J. Drope Refutes Suggestion That Masonry and Klan Have Any Connection in Letter or In Spirit in the Dominion. DOUBTS NECESSITY FOR HOODS AND MASKS. British Miners Federation Passes

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, July 15.—Emphatic declaration that the Ku Klux Klau had no connection in letter or in spirit with the Masonic Order in Canada was one of the outstanding features of the address of W. J. Drope, grand master of free masonry in Ontario, at the 70th annual communication of the grand lodge of Canada in this province, which opened its sessions here today. The grand master owing to illness, was unable to be present today to deliver the address, which was read in his absence.

Continuing on the subject of the Ku Klux Klan, the grand master said:

"It is perhaps not within my province, nor do I deem it neces sary at the present time, to express my opinion or make any ruling on the question of members of the Masonic order becoming members of the klan, but I venture to suggest that members of the eldest and most honorable fraternity in the world will do well to consider seriously before associating themselves with an organization which, in a country where the franchise is universal and freedom of speech assured to all, finds it necessary to conceal the identity of its membership behind a hood or mask.

JUNE BUILDING IN DOMINION BEATS 1924 BY $7,000,000

Survey Shows Encouraging Industrial Conditions in Canada.

BIG FIRMS LOCATE

Twine Factory at Hamilton Will Employ Several Hundred People

Conditions generally throughout Canada are very encouraging, according to a survey completed by G. H. Rogers, general commercial engineer of the Bell Telephone Company. The report, which covers the month of June, follows: Business reports in general are encouraging for the month of June. In the west the prospects are for bumper crop, and according to reports the wheat fields at this stage look more promising than they did in the famous crop year of 1915. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates a yield of 350,000,000 bushels, which would be 10,000,000 bushels over the average of the last five

There is a marked decrease in failures, which is always a good sign. The number of assignments for April total 162, as contrasted with 198 in March, and 180 in April, 1924.

Building.

There has been an improvement in the amount of construction, the total for six months aggregating $125,544,-100, as compared with $128,723,100 for the same period in 1924. For the month of June, as compiled by the MacLean Building Reports. Limited, the total construction awards were the total construction awards were department, and H. H. Angus, Toronto, building accounted for 33.1 per cent, business building 28.9 per cent, industrial building 4.6 per cent, and public works and utilities 33.4 per cent. The building was distributed among the provinces as follows: Ontario, 41.1 per cent; Quebec, 31.7 per cent; prairie provinces, 8.9 per cent. British Columbia, 11.8 per cent, and British Columbia, 11.8 per cent, and the maritime provinces, 6.5 per cent.

There is a decrease in the contemplated new work this June compared to June last year of $3,733,100, but when comparing the new work for the first six months, this year shows $312,406,100 against $192,055. 700 of last year. This outlook is very promising.

crease of $96,433,463.

Grain shipments for the port of Montreal point to another record season if the present trade continues, as the traffic figures exceed those of last year by about 40 per cent. Deliveries to date are 32,353,407 bushels and receipts 30,230,367 bushels. Corresponding figures for last year are: Deliveries 22,649,366 bushels, receipts 24,851,123 bushels.

The baled hay industry is becoming more important every year, last year more important every year; last year Canada exported 332,293 tons as against 58,300 tons in 1923 and 31,287 tons in 1922. Of this, the States took nearly 90 per cent of Chief Birrell Advises Immediate Action on Defective Headlights.

Warning of a comprehensive police drive on the glaring headlight menace is contained in the admonition given this morning by Chief of Police Robert Birrell to all motorists who have yet failed to comply with provincial auto light laws.

Attempts to enforce the glars measure were not made until recently, though the law has been on the statutes for more than two years, "There are four stations in the

London Topics Privy Council Meets in Offices

That Would Not Be a Credit to a Country Lawyer.

