DREAD MONARCH IN ONTARIO.

Over 25,000 Deaths Reported Last Year From all Over the Province.

Toronto, Jan. 18. — The return of deaths in Ontario during 1900, issued yesterday, shows that 25,241 deaths were reported, being at the rate of 11.50 per thousand. This is a remarkably low rate, even for "the healthiest province." The greatest enemy of the people of Ontario is the white plague. No less than 2,340 deaths were due to tuberculosis; typhoid caused 545, diphtheria 477, scarlet fever 131, whooping cough 121, and measles 93 deaths.

Dr. W. W. Palling, formerly of Turnerville in this county, now of Idaho, was married in San Francisco on the 14th inst., to Miss May Hand, of that city.

Mayor Sulman has one of the finest collections of postage stamps owned in the dominion. He has spent much time in collecting it and incidentally much money. The collection of the Maple City Mayor is worth several thousand dollars, but he wouldn't part with it for that.

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 22, the young ladies of St. Joseph's Church will entertain their friends with a "Gold Dollar Social and Lantern Entertainment in the L. O. O. F. Hall, King street. The entertainment is for the benefit of the church and every one is cordially invited to attend. A select musical and vocal program will be rendered. Admission, 50 cents.

KITCHENER IS PREPARING

FOR A FINAL EFFORT.

Will Try to Crush or Capture the Commandoes - Lord Roberts' Sounds a Stirring Appeal—Canadian Applicants for Service

A Cape Town despatch says:—British offensive operations have ceased for the present. It is supposed that Lord Kitchener is collecting his strength for a final effort to crush or to capture the commandoes by a repetition of the tactics which caused the surrender of General Cronje and General Prinsloo.

It is alleged that the Boers who are concentrating at Warol and Ermelo are preparing to descend into Natal. The casualty list issued yesterday shows that the Boers have released 297 British who were captured at Helvetia and Belfast. The facts re the capture of Belfast have not yet been allowed to transpire.

London, Jan. 18.—A despatch from Sanderton of yesterday's date says:—Four women brought in by the military report that William Steyn, who was appointed a delegate of the Boers to ask the fighting Boers to surrender under Lord Kitchener's proclamation, was made a prisoner, and sent to Pietreweil accused of high treason. The Boers are still active around Sanderton.

"BOER" SMIRRING APPEAL.
Lord Roberts who was entertained privately at dinner last evening by the United Service Club, the guests including the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Duke of Cam-bridge, and some 300 officers, has in-sued from the war office a stirring appeal to the country for a prompt response to the call for 5,000 Yeomanry whose past service in South Africa he highly commends to the gratitude of the nation.

London, Jan. 17.—General Kitchener telegraphing from Pretoria under date of Wednesday, Jan. 16, says the concentration of 8,000 Boers at Carolina (Transvaal) is reported.

He adds that Colville's mobile column was engaged near Van Tonder's Hoek. The Boers were driven off with heavy loss.

Three hundred Boers entered Aberdeen yesterday, looted the store, and retired on the arrival of a hundred British infantry.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—Over 500 applications to join the South African Contingent have been received by the Militia Department. A constant stream flows in daily, no less than 50 having been received yesterday.

A. V. C. HERO.

Southampton, Jan. 17.—Lieut. H. Z. C. Cockburn, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, reached here on the steamer Galea, from Cape Town, to-day. He is in splendid health. A reporter conveyed to Lieut. Cockburn the news that he had been recommended for the Victoria Cross. He was greatly elated. Captain Weeks, who was with the first Canadian contingent, but who remained in Africa on special service, was also on board. He is in good health.

EARL OF ROSEBERY'S

WORDS OF WARNING.

He Expresses Strange Fears That Britain Will Suffer From Commercial Competition With Germany and America.

London, Jan. 18.—At a meeting of the Wolverhampton Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, former Prime Minister Rosebery made a speech, in which he dealt in a most serious strain with the industrial and commercial competition by which Great Britain was faced. He declared that the future was dark and gloomy. It was difficult, even unwise, to try to prophesy what it might have in store. The war, he feared, was not military.

OUR COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

It is such an occasion as last evening's annual commencement exercises at our Collegiate Institute that is calculated to make us pause and realize the value and magnitude of the work being accomplished in this successful educational institution. It is unique that an academy, representing a community with limitations of district as closely drawn as our own, should have such a magnificent record as the Chatham Collegiate—and continued to maintain it.

From year to year the school has been sending forth its quota of students, whose high standard of proficiency—the result of the careful and efficient training received within its walls—has been instrumental in winning for them distinguished honor in the wider academic arena and in the business and professional world.

The year just closed has fully maintained the excellent criterion established. It has done more and a new record has been unrolled. It was fitting that the occasion should be enhanced by such a delightful entertainment, but it should also prove a stimulus to practical pride and increased endorsement and encouragement from the community at large.

The brilliant scholastic attainments, the excellent organization and administration, the admirable discipline maintained and the general proficiency of the pupils merit earnest eulogy and congratulation, heartily conferred on the Principal and his staff of assistants, to whose efforts they are so largely due.

BRITISH LOSSES IN SOUTH AFRICA.

During a recent debate in the British House of Commons, it was declared by more than one Radical member that the Old Country had lost 70,000 men in the war with the Transvaal.

The assertion led G. L. Lacy to send a letter to the London Times in which he pointed out that the official returns to the end of November gave a total of 47,500 casualties.

Of the above, 37,100 figure as invalids sent home, of whom all but 230 who have died, 1,310 who have been discharged, as unfit for further duty, and 780 who are still in hospital, have returned to duty, and are ready to go back to South Africa or anywhere else where they may be required. Thus, from the 47,500 have to be deducted 34,780, leaving a balance of 12,720.

Once more the figures are reduced by 1,923 because of that number of "missing" having returned.

This leaves 10,800, but even then, Mr. Lacy refuses to give up his process of reduction.

He points out that ending with November 30th, a grand total of 260,400 men had been employed in South Africa, and that even had they stayed at home, some would have died. In proof of this he quotes the fact that according to insurance statistics, that of healthy men of 25, there will die within a year 6.5 per cent., so that of the force of 260,000, about 1,700 would have passed away, whether they had gone to Africa or stayed at home. This brings the total down to 11,300.

Still Mr. Lacy has more reducing to do. He says that in the case of soldiers, the rating should be for those engaged in dangerous operations, and according to insurance figures, this increases the normal death rate from 20 to over 40, thus reducing the total to 9,000.

Lacy hasn't finished yet. He says: "Furthermore, 60 per cent. of the deaths resulted from an epidemic disease, not necessarily a direct result of warfare; in epidemics of influenza, for instance, in this country a normal death rate of 20 rises to one of more than 40, so that the war can be exonerated from another 1,700 deaths, and also 200 deaths from accidents."

Now the total is 7,700 and still the figure can be fairly reduced because even this number includes 1,310 who were not killed but maimed for life.

As a final outcome, it is shown that up to the end of November those actually "killed or died of wounds," totalled 4,400—a very different matter from the tens of thousands which so many hysterical souls talk about.

One way of lowering the taxes and increasing the receipts would be to pass and enforce a proper snow-clearing by-law.

That Detroit doctor who said that whiskey and quinine for grip was an invention of the Devil, calculated to kill rather than cure, will find that most people will take his advice—to the extent of dropping the quinine.

