charles Blackler, the 12 year old son of M. C. B. Blackler of Kimberley Row, met with a painful accident on Sunday afternoon. The lad with some companions was playing near the old railway track and in some manner fell and fractured his leg. He was removed to his home and a doctor being called the limb was set.

Express Leaves To-Morrow.

An express leaves the city at one o'clock to-morrow, calling at points between here and Millertown. The line is now clear between Port aux Basques and Humbermouth, the only portion not yet cleared being the Top-sails.

Government Charters Schooner.

The Government has chartered the auxiliary schooner Dorothy Melita to freight to Grand Bank. Grand Bank Harbor, it will be remembered, was destroyed not long ago, and no steamer can now get in and out there. Hence the schooner. She sailed from here on Saturday afternoon for Grand Bank direct, taking some passengers.

Committee Meets To-Night.

The Young Men's League Preliminary Committee, appointed at the meeting of young men in the Methodist College Hall a week ago, meets in the Council Room, Board of Trade, at 8 o'clock this evening to complete the Constitution, which will be submitted to the general meeting next Sunday evening. The committee has met once already and it is hoped that final arrangements will be made tonight.

Memorial Chimes Arrive

The memorial chimes to be installed in St. Thomas's Church in honor of the fallen soldiers from that parish, have arrived and will be put in as soon as possible. It is expected that they will play first on Whit Sunday, when the hymn will be "We love the place, O God." The inscription also has arrived, and this, containing the name of every soldier or sailor who went from St. Thomas's, will be placed in the tower porch.

Isn't This So?

You can buy Tinned Milk (condensed and evaporated) for about 25 cents a tin, but you know only too well that you can never disguise its flavour in your tea, and to say the least it is most unsatisfactory to use for when you open a tin it has to be put into immediate consumption. But perhaps the thing that hurts most is that when you buy Tinned Milk you are paying in the vicinity of $1.25 a gallon for milk—which in these days of high costs is a great deal too much.

HERE'S THE REMEDY!

A one-pound tin of "Kilm" costs you only 35 cents and makes a full gallon of delicious milk at about half the cost of Evaporated or Condensed in tins. Its advantages (in addition to the enormous saving) lies in the fact that you make only just the amount of milk you require for immediate use at the particular moment—and then replace the tin on the shelf. There is therefore no such thing as waste milk or sour milk. No wonder delighted users say that when they have a tin of "Kilm" in the house they always have a little milkman on the shelf ready for use.

SO ECONOMICAL!

It's so economical too! A one pound tin makes a full gallon. "Kilm" is genuine for the flavour proves it, and it is heartily recommended by your grocer.

Nearly Ready.

The Moderate Prohibition Committee has divided itself into sub-committees, each of which will deal with special matters. The committee which is looking after the petition have their work nearly finalised. It is hoped to have the petition circulated during the week.

WITHOUT FOUNDATION.—The report that some of the sealing ships are running short of coal and are on the way home is, it seems, without foundation. Messages of enquiry imply that they have sufficient coal for the voyage.

Sealing News.

But little improvement is indicated in the messages received since Saturday. The Eagle is moving south, being short of coal and should arrive during the week. The Sable I. is also due to arrive here not later than the 7th. Following are the messages:

BOWRING BROS.

EASTER SERVICES

In the City Churches.

C. of E. CATHEDRAL.
Large congregations attended the Easter Day services at the Cathedral of St. John, the Baptist yesterday, His Excellency the Governor being present at both morning and evening prayer. The celebrations of the Blessed Sacrament of our Lord's Body and Blood drew many to the altar to "do this in remembrance." At the 11 o'clock celebration which was full choral His Lordship the Bishop was the celebrant, with Revs. Canon Jeeves and Bolt as Gospeller and Epistoller respectively, the assistant being Rev. J. Erinton. At Mattins the Bishop was the preacher, his sermon being most eloquent and instructive, and upon the subject dear to all Christians "The Risen Christ." The Psalms, Easter Anthem, Te Deum, Jubilate Deo, were beautifully rendered by a full choir, the singing being favorably commented upon by His Excellency, who sent a cordial message of thanks to the Organist and chorists. Canon Jeeves, Rector of the Cathedral, also expressed personally his high appreciation of the singing of the choir. At Evensong, the Rector occupied the pulpit and delivered a fine sermon on Easter and the Resurrection. The special anthem at both regular services was "Targett's 'In the End of the Sabbath,'" the soloists being Miss Lily Stafford and Mr. S. Will Cornick. The altar and super-altar were profusely decorated with Easter Lilies, and the devout body of worshippers which filled the nave and aisles of the spacious building at all the services, were profoundly grateful and heartily thankful for all the mercies vouchsafed them by the Almighty, and for the opportunity to again meet their risen Lord in the Holy Eucharist.