By HENRY SOMERVILLE. ONDON-Everybody who visits

Downing street remarks upon the unimposing architecture of No. 10. There is another important address in the same street so unobtrusive that though everybody must pass it when they go to look at the prime minister's residence scarcely anybody notices it. It is that of the judicial committee of the privy council. The most august legal tribunal of the British Empire is established in premises that would not be considered good enough for a small town lawyer. There is an entire lack of formality inside. Two or three newspaper reporters are generally lounging around, waiting for the judgments to be delivered or for the pleadings to become interesting. The ourt itself is a very small room and no one can enter it without being within a few feet of the law lords. At the same time it is remarkably difficult to hear what is said by the judges because they speak in a very low, conversational tone. The law lords dispense with all the trappings of office and wear ordinary dress without wigs or gowns. Often they will sit through a long speech by counsel looking abjectly bored. At other times they do not allow coun-sel to speak for two consecutive minutes without questioning veracity or his logic Learned K.C.'s sometimes get as severe a gruelling from the law lords as ever they inwitnesses under cross

Mr. Tilley, K.C., had a very stiff time today, though he bore it with his customary gallantry and ability. In the middle of last year a substantial proportion of the employees of the U.S. Steel Trust were still working from 60 to 84 hours The trust still denies the workpeople, and only 25,000 out of 400,000 or 500,000 workers are members of trade unions. Mand city council therefore decided, otes to 17, not to accept the U. S

The Scarcity of Clergy. THE archbishops of Canterbury and York, appointed a commit tee to report on the question of the shortage of candidates for the minis-try of the church of England. This shortage has been so pronounced for many years past that the average age of clergy on the active list is now 52 years, and fewer than 12 per cent of the clergy are under 36 years of Those who are not closely acquainted with the life of the church have offered the easy explanation that the clergy are not well enough paid, and that the way to raise the supply of clergy is to increase the stipends. The archbishops' committee say that the trouble has deeper and more complex causes. They enumerate six causes, as follows:

Growing indifference to religion.

Decay of religion in the home. Misunderstandings as to clerical life and work.

Development of other openings for social service. Intellectual difficulties.

Financial difficulties.
In order to remove some intellectual difficulties, the committee rectual difficulties, the committee rectual difficulties. ommends a new statement of the principles of the church of England n place of the Thirty-nine Articles. does not recommend any rewriting of the creeds, but it says candidates should not regard perplexity as to certain clauses of the creeds as being necessarily a barrier to ordination. The bishop of Gloucester, a member of the committee, adds a note to the report, saying:
"I do not disagree with the report but I do not think that it puts the matter in its right proportions. The real problem is: Why a large number used to take orders and do so now? That is the problem before us. Now, the reason, I believe, is this: The secularization of our modern life generally and of our educational system in particular. The bishop proceeds to say that the atmosphere of Oxford and Cambridge is "largely secular, and to a considerable extent even antagonisti to Christianity. . . . I think the church should concentrate its attention much more than it does on re-ligious work in our universities and n attacking the intellectual problems of religion.

"I want you to try Postum for thirty days. I want to start you out on your test by giving you your first week's supply.

"It seems to me that it would be a plan for mothers, particularly, to think of this test in connection with the health of their families.

"Will you send me your name and ddress? Tell me which kind you prefer-Instant Postum or Postum Cereal (the kind you boil). I'll see that you get the first week's supply right away.

TIRED at the beginning as well as the end l of the day, irritable, exacting, pessimise has joined the ranks of thousands of men who are silently and secretly worrying. Ten times a day they go on the warpath over

In nearly every case they are victims of the artificial stimulants-tannin and caffeine found in tea and coffee. These seem to give new energy but this is a delusion. Actually, they whip the tired nerves to action when what they really need is rest.

Tannin and caffeine found in tea and coffee are harmful. With you these agents may work fast or slow. But their poisonous effects are certain, sure!

Drink wholesome Instant Postum. Every member of the family can enjoy its delicious flavor. Taut nerves, sleepless hours and headaches are happily banished because it is free from the health-destroying stimulants tannin and caffeine. Instantly made in the cup at a cost of about half-a-cent. Then there's Postum Cereal made by boiling or percolating for those who prefer it. Ask for Postum at your club, restaurant, or on the train. Read Carrie Blanchard's free offer. W. C. T. U. Members at Annual Picnic Sign Pledge Cards.

