It Thomas Greenway's constituency, was other way. For instance, at Crystal City, Greenway's headquarters, the had come to the knowledge of Lieut. Hancock that ten Boers were journeying to Pietersburg to surrender, and it was reported that they had £20,000 with them. This money excited the cupidity of Lieut. Hancock, and he held a mock court martial on the men and ordered them to be shot. The ten wretches were made to kneel down in front of their wagons and were shot one after another. But the officers found to their disgust that Transvaal found to their disgust that Transvaal paper money and not gold was in their possession. A German missionary some miles away got to know of the affair, and Lieut. Hancock thereupon went to silence him. The missionary was shot dead in cold blood, but the boy who was with him was only provided and managed to escape and wounded, and managed to escape and make the deed known. Budget Debate in Commons Due THE REFERENDUM BILL to Wind Up on Tuesday.

> Conservative Members Plead for More Protection for Woolen and Cotton Industries-New Member Introduced.

Ottawa, April 2.- The division on the budget will take place in the House of Commons on Tuesday. Mr. Wm. Power, the newly-elected member for Quebec West, was introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick. His appearance was greeted with hearty and vigorous cheers from the government benches.

Upon the motion for the second reading of Mr. Guthrie's bill incorporating the Crown Bank of Canada, Mr. W. F Maclean suggested to the finance minister that the bank act should be amended, so that anyone could engage in banking without coming to parliament. If that were done he believed a dozen banks would be established this year. If there was anything that Canada wanted, he said, it was enlarged banking facilities, and he thought that now was the time to make a change in the law. Banks should also be allowed to increase their capital without coming to parliament for a special act. The Canadian banking system was, he said, the best in the world for those engaged in the business, and there was no bank but was worth double its invested capital. Mr. Fielding, minister of finance, replied that if any practical inconvenience or evil had arisen through the present law he would be disposed to agree with Mr. Maclean, but there had been nothing of the kind. The lines within which the bank charters were granted were clearly laid down, and all Pretty Easter Marriage of Mr. George Victor very disappointing to the temperance anyone had to do was to ask for a charter, when, as a rule, it was given. Mr. Henderson, of Halton, emphasized the fact that the granting of a parliamentary charter was one of the things which gave such great stability given a second reading.

> Because she refused to be a laborer's wife, Maggie A. Cook, of Komoka, has been divorced from her husband, Chas. Cook, a car cleaner in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, at Oakland, California.

The marriage was a secret one. Mrs. Cook, whose maiden name was Maggie Smith, resided with her grandmother, at Komoka. She and Mr. Cook met in 1899. She was 23 years of age. He was two years her senior. Cook asked her to be his wife, and she consented. Owing to the opposition of the grandmother, the marriage was kept secret. # Nervous Dyspepsia

Can Never be Gured by Mere Temporary Aids to Digestion. The Nerves Must be Restored and Filled With Vitalizing Nerve Force.

You know that certain drugs, such as pepsin and bismuth, bring about artificial digestion, and if you have dyspepsia or indigestion it is possible that, like hosts of others, you have taken these into the stomach hoping that they will take the place of gastric juice and other digestive fluids, digest the food and by

Did you ever hear of a bodily organ being strengthened by inactivity? It is to the organ that is exercised that the new, rich blood is conveyed in order to restore the tissues wasted by the functions of that organ, and so the stomach that is given rest does not get stronger, but the gastric juice gradually ceases to flow and you are finally compelled to resort to the continual use of artificial digestants.

If instead of these temporary aids you seek permanent cure you must treat the nerves, because, as you will understand by a study of the accompanying cut, it is the nerves that control the glands of the stomach, and only when the supply of nerve force is liberal is digestion rightly performed and the body properly nourished.

WERE WEDDED IN QUEEN CITY.

Mr. F. H. Screaton and Miss A. G. Radcliffe United in Marriage.

Ceremony in Bloor Street Church Was Attended by Many Friends From This City.

A very pretty wedding, of much interest to Londoners, occurred in the Central Methodist Church, Bloor street, Toronto, yesterday, when Mr. Frederic Hazlewood Screaton, dnly son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Screaton, of this Republicans won in the municipal city, and Miss Anna Gertrude Radeliffe, elections at Tacoma, Washington, oldest daughter of Mr. William Rad-Tuesday. Mayor David S. Rose (Dem.) cliffe, of Toronto, were united in mar-

The church was very prettily decorated in palms and Easter lilies. Shortly before half-past two, the hour for the ceremony, the groom, supported by Mr. Francis Bethel Ware, of this city, entered with Rev. Mr. Rankin, of the to the pastor, Rev. Dr. Thomas, to Central Methodist Church, and the Mr. R. H. Mode, B. A., a final year Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Hamilton, who performed the ceremony.

