CHAPTER XXIII

"To the greenroom. Oh, George! do so after him; you have the entrée—have you not?"

"Yes; but what am I to do when I get there?"

"Oh, anything—nothing—I don't know. I wish you would go, anyway. Do go, George."

"Most decidedly I'll go, my love. I hope I know my duty as a married man too well to refuse you anything. And as this overwhelming mystery is not to be explained, I presume I must trust to my own native genius and ingenuity for finding it out. Au revoir. I'm off."

And opening the door, he disappeared among the crowd, leaving Mrs. Tremain and her daughter completely at their wits' end.

Passing hastily through the crowd, Lord George wended his way to the greenroom by a side door; and, on entering, saw his friend in violent altercation with the manager. Lord Earncliffe was passionately excited, his face deadly pale, his eyes wild and fierce, and his whole appearance so completely changed from the languid, indolent being he had seemed some an hour before, that it is no wonder Lord George stood for a moment undecided whether it was his friend or somebody else.

"I say, Earncliffe, what the foul fiend are you raising such a row for? Mr. Maxwell, what's up?"

"Your friend, my lord, insists on seeing Lella; and it is contrary to her express command to admit any one. I am really very sorry; but I assure you, it is quite impossible," said the manager, bowing deprecatingly.

With a fierce exclamation of angry impatience, Disbrowe turned to Lord Austrey.

"I tell you, sir, I will see her, in spite of all the managers from her to the Antipodes. I must see her, or I shall go mad!"

"Faith, I think you are that, already! What, in the name of all that's absurd, has come to you, Earncliffe? What do you want to see Lella for?"

"I know no Lella! I came to see Jacquetta De Vere; and see her I will, in spite of earth and Hades!"

"Who the demon is she? Oh, the man is mad—that's flat! Maxwell, you know I am a personal friend of Lella's, and privileged to see her at any time. Will you tell her I wish to see her now?"

"Certainly, my lord, I have no doubt she will see you," said the manager, hastening off.

"Now, Earncliffe, what is the matter? What in the world has come over you all of a sudden?"

"I cannot tell you—I cannot tell whether I am sane or mad. Do not ask me, for I cannot talk to you now." A desperate gesture, as he strode up and down, spoke more than words.

Lord George looked at him, and indulged in a long, wailing whistle, that plainly spoke his conviction that his unhappy young friend's brain (if he ever possessed such a thing) was completely turned. At the same moment the manager appeared.

"My lord," he said, turning to Lord George, "Lella has just left the stage, and as she does not appear in the next scene, she will see your lordship now. Will you please to step this way?"

Disbrowe started up to accompany him, but Lord George interposed.

"Not now, my dear fellow! Wait until I return; and if my eloquence has any effect on Lella, she will see you."

He followed the manager as he spoke; and Disbrowe was left pacing up and down, with a burning heart and a whirling brain, still striving to persuade himself this was all the wild delirium of a dream.

"Jacquetta alive and well! Oh, he must certainly be mad!"

The return of Lord Austrey aroused him, and he looked at him with eyes full of devouring impatience.

"Well?"

"Well, I have seen her, and she will see you after the play; so rein in that mad impatience of yours until then. How you are going to apologize for intruding upon her, I don't know."

She smiled when I told her the state of mind her appearance had thrown you into."

Disbrowe still strode up and down, like one possessed. Lord George threw himself into a chair and looked at him.

"My dear fellow, what a treasure you must be to your bootmaker, if you are in the habit of taking such severe turns as this! 'Pon my honor! I would give all the spare change I have about me, to know what has come to you so suddenly. Won't you go back to the theatre and see the play played out?"

"No—it would drive me mad to look at her there again!" exclaimed Disbrowe, vehemently.

Lord George stared and indulged himself in a low, hysterical whistle.

An hour and a half dragged on their endless length before the drama was ended. Disbrowe had wrought himself up to a perfect fever of impatience when the manager approached them and announced the coming of Lella.

And even as he spoke, she stood beside them, looking at Disbrowe with her large, calm eyes. Those eyes! what a spell they cast over him, calming down his mad fever of impatience like ice cast on fire! Those clear, bright, penetrating eyes, with their unfathomable depth of mockery, how well he knew them! Those short, bright, clustering curls—that round, white, boyish brow—those sweet, beautiful lips, that small, graceful form, how well—how well he knew them all! It seemed but yesterday since he had hidden her farewell in the parlor at Pentails Hall—forever, as he thought; and now they stood face to face again!

The heavy rains are slowly washing this sand into the workings of the local coal mine where it is being carried away in the water purged out. The result is that, through the foundation on one side, being removed, the mountain is gradually shifting over into the valley.

Investigation has revealed the fact that the centre and base of the mountain is composed mainly of sand interposed with layers of rock.

The heavy rains are slowly washing this sand into the workings of the local coal mine where it is being carried away in the water purged out. The result is that, through the foundation on one side, being removed, the mountain is gradually shifting over into the valley.

Previous to this summer the mountain was dotted with ruins where a house or shop had given way beneath the strain and had to be abandoned. In one particular instance, a horse and stable slipped down beneath the level ground in a single night.

The water supply is being constantly cut off, as the slightest movement will open the pipes. When a burst does take place, although it can at once be detected, it cannot be easily repaired. The sliding away of the sand underneath causes the pipes to sink, and they are discovered far below their original level.

The railway which is indispensable to the colliery now runs through the valley at this point in a gradual curve, although originally it was perfectly straight.

As the sand is only being washed away from the mountain on either side of the valley, the result is that on the summit enormous cracks are appearing.

A few weeks ago a man was driving his horse, and to his astonishment it disappeared almost at his feet, a large crack having opened.

Sheep, too, have been known to disappear in mysterious ways—later to be found in similar cracks.

To these people living in this busy valley, every heavy fall of rain means that the destruction of their homes and livelihood is drawing rapidly nearer—a fate they are helpless to stop.

A Stubborn Cough
Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a "cure" for the most stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness ceases, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat ticks, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If you use Pinex, you get 16 ounces—a family supply of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.00. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over, for its prompt healing action upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "3½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Can.

Mountain Destruction

A COAL MINE IS CAUSING IT TO MOVE.

In the Rhymney Valley in South Wales are three or four thriving little towns which are slowly but surely being doomed to destruction. The beautiful hills, that small, graceful form, how well—how well he knew them all! It seemed but yesterday since he had hidden her farewell in the parlor at Pentails Hall—forever, as he thought; and now they stood face to face again!

The heavy rains are slowly washing this sand into the workings of the local coal mine where it is being carried away in the water purged out. The result is that, through the foundation on one side, being removed, the mountain is gradually shifting over into the valley.

A Youthful Linguist

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(By Canadian Press)—Sadie Abravava, eight, a British girl of No. 129 Orchard St., testified in five languages in Essex Market Court recently that Cafe Mamoon, sixty-one, no address, attacked her in a hallway at No. 80 DeWacey Street. Magistrate Goodman sentenced Mamoon to the workhouse for three months.

Sadie seemed so youthful that the magistrate was doubtful she could testify correctly in even one language. He asked her if she knew what would happen to her if she told a lie. "I should say I do," replied Sadie. "I speak five languages, and I know a lie is a serious thing. If I told a lie I would go to Hell."

Asked to tell her story she began it in Hebrew, warmed to the recital in Italian, sidetracked to French and crashed into Hebrew before Frederick C. Miller, court stenographer, could interpose a warning signal. When she became calmer Magistrate Goodman told her English would be satisfactory.

Conservatives Will Have 400 Seats in the Commons

Prince of Wales is Home Again.—Jury Acquits Abbe Delorme.—New York Labor to Support Davis in the Coming Election.

NEW YORK LABOUR SWITCHES TO DAVIS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. No little interest has been caused by the announcement last night of officials of the City Labour Council of New York that this organization had switched its support from Senator La Follette to John W. Davis, in the Presidential race. There was a good deal of speculation this morning as to the effect of the desertion of the New York Labor leaders will have on La Follette's chances. The Unions in New York Council are said to represent some 70,000 votes, and it is believed the third party leaders had been counting strongly on this support in order to make a showing in the east.

ABBE DELORME ACQUITTED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31. Rev. Adelard Delorme was acquitted by a jury in Court of King's Bench this afternoon of the murder of his half brother Raoul, and was discharged by Judge Tessier. (Raoul Delorme was murdered on January 6, 1922. Rev. Adelard Delorme was arrested on Coroner's warrant on October 14, 1922. He was tried three times, in June, 1922, July 1923, and October 1924. The first jury declared him insane, the second disagreed and the third brought in a verdict of acquittal.)