ST. THOMAS'S.
Services began at 6.30 in the morning, when a great concourse of the faithful assembled for worship of their risen Lord were present at His altar to receive His Body and Blood. At the second celebration which was choral and beautifully sung by the choir, there was a similar large gathering, as also at the principal service which was immediately preceded by Mattins, when the anthem sung in its appropriate place, had Miss Eva Jones as its soloist. Dr. Jones preached at the last celebration, on the subject of the Day, making it plain that a right attitude towards the Resurrection is necessary for a saving faith in it. Mozart's Gloria was exquisitely rendered at the offer-

ry. At Evensong, Rev. C. A. Moulton was the officiant and preacher. His sermon went home to the hearts of all present, as he insisted on the power of the Resurrection and the necessity of realizing its power in our lives as an antidote to pain, sin and death. The inspiring services of the day closed with the Hallelujah Chorus. The altar was beautifully adorned with flowers and a representation of the Crown above the Cross. The communicants exceeded in number all records, those lately confirmed making their first Communion.

ST. MARY THE VIRGIN.
The Easter Day Services at St. Mary's began with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 6.30 o'clock, when a large number of communicants assembled to greet their risen Lord in the blessed Sacrament of His body and blood. Another administration took place at 8 o'clock wherein many participated in the Eucharist. The celebrant at both offices was the Rector, Rev. A. B. S. Stirling, who was assisted by Rev. H. L. Pike. The additional number of communicants, including some of the recently confirmed, was most encouraging and it was good to see so many partakers of the Spiritual body of our Lord. Mattins was said at 11 o'clock, the order of morning prayer being semi-choral, opening with a Processional Hymn "Servants of God awake." The Easter Anthem replacing the Venite Exultemus was finely rendered by the full choir, the triumphant note of the organ, under the manipulation of that veteran performer Mr. G. B. Lloyd, being particularly thrilling. The Te Deum, Jubilate Deo and the special anthem "Hallelujah! Christ is Risen" were on a parity of rendition, and all settings being familiar there was hearty congregational singing which was most inspiring. The Rector preached, taking for his text the words from the 1st chapter of Revelations, 18th verse (Revised Version) "And I was dead, and behold I am alive for evermore, and I have the keys of death and of Hades." The sermon was a masterpiece as an exposition of the Christian belief in the Resurrection of Christ, that tremendous fact, without which the world to-day would be a place of darkness with no hope of light, and the very large congregation listened with rapt attention as the preacher unfolded the various phases of the life that should be lived if we are desirous of rising with Christ. The offertory in aid of Queen's Theological College was taken up during the singing of the hymn beginning "Ye Choirs of New Jerusalem." The third celebration of the Holy Communion for the day was made after Morning Prayer when again great numbers assembled around the altar and devoutly received the sacred elements "in remembrance of the sacrifice of the death of Christ."

At Evensong the Processional was "Christ the Lord is Risen Again," with Pye's "Magnificat" and the "Nunc Dimittis" as set by Jones. The special anthem was repeated, much to the delight of the worshippers. The several hymns were "Jesus Christ is Risen to-day," "Jesus Lives! thy terrors now" and "On the Resurrection Morning," the Recessional being that famous thrilling and magnificent sacred lyric written by Rev. Edward Paromet, beginning "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Rev. Dr. Jones, Rector of St. Thomas's preached, the theme of his discourse being "The Immortality of Man," based on the words taken from the Gospel according to St. Luke xiv:5: "Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

R. C. CATHEDRAL.
On Good Friday, at the R. C. Cathedral, Mass of the Presanctified was celebrated at 10.30 a.m., His Grace the Archbishop presiding in throne. Mons. McDermott was celebrant, Fr. Wilson, Deacon, and Fr. Sheehan, sub-deacon. The Passion was sung by Dr. Greene, Frs. Rawlins, and Flynn. In the evening the Office of Tenebrae was said, the Lamentations being sung by Frs. Conroy and Greene. On Holy Saturday the ceremonies of blessing the new fire and the lighting of the Paschal Candle took place. At Mass Rev. Dr. Greene was celebrant, Fr. Flynn Deacon, and Fr. Rawlins Sub-Deacon. On Easter Sunday morning, Pontifical High Mass was celebrated at 11 o'clock, His Grace the Archbishop being celebrant, Fr. Flynn, Deacon, and Fr. Rawlins, sub-Deacon; Rev. H. O'Connor, High Priest with Dr. Greene as Master of Ceremonies. After Mass the choir sang the Hallelujah Chorus. In the evening there were Pontifical Vespers and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)
CODFISH.—There should be no room for despondency over the outlook for the codfishery the coming season, if all connected with the industry unite in the idea to do everything possible to have well-cured fish to send to the foreign markets. As it comes out of the water, our fish is the best in the world and we should not fear competition if we make it well.
Nobody expects next fall such high prices as prevailed for dry codfish the past five years. All concerned should therefore govern themselves accordingly, especially the planters and fishermen, and economize wherever possible on the outfit. We do not agree with pessimists, who predict that fish will be down to five or six shillings a quintal.
The total stocks of dry codfish on hand in Newfoundland to-day are estimated to be about 340,000 quintals. At the average rate of export, this will all be cleaned out by the end of June, so that there will be no old fish to market when the new comes in.
Last year, in August, there were 100,000 quintals of the previous year's catch. Of the 340,000 referred to above, there are 140,000 quintals West, 120,000 North, and 80,000 in the city.
Dry codfish like other food products the world over, will not be likely to go from one extreme in price to the other in one year or even two. It need never go back to pre-war prices if our fishermen cure the fish as it ought to be cured, and if our exporters would ship reliable cargoes. It rests with ourselves to keep the price up to $12.00 for shore and $9.00 for Labrador the coming season.

