

FRANCE HAS FORMALLY DECLARED WAR ON AUSTRIA

FRANCE AND AUSTRIA AT WAR FOLLOWING DEMAND BY FRANCE FOR AUSTRIAN DECLARATION

France Sent Sharp Demand That Austria Declare Her Intentions and As No Answer Was Received, War Was Declared.

HEREDITARY RULER OF RUSSIA AND ELECTED HEAD OF FRANCE

Allies photographed together in Russia, the Czar and President Poincaré driving together in St. Petersburg. —From The Illustrated London News.

Special Direct Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World. PARIS, Aug. 10.—It is reported that following the failure of the government of Austria to explain satisfactorily the movement of Austrian troops from the Austrian Tyrol thru Switzerland to the Alsatian border, France has formally declared war on Austria. While at this time the report has not been confirmed, it is said there is the best of reasons to believe that it is extremely probable as a declaration of war has been expected for several days. France, however, has been waiting for some tangible aggressive movement on the part of Austria before formally declaring hostilities begun. Evidently that time has now arrived and therefore there is no further necessity to prevent Italy being drawn into the conflict as Austria's ally. Just as soon as word came that the Grand Duke of Tuscany was leading the Austrian troops on to Basle, after having crossed Lake Constance, preparing to assail the French forces in Alsace, France sent a sharp demand that Austria declare her intentions.

Ambassador Left. Almost immediately after the Austrian ambassador was sent for and given until tonight to present a definition of the Austrian position. Failing in this, he was handed his passports by the foreign office, the report says, and the war declaration followed. About this time the French ambassador at Vienna was applying to the Austrian foreign office for his papers, which on receiving, it is said, he left for the frontier.

How About Italy? Just what effect a war declaration against Austria on the part of France would have on Italy is being considered here. Italy is obliged, under the terms of her treaty with Austria and Germany, to aid them when they are attacked, but in the case of England, Germany, where there was a dual declaration, Italy took the stand that England and Italy were not at war, however, if France has actually declared war as reported, taking the initiative, also only after she considered her frontier menaced by Austrian troops, Italy could accept this position and continue to assert her neutrality.

ROME, Aug. 10.—London.—Austrian cruisers bombarded Antivari, Montenegro, Sunday morning, destroying the wireless station, according to advices brought to Belgrade by wireless today. Besides the wireless station, several houses and factories and the post office were destroyed. The cruisers also directed their fire to a mountain where Montenegrins had taken refuge. Later they departed towards Cattaro.

FRANCE WANTS TO KNOW INTENTIONS OF SWITZERLAND

Tyrolse Invasion of Switzerland is Violation of Neutrality.

PARIS, August 10.—The foreign office has demanded a statement of intentions from Austria, following a report that eight Austrian regiments have violated Swiss neutrality by sending eight regiments of Austrian Tyrol to the Alsatian border to harass the French rear. It seems obvious Austria is trying to provoke a French declaration of war, so Italy can be dragged in as an unwilling aid.

Big Battle Reported in Progress Below Saarburg—French Force Attack.

Special Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World. PARIS—Kaiser Wilhelm is reported at Aix-la-Chapelle to assume supreme command of the troops trying to force a passage thru Belgium and Luxembourg. It is reported that English forces have also reached Namur and will aid the French and Belgians in the anticipated German assault. War advices indicate a big engagement in progress between the French and Germans below Saarburg, where under cover of an artillery attack the French troops are forcing the attack on the advancing Germans, hoping to throw them into confusion before their full forces can be brought up. It is reported that German cavalry, supported by infantry and artillery, have driven the French cavalry patrol on Longuyon, a small border town in Meurthe-et-Moselle.

CAVALRY FOUGHT EAST OF MEUSE

Battle Said to Have Resulted Favorably for the Allies.

TROOPS ENTHUSIASTIC

Threw Themselves Recklessly at the Enemy With Bayonets Fixed.

Special Direct Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World. LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Daily Telegraph has received from its special correspondent in Paris the following: "A big cavalry encounter has occurred on the plateau east of the Meuse, probably at Woivre, in the department of Meuse and Meurthe-et-Moselle. It is reported that the fight resulted favorably for our allies. "The net result of the operations so far as is known is that the German advance has been stopped on the line of the Meuse, and they have been outfanked in Belgium by the advancing French masses. "Similarly the Germans are strategically outfanked by the French in view of the imminence of a decisive encounter between the French and German armies. "The arrival of the British troops is anxiously awaited by France and Belgium in view of the imminence of a decisive encounter between the French and German armies. "Troops Enthusiastic. "All reports agree in the intense enthusiasm of the troops, who hurried themselves recklessly on the enemy with bayonets in the battles at Altkirch and Muhlhausen. "The report of a German defeat at Woivre brings into view once more the movement of the German army which moved against France thru the Duchy on Luxembourg. "Not much has been heard from this army in the last few days, but in an official statement yesterday the German minister at the Hague said that a German army had taken possession of Briey, in France. "Briey lies to the east of Woivre on the border of Luxembourg. Evidently this army has been moving on to strike to the east of the French fort of Verdun on the Meuse. "The line of the Meuse" which is reported held, probably refers to the line of minor fortifications between Verdun and the fort of Toul.