Over fifty journeyed to Springbank yesterday afternoon for the annual W. C. T. U. picnic, held at Wonderland, the new site for the W. C. T. U. fresh air camp. Everyone was delighted with the beauty of the surroundings, with the pretty cool swimming pool in which the children have their morning bath, and with the skillful manner in which the old huts and tent had been transferred from their former location and set up. Every member present at the picnic signed the elector's league pledge cards which were distributed. By doing so they bound themselves to vote for only those political candidates who promise to support tem-

HUNDREDS ATTEND CHALMERS FETE

Most Successful Garden Party in History Held Yesterday.

Hundreds attended the garden fete held last night by the Chalmers Ladies' Aid in the church grounds. In fact so large was the attendance and so well did they buy of the wares offered, that the event was pronounced the most successful of its kind ever held at the church.

People from far and near were attracted by the strains of the bagpipes played by Bert Duncan. And then when they arrived upon the scene, gay with colored lights twinkling be-neath tall maples, they were delight-ful with the beautiful music supplied by the Acadian orchestra. Mrs. Nelson Foster was genera convener of the event and had as her sub-convener at the flower decked stalls, the following women: Mrs. George Trigger and Mrs. Harry Geddes, home cooking; Mrs. Allen Eadie and Mrs. R. Howlitt, aprons: Mrs. G. Mrs. Dave McPherson and Duncan Black and Mrs. Brice, cold drinks, bananas and watermelon; T. Atkinson and B. Brown, ice cream: Mrs. Albert Webb and the C. G. I. T. girls, candy. By 10 o'clock every stall had been sold out and still gallons and gallons more of ice cream could have been disposed of. A small program indisposed of. A small program in-cluded delightful vocal numbers by Mrs. Roy Brown and Miss Agnes Foster and a brief address by Rev. Mr. Okell, the new pastor.

The Hidden Melody.

As I have seen some women do Who knit and knit the whole day through, So I, as I go here and there, Along the city's thoroughfare,

Just take my thoughts amid the throng, And knit and knit them all day long Into a gay, fantastic song.

It Isn't Easy for a Grown Girl Returned From Years at School to Make a Comrade of Her Mother.

"How can I get acquainted with my mother?" asks a young girl.

"I have been away at boarding school for seven years," she says, "and now that I have come back home to live. I find that I am an utter stranger in my own family. and that I scarcely know my mother to speak to.

"When we are alone together I get an acute attack of stage fright and am tongue-tied. Evidently she is equally afraid of me, and has just as little to say to me as I have to say to her Anyway, we are frightfully polite and formal to each other, and there are chunks of silence between us that you couldn't break with an ice pick.

"Now, my mother is a most charming and delightful woman. I admire her beyond words and long to be friends with her. I would know how to do it. I don't know how to break down the barrier between us. How do you go about making your mother companionable?

Why, I should say that the thing to do would be to apply the same tactics in laying siege to mother's heart that you would to any other older woman's with whom you wished to ingratiate yourself. "Visit with her," as country people say. Help her with her work. Take an interest in the things in which she is interested. Invite her to go shopping with you. Take her to luncheons and to matinees.

Every older woman is flattered attractive. half to death by attentions from a pretty young girl, and the compli ment is trebly appreciated when the tribute comes to a mother from her own daughter. or in these days ancestor worship is not a popular cult among the young. Few daughters burn incense before their mother. Instead they regard reverence for mother as a moss-grown superstition, which the present generation has outgrown and discarded.

For the grown-up girl to get acquainted with her mother is. however, not so simple a thing as it appears. For one thing, in the mother's mind there is ineradicable feeling that her daughter is still a little child. who should obey her implicitly and let mother decide every question for her. Also the belief that she should keep the parental pose of infallibility, and that she should never admit to having been guilty of any of the follies of youth. So it is a difficult thing for a young woman accustomed to freedom to slip back into leading strings again and for a human girl to chum up with an imitation plaster

Thelma Brunt, Flora Carson, Doris and desires are bound to come in verley, Selma Caverley, Mrs. Clink, conflict at times, and that is why most mothers make their daughters Misses Kathleen Copeland, Frances

Their invitations are only good up to the 23rd or 24th, so to speak, while Louis Leggott, Marie Loughlin, the longer son remains at home the better pleased mother is.