"The stone or granolithic pavement in our climate is," says the Globe, "an unmitigated nuisance. The old wooden sidewalk was an ideal pavement when kept in good repair. It was easily cleaned. It presented a safer surface for walking, it absorbed moisture, and the slight spaces between the planks allowed the water to drain away. The surface of the stone or granolithic pavement ab-

NOT HEREDITARY

In the main, consumption is not hereditary; it is infectious. People are too afraid of heredity; better not think of the subject at all. Infection occurs continually.

Low vital force is hereditary; which gives consumption its chance. And infection plants it.

Between the two, the crop is a big one: about one-sixth of the human race, so far as is known.

We suppose it needn't be 5 per cent, if people would take fair care and Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

The care saves life in all ways; the emulsion is specially aimed at the lungs, beside its general food-effect.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Canada.

sorbs no water, the drainage is poor, and the consequence is that the more the pavement is cleaned the more dangerous it is, the slightest amount of moisture being at once converted into a sheet of ice. There is no doubt as to the force of the indictment; but is there no other remedy than a return to plank sidewalks? Surely the genius of the twentieth century will find some means of making stone and granolithic sidewalks safe and passable in winter time.

To-night's presentation at the Grand should be greeted by a large house. Manager Cairns has this year secured for his patrons several excellent productions, but it is safe to predict that this evening's attraction will be the gem of the season. Citizens who desire to perpetuate the booking of such superior companies should give practical endorsement to the local manager's enterprise by their patronage.

ABOUT OUR CENSUS.

Syracuse Post-Standard.

The United States will await the completion of the results of the count in Canada with interest. Our recent enumeration will enable us to compare our growth with that of Canada. And a not less interesting comparison will be the comparison of the number of Canadians who live in Canada, and the number who are Americans in everything but citizenship.

SOUVENIRS.

Chicago society women steel spoons at receptions, but claim that they merely take the spoons as "souvenirs." Here's a new ready-made excuse for shoplifters.

A REAL SIGHT FOR THE GODS.

Pertinent Dissertation on the Globe's Stand Towards the C. P. R.

Believes President Jaffray would do well as a Star Comedian.

Brockville Times.

The people of Canada have just missed an entertaining sight, if the statements of Robert Jaffray, of Toronto, in an interview with the Montreal Star are correct.

Mr. Jaffray, who is president of the Toronto Globe-Printing Co., and vice-president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., asserts that not only is he not responsible for his organ's recent vehement criticisms of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., which are obviously made in the interests of his coal company, but that his influence has always been directed towards suppressing them!

Many funny things have happened in the brief course of the twentieth century, but none could rival in point of grotesque eccentricity Mr. Jaffray's heroic endeavor to prevent himself from doing what he didn't want to do. One can almost fancy now that Mr. Jaffray has mentioned the fact—the awful struggle there must have been between Robert Jaffray, of the Crow's Nest, and Robert Jaffray, of the Globe, when the former wasn't urging the latter to attack the C. P. R., and the latter was determinedly refusing to do it. He must have had a heartrending time—a regular gas-as-you-please catch-as-catch-can encounter with himself. The most vivid imagination fails of conjuring up the details of this Canadian Foul-Bap was engaged. It cannot even picture the utter exhaustion of the twin combatant after his mad effort to control himself from opposing his own wishes, nor his untold consternation upon learning that, when in a state of utter collapse, the devil—the printer's devil, of course—or some other evil disposed person had nefariously taken advantage of the temporary suspension of hostilities during his prostration and had audaciously printed a whole lot of stuff which Mr. Jaffray, of the Crow's Nest did not wish to appear in the Globe and which Mr. Jaffray, of the Globe, was dying to keep out of its columns.

Mr. Jaffray may not be a born humorist, but he has concocted a grotesque act that would make a great hit in comic opera in showing to what ridiculous heights absurdity can reach. Its reproduction would be a spectacle for the gods to weep over.

THE SLATER SHOE

Business Moods.

When a good man swears on a wet day it's more than likely the profanity comes from his feet.

The shoe that pinches spoils the temper, irritates the nerves, impairs digestion, and obscures the merry sunshine of life.

Success or failure in life oft hinges upon a man's mood at critical moments, and the way his feet feel sometimes sways destiny.

A pair of "Slater Shoes" may unconsciously save a fortune, but can't cost more than $5.00.

It's cheaper to throw away a shoe that hurts than to keep it, and mark this—new "Slater Shoes" need no breaking in.

A tag on each pair tells just what leather it is made of, how it will affect the feet—and the wear it will, or will not give, according to use.

The makers name and price stamped on the sole protects against imitations of Goodyear Welt, and ensures value every time to the wearer. $3.50 and $5.00.

A FRENCH SCIENTIST

Has a Cure for Almost All Kinds of Consumption.

It is Cacydolic and a Form of Arsenic—What he has Accomplished so far.

London, Eng., Telegraph.

Cacydolic acid, discovered by the late chemist Bunsen, in 1842, had never been made use of in medicine. M. Gautier thought of applying it at first for the treatment of skin diseases, and recommended it at some six or seven years ago to a colleague at St. Louis hospital, who tried the compound with some success in cases of psoriasis, eczema, and lupus.

Four years later, M. Gautier, who during a long experience of consumption treatment, had previously essayed every known remedy, first tried cacydolic acid for the malady. The results immediately obtained were surprising. Consumptives at the third stage of the disease and representing every symptom of a rapidly approaching end, recovered in the most extraordinary way after three or four injections.

M. Gautier said to me at length a case in point:

A pupil of his, some two years ago, worked at high pressure point for a twelvemonth, taking two of the highest degrees in medicine and natural science almost simultaneously. He carried soon after and set up a medical practice in Lyons. Six months later he wrote a distressing letter to M. Gautier saying that he had discovered that his system was attacked by tuberculosis and (that he was in a critical state. Could Professor Gautier do anything for him?

The latter wrote at once, recommending cacydolic acid, which he had just used with complete success. Dr. Renaud, of Lyons, who was tending the young doctor, declined to follow the suggestion, thinking that, as he had previously administered arsenic without result, it would be useless to continue a similar treatment, even with a different compound of the metalloïd.

AND DEATH'S DOOR.

In February last the young doctor was at death's door. Cacydolic acid was then at last tried. Now he is, if not a hale and hearty man, at least almost completely cured. Since then Dr. Renaud has finally adopted the cacydolic treatment, though he describes it merely as a variation of the arsenical cure. "Quite true," agrees M. Gautier, "but the point precisely is that it is cacydolic acid, and no other compound, that must be used."

"C'est une merveille," ejaculates M. Gautier, talking of the compound, the new use of which he has discovered. He and any other doctor have experimented with it on a very large scale notable at the Bouchaud Hospital, founded by the late proprietor of the Bon Marche Emporium, and with almost unflinching success.

"We have not cured everybody," remarked the Professor, "though in my elation and astonishment at the first results of the treatment, I fairly thought we should." In the vast majority of cases, however, the new medicine has proved literally a sovereign remedy. Only one form of tuberculosis has resisted the treatment—phthisis of the larynx.