A few minutes afterwards, the bridal party entered, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mr. Blaikely, the organist of the church. First came the two little maids of honor, Miss Iva Radcliffe, sister of the bride, and Miss Elinor Rowland, of London, cousin of the groom. These were dressed exactly alike in pretty little gowns of white organdie, trimmed with innumerable rows of white bebe ribbon; large, soft white hats, with the tiniest of pink rosebuds nestling in the silk folds. They each carried large bouquets of pink carna-

Next came the two bridesmaids, Miss Gipsy Howser and Miss Coulter, whose gowns were made exactly alike, with white yokes, berthas of ecru lace, quaint puffed sleeves; and skirts trimmed with rows of ecru lace, but Miss Howser's gown was pale blue and Miss Coulter's pink. Both wore pink picture hats and carried bouquets of deep cream roses. Lastly came the bride, leaning on the arm of her father. She looked very charming in a handsome gown of ivory satin, with no trimming, save tucks of itself, the whole bodice and sleeves bcing tucked, and the skirt tucked in a deep point. Her bouquet was of liliesof-the-valley, and a few sprays of the same flower were fastened in her veil. with a diamond and pearl sunburst—the gift of the groom. The groom's presents to the maids of honor were pearl brooches, to the brides-maids, silver chatelaines, and to the ushers, who were Mr. Charles Hunt and Dr. D. Arnott, of London, and Mr. Ross Gillespie and Mr. Parsons, of Toronto, pearl scarfpins.

During the interval, while the bride and groom signed the register, Miss Lola Howe, of Toronto, sang very beautifully "A Dream of Paradise." Miss go with him. If we had been old whal-Howe wore blue and white foulard, pale blue satin, large white hat, and carried crimson roses. groom, looked very well in a pretty black gown, black ostrich feather boa, overed with handsome lace. Mrs. S. I. Radcliffe, of this city, wore a very pretty gown of soft shade of green, rimmed with handsome ecru front of white silk, ecru hat, with large pink reses and soft pink satin ribbon. Mrs. Rowland, of London, wore black and white, trimmed with jet, black hat with tucked white crown, white ostrich tips. Miss Webster, of London, wore black silk grenadine, yoke of white lace over pale blue, touches of pale blue about the bodice, hat of pale pink relieved with black.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. A. Screaton, Miss Webster, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Radeliffe, Mr., Mrs. and the Misses Rowland, of London; Mr., Mrs. and Miss Johnson, of Montreal; Mrs. McIvely, of Kingston, and Miss McDermott, of Detroit. After the wedding the guests repaired to the residence of the bride's father, on Linden street, where a very recherche wedding breakfast was served, and the numerous beautiful gifts were

The objective point of the wedding trip remained a dark secret to even the ushers and bridesmaids, but the bride certainly looked very charming in her going-away gown of cadet blue cloth, appliqued in white, with hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Screaton will reside in a very pretty new house on Waterloo street.

CATCHING A CROCODILE.

Hard to Get the Big Reptile and Hara to

"Well, you gentlemen rave been telling your fish stories, and now I will mine, if you would like to hear said the small man from Chicago. They were sitting on the long bench in front of the Royal Palm boathouse, watching the sailboats skimming over the blue waters of Biscayne Bay. "Go ahead, go ahead," exclaimed his companions. "Well, it was this way," said he small man. "Old Prof. B-, of the - Museum, had written me that he wanted a crocodile for the museum, and that he would pay a good price for it, if it could be delivered to nim alive and in good condition. Maybe you think, gentlemen, that this was an easy contract. In the first place your genuine crocodile is very rare here. You can find alligators, of course, and I have met people who thought alliga-tors and crocodiles were the same thing. But they are not, as you need to know before you go out after a crocodile. I happened to know where there was a crocodile's nest. It was down in the Maderia country, about seventy miles from here, on a small island haif a mile from shore. You know how they make their nests? No! Well, it's very interesting. The female crocodile pokes up a big pile of sand with her nose, very much as a pig roots. She works at it perhaps a month before laying her eggs in it. She comes back every year and makes the old nest over, unless it is disturbed.

"Well, when I received this com nission, I got a friend, and we fitted up a small sloop. We had a fine cruise down the coast, and enjoyed ourselves in many ways, but the top notch of our experience was capturing that croco-

"We found him lying in the sun, on top of the water, near the land. After considerable skirmishing around in our rowboat, we got our harpoon into him in a place where it would hold without injuring him seriously. Then the fun began, Talk about roping a steer! You try harpooning one, and you will have some faint idea of the fight we had with that crocodile. "He simply made the water boil. He towed our boat around and we had to ers and had cruised for whales in the Arctic seas, we might have done that job with more neatness and dispatch; but, as it was, we fought him tooth and nail for two mortal hours before we got the best of him. Several times we thought we had him tuckered out, but when we rowed up, gathering in our line, and got within a few feet of him, he started off like a runaway steam engine, and we had to pay out cable again to keep our boat from being capsized.