The girl who tries to chum up with mother on the housekeeping soon finds that she is persona non gratia unless she is willing to do the work and let mother do all the bossing. Mother has been the head of her house for twenty-five or thirty years. and she has no idea whatever of abdicating or even dividing her authority. It is only after a girl gets married and has a home of her own and takes her finger out of mother's pie that the two ever meet on a plane of mutual understanding and get to be really intimate friends.

Meet mother. And meet her more than half-way. DOROTHY DIX.

Floating Back Draperies Give Evening Gowns Butterfly Effect.

> BY AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser.

Copyright. New York July 15 -It is not neces sary to be a Broadway butterfly, with consequent danger of murder, to have butterfly wings at present. Hundreds of women are wearing them in the form of floating back draperies attached to sheer crepe evening gowns. And no butterfly outside the tropic jungles ever sported more vivid or beautiful color-

Ampleness has come back, says Paris. But only in certain places, principally in the back. The latest designs of Martial et Armand feature the tight-fitting bust, the outlining of the hips and the flare at the bottom of the skirt. Some of the crepe frocks of this form, designed for evening wear, are embellished by muslin wings. The question agitating New York at present is whether Greenwich Village is to be friends with her. I would present is whether to only as bad love to pal with her, but I don't as bad as it is painted, or only as bad love to pal with her, but I don't know as it paints. For many of the artist villagers are now engaged in painting villagers are now engaged in reference heads on satin as garter decorations, and to be pinned on the front of the blouses or sport suits in the place of the more conventional brooch. If some of the artists are as bad as they paint, they must be terrible. Nowadays no woman thinks of faring orth without a touch of color on her ace, and many give a touch of color to their feet also. This is accomplished by the new buckles worn with the nodern pump, which are fashioned of silver, combined with enamel in bril-liantly colored Cubist designs.

Fashion, like history, repeats itself. It has brought back the black mitts of our grandmothers, but the new handverings are of real lace, posed on spider-web net. The designs are work-ed out in pointe d'esprit, through which Misses Wakefield Find Adventure in Visiting Leper Town in Japan.

Home at Last, They Are Guests With Mrs. May R. Thornley.

Tripping around the world, stopping here a day and there a month and there for a half a year, just as the fancy took them, and spending four full years in the doing of it, this has been the happy lot of the Misses Lillian and Rose Wakefield, who are now guests in the home of their cousin, Mrs. May R. No pass-by-the-night tourists are these two very charming women who have got a lifetime of pleasure out of it. It wasn't just Tokio which they visited in Japan. On Leper's Lap.

Miss Rose believes to this day that it was upon the lap of a leper that she made her journey into Kusatsu. The Japanese train went only so far, then the rest of the trip had to be taken by motor. Having wired ahead for a jitney, the three travellers compartments. Teased.

By JULIA HOYT.

Everyone knows that the enjoy ment to be derived from teasing depends entirely on whether or not the other words, it is no fun teasing someone who won't be teased. Con-sequently, to learn when young to take teasing happily, is method for rarely being teased. Peo-ple who become offended or angry at good-natured teasing from some mineral stream has been diverted. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it—so I got some. Every month after taking it I grew stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back aches so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter and I hope some one will be helped by it."—Mrs. JOSEPH N. KIDD. Box 56, Crandall, Manitoba.

New W.O.B.A. Entry Record [X-WOLF HURLER Indicated By Influx To Date

Majority of Old-Timers Expected To Be Back This Year.

CLOSES ON FRIDAY

Entries to the W.O.B.A. close Friday night, and already there are indications that this year's tournament will record a bigger entry list than last year. Many of the old-timers who have been attending W.O.B.A. tournaments almost since their inception will be back and have sent in their entries early. James Smiley of Paris is one of these, and there are several others whose record of attendance is not as long as Mr. Wiley's.

W.O.B.A. officials have been optimistic w.O.B.A. officials have been optimistic right along, and apparently they've been justified. While there have been pessimists who claimed that interest in some of the big tournaments was on the wane, the W.O.B.A. officials believe that as far as their particular pet is concerned, things are reversed. The W.O.B.A. is one of the oldest events west of Toronto, and while it will probably never reach the figures it set once upon a time in numbers and geography covered by the entries, it will get back to something very closely resembling these. The 18-end games and elimination plan has still a great interest for real bowlers.