In all other forms, the effect of the cacydolic acid has been marvelous. Its paramount virtue is the fact that it is assimilated practically by everyone. Among thousands of cases, only two or three occurred in which the drug disagreed with the patient. Many consumptives have, under Professor Gautier's direction, taken the medicine continuously for nearly three years in perfect safety as regards the general health, and with the most remarkable results in respect to the reduction of the phthisis symptoms.

M. Gautier pointed out, however, that the proper course to pursue is to take the drug regularly every day for a week, then leave it off altogether for the same length of time, resuming the treatment afterwards for another week, and so on.

There is a mistake in the statement that Mr. Claude Smith increased the amount of Professor Gautier's dose. As a matter of fact, the latter's method is to administer by injection two centigrammes the first day, and five on the second and each of the succeeding days of the week. This dose he has usually found sufficient, but in some cases has administered as much as ten centigrammes a day in perfect safety and with excellent results.

THE EXACT FORM.

The exact form under which the cacydolic acid is employed is cacydolic acid of soda. M. Gautier showed me a bottle of this white substance, crystallized in comparatively large agglomerations of crystals. "Put out your finger," he said, "I did so, and on it he placed a small pinch of the substance, which I ate. 'You have just absorbed,' he then remarked, 'enough arsenic to kill a man, if it had been in any other form than that of cacydolic acid."

Professor Gautier has, he told me, made the important observation that the thyroid gland, in a normal condition, contains arsenic, and unless supplied with metalloïd, fails to accomplish its function. As the latter is, in Professor Gautier's picturesque words, the fly-wheel or regulator of the system, its derangement puts the whole machine out of order. Conversely arsenic, when properly assimilated by the system, keeps the "regulator" in proper working condition. Of course, I am putting the Professor's theory in shockingly unscientific language.

M. Gautier has also detected arsenic in the epidermis, in the nails of the hands and feet, and in the hair, and he states that these organs, when in a normal condition, contain the substance. As regards the effect produced by the new compound upon the globules of the blood, the Professor told me that in one case a young savant, Dr. Widai, observed an increase in the number of red globules from 850,000 to 3,500,000 in a patient after a few days' treatment. In many cases the quantity doubled even a few hours after an injection of cacydolic acid.

Affection

Exhales from children as fragrance from flowers. The little lips are always puckered to give or take a kiss. In homes where there are children, love reaches its fairest and sweetest proportions. In childless homes the kiss of wife and husband grows formal, and presently is neglected; the springs of love in the heart become choked for want of use and exercise. Childlessness is a great sorrow to many women. It is like a curse from Nature, who bids all creatures to be fruitful. Often the conditions which cause childlessness are removable. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has brought joy to many a woman by giving her the happiness of motherhood. It gives to the womanly organs vigor and vitality, removes local obstructions, and practically does away with the pains and pangs of maternity.

There is no alcohol or narcotic in "Favorite Prescription." "I have never written you how grateful I am to you for your help in securing good health and one of the sweetest, dearest, thirteen pound girls that ever came into a home," writes Mrs. M. Yodine, of 607 South Liberty St., Galesburg, Ill. "I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' Before I had taken four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I was a new woman. I cannot make pen describe my heart-felt gratitude." To keep the bowels regular use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

and charge to ditch and water-courses.—Carried.

Brien—Williams—That the sum of $75, be appropriated to be placed in the hands of reception committee to make a suitable presentation to Father Sinnett and Gunner Baird, recently of S. Africa.—Carried.

F. L. Arnold refunded $1, and D. Conway $1 error on Coll. Roll.

Wilson—Balmer—That in receiving resolution of Ridgetown council expressive of thanks for use of hall we in reply say, we are pleased to share our accommodation with them as long as they find it necessary and convenient to use it and a copy of this resolution be sent to Ridgetown council.—Carried.

CURLING CLUB
ASKS A REFUND.

The Minister of Militia Will be Asked to Give Just Recompense for the Drill Shed Improvements.

The Chatham Curling Club have prepared a petition which will be forwarded to the Minister of Militia. The document sets forth that the Curling Club have expended $800 on the additions to the two ends of the drill shed, raising the floor, leveling it and making other repairs. Further, the club had during their occupancy of the shed, paid $50 in rent and kept the building insured. The building was also kept in repair by the club, whereas had it been vacant it would have become sadly dilapidated. After setting forth all these facts, the petition states that this amount is a large rental to have paid and the Minister is asked to refund whatever part of this sum he may deem right. The matter will be submitted to the government for consideration at once.

THE SATURDAY PLANET.

To-morrow's issue of The Planet will, as usual on Saturdays, be a seven-column paper and comprise many interesting features.

Dr. McKeough, in a continuation of his delightful diary contributions, takes Planet readers on a visit to Amsterdam, the picturesque commercial capital of Holland, and presents them with many entertaining views of its characteristics, customs and history.

Alister McKay writes an important letter upon the proposed Kent county system of radial roads, with plan of route annexed.

The Planet's many weekly exchanges are responsible for a large list of county doings as clipped from their chronicles.

Chats with citizens provide a column of interesting interviews on current topics.

The Maple City's educational institutions submit their quota of happenings within the halls of learning.

Those interested in athletics will follow with pleasure the brief description of local doings in that line.

The fraternal organizations will find a department devoted to lodge room records.

The "church chimes," reproduction of Talmage's latest sermon and regular instalment of The Planet's serial story will be included as usual, with the customary record of all the latest news happenings, local, national and foreign.

THE REMOVAL OF HEAD ST. SPUR.

Last evening Mayor Sulman and Ald. McCoig and Mounter met with representatives of the Grand Trunk and Lake Erie Railroads at the Hotel Garmer and held an informal consultation with them. The matters discussed were the proposed opening up of Scane street, over the G. T. R. track to St. Patrick street, and the removal of the Head street Lake Erie spur to an adjoining alley.

The representatives decline to discuss the results of their meeting, which was purely informal, but it is understood that both projects receive due consideration at the hands of the railroad representatives and will be submitted to headquarters on receipt of the official civic applications.

The probabilities seem to be that the city will be granted both privileges petitioned for.

ALD. M'COIG STILL STANDS

By His Guns in the Matter of the Proposed Grant to the Humane Officer.

He Regrets That He Cannot Please
Everybody, but Thinks the Poor Taxpayer Should Come First.

Ald. Arch. McCoig, whose recent action in conducting the civic opposition to the proposed grant of $250 to Humane Officer Dagueau has brought him in for the special attention of so many of The Planet's correspondents, was interviewed upon his position by this journal this morning.

"I have no desire to mingle in the newspaper argument of the matter," he replied to the enquiry, smiling. "I am, however, sorry to have to defend the views of any citizen, more especially as humane effort towards dumb animals appeals to me as a noble cause—nowwithstanding your fair correspondence to the contrary."

"My position is briefly this: When I sought support from the ratepayers at the recent election I obligated myself to be as economical in the expenditure of their money as was at all consistent with the best interests of the city. In my opinion I would have broken faith had I voted for a $250 grant at the first meeting when I really deemed it unnecessary."

"I am sorry the citizens are not unanimously in accord with the stand I took. I like to please everybody, you know, but we all took an oath of office which provides for our acting in what we regard the best interests of our city."

"But say," continued the young alderman, "I'm awfully pleased to see that the ladies take an interest in the council and their proceedings, although your correspondent of the fair sex does differ with me. I regret her unfortunate estimate of my capabilities, but you can assure her that I'd be more than willing to take the job for the sake of a swell new suit of clothes. It's more than I've got out of two years' council service, and there you're always in danger of losing the poor suit you have and having the clothes torn off your back, too."