"But in about two hours he began to show signs of weakening. He lay still, but looked mighty ugly out of his wicked little eyes; and the way his jaws opened and shut once in a while was a warning not to stick our fingers be-tween them. We rowed slowly up to him and began trying to poke a noose over his head with a pole about twelve feet long. He snapped at the pole savagely, and bit it off three different times. But after a while, we got the noose over his head. By this time we were close to shore. We rowed ashore, carrying our line, and made it ing of the second day while we were fast to a tree. Then we began to haul ashore looking after some business, that in on it, wrapping it around the tree, and taking up the slack as fast as we could. He did some lively fighting, even then, but we got him in.

"We had a big fight getting him into our rowboat, but after while, by dint of hard scrambling, we accomplished it. Then we lashed him fast. We got back to our sloop, and the first thing we did was to sit down and rest. We were tuckered out; but so was the crocodile, and that made us happy. "Well, we lay at anchor there over night, and next morning with a fair wind started back to Miami. We towed the rowboat with the crocodile in it. He had got rested up over night, too, and I tell you, gentlemen, he did thrash his tail around and look wicked at us. But he couldn't get loose." "And didn't you feed him anything?" asked a young man from Boston. The small man from Chicago looked at the questioner a minute, with an mused expression. "Feed him? Well, I guess not. A man can live forty days without eating, and we reckoned the crocodile could get That, sir, would have been a along for two or three days. I agreed to catch a crocodile alive and deliver him alive, but I didn't agree to feed very risky piece of business. No, he did not get any breakfast, but he looked like he could make one off us, if he had got a chance. We got him to Miami all right, with a good appetite. We laid up that night in the Miami River, near the old Fort Dallas grounds. We kept our pet alongside, for fear something might happen to him. You see, a crocodile would make a good prize

SNOW-CLEARING IN ST. PETERSBURG CITY

House-Owners Required to Clean Both Sidewalks and Streets.

A St. Petersburg correspondent writes about the methods employed there in removing snow from the city streets. "The winter is altogether an exceptionally fine one for St. Petersburgsteady, even, moderate frost, without the frequent unhealthy thaws, with their accompaniment of dirty slush, cold drizzle and piercing wet winds, which have earned our capital a reputation for a special local climate fiendishly ingenious in breeding rheumatism, pneumonia, chronic catarrh in every variety that flesh is heir to. Such a winter is really enjoyable. Only at the sight of so much snow in the yards and parks, in drifts, in banks, of tons of it lying on the roofs of houses and the small roofs over every porch and areaway, I can't help thinking, 'What would the street cleaning department in New York say to it,' Remember, the cost to the city of every snowstorm and the fuss that is made about it, the disturbance in city and railroad traffic, in telegraphic munication, the mountains of snow along the sidewalks, with just the narrow crossings kept free, and what not: Here, with snow all the time, and ten a native child gleefully playing with a times as much of it-nothing of the small pebble that glittered and coruskind. No accumulations anywhere, and on the streets just as much as is needed for good sleighing, and no more.

"And yet you do not at every turn run against a white-robed 'angel' with his broom and little push-cart-and no army of snow-shovelers at $2 per day I wondered how it was done, and how much the city spent on it, and inquired particularly of them that knew. "They all but laughed in my face: The city? What has the city to do with it?' Each house, each building (i. the owners) looks after its own piece of street. Simple, is it not? But requires some explanation for foreign-Our houses are not built after the Anglo-Saxon idea of each family having a house to itself, in long, monotonous rows; each house with a 'stoop' and three front windows, and rooms disposed after the uniform plan which must delight the housebreaker's heart. Our houses, like those of all other European continental cities, with a frontage on the street of 15, 20, 25 windows, are built around a large inner yard-sometimes more than one-varying in size and shape—and are divided up into a great many apartments, renting at prices from several thouand to a few hundred roubles a year. Every house is taken care of by one more porters, and these keep the yards clear of snow, and also the streets before their respective buildings to the middle of the thoroughfare. The street car track, if there is one, is look> ed after by the company. "Of course, good care is taken to leave enough snow for good sleighing. Inside the yards the porters sweep the snow from the roofs and the ground into heaps, and it is carted away, as well as that from the streets, somewhere out of town into the open field, at 50 copecs (25 cents) a cartload at the owner's expense. In such a winter as the present one, when three to five cartloads are taken away every other day, it makes no inconsiderable item. But none of it goes on the city budget, except for parks and boulevards and city property, and there is never any fuss, any disturbance or any obstruction, only so much as will melt away naturally under the spring sun, helped along by the porters' brooms. To the yards of many of the finer houses and of public buildings there are melting furnaces, where the snow is rapidly converted into water and carried away by pipes which connect with the system of city sewers." - New York Commercial Advertiser.