The rinks which won trophies will all be back this year, with the exception of C. K. Bluett, whose Thistles won the first event last year. He is engaged in educational work in Toronto and has written to say he finds it impossible to get here. Harry Allen of Hamilton Victorias, who won the Tecumseh trophy, will be here, and has his entry in, and Dick Seldon of Exeter, who won the Turnbull and also was elevated to the presidency of the W.O.B.A., will be right along, and apparently they've been in, and Dick Seidon of Exeter, who won the Turnbull and also was elevated to the presidency of the W.O.B.A., will be here with the Devonshire four.

Officials expect a rush of entries in today, as bowlers are notoriously lastminute eggs when it comes to entering.

The entertainment committee has been particularly active this year, and there promises to be few duil moments.

Winnipeg

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, July 14.—Sehing pressure. mostly on the part of "Mongs" was the main factor in lower prices on the wheat market here today. July closed le lower at $1.63%. October 1½c down at $1.57%. The market generally followed the trend of Chicago, and at midsession sharp weakness developed. the October dropping to $1.41. reacted to $1.42, and then declined to $1.39¼. The buying power was not as broad today as yesterday. At the ton quotation today the October future was about 12c above the opening on Saturday morning. The market is very nervous and easily influenced by unfavorable crop news.
There was little feature to the coarse grains. Trade volume was small and prices sharply lower, especially the old crop futures. There is a little demand for oats and barley from eastern domestic channels, but export trade is all. Trading in flax was light.

Little or no trading was reported in the cash wheat, while cash coarse grains were featureless and offerings continuing light.

WILL TRY PEPALL ON FOUR CHARGES,

Bribes of $162,500 and Theft of $749,000 Are Included.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, July 14.-Magistrate J. E. Jones this afternoon committed Andrew H. Pepall for trial on four charges arising out of provincial bond deals in 1920.

The magistrate refused to consider the question of bail, referring the defendant to a higher court. In consequence, application will be made tomorrow at Osgoode Hali for bail which has been refused in the police court ever since Pepall was brought back from California, where he fought extradition for over a year. In the regular course of events, Pepall will be tried at the fall assizes opening next September.

After being committed this afternoon, Pepall was taken back to the jail, where he has been put on a special diet, following sickness caused by the regular prison food.

Three Lives Snuffed Out in Cornwall Silk Factory.

"POCKET" OF FUMES

Residue of Chemical Which Clogged Pipes Is Blamed.

Canadian Press Despatch. Cornwall, July 14.-Three men today lost their lives from asphyxiation at the Artificial Silk plant here, owned and operated by Courtlands, Limited, of London and Coventry, England. The plant, which is about a half-mile east of Cornwall, commenced manufacturing operations about nine weeks ago. The fatalities occurred on the ground floor in the vat room. Tehy were overcome with sulphurated hydrogen gas. Horace McKenzie, aged 42, who came here from Coventry, England, and has been in the employ of the company for a considerable length of time, and who was in charge of the floor where the accident occurred, was one of those who lost his life, the other two being Hiram Hollister, a well-known resident of Cornwall, and William Villeneuve, a plumber's been a "pocket" of sulphuretted hydro-gen in vat No. 1, in which a repair job was being executed by a plumber named Meldrum, who is now in hospital, and his helper, William Villeneuve, under the direction of the plumber foreman, an old employee of the company from England, William Burris.

It seems that these tanks are filled with sulphuric acid. A residue, mainly composed of sulphur, clogged the pipes leading from the vats, when the acid was pumped out. This morning, Meldrum and Villeneuve went to vat No. 1 to elevate the outlet pipe.

The first intimation that anything was wrong was the reappearance of Meldrum in the corridor outside the vat room in a staggering condition. McKenzie, the foreman, happened along at this time, and with a laborer rushed at once to the vat, where Villeneuve was found in a limp condition. Acting on the spur of the moment MacKenzie and an employee named Woodward, who accompanied him. descended into the vat in an endeavor to rescue Villeneuve. MacKenzie was promptly overcome by gas, and Woodward struggled out as best he Austen Chamberlain Outlines Govt.'s Position With Respect to Co-Operation.