"Seriously, I believe it's not right to give such a sum of money for work volunteered last year, and which our efficient police force can and do attend to it, for I notice information against offenders are preferred by them. And I think, if the humane and generous 'Girl of the Period' will take a few moments' thought of the 'poor' men and women, too—who are even in our wanted prosperous city, blistering their hands and racking their bodies to gather the money to pay promptly their heavy taxes, she will heartily agree with me, too."

Yesterday.

A Sketch of His Important Life and the Characteristics That Made It Such.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—Sir Frank Smith, who has been gradually fading away for the past year, died at noon yesterday, according to the despatch to The Planet, surrounded by the members of his family. His illness had reduced the once vigorous frame to a mere skeleton, and the end was not unexpected.

The senator was born at Richhill, county Anagh, Ireland, in 1822, and when a boy of ten came to Canada with his parents. He learned the business of store keeping and opened up a business of his own in London in 1849. In 1867 the firm removed to Toronto, and Sir Frank continued his connection with it till 1891. It was as the chief owner of the old Toronto street railway that Sir Frank was best known to the citizens, and his famous contest with the municipality as to the franchise in 1891 was one of the most stirring incidents in his career.

In public life his place was a distinguished one. He served in the rebellion of 1837 as a volunteer and subsequently became a captain of militia. In 1864 he was a delegate from the London Board of Trade to the Detroit trade convention. He served the city of London as alderman, and in 1866 became its mayor. He was a prominent member of the Roman Catholic Church, and was one of the originators of the Ontario Catholic League, which was formed in 1871. In the same year he was summoned to the Senate of Canada by Lord Lisgar.

In July, 1892 he was sworn in as a member of the privy council, and was a member of the Conservative cabinet led successively by Sir John Macdonald, Sir John Abbott, Sir John Thompson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper. In August, 1891, Sir Hector Langevin retired from the position of minister of public works and the deceased succeeded him in the portfolio, which he retained until January, 1892. On May 24, 1894, he received the honor of knighthood. Sir Frank was connected with many large corporations. He was president of the Niagara Navigation Co., president of the Dominion Bank, president of the London and Ontario Loan company, president of the Ontario Jockey Club, president of the Home Savings Co., vice-president of the Consumers' Gas Co., vice-president of the Dominion Telegraph Co., a director of the North American Life Co., and a director of the Toronto General Trusts Co. Lady Smith, who was a daughter of John O'Higgins, of Stratford, died in 1896. Two daughters and a son survive—Mrs. John Foy, Mrs. Bruce McDonald and James Austin Smith.

The Election of Provisional Officers of the Board Proceeded With.

The provisional directors of the proposed binder twine company, met in the old town hall yesterday afternoon. R. Smith, Dover, one of the directors appointed, did not care to act, and D. A. Hutchinson, the next in order, took his place.

Following provisional officers were elected—

President—John Houston.

Vice-President—M. J. Wilson.

Directors—Alister McKay, D. A. Hutchinson, and Jas. Chinnick.

Secretary Treas.—T. C. Smith.

Solicitors—Scane, Houston, Stone & Scane.

A report was in circulation yesterday that Messrs. Henderson & Cumming were promoting the new binder twine company with a view to unloading some old machinery on the stockholders.

Mr. Henderson was seen this morning and warmly repudiated the report. He said: "The company will have new machinery of the latest pattern. It is made in New York. Mr. Cumming and myself are engaged to-day on the contract to be made between us and the directors. The contract has to be agreed to by the provisional board of directors and no money passed until the machinery is here and the directors are satisfied it is all right. J. B. Rankin, Q. C., is drawing up the contract for us, and Scane, Houston, Stone & Scane are acting for the provisional directors. Who ever has started such a report knows little about the manufacture of binder twine. There isn't a machine made that isn't in use. We couldn't and wouldn't even attempt to float a company if we had old machinery to offer."

Alister McKay, of the directorate, was also interviewed. He said the proposition was to supply the latest machinery, to put it up, furnish belting and electric light plant on the premises for the sum of $28,450. The directors were not prepared to make any bargain hurriedly and had appointed Messrs. Houston and Wilson to visit Toronto and Brantford and secure expert evidence on the quality and cost of such machinery as was required. These gentlemen are now away on their mission.

BOTHWELL.

Jan. 18.—Miss E. McKinnon, of Glenora, was the guest of her sister, Miss J. McKinnon, during Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Drew spent Sunday last at Florence.

It is sad to note the death of Mary E. Regan, wife of Wm. Regan, post master, on Saturday, Jan. 13th, after a lingering illness of some months. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing family in their great loss of a loving mother and wife. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 10 o'clock to the R. C. church, thence to Wardsville cemetery.

Among those who attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Regan were: Mrs. D. Coughlin, Mrs. B. Coughlin, Mr. and Mrs. C. Regan, St. Thomas, E. Coughlin, Mr. D. Coughlin, Mrs. Doyle, Mr. Wm. Regan, Mrs. M. Kearns, and Dr. W. J. Stevenson, of London; Miss Johnnie, Mrs. Jno. Dillon, Chatham; Mr. P. Magan, Mrs. M. Magan, Ridgewood; Mr. B. Coughlin, of Mount Carmel, W. J. Scully, of Detroit. Owing to illness of both of deceased's sisters, Mrs. F. Beachley and Mrs. W. J. Scully, they were unable to attend.

Next Sunday, at 3 p. m., Rev. Mr. Cobblestick, will conduct a service at the Zone hall, Evangelist Mould will also probably take part.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jerome, who have been visiting their sons in Detroit and Algoma for some time past, returned home this week.

Fire broke out on Wednesday evening last in the frame house of Mrs. Harcourt. The fire had got considerable headway before the brigade arrived. The upper story of the house and kitchen are ruined. The household effects were mostly saved. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $250.

Mrs. Wm. Kingston was called to Cleveland on Monday on account of her mother's severe illness.

Jack Reid was a Detroit visitor on Thursday last.

Miss H. McMurich and Miss M. Cowan, of Toronto, are the guests of Miss McMurich's brother, Dr. B. McMurich.

PATHETIC SCENE
IN A COURT ROOM.

The Unfortunate Wife Witnesses Her Former Husband Wed Another.

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 18.—Wm. Ebel, of St. Louis, was before the court to answer to a charge of wife abandonment. He was accompanied by Mrs. Deliah Watkins, a handsome widow. In the court sat the prisoner's wife, Lizzie Ebel, with a babe in her arms and two bright little girls by her side, witnesses against Ebel. Ebel showed a certificate of record from the St. Louis Circuit Court in which he had been granted an absolute divorce. Ebel was immediately discharged. He then reproached the bar with Mrs. Watkins. The two were at once married by the same judge who was to have heard the trial. Mrs. Ebel No. 1 was dumfounded. Finally the court started away, and the mother, weak with rage, sank to the floor and sobbed bitterly.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT
AT OUR COLLEGIATE.

Admirable Entertainment a Feature of the Occasion—Splendid Achievements of the Scholastic Year—The Medallists Rewarded.

The forty-fifth annual commencement of the Chatham Collegiate Institute was successfully celebrated in the Collegiate Hall by an admirable program—musical and literary—and the presentation of the awards of the scholastic year.

