War Saving Certificate

The new War Savings Certificates which have been created by the Government to encourage thrift and economy and to give everyone an opportunity to assist in financing our expenditure, are now on sale at every bank and money order post office in Canada. The $25 certificate sells for $21.50, the $50 for $43, and the $100 for $86.

As an investment these certificates offer many attractive features—chief of which are absolute security and the excellent interest return. For every $21.50 lent to the Government now, $25 will be returned at the end of three years.

There are two other features which are especially interesting to small investors. First, the certificates may be surrendered at any time, if the buyer should need his money; and second, each certificate is registered at Ottawa in the buyer's name and, if lost or stolen, is therefore valueless to any one else.

But while they are excellent from an investment standpoint, the certi-

The person who honestly saves to the extent of his ability and places his savings at the disposal of the Government by purchasing these certificates, may feel that he is having a direct share in feeding, equipping, and munitioning our Canadian soldiers, who are so nobly doing their part.

NOTE AND COMMENT

According to a report made to the Trade and Commerce Department by Canadian Trade Commissioner Johnston, of Bristol, there is an opportunity for Canadians to do a profitable trade in growing sunflowers. There is a big demand for sunflower seed in England, where it is worth about one hundred dollars a ton, which is about five cents a pound, delivered. In the past sunflower seeds have been bought for seed purposes to feed poultry, but large quantities are now crushed in order to extract the oil, which is used in the manufacture of margarine or artificial butter. Mr. Johnston states that a large number of people in Great Britain are using it instead of butter, which is scarce and high priced. He says there is unlimited opportunity to do a large business in sunflower seeds. Mr. Johnston further reports scarcity in England of canary seed, hemp seed and millet seed, owing to war conditions and the shutting off of previous sources of supply. Prices are high, and there is an opportunity for the economic growth of these seeds in Canada.

To Test Your Own Seed

In the Seed Laboratory grain is tested to determine the percentage of vital seeds by placing one hundred kernels between blotters, keeping them at a suitable temperature and supplied with the proper amount of moisture in a special germinating chamber. The results of such a test show what proportion of the seeds are vital, but a more accurate idea of the value of the grain for seed could be gained from a soil test. Such tests are not practicable in a laboratory where thousands of samples are under test at one time.

Any one can test seed for himself by putting one hundred seeds taken "just as they come" from the grain he wishes to test, in soil in a flower pot, box or other convenient receptacle, and keeping it moistened, but not wet, in some place where it will not be too warm in the day time, and where it will be cooler, but will not freeze, at night; the alternation of temperature favors germination. By noticing the number of plants produced, whether they come up quickly and are strong or weak, one can determine the suitability of the grain for seeding purposes more accurately than from the results of a test which he does not see. If seed that is known to be of strong vitality can be planted under exactly the same conditions as the seed whose vitality is being determined, the test will be more valuable.

Cleaning grain over a good fanning mill to remove from one-third to one-half of the bulk including all the light, shrunken and immature seeds, will greatly improve its quality as seed.—Seed Branch Ottawa.

The Nearest

From London Ideas.
The four mud-stained privates had come into possession of a mouth organ by means unknown to all except one rather sore Hun prisoner.

"Oo!ter have the bloomin' thing?" wailed Private Ebenezzer Moggs (surnamed the Swiper).

"Blimy! I know!" roared another of the mud-stained combatants. Let the Swiper play somethin' on it, and the one 'oo guesses wot the chune is tosses up between the Swiper an' 'imself."

It was done. The Swiper trilled up and down the scale until the Germans opposite asked Mr. Wilson to send the British government a note about it.

"Well?" queried the musician, when he had finished.

One private suggested: Beer, Beer, Glorious Beer. But the Swiper shook his head.

"No," he said, "that's not it, but you are the nearest, and so you wins. The chune was 'As Pants the 'Art for Coolin' Streams."

There may be other corn curcs, but Holloway's Corn Cure stands at the head of the list so far as results are concerned.

A RIDE ON THE PILOT.

It Was Too Exciting a Railroad Trip to Be Repeated.

An eastern man was riding by rail through the Rocky mountains. A friend had told him about riding on the pilot of the engine through some grand mountain scenery, and the easterner was eager to have the same experience. At the first opportunity, therefore, he asked the conductor whether his friends and he could ride on the front of the engine. The conductor very promptly said they could not. Nothing but a permit from the superintendent of the line would entitle any one to such a privilege. As the superintendent was a thousand miles away, it seemed a hopeless case.

The easterner spoke of his disappointment to the Pullman conductor, who told him that perhaps the affair could be managed after all. Through his diplomacy it was arranged somehow or other, and at the next station four of the party, including two ladies, took their places on the pilot.

The scenery was some of the grandest in the new world, but the easterner could not enjoy it. The two slender rails in front held his gaze with a sort of horrible spell. He could not look away from them. He felt almost the same sense of insecurity and terror that a man would feel if he were suddenly whirled off into infinite space.

Suddenly, as the train rounded a curve, he saw a hand car on the track ahead. His companions saw it at the same instant. A man stood beside it and was making desperate efforts to remove it from the rails. He got the wheels off; then, as the engine bore down upon him, he died.