DUTCH AFRICANDERS TO BACK EMPIRE TO LAST CARTRIDGE

Cable of Support to Imperial Authorities From Ex-Rebels—Union With Great Britain Suits Them so Well They Would Shed Last Drop of Blood For It.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, August 10.—A Capetown despatch to The Morning Post shows that Dutch leaders there are intent on supporting the Imperial Government in the present crisis. A meeting attended chiefly by Dutch Afrianders sent to General Botha for despatch to the Imperial Government a resolution declaring that the local Afrianders could be depended upon to defend the Union Jack to their last cartridge. "The convenor of the meeting stated that he himself had been a rebel and that many of those present had also been rebels. The union with Great Britain suited them so well that they would shed the last drop of their blood for the British flag, and for South Africa. He added that the ex-rebels in Allwal wanted the Germans to know that Britain could firmly rely on them. "The proceedings began and ended with the singing of the National Anthem and Rule Britannia, a thing almost unheard of in Allwal North. "Von der Horst, most prominent of the Afrianders, has issued a manifesto expressing the readiness of his party to support the Imperial Government in order that the cause of right should prevail.

Provincial Police Round Up Suspects in Western Ontario.

TO BLOW UP ELEVATORS

Scheme Was Also on Foot to Destroy Dog Lake Dam.

Grave consideration is being occasioned in governmental circles following the receipt of information that would-be dynamiters have been rounded up in several parts of Ontario. The apprehension of Henry Geercke, a German citizen of Toronto with a large stock of explosive in his cellar was followed last evening by wires from provincial police officers in the Port Arthur region stating that they were holding several persons of foreign birth, suspected of conspiring to blow up public works. The federal and provincial governments were communicated with and the men are held pending investigation. According to the information which is carefully guarded, several persons of German and Austrian extraction came under suspicion some time ago because of large purchases of dynamite. Since the breaking-out of European hostilities these men have been closely watched and the discovery that they intended to blow up the Dog Lake dam resulted in their immediate arrest. "Nefarious Schemes. "The police department, not being aware of their exact jurisdiction on the occasion of a war in which Canada is interested, have laid the matter before the authorities at Ottawa and Queen's Park and are awaiting response. "It was learned that the dynamiters were planning the explosion of the Dog Lake dam as a preliminary to the much more serious project of destroying the huge grain elevators at Port Arthur and Port Williams. "The result of this round-up has been to increase the vigilance on the part of all guards now on duty in the province and it is expected that within the next few days orders will be issued for the protection of all large and important public works. At the present time a cordon of guards is in evidence at the seat of the Ontario government in Queen's park. All visitors are intercepted and if anything suspicious is noticed are asked to explain the reason of their presence. "The Dog Lake dam is a public undertaking and the authority of its management rests largely with the Ontario government.

RAZING OF LIEGE WAS THREATENED

City Was Vacated by Belgians to Save It From Destruction.

Canadian Press Despatch. BRUSSELS, via London, 8:20 a.m., Aug. 10.—The newspaper Le Soir gives the following details of the German occupation of Liege: "The Germans on seeing spaces between the forts open before them, entered in small groups on Thursday evening. Among those who entered Liege were Gen. Von Emmich, commander of the tenth army corps, and his staff. At the citadel which is the barracks, the governor and the burgomaster of Liege were informed that unless the town and forts surrendered the Germans would bombard the town and raise it completely. On orders from the government, the governor then left the town. "On Friday night 17 notables of Liege, headed by the burgomaster, proceeded to the citadel and begged Gen. Von Emmich not to bombard the town. The general replied that the town and forts must surrender or he would begin the bombardment. The Germans asserted that the peasants in the district had committed hostile acts against them. "All the members of the deputation were detained as hostages, and it is not yet known whether they have since been liberated.

Mary's Beauty Lotion.

TROTTED home with the package of drugs which Mary commissioned me to purchase, and asked her what they were for. "Oh," said Mary, "I'm using it for my skin. It's a beauty lotion." "Where did you hear of it?" I inquired. "Well," said Mary, "I didn't exactly hear of it myself. Peter's mother read about it in a book and she told me."

I glanced at Mary's pink and white skin, smooth as satin and radiant as a June flower.

"Why in heaven's name do you want to put anything on your skin?" I demanded. "You certainly can't improve it, and I think it's a bit risky anyway. You don't really know whether that's any good or not."

Mary did not answer, and by and by I heard her clattering things in the bathroom and I guessed that she was mixing the ingredients for the face lotion.

I will admit right here that I am dallying with the idea of trying it. It is growing more and more irritable. It is a face lotion after I had suggested my disapproval of it. I laid aside my paper, therefore, and went into the bathroom. Mary had put the almond milk into a bowl and was busily dropping some other

HERE'S THE "AUTO-GOGGLE" VEIL

Dotted for Fad Yet Strangely Dotless for Use

ODD designs in the meshes of a veil are another form of feminine trickery. They catch the eye and direct it toward the face of the wearer.