Owing to the inability of Prof. Grant to be present on Dec. 14th, the day originally appointed for the exercises, they were postponed until last evening. In consequence many of the prize-winners were not able to be present and enjoy the pleasure of receiving publicly their rewards for many months toil.

As in former years, so in 1920, the pupils of the C. C. I. were exceedingly successful at the departmental examinations held in July and their work, as shown by the prospectus of results, was highly satisfactory to both teachers and taught. The teaching staff of the C. C. I. is one of the best in the province and the school is thoroughly equipped throughout with all modern educational appliances. Perhaps it is necessary to add that the pupils are the finest and most intelligent class of young people in the Dominion. Principal Patterson is to be congratulated on the educational organization of which he is head and the honors which the pupils always bring to the school at the government tests.

The postponed commencement exercises attracted a large assemblage of the parents, pupils and the Maple City's cultured citizens.

Thos. Scullard presided in his customary efficient manner and made the following presentation:

THE MEDALLISTS.

The Matthew Wilson gold medal—Dwight A. Walker, head of the school.

The Matthew Wilson gold medal for first certificate—Ethel Park.

The Wm. Gray & Sons silver medal—C. R. McColl, first in form III.

The James Holmes silver medal—Emma Shreve, first in form II.

The Edward Jordan silver medal—Myrtle Tillson, first in commercial form.

Mr. Scullard briefly addressed the successful students complimenting them on their work and urging them not to stop but to press on, seeking to gain greater knowledge and attain to higher heights of learning.

Mrs. John Cooper contributed two excellent solos during the evening, and the talented soprano soloist was most heartily recalled after each number. Wm. H. Backlin played the accompaniments.

Mr. Scullard introduced Bernard Bigsby, M. A., who gave his celebratory lecture on "Dr. Arnold and Rugby School." He has delivered this same lecture in Chatham before, but the address lost nothing in the repetition and from the introduction to Rugby and from the introduction to Dr. Arnold from public life, Mr. Bigsby held the undivided attention of the large audience and carried his hearers with him in his bright word pictures of English schools and customs. He is best described as a big man, well built, of an erect carriage. Metaphorically speaking, the learned and graceful English scholar waded right in to his subject. His voice has a kindly ring and his style is quaintly humorous, and his initial sentences were at once the close attention of the audience. He took for granted that all had read "Tom Brown," but cautioned the young ladies who had not done so to peruse the book at once, as it was "all about a boy, and a nice boy at that." Rugby, the school over which Dr. Arnold presided, was admirably described with all the pleasurable memories and associations clinging to the grounds and buildings of this ancient educational centre. The school to the retirement of a past church was worthy of its doors was the simple yet immortalizing inscription: "To the memory of him who was loved by the boys."

Fagging was a great feature of the English schools a hundred years ago and it had been roundly condemned. The Americans had even attributed the hazing at West Point to the old English custom of fagging, but in the opinion of Mr. Bigsby, the custom was one of the best systems ever adopted in boarding schools, if the seniors were considered. The majority were the sons of the nobility who had been brought up to believe that they were the lords of creation, and nothing could throw them up against the stern realities of life and make men of them better than the fagging system.

Winchester school, where Dr. Arnold was educated, received some attention from the Detroit educationist. At this seat of learning metal shields were hung in the library and great men were asked to inscribe some great thought on them. Carlyle had been there and had written, "Great men are punishment marks in the text of life." His words seemed in commendation of the great teacher, Dr. Arnold, who had gone to take charge of Rugby when but thirty years of age. On his arrival he found the walls adorned with wooden boards, on which were placarded the rules of the school. His first act was to order their destruction and in place of the many rules, he gave the boys but one—"Be earnest."

It was not long before the students idolized the headmaster. His success was due to two things, he was always reliable and truthful himself and he trusted the boys and put them on their honor. He had had his difficulties to contend with, and although success eventually had crowned his efforts, his health failed and at fifty, after 20 years as headmaster, Dr. Arnold resigned. The work he had done had cost him his life, and three days after sorrowing England had received his resignation, the world's greatest school-master passed away.

The following have been the winners of the gold medal presented by M. Wilson, Q. C., to the pupil standing highest at the senior matriculation examinations at the C. C. I., during the past fourteen years:—

HAS A STRONG
PRACTICAL IDEA.

A Correspondent Offers to Contribute to a Fund to Pay the Humane Officer.

Editor Planet,—

Dear Sir,—Permit me to add a few words to the discussion re salary of Humane Officer. I regret Mr. Quinn is not in favor of the council paying Mr. Dagneau, as his opinion as a rather heavy taxpayer will have considerable influence. It seems to me that for a so-called Christian community we are a peculiarly brutal one. The cruelty that one may see practiced on dumb animals throughout this city every day of the week is enough to make one exclaim, "O Lord, how long!" In what way do we differ from the old time North except that he tortured those who could, to some extent, resist, while we torture those who cannot resist?

Much of it is due to almost criminal thoughtlessness, e.g., a young farmer, not long ago was tying his horse to a post in front of my place, and the poor brute was checked so high that about all he could see in front of were the stars. I said, "You must loosen that check line if you tie your horse in front of my office." "Why?" he replied. "Well, how would you like to stand for two or three hours with your head geared up like that?" "Oh, I didn't think of that," and he loosened the check.

Now, it is all very well for Mr. Quinn to say, "The police do the work." It is a fact that the police don't do the work, and what is more, won't do it.

It would take one man 24 hours a day to do the work properly, besides working overtime. Mr. Dagneau is naturally fond of animals and can feel for them where a policeman has not might overlook the cruelty. I was passing along Wellington street a couple of days ago and saw a boy of about six years of age leading a half starved (nothing uncommon about that) dog, and holding a six foot driving whip, which he regularly applied secundum artem to the dog. Now that boy could not have had that whip without the knowledge of at least one of his parents, and yet if you were to accuse that parent of natural cruelty it would cause a pointed surprise.

I would rather see Mr. Dagneau hold his position at $1,000 a year—being a genuine lover of the brute beast, than see another man who was only working for the money, get $100.

As actions speak louder than words, I would say I will willingly subscribe $5 towards a fund (providing enough others subscribe to make the total amount $200) to be presented to the council and by them to be paid to Mr. Dagneau as salary. I am also ready and willing at all times to form one of a committee of three to perform that most disagreeable of all work, soliciting subscriptions for the purpose. Mr. Dagneau has shown himself to be the right man in the right place. Let's keep him there. There is no reason why he should do this work for nothing any more than the rest of us.

APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT.

Ex-Water Commissioner Quinn Will Assume the Duties of Humane Officer Without Salary or Uniform.

The "Girl of the Period" Has Aroused His Curiosity and he Trusts he Has Won Her Over by Adopting Her Suggestion.

To the Editor of The Planet.

Sir,—I was pleased to note in your issue last evening, the remarks made by "A Girl of the Period," in reference to the past services of Humane Officer Dagneau. She is quite right when she says, I admit the energy Mr. Dagneau has displayed, and he is entitled to the thanks of the public, but nothing more, as he proffered his services, gratis, for this position, and as he was a former officer of the Humane Society, he must have known something of the work required. If he spent money driving into the country he did it of his own accord, and was not requested by our council to do so, and such expense should be borne by the county and not by our city.