COD OIL.—Owing to the attractive price of common oil and the prospect for next fall's prices, we find that many fishermen are inclined to drop out of the Refined Oil Industry this season, alleging that it does not pay as well as $2.00 or $2.20 a gallon as the rotted oil at $30.00 per tun. This would be a regrettable mistake from several viewpoints.
To-day Newfoundland Codliver Oil, thanks to the campaign of improvement by the Government inspectors, is on an equal footing as regards quotations in the foreign markets, as the Norwegian article. Codliver oil will probably go to $3.00 again next fall and we think it would be a mistake for those who have the outfit to give up manufacturing. Newfoundland will be cleaned out of both kinds by summer, and the prospects for the coming season are very hopeful.
HERRING.—Scotch Pack Herring are rated at $12.00 to $14.00 per barrel in the local market, and split at $4.50 to $5.50. The demand is poor as nobody is keen on buying in view of former experience in the New York market. The whole system will need to be revolutionized before exporters and packers will have the necessary confidence in the business to invest capital again and make it a profitable industry.
PORK AND BEEF.—It is good news to learn that prices of Pork and Beef are tumbling in Chicago, and that there are good prospects that those indispensable articles in the fishery will be much lower than last year. The St. John's importers were wise in holding off from ordering all the winter and now the country will get the benefit of the reduced prices. Only about 7,000 barrels of Pork and 3,500 barrels of Beef have been brought to St. John's since January 1st.
FLOUR.—Flour imports to St. John's so far this year are short about 20,000 barrels as compared with 1913. This is said to be caused by shortage of tonnage more than from any other cause. Beside, there was a good surplus of flour on hand with dealers here at the close of the year. We do not think that anybody expects lower prices this side of September. Latest market news indicate higher flour for the summer. The price of leading brands is $17.00.
MOLASSES.—There are seven Newfoundland vessels now at Barbados chartered to bring up cargoes of new molasses. The average yearly importation are about 11,000 guncheons, but we are informed that so far only half this quantity has been bought by Nfld. importers. It looks as if there will be a big shortage. The recent advance puts the local price up to $1.70 for Fancy and $1.55 for Choice.
SUGAR.—High priced sugar will prevail all the summer in the opinion of sugar importers. There is no shortage of supply to Refineries but, through various reasons the consumption has increased 40 per cent, as compared with pre-war times. St. John's is using more and our imports to date are some 3,000 cwts. over last year's. The present price of 20c. per 100lb is expected to advance to 25c. by July.
The annual report of the American Sugar Refining Co. shows that consumption of sugar in the United States during 1919 approximated 4,000,000 tons, or 500,000 tons more than in 1918, and 200,000 tons more than in the previous record year of 1915.

McMurdo's Store News.
MONDAY, April 5.
You will want a Spring Tonic probably. There are many such, and some very good ones. In this class stands McMurdo's Nutritive Hypophosphites. It is a real tonic, because it strengthens the nerves, increases the appetite, helps the digestive organs, and thus enables the body, by natural means, to recover itself, and it is one of the most economical of tonic mixtures. The fifty cent bottle contains about 50 average doses, the one dollar size contains 100 doses.
A new lot of Page and Shaw's Candies fresh from the manufacturers, in good assortments.
NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. and Mrs. George Purchase, of Angel Place, wish to sincerely thank all those who helped in their sad bereavement, Mrs. and Mr. John Squires, Mrs. John House, Mrs. Samuel James, Mr. and Mrs. Captain A. ## "Seal" Arrives From Icefields.

BROUGHT ONLY 26 PELTS.

Baine Johnston's steamer Seal, Capt. Randall, the first arrival from the icefields, made port early yesterday morning, with only 26 young and old hoods—one of the smallest catches on record. She was well inside the Narrows at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, the Captain claims, being off the wharf by 2.10.