The engineer did not see the hand car at once, he was at the moment looking at his gauges. When he did see it it was too late for him to check the speed of the train. He could only look on.

The hand car was on the side of the track nearest the man from the east. He had an awful half minute. He rose to his feet, not knowing what he did, and leaned far over in front of the others. His eyes were riveted upon the hand car. He saw nothing, realized nothing except its approach.

The engine struck the hand car with terrific force, and the pilot lifted it from the rails. It rolled up, ground against the very place where the easterner had been sitting, plowed a deep groove in the ironwork and then toppled over at the side of the track.

The frightened engineer set the brakes and brought the train to a standstill. Not one of the party was even touched, but they had had enough riding on the pilot. And, indeed, it was the end of such riding for others. From that time all such trips were strictly forbidden.

It was two years before the man from the east could see a hand car even standing harmlessly beside a railway track without turning faint and dizzy.—Youth's Companion.

YOUR COAL BIN.

How to Save Your Black Diamonds Just Now.

VARIOUS KINDS OF SIFTERS.

An Expert Tells Us How to Keep One Eye Peeled on the Furnace While the Other Scans the High Cost of Living. It Pays to Have Implements.

While many women are under the tyranny of the janitor, still others glory in our shame of being a householder and have to do more than theoretically tackle the coal bin. Even if we have a man to feed the furnace and remove the ashes, it might save us some pennies to become better acquainted with some of the coal savers on the market.

First among these may be cited a "heat controller." This may be called the watchdog of the coal bin, as by regulating the heat it prevents unnecessary burning of coal or new building of the fire because through carelessness it was allowed to die out. It has a clock attachment, which can be set at a desired time. For instance, it can be set an hour earlier than the rising time, with the temperature set for 70. When you awake instead of finding a chilly, frigid house the house is warm and comfortable, due to the magic of the heat controller.

With coal at its present price a ton it is wise to have the best kind of a sifter. Various "rotary" styles are on the market, which sift the chaff from the wheat, so to speak, and permit the slightly burned coals to be saved, when they can be used again to bank the fire. These sifters come in various sizes and consist of a hopper fitted to a can. The hopper is equipped with wire mesh, and turning the handle sifts the ashes, but retains the larger partly burned lumps for second use.

One of the conveniences for the householder who has to buy a quantity of coal is the right kind of coal window or chute. One of the most practical on the market is a combined window and chute. The parts are made of strong metal, the window protected by a wire mesh. The parts of the window are so made that opening the window opens the chute within, which is attached to the window and part of it. This relieves the need of extra chutes. The window locks automatically when it is closed, thus being burglar proof. It saves coal being scattered at the entrance of the window and is so made that it seems an integral part of the house and cellar when installed.

No matter what kind of a heating system is used in your home, the boiler must be "jacketed" with some kind of asbestos material. These jackets can be bought for a regular boiler, such as is frequently attached to a kitchen range. The jacket laces up and can be most easily attached. Special sized boilers can have the jackets made to order, or the boiler covered with asbestos composition material used by steamfitters. Keeping the heat in is as much of a coal saver as anything else. The best plant will waste heat if not sufficiently insulated.

The best coal ranges are fitted with dumping grates connected with a chute to a bin in the cellar. This is a great convenience, removing the necessity for dragging buckets of coal and ashes to and from the cellar and about the rooms. Such a chute could be fitted with a sifter and the better grades of ashes saved for use again. It pays those who have the management of a heating system to investigate thoroughly improvements and systems which will help reduce the high cost of heating.

WATFORD, FEBRUARY 16, 1917

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Swiss newspaper suggests a unanimous declaration of war by all neutrals against that country which sinks a neutral ship carrying non-contraband goods destined for a neutral country. If even exposed Switzerland, with a population three fourths German by blood and speech, feels that way, how could Germany ever have expected to cow the rest of the neutral world?

The question of a greater Dominion after the war is being canvassed at Ottawa. The disposal of the German colonies will, in all probability, be dealt with at the forthcoming Imperial Council in London. Canada, among the belligerents, is almost the only country that cannot materially benefit by the defeat of Germany. Of the Overseas Dominion, Australia and New Zealand, it is believed, will divide between them the Pacific possessions of Germany, while South Africa will get a big slice of German African territory. Where Canada will come in is what is being canvassed as the capital. One proposal is that the British West Indies be placed under the jurisdiction of Canada either to be governed by colonies or as a new province of the Dominion. In addition it is proposed that steps be taken to have Newfoundland join the Confederation. Of course in both cases nothing could be done without the consent of the British West Indies and Newfoundland.

Lambton A Fruit County

A Fruit Branch circular, issued recently by the Ontario department of agriculture, refers to Lambton county as follows:

"During the fruit boom times of 1900 to 1910, Lambton county came into prominence as a general fruit district, and while the district has long been a heavy producer of excellent apples, it has recently expanded considerably in peach production and planting. In 1911 Lambton county had 32,727 bearing peach trees, and 64,227 nonbearing. This shows very heavy planting and while during this period many orchards throughout the province were planted mainly on enthusiasm, it is only fair to this district to state that peach growing is proving very successful and production is increasing. In this district the problem is one of perfecting machinery of distribution, as a heavy crop would seriously tax the marketing facilities at present in existence."