SOVIET AGENT THREATENS RE-PRISALS.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The Soviet Agent of Publicity, Karl Radek, writing in the newspaper Pravda, warns Great Britain to expect reprisals for the Zinovieff letter incident, according to the Moscow correspondent of the Daily Express. Radek is quoted as declaring that Premier MacDonald knew the letter emanated from the same officials who falsified the documents which formerly served as the basis of Lord Curzon's note, asserting that the consequences will be very grave. Radek adds that the full history of the forgeries of Curzon's Government and those screened by the Labor Party will be published in Oriental languages for distribution among Eastern peoples where British prestige is already undermined.

WILL NOT MEET PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The Laborites Cabinet, headed by Premier MacDonald, after a two hour session this morning, is understood to remain in office a few days and then resign before the assembling of the new parliament.

INVESTIGATING ETHYL GAS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. Thirty-six persons are under observation or treatment in hospitals and eight others in their homes, as New York City and New Jersey Health officials joined to-day to investigate the dangers of ethyl gas. The New York Board of Health has prohibited the sale of the gasoline in the city and made it a misdemeanor for anyone to use it in automobiles.

PRINCE HAD WONDERFUL HOLIDAY.

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 31. The Prince of Wales arrived home to-day on the steamship Olympic from a tour of the United States and Canada. "I have had a wonderful holiday, but of course I am glad to get home again," he told the newspaper men, who, with officials, were the only persons permitted to greet him at the quay. "It is always pleasant and interesting to travel and there is a great deal to be learned on the other side of the Atlantic where once again I was shown the greatest hospitality and kindness."

DIPLOMATIC TIE SEVERED.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The only diplomatic tie which bound the British and Mexican Governments was severed to-day with the closing of all Mexican consulates in Great Britain. This action was the result of Mexico's decision that her representatives could not carry out their duties with self-respect after the break down of the attempt to re-establish official relations between the two countries.

CONSERVATIVES WILL HAVE OVER FOUR HUNDRED SEATS.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The composition of the new Commons is to be as follows: Conservatives, 398; Labor, 149; Liberals, 40; Independents, 4; Co-Operatives, 5; Constitutionalists, 3; Communists, 1. Total, 600. Full membership of the House is 615, and it is expected that with the returns from the universities the Conservatives will muster 400 or more seats.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA FIRST TO RATIFY.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 31. The first official ratification of the League of Nations' protocol on arbitration and security has been made by Czecho-Slovakia, Paul Hymans, President of the Council of the League, announced this afternoon before the Council. M. Hymans voted the satisfaction of the Council and expressed the belief that Czecho-Slovakia's action augured well for the general approval and success of the protocol, which is the first move towards the projected disarmament conference.

TO ESTABLISH NEW PLANT.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31. London cables to the effect that Baldwin Limited, British Iron and Steel Manufacturers, had acquired a plant here for the purpose of supplying the Canadian trade with galvanized steel sheets direct, were confirmed to-day by John C. Newman, Manager of the Montreal headquarters of the McClary Manufacturing Company, a portion of whose local plant is to be acquired for the purpose. The plant will be operated by a Canadian subsidiary to be known as Baldwin's Montreal, Limited. Sir Chas. Wright, one of the Joint Managing Directors of Baldwin's, will sail for Canada on November 6th, in connection with the project.

TAXES COMPEL MERGER.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31. Sir John Aird, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and President of the Canadian Bankers' Association, asked what he would say regarding the merger of the Montreal Bank with the Bank of Montreal, replied: "Not very much. I suppose it is the inevitable. The Banks have been and are taxed so heavily by the Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments that amalgamations are necessary as a means of economy."

Not so Green as Imagined

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—Please allow me space for a few remarks on the Bonavista Bye Election. There may be some truth in that phrase, "Newfoundlanders are too green to burn," but it seems to have been thought that Bonavista Bay was the greenest part of the whole Island, but the green trees in due time throw off their greenness and prepare for a new season, and scientists tell us that all things can be utilized, so as the leaves have fallen on to the ground after a fine summer, and the Coakerites tramping around the District canvassing the Bay, stirred up the dead leaves and had them in good order for the fire on 27th of October, the match was applied and the flames commenced consuming Coakerism, Sectarianism, and Hatred with all the other rubbish they had been sowing there. The field is now prepared for the good seed the Monroe Government has in store for us, and the fishermen will be able to reap the harvest of the sea and get well paid for it, as they have been this season. Thanking you for space, I remain, Mr. Editor,
Yours truly,
E. P. PARSONS.

Promised to Wed Her When She Arrived

60 HAD PARSON TIE KNOT IN RAILWAY DEPOT.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—Keeping his promise literally to his bride's parents, Scot McKee, a tool maker at an automobile plant here, was married to Miss Margaret Currie at a railroad station here late yesterday. McKee wrote to his bride's parents in Glasgow, Scotland, asking that the girl be allowed to come to Detroit to marry him. The parents consented on the condition that the couple be married as soon as the girl arrived in Detroit. McKee assented, and when the train bringing the girl arrived from New York he was waiting with a marriage license and a minister.

WRONGHEADEDNESS—IS THERE SUCH A THING?

I don't believe in luck. That is, I don't believe that good luck or ill luck persistently follows any one person. And yet, and yet . . . well, I think I do believe in wrongheadedness.

That is, it does seem to me as if certain people, when faced with a choice into which enters some calculation and some chance, seem invariably to leap in the wrong direction.

Take the matter of weather, for instance. It's a dull day, shall we start on that trip or shall we stay home? It seems as if some people always make the right decision at such a time, and other people always jump the wrong way. They seem drawn, these latter, by some evil magnet toward the wrong choice; to start if it is going to settle down into a rainstorm, and to stay at home if it is presently too late, of course, for the trip) to turn out a brilliant day.

Always Picks the Desirable Style. And then there's the matter of buying. The season has just begun and there are several kinds of styles being shown. Some of them are going to prove undesirable. There are women who, with some sixth sense, can always pick out the desirable styles, the ones that are going to be worn enough and yet not too much. And there are other women who, with that strange wrongheadedness, always pick out the wrong style, the one that is going to flare and then go out, or the one that is going to be so cheaply copied and so universally worn that she will presently hate the very sight of it.

Selects The Wrong Fork. Then there's the person, who, whenever he comes to an unmarked fork in the road when touring, and has to choose without any evidence to go on, can always be depended upon to have the right road hunch and the other person who can unerringly select the road which will take him ten miles out of his way.

I have a friend who wanted to buy a home. He waited for years to get the right one, passing up one thing after another that the real estate agent showed him. Finally he made the leap . . . To-day several of the things that he failed to buy are worth double the money he would have paid for them, while the neighborhood around the house he finally did buy has begun to depreciate. Moreover the moment he selected was at the top of the market and the house itself would not sell for what it cost him.

How Could He Have Known? Of course you will say that in that last case judgment should have determined a better choice. But there was absolutely no reason to think that the neighborhood would deteriorate. Shortly after he bought, the house next door was sold to the wrong kind of people, and that made the people opposite sell, and then a public garage got a permit in the vacant lot down the road. And the landslide was on! As for the top of the market . . . well, real estate agents studying that sort of thing all the time can't be sure about it and how could any ordinary person judge?

Some people do really seem to have the right kind of hunches, and some have the wrong kind. . . . Of course, what we call a hunch is often two-quarters judgment and two quarters guess. And I suppose the same people don't guess wrong all the time, they just seem to. All the same I'd rather depend on some people's guesses than on other peoples, wouldn't you?

The Hospital Arab

VISITORS MAY STAY FOR THREE DAYS WITHOUT QUESTION.

There is a strong feeling among the Arab tribes against taking advantage of hospitality. A stranger is accepted as a guest three days without question, after which, if he still stays on, it is permissible for the host to inform himself as to who he is and whence he comes. Should he stay beyond three days his entertainment is a kind act on the part of the host, but not an obligation.

When a stranger lingers on the host will probably ask no questions himself, but at the end of the three days some neighbour will enquire in what direction the traveller is going. Moreover, it is usual on the fourth day the guest shall take his share in the work of the household, or the employment of the family of which, by prolonging his stay, he becomes a member. So writes A. Godrich Freer, F.R.S.G.S. (Mrs. H. H. Soper), in her book, "Arabs in Tent and Town." For twenty years or more the author has a deep study of Arabs, and has, therefore a vast number of interesting facts to tell of these people.

Arab women go to war with their men, but they do not fight and are not allowed to share in the plunder. Also, neither may they be slain except by accident. Should this happen a very heavy fine is exacted, of which about a third goes to the husband, the rest to her own relatives.

Women in tribal wars often precede the army as spies upon the enemy, and a man would stand behind his wife and shoot over her shoulder or between her feet, secure that retaliation would not be attempted. A pleasant aspect of the same immunity is that food and drink, asked by the women of the enemy, was never refused, and it was said they were often employed to carry tobacco between the rival camps as a mutual friendly attention.