This new veil has accomplished another feat. For it makes the eyes appear large and prominent, while it throws the rest of the face in shadow. This is accomplished by weaving fine diamond mesh circles which are bordered by a light cord, while the remainder of the veil is braided from threads of heavier mesh. And it has another advantage, too, for it does not injure the eyes and make the head ache, as dark, thick-thread veils are apt to do.

"Bobby" veils are another novelty of the season, for they hardly reach the upper lip. White veils of this character are popular, and their edges are bordered by a light cord. The "flame veil" is made of a craggle net and its design resembles a border of hot coals about the hem. Flames shoot up into the body of the veil mesh and end in a series of graduated dots supposed to represent sparks.

A single dot on a fine veil is always flattering to the wearer for it further enhances the beauty of the complexion. Small butterfly and dragon designs appear on some of these, and chentle and velvet dots will again be popular. One designer shows pearl gray beauty spots on a gray net.

Among the most beautiful of conservative veils are those of hexagon mesh with hand run designs. Pronounced colors in veils are always in bad taste, and the eyes are drawn to "women" with a slight tendency to skin trouble.

The hat should never be put away with the veil still pinned about its brim. The veil should always be taken off, folded and placed flat in a case or box. Silk veils may be cleaned in gasoline and tepid water and soap may be used to wash veils of linen mesh or those of twilled cotton. And then, if the veil is carefully adjusted—not too tight or too loose—it will add an airy smartness to the hat.

Three Minute Journeys

Where Bandits Preface Robbery with an Ultimatum

By TEMPLE MANNING

HUNTING the Mongolian wild sheep is an exciting sport and dangerous in itself, but the added peril of the Kalmuk outlaws that infest the mountains adds an unlooked for zest that might well be done without.

The wild sheep, or "ovis ammon," are huge members of the sheep family whose curling horns often reach a spread of 60 inches in the sweep, and are to be found only in the towering snow-capped mountain peaks of the Altai mountains.

Into the interior of that strange country of Dauguria, whose bandits the Russian custom officials declare have been responsible for more mysterious disappearances than even the Mexican marauders below our own borders, I went with a party of hunters to bring back some of the wonderful sheep horns we coveted.

Twenty-six partly civilized Kalmuks, with light carts and 39 horses, marched in our train as baggage carriers, camp servants and guards when we rode out of Kobodo. All of the tales of danger and death we had heard for weeks seemed but wild imaginings as I looked upon our strong caravan. Each man was mounted and had a gun and a brace of pistols, in addition to the wicked looking knife he always carried.

When we were passing through a valley, travelling in single file with our interpreter and guide leading, when a solitary Kalmuk loomed out of the twilight. The interpreter halted, one by one the whole train stopped, and I rode forward to learn the cause of the delay. It was soon made impudently clear to me.

The lone Kalmuk was an emissary, an ambassador of bandits, and he had come to deliver an ultimatum. It was to this effect: If we did not instantly surrender half of our horses, guns and provisions certain death would overtake us. We were passing through their country and we must pay toll. I did not need to instruct the interpreter in his reply, and the answer had the effect of a declaration of war.

We spent this in the very air and spent that night in armed vigil, drilling our gun recruits into proficiency with their guns. And the next morning we narrowly escaped ambuscade. Luckily our very boldness proved our salvation, and our superior guns soon routed the bandits. Then we pressed on to the snow-capped peaks that rewarded us with all of the wild sheep horns we had desired.

I thought my experience with the ultimatum-sending bandits exceptional, until a comparison of notes with the officials at the capital convinced me that it was their usual custom to deliver an ultimatum to every traveler. It often saved them a fight, for the travelers were usually satisfied to pay toll.

How Habits Cage Men Closer Than Steel Bars

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

ALEXANDER THE GREAT had Callisthenes, the philosopher, chained up in an iron cage for seven months. This was because Callisthenes refused to consider him emperor by divine right.

Catherine the Second of Russia kept her hairdresser chained in an iron cage for more than three years in her bedchamber, to prevent him telling people that she was bald and had to wear a wig.

King Edward the First confined the Countess of Buchan in an iron cage for placing the crown of Scotland on the head of Bruce. The cage was erected on one of the towers of Berwick Castle. Here the countess was exposed to the rigor of the elements and the gaze of the passers-by.

Louis XI. confined Cardinal Balue for ten years in an iron cage in the Castle of Loches. Tamerlane locked the Sultan Bajazet in an iron cage and made him a public show. He was transported in this cage, which was stung between two horses.

Yet none of these cages of men are in any sense of the gags, stocks or halters that habits are. To sit always in the same seat, to walk upon the same side, to cross a street always in the same way, to think always the same thoughts, to read always the same parts of the same newspaper, is imprisonment and thralldom worse than any suffered by these historic characters in chains.