Origin of the Red Cross

The design of the Red Cross on a white ground was adopted as a compliment to Switzerland which has this design on her flag with the colors reversed. Fifty-three years ago a convention was held at Geneva, where an international agreement was made regarding the treatment of the wounded in war and amelioration of the evils of the warfare. During the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 the Red Cross flag was recognized as neutral. The originator of the Red Cross movements and author of the Geneva Convention was M. Henri Dunant, who had been influenced by the work of Florence Nightingale in the Crimean War. His book, "A Souvenir of Solferino," relates the horrors of war before the inauguration of the Red Cross."

Importance Of Securing Vigorous Potato Seed Stock

(Experimental Farms Note)

Experiments conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S. with eight lots of Garnet Chili potatoes secured from different growers in 1915 show a variation in yield of from 36 bushels to 240 bushels per acre, or a difference of 204 bushels per acre in yield when grown under uniform conditions. Seed from these eight lots planted in 1916 yielded from 68 bushels to 212 bushels per acre, a difference of 144 bushels per acre. The respective positions of the different lots were changed very little in the second year, but the lowest yielding ones increased somewhat and the highest yield was not so great. Seed from fifteen others of this variety was planted in 1916 and the lowest yield obtained was 158 bushels and the highest 273 bushels per acre, a difference in favour of the best over the poorest of 120 bushels per acre.

Ten lots of pure stock of Green Mountain from different growers ranged from 180½ bushels per acre to 313 bushels per acre, a difference of 132½ bushels. Seventeen lots of Irish Cobbler ranged from 93 bushels per acre as the poorest to 235 bushels as the best, a difference in favour of the best yielding strain of 142 bushels. This would show that there may be as great a difference between potatoes of the same variety as there is between potatoes of different varieties, and that it is wise to secure stock from farms which have had high yielding crops. Because the Green Mountain has failed in giving a crop on a certain farm is not proof that this variety will not yield well there; it may have been due to low vitality in the seed stock. Such reversion in yield may have been due to disease, or adverse soil or climatic conditions which affected the crop at some time and it may be better to discard the stock entirely than to try to bring it up to its former vitality by selection.

What is the Navy Doing?

London Telegraph: We are quite naturally fascinated by the size and grandeur of the Grand Fleet, but let us not be unmindful of the world-wide activities of other sections of the navy—the hazardous operations of the cruiser squadron, the splendid resource and hardihood of the patrol services, and the unceasing vigilance of the men-of-war in the outer seas. What is the navy doing? That answer is that it is doing everything that can be done by naval power, and it is doing it in a manner which will bear comparison with the glories of our great past.

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."

Death of Mr. D. L. McLean

One of the earliest settlers of the Tenth Concession West Brooke, passed away on Sunday, Feb. 4th, 1917, when Mr. D. L. McLean passed into the great beyond. The end came with startling suddenness, Mr. McLean having been in Alvinston within a few minutes of his death. Mr. McLean was one of the best known and most respected men of Brooke and was well known in Alvinston, his mother, the late Mrs. Yates Ferguson having lived there for many years, and died only a few years ago. He was for a quarter of a century a leading elder in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and was one of the organizers of that congregation. His life was one of steady exertion and he had the satisfaction of seeing his family grow up and settle in the neighborhood, six of his family of nine children having married and settled within driving distance of the old home. His wife, who survives him, is a daughter of the late Joseph Lucas. In the passing of Mr. McLean there passes from us one of those sterling men whose life enriches any community and who will be missed equally in his home, his church and his neighborhood. Having been for many years an elder in St. Andrew's, the funeral service was conducted in the church of which he had been so long a leader and father, his empty pew and the pulpit being draped in black, while the choir rendered suitable music. Interment took place in Alvinston cemetery and in spite of the cold was very largely attended many of Mr. McLean's old comrades from East Brooke being present to show their esteem of an honored friend. The bearers were Richard, Wesley, Sanford and Wellington Lucas, David Whitehead and Wm. Higgins.

Mr. McLean is survived by his widow, Emily Lucas, and nine children, three sons, Joseph, who lives on the tenth concession of Enniskillen, and Andrew and Dan at home, and six daughters, Mrs. W. J. Johnston, whose husband is deputy clerk of Brooke; Mrs. Alex. McDonald; Mrs. Thos. Clark, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Mimiely, of South Plympton, and Miss Lena at home. He is survived also by one sister Mrs. D. McCaw, of Enniskillen. The family has the sympathy of the community in their great sorrow.

500 Bags Potatoes from 6 Acres

W. A. CRAIG, Sarnia Ontario, says: "This year I planted 5 acres of potatoes on clay land, applied 600 pounds Homestead Bone Black Fertilizer to the acre broadcast. The piece was cultivated six times and Spring plowed. It was harvested August 20th and yielded 500 bags fine merchantable potatoes. I have used Homestead Fertilizer for five years and always got good results. I would not plant potatoes without it."

