The City Debt—No City Accounts Yet.

One of our contemporaries has been assured that it is absolutely necessary that a further sum of $2000 a year should be added to the taxation of the citizens in order to meet the increase of interest on the old city debt caused by the conversion of five per cent bonds into six per cent bonds which must take place shortly, and that unless an assessment to that amount be authorized the credit of the city can not easily be maintained, as the East Side Fund, on which the interest of the debt is a first charge, is now largely in arrears. The citizens, as our contemporary rightly puts it, will certainly "be sorry to hear this," and they will seek in vain for the true explanation of what looks like a financial crisis until the City Accounts for last year are placed in their hands. The preparation of these Accounts, the work of Auditing, and the small job of Publishing ought not to consume six weeks time. Nevertheless, we are hearing the end of March, and accounts which closed with the end of December are not yet nearly ready for examination by the rate payers. Of one thing the Common Council may rest assured—that in view of the present state of the City, with a deficit of $5,000 a year of interest standing as in the fact, and the School Tax to add to that, any proposals tending to increase the City Debt will be strenuously resisted by the rate payers. Our representatives in the Legislature will, we trust, govern themselves accordingly, and refuse to sanction schemes which tend to increase the civic burthen.

Examining the Treaty.

The Joint Claims Commission has been in Session in Washington, and having received about two hundred claims has adjourned to reassemble in September. Mr. Russell Murray sails for London about the end of the current month. It is said that the misunderstanding about the Treaty has had the effect of deterring some of the claimants from going to the expense of preparing their cases, and consequently the number is smaller than if no difficulty had arisen. Although the limit for presentation of claims is the 31st of this month, there is authority for extending the time three months in individual cases, where good cause can be shown for so doing. The decisions in the few cases already finally adjudicated have been unanimous in reference to the Fisheries we notice that a letter from Secretary Estlin is published in which the official states that "the present prospect is that there will be no change in the condition of the fisheries during the coming year, and the fishermen may make arrangements for prosecuting their business in the ordinary way." So comprehensive and sweeping a measure of compromise as the Washington Treaty is not to be disposed of hastily.

Legislative Councilors.

The Local Government will presently have at their disposal three seats in the Legislative Council, namely, the one that is expected to be vacated by the resignation of Hon. Mr. Harrison of Sunbury; the seat vacated by Hon. Mr. Davidson's resignation; and the seat which Hon. Mr. Meir head will resign when he gets elected to the Commons for Northumberland. It does not follow, as a matter of course, that gentlemen should be chosen from the same Counties as those who held the seats before. If the Government intend to show gratitude for favors received, they will not hesitate to offer one of these seats to Mr. Eider of the Telegraph, who has rendered their effective service on several occasions, recently, when they sorely needed such assistance as the Press alone can give. We do not see how the Government can overlook our suggestion.

The Montreal Gazette intimates that an opinion prevails in the Upper Provinces that the Insolvency Law of 1869 will be repealed, and small traders are hastening to avail themselves of it. Late lists of insolvents, especially for Ontario, show heavy totals. A feature of the weekly summary for that Province is the issue of no less than six writs of attachment for compulsory liquidation. The estates are not very large affairs.

—Attorney-General Coleridge, in closing his speech in the Tichborne case, was very pathetic in his reference to the widow and her child, whom it was now sought to despoil by an abominable conspiracy, and also to Roger's cousin, Kate Donoghue, now Mrs. Ratcliffe, and the slanders of which she had been made the victim. He said—

"A great estate and an old and honorable family await your verdict. On you it depends whether a young and noble lady repel character and her young son shall enjoy that estate and represent that family, or whether the estate is to be wasted and the family destroyed by a conspirator, perjurer, forger, slanderer and villain. When the late Tichborne came to die, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, he spoke of the family of Tichborne as having lived undisturbed in its place in Hampshire for two hundred years before the Conquest. Three hundred years have passed since then, and it is hoped that that great and ancient house is entered in the little child, and for him I ask your verdict."

Among the first witnesses called for the defense was Mrs. Ratcliffe, who solemnly and pointedly denied the abominable slander of claimant as to his alleged intimacy with her. It was announced that she was in an interesting condition, and that she came to give this evidence with great pain, and even in peril of her life, and the opposing counsel was necessarily very mild in his cross examination, and failed in any way to shake her testimony.