Habit Hinders Thought. The thoughts, opinions, work and health of most persons are formed and remain at a low ebb throughout life, because the habits become set in youth and never change throughout life.

There is no greater physiological sign of decadence and lapse of human power into mere animality than to think the same thoughts at this moment that you thought this time last year, the year before and the other preceding years. That is a life sentence in slavish chains.

There are no weightier drags upon healthful thought and progressive action than the creaking chains of never broken habits. Even the best habits must be switched into a new channel, or linked into new harness at frequent intervals unless the owner means merely to vegetate.

Even the habit of patience ceases to be a virtue; it coils itself around the heart like a serpent and puts you in the vegetable of Dante's Inferno where "the blameless and the praiseless" are chained.

Habit Weakens Vitality. It is as hard to break the habits of patience as of indulgence. The habit of errors are as difficult to short-circuit as belief and knowledge. Habit is a plague and an abomination beside which that visited Egypt are as nothing.

The reason why many schoolmasters and college professors are half-seasick over with one-sided specialism, and useless in everything else, is because of their isolated habits. They scoff at the shoemaker, the hod carrier, the clothes cutter, yet they just as heavily to stowboard themselves.

Neurasthenia, hysteria, mental depression and myriad of maladies are usually explosions of your tissues against the rut and routine of narrow mercantile, financial and similar toiling habits of work or thought.

These thought disorders are nature's way to resent your absence of adaptability.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR Annie Laurie: My husband is really all that could be desired, but for his one horrible fault, which is drink, and that is what mars our home and spoils our lives.

He is young, good-natured, jolly, the life of the house, kind and considerate in all ways but that one. I love him, of course, and would make any sacrifice for him. He thinks the world of the baby and me, and while we have everything we need, still both baby and I could have lots of things we don't have, if he didn't spend so much money that way.

He never neglects his work and seldom goes out nights, except when he is on one of the "periodicals," which last about a week. Then he goes out every night till about 11 or 12 o'clock. He always feels sorry after and apologizes, excusing himself with the plea he didn't know what he was doing, and adding that you man knows what he is doing when he is drunk.

Would you advise me to take the baby and leave him? If I leave him I will make myself cease to love him, and I will never go back unless he reforms first. In the mean time, or if I never go back, I will have to go to work for myself and the baby.

Don't you think I would be justified in deserting him under these circumstances, or do you think it would make him worse? I believe he tries sometimes to reform, but it couldn't be a very great effort or he would accomplish something. I don't think the good times and happiness I have are worth the constant worry and the real misery and sorrow I go through at these "periodicals" of his. Do you?

DAISY.

AR Little Woman: I wish I had the wisdom to tell you positively what to do—I haven't.

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 11.

Caught in the Toils

It, as is reported, the Kaiser has called out the first half of the Land-sturm, he must either recognize his position as desperate or be prepared to concentrate more troops than were originally contemplated, on the French frontier.

Kaiser Wilhelm evidently went into this stuporous way relying on prestige rather than actuality. He accepted the challenge of France and Russia with a light heart, confident in his inmost soul that even without the aid of Austria, he could alone put them successively out of business.

The Double-Fare Hardship and Its Authors.

One of our contemporaries, which has been doing its best to create interest in city hall affairs for some time past, took the opportunity last night to raise the question of the solution of the street railway problem.

The proposal of The Evening News, which opens its remarkable article with a quotation from The Telegram, "The street railway issue is dead, is to the effect that the city should endeavor to reach an agreement with the Toronto Street Railway Company for interchange of traffic."

Even though a war is going on and a moratorium declared in England, it does not mean the violation or abolition of contractual obligations. The Toronto Railway has a franchise, a rigid franchise, The News calls it, which does not expire for seven years to come.

Since the original proposal a year has passed and the price will be there for about one-eighth less than at first. Various improvements and renewals will have to be adjusted, but the need is more pressing than it ever was. This is, indeed, the reason for The News being so solicitous about the matter. In the present crisis, "Artisans and workmen are ill able to bear the double fare," says The News, which the present divided system of ownership of the city car system involves.

We suppose The News meant it for sarcasm when it began by saying that "the street railway issue is dead." It never was so much alive, and will be more urgent every day henceforth. Had so many obstacles not been placed in the way of Mayor Hocken by the opposition in the city council and one or two of the papers the "issue" might have been settled ere this.

No proposals that have been made, except those for purchase, grapple with these facts. The idea of running a line around the city down to the Esplanade, or out on the land yet to be made in the bay, still leaves the double fare, and this remedy could not be provided for several years.

What we most fear, however, is that The News idea of endeavoring to reach an agreement with the street railway company is really an insidious way of beginning negotiations for an extension of the franchise. In time of war prepare for peace, seems to be at the back of The News' plan. No doubt the street railway company would make great concessions in the way of single fares if the city would consent to hand over the civic lines to the company, and extend the franchise for twenty years or more.

Only twelve years have elapsed since the close of the Boer war. If any one had then prophesied that within that period the burghers who fought so bravely to preserve their independence would rally to the support of the British Empire, he would have been regarded as speaking without book.