He took the stone from the child, ex amined it, and carried it home with him. He could have had but little idea of what the stone really was, for, probably, the only time he had ever heard of diamonds was when he had read the Old Testament; but a Boer has always a keen eye for business and, thinking that the stone might have some commercial value, the farmer showed it to a British trader named O'Reilly. O'Reilly seems to have recognized the stone immediately, as a diamond, and bought it of the Boer-after considerable haggling-for £20. Next he submitted it to Dr. Atherstone, of Grahamstown-an authority on mineralogy-who unhesitatingly declared it to be a diamond of the purest water. The diamond was then shown to Sir Philip Wodehouse, high commissioner of the Cape, and was bought by him from O'Reilly for £500-From Hensman's Biography of Cil Rhodes.

MRS. HAINES' TESTIMONY

Story of the Woman Charged With Murder.

Tells of Her Life Before and After Marriage.

Witnesses Contradicted—The Child's Death-How It Got Its Bruises-What the Doctor Said.

Mount Holly, N. J., April 2.-Mrs. Howard Haines, who is on trial here, charges with the murder of her stepdaughter, Gwendolin Haines, at her home in Delanco, a year ago, took the witness stand in her own defense. The was gone. He said: 'All has been done prosecution alleges that Mrs. Haines killed her stepdaughter by beating her and poisoning her with arsenic.

it was necessary, by spanking her or composure. She gave an account of her early life, her meeting Haines for the first time at his first wife's funeral, first wife, quite well. I don't know and her marriage to him a little more than two months later. She then proceeded to describe her life after her marriage, and testified in detail that she had been kind to the dead child, Gwendolin, who had been peevish and ailing. She said the child was continually falling about the house, and as she had a delicate skin it was cut and bruised easily, and that when fretful she would scream when nothing was being done to her. The witness

HOW THE CHILD'S BRUISES CAME. "When I sometimes neglected to respond promptly to her calls she would knock her head against the wall in anger. On several occasions she had convulsions and would then hurt her head severely before I could reach her side to aid her. "Gwendolin fell all the way down the stairs in October before Nellie Richards left. I was in bed at the time. I did not push her. Several times she fell part of the way downstairs when left to herself, and was for the bruises as soon as I noticed them. The stairway in our house was steep and narrow.

"I used to correct the child, when it was necessary, bu spanking her or dolin on the Thursday or Friday becompelling her to sit on a stool for a fore the child died. while or go to her room. Sometimes would slap her hand when she was willful and disobedient. Once when she tore my bedroom slipper I took the slipper and whipped her with it. That is the extent of the punishment given her.

THE SCARS. "The scars on Gwendolin's arms, observable on the day of her funeral were due to her having caught them in a bureau drawer some time before ner death. The scar on her knee was lue to a fall on the stairs. The scar on her lip resulted from a fall against the edge of the dining-room door. This ccurred a month prior to her death. "Her nose was injured four days before she died. I didn't see her fall then, but I had reason to believe she had fallen from a chair, as I found her lying head downward between a clothes tree and the wall. I did not know her nose was broken until Dr. Weller told me about it afterward. I treated the injury just as he had told me to treat all such injuries. Her ear was injured by a fall. Just w'at the nature of it was I do not recal.

"The bruise on the left eye was reeived the same time she received the njury to her nose, and was caused by striking a cornice. As to the wound on the back of the head, that was the result of falling downstairs, which was aggravated by another injury received while getting out from under the couch. The bruise on the right side of the head above the ear may have developed from a fall.

THE CHILD'S ILLNESS. "I did not strike her or cause any of those bruises, nor did I push her downstairs. None of these injuries was the

Canada and the Monroe Doctrine.

The Hon. John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State of the American Republic, has attempted to answer the following question put by the New York Independent: "Suppose that a single European power or a combination of two or more continental powers should be at war with England and should be able to defeat the North Atlantic squadron of England and take possession of England's North American and the user or admirer, and this is territory, such as Halifax or the Bermudas. Under the Monroe Doctrine, would the United States be obliged to become the ally of England to prevent this aquisitiion of territory in the case

Mr. Foster states that the Monroe ing. Doctrine is not a hard and fast rule of conduct which must be inflexibly followed and enforced on all occasions and under all circumstances. The government of the United States, it seems, retains the right to determine the terms and circumstances under which it will make use of the Monroe Doctrine. Eddy & Co.'s paper mills are the life of the place, and provide employment for a great many men and women. The inhabitants are for the most part French, and the foreigner is impressed with the number of children he meets on the street, all conversing in a sort of lingua incognita. The town is fairly well provided with churches and schools, those molders of the social and religious life of a people. J. H. D.