Corn and Wheat Doubled

TIMOTHY DUNHAM, Salford, Ontario,

"I used fifteen hundred pounds Homestead Bone Black Fertilizer on my corn last season and was very much pleased with results. I also used ten hundred pounds on my wheat last Fall, and am already satisfied that it paid me well to do it, as there are a few spots that the drill missed sowing, and the wheat there isn't more than half as good. I think this ought to convince any person whether it pays to sow fertilizer or not." Write Michigan Carbon Works, Detroit, for free book and particulars about their Homestead Bone Black Fertilizer.

Letter from the Front

Extract from a letter from an old Warwick boy, one of those doing his bit for his country:—

Somewhere in France. Well, I am back in a sort of rest camp and a little quieted. I am quite well and we have had a quiet Christmas and New Years. The weather is real fine here, not a bit like last winter, although the last 3 months we were in action it was awful, but a few weeks out you seem to forget the troublesome time you have had and sorrow you have gone through. The only thing I wish is that we do not have to go back to the dreadful cruelty we left. I left some of my best friends up there including Charley and Rob. My old and tried cistus, went from Toronto with me. One thing they are through with the mud and horrible time and longing for dear ones at home. Well this is the starting of another year and who knows but God what it has in store for us all. They say it will be the blood-est year of the war and I wouldn't be surprised. One thing we can say is we are now ready for anything and the Huns will see what a real bombardment is. We gave them an awful hammering the past 3 months, but they will remember that as a Sunday School picnic to what they will get. I only hope it doesn't last long so that those who are spared will be able to return to dear old Canada. I will have two years service next month and have been no farther than 4 miles behind the firing line the last 6 months, and have had only a few scratches.

July 12th in Forest

The annual meeting of the Loyal Orange Association of East Lambton was held in the Orange Hall, Uttoxeter, on Tuesday, Feb. 6th, with a very large number of members present. It was decided to celebrate the 12th of July in Forest this year, and the members from West Lambton will join with this county.

Dinner and supper were served by the ladies of the District in the basement and a collection was taken up amongst the brethren, and a nice large sum was handed over to the ladies for Red Cross Work.

A movement is on foot in Sarnia to have the city council pass a bylaw which will exempt all dwellings erected for a period of two years to encourage the people of Sarnia to build more homes, and thus help solve the house scarcity problem, which, at the present time, is declared to be severe. The Sarnia Board of Trade is behind the scheme.

In some unaccountable manner, his hand striking the sharp edge of an axe, Frank Dewar, eldest son of Dan Dewar of Plympton townline, had his arm almost severed at the wrist. ## AUTOINTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

The Dangerous Condition Which Produces Many Well Known Diseases.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THIS TROUBLE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" — The Wonderful Fruit Medicine — will Protect You

Auto-intoxication means self-poisoning, caused by continuous or partial constipation, or insufficient action of the bowels.

Instead of the refuse matter passing daily from the body, it is absorbed by the blood. As a result, the kidneys and skin are overworked, in their efforts to rid the blood of this poisoning.

Poisoning of the blood in this way often causes indigestion, loss of appetite and disturbed stomach. It may produce headaches and sleeplessness. It may irritate the kidneys and bring on pain in the back, rheumatism, gout, and rheumatic pains. It is the chief cause of eczema — and keeps the whole system unhealthy by the constant absorption into the blood of this refuse matter.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always cure auto-intoxication or self-poisoning — as "Fruit-a-tives" acts gently on bowels, kidneys and skin, strengthens the bowels and tones up the nervous system. 60c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. ## Mother's Emerald

A Love Story.

By AGNES C. BROGAN

When father first spoke of bringing the student to board I was glad. Any new companionship seemed promising. But when I considered that the student, being musical, might also be the possessor of an uncertain temperament my troubles appeared to be increasing. One like father was bad enough in any family, flying off on the slightest provocation into a fit of temper or, in his better moods, listening apparently with an appreciative smile as one related some personal incident, only to find at its conclusion that his mind had been engaged with some beloved "score." Nora, the cook, was my only comfort, and Nora had not what one might call an "understanding" mind.

Father told me his plan one evening with his customary tardiness. The student was to arrive at 8 o'clock and the south room to be prepared for his disposal. He was coming "free" upon condition of exchanging secretary work for lessons. This alone was a recommendation to the student's musical ability. Father would receive no pupil without promise of skill. Excitedly he named the young man as "his discovery." Eric Knowlson's future, he said, was assured. So I went to mother's picture about it. I have a way of going to mother's picture in all my joys and perplexities to receive advice from its soft eyes. You see mother, left this world as I entered slipping out very silently before ever my baby arms could reach her.

"Mother," I sighed, "if we must have another man in this house, oh, let us hope that he may be a sane one!" My experience with men ended with father, and I fancied them all like him. Nora encouraged me in this belief. "They're all the very old devil," she said. And with her remark in my ears I ran into the music-room and incidentally also into the student. The sudden encounter surprised him as much as it did me. He had been removing his violin from its case, whistling softly. His whistle stopped abruptly. Then after we had stared at each other awhile he bowed.