Associated Press Despatch. Fez, French Morocco, July 15 .-The French today defeated two attacks by Abd-el-Krim's Riffians on positions protecting Fez and Taza.

Associated Press Despatch. London, July 15 .- Foreign secretary Austen Chamberlain, outlined Great Britain's position in regard to the Moroccan situation, in replying to a question in the House of Commons today. The French and Spanish governments, he explained, had proposed the co-operation of British naval forces in the surveillance of contraband arms traffic in the territorial waters of Tangier. The extension of the territorial limits of the French and territorial limits of the French and Spanish zones to six miles into the sea instead of three, and the landing of contingents of troops by the three countries at Tangler for the protection of the city also was proposed. The British government, Mr. Chamberlain declared, was ready to carry out the obligations of the Tangler convention, and to co-operate in the suppression of contraband traffic in the territorial waters of the district; but preferred not to participate in any action outside these waters, nor could it acquiesce in the three-mile limit. The British government also opposed the proposal for the despatch of troops to Tangler because such action might possibly provoke an attack upon the town by the Riffs.

Princess Declares Russian Royal Family Murdered Through Mistake.

Canadian Press Despatch Montreal, July 14.-Reports that Grand Duchess Anastasie, daughter of the murdered ex-czar of Russia, is still alive are "all nonsense," it was asserted here today by Princess Zizianoff, widow of a Russian general who was related to the Romanoffs and foundress of a Russian refugee institution in New York.

Princess Zizianoff, in a graphic declaration of the murder of the Russian royal family at Ekaterinburg in 1917, of the circumstances of which she claimed positive knowledge. was due primarily to an error on the part of the czar's Bolshevik guards. The latter had received an order to "put the family away in case of danger from the Czecho-Slovakia army." And they interpreted it to mean that the Romanoffs were to be killed, the princess said.

Princess Zizianoff described how Princess Zizianoff described how the czar was first bayonetted and how his murderers then summoned the czarina, the czarvitch Alexis, who was too weak to walk and had to be carried out on a chair, the Princesses Tatiana and Anastasie, to the automobile shed ostensibly to embark for their country home. The chief guard abruptly shot the czarvitch and then the czarina. Then the screaming princesses were destroyed. Tatiania had tried to protect her-

URGES MARKING OF ALL FOREIGN-MADE GOODS

Conservative Member Wants Distinctive Mark On Imported Goods.

Associated Press Despatch. London, July 14.—Sir Robert Vaughan Gower, Conservative member for Central Hackney, in House of Commons, today urged that in view of the necessity of encouraging the sale of British-made goods in Great Britain, legislation should be introduced requring that all advertisements of goods manufactured or produced outside of the empire should expressly and conspicuously state that such goods are foreign made and that no such goods shall pe exposed for sale without being prominently labelled "foreign made." Sir Phillip Cunliffe-Lister, president of the board of trade, replied that the question of the compulsory indication of the country of origin of imported goods had been under consideration by the various interests concerned, but these have been unable to agree with regard to a definite policy in connection there-

To-day I saw

A green baize table—a common enough sight. But on this table were a lovely lot of ivory and bronze objects. Little ivory and bronze ash trays, beautiful bronze candlesticks and ivory pin trays. Intermingled with these were a number of cunning little boxes. I supposed they were empty. But having a natural curiosity, I perforce needs must lift the lids and look in. I was surprised. For in these boxes were nail files and orange sticks, smail-sized buffers and red nail enamel; in others the ever-needed collar and cuff buttons, dainty thimbles for women, and in one a very pretty memo pad.

My curiosity satisfied, I still gazed, and saw paper knives. tape measures, stamp boxes, mirrors and combs-and one lone corkscrew. The point of it all was that they were souvenirs of London, and all the objects had the word prettily painted and printed on in some place. Unlike some souvenirs, they were all useful, and prettily designed and executed. This table surrounded by London pennants is on the fourth floor-for you to see and enjoy as I did.