I am not in any way trying to depreciate the services of Mr. Dagneau, I simply ask that the council do as they pledged themselves to do before the election, viz., to do all they could within reason to keep down our taxes, and how can we excuse them if at the very beginning of their term they create such a paid office. Mr. Dagneau has not been wronged in any way as he voluntarily offered his services free, knowing what he is now doing, and he has the option of retiring if it is not satisfactory. If this position is going to be a paid one, then give it to some more needy person, for I know there are a number of men in this city, fit as capable as Mr. Dagneau, who need the perquisites of the office more.

Now, Mr. Editor, I fail to see where the sarcasm almost becomes humorous, but she fails to tell us where our council might make up the loss were they to allow Mr. Dagneau any salary, for last year our taxes were 25 mills and where a frontage tax was paid they were very much higher, hence if the council conformed to the wishes of "A Girl of the Period," at this early stage, what may we expect when the rate is struck?

The young lady should assume some other "m m de plume" for the word "period" hardly fits her case. I would not say anything rude or sarcastic to a girl, but it is questionable whether she is a girl, for sometimes girls are inclined to yet think themselves so, long after they have become women, and should she deem me worthy of a reply, I trust she will let us know who she is, for there is no doubt but that she is a friend of the brute, and we should know more of her.

Yours etc,
FRED. F. QUINN.

P. S.—Following up the suggestion of "A Girl of the Period" I wish to apply for the position of Humane Officer for the city of Chatham for 1921. If my request is granted I promise to discharge the duties to the best of my ability without any cost to the city and I do not require any uniform nor will I ask for any.

The Mystery of Agatha Webb.

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN.

"This I let her speak what words she would and tell, as she was able, the secret tragedy of her life.

"It is a sacred story to me, and if you must know let it be from her own words in the letters she left behind her. She only told me that to save me from the fate of the children who had preceded me—the five little girls and boys who had perished almost at birth in her arms—she had parted from me in early infancy to Mrs. Sutherland, then mourning the sudden death of her only child; that this had been done secretly and under circumstances calculated to deceive Mr. Sutherland, so that he had never known
I was not his own child, and she enjoined me never to enlighten him if by any sacrifice on my part I could rightfully avoid it; that she was happy in having me hear the truth before she died; that the joy which this gave her was so great that she did not regret her fatal act, violent and uncalculated as it was, for it had showed her my heart and allowed me to read hers.
Then she talked of my father, by whom
I mean he whom you call Philémon, and she made me promise I would care
for him to the last with tenderness, saying that I would be able to do this without seeming impropriety, since she had willed me all her fortune under this proviso. Finally she gave me a key and, pointing out where the rest of her money lay hidden, bade me carry it away as her last gift, together with the package of letters I would find with it. And when I had taken these and given her back the key she told me that but for one thing she would die happy, and, though her strength and breath were fast falling, she made me understand that she was worried about the Zabels, who had not come, according to a sacred custom between them, to celebrate the anniversary of her wedding, and prayed me to see the two old gentlemen before I slept, since nothing but death or dire distress would have kept them from gratifying the one whim of my father's failing mind. I promised, and with perfect peace in her face she pointed to the dagger in her breast.

"But before I could lay my hand upon it she called for Betsy. 'I want her to hear me declare before I go,' said she,
'that this stroke was delivered by myself upon myself.' But when I rose to look for Betsy I found that the shock of her mistress' fatal act had killed her and that only her dead body was lying across the window sill of the adjoining room. It was a chance that resulted in the only witness who could testify to my innocence, in case my presence in this house of death should become known, and, realizing all the

"Oh, the fairy tale!"
Was it Amabel who had spoken?
Some yet thought so and looked her way, but they only beheld a sweet, tear stained face turned with an air of moving appeal upon Frederick as if begging pardon for the wicked doubts which had driven him to this defense.

Frederick met that look with one so severe it partook of harshness. Then, resuming his testimony, he said:
"It is of the Zabel brothers I must now speak, and of how one of them, James by name, came to be involved in this affair.

"When I left my new found mother,
I was in such a state of mind that I passed the room in which my new found father sat sleeping, with scarcely so much as a glance. But as I hastened on toward the quarter where the Zabels lived some compunctions of pity for his desolate state caused me to falter in my rapid flight, so that I did not reach the house quite as quickly as I might otherwise have done. When I did, I found it dark, as I might reasonably have expected; but, remembering the extreme anxiety which my mother had shown in their regard, even in her dying moments, I approached the front door and was about to knock when I found it open. Greatly astonished, I at once passed in and, seeing my way perfectly in the moonlight, entered the room on the left, the door of which also stood open. It was the second house I had entered unannounced that night,
and in this, as in the other, I encountered a man sitting asleep by the table.

"Going up to him, I saw it to be the elder of the two, John Zabel, and, perceiving that he was suffering from food and in a condition of extreme misery,
I took out the salt pill my hand enclosed in my overcoat pocket and laid it on the table by his side. As I did so he gave a sigh, but did not wake; and, satisfied that I had done all that was wise and all that even my mother would expect of me under the circumstances, and fearing to encounter the other brother if I lingered, I hastened away and took the shortest path home. Had I been more of a man, or if my visit to Mrs. Webb had been actuated by a more communicable motive, I would have gone at once to the good man who believed me to be of his own flesh and blood and told him of the strange and heartrending adventure which had changed the whole tenor of my thoughts and life and begged his advice as to what I had better do under the difficult circumstances in which I found myself placed. But the memory of a thousand past ingratitude, together with the knowledge of the shock which he could not fail to receive on learning at this late day and under conditions at once so tragic and full of menace that the child which his long buried wife had once placed in his arms as his own was neither of her blood or his, rose up between us and caused me not only to attempt silence, but to secrete in the adjoining woods
the money I had received in the vain hope that all visible connection between myself and my mother's tragic death would thus be lost. You see, I had not calculated on Miss Amabel Page."

The flash he received from that lady's eyes startled the crowd and gave Sweetwater, already under the influence of shock of mingled surprise and wonder, his first definite idea that he had never rightly understood the relations between these two and that something besides justice had actuated Amabel in her treatment of this young man. This feeling was shared by others, and a reaction set in in his favor which even affected the officials who were conducting the inquiry. The facts of the difference of manner now assumed by the coroner and by the more easily impressed Sweetwater, who had not yet learned the indispensable art of hiding his feelings. Frederick himself felt the change and showed it by the look of relief and growing confidence he cast at Agnes.

Of the questions and answers which now passed between him and the various members of the jury I need give no account. They but emphasized facts already known and produced but little change in the general feeling, which was now one of suppressed pity for all who had been drawn into the meshes of this tragic mystery. When he was allowed to resume his seat, the name of Miss Amabel Page was again called.

She rose with a bound. Naught that she had anticipated had occurred; facts of which she could know nothing had changed the aspect of affairs and made the position of Frederick something so remote from any she could have imagined that she was still in the maze of the numberless conflicting emotions which these revelations were calculated to call out in one who had risked all on the hazard of a die and lost. She did not even know at this moment whether she was glad or sorry he could explain so cleverly his anomalous position. She had caught the look he had cast at Agnes, and, while this angered her, it did not greatly modify her opinion that he was destined for herself, for, however other people might feel,
she did not for a moment believe his story. She had not a pure enough heart to do so. To her all self sacrifice was an anomaly.