"Eric Knowlson," he explained, "Mercy!" I exclaimed rudely, "I should never have guessed it. Not the violinist?"

"The same," he replied, "long hair and soulful eyes missing perhaps." He smiled. "Bound to be a failure, then. None of the essentials."

"I am Professor Ludlow's daughter," I stiffly reproved him, "and will show you to your room."

"It is my turn to say 'Mercy!' I never should have guessed it," the young man remarked pleasantly. "Your father has always spoken of you as 'my daughter, the housekeeper.' Naturally I imagined a staid, sensible appearing sort of person. Again, none of the essentials."

Suddenly my smile answered his. "You shall see," I challenged. So, with free and merry chatter, we found ourselves in the short space before dinner upon astonishingly friendly terms. It was father's forbidding presence which cast formality over the meal. Afterward, upon the top step of the stairs, I listened to their music, father at the piano, the student with his violin. And the sweet strains of the instrument at his charmed touch caused even me, surfeited with music, to linger. Into the "Spring Song" came a dominant, personal note, that was suddenly a clear, compelling call. Slowly I moved in answer down the stairs, then paused perplexed in the doorway. The student smiled.

"I called you," he said daintily, "and I knew that you would come."

So our love began, abruptly, inexplicably.

One day Eric told me the story of his life. Uneventful it had been, yet one of sacrifice. His father, a violinist, had deserted Eric and his mother just as the lad was beginning to realize his inherited musical gift. After that he had quietly laid his ambition aside with his violin and turned to care for his mother. And now she was dead, now only had he dared to indulge his dreams, and father in a measure had made this possible. For himself money had not mattered, he said. There had been but one thing he coveted—a white marble stone for his mother's grave. This he must have. "And now there's you, Nance!" he cried. "I must have you!" Then he caught up my hand to look at my rings—mother's emerald and its tiny guard.

"Dear," he said

first I feared this costly ring might be significant. "Oh, no!" I told him. "It has been the betrothal ring of our family, handed down for generations. Father's mother placed it upon my own dear mother's finger, and now that she is gone father trusts it in my keeping."

"It is of great value," Eric said, his eyes suddenly aglow as he bent over the wondrous stone; then with his first sign of impatience my lover turned from me.

"What is it?" I asked him, troubled.

"The farring thought, perhaps, of our different stations," he replied—"your mother's costly emerald, my mother's unmarked grave."

Father coming in at this moment, I hastened to draw the tea table nearer the fire. Something was wrong with the alcohol lamp, so I drew my rings from my finger, bending to adjust it. Upon the mantel stood a small brass clock. Its high center spindle, with a sort of lattice-work beneath, made an excellent ring tray. Often I slipped my rings over the spindle, and there, hidden from sight, they safely awaited my pleasure. So I heard them now tinkle down to their place and came with a laughing remark to brighten Eric's sober mood. But it was unabated when Nora called me to the kitchen. After the evening meal there was no summons in the message of the violin. "Different stations," I repeated to myself pettishly. "What in all the world is worth having save only love and happiness?" Then I remembered my rings. I had left them upon the clock spindle.

Down the stairs I crept silently—the household might be sleeping. The light of a street lamp shining through the window guided me across the room. I felt for the rings. Just one was there. The emerald must be upon the floor, or perhaps the mantelshelf, or—I pressed the electric button. Father, entering unexpectedly, found me upon my knees after a last hopeless search.

"The ring, of course," he exploded. "You show it off to a penniless young vagabond, then leave it upon the mantelshelf—a fortune within easy reach of a stranger." Still muttering accusations, father went carefully over the polished surface of the floor, where no smallest glinting thing might hide. Then, as I had so many times done, he lifted each article from the mantelshelf. There were but four—the candlesticks, the clock and mother's picture. The ring had completely disappeared. For one long moment father eyed me in stern condemnation.

"You will make no mention of this loss," he commanded sharply, "nor let the adventurer know that he is suspected. In that lies our only hope of recovery. He shall be watched. He is the only person, excepting our two selves, who has either entered or left this room tonight. There is no possible way that the ring could have escaped."

It seemed all very true. But perhaps, I reflected, Eric had taken the ring for the night into his own safe keeping. In the morning he would smilingly chide me for my carelessness as he restored it. In the morning Eric was gone. Nora brought a note from him as I was dressing.

"Dearest," it read, "I am called away very suddenly. Will explain when I see you."

A sickening sense of the trade this news would bring forth from my father came over me. And if he should learn that the man was my lover, my

WEAK, AILING CHILD

Lakeport, N. H.—"Our little girl 8 years of age was in a debilitated, run-down condition and had a stubborn cough so she was weak and ailing all the time. Nothing helped her until we tried Vinol. promised husband! In my own heart was no thought of Eric's guilt.

"He's covered up his tracks pretty well," father said bitterly, "but we'll find him yet. That ring can't be disposed of without a sensation."

But they did not find him. My own eyes, filled with sad questioning searched mother's smiling ones. "Wait," they seemed to bid me—"wait!"

And at last Eric came. I was quite alone in the dusk, and at first he did not speak—just folded me close in his arms.