Another interesting point in Arab life with regard to women is that a man on his way to execution was safe from punishment if he could lay hold on the skirts of a woman. The writer has seen criminals hanged to prevent them from exercising this privilege.

Toronto Mother Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a splendid medicine to take before and after confinement. A small book was put in my door one day advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, and as I did not feel at all well at the time I went and got a bottle of Vegetable Compound right away. I soon began to notice a difference in my general health. I was full of aches and pains at the time and thought I had every complaint going, but I can truthfully say your medicine certainly did me good. I can say and speak highly of it, and I know it will do other women good who are sick and ailing if they will only give it a fair trial. Lydia E. Pinkham's Living Pills are splendid for constipation. You are welcome to use my letter if you think it will help any one." Mrs. HARRY WESTWOOD, 548, Quebec Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The expectant mother is wise if she considers carefully this statement of Mrs. Westwood. It is but one of a great many, all telling the same story—beneficial results.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for use during this period. The experiences of other women who have found this medicine a blessing is proof of its great merit. Why not try it now yourself?

been unfolded by Harry Coyde, a young British fisherman, who made the adventurous voyage across the Atlantic in a Ramsgate fishing smack 47 years old.

Coyde, after one successful run-running trip in the Ramsgate vessel, joined as boatswain a small steamer of the coaster type. "A day after we anchored in 'Rum Row,' a fast motor-boat came alongside and took off 1,500 cases of spirit," said Mr. Coyde in an interview to-day.

"We remained anchored for three or four days until another fast motor-boat came alongside, but, to our great surprise, she did not take off any cases. That was practically only a blind to cover the real intentions of the motorboat.

"Three or four days later the same boat came alongside again with five men aboard.

"The three men made themselves as friendly as it was possible to do. They decided to remain aboard that night as friends, but the next morning the music began. The first I heard about what they intended doing was when two of them came to the door of the forecastle. One of them shouted for the boatswain, and I, of course, replied.

"How many hands have you in the forecastle, boatswain?" quired the leader.

"Five A.B.'s and one ordinary was the reply.

"Just tell your five A.B.'s and one ordinary to step out here at once."

Coyde, thinking a practical joke was on, and never for one moment imagining anything of a piratical character, called the men out of the forecastle.

"Do you all mind putting your hands up above your heads?" was the first greeting that awaited them.

"The next thing we heard was that the officers and the super-cargo were prisoners in the saloon—the pirates raided the saloon when they were at breakfast and took them by surprise. One kept the officers covered, while the other two came forward to the forecastle and captured the working crew. They had us all lovely.

"The pirates raided about 12,000 cases of liquor. To do this they made five trips in their motor-boat to a large schooner anchored another 40 or 50 miles away, taking about 2,500 cases at a time. When the piracy was completed the three men, one of whom was reputed to be a notorious American gunman, simply showed off in the motor-boat. They looked the whole of the cases without payment, and even the men did not receive their special wages."

The Vicious Effect of the Dole

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(C.P.)—There is not one single ex-soldier in France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Poland who is fit for work and who is unemployed, according to General Sir Ian Hamilton. Like Field-Marshal Haig, it is Sir Ian's belief that the Government 'dole' is poisoning the spirit of England. Here we have 60,000 disabled men unemployed, and 800,000 able-bodied ex-service men still in the prime of life.

In three or four years from now, declared Sir Ian Hamilton, the power to prevent war would have passed to those who had had no actual experience of its horrors, who to-day were playing at scouting and marbling past, and at charging one another with sham swords, bombs, and bayonets. It was our duty to use our influence with the young people.

"We can tell them," said Sir Ian, "not to listen to anyone who would pledge this nation to future wars, however plausible the excuse is; we can show them our wounds if they doubt, and they may believe us."

AN EMPTY HOUSE.

An empty house, an empty house,
with every spirit flown!
A house which many years ago a woman smiled to own:
The cradle of a thousand dreams
when youth was at the door.
But now the youth have grown so old and all the dreaming's o'er;
Decay is at its pillars now, despair
at every pane,
And where the children rumped in play the bats, nocturnal, reign.

The drama of all human life those crumbling walls have seen
For once that house was young and strong and once its floors were clean:
And then within that upper room, as once at Bethlehem, a child was born to them:
Then joy went dancing up the steps,
and laughter rang within,
But now the roof which sheltered them is slowly tumbling in.

I never pass an empty house so desolate and bleak
But what this thought occurs to me:
If those old walls could speak
What tales of love, and hope, and care, and sorrow they could tell!
For once that was a home of pride,
where people used to dwell:
Who was the first to tread the walk,
the last whose steps to climb
And leave in scorn despair that house unto the grub of time?

Harbor Grace Notes

On Sunday last, 26th, inst, the Methodist Sunday School held their Annual Rally Day Service at Congregational Hall. It was a real rally to the Sunday School, for the parents and friends of the children, turned out in large numbers, and filled the spacious hall to its capacity. A very excellent programme was gone through by the scholars, at the close of which Rev.
W. B. Bugden, Pastor of the Methodist Church at Carbonear, addressed the Sunday School, taking as his subject,
"Who are our neighbours and how may we help one another." At the opening of his address, he extended
"Greetings," from his school at Carbonear, and complimented the Superintendent, Mr. Robt. French, on the splendid programme rendered, also on the large gathering present, showing that the parents were at the back of the Officers and Teachers, in their good work amongst the young people of the Church. His address was followed very closely by all, and was given in such a simple manner that even the smallest child could learn something of its meaning, and the Rev. gentleman left a message with the School that will be remembered.
The Superintendent then gave a short address, thanking Rev. Bugden for his helpful message, and reciprocating
the good wishes of Carbonear Sunday School. Next followed a short practical address by the Pastor of the Church, Rev. Mr. Harris, who left with the Sunday School a reminder of the first Speaker's remarks—a box, for contributions to the Methodist Orphanage. The Rally Service was a very helpful one, and it cannot but have a far reaching effect upon the young people, and older ones also,
who were present.

Rev. W. Harris, Pastor of the Methodist Church here, occupied the Pulpit of the Methodist Church at Carbonear at the evening service on Sunday last, while the Rev. W. B. Bugden of that Church, was the Preacher at the Methodist Church here for the evening service on Sunday; the Congregation was a large one, and all greatly enjoyed the inspiring service.

Mr. J. A. Dunbar, of St. John's, was in town last week on a business visit.

Mr. John Butt, of H.M. Customs, who was stationed at Blance Sablon during the summer months, returned home last week.

Mr. S. E. Garland, of St. John's, was in town on a brief visit during last week.

Dr. W. S. Goodwin, and assistant,
Mr. Wm. Stevenson, who were visiting Bonavista, Catalina, and vicinity, professionally, returned to town again on Thursday last.

Miss Olive Thompson is at present in St. John's, on a visit to relatives.

Mr. Samuel Stowe, who is working

What Nfld. Has Gained by Going to Wembley

In an Empire Number of the Manchester Guardian the following reference is made to the Newfoundland Exhibition at Wembley:—

"Every fortnight a number of people equal to the entire population of Newfoundland has passed through the pavilion which that small but important Dominion has erected at Wembley. The officials of the pavilion state that English boarding-house and hotel owners have been very much interested in Newfoundland boneseed codfish, and the extensive inquiries in connection with tinned and carton fish make them feel that British wholesale food firms will be more or less obliged to satisfy the demand by stocking Newfoundland fish."

Manufacturing chemists in Australia, Paris, and Trinidad have centred their attention on cod liver oil, and the strange exhibit of sea grass, suited for packing and the stuffing of cushions and mattresses, has been an immense success. The market price of this sea grass is said to be the best of its kind in from 27 to 225 per ton in London. Capitalists have been interested in the possibilities of the pulp and paper industry, and developments are expected in connection with this work. One firm is definitely negotiating to erect a pulp and paper factory. An English mineralogist has sailed for Newfoundland already as the result of the exhibits which he saw at Wembley, and firms manufacturing lines and twines, dressed seal-skins, and knitted goods have been approached by English buyers through their representation in the Exhibition. Although Newfoundland's pavilion was naturally dwarfed by the Australian and Canadian buildings, she succeeded in creating distinctiveness in the arrangement of her exhibits, and she has evidence of many commercial benefits as a reward of her coming to Wembley."

Apart from the remarks made about our pulp and paper, which would seem to indicate that the writer is not very familiar with the extensive development of this industry, the article shows that the public have taken a keen interest in the display, and that the country should benefit materially if active steps are taken to follow up on the advertisement by keeping in contact with prospective customers without loss of time.