As is generally known, the Seal struck hard luck from the beginning. Forcing her way through the ice-jamb she broke off one blade of her propeller. On Monday last it was decided to cut in towards the land, hoping to get into thin ice and work further North, but next morning two more blades were lost, leaving the ship with only one. Then, as coal was running short, it was considered best to abandon the voyage and return to port. Her crippled condition prevented speed, and it was not until Saturday night that she got out of the ice near Baccalieu. The weather all through the voyage, unfortunately, was moderate—unfortunately, because had it been rough the ice would have been broken up, thereby allowing the ship to get through. With the exception of a few heavy colds, no sickness was experienced on the Seal.

Greater Protection for City.

MOTOR TRUCKS ORDERED FOR FIRE COMPANIES.

It will be learned with interest that Inspector General of Police C. H. Hutchings has, in pursuance of his ambition to put the Police and Fire forces to top-notch condition, ordered two new motor trucks for the Central Station—one an accommodation truck and the other a chemical. They should arrive by the end of the month and eventually others will be ordered for the Eastern and Western Companies. In all cities abroad the horse trucks are retreating before motors and, in order that St. John's shall not be too far behind in the swim, the present move has been made. The machines to arrive are two combination chemical and hose, motor driven trucks, each with 60 gallon tanks, 1000 feet hose, 200 feet chemical hose, 24 feet extra ladder and roof ladder, and are for use in down-town fires, the old trucks to be kept in reserve for fires on the higher levels.

At the Casino.

The Young-Adams Company Opens Engagement With England's Great Divorce Play—"The Butterfly On the Wheel."

To-night the Young-Adams Company opens an extended engagement at the Casino. This marks the initial appearance of this company in St. John's, and as this is the first time St. John's theatre goes have the opportunity of witnessing plays that are recognized the best, and staged by performers who are artists at the profession, it no doubt will be greeted by crowded houses. Mr. H. Wilnot Young, the owner of the company, is an actor of rare ability and is ably assisted by Miss Marjorie Adams, whose unlimited abilities are well known throughout Canada and the United States. The other members of the company and who are well worthy of mention, are Miss Marcella Gerard, Mr. Donald Mack, Mr. P. Norman, Mr. Richard Carhart, Mr. Harvey B. Dunn, Miss Vivian Mayo and Miss Marguerite Young. In addition to this there will be high-class vaudeville specialties which will be given between the acts. The C.C.C. orchestra under the direction of Mr. Arthur Bulley, are supplying the entire act music.

Opportunities in Long-Term Bonds

Bonds maturing in 1919 or 1920 may now be sold advantageously, and the funds reinvested in longer term securities. The benefits of present high interest yield rates may thereby be secured for a period of ten years and longer.

Household Notes.
Bread pudding can be made with dry cocoa added to it. The powder should be mixed to a paste with water before adding to the milk and bread. A good cleaning fluid is made of a bar of good white soap, dissolved in boiling water; add one pint of ammonia and two pints of clear water and shake.
Peel and quarter apples, arrange in baking dish and add 1/2 cupful of sugar or honey and 1 teaspoonful of vanilla extract; then dot the apples with butter and bake.
Souffled squash is a pleasant change. Cook the squash, mash, season with butter, salt and pepper. To 2 cups of the squash add 1 cup of cream, when thoroughly mixed; yolks of 2 eggs, well beaten, and finally the well-beaten whites. Turn into a pudding dish and bake until firm.

Obituary.
WILLIAM BONIA.
Mr. William Bonia, an old and highly respected planter of St. Mary's, died at the General Hospital on Saturday, after a brief illness. Deceased arrived here about a week ago to undergo an operation, which was not considered of a serious nature by his family, and his death, so unexpectedly, comes to them as a severe blow. Deceased leaves three sons at home, one, John, having driven all the way from St. Mary's to be at his parent's death bed, arriving here Saturday, and one son and five daughters in the U.S.A., besides a widow, to whom sympathy is offered. The remains are at J. T. Martin's mortuary rooms, and will be taken home for interment by the S.S. Prospero.

To-Day's Messages.

WHY THEY RESIGNED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 4.

The Cabinet of Sali Pasha, which resigned on March 26, stepped out of office because of pressure brought upon the Govt. for the surrender of Col. Rawlinton, British control officer at Erzerum, and Capt. Forbes, British Passport Control Officer at Amasia, according to reports current here. Both officers were seized by the Nationalists, and it was rumored that the British had threatened to resume war against Turkey unless they were surrendered. Railway communication between the Bosphorus and the interior has been cut off by detachments of British, who burned a large bridge South of Bilejik, after getting out all their Indian troops, which had been guarding the line. The British headquarters are at Ismid and the protective area is restricted largely to districts within the range of naval guns.