To be Continued.

I don't like these cold, precise, perfect people, who in order not to speak wrong, never speak at all, and in order not to do wrong, never do anything.—W. H. Bishop.

BACKACHES

Most women complain of backaches. They are tired because they work too much; from early morning till late at night. Thousands of women have been cured of Backaches and other symptoms of a similar character, by the use alone of Dr. Coderre's Red Pills. This is gospel truth. We do not claim that they will cure everything, but simply female troubles, and these they will cure more quickly and more cheaply than any of the old-fashioned liquid remedies.
We ask those ladies who doubt what we say to write to any of those whose testimonials we publish.

Mrs. H. M. Mathewson, 61 Wilson Street, Providence, R. I., writes—
"I was suffering from a most severe case of female weakness. I had backaches and womb trouble. I could get nothing to cure me until I tried Dr. Coderre's Red Pills for Pale and Weak Women and I am to-day a healthy woman. I am pleased to recommend this remedy to all suffering women."

Mrs. G. E. Elliott, 28 Michigan Avenue,
Detroit, Mich., writes—
"I used to suffer terribly from backaches. My system was completely run down. I was weak, always tired and discouraged until I took Dr. Coderre's Red Pills, which cured me and made me a new woman. I will never be without them again, as I find them cheap and very reliable."

Mrs. E. Angers, 708 N. Van Buren St., Bay City, Mich., writes—
"I am more able to do my work to-day than I have been for years. The main cause of my trouble was my kidneys and terrible backaches. Dr. Coderre's Red Pills are the remedy that has cured me. I have tried many other ones, but all without effect. I was surprised at the good this remedy has done me and I am pleased to recommend it to all sick women."

Mrs. Chas. O'Brien, 75 Lake Avenue, Manchester, N. H., writes—
"When I began to take Dr. Coderre's Red Pills I had not much faith in them. A friend recommended them to me. How I wish I had known this remedy before. I had to work in the mill and I was suffering from female weakness in the worst way. I am to-day cured and am gaining in flesh.
My appetite is good and I am much stronger."

Women who will keep on suffering when such a remedy exists can surely have no excuse. Dr.
Coderre's Red Pills are for women only and are only intended for legitimate use. They are not intended for any bad purpose. We refer all ladies who have been suffering for years to our celebrated specialists who will be pleased to send them such advice as they require; or, if possible, they are invited to call at our offices. The consultation is free and the advice given is the best that the greatest experience on the continent can guarantee.

Send us your name and address and we will mail you free our Doctor's book, Pale and Weak Women. We call your attention to the fact that Dr. Coderre's Red Pills are not a purgative. If you are constipated, and wish to get the best results from the Red Pills, take Dr. Coderre's Purgative Tablets, and you will be surprised at the results.

WEANING PIGS.

How to Bridge Over the Critical Period in Swine Life.

The critical period in a pig's life is when it is deprived of the mother's milk, says Theodore Louis in Farm, Stock and Home, and how to furnish a substitute for it is a problem often difficult to solve. It is reasonable to say that the growth of pigs while nursing is vigorous, healthy, well fed sow and the uniform development of flesh, muscle and bone can scarcely be maintained when nature's food is withdrawn. But every observing feeder knows that pigs receive their milk warm and often and that their digestive powers are never overtaxed, and it is failure to observe this that often makes the weaning period an "unlucky" one.

It is good economy to feed the sow freely during the nursing period, even if it does seem wasteful to feed so much for the little milk she gives. But it must be remembered that it is the whole litter that is being fed, and when they are 4 or 5 weeks old they need a deal of it. But the feed must be of a quality and quantity that will not cause derangement of the bowels of the little ones. Such things are better prevented than cured. Feed three times a day at regular hours and just enough, having none left in the trough and yet have the appetite satisfied. This requires observation, but it is necessary to success. Where Tom feeds today, Dick tomorrow and Harry the next day, neither knowing nor caring about quantity, pig feeding is a lottery, and blanks are often drawn.

Most every farm has a surplus of milk, and too often it is thought that this alone will substitute sow's milk, and it would to some degree if fed sweet, but this is next to impossible. If milk is dumped into some old will barrel that is never scalded out and the receptacle of kitchen off, vinegar, soap, decayed vegetables and other things too numerous to mention, it is a dangerous substitute for mother's milk. While pigs may become accustomed to sour milk, there is a wide variance in its acidity, and the extreme sourness should be avoided.

Nor should milk in any form be fed to youngsters in undue proportions. Shorts and cornmeal in equal parts should be mixed with it into a thick slop, or the corn may be shelled and soaked and fed by being scattered on a clean floor.

Of course where good pasture is at hand less grain is required, but no greater mistake can be made than to stint pigs by depending entirely on pasture, for the first hundred pounds of growth costs the least. Ever bear in mind that when the pig is not adding to growth and weight every day it is a boarder that fails to pay its bill.

Do Not Feed Together.

We never favored the idea of keeping hogs and cattle together at fattening time, for it makes the feed lots so filthy in damp weather to have the hogs rooting and wallowing, says Cyrus Greene in The Prairie Farmer. The cattle sheds and sleeping places in the pens are kept so much dirtier and cleaner if the hogs are shut out, which adds to the comfort of the cattle, and comfort means thrift, and thrift means more profit to the owner. Where there are no hogs to root over and waste the manure there will be more of it at hauling time. For the sanitary condition of the swine we would strongly urge keeping them away from the cattle. When cattle are on full feed of corn, their bowels are in a feverish and loosened condition much of the time, their blood is thick and at a high temperature, many impurities being taken away from the body by the blood and discharged with the excrements, and I never could call that good hog feed. I like pork and sausage, but do not care for them from hogs raised on that kind of feed. When cattle and hogs run together, there are always a few hogs crippled, and occasionally one is killed. This loss is avoided when they are yarded alone. You are probably wondering by this time what you will do with the waste from your cattle, for many think that the waste from the cattle represents the profit. We advise you to take four-sevenths of the amount of grain fed when the cattle and hogs were running together and grind it three-sevenths should be fed to the hogs, grinding a part of it for them for a change. When it is not freezing weather, the corn should be soaked from one feed to the next. Empty all dishes and use fresh water each time. If the dishes sour, put a little salt in the bottom to keep them sweet, as sour hog feed is not healthful. All this may look like "tony" farming. Well, it is, and the pride and abnegation of the American people cause them to be on the constant lookout for more modern and profitable ways of doing things. I have been managing my cattle and hogs in the above way for several years and am suited with it and think if others would try it one season they would not go back to the old way.

Big Mares.

The breeding of draft horses of extreme weight is not likely to be overdone in this country for a long time. The fact is there are not any too many mares that can produce the top weight kind. A good, big draft mare is, therefore, worth money to the man who is fixed for raising heavy horses. Breed her to a good, big stallion, feed her and the foal plenty of good growing feed, such as oats, bran and clover hay, with some corn, too, and there is no danger of an undersized colt. Draft blood is something, but not everything. Lack of feed in early life accounts for a whole lot of draft bred horses that are only "chubbs" of 1,400 pounds or less. Undersized nearly always means underfed at some stage of the game.—National Stockman.

INJUSTICE DONE TO LADY MINTO.