OUR BOSTON LETTER.

Distinguished Arrivals.—Politics, Prohibitory and Peace Festivals.—Literature and the Drama.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

Boston, March 16th.

The Russian Prince has come and gone; the Japanese Embassy is on the road to the New England Metropolis, where they will be greeted by the Big Organ, Faneuil Hall, P. S. Gilmore, and the New Callison. They will be conducted through the labyrinthine streets, and will be talked at by all the officials. If there is anything, however, that is calculated to make a well disposed Japanese commit hari kari, it must be the contemplation of the "OLD STATE HOUSE."

This gentleman's original name was Wm. Oddy, but the felicitous nomenclature of the Plains has dubbed him as above, and the illustrious historian, Ned Burdette, has given him the name of a series of thrilling exploits, wherein he of the bovine appellation, "flashed a scornful smile," "turned on his heel," "proudly drew himself up to his full height," "blamed through his clenched teeth the one syllable, 'death,'" and conducted himself in a variety of ways peculiar to the heroes of sensational stories and melodrama. Per contra, the New York papers represent him as a mild spoken, gentlemanly (3) personage, who does not generally exhibit his scalps in public or carry a small arsenal on his person; so perhaps he only laughs in three syllables, in his professional capacity, and smoozes only in the way of business. While in New York, he had the curious experience of attending a play in the Bowery Theatre, the subject of which was his own exploit, and it must have been a singular sensation to him, in as all of a metaphysical turn of mind, to see his alter ego striding down to the footlights, and thundering the melodramatic music.

To people of phlegmatic temperament, who eschew the sensational, a great deal of solid, useful reading can be had in the reports of our LOCAL LEGISLATURE'S PROCEEDINGS. It is as far as possible removed from anything pertaining to light or humor, and is a most interesting and instructive volume of Webster Unabridged, or Martin F. Tupper; yet occasionally one stumbles on an excellent thing, like the following, a gem extorted from an arid mine of dry facts and appalling statistics, opores of Prohibitory Laws—

"Mr. Thompson, of Gloucester, then took the floor against the bill. He argued that the law should be left in its present form at present. He claimed that the whole principle of legislation at present was wrong. . . . He believed that more sin came into the world by being drunk, and that eating was doing more harm than drinking. The world was destroyed then for sin, and Noah put liquor into the world, and it had lasted longer with liquor in it than without it." Which, as we are told, was the substance of his striking feature of novelty.

Political parties are agitated over the NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTIONS next Tuesday, both considering it a sort of test case, the issue of which will be all in the coming State. All the political leaders are in the field, and the strongest efforts are made to determine the victory. The damaging exposures of the New York Custom House frauds are made to offset the Democratic Tammany rascals, and, apparently, every stratagem of fair and unfair warfare is brought forward. Next Tuesday will bring the contest to a close; [The Republicans carried the day.—Ed.] and Peace will again devote herself to the Jubilee, speaking of which reminds me of a novel feature proposed by an enthusiast of this city. It is nothing less than a scheme to use the Atlantic cables as electric wires, with which to fire, from Boston, a salute of twenty-one guns in London during the sailing of the British National Anthem; the Queen to reciprocate in the same way, by firing a return salute in Boston, while the "Star Spangled Banner" greets our astonished ears. This is almost sublime, but it affords a foreign foe.

INSIDE OF A LUMBERMAN'S SHED.

[From Once a Week.]
In a forest land like this, it is unnecessary to say that lumbering is carried on largely in the winter. Although the trade has depressed much in the last few years, the people cannot give it up; the farmers have no other employment in winter. So a few words about the lumberer and his shed. It is nothing less than a scheme to use the Atlantic cables as electric wires, with which to fire, from Boston, a salute of twenty-one guns in London during the sailing of the British National Anthem; the Queen to reciprocate in the same way, by firing a return salute in Boston, while the "Star Spangled Banner" greets our astonished ears. —The Commission of medical men, who were appointed to examine as to the sanity of Arthur O'Connor, the assassin of the Queen, have finished the duty assigned to them. They find that the man is of sound mind, but an enthusiastic Fenian. O'Connor, in explaining to the Commission why his weapon was not loaded when he smothered Her Majesty, said he would have used a loaded pistol in his attack, but he only desired to frighten the Queen into compliance with his demand. Any fatal result of his assault would have brought the Queen, he said, to the Throne, and that event he does not desire to see occur. He wishes Queen Victoria to be the last English Monarch.