PASSENGER BOOM.

MONTREAL, April 3.

Practically all ships sailing from Canadian to British or European ports are booked up during May and June, congestion of traffic having been intensified by the fact that the same conditions prevail at New York. The overflow of passengers there, has in many instances, been turned over to Canadian lines, sailing from St. John, Halifax, and later, Montreal.

HOW IRELAND CELEBRATED EASTER.

DUBLIN, April 4.

The Easter demonstration in Ireland did not develop into any spectacular effort of force against the Government, which adherents of the Republican cause considered would be suicidal, but there was a series of outrages in many parts of the Island. The malcontents took a row angle in their work when they attacked sixteen tax offices in many cities and towns, destroying the records in various ways, but mostly by fire. Attacks against police barracks and police huts numbered 35. In most of the cases the police had left the barracks to go to concentration points in larger cities and where only women and children were left in barracks or huts the raiders gave warning of their intentions, hence there were no casualties.

NO OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

PARIS, April 4.

Nothing has yet been announced regarding France's next step in the matter of sending German troops in the Ruhr coal basin, with the exception of a vague official statement, which says that any military measures the French Govt. has under consideration are merely for the purpose of forcing Germany to adhere strictly to the terms of the Peace Treaty.

NOT CLEARED UP.

TORONTO, April 4.

The mysterious disappearance of Ambrose Small, former owner of the Grand Opera House here, and one of the best known theatricals in Canada, on December 2 last, still remains a mystery. Mr. Small, on December 2, deposited in a local bank a marked cheque for a million dollars, which he had received from Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, as purchase of his theatre interests. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since.

CHELMSFORD INCAPABLE.

LONDON, April 4.

The India office, to-day, issued statements with reference to results of reports relative to disorders in the Punjab and elsewhere. The report, which was published by a special commission, appointed by the National Congress of India to inquire into the disturbance, said that the Commission found Baron Chelmsford, Viceroy and Governor General of India, incapable of holding his high office, and demanded his recall. It also declared that no conspiracy designed to overthrow the British Government has been proved.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

HORSEA, April 5.

Lloyd George in a letter on the state of Ireland to the Lord Mayor of Dublin says:—"The Home Rule Bill now before Parliament proposes to establish Self Government throughout the length and breadth of Ireland on lines more generous than the act of 1914. It provides means by which Ireland can attain its unity by the free act of its own citizens, without further reference to the Imperial Parliament. I do not believe that it is possible for Ireland to attain unity and peace except by these methods of reason and conciliation. The policy of Sinn Fein is exactly opposite. It depends upon violence in opinion and violence in action. It is a policy, which never can lead to the union of Ireland. It certainly can never achieve its avowed object of an Irish Republic. It can only condemn Ireland to a long continuance of terrorism and distress. The Government is most anxious to make the way as easy as possible for the task of those who are endeavouring to carry on the administration of the country on reasonable lines, and if there are any means by which it moderately can be helped and encouraged to withstand and oppose the present campaign of intimidation, and so bring nearer a settlement of Irish question, I will gladly co-operate in bringing them into effect."

The King has approved the following appointments:—Sir Worthington Evans, to be Minister without portfolio, in succession to G. N. Barnes. Ian Macpherson to be Minister of Pensions in succession to Sir Worthington Evans. Lieutenant Colonel, Sir Hamar Greenwood to be Chief Secretary for Ireland in succession to Ian Macpherson. L. Kelloway to be Parliamentary Secretary to the department of overseas trade, and additional under secretary to the foreign office in succession to Sir Hamar Greenwood. Colonel, Sir James Craig to be Financial Secretary to the Admiralty in succession to MacNamara. Major Tryon to be Under Secretary to the Ministry of Pensions, in succession to Sir James Craig. Marquess of Londonderry to be Minister of state for air in succession to Major Tryon. Sir Montague Barlow to be Under Secretary to the Ministry of Labor in succession to Wardle.

British transport workers federation have intimated to the Ministry of Labor their acceptance of the report of Lord Shaws Court of enquiry upon wages and conditions of work.

A leading article in the Paris Temps, entitled "British property," refers to satisfactory exchange returns just published, and says "If Great Britain seems already approaching a time when there will no longer be a deficit, she owes it certainly to her insular position, mineral wealth, colonies and merchant marine, and also to policy of her Government." The Cabinet, headed by Lloyd George, has managed to make peace which guarantees national security completely and which avoids servile changes, and leaves the British public with a free hand to work everywhere. Let us congratulate our Allies on giving this excellent example."

The Daily Express understands that Lord Sinha, present Under Secretary for India, will be appointed almost immediately Governor of Bengal. Lord Sinha has already returned to India. The Express says the appointment will mark one more stage in the opening of a high administration office to Indians in the Empire.