"It has been so long," I murmured brokenly, "and no word."

"There was so much to attend to," my lover said. "And I was hurrying back to you. On the way I stopped to place a stone—a fine, tall white marble one—on mother's grave."

Practically I endeavored to push him from me. Father stood before us, I had never known his wrath to reach such bounds. Inarticulately he raved, marking his accusations with a threatening fist, which, gesticulating, brushed from its resting place mother's picture. I stopped to pick it up, mechanically adjusting the catch of the heavy frame, then I stood breathless.

"Father!" I gasped. Eric's staring eyes turned toward me. The back of the picture was held in place by two broad strips of brass. In the lower of these pockets and evidently jarred from its wedding place gleamed the fateful emerald ring. For a moment we all stood looking at it.

"I don't understand," muttered Eric. "Don't you?" I cried, laughing through my tears. "Well, one evening I thought I had slipped the ring over the clock's spindle, but it bounded, it seems, turning down into the open pocket of mother's frame, hiding there close and tight. It is the betrothal ring of our family, Eric, handed down from parent to child. And, now, don't you see? Mother is giving it back to me to wear for you."

My lover came close; father was forgotten.

"Nance," said Eric, oh, so tenderly—"Nance, you'd take me like this, a penniless student? You'd believe in me through all false appearances against all the world?"

"Yes, Eric," I told him simply. Then he said: "I am glad I'm not quite so unworthy. My father died a few days ago. That's why I went away so suddenly. He sent for me when he was lying. He's left me all his money, Nance, and it's quite a lot."

Father cleared his throat several times before we turned to listen. Then as he spoke we hardly knew his voice, it was all so soft and humiliated.

"Boy," he said; "boy, I've done you wrong in my thoughts. Will you forgive me?"

"Forgive?" laughed Eric. "Well, I should say so, for if I haven't stolen your jewels I have stolen your daughter, that's sure."

Then father reached over and put the emerald ring in Eric's hand, while mother's eyes smiled at us all through the twilight.

In all infantile complaints that are the result of the deprivations of worms in the stomach and intestines Miller's Worm Powders will be found an effective remedy. They attack the cause of these troubles, and by expelling the worms from the organs insure an orderly working of the system, without which the child cannot maintain its strength or thrive. These powders mean health and improvement.

Public Streets.

Under the Roman-Dutch civil law the title to a public street was in the sovereign, and this rule obtained in New Netherlands until the country now comprising New York city was taken over by the English in 1664. The English common law, on the other hand, left the title to a public street in the owner of the adjacent land, with only "the right of passage for the king and his people."

On the Fly.

"So you want to know where flies come from, Tommy? Well, the cyclone makes the housefly, the blacksmith makes the freddy, the carpenter makes the sawfly, the driver makes the horsefly, the grocer makes the sandfly, and the boarder makes the butterfly."

NEW STRENGTH FOR LAME BACK!

Letter Teller of Long-looked-for Prescription.

Dear Mr. Editor—I suffered from lame back and a constant tired, worn-out feeling. At times I was unable to stand erect and scarcely able to get around. It would usually come on at first with crick in small of my back. I took one box of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and my back commenced to get better soon after starting to take them. I did not have to walk doubled over as I did before using the "Anuric." It is the best remedy I have ever taken for what it is intended to relieve.

I hope those who are in need of such a remedy will give the "Anuric Tablets" a trial. (Signed) A. G. DRAKE.

NOTE: Up to this time, "Anuric" has not been on sale to the public, but by the persuasion of many patients and the increased demand for this wonderful healing tablet, Doctor Pierce has finally decided to put it into the drug stores of this country within immediate reach of all sufferers.

Simply ask for Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Anuric" is sure to be Doctor Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the ever-famous friend to ailing women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, proven by years to be the greatest general tonic. Send 10 cents to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for large trial package.

At any rate don't give up hope of being cured of your malady until just a few doses of "Anuric" have proven that it will make you feel like a different person.

EDITOR—Please insert this letter in some conspicuous place in your paper.

flower basket being done in original colors. Small buttons, waist fashion, are stitched on as expressive eyes. Please observe that the cuffs match the cap.

Collars of Felt.

A new feature in blouses is felt trimming. Some of the georgette crape-models have collars and cuffs of felt attached to the blouse by bits of embroidery in the cross stitch or by French knots. Such blouses are cut low, V neck in front, with the felt collar turning down across the back. Blouses are as often seen with high collars as with low V cut, and there is a way of combining the two in a novel manner. A long, straight piece of chiffon of the same material of which the blouse is made is attached at the neck in the back and is brought around the throat and tied in a bow over the V cut or is crossed in front, with the two embroidered ends hanging over the shoulders in scarf fashion.

Many such novel ideas are to be noted in the blouses and especially the peplum embroidered blouses.

Pleasure in Well Doing.

Pleasure has a way of coming indirectly—where least you look for her and when least you expect her. She lurks in the happiness of work well done. She lingers in the consciousness of honest bookkeeping with life, and she always is to be found in the joy of growth and progress. In all these ways honest pleasure is to be found. This isn't meant to be a dull preachment against anything but work. But it does mean to say that happiness lies in doing and the consciousness of well doing.