BURGLARIZED Tug River Queen Reaches the Soo From

Sault Ste. Marie, April 2.-Navigation is open in earnest so far as St. Mary's River and Hay Lake is concerned, and that settles the whole proposition, as the ice here is the last to break up.

The tug River Queen, Capt. Steve Riel, arrived in port at 7:07 tonight from Detour with a cargo and a number of passengers. The boat left Detour at 12:30 o'clock today. The only point where ice was encountered was near Lime Island, but with a strong A regular epidemic of petty burglary northwest wind it was going out

Morden Brothers Are Said To Be Missing.

Witnesses Uncertain.

Rumor Says Sheriff's Officers Have Been Unable to Locate James and Martin.

The latest rumor of the many which are affoat in relation to the coming Sifton trial is to the effect that Martin Morden and James Morden have not been subpoenaed, as witnesses, owing to the fact that the crown officers have been unable to locate them, though they have been searching for a couple of weeks. As Martin and James Morden are the chief witnesses for the crown, since the discrediting of their cousin, Edgar Morden, by the outcome of the forged will case, their nonappearance would prove in a measure embarrassing to the crown's case when the trial is called. Their evidence, as given at the previous trial, could, if necessary, be read; but this the crown would hesitate to do, as it would certainly have much less weight with a jury than if delivered in person. The rumor recalls the circumstances of the first postponement, in November, of 1900, when the crown refused to go on tels. because Mrs. Canon Richardson, one of their unimportant witnesses, could not be located. Edgar Morden, who will not be called, has been in the city at least three days this week.

She greeted Max with the lady-like courtesy which always characterized her; but she was deeply moved when Agnes told her that he was the brave hero who had saved her life so long ago. The young man spent a half-hour very pleasantly with them, growing to feel the charm of Agnes Walton's beauty and loveliness more and more; and finally when he rose to leave he begged finally, when he rose to leave, he begged permission to bring his mother to make their acquaintance Both Agnes and her mother expressed the pleasure which they would experience in knowing Mrs. Remington.

Agnes, particularly, was delighted with the prospect. She had never forgotten the beautiful woman who had kissed her to tenderly when, after her narrow estate the control of the cape years before, she had lain so weak and faint upon the station platform. Many, many times she had thought of her. She had often dreamed of her of her. She had often dreamed of her and seemed to feel over again in those visions, the impress of her quivering lips, and to hear those tremulous, fer-vent words, "God bless you, my dear. kindness afterwards, in sending her money to complete her education; and, at times, a strange yearning to thank her over again and to know her better had come to her. Max went home that day greatly elated with his adventure, his heart glowing with happiness, his face shining. He had found her—the beautiful girlwith those eyes of blue and that voice of music; that had haunted both his waking and sleeping hours ever since that recrains when she had so deftly that morning when she had so deftly bound up Mr. Archibald's wound with her own dainty handkerchief, She seemed even more beautiful to him today; and how strange it was that she should prove to be the girl whom he had

How Max's heart leaped at those words, "your Agnes Walton!" and it came to him suddenly that he should only know complete happiness when he could claim possession of the beautiful girl. She was his ideal of what a sweet, true woman shoud be, just such a woman he would like to win for a wife, and he knew that already he loved her.
"The very same," was his reply to his mother's questions. Then he related the occurence of the afternoon, to the details of which Laura Pomeroy eagerly listenthough her heart was racked with

SEISMIC PHENOMENA

Suggestions Which May Lead to Fruitful Investigations.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

One of the most disastrous earthquakes of recent times is that reported from Russian Transcaucasia. towns of Shamaka has been practically destroyed, only a dezen houses being left standing, while a population of 25,000 has been rendered homeless. The number of fatalities is as yet unknown. Perhaps it will never be correctly de-termined, for the fissured earth swallowed up some of the victims, and others are buried in ruins where they may never be disturbed. Over 300 bodies had been recovered at the latest accounts. To the student of seismic phenomena the interesting and suggestive feature in the Shamaka earthquake is that it has occurred in the neighborhood of the Baku oil district-the most productive field in the world, not excepting that of Beaumont in Texas. It is furthermore, a section of the world which has hitherto been exempt from these phenomena. The scientific inquirer will naturally search for a cause, for cause and effect must go together in the scientific analysis of all reservoir tapped by the oil walls of Baku, on the shores of the Caspin Sea, located under the site of Shama-ka, and has the tremendous drain of mineral oil from the same caused a void and a subsequent shrinkage in the earth's crust in that neighborhood? The inquiry is not far-fetched. It is usually issumed that water takes the place of the oil withdrawn from the measures, filling the vacuum created by the latter's withdrawal, but if the water, being more tenuous, should find an independent vent elsewhere, the vacuum created by the draining of the mineral oil would remain, and a shrinkage of the unsupported crust of the earth would naturally follow sooner or later. It has been suggested that the tapping of the oil measures in the southern part of this state has relieved the mineral oil-bearing formations from sure, and thus removed one of the supposed causes of earthquakes in that section. There may be nothing in the theory, but it has been observed that the Los Angeles district has been notably exempt from seismic disturbances since the oil measures were tapped and vent given to the gases generated in them. Likewise, the theory