The principal credit for this quick change of sentiment undoubtedly belongs to the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and it will alone make memorable his brief tenure of the imperial premiership. His generous grant of self-government to the Transvaal and the Orange River State paved the way to the federation of South Africa, and in the person of General Botha the new union found the man to tide over the first and perilous year of its existence.

Sunday War Papers

Some pique has been displayed over the fact that many thousands of citizens were anxious to hear the latest news of the war on Sunday morning and were supplied with it. Some of the other papers found fault with the value given, and were moved with compassion for readers who bought the Sunday morning special edition.

There has been no complaint from readers or purchasers of The Toronto World Sunday special, except from professional sources. One of the complaints comes from a pulpit which has at all times been distinguished among its fellows for, shall we say, enterprise? It was announced from this fountain of authority that it was the intention to read the latest war bulletins as they came in, so that, perhaps, should the hymns, the prayers, or even the sermon prove tedious, there might be an awakening interest present. It was doubtless felt that it was wrong to sell war bulletins on Sunday, that it was perfectly all right to take up a collection after reading them from a pulpit. Naturally, we all have different points of view on these matters. Business rivals who did not get their first may be excused for their complaints. The pulpit, like the king, we suppose can do no wrong. But when it goes into competition with its neighbors it might decently keep its mouth shut. However, we make no complaint.

The authorities are quite rightly on the alert to see that there shall be no unjustifiable encroachment on the day of rest. The newspaper man is just as anxious about his day of rest as other workers. On all occasions he has to labor on Sunday that his plous brother may have a paper for Monday morning's breakfast, also with fine disregard of consistency the same plous brother refuses to buy a paper which is altogether produced on Saturday.

BELGIUM EXPELS GERMAN CITIZENS

Berlin Account Says They Were Ill-Treated by Belgian Populace.

Canadian Press Despatch. BRUSSELS, Aug. 10.—The Brussels representative of the official news agency here telegraphs from Goch that martial law has been declared in Belgium, and that all Germans have been ordered to leave the country as soon as possible.

The correspondent says that what happened in Belgium during the past several days surpassed the imagination. After war was declared both demolished all business places which either belonged to Germans or handled German goods. Every auctioneer, auctioneer, and anyone looking like a German was attacked in the streets or made the object of suspicion and insult.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—It is officially stated that troops of the French army in Belgium have covered the entire region of Eifel, a hilly plain in Rhineland Prussia, on the left of the Rhine. They found the traces of the Germans along the Ourthe River, and east of Neufchateau. At Liege the Germans appear to be recovering to some extent.

The Germans got on the train at Hubbards, and the officers were on the same train. The baggage of the suspects was seized. BELLEVILLE, August 10.—Thomas Cornell, a young man of this city this afternoon had his throat slashed with a razor in the hands of Patrick Gilhoney. The affray arose out of an argument over the war, and the assailant alleges he had to defend himself. He was immediately arrested, and Cornell was taken to the hospital, where it was ascertained the wound would not prove fatal.

O'CONNOR ATTACKS PRESS CENSORSHIP

Trained Newspaper Men Should Be Added to Staff of Bureau.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 10.—T. P. O'Connor, the Irish Nationalist, today in the house of commons, again opened fire on the press censorship established by the British Government. He said that thousands of dollars spent by newspapers had been wasted in consequence of the censorship, and he suggested that trained newspapermen should be added to the staff of the censorship bureau.

The Right Hon. Charles Hobhouse speaking on behalf of the British postoffice authorities, disclaimed any responsibility for the censorship, over which he said the war office exercised full and sole control. He said that there was any delay in forwarding messages after they had passed the censor he was ready to do what he could in the matter.

EXHIBITION NOT AFFECTED BY WAR

Directors of Canadian National State Positively That Exhibition Will Be Held.

Rumors to the effect that the Canadian National Exhibition will not be held this year on account of the European war now being waged, are emphatically denied by the Exhibition officials. They state positively that Canada's big exhibition will be held on a scale as large as ever, and that the only feature which at the present time they know they will be lacking will be the Guards' Band. It will be impossible to secure this attraction for Toronto this year for obvious reasons, but the directors of the Exhibition promise that they will have a band which will be very nearly as good as the crack Guards' Band. As far as the authorities know this will be the only attraction which will be missing. The name of the band which will be engaged in place of the Grenadiers is not yet known, but the public is assured that it will be a musical organization of international reputation.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

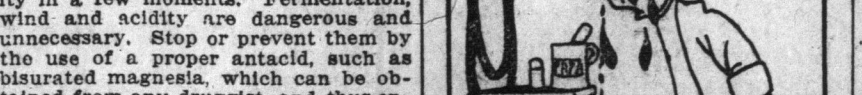

So-called stomach troubles such as indigestion, wind and other ailments are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food. The bacteria of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid. Wind distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural and acid formation is not only unnatural but may involve most serious consequences if not hot or cold water stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation and neutralizes the acid by the use of proper antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.