With the closing of the Exhibition everything will depend upon the enterprise shown by local concerns, both with regard to the steps taken to keep in touch with the British markets and to cater to their requirements.

Nothing is of greater importance than the methods adopted to make our goods attractive, and in the preparation of our food products, cleanliness and strict attention to their quality are the first essentials.

A Hundred Years Ago

The first of a series of articles written by Mr. H. F. Shortis appears in this issue. They deal with the history of the country about one hundred years ago, and refer in particular to events which happened in Harbour Grace, Carbonar, Brigus, and other places in Conception Bay. The writer has obtained the information from some old documents recently brought to light, and their contents we feel certain will be read with the greatest interest.

Shop Early

The movement undertaken to put an end to late Saturday deliveries is a most worthy one, and to a great extent its success depends upon the support which it receives from the public. It is true that many customers are unable to make their week-end purchases before Saturday evening, but if only those who can shop earlier without any inconvenience would decide to do so, there would be no need for the delivery vans to be kept on the streets until all hours. To these in particular the appeal is made, and we feel certain that having realized how much depends upon their co-operation, they will heartily respond.

(Before Full Bench.)
 (Grand Jury in Attendance.)

His Lordship also addressed the jury on a bill of indictment for escaping from the penitentiary against Albert Maidment and on a bill of indictment for forgery and uttering forged documents against Thomas Hickey.

Bishop Mowll's Engagement Announced

In "The Bulletin" of the Diocese of Western China, appears the following:—"We shall all offer our sincere congratulations to Bishop Mowll on the announcement of his engagement to Miss Dorothy Martin, of the C.M.S., West China. Miss Martin is the daughter of the late Rev. John and Mrs. Martin, for 35 years Missionaries in Fu-Kien." The Bishop made a host of friends during his visit to St. John's, in connection with the Mission at St. Thomas's Church, and we feel certain they will be interested to learn of the coming happy event.

An Opportunity That Can Stand the Test

No doubt many of you are already familiar in a general way with the Gordon Proposition. You know that for eight years we have been working our plan in the U.S.A., that we have twenty-two ranches, are the largest fox owners in the world, and that for the past three and a half years we have been paying 75% on the dollar. We are now paying 75%, and can amply afford to do so, as we are making over 100% ourselves. Do not think that it is imperative that we should come to Newfoundland in order to make our business a success after making a sad failure in the U.S.A. The reason that this opportunity is offered to the Newfoundland people can be very easily explained. Very nearly five years ago I left home to pursue studies in Canada. From there I proceeded to America. After five years of absence from Newfoundland, no matter how attractive the outside world may appear, a Newfoundlander always comes back home. My plans were arranged so that it was impossible for me to see my native home for at least two years to come. I took this opportunity of coming home, but Dr. Gordon's proposition was so good that I thought it a pity to keep a good thing to myself and America. This is the only opportunity Newfoundland has had of such an attractive safe investment. That is why Dr. Gordon's proposition is being offered here. And the attempt has not been in vain, for Newfoundland has caught the vision and we already have investors here. Our office is in the G.W.V.A. Building, and we are always glad to have you come in to see us and talk the Gordon plan over. By going so you are not obligated in the least; or write, your correspondence will receive strict and prompt attention. Outport friends are particularly invited to request information. You can come in for $100 upwards, and receive thirty-seven and a half cents on the dollar. Very Sincerely,
 DONALD C. LEWIS.

CHILD WELFARE

HEALTHY BABIES.

"An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure."

"Colds"—What a lot of colds there are in town now. Let us see a few reasons for this.

- (1) Because the child breathes through his mouth, and so the air does not get filtered from germs.
 - (2) Because they get wet feet; shoes should have strong sound soles.
 - (3) Because the rooms are stuffy.
 - (4) Because too many clothes are kept on in warm rooms; the child gets over-heated and feels a chill when taken out again.
 - (5) Because of improper clothing.
- "Dew's for Mothers"—
 Don't give baby a pacifier, medicine or any soothing syrups.
 Don't let anyone with a cough or cold hold baby.
 Don't feed baby anything not prescribed by your doctor.
 Don't excite baby during or immediately after feeding.
 Don't lift baby without supporting his back.
 Don't feed baby at irregular intervals.
 Don't pick up baby each time he cries.
 Don't kiss baby on the mouth.
 Don't handle baby too much.
 Don't feed baby solid food until he has some teeth.
 CHILD WELFARE ASSN.

U.S. is approaching its day of decision, in a shower of sharp words and a fog of rival predictions. In its final stages it has brought into play all the old familiar stratagems modernized to fit the age of radio, movies and senatorial investigations, and laid out on the new scale to appeal to every remote sub-division of ever growing electorate. The last day of the active campaigning finds most of the principals east of the Mississippi seeking advantage of that sector long regarded as almost dominant. Meantime in every nook and corner of the Republic lesser lights are shining their brightest to guide the feet of the wavering voter along the pathways of party rectitude. New York Alfred E. Smith and Theodore Roosevelt have staged a battle royal with never a dull moment up to the very finish.

In fond and loving memory of my dear daughter, Mary Murphy, who departed this life, Nov. 2nd, 1918.—R.I.P.

The roses in memory's garden, They never fade away; But the one that died six years ago, Is the only memory that stays. When the evening shades are falling And I am sitting all alone; In my heart there comes a longing, If she only could come home. Oft, and oft my thoughts will wander, To her grave so far away; Where they gently lowered her body, Five long years ago to-day. But the sacred heart of Jesus have mercy on her soul. —Inserted by her Father and Mother.

HIRARD'S LINIMENT FOR SPRAINS AND BRUISES.

Last Night's Play at the Casino

GREAT JOHN GANTON" MASTERFUL PRODUCTION.

One of the finest plays witnessed in a long while is "The Great John Ganton," which the Young-Adams Company played so successfully at the Casino last night. The piece deals with the disturbance and unrest in the world at the present time. H. W. Young as John Ganton the mighty business king, delivered that characteristic performance in a manner that does him credit. In fact, this role is the predominant character in the story. Miss Adams delighted her large circle of admirers as May Keating, the sweetheart of Will Ganton. Miss Adams looked and acted the part to perfection. Marguerite Young as Hester Ganton gives a performance of great charm, and all the girlish sweetness is portrayed by this talented lady. Alfred Stretton gave an admirable performance as Larry DeLaney. Edgar Jensen as Will Ganton makes his part exceedingly life-like. While Ed. H. Stauffer in the role of Browning was right at home. The rest of the parts are all on the level of high excellence; in fact it is hard to conceive of any of them being better played than it is. These roles were in the hands of Mabelle Leverson. Ann McNeil, Edna Durand, Fred Durand, Harry W. Young, Joe Lyonell and Howard Durant.

Last night's vaudeville and musical programme was in themselves attractions, and the reception tendered them was wholesale. If ever theatrical art was invoked to good advantage it is right here in "John Ganton," and the play should be seen by all lovers of good drama. "Over the Hill S'Manthy" is announced for Monday. This is a play that deals with characters such as live next door to you, a plot that will appeal to old and young alike. There is something unusual about this play that will make it a great hit with St. John's audiences.

"Name the Man" at Nickel Monday

HALL CAINE'S GREAT STORY COMES TO SCREEN.

With his European sense of drama and technique in filming a screen story, and the American studio facilities for picture making, Victor Seastrom has made of his first production for Goldwyn, "Name the man," from Sir Hall Caine's novel, "The Master of Man" one of the best pictures yet made. It will be an attraction at the Nickel Theatre Monday.

Although the director has incorporated some spectacular scenes into his production, their presence is logical and they are entirely subordinated to the story, which deals with the lives of the Deemster, or judge, and other inhabitants of the Isle of Man, off the coast of England.

The settings in which the drama is enacted, are all the quaint villages and century-old stone castles of the Isle. Castle Rushen, the largest structure on the island, was duplicated at the Goldwyn studios for the picture.

The stern, rocky coast-line of the Isle, and the beauty of the inland; is also shown in a number of remarkable photographic studies. The locations, approved by a technical expert sent from England to assist Seastrom, are said to be almost the exact duplicates of the actual scenery of the island.

Remains Being Brought Home

The remains of the late Miss Irene Kennedy, daughter of Mr. James Kennedy of the Furness Wthy Co., who died at New York on Wednesday last will arrive by Monday's express, accompanied by her brother, Rev. Father Kennedy. The funeral notice will appear later.

Obituary

There passed peacefully away, after twelve months' illness, at his residence, Southside, Mark McCormack, aged 63 years, an old and respected citizen. He worked for thirty years in the employ of Hon. J. Browning and the past eight years was an attendant at the Asylum for the Insane. He was respected by all who knew him, was a good honest living man. He leaves to mourn a widow, three daughters, two sons, one brother and twenty-three grandchildren.