Discusses the Question of Rural School Consolidation—Officers Chosen.

Toronto, April 2 .- At the trustees' section of the Ontario Educational Association this morning consolidation of rural schools was discussed, the general feeling being very strongly in favor of it, and of use being made of provisions of the act. The inspectors discussed the authorization of text books, objecting to authorization in advance and favoring competition with selections by a committee of experts appointed by the department and acting in conjunction with the inspectors. At the conclusion of their morning sessions the various sections elected their officers as follows: Inspectors' Department President,

A Funny Language.

Lovers of the writings of Robert Louis Stevenson will be interest-ed to see an article on the Samoa of his day by his step-daughter, Mrs. Strong, in the March Century, from which we take this odd bot:

The native dictionary is interesting in the light it casts upon the Samoan character. I find "an impossibility, such as an old man getting a young wife." Another word means "to beg de-liriously for fish hooks." "Unwelcome" is given "such as a visiting party that is accompanied by neither a handsome man nor a pretty maid." The definition of "widow" or "widower" is synon-ymous with detached shell-fish.

There are also definitions that show considerable thought and irony. "Meanness," for instance, can go no further than "to climb out on your own breadfruit tree to steal your neighbor's breadfruit." Faapuatama, like a trumpet blown by wild lads-blown anyhow and at all times; so conduct without consideration. Popoga, to look owleyed, as a person staring when food or property is being delivered. "Good brown earth" describes an honest, un-pretending man. #### Cigarette Smokers Barred!

[Indianapolis News.] The Sante Fe has issued an order that no one addicted to the use of cigarettes shall be given employment by that company, and a number of cigarette smokers working for the company have been dismissed.

The crusade against cigarettes has not yet formally reached the Indianapolis roads, but is being quietly en-forced on some of them. At present the rule against cigarettes is applied principally in the clerical departments, and a number of clerks who have been let out in order "to reduce expenses" are not aware that they were dismissed because they smoked cigarettes. And many applicants failed to get positions for the same reason.

Every applicant has to pass a written examination, and in addition to that his personal habits are investigated. An occasional drink is generally overlooked, but if it is found that he is in the habit of smoking cigarettes there is no chance for him. The rule against cigarettes on some of the local roads is applied also to appli-cants for positions in the train service, though there is nothing in the blank application that announces the fact. Most of the railroad officers, however, queasus by the Baku wells tirely at fault. But the two are determined that the employes shall lets are 50 cents a bottle, or 3 bottles for $1 25, at all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price. THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York, April 3.—The National League trouble is practically ended. A. G. Spalding resigned his claim to be chief executive of the organization, and the office will be tendered to William G. Temple, of Pittsburg. There will be no further contest in the courts. Mr. Spalding's letter of resignation, presented at the second day's session of the conference, is as follows:

"Gentlemen,—In accepting the presidency of the National League, to which office I was informed last December I had been duly elected, I promulgated the following platform as the policy of my administration: To promote, foster, elevate and perpetuate the game of baseball, the national field sport of America; to eliminate all objectionable features that may tend to degrade and demoralize that sport; to incuicate in the governors that may tend to degrade and demoralize that sport; to inculcate in the governors of the game, club officials, umpires, play-ers, and everyone interested in or con-nected with the national sport, a realizanected with the hational sport, a realization of what true sportsmanship is, and to subordinate the financial side of the game; to cultivate among the players a desire for the highest athletic development, that they may by their skillfulness, integrity and gentlemanly deportment, both on and off the field, raise their profession to a high plane and add luster and interest to the national game; to es-tablish a central governing body, in which all professional baseball interests shall be properly represented, this body to be clothed with ample power to carry into effect these and other objects that tend to maintain the integrity and high stand-ard of the game. Conditions have arisen which in my opinion make it impossible at this time to carry out all the prin-ciples embodied in the above platform, and as no compromise or modification of these principles will be satisfactory to me, I have decided to discontinue further efforts in this direction, and hereby tender my resignation as president of the National League, and respectfully ask that it be accepted without delay. I wish to amphatically declare "that I am that it be accepted without delay. I wish to emphatically declare "that I am prompted in this action solely by the belief that prolonging a factional, political warfare into the playing season would be distasteful to the public, injurious to the National League in particular and to professional baseball in general. Respectfully (Signed) A. G. Spalding."