SPLENDID CRICKET BY N.Y. VETERANS

Former Australians Bat Brilliantly and Help Defeat the Toronto Club.

The New York Veterans' C.C. are having a week's cricket in Canada, opening yesterday their first match at the university campus against the Toronto C.C., when they showed fine form, both in the field and at the wickets. A considerable amount of rain has fallen during Sunday night and again Monday morning, an excellent pitch had been prepared, so that play was able to be commenced on an almost perfect wicket.

The New York Veterans were set to make 175 runs in about two hours if they were to win, so they were faced with a formidable task. Toronto showed splendid form in the field, the first three wickets only producing 64 runs, but Messrs. Korting and Hoskings thoroughly mastered the bowling and actually won the match, with some fifteen minutes to spare. Despite constant changing of bowlers, Toronto were unable to stop rapid scoring, for each batsman was hitting freely, their cutting and driving being at times brilliant. Korting made 80 (not out), including no less than eleven fours, while Hoskings made 65 (not out), including six fours. A fair sprinkling of visitors watched the game, including a goodly number of ladies. Cricket such as was witnessed yesterday should go far to increase interest in the game, and a large crowd is expected at the Rosedale Cricket Ground on Wednesday when the same team meet Rosedale C.C. at eleven o'clock, so that a good full day's cricket can be played.

NAVY HOLDS UP GERMAN SUPPLIES

Nothing in Shape of Food Can Enter Fatherland by Sea. WHEN WILL THEY MEET? British Ships Are After German Cruisers in Mediterranean.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Sea power, or command of the sea, may be exercised without the main fleets becoming engaged at all. They may affect their object by what Rear-Admiral Mahan calls "seesaw" or static force, so long as the German fleet is placed in such circumstances that it must either remain in port under the shelter of fortifications, and its screen of destroyers, or risk fighting at manifest disadvantage.

These conditions may continue to rule. Meanwhile the theatre of war is closed to German merchant shipping. The long lists of captures of German merchantmen appearing every day are evidence of the exercise of sea pressure. Nothing in the shape of food can enter Germany by sea. Her seaboard supplies of every kind are stopped. Cessation of her trade and commerce and the consequent scarcity will presently have an effect upon her population generally, also upon the provisioning of her huge military forces.

From the Mediterranean comes rumors of the exciting chase of the German battle cruiser Goeben and her consort, the cruiser Breslau, which escaped from Messina yesterday. They are pursued by three battle cruisers as powerful and swift as the Goeben. These are the Inflexible, carrying the flag of Admiral Bir-

AERIAL FLEET BATTLED IN AIR BELGIANS AND GERMANS FOUGHT

Huge Zeppelin Flew Over Liege and Belgian Aeroplanist Lost His Life in Destroying It—German Scouting Aeroplanes Destroyed by Shots From Forts.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Times correspondent in Brussels, describing the fighting at Liege, says aerial fleets were used by both Belgians and Germans. The fighting in mid-air was desultory, but deadly. A huge Zeppelin sailed over Liege during the early fighting, but was pursued by a Belgian aeroplanist, who lost his life in destroying it. After the destruction of this Zeppelin, the Germans confined their aerial activity to the use of scouting aeroplanes, several of which were destroyed by shots from the forts. Attempts to reach the aeroplanes with shells were often unsuccessful, however, owing to the inability to shoot high enough. Two Belgian aeroplanists who were attacked by the German field artillery at a moderate height, were nearly rendered unconscious by a shell which burst just beneath them. They reached the ground safely, however, and as they alighted remarked coolly, that "These Germans shoot badly."

SPAIN REFUSED KAISER'S OFFER

Territorial Expansion in Morocco Price of Assistance Against France.

Special to The Toronto World. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The special correspondent of the New York Tribune in a cable from Rome says: "According to reliable information obtained here Germany made overtures to Spain to co-operate in attacking France. An offer of territorial expansion in Morocco was held out to Spain, but Spain refused to entertain the proposition. The offer of a slice of Morocco would hardly be the beginning of a temptation to Spain. Alfonso's government has trouble enough with the strip of North African coast awarded to her in the Moroccan dispute. All ready there is a big party on the peninsula in favor of evacuating this acquisition. This bid for the aid of Spain was made by the Kaiser simultaneously with his effort to tempt Italy to his side into the war by holding out to her the French colony of Algeria and the Belgian Congo; with his rich rubber plantations, as the minimum price of her assistance. The Spanish refusal was no less prompt than that of Italy."

LIEGE OCCUPATION EMPTY SUCCESS

Germans in Town Have No Influence on Strategic Situation.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 10, 1 p.m.—Messages today in official quarters in London from the Belgian general staff assert that the occupation of the town of Liege by the German troops has not had the slightest influence on the strategic situation. It is declared that so long as the ring of forts around Liege remains intact, as it still is, the guns command three of the principal roads by which the German army can advance. This, it is pointed out, makes it impossible for the Germans under the present circumstances to receive supplies or ammunition. Every line of railroad between Liege and the German frontier is alleged to have been destroyed and the Belgian troops are said to have blown up every bridge, culvert and tunnel. The Belgian general staff declares that it has received information that the Germans expecting to take Liege in a few hours brought with them only sufficient food for a few days and little ammunition, their plan being to rush Liege and make it the base of their operations. The same authority states that the German assertion of the capture of 4000 Belgian prisoners is baseless, and adds that not a single Belgian soldier remains in the town of Liege, as they are all quartered in the forts.