MOTIVE WORKER'S STRIKE.

LONDON, April 5.

The movement among the tramway employees, in many of the provincial towns, to obtain an increase in wages has resulted in strikes at Manchester, Oldham, Cardiff, Swansea and other cities. The strikes began on Saturday, midnight, and caused great inconvenience to holiday makers on Sunday. The suspension will continue over to-day and will handicap numerous race and athletic meetings.

THE BEST WEAPON.

LONDON, April 5.

A Dusseldorf despatch to the London Times, dated April third, says the Central Workers Council at Essen is disarming its troops and asserts it may safely be concluded that there will be no more fighting, as the workers have agreed that the best weapon to use in case the Government does not keep its agreement, would be a general strike.

THE OLD RELIABLE.

BRUSSELS, April 5.

The street car workers of this city, Louvain, Liege another whole province of Brabant, struck yesterday and as a result motor buseuses are the only means of transportation.

PROVIDED FOR.

PARIS, April 5.

A plebiscite in the Teschen region, provided for in the Treaty of Versailles, will be taken not later than May 15th, according to the Journal Des Debats. The newspaper says that the Inter-Allied Commission has concluded its deliberations.

Police Court.

A drunk was fined $2.
A drunk, in charge of a horse, was fined $5.
Two drunks were fined $1 each.
Two deserters from the Spanish army, Andrea Roca were ordered to be looked after by the company's agent.

Supreme Court.

(Present Chief Justice and Justice Johnson.)

In the matter of the Election Act of 1919.

A. E. Hickman, vs. W. H. Cave.

Mr. McNelly for petitioner. George Keats was called, sworn and examined by Mr. McNelly; cross examined by Mr. Mews. Jas. E. Evans examined by Mr. McNelly; cross examined by Mr. Mews. Further hearing adjourned sine die. Court adjourned till to-morrow.

Danger Ahead.

(Hr. Grace Standard.)

Some while ago, when the fire bell in the centre of the town was removed and the tower dismantled, quite a discussion was raised on the subject. Since then no move has been taken, and the danger of fire with no means of notifying our Volunteer Fire Brigade in the central part of the town is still present. If a fire began anywhere in the centre of the town at night one would have to proceed to the east or west ends of the town to make an alarm and precious time would be wasted in bringing the firemen to the scene. It is up to those responsible parties whoever they may be to have a new tower built and the bell erected or provide some new means to raise a general alarm.

Musical Treat at Cochrane St. Church.

The people of Cochrane Street Centennial Church were treated to several items of music and singing at both of yesterday's services. Miss Elsie Herder sang a solo at both evening and morning service. Mr. Charles Hatcher also sang a solo. In an Easter anthem by the choir Miss Hetie Vincent sang a solo. "Lift up your Heads," by the choir, was particularly good. Some carols, also, were sung.

SAGONA PASSES SEALS.—S.S. Sagona, on her trip from North Sydney, reports that she came through a patch of young harp seals 35 miles S.W. of Channel Head.

Steamers on Dock.

Reids' Argyle is on dock, receiving her Spring overhauling and having her engines gone over.

The Furness Withy tug Mouton is on dock.

Bowling's tug is on dock, receiving an overhauling.

Reids' Boats.

Argyle, Home, Petrel at St. John's. Clyde arrived at Placentia last midnight; sailing for west after arrival of to-morrow's train.

Glencoe left Port aux Basques at 7.50 a.m. yesterday, coming east.

Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 12.30 p.m. yesterday from St. John's.

Meigle due here this afternoon from North Sydney.

Sagona arrived from Port aux Basques at 11.40 p.m. Saturday.

Dunfield Boys' Club.

Wednesday night at 8 p.m. there will be a debate at the club rooms in Canon Wood Hall. The subject will be: "Which is of more need to the Empire, the Army or the Navy?" This debate will be the first of a series to occupy every Wednesday evening until the summer holidays. The following are the speakers: Army—W. G. Coysah, W. T. Newhook, E. Hammond. Navy—J. Newhook, H. Raines and W. Legge. The President, J. Raines, will occupy the chair.

THE CONSUMERS' LEAGUE.—Officers of the different trade unions, G. W. V. A. and other bodies were asked last week if they would appoint representatives to form a Consumers' League.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT myself as well as prescribed it in my practice where a liniment was required and have never failed to get the desired effect.

C. A. KING, M.D.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Some Profit on Meat.

Non-vegetarians will be interested to know the profit being made on the fresh meat they eat. It is said that butchers purchase their fresh meat from wholesalers,—who store it in the cold storage plant at the Long Bridge,—for 22 cents a pound. They then retail it at 50 and 60 cents a pound. Profit—28 cents and 38 cents a pound! Next!