SPALDING'S SUCCESSOR. While Mr. Temple has not been formally elected to the league's chief executive office, it was unanimously decided to offer him the place.

The league decided to establish its permanent headquarters in New York. It also decided to make the offices of president president, Miss Curzon, of Toronto; secretary-treasurer, E. L. Hill, of Guelph.

Training Department—Chairman, F. W. Merchant, of London; secretary, Wm. Wilson, of West Toronto Junction; director, A. A. Jordan, of Preston; director, A. A. Jordan, of Preston; Director, A. A. Jordan, of Preston, Director, and Director, A. A. Jordan, of Preston, Director, D who is in Florida, advising him of the action of the league, and asking him if he would accept the presidency.

CHANGES IN RULES. It was decided to play under the same rules as last year. The foul strike rule was in force last season, but was not in the book of rules. It was decided that the pitcher shall not have more than a minute in which to warm up before any one inning before delivering the ball, he not being allowed to deliver more than five balls before play.

TORONTO'S CLUB. LACROSSE. TO PLAY IN IRELAND.

London, April 2.—The Toronto Lacrosse Club will play in Ireland as well as in this country. It is announced that matches will be played in county Down on May 15, and in Belfast on May 16 and 17. Lacrosse has only lately been introduced into the Green Isle, but it is attracting to its support lots of the best young Irishmen, and they are grasping its fine points rapidly.

THE RIFLE.

THE RIFLE. GRAND AMERICAN HANDICAP. Kansas City, Mo., April 2.—The Grand American handicap, the feature of the Interstate Association's tenth annual tournament, is being shot at Blue River Park today. There were close to 500 entries for this blue ribbon event when shooting began this morning which stamps it one of the greatest live bird contests ever held. So large is the list of entries that it is believed it will take the rest of the week to shoot it out. Perfect weather and with just enough breeze blowing to give life to the birds prevailblowing to give life to the birds prevailed. Post entries made this morning brought the aggregate up to 493, making and quality of the food eaten, with regularity of meals. That is the secret of strength for every man. No man can be stronger than his stomach. The careless and irregular eating, of business men, causes disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. There can be no sound health until these diseases are cured.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the body to be built up into vigorous health by the assimilation of the nutrition extracted from food.

"I was taken with the grippe, which resulted in heart and stomach trouble," writes Mr. T. R. Caudill, of Montland, Alleghany Co., N. C. "I was unable to do anything a good part of the time. I wrote to Dr. Pierce about my condition, having full confidence in his medicine. He advised me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did. Before I had finished the second bottle I began to feel better. I have used nearly six bottles. I feel thankful, to God for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I can have his recommend it to all persons as a good and 'afe medicine."

At noon the contestants were making the circuit of the four traps in fairly good shape, and over 200 men had shot at their first four birds. At the end of the day 143 winning shots had a straight score of eight birds. There will be eight rounds each day unshots had a straight score of eight birds. There will be eight rounds each day until the list of withdrawals shall make it possible to shoot more. Perfect weather marked the sport. There were a great number of hard flyers. T. W. Morley, of Queen's, N. Y., the winner in 1894, lost his first bird. H. D. Bates, of Ridgetown, Ont., the winner in 1990, missed his third. E. D. Fulton lost his fifth. Fred Gilbert has a straight score. Griffith did not succeed in killing eight birds.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Wm. A. Brady will present the famous Clyde Fitch comedy, "Lovers' Lane," at the New Grand this evening. It is a play of remarkable runs, including five months in New York, all last summer in Chicago, two months in Boston and six weeks in Philadelphia, where it will be revived next month for an indefinite period. "Lovers' Lane" owes its success largely to the simplicity and humor of the story, its picturesque setting, its capable company, its clean and wholesome treatment, and, above all, the fact that it appeals strongly to women and children. The indorsement of over 700 clergymen and teachers has not done it any harm. "Lovers' Lane" is radically different from all other Clyde ally different from all other Clyde Fitch playes—most of which satirize the foibles of fashionable society. It depicts social and church conditions in a small New England town, and is semi-rustic without employing the realism of the barnyard and hay field. There is a love interest supplied by the young clergyman and the pretty girl from the Art League, but the serious moments are few. A large number of children are introduced in the school recess scene of the second act.