Our Montreal Letter

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE CITY NEEDS SOME CHANGES.

According to Noulua Cauchon, President of the Town Planning Institute of Canada who gave an address before the City Improvement League and suggested many things that would improve the city and give people better homes.

A tram line into Mount Royal Park was among the suggestions for the improvement of Montreal made by the speaker. He pointed out that it was important that civic parks should be easily made accessible to the poorer portion of the population. At present, he said, the park was mostly used by that class of people who left the city for the summer. A slide showing a suggested tram-line entrance to the park was among the interesting lantern pictures with which Mr. Cauchon's address was illustrated.

Town planning was the technique of sociology. It was not a matter of fancy decoration, beautiful boulevards and artistic architecture; it was not, as many people seemed to think, merely an excuse for the expenditure of money. It was fundamentally economic engineering.

To secure a proper amount of sunlight and fresh air for the residents of a city was the primary object of any scheme of city planning. These two things were as necessary to existence as beefsteak and coffee.

"What is the use of killing people by building apartments with small rooms and little air, as I have seen them here and in other cities," queried Mr. Cauchon.

The cities of to-day had not developed as natural organisms grow; they had grown by accretion, and the only way by which the faults of such development could be rectified was by the appointment of town planning commissions similar to that in operation in Ottawa. This commission did not have the power to carry out its plans, but was present to make suggestions to the city council and to prepare plans and explain them to that body and to the board of control.

Most modern city development had been directed, not by engineers or architects, but by real estate agents and without any co-ordinated idea of beauty or efficiency of the community as a whole. What such cities as Montreal needed was a central city planning body. The late Sir William Van Horne, at the head of the Metropolitan Commission, had tried this plan in Montreal, but his efforts had not been backed by the necessary funds, and after four years it had been necessary to drop the scheme.

Duplication of railway approaches to cities had become a real evil, but with the consolidation of these the abandoned entries could be used for the making of rapid-transit highways. Such a highway penetrating into the heart of the city and fed by numerous side streets would relieve traffic congestion and safeguard against such conditions for some time to come. Montreal was approaching the point where subways would be necessary, but this could have been avoided with proper town planning in the past.

STANGE GROWTH ON FOREHEAD OF WOMAN.

Doctors at the Western Hospital are puzzled over a peculiar growth on the forehead of a woman. The growth resembled a horn very similar to that of a goat and was five inches long. It had attained that growth fifteen months after its first appearance. The doctors who performed the operation say that the operation was only a minor one and that the growth was not a deep rooted one. The woman is 64 years of age. For ten years, she says, a tiny lump grew on her forehead. Fifteen months ago the tip of the lump broke through the centre of the forehead and from that time grew steadily. After the operation, the amputated horn was placed on exhibition at the Montreal General Hospital where doctors, who examined it, attempted to explain its origin.

THE MEN WHO STOLE A HOUSE PUNISHED.

The funny incident about a house reported in a previous letter, had its findings in court, when two men were arrested and were sentenced to eighteen and six months respectively.

James Wickham, owner of a house at 301 Grand Trunk Street, told the court that he had not occupied the building for fifteen years, but, happening to walk in the district a few weeks ago, he discovered that the entire building, except the foundation, had disappeared.

Investigation brought out the information that a contractor named O. Barbarino had purchased the house, in good faith, from Belanger and Vayet, for $120, and then proceeded to demolish it.

The two accused attempted to prove alibis, but were unsuccessful. Belanger, who is a ticket-of-leave man, will have to serve three years and six months of his previous sentence, as a result of his conviction.

ITCHY ECZEMA ON ARMS

In Pimples. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble began with eczema which broke out in pimples and spread rapidly. It affected my arms from the elbows to the tips of my fingers. I could not put my hands in water, they itched and burned so, and I could not do my regular work. I could not sleep on account of the irritation.

"The doctor advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in two weeks I was completely healed, after using one and a half cakes of Soap and one box of Ointment."

of the Metropolis of Canada. His latest work is the addition of four strikingly designed memorial windows. This will complete a group of twelve installed during the past few years. When installation of the windows is completed a special dedication service will be held.

ADVERTISING AS A MEDIUM OF SUCCESS.

Under the heading of "The C. P. R. Shows The Way," the Morning Sun says editorially:

While many hundreds of big corporations and business firms in Canada are croaking and complaining about bad business the Canadian Pacific Railway has shown a better way.

Instead of sitting with folded arms waiting for business, bemoaning hard times and trying to find somebody to blame for depressed industrial conditions, the C. P. R. has boldly launched a great nation-wide campaign advertising itself and the services it has given Canada and is equipped to do.

Therein the heads of the C. P. R. have displayed great sagacity and fine business judgment. No matter how this country of ours may be suffering from after-war conditions or low tariffs, or whatever may be causing our industrial depression, people must live, and eat, and wear clothes, and travel to and fro, and do all the things requisite to maintaining life and the pursuit of happiness. The C. P. R. frankly recognizes this and goes out after the business.

In hard times many merchants and manufacturers cut down their advertising appropriations, saying that they will advertise when times improve. Not so the C. P. R. It shows its faith in Canada and in Canada's future by spending a hundred thousand dollars or more to attract business to itself and enable it to keep its men working, pay dividends, and assist to restore Canada's prosperity.

We commend the example of the C. P. R. to every business firm in Canada. "Pat on the appearance of business and business will come," said a wise man years ago. If we put crepe on the door Canada will only too likely be in for a funeral. But if we say, "We believe in Canada and to hang with this talk about business depression," conditions are bound to improve.

SOME RECENT HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF.

A woman of 50 years, bathed in flames, jumped from a burning building to the ground in agony. Before taking her fatal jump she passed her two grandchildren, 5 and 6 years old, to a citizen who had erected a ladder. The three, unfortunately, died shortly afterwards, the grandmother at the Hotel Dieu, and the two children at the Montreal General Hospital.

A young woman of 27 years, who was dependent over the loss of a three months' old baby, strangled her 5 year old daughter with her apron string and then committed suicide by turning on the gas jets attached to the kitchen stove, and putting her two feet to rest on two chairs, she placed her head in the oven. When the young husband came home from work in the evening, he was obliged to get in the house through a window and

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

entering the kitchen, he discovered the awful tragedy.

A farmer, returning from the Bonsecours Market, to his home at St. Elizabeth, near Ste. Therese, was thrown into a ditch and drowned, when his rig struck an automobile. He was supposed to have $80 in his pockets, but his brother could find only $39, and foul play is suspected.

Dr. A. C. Headlam, Lord Bishop of Gloucester, in his sermon at the Christ Church Cathedral, Sunday morning, Oct. 5th, declared lack of religious unity in present day life was responsible for many of the conflicts and disagreements that exist to-day.

Held up at the point of a revolver by two men, a street car conductor was robbed of $22 worth of car tickets and some cash. The affair took place on St. Denis Street, near St. Justin's Hospital, at 11 o'clock at night.

The Montreal Toilet Laundry Company is erecting a five storey building on Guy Street, just across from the Belmont School, and with the introduction of an up-to-date plant, the cost will be half a million dollars.

Two of the largest and best garages in the city, are being erected, one at the corner of Bishop and Dorchester Streets, and the other near Queen's Hotel, on St. James Street. Both are in course of construction for some time, and are being built of reinforced concrete.

The loss from the Postal Strike of June last, according to Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster General at Ottawa, was $389,090. The T. E. Eaton Company of Toronto is suing the Government for $184,000, at the rate of $14,000 a day, the Henry Morgan Co. is suing $50,000, and Henry Birks, $40,000. Last year, the Eaton Company left the Government over two million dollars' worth of business through the Postal Service.

Women as Judges

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(C.P.)—Women side by side with men on the bench of every court of justice from the juvenile to the supreme court, is what Judge Helen McGill, of Vancouver, would like to see. She believes that their presence on the benches of their county, police, high and supreme courts would be a help, not only to the administration of justice in general, but to the work of the male judges. This theory she applied to include every public board, mentioning specifically the mothers' pensions board and the workmen's compensation board, and in explaining it, she said that accepting God's theory of a father and mother at the head of every family as an essential, this matter should be continued to the bigger families of public bodies.

On being questioned as to general belief that women offenders preferred being tried by a man, Judge McGill said that this was so, the reason being that women judges were often more severe than men, and rightly so. "Men," she said, "are apt to be sentimental; their chivalrous instincts come out, and the result is often lenient treatment that is not for the ultimate good of society or the offender."