A Montreal Despatch to a New York Journal Arouses Much Indignation.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—A yellow special from Montreal to the New York Herald is causing needless indignation here. It states that "A movement is on foot among a certain section of the women of Canada which may lead to a social war against Lady Minto, the wife of the Governor-General." The cause of this is alleged to be that instead of furthering Lady Aberdeen's Victorian Order of Nurses, she (Lady Minto) started a hospital on her own account in Winnipeg.

The despatch is not only, of course, incorrect, but is a great injustice to Lady Minto, who, as Ottawans well know, is thoroughly in sympathy with the Victorian Order. As to the statement that Lady Minto is to establish an opposition order of nurses in Manitoba, the story is made out of whole cloth. The cottage hospital mentioned is a station of the Victorian Order, recently established by Miss McLeod, one of the most earnest nurses of the Victorian Order.

MR. MARSHALL TO MR. MORRISON.

The Former Disputes the Figures Supplied in the Communication of the Latter.

Editor Planet.—Dear Sir,—Permit me, through your columns, to answer a letter which appeared in The Planet over the signature of J. J. Morrison, and dated Jan. 2nd, 1901, which for false statements and misrepresentation has everything I have read for some time. In this letter he gives in a way that suits himself the amounts that each division is to get in grants in the past two years, which he has expended in the past year. Now Mr. Morrison knows that this is not true and I believe that he knew when he published that letter that it was not true; as he had told him that at least one of the grants which he was counting to their credit was never passed by the council; which was a grant of $500 to assist in building a bridge over the Teton River, which he had not done. I also showed him in the minutes of council the action of the council upon this grant, which should have convinced him. But he would not be convinced until Saturday before the election, when Mr. Hickey saw him and told him that he was wrong. He says Div. No. 6, Raleigh and Dover pay $600 and give him $200 to be expended in procuring seed for now in the vicinity of Merlin.

Now, I say the above amounts are wrong, the first a great deal too small; but of course it suited Mr. Morrison's purpose to put them that way. Raleigh and Dover have got in grants of $200 each two years over made up as follows:—$200 for gravel, $100 to Raleigh Agricultural Society, and between $200 and $250 expended by the county in building sidewalks in the township of Dover, from the city limits to the House of Refuge.

Now, in the years '97 and '98, when Mr. Morrison was your commissioner, I cannot find where either Raleigh or Dover got one cent in grants, although there were a lot of grants given. At the June session of '97 we find the following motion on page 37:

Moved by Mr. Hickey, seconded by Mr. Morrison, that $250, heretofore granted to the village of Merlin to build a bridge over the Teton River, be given to the township between Raleigh and Tilbury East, and that Mr. Morrison and the mover be commissioners to expend the same. Referred to B. and C. Com.

On page 91 of the same session the B. and C. committee make three grants amounting to $300, Tilbury East and Romney getting the lion's share, $200 on their towns; but the lion's share got nothing. In fact the only money that came to Raleigh from the county in those years was what Mr. Morrison drew for his services as commissioner and of that as there is no doubt but what we got our share as a comparison of the accounts of Mr. Rankin and Mr. Morrison as passed by the finance committee show the following:

Mr. Rankin for two years' services on com. mileage $44.30.

Mr. Morrison for same $175.90.

I sincerely thank the electors of Div. No. 6 for the very liberal support given me. Considering the circumstances and the slight salary I received, it is almost a wonder that I received any votes at all. Yours truly,

L. R. MARSHALL.

A DEAD BODY FOUND IN A TRUNK.

A Ghastly Discovery Made by the Police Officers of New York City.

New York, Jan. 18.—The police found a trunk containing the body of a man in the East River at the foot of Pier 11. The body had been placed in the trunk face down, and the coat and shirt on it were covered with blood. The trunk was green and had no marks on it.

The body was identified by a woman as that of Michael Weisberger, of this city.

The police believe that the crime was committed in a house, probably a tenement, and that the murderer knew that Weisberger carried jewelry about him. Neither the table-cover nor the trunk was the victim's property. It has been ascertained that he left the place where he was employed at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and was seen alive at noon. He had two hundred dollars' worth of jewelry with him at the time. He was a married man, and had a large family.

Thursly does the Comber Herald issue the marriage license—Before the month is out it is stated that many young ladies will sing that touching ballad "I left my happy home for you."

INTENSE SUFFERING.

FROM DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLE.

Instantly Relieved and Permanently Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A New Discovery, but not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in his stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in his back, shoulders and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night."

"I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured."

WILL GO TO THE JURY TO-DAY.

Evidence in the Sensational Bosschietter Murder Case
Concluded.

Striking Scenes Connected With the Closing Arguments of Counsel.

Patterson, N. J., Jan. 17.—For the entire session to-day the opposing counsel in the Jennie Bosschietter murder trial appealed to the jury. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Ralph Shaw began the summation up for the state. It was expected that Mr. Emly would do this, but he merely offered in evidence a part of Jennie Bosschietter's wardrobe.

Mr. Shaw, in summing up, claimed that the state had proven its case, and that in every contention had been sustained. He denounced the accused, who, he said, had taken the girl out to her death like a dog. He demanded that the jury render such a verdict as the law and evidence demanded, one of guilty in the highest degree.

Then ex-Judge Francis Scott led in the summing up for the defense. He was followed by Michael Dunn. Their addresses were very similar. They declared that no case had been made out against Walter McAllister, Wm. Death and Andrew Campbell. They ridiculed the expert testimony and branded the hackman, Southrop, as a man of the lowest type, and of the basest motives. They maintained that the story told by him was not supported by evidence, and that it was a lie. Mr. Scott made a point that if Southrop's story were to be believed at all he should be a prisoner accused of participation in the crime.

JUDGE'S INTERRUPTION.
Mr. Scott was arguing that the state had failed to prove its first count, that of assault, when Judge Dixon interrupted him, saying:

"Before you proceed I want the jury to understand that if a person were struck or choked in order to accomplish the result, the person or violence is a part of the assault. The jury must not be misled on that point."

The counsel for the defense declared that it had not been proven that choral was administered to the girl, and maintained that it had not been proven.

AT THE THEATRE.

"THE CADET GIRL."

"The Cadet Girl" will be the attraction at the Grand to-night. It is hardly likely that any theatre-goer in this city does not already know something about this musical comedy, its gorgeous productions and phenomenal career. It was first produced last July in the Herald Square Theatre, New York, where despite all sorts of managerial opposition and the hottest kind of weather, it crowded the house for two months and then was taken off at the Herald Square solely because other bookings for the house had been made prior to that of "The Cadet Girl." Long runs to the same sort of business followed in Philadelphia and Boston. It afterwards scored a most marked triumph in Brooklyn. The company presenting "The Cadet Girl" is, doubtless, a metropolitan one. It is claimed by the management that it is not only one of the largest organizations ever engaged in a musical comedy, but it is also one of the most expensive in the matter of salaries. Among the more prominent members will be found the names of such well-known and capable singers and actors as Geo. A. Schiller, Chas. Danby, Chas. Dor, Harry Dodd, Edwin Wilson, Chas. Bowers, Arthur Etherington and Misses Queenie Vassar, Edna Floyd, Florence Gammage and Mildred Meade. The chorus is composed of 50 well-trained voices and the scenery and costumes are elaborate and beautiful.