STAGECOACH DAYS

Travel Often Spelled Misery Before We Had Railways.

TALE OF A WINTER JOURNEY.

Discomforts and Hardships That Had to Be Endured by the Passengers in an Old Style Trip Across the Allegheny Mountains in 1846.

How traveling is metamorphosed
these days, to be sure! Yet some men
"fond of handling the ribbons" and some women who "want to see the scenery at their leisure" still regret
"the spanking bays and rocking stage-coach of the past."

Here is the way the Allegheny mountains were crossed in 1846:

"It was midwinter when we arrived at Wheeling, and as the stagecoach
was to start at 5 o'clock in the morning no one thought of going to bed, so we took our way through the frozen streets to secure through tickets to Philadelphia. It was pitch dark and bitter cold—the damp, penetrating
weather that reaches the very marrow
of our bones.

"The little den, called by courtesy
the office, was filled with passengers as damp, cold and ill natured as ourselves. There was a handful of coal burning in a small grate, and around it were grouped the round shouldered, unsympathetic people who were to be our fellow passengers. They glanced at us and closed up all the open space near the fire, as if to say: 'You don't get in here, we can tell you. You have no right to travel in our coach, any way.'"

"At one side stood a table, and on it was a coffee pot and cups, some sausages frozen stiff and an unattractive loaf of bread, over which presided a tall darky, who leaned against the wall fast asleep. We were told that we could get a good breakfast twenty miles away from Wheeling.

"At the appointed time the heavy old coach came up, and we all clambered in and stowed ourselves away pell mell. A short way from town there was a long hill, up which the horses toiled, so this gave us all time to settle down for a quiet nap. One snore after another announced their success; in a few minutes six out of the nine passengers were oblivious of their misery.

"Not being sleepy, I studied the snorers. A large fat man opposite me had a short, angry snore. He snored so loudly that he woke himself up, and glared about him impudently, as though he hoped they wouldn't make that noise again!

"The old lady who was crushing me
up in the corner snored deeply and contentedly.

"Some one off in a dark corner had a genial way of joining in as though he snored merely to oblige the passengers; but the grand musician of the company sat opposite me. I never heard anything approaching him either for quality or compass. It was a back action snore that began in a bold agitato movement, suddenly brought up with a jerk and ended with a whistle.

"The whole band was in full play
when we stopped with a tremendous jerk, and everybody woke up with out-sils or 'Pshaw's' over a bad jolt. The summit gained, there was a sharp crack of the whip, the horses started, and everybody was jerked violently backward. Soon the chorus began again,
however, and I joined in till the coach came to a full stop at the table where the horses were to be changed.

"Stiff and sleepy and cramped from sitting so long in one position, the sun
now rose and came in at all sorts of places, waking and blinding everybody. What a discontented lot we were! And we all hated each other!

"At last, breakfast—ah, hot coffee,
ham and eggs and buckwheat cakes!
The meal was not half over before we were a band of brothers. We could not do enough for each other. All was harmony and peace."

Nor was that all, for they drove into a severe mountain storm and intense cold, darkness; the horses fell on the icy roads; the stage rocked wildly in the wind and nearly blew over. Twenty-four hours of this, a driver frozen stiff and assisted down from the box.
We do it now in six hours in a comfortable bed, in a warm, well lighted
car. Some "modern imps" are mighty good angels.

Our chief loss has been the great cheerful, roaring open fires that people had in those days. The domestic virtues began to decay when people were reduced to sitting around a hole in the wall or a gloomy metal register, without armchairs, stories, songs, grandparents and little children rousting apples or popping corn—friends and strangers dropping in and getting a warm welcome, a place in the circle and what Spaniards call "the love of the bos."

Quite a Change.
Twenty-five years ago a young husband's wife went away for a two days' visit. When she returned he met her at the depot and embraced her and kissed her. The other day she returned from a two weeks' visit. He met her and said, while he took a chew of tobacco,
"Well, did you have a good time?"

Never let your mirth, jubilation or pleasures dull your sympathy for the sorrow, suffering, sickness or indigence
of other people.

To Tuck and Hem.
Garments which are to be tucked by hand are much easier and more neatly done if the tucks are folded by the machine. Adjust the tucker to right size, then adjust the stitch and remove the thread from the needle, tucking just as if the thread were there. In the hand sewing follow the line of the needle pricks. Table linen may be marked in the same manner for hemming by hand.

Cooking Note.
Bastins in which anything made with flour has been mixed should be put to soak in cold water.

Sleeplessness.—Sleep is the great restorer and to be deprived of it is vital loss. Whatever may be the cause of it, indigestion, nervous derangement or mental worry, try a course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. By regulating the action of the stomach, where the trouble
lies, they will restore normal conditions and healthful sleep will follow. They exert a sedative force upon the nerves
and where there is unrest they will bring rest.