A Millionaire in a Tenement

LONDON, Oct. 20 (C.P.)—A house renting at 12 shillings a week was the home of a man who has just died at Manchester leaving £197,000, almost a million dollars. Neighbors regarded him, James Parr, merely as comfortably off, and they are filled with astonishment to hear of his wealth and the amount of his bequests to public institutions. About £20,000 was left to these public institutions, and more will revert to them on the death of Parr's relatives. Parr started life as an office-boy and ultimately became the owner of the business, a Manchester calico-printing firm. He lived a simple life, and was the oldest member of the Manchester Athenaeum Club.

Pres. Gray Says October Loadings About Equal Last Year's, Though Gross Less.
(Boston News Bureau, Oct. 27th.)
N. Y.—"October gross will probably be behind last year, although number of cars loaded and received from connections will closely approximate October, 1923," says Pres. Gray of Union Pacific.

"This is due to the freezes of last spring which materially reduced fruit crops of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and water shortage which reduced grain yields in the same states. Against these conditions have been the enormous grain crops in Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, which have made loadings high, but the short-haul nature of the business has not increased revenues correspondingly. This situation will affect in nearly a like degree gross earnings the balance of the year.

"The operating department continues to keep transportation expenses well in hand. Last year was a heavy one on way maintenance, but so far this year there has been a reduction of only 1 p.c. Equipment expenses are much lower, as was to be expected, since a year ago that item was still abnormally large. Power was never in better condition, and cars never went into winter in better shape.

Reducing Transportation Costs.

"Net ton miles for September increased 6.8 p.c. over September, 1923, while freight train miles decreased 10.8 p.c. and freight locomotive miles decreased 13.3 p.c. Ratio of transportation expenses to gross decreased from 27.1 p.c. to 26.4 p.c. last month, compared with last year. A better relative showing would have been made but for the material decrease in passenger receipts, which does not admit of corresponding reduction in service."

An approximation of October earnings is difficult, Mr. Gray said, because of uncertainty of traffic. The month's traffic is depending on perishables, and while movement of grapes is almost as heavy as a year ago, tonnage of apples, prunes and pears is off and final grape tonnage will depend on the perishables movement. The road has a 30 to 35-day car supply, considered normal at this time of year.

A source of satisfaction has been the settlement within the past two weeks of a new wage scale for the system's mechanical crafts, known as the Mechanical Employees' Association of the Union Pacific system, which succeeded the shop crafts union two years ago.

Shopmen Sign For Two Years.

Under the new wage agreement members of the association have been granted an increase affecting 12,000 men. The increase is almost negligible so far as the road is concerned, an increase of $50,000 a year, and was arrived at after conference between the road and company union officials. The new scale will stand for two years and provides that an unskilled employee will be paid rate and one-half for time worked over eight hours. Formerly overtime was paid for only after 10 consecutive hours' work. All carmen, machinists, sheet metal workers, helpers and apprentices are placed in one class. Increases are granted according to length of service, and near the close of apprenticeship a workman will receive pay nearly equal to that of a first-class mechanic.

BLAMES THE GULF STREAM.

LONDON, Nov. 1. Englishmen of scientific turn of mind seeking explanation for progressively worse climate of the last few years are wondering if they can blame it on a shift in the Gulf Stream, following the disclosures that the water of the English Channel has fallen steadily in temperature since 1921. Charts made from observations taken at Plymouth Station by the narine Biological Association show that the waters of the Channel reached their highest average temperature in 1921, and that the average has since fallen a few degrees each year.

INTER COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.

St. Bon's And Collegians Play To A Draw.

The inter collegiate football match which was played at St. George's Field yesterday afternoon between the Collegians and St. Bon's, drew a large gathering of spectators and supporters of the respective teams to the field. Owing to the fact that much depended on the result, both teams put up a strenuous game, and throughout the entire 90 minutes play was of such a nature that it brought forth rounds of applause from the rooters who crowded the stand. The afternoon was an ideal one for football, and, despite the efforts of the opposing teams, no goals were recorded. Shortly after the game opened, Stoyles, of St. Bon's, collided with an opponent and received such injuries that he was forced to retire. He was soon substituted by another player, but as the game progressed it could be seen that St. Bon's had weakened by Stoyles' absence and the Collegians increased the pace and had the upper hand of play from then on. A feature of the game was the splendid exhibition of saving by the opposing goalkeepers. A win or a draw for the Collegians in the next game, gives them the championship.

COMMERCIAL BOWLING LEAGUE—LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

R. I. S. ATHLETES FITTINGLY DINED.

The success of the R. I. S. Athletes the past summer was fittingly celebrated last night at the Club rooms when an enjoyable smoking concert was held. The affair took place in the social room which had been artistically decorated for the occasion by Mr. George Martin, caretaker of the rooms. Mr. W. B. Skinner, Chairman of the Athletic Association, was in the chair, and the guests, besides the teams were, Messrs. D. R. Thistle, and G. R. Rabbits, Chairman and Secretary, respectively, of the Masonic Club; Mr. C. E. Hunt and Mr. Karl Trapnell and Mr. H. Foster. Hon. W. J. Higgins, President of the Society, was late in arriving owing to an Executive meeting, as was Hon. J. J. Long, President of the C. E. I.

The Chairman outlined the purpose of the gathering which was to do honor to the Society's Athletes who had done so well during the past year. The Senior and Junior teams had won second place in their respective Leagues, whilst the Junior team had also won the football race at the Regatta and a relay race at Mount Cashel Garden Party. Refreshments and smokes were then served around after which the following toast list was taken up:

The Society—Prop. C. E. Hunt; Resp. J. C. Pippy, Vice-President.

The Athletic Teams—Prop. Mr. D. R. Thistle; Resp. J. G. Higgins; H. Buckingham.

Our Guests—Prop. Hon. W. J. Higgins, W. J. O'Neill; Resp. Hon. J. J. Long.

The Chairman—Prop. G. W. Rabbits; Resp. W. B. Skinner.

Songs were rendered by Messrs. Karl Trapnell, George Jackman, J. Hickey and Mr. Thomas Kent, one of the old guard; whilst recitations were rendered by Messrs. George Rabbits and H. Foster, which with community singing made up a very enjoyable programme. The affair concluded with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

Arrangements have been made by the M. G. C. A. for a billiard tournament which will begin on Monday night. A splendid cup has been offered for competition by Messrs. Ayre & Sons, and a large number of members will take part in the games.

Man Who Wrecked Social Cabinet

VIEWS OF THE "RED" EDITOR ON "OUTSIDE" LABOUR PRESSURE.

Mr. John Ross Campbell, the acting editor of the Workers Weekly, who has now achieved prominence as "The youthful Communist who wrecked the first Socialist Government," gave his view of the political crisis to a Daily Mirror representative recently.

Mr. Campbell is a quiet little man with raven-black hair and sensitive eyes, and a self-possessed manner that successfully conceals any elation he may feel regarding the part he has played in the crash of the Cabinet.

Briefly, his opinion is that while a question of principle is involved in the abandonment of the prosecution against him, the Conservatives and Liberals have only made use of it as an opportunity to unseat the Government because they feared that "outside" Labour pressure was likely to lead shortly to genuine Socialist legislation.

"In the first place," he said, I consider that the Government only came into office, not as the result of an electoral victory of the workers, but as the result of an arrangement arrived at between the capitalist parties themselves.

"It was only allowed to continue in office so long as it carried out a policy that was a continuation of that of previous Governments.

"In the first six months of its existence it loyally carried out that policy, and except in a few minor details its legislation and its performances were on the lines of previous Governments.

"Only in two cases towards the end of its six months' period did it deviate from the line of policy pursued previously, and that was in respect to my case and the Russian Treaty.

"The Government only adopted this attitude it did on these questions because of pressure from the Labour movement outside.

"The reason that the Government has now been turned out is that the Liberal and Tory Parties are beginning to realize that, quite apart from the intentions of those who may form the Government, it will be subject to increasing pressure as the months go on, and it will be forced to bring forward working-class measures that neither the Liberal nor the Tory Parties can approve.

Turning Down Communists.

"While the Government cannot retreat from the attitude which it has taken up on those two questions, it is trying to appease the other parties, and the middle-class portion of the electorate generally, by turning down the Communists publicly at the Labour Party Conference.

"This action was inspired by the Government, and the Prime Minister went out of his way, in what practically amounted to an aside in the main lines of his speech, to attack the Communists and to indicate to the Conference that the Government approved of their being put outside the Labour Party.

"The view of the Communist Party is that the Government is actually beginning to retreat before the electoral battle is opened, and that it is the duty of the local Labour organizations to see that the retreat is stopped and the election is fought on straight working-class issues—on employment, the minimum wage, the nationalization of the railways, mines and land, the capital levy, and the repudiation of the Dawes Report."—Daily Mirror.