STARVED GERMANS HURLED TO ATTACK

Men Captured at Liege Said They Were Fleeing Two Days.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 10.—(3.05 a.m.)—Telegraphing from Brussels the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says of the fighting at Liege: "The Germans tried to overpower the forts by flinging immense bodies of men against them in mass formation. The last Prussian assault on Boneyelles reminded one of the early days of Port Arthur. The infantry melted away before the machine guns of the defenders. 'The morale of the Prussians was entirely broken toward the end of the general attack. The casualties among the German officers were considerable. The attackers ran short of rifle ammunition. Wounded Germans declared they had had no food for two days.' Brussels, adds The Chronicle correspondent, has been turned into a vast hospital, hotels, private houses and many public buildings have been given over to the Red Cross."

ANOTHER SUCCESS GAINED BY ALLIES

French and Belgians Combined, Attack Germans and Kill Many.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 10, 2.10 p.m.—A telegram from Charleroi, Belgium, to The Daily Mail, despatched on Sunday night, says a force of French troops arrived in time to participate in the successful attack on the Belgian division over the German troops investing Liege. The correspondent adds: "The French succeeded in reaching the town of Liege and working behind the Germans cut off their retreat. 'The Germans are said to have lost 8000 killed and wounded, while 1700 of them were captured. I give the figures under reserve.'"

BELGIAN CREDIT GOOD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The Belgian consul today gave out the following telegram received from the Belgian minister of war at Brussels: "Let American exporters of wheat know that Belgian credit remains unimpaired, and that England has advised that all wheat with which come direct to Antwerp without stop, all payments being assured as in time of peace."

LONDON NOTABLES ON POLICE DUTY

Prominent Actors Among the Volunteers for Special Service.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 8.—The enlistment of 30,000 special policemen for London will begin tomorrow. University men, brokers, bank clerks, actors, men of all classes, propose to join. Cyril Maude, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree and Sir George Alexander are organizing the actors, while Viscount Goschen heads the bankers. They will guard the waterworks, railway tunnels, etc., relieving the territorial force more important work. Each man will be on duty four hours each day. A special patrol of motorboats, which have been loaned by owners, will police the Thames. Home Secretary Reginald McKenna today issued the following statement: "Many Germans held. The considerable number of Germans, chiefly reservists, have been arrested in various parts of the country. This has been done as a precautionary measure, as is usual in the early stages of war. It is not likely that the detention of most of these prisoners will be prolonged. Every consideration will be shown them while they are detained. These aliens known to be spies were arrested early last week. 'The there is a clear necessity for taking precautionary measures the public may rest assured that the great majority of Germans remaining in this country are peaceful, and innocent persons, from whom no danger is to be feared.' The International Women's Suffrage Alliance has arranged to look after German women and girls in England. The National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies is prepared for a complete system for relieving English women."

TO INSURE MARINE RISKS.

OTTAWA, August 10.—The British Government has advised Canada that it has entered into an agreement with approved associations to reinsure all marine risks to the extent of 80 per cent. against losses inflicted by the king's enemies. The object is to maintain overseas trade. MONTENEGRINS ON OFFENSIVE. LONDON.—The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says, that Montenegro yesterday bombarded the Austrian fortifications of San Paolo and Cattaro without inflicting serious damage.

THIRTY THOUSAND MEN REACH BASEL, SWITZERLAND, ON MARCH NORTH.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 10.—Official reports from France give no definite details of the strength of the French turning movement in Alsace near the Swiss frontier, where Gas, Joffre is believed to be in command, Austrian troops have been hurriedly brought up there to the aid of Germans and an important battle is believed to be imminent. Indications are given that another forward movement of the main French force is in preparation near Metz, as official reports from Paris say that the German troops have inundated the Sautle Valley between Metz and Nancy, to hinder the French advance, but the quantity of water is understood to be insufficient to prevent the French forward movement.

SEALED WIRELESS PLANTS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—United States customs officers went out in the revenue cutter Calumet today and sealed up the wireless apparatus of all vessels in the harbor flying the flags of the warring European powers. This action follows the censorship placed upon wireless stations along the coast to enforce the neutrality of the United States.

AUSTRIAN FLEET SAILS.

ROME, Aug. 10, via Paris, 5.30 a.m.—An Austrian fleet of thirteen battleships and sixteen torpedo boats is said to be going at full steam toward the Strait of Otranto, which connects the Adriatic with the Ionian Sea. The probable purpose of the fleet is to give succor to the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which have been reported in that vicinity.