SUPPOSED ROBBERY. — Some time ago a robbery involving some hundreds of dollars worth of goods was reported to the police, who after repeated enquiries could find no clue. Though the goods were disturbed there was no evidence to show that any had been taken away.

PONY RAN AWAY.—This morning an outport pony, which was taking home some sealers' belongings, bolted from where it was standing and dashed over McBride's Hill. A young man, William Power, of Branch, grabbed the animal and prevented it from running over a woman who was passing at the time; the shaft struck her in the back but she was not injured.

BORN.

WILL THEY NOT BOTH FALL INTO A DITCH?

In a book entitled, "The British Empire, Past, Present and Future," edited by A. F. Pollard, M.A., and which book is dated 1909, the following appears: "The Question of Federation."—In Newfoundland, as in other Parliamentary countries, including Great Britain, there is a great deal of misrepresentation and some corruption at election times; and it was said that the proposal that Newfoundland should federate with the Dominion of Canada, which was laid before the electorate in 1868, was defeated owing to the tales with which the electors were misled. But such methods do not account for the emphatic and prolonged refusal of Newfoundland to part with any of its independence; and the General Elections of 1893, after which more than half the members were unelected for bribery and corruption, were also exceptional. I am not much concerned about Confederation with Canada. I have my opinion about it nevertheless, still it is not with that phase of political life that I am now dealing, so much as with the other phase, that of bribery and corruption. Some St. George needs be or be raised, who shall lay the wagon of public vice in the form of greed and Corruption, low. Many have been victims to his insinuating and mischievous attacks; many have entered the field to destroy him but have not been there long before they themselves are swallowed up by him. When he was at the university during the green Freshman term, he silently vowed that when he became a Sophomore, Hazing, Dumping, Initiating, etc., would be for-ever banished, but when he became a Sophomore, he was so full of the College spirit as any of them and often got inebriated by it, he was so full of it. Nay he was worse than some of those who fell not the righteous indignation against the Sophomoric tricks as he did, twice as he was humbled before the august presence of the Principal for bad conduct to the "Freshies." So it seems to be with the politicians of Newfoundland. It does not matter how indignantly some men seem to storm against the supposed vices and greeds and corruptions of those whom they may be trying to unseat, if they are elected as members of our House of Assembly; newly elected invariably adopt the reputed vice practices of their predecessors in office. The only men who, (to my knowledge), have passed through the mill unscathed, are the men who had not brains enough, or ambitions enough or "pull" enough, to attain to any place of trust in the Government. Or to put it another way;—with possibly one bright exception, the only men who are not guilty of the practices involved in such terms as corruption, greed, patronage, etc., are the men who have not handled public monies. Not all M. H. A.'s are members of the House of Assembly, as it often happens that men who would have absolutely no chance of being elected to the House, these are the men who rule the finances of our country and render us poor indeed. These are the real M. H. A.'s; the dark horses, who carry neither blame nor praise, but who get the business, and do it.

THE SWEETS OF VICTORY.

One thing struck me forcibly as I read Professor Pollard's words, and it was the "fact that things have not changed for the better, that whether the issue be Confederation, or Prohibition, or what not, the politicians are the same; young men, old men; Catholics, Protestants; rich men, poor men; new men, tried men; clever men, dull men; college men, non-college men; lawyers, doctors, merchants, fishermen, farmers; all and in all, and all and all, give them the sweets of victory in an election, and they take so much sugar and plum of Government patronage as they can, consistently with the policy of not being found out. Of course, I say again, there are known instances of bright and glorious exceptions, i.e., if you will go back all the way to 1855 when responsible Government was first granted. Generally speaking, however, all that is needed is the chance and presto! sugar and plums.

SOME NATURAL PROBLEMS.