Jimmy Wood is a romantic chauffeur, whose ambition is to become a famous racing driver. Sent to Del Monte, California, by his employer, he finds himself welcomed, having been mistaken for a certain "Splinters" Wood, famous English racing driver. His reception is so overwhelming that he hasn't time to explain. He's feted with wine, women and hilarious song. He must enter the speedster. "Just leave it to us. We'll attend to it immediately, the committee told him. "Oh, you're driving a Renco? My Dad makes those cars. You must enter," a beautiful girl told him. He took a chance and went through with the thing. The fact that the real "Splinters" Wood showed up for the race, with a price on his head and detectives on his trail, added to Jimmy's predicament. But the race was staged and Jimmy won, the charming lady, too.

Medical Examination of Pupils

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—It is very gratifying to the Old Collegian Association to have such practical endorsement by Doctor's Brehm and Mitchell of the work of the "clinic" department of the Methodist schools of St. John's. Although the work being done in the above schools was not specifically referred to by the speakers at the Rotary Club, it is a fact that nurse Loder has been working for a year in the above schools and every quarter, 1500 children are examined.

Each scholar is charted and a record kept showing age, height, weight, and general health. A report is sent to parents and co-operation is sought in curing ailments affecting eye, ear, nose, throat, teeth, etc. This work has raised the standard of health in the schools and scholars have a better chance to complete their education. The strong endorsement by the medical men of the work now being carried on in the schools is therefore much appreciated.

Yours truly,

Historical Records of Harbor Grace

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.
 (H. F. SHORTIS.)

It has been my good fortune to peruse an old file of documentary evidence in Harbor Grace and Conception Bay during the year 1832. This is one of the most interesting years in the History of our country. The fight for Representative Government started by the worthy old hero, Dr. William Carson, of St. John's, in 1806 had taken about 25 years to accomplish, and the fact of how the news of this pronouncement by the British Government reached this country will show the importance of Harbor Grace and other Conception Bay ports at that time. The news reached Harbor Grace about a week before they knew about it in St. John's. Thanksgiving meetings of citizens of Harbor Grace and Carbonear were held at once, particulars of which I shall give in due course.

Before this date (1832) the country was governed by the Governor, appointed by the British House of Parliament, assisted by a Council selected by the most representative citizens of the Colony. They appointed their own President, and their Acts were no doubt agreed to by his Excellency the Governor.

I shall have many facts to relate about the sealers, with a list of vessels and their masters, which will be perused with interest by their descendants, linking up their relationship with the hardy pioneers who built up our country, and by a regular "memory's feast," the days of long gone by.

Conception Bay and the whole of Newfoundland were passing through a series of hard times. A leading article of January 13th says, that since the peace of 1815 the trade of the country has, in common with others, suffered in the depression which has effected all classes, and they greatly denounced the proposed strike of sealers, particulars of which I shall relate, but must first tell about another strike for wages.

On Monday morning, January 8th, 1832, a meeting, chiefly attended by servants and fishermen, took place near Saddle Hill, in pursuance of a notice by hand-bills. The object was to adopt the best methods to abate the system of paying wages in goods. These hand-bills had been circulated in Harbor Grace and Carbonear, and at 10 o'clock nearly one thousand people were assembled at this meeting—the place being about mid-way between the two towns.

Some resolutions were now proposed and unanimously carried, and after this, both parties from the two towns united in a procession, the vast assemblage of which now consisted of nearly 3,000 people, and all moved towards Harbor Grace, preceded by bands of music and several banners bearing inscriptions, and in this manner they marched through the town in strict order and confined themselves to a slight manifestation of their general feelings; finally they returned to their original meeting-place and then disbanded.

They met again at a later date, yet no account of this meeting is recorded; but it took the form of a revolt against the sealing agreement then in vogue.

Our Dumb Animals

Report Of The Chief Agent For Week Ending Oct. 31st.

Attended to the landing of seven carloads of cattle and horses, for the Abattoir Company. The cattle were well cared for on the train, and were landed in good condition. Went to two sales of cattle for the Abattoir Company. Everything was satisfactorily done. The cattle were all taken away as soon as the sale was over. Called to Hamilton Avenue to humanely put to death an old horse which was past its labour. Received a report to go to the Goulds to put to death a horse. This will be attended to on Monday. Humanely put to death a dog on Merrymeeting Road. I have been around the country at night time, where cattle have been exposed to the weather. The time has come when all owners of cattle must keep them in at night. Three horses have been sent off the street suffering with lameness. One fell on Long Bridge; where the tracks are high over the road and the mud very deep. The Bridge is in a disgraceful condition, and teamsters, to try and save their horses are compelled to keep close to the sidewalk. I would also like to call the attention again of people to try and do their shopping earlier so that the horses and men won't be kept out late at this season of the year. I am very thankful to all those who take such an interest in the dumb animals. I have received many complaints during the week, and have done my best to attend to them all. The iron pipe, complained of by a citizen, on the Beach near the Monument, has been attended to by the City Engineer. The horse reported in the East End has been attended to by a Veterinary Surgeon. All complaints will be given attention. Phone 653.

A Pipeless Furnace

WHAT IS IT, YOU ASK?

The most modern and inexpensive heating appliance on the market. Thousands being sold throughout Canada and the United States.

HOW IS IT INSTALLED AND OPERATED?

In most cases can be installed in one day, causing no interruption or inconvenience in the house. It is placed in the basement immediately under the floor of the hall. It sends a flood of heat all up through the house,—into every room and corner, and at the same time draws all the cold air back again from the house, heats it and sends it back into the house again. It is thus a circulating system, which re-heats the air four to five times an hour in an average house.

WE INSTALLED—

"Enterprise Pipeless Furnaces"

(Made of all Cast Iron)

in several homes in the city last year, and the owners speak in highest praise of the absolute comfort and dependability of having the house warm in the coldest weather. All of this with a minimum of fuel. Burns any kind of fuel, and simple to operate.

THE MAKERS' GUARANTEE—

Attacked by Monks

U. S. Missionaries in Rangoon Rescued by Mahomedan Cabdriver. How a Mahomedan cabdriver came to the rescue of Professor and Mrs. Gresson, the American missionaries, who were attacked in Rangoon, is related in a Reuter cable.

Riots encouraged by Buddhist monks followed the imprisonment of a Buddhist tried for sedition, and while passing a monastery in a suburb of Rangoon, Professor and Mrs. Gresson were attacked by eight men dressed as Buddhist monks and armed with sharp weapons and stocks. The Professor was cut on the jaw and forehead and stabbed in the back and Mrs. Gresson was wounded in the head and forehead.

Hearing cries, a Mahomedan cabdriver rushed to their assistance, but he was threatened with a chopper and retired. He returned, however, and conveyed Professor and Mrs. Gresson to hospital.

St. John's Mothers Now Just Rub Away Children's Colds

The New Vaporizing Salve Replaces Internal Medicines and Avoids Upsetting Little Stomachs—Relieves Croup in 15 Minutes; Colds go overnight.

COLDS are caused by bacteria which usually attack the mucous membrane or lining of the air passages. It has long been recognized that the best way to treat colds is to apply the medication directly to the air passages—to stimulate the mucous membrane to throw off the cold germs.

Internal medication does not reach the air passages directly—only vapors which are inhaled can do that. Until the discovery of Vicks there was no convenient and economical method of furnishing these medicated vapors.

Old Remedies in New Form.

Vicks is the discovery of a chemist who found a new way to combine in ointment form the best known remedies for colds—Menthol, Camphor, Oils of Eucalyptus, Thyme, Juniper Tar, etc.—so that when applied to the throat and chest the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors.

These vapors, inhaled with every breath all night long, carry the medication directly to the air passages and lungs. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster, taking out the soreness and tightness in the chest.

Ideal for Children

Vicks is particularly valuable to mothers with small children, since it avoids the necessity of that frequent internal dosing which so often upsets the delicate digestive organs of children.

Vicks can be applied freely and often. It contains no harmful ingredients. Used immediately after exposure it helps to prevent children's colds. Applied at bedtime it is a safeguard against croup.

In the column adjoining are given the actual experiences of a number of St. John's families who have adopted the use of Vicks since it was introduced here last winter.

The Direct Treatment
St. John's mothers have found in Vicks what they have always wanted—an "outside" remedy for children's croup and colds—brings quick relief.

Vicks has met severe tests in these St. John's homes

CHILDREN'S COLDS

Mrs. Jos. Power, No. 15 George Street, says: "I have two boys, eleven and twelve years old, who had very bad colds and sore throats. I rubbed Vicks on their chests at night, before going to bed, and it did them so much good I told several of my friends about it."