BRITAIN PROTECTS BELGIAN SUPPLY

Wheat Laden Ships May Sail to Antwerp Without Interference.

NEW YORK—Pierre Mail, Belgian consul here, has received a despatch from Minister of War Broqueville, dated Brussels, Aug. 10, telling him to let American wheat shippers know Belgian credit is unimpaired and that he has been assured by England that wheat laden ships may come direct to Antwerp without stop, payments being assured as in times of peace. This indicates the English fleet commands the channel as far north as Antwerp. Consul Mail says the Belgians only retain two of the Liege forts, which would be abandoned, the troops retiring to Namur. If Namur falls, M. Mail predicts a decisive battle at Waterloo.

AUSTRIANS ON WAY TO JOIN GERMANS

Thirty Thousand Men Reach Basel, Switzerland, on March North.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Aug. 10.—Official reports from France give no definite details of the strength of the French turning movement in Alsace near the Swiss frontier, where Gas, Joffre is believed to be in command, Austrian troops have been hurriedly brought up there to the aid of Germans and an important battle is believed to be imminent. GERMANS SHOOT EIGHT, HANG TWO Citizens of Warsaw, Liege District, Killed for Firing on Troops.

BRUSSELS—In Warsaw, Province of Liege, the Germans selected 14 inhabitants and shot eight and hanged two, on the charge that civilians had fired on the German forces. The mayor was arrested by German officers who had been his guests the day before, but was released. At Mulhausen the French found a German aeroplane factory, with many unfinished machines, which are being completed for the use of the French aviation corps. Franco has called her colonial army into action and "Turcas" native troops from Algiers, have penetrated upper Alsace.

KAISER'S PRESENCE IS SIGNIFICANT

London View is That Troops Need Him at Front to Inspire Them.

Special Direct Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World. LONDON, Aug. 10.—The presence of the Kaiser in the field is variously interpreted to mean either that the German mobilization is complete, or that the German situation has become so difficult the presence of the ruler was necessary to inspire the troops to the heroic efforts to be asked of them.

HELIGOLAND IS WELL FORTIFIED

Island Off German Northwest Coast Protects Kiel Canal.

MANY GUNS MOUNTED

Height Above Sea Level Approximates Two Hundred and Fifty Feet.

When Germany secured Heligoland in 1890 from England, steps were immediately commenced to finish the fortifications undertaken by the British, and today Heligoland, lying off the port of refuge for a fleet the island is of little value, but its position is of the highest importance as a coaling station and mining depot for torpedo boats. Heligoland is only one mile long and has a width of about 650 yards. It rises abruptly out of the sea, its red cliffs towering above the waves for fully one hundred feet on the average, and at the highest point, where the lighthouse stands, the height above the sea level is 245 feet. On the northeast side the island is surrounded by dangerous reefs, but torpedo craft manage to obtain a shelter behind the reefs against the sea. This shelter is very much that of an open roadstead. Nordhagen, as one of the roadsteads is called, has a depth of twenty-three feet and Sudhaven thirteen feet. The island is defended by two direct fire batteries and one mortar battery. One of the former contains 100-ton guns level. A second battery containing 88-ton guns is at a height of 115 feet above the sea level. A third battery containing 39-ton guns on the western side. The mortar battery contains 11-inch mortars. The battery is situated in the centre of the island. All-round Range. Owing to the great height of these batteries the guns are able to fire practically on all sides, and because of their range a close blockade of the mouth of the Elbe is practically out of the question. The influence of Heligoland may be said to extend to any attempt to blockade either the Weser or the Kiel Canal. It would be a very difficult matter to carry Heligoland by assault owing to the steepness of the cliffs; in fact, the south side may be regarded as safe from approach. Access to the summit is by means of a 700-foot length sloping tunnel extending up from the shore-line. The Germans have attached the greatest importance to Heligoland because of its strategical importance.

PATRIOTISM IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—National anthems and battle songs were substituted in German churches here, today, for the usual religious hymns. Generous donations were given to the red cross fund.

FRENCH TROOPS ARRIVED IN TIME

Backed Up Belgians at Liege and Cut Off German Retreat After Battle.

LONDON, August 10.—The Daily Mail correspondent telegraphs from Charleroi: "A French force arrived in time to take part in the fine success gained by the division of General Lanusse, which is defending Liege. French succeeded in reaching Liege, and working behind the Germans cut off their retreat. It is estimated the Germans lost 8000 killed and wounded and 1700 prisoners. I give these figures with reserve." As previous despatches indicate, the German force led to besiege Liege near Luxembourg was only 10,000. These figures would indicate annihilation, and that the retreat of the Germans reported to have proceeded toward Namur is cut off.

MANY IN SWITZERLAND.

GENEVA, Switzerland, August 9.—(Delayed in transmission)—British and American consular officers estimate that about 10,000 English and 5,000 Americans were held up in Switzerland owing to the outbreak of war. The Swiss Government for the next few days has prevented automobiles from leaving the country, as it intends to use them if necessary for military purposes.