—On Jan. 16 an earthquake destroyed the city of Schemacha, in Russia. According to the official report 118 persons were killed and 44 wounded, but all the inhabitants were left without shelter. Schemacha, or, rather was a city of 25,000 inhabitants, and lies on the road between Tsin and Baku, at the foot of the Caucasian Mountains.

—The Indianapolis Journal says: "We have private advices from Louisville to the effect that Col. Kelley, of the Commercial, has challenged Lucien Matthews, of the Ledger. Col. Kelley is a member in good standing of the Episcopal Church, but he is also a fighting man."

It is a large book of 600 pages, profusely illustrated, and with the marked characteristics of that quaint humorist, the moral, following a rehearsal of seven years experience, "Roughing It" in California and Nevada is valuable from its advice to the reader.

"If you are of any account, stay at home and make your way by faithful diligence; but if you are of 'no account,' go away from home, and then you will have to work, whether you want or not. Thus you come a blessing to your friends by ceasing to be a nuisance to them—if the people you go among suffer by the operation."

We are blessed this week by the great spectacular drama "THE BLACK CROOK," one of the modern sensational shows, whose principal features are a profusion of brilliant scenic displays and a security of costume in the performers, the latter offering a real, and the former a plausible, excuse for our worthy citizens to patronize the exhibition. Carlotta Lesclapart has just concluded a successful engagement at the "Globe Theatre," to be followed by the dramatization from Dickens' "David Copperfield," called "Little Em'ly." Lovena Legitimate drama will soon have a feast in the ever-welcome "Bip Van Winkle," with, of course, dear Joe Jefferson in the title-role. There is enough merit in this one impersonation, and enough food for innocent minds, healthily stimulated, and a moral influence to redeem the stage from the stain of a thousand such disgraces as the "Black Crook" and its kindred.

Horrible Murder in Ohio.

A MAN KILLING HIS THREE CHILDREN AFTER A FIFTEEN MINUTE'S PRAYER—THEN SENDING HIS WIFE TO PRISON BY STRANGULATION.

DAYTON, March 11.—Mary Margard, aged 35, and three children, aged respectively 6 and 8 years and six months, were murdered six miles northwest of this city on Saturday night. The indications are that the murder was committed by the father, Leonard Margard, who is evidently insane from spiritual cause. The story which the man himself tells is that a few days ago he read a chapter to 14 family from the Bible, and then rising accused his wife of being a witch and using witchcraft, and that his eldest daughter confirmed him in his accusation.

He says that on Saturday night he told his wife he wanted the children to leave; that he and his wife stripped naked, knelt down and prayed for fifteen minutes; they then stripped two children, took them out on Saturday night. —A Berne correspondent reports that the cashier of the gaming tables at Saxon-Bains in the Valais has "bolted" with the sum of 500,000, or 420,000 sterling, which he had incautiously been entrusted by the administration, and he is not caught it will probably have the effect of closing the establishment, by no means to the regret of the Swiss people, who look upon the place as being a national disgrace. The director of the baths in Geneva endeavored to trace the missing treasurer, but he probably was that his search will be fruitless, and that the money was already on its way across the Atlantic.

—A Berlin dispatch says that the instructions which Count Fulkirch has received on his return to his post as German Ambassador to Rome are very precise. Prince Bismarck desired his representative to declare frankly that the German Government regards the agitation of the clerics in South Germany and on the Rhine, and in Poland, as a national disgrace; that, whilst not favoring their hostility, the Government is resolved to protect the rights of the State and liberty of conscience against the tendencies diffused by Ultramontanism. The Bavarian Government has conveyed a similar straightforward message to the Vatican by the Papal Nuncio at Munich.

—The body of a man apparently frozen to death, was about to be committed to the grave in a coffin at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., after a coroner's inquest had rendered the necessary verdict, when he and behold, the fellow already thawed out—no doubt by the jury sitting upon him—was revived. He was taken to the hospital in the nick of time. He is now meditating upon his narrow escape from a premature burial. He should denote the use of the ardent without delay in order to prevent a second attempt upon his life.