Newfoundland, under the very best of conditions, is a very difficult country for any form of Government. When such a large area, so many indentations in the coast line; so many bays and coves, inlets and islands, it is not easy to connect place with place and part with part. Add to this the population, 240,000 people on an area that in England exceeds forty millions pro rata, and remember that the "sparsely populated Districts" (like the poor) is always with us. If by some super-law, the fishery could be laid aside, and some other industry instituted, or industries, the whole population of the country could be comfortably gathered in the area of a town. The population problem is the father of many more problems. Our railway service, an economic study in any country, in our country with its scattered and small sized townships, becomes a veritable menace to our economic safety. No private company could possibly tackle it without it being heavily subsidized. The cost to the country is enormous, yet there seems to be no other way of doing it. The only other way of managing the railroad beside that of private ownership, (so far as I know) is that of nationalization, or Government ownership. After the experience of other countries, however, the nationalization of any public utility is not recommended. Add to the railroad problem; the Telegraph, the steamer service; the Educational and other problems, and it will be seen that the revenue of the country, is in great demand, even before it is collected. The main line of our railroad runs through hundreds of miles of country and not even a hamlet in sight. Our Educational system works out so that scores of teachers are wasting their time in schools with an attendance of six to ten scholars, and yet it is unavoidable owing to the Denominationalism of the system of Education and the sparsity of the population. Teachers, in spite of the generous increases in their grants to the salaries of teachers made by successive governments, yet are underpaid. More and more money is needed for educational purposes. More could be said along these lines, much more, whole volumes could be written about the roads and bridges and wells. In hundreds of cases, as high as $100.00 and sometimes more, is spent by one individual in one year, for one by-path, from one main road to one simple and single house. It takes a lot of money to meet all demands. In one known year, besides the usual general grant for roads, bridges and wells, $500,000.00 was granted specially. To go through the settlements where most of that large grant was spent, one would hardly imagine that 10c. had been spent more than the usual amount. It takes a lot of money to meet all demands.

A REAL CASE.

Assuming that all were honest and fair, that men knew of nothing but public interest, that all were consumed with a passion to do the right and proper thing;—the greatest good for the greatest number; even then, the revenue of Newfoundland would not be sufficient to meet the proper and legitimate demands which a modern citizenship would make upon it. But when men use the revenue of the country to enrich themselves, or to establish their friends in lucrative positions, it but requires a grain of common logic, which is common sense, to see, that one is enriched at the cost and impoverishment of the many, and that the general tendency is toward corruption and general public inefficiency. Newfoundland cannot afford to have as its statesmen and Crown Ministers, men who are guilty of questionable public deeds, or guilty of political jobbery and misappropriation.

CALL FOR TRUE LEADERSHIP.

The times call for true leadership in our political life. We are coming to a crisis. Our national debt is staggering; our tariff is stretched to breaking point, our railroad is abominable, we need new steamers, our roads are mere trails for the most part, there is not a Public Library in the country, there is not an University. But why go on? Let me say this with caution, but I say it with emphasis; there is not one tenth of the entire electorate in this country, but his ideas of the franchise at once morally and nationally bad, and I blame the under-studies. After careful thought, I am convinced that it is not the men who gives the vote so much as the man who seeks the vote, who is primarily responsible. Our leaders go wrong and those who follow him go wrong; "and if the blind lead the blind, shall they not both fall into a ditch?" Certainly! There is this difference often between the man who is a blind leader, and the man who is a blind follower; the former is deliberately blind, the latter is unfortunately blind; the former won't see, the latter, cannot see.

Permit a quotation from "Crown of Wild Olives" by John Ruskin; Para 115: "Remember, no Government is ultimately strong, but in proportion to its kindness and justice; and that a nation does not strengthen, by merely multiplying and diffusing itself. We have not strengthened as yet by multiplying into America. Nay, even when it has not to encounter the separating conditions of emigration, a nation need not boast itself of multiplying on its own ground, if it multiplies only as flies or locusts do, with the god of flies for its god. It multiplies its strength only by increasing as one great family, in perfect fellowship and brotherhood. And lastly, it does not strengthen itself by seizing dominion over races whom it cannot benefit. Austria is not strengthened, but weakened by her grasp of Lombardy; and whatever apparent increase of majesty and of wealth may have accrued to us from the possession of India, whether these prove to us ultimately power or weakness, depends wholly on the degree in which our influence on the natives race shall be benevolent and exalting."

THE WAY OUT.

The teaching of the great Art Critic in the quotation is just the one that is ever being drilled and drummed into us by the Jeremiahs, and Isaiah's, and Daniels, of our time. Not by material wealth, not by the increasing of territory, but by common honesty and truth, and a recognition of the great spiritual forces of the world, does a nation become strong; by the exaltation of righteousness and the due and proper emphasis on brotherhood, is Newfoundland going to ride safely over the surging seas which seem to threaten our national life. Leaders show the way. Go in it yourselves. If the leaders are blind leaders of the blind, shall they not both fall into a ditch?

"God give us men as leaders, God give us men. Men whom the lust of office has not spoiled. Men who will not buy and who cannot be sold. Men above Party and Creed and Sect; Men of honour and all that. God give us men."

Macaulay's, "Horatius at the Gate," shows us the type of man we need, for there are heroic needs to-day, as there are heroes:—

"For Romans in Rome's quarrel Spared neither land nor gold; Nor son, nor wife, nor limb nor life In the brave days of old.

Then none was for a party Then all were for the State; Then the great men helped the poor The poor man loved the great. Then lands were fairly portioned, Then spoils were fairly sold; The Romans were like brothers In the brave days of old."

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT myself as well as prescribed it in my practice where a liniment was required and have never failed to get the desired effect.