"THE VILLAGE PARSON." "The Village Parson," which comes to the New Grand tomorrow evening, is claimed to be one of the strongest and best plays seen this season. story of the play is one of considerable power. A village minister is subjected to strong trials through the supposed faults of his wife and her father, who are really innocent. The caste is made up of capable players, and new scenery is employed.

Past Year Has Been a Successful One for Association.

Well-Attended Missionary Meeting Addressed by Laborers From Far-Off Fields.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Missionary Association of Huron Diocese was brought to a close last night after one of the most successful conventions in the history of the association.

At the afternoon session, Bishop Baldwin presented life memberships to Dislikes Stopping Delivery Wagons-Miss Weir, from Huron Diocesan Association, and to Mrs. Ardill, from the Owen Sound branch. The report of the triennial meeting, held in Montreal, was presented by Miss Weir, after which Mrs. Gahan gave an admirable map lesson on junior work.

The general missionary meeting in the evening was attended by an audience that filled Cronyn Hall to the doors. #### Malt Breakfast Food A Strong and Easy Winner.

For the past ten years millers and speculators with a very limited know-ledge of the chemistry and physical value of grain foods, have placed on the market preparations under various names; some of these preparations they designate as "health foods." No greater delusions or snares have ever been foisted on the public. Food experts, analytical chemists and physicians qualified to speak on the subject, quite agree that Malt Breakfast Food is the only true health food now before the public. This finding of scientific men should influence and direct those now making use of poorly prepared breakfast cereals.

The exquisite deliciousness of Malt Breakfast Food, its palatableness, its strengthening virtues and its economical features all combine to make it popular; it is a strong and easy winner with all classes of our people. Your grocer delights to recommend Malt Breakfast Food.

BAKERS LIVING UP TO THE LAW.

Inspector Says Bread Is Made Full Weight.

Committee Indorse Scheme for More Lights.

No. 3 committee, which sat for about an hour last night, granted sufficientlysigned petitions by the following persons: Joseph Murray, for watering on Oxford street, from the bridge to Wharncliffe road; S. A. Southcott, for Simcoe street, from Wellington to Waterloo street; George Finnegan, for Blackfriars street, from Albion street to Collins' Hotel; Rev. S. J. Allin, for Hamilton road, from Mamelon to Rectory streets. M. McCrimmon's petition against watering Pall Mall street was department from Wm. Burleigh, H. C. Spencer, John E. Parkes and Chas. H. McLeod were allowed to stand.

Applications for electric lights were laid over until the committee inspect, to see where lights are required. Mayor Beck's proposal to have more lights in Victoria Park was discussed at some length, and it is probable that the committee will advise the council to purchase more lights.

Inspector MacCallum reported having collected $575 in license fees during the month, and also reported having visited a number of city bakeries and found that they were living up to the requirements of the governing bylaw. He had had an inspection made on the weight of bread and discovered that all were endeavoring to obey the law. The mayor said that he had letters which said that the bread of two bakers were under weight, and advised Inspector Mac-Callum to hold personal inspections in ent articles of dress and ornaments. #### The Doctors Told Miss Blake She Was Boing Into Consumption.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Truly Rescued Her From the Crave.

This Is the Season to Use the Great Medicine If You Would Banish the Seeds of the Great White Plague. On every hand we see men and women who at this season should be active, hale and strong, losing flesh and weight, looking pale and languid. We hear them complain of feverishness, pain in the chest and of shortness of breath.

Ah! reader, these are a few of the symptoms of the white plague! Act at once with wisdom and decision; you cannot afford to lose precious time experimenting with medicines that have no reputation-that have no positive victories to their credit. heaven help you to use the lifesaver that rescued Miss Blake from an untimely grave! Her doctors told her she was going into consumption of bandmaster of the 26th Regiment Providence directed her to make use Band, vacated by Prof. Philp. The of Palne's Celery Compound. The first bottle produced a marvelous effect; her life blood was being freshened and enriched: her appetite was improved; strength was taking the place of weak ness and the tinge of health was coming to the pale face. Miss Blake, who resides on Hughson street, Hamilton Ont., tells her story for the benefit of

"For years I suffered greatly and was under the care of doctors, who inally told me I was going into consumption. I was getting worse through the use of medicines and I gave up my doctors. While in a very critical condition, not able to sleep or rest, always faint and weak, appetite and digestion bad, and my system run down and little life left in me, I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound. After taking one bottle I felt much relieved. I have used in all seven bottles, and am now a new woman, can enjoy life, and am as well as I wish to be. Many thanks for your great medicine.

SCHOOL GIRLS.

'Tis a pretty age-that time in a girl's life when she has all the beauties of womanhood without the later lines of care

But here and there even among school girls appear pale and drawn faces.