HEAD AND CHEST COLDS

Mrs. A. J. Symonds, of No. 102 Barnes Road, writes: "Since trying the sample of Vicks I have been a constant user and find it a wonderful remedy. My four months old baby had a bad head and chest cold and, after three applications, he was completely cured."

SORE THROAT

Mrs. I. LeDrew, No. 9 Cabot Street, says: "My little boy, five years old, had a bad cold in his throat. I rubbed him twice with Vicks and cured him. I also used it with good results for my little baby girl."

WHOOPIING COUGH

Mrs. David England, No. 20 Field Street, writes: "I have used Vicks on my child for whooping cough and colds with excellent results and I must say that it is the best thing I have ever had for a household remedy. I would not be without it in the home."

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

LONDON, Oct. 31.
The events in the political world for next week as at present conceived are that King George will return to London on Monday from Sandringham Castle; that the MacDonald Cabinet will meet on Tuesday to receive the report of the committee appointed to examine the authenticity of the Zinovieff letter, and that Premier MacDonald then will present the resignation of his Government to the King, who will summon Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, to form a new Cabinet. The remainder of the week would then be employed by Mr. Baldwin in constructing a new Conservative Government. There is already much speculation over the allocation of portfolios, and especially over the question whether Lord Curzon will return to the Foreign Office. According to some reports, Curzon will not come back to the office of his former labours, in which case it is possible the portfolio might be offered to J. Austen Chamberlain, or even to the former Liberal Foreign Secretary, Viscount Grey. The choice of Viscount Grey, though it is considered unlikely, would not in the minds of some of the political leaders be inappropriate since the axiom held here is "continuity in foreign policy." There is a deal of speculation also whether Mr. Baldwin would now accept the services of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead, who have been ostracized from association with a government under Conservative administration since their intimate association with former Premier Lloyd George. As Mr. Lloyd George now is definitely committed to the good or ill fortunes of the Liberal Party, and there no longer is any hope for the formation of a Centre Party, the belief prevails in some circles that Mr. Baldwin will take back these former Ministers into the Cabinet. Another source of speculation surrounds Sir Robert Horne for the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer. Some persons believe that he could be induced to abandon his commercial pursuits and return to politics. In consequence of the large number of new men on the Conservative side in the new House of Commons, it is thought there is almost certain to be considerable new blood in the next Conservative Cabinet. One feature of the aftermath comment by the press on the outcome of the election of the 15th is the somewhat frank discussion of many of the newspapers regard as Mr. MacDonald's mismanagement of the Zinovieff affair, and of the events generally which led up to the present disaster to the two progressive parties, and there already is talk of a change in the leadership of the Labor Party by which James H. Thomas, Secretary for the Colonies, or John Wheatley, Minister of Health, might replace Mr. MacDonald, and thus be in the running for the Premiership whenever Labor again approaches the goal of Government.

A Pleasing Presentation

Mr. E. Cahill severs his connection with the Martin-Royal Stores Hardware Company to-day and was agreeably surprised last night when his fellow employees made him a presentation, accompanied by many expressions of goodwill. Mr. Cahill, who has been for the past 29 years in the employ, will engage in business with Mr. J. Warren, of the firm of W. Parker & Co. By courteous behaviour and attention to the requirements of his patrons, Mr. Cahill has won for himself a host of friends, whom, we are sure, will wish him every success in his venture. The following is the address which accompanied the presentation:

Dear Mr. Cahill—On the eve of your departure from the scenes of busy times and happy memories, we, your fellow employees, feel that a link in that long chain of servitude with the one firm has been broken. It is an old saying, "Opportunity knocks at the door once in a lifetime," let us hope that this is the knock which you are answering.

In bidding you farewell we would ask you to accept these gifts, not for their value, but for the respect and esteem in which you were held.

From your fellow employees of

"Human Wreckage"

SOUL STIRRING FEATURE AT THE MAJESTIC MONDAY.

Undoubtedly the most impressive film exhibited this season, "Human Wreckage," with Mrs. Wallace Reid, the star, in the principal role. See the hyena, the most ferocious of all beasts, clothed in the garb of dope, tearing down the great cities of the world. The following is the cast and the synopsis:

- | | |
|------------------|-------------------|
| Ethel MacFarland | Mrs. Wallace Reid |
| Alan MacFarland | James Kirkwood |
| Mary Finnegan | Hessie Love |
| Jimmy Brown | Geo. Hackathorne |
| Mrs. Brown | Claire McDowell |
| Dr. Hillman | Robert McKim |
| Mrs. Finnegan | Victory Bateman |
| Steve Stone | Harry Northrup |
| Dr. Blake | Eric Mayne |
| Harris | Otto Hoffman |
| Dunn | Philip Elemen |
| The Baby | George Clark |
| Ginger Smith | Lucille Rickson |
- Alan MacFarland, prominent oriental lawyer, contracts the morphine habit through taking the drug during the times when his nerves break as a result of overwork. The peddlers of the narcotic weave a net about this man and his course follows the downward path until his wife, learning his condition, helps him in a fight to be rid of the evil. It is not until that she pretends to be a user of the drug herself that MacFarland awakens to necessity of superhuman efforts in the struggle and wins out.

Zaglou Admits Mission Failed

EGYPTIAN PREMIER DID NOT REALIZE HIS ASPIRATIONS IN ENGLAND.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 21.—(Associated Press.)—The Egyptian Premier, Zaglou Pasha, was enthusiastically greeted in Alexandria last night upon his return from England where he interviewed Premier MacDonald regarding Egypt's aspirations for complete independence. He admitted that he had returned without realizing these aspirations but declared he was ready to sacrifice his life if necessary for his country's independence. The British had replied to his request "with a refusal without proof of justification." It had been demonstrated that the Egyptians must remain solidly grouped under the banner of "complete independence for Egypt and the Sudan." "We will never admit, nor will those who come after us, that a single foreign soldier shall remain on Egyptian soil," the Premier declared.

Hideous Record of Bolshevist Rule

TYRANNY AND TORTURE BRITISH LOAN WOULD BOLSTER UP.

A story of hideous bloodshed unexpressed in the history of the world is contained in "Bolshevism's Terrible Record," and indictment by Maitre Aubert.

Maitre Aubert is one of the leading lawyers of the Swiss Bar. Last year, at Lausanne, he defended M. Polouine, a Russian accused of being an accomplice in the shooting of the Bolshevik emissary Vorovsky.

The volume is the printed record of his brilliant speech for the defence which eventually secured the acquittal of "frestable" impulse," a finding strictly in accordance with Vaudois law.

In describing the apathy of other European nations to the Russian terror at the opening of his speech, Maitre Aubert said:

But Russia is far away and Europe soon forgets in the pressure of countless events. Our ears are deafened by the cackling of daily worries and with difficulty hear the great whisper of massacre which comes from the East. "What have workmen gained under Sovietism?" Maitre Aubert asks. "Slavery in the factories. Unpunctuality or absence from work is punished by forced labour or corporal punishment. And the eight hours' day? It is one of twelve hours."

There is no secret ballot in Russia. Communist aliens organise the elections and torture and murder those who differ from them. The universal misery under Bolshevik regime is described by a quotation of the indictment by Dr. Nansen, the explorer, who visited Russia recently.

Ghostly Famine Scenes.

"The famine affects 19,000,000 people," he said. "In the village of Puzatchovak they boil flesh from the cemeteries. In one village a mother divided the corpse of her daughter, dead from starvation, among her three surviving children."

But the blackest pages in this terrible record are those concerning the reign of terror and the stupefying atrocities committed by the Cheka, a Terrorist commission.

In relating a list of these crimes Maitre Aubert says:

At Voronej they pierced out their victims' eyes, cut off their noses and ears, dislocated their joints and tore off their nails. They carved officers' epaulettes on their bare shoulders and engraved the Soviet star on their foreheads.

Other victims were plunged into boiling water, melted lead was forced down the throats of others.

At Khar Koff the butcher Saenko was celebrated for his skill in scalping heads and hands.

Members of the Cheka used to invite their friends to witness executions from a balcony, and in order to prolong the entertainment the victims were prodded with bayonets and had their noses broken, until they were finally killed in line by mounted men armed with swords.

The Embarrassed Judge

Here is a story of Lord Darling in the days when he was Mr. Justice Darling:

The famous judge was in a train which had halted at a wayside station. A man came up to the carriage door and asked if he were addressing Mr. Justice Darling. On being told that he was, he said: "Oh, we have a kind of connection with you. I on sentenced my father to death not long ago." The judge murmured some words of regret. "Not at all," said the man, "Father was a dreadful man. He murdered our mother."

"Dear me!" said the judge; "a terrible tragedy for you all."

"Not at all," said the other again. "Mother treated us all shamefully. In fact, wrong as it was, it solved a great many problems for us."