A Challenge.
What do you know about the Hall
electrochemical production of aluminum, the Acheson process for manufacturing carborundum, the Wilson
method of applying acetylene industrially, the Lovejoy & Bradley plant
for the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen, the Gayley invention of the dry
air blast in iron making, the Herres-hoff method of electrolytic copper refining, the Frasch process for refining crude oil? We feel safe in asserting that the great majority of our readers
could not name offhand, much less describe, any one of these eight discoveries. Yet they are basic steps in our conquest of nature. We are all indebted to them every day of our lives.
—Collier's Weekly.

The Basis of National Feeling.
"National feeling is obviously only a conspicuous instance of those corporate enthusiasms which are spontaneously generated as soon as one recognizes himself to be a member of a group.
Whether one belongs to the French institute, is a daughter of the Revolution,
a brakeman on the Baltimore and Ohio, a delegate to a religious congress, is rooting for Harvard or ascending his genealogical tree, he finds," writes
James Harvey Robinson in the Century, "his personality agreeably expanding. Paltry, diffident and discontented 'I' becomes proud and confident
'we.'"

'Tis a Marvellous Thing.—When the cures effected by Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil are considered, the speedy and permanent relief it has brought to the suffering wherever it has been used, it must be regarded as a marvellous thing that so potent a medicine should result from the six ingredients which enter into its composition. A trial will convince the most skeptical of its healing virtues.

Douglas Jerrold in School.
Douglas Jerrold wrote "Black Eyed Susan" when he was twenty-one and contributed to Punch the immensely popular "Candle Lectures" not long afterward. But at nine years of age young Jerrold had been scarcely able to read,
and it was not until he was apprenticed
to a printer after serving for some time
as a midshipman at sea that he showed either desire or capacity for intellectual improvement.

Clock Watchers.
Said a Boston business man the other day, "If there is one thing I hate more than another it is to see one of my employees watching the clock."
"Yes, sir," said the young man who had been called on the carpet. "I'll call the timekeeper's attention to what you said, sir."

He Named It.
"Who can name a word with an 'T' in it?" queried the teacher of the juvenile class.
"Needle!" exclaimed a bright little
miss.—Kansas City Star.

Up Against It.
"After all, it's no crime to be poor."
"Maybe not, but no poor man can afford to hire a lawyer to prove that he isn't guilty."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"Although I Had Little Faith in Them"

That is the feeling of hundreds who have been helped by Gin Pills. They admit after the cure that when they need Gin Pills it did not seem possible that such a simple remedy could relieve such severe suffering. The line above, for example, is from the letter of Mr. H. F.
Herbert, Pleasantville, recommending kidney trouble for several years. I have tried numerous remedies and used medical prescriptions without having permanent relief, my case being chronic. I decided faith in them. The first dose gave me relief. Since, I have taken four boxes of these pills and I find myself completely cured."

who had friends over here had leave for to visit them but they could only allow a certain number to go and it made some feel rather badly, but on the whole everybody was as happy as possible.

I am still at the same hospital but expect to go to France in the spring, if possible sooner, but am quite happy here. We are quite busy all the time, new patients coming and old ones going out all the time.

Oh! yes, Mrs. Gardiner, I almost forgot to say that Miss Reid is in this hospital and we share the same room. You remember telling me of her in one of your letters. She is from Watford and is very popular here. She has a very keen sense of humor and her patients worship her. I haven't met many that I knew at home but you so often meet someone that knows people you do and it's very nice to talk to them.

LITTLE WORRIES IN THE HOME

These Bring the Wrinkles and Pallid Faces That Make Women Look Prematurely Old

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily many little worries in her household affairs. The care of her little ones, the work about the house all contribute to these worries. Most of them may be too small to notice an hour afterwards, but they constitute a constant strain that affects the blood and the nerves and make women look prematurely old. The effect of these little worries may be noticed in sick or nervous headaches, sickle appetite, tiredness after slight exertion, and the coming of wrinkles which every woman dreads. To those thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a speedy cure; a restoration of color to the cheeks, brightness to the eye, a hearty appetite and a sense of freedom from weariness. Among the many thousands of Canadian women who have found new health and strength through these pills is Mrs. G. Strasser, Acton West, Ont., who says:—"I am the mother of three children and after each birth I became terribly run-down, I had weak, thin, blood, always felt tired, and unable to do my household work. After the birth of my third child I seemed to be worse, and was very badly run down. I found the greatest relief from the Pills and soon got my old-time strength. Indeed after taking them I felt as well as in my girlhood, and could take pleasure in my work. I also used Baby's Own Tablets for my little ones and have found them a splendid medicine for childhood ailments."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can procure them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $5.00 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THERE are some very estimable people who cannot understand why a newspaper should not give free space to every entertainment which is held for patriotic, benevolent and religious purposes, and they are apt to think, even if they do not always say, very mean things when their requests have to be refused. This misconception is due to a very prevalent belief that newspaper space costs nothing, and to a failure to realize that advertising is almost the sole source of revenue of the publisher. There is no more reason why a publisher should give away his goods, even for a worthy cause, than a hardware merchant or a grocer. His space should be dealt with on a business basis, and he should be left free to make his contributions in the form which he prefers, and not have others make them for him.—Brantford Expositor.