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

FREDERICTON, March 16.

A heavy snow storm set in yesterday afternoon, and the weather "chough cold" this morning is extremely cold. The train that left Fredericton yesterday at three o'clock is at Fredericton Junction still.

Hon. John Robertson, Messrs. Maher, Donville, Morrison and quite a number who have been lobbying for the last ten days, are on the train.

The vista of snow in this region at present is wonderful. The members from the North Shore say that a like series of storms has never before been known in the Province. Crawford's bill to alter the time of the holding of the General Sessions of the Peace in King's County, was agreed to in Committee of the whole.

House went into Committee on Bailey's bill to regulate the business of Druggists and Apothecaries in New Brunswick, Gillespie in the chair. Progress was reported.

Walden introduced a bill to continue the act to incorporate the Courtenay Bay Bridge Company, and to decrease the capital stock thereof. Also a bill to incorporate the St. John New Brunswick Corresponding Committee of the Colonial and Continental Church Society. He had to read the title over several times, that the members might fully comprehend it.

Intelligence has been received here that the United States Government have issued circulars to their Collectors of Customs, reminding them that the Washington Treaty will not be operative till ratified by Congress and the Parliaments of Britain and Canada, and warning them that American fishermen are still prohibited from in-shore fishing and subjected to restrictions existing heretofore.

The Toronto Globe has a slashing article on the treaty, endeavoring to show that Canadian interests are sacrificed by it, and that Sir John and colleagues are denying that.

The Times replies this morning, denying that Canada has any power in whole or part to make Treaties, and asserting that Sir John acted wholly as an Imperial Commissioner and was bound by the instructions furnished by the British Government.

The nomination for South Grenville seat in the Local Legislature, vacant by the death of Clark, is fixed for the 16th. Mr. Ellis is the Conservative and C. T. Fraser, (already twice defeated), the Reform candidate. It is stated Blake and McKenzie will attend the nomination and make a vigorous effort to carry their man.

The site for the new Post Office here has been selected at the west end of Sappers' bridge.

The lawyers had charge of the readings in Gowans Hall last night. The jam was terrible; many unable to get in. Merchants take charge next meeting. Langwin left yesterday for Quebec. There is excitement in Toronto over the elopement of the wife of a leading woolle merchant with a rising young barrister. They are believed to have gone to England via New York.

Secretary Dakers of the Montreal Telegraph Co., had a narrow escape from death by a falling telegraph yesterday.

London, Nov. 15. England has received official notice from France of the abrogation of the Commercial Treaty.

In the Commons, in answer to a question from Disraeli, Gladstone replied that a Cabinet meeting would be held to-morrow, at which the answer of Secretary Fiala would be considered, after that the Government would report on the subject, but it was impossible to do so now.

Mr. Horner gave notice that in case of further negotiations with the Government of the United States, he should ask of the Government that nothing be accepted as final until sanctioned by Parliament.

What Paul Fry Saw. "Monitor" writes to the Fredericton Reporter about "What I Saw":—

I saw a tall young man with black curly hair sailing very disrespectfully at Mr. Perley's Concert last week. He caused considerable annoyance to those sitting near him, but if he promises to do better I will not inform his employer.

I saw a light young man at the Y. M. C. A. Prayer Meeting last Sunday keeping up a correspondence with several young ladies, with the aid of pencil and paper all through the service.

I saw several persons hissing at our able Representative during his speech on Monday last in the House of Assembly, and one of them, in his absence, he said, pleaded with him not long since for a favor, which favor he is enjoying to-day.

City Police Court. This morning Mr. M'Avity, presiding at the Police office, disposed of the inmates of the dock.

The first one was John M'Alhenny 45, N. B. who was found drunk on Union street in this city, and it appearing on his own confession that it was true, he was fined $4 or five days gaol.

Charles M'Almish, 40, Ireland, found drunk on Union street, was fined in a like amount.

Dennis Sullivan, 38, Ireland, a very strong and powerful man, was arraigned for being drunk on the North Wharf, for which he was fined $8.

Captain Barwell, master of the ship Sarah Hignett, afterwards preferred a complaint against Sullivan for abusive language to him, for which he was fined $8.

A charge of assault against John Mahoney, at the instance of Cornelius Cain, was withdrawn on the payment of costs—$1.
