EXTRACT FROM PASTORAL LETTER

—OF THE—
Administrator of Manila.

(From the Freeman's Journal, New York.)

The most noble and sympathetic character of the Church of God is her Catholicity or universality. All men are equal by reason of their origin, of their nature and of their future destiny. All, without distinction, are works of His hands, His image and likeness, and we may all be participants, if we so will, of His grace and glory. Before God exist no irritating inequalities; in His presence disappear all privileges, favoritisms and unjust discriminations of persons. (Acts, 10, 34.)

God is the father of all, provider for all, saviour, redeemer and just judge of all, and if there exist in His presence any distinction or preference it will surely be in favor of the helpless in this world.

The Church being the work of God, she appears from the beginning of the world with this mark of universality. (Ad Rom, Cp. 2.) But from the time Jesus Christ revealed to man this divine Church in all her grandeur and magnificence there disappeared before her all national frontiers, all colors of races, all privileges of classes, all differences of languages, all the mysteries of descent and lineage. In the sight of God and of His Church, we all form one family; we are all His children, all brethren, and therefore in the Church there is no other fundamental law than this beautiful law; to love God, who is our father, and our neighbor as our brother. (Gospel of St. Matthew, XXXI., V. 40.)

Before democracies were born and the words "liberty, equality and fraternity" came into use the Church of God was a society whose whole soul was in the defense of these rights, in the proper meaning of the said words. In the Church no one is born with the right to rule; there are no prescripts or positions held by inheritance or testament. All the jurisdictional charges, from the Papacy to the Priory of La Trappe, are filled by either election or selection. The canon law is the most democratic law, which gives no paper of citizenship, nobility or estate. All the offices are open to persons of all classes, without other consideration than that of talent, science morality and knowledge. All receive the same baptism, recite the same creed, hope for the same heaven. The Church is essentially Catholic because she extends over whole world and her gospel is preached to all human creatures. (St. Mark XVI., V. 15.) Within her bosom exist equality, all races, languages and forms of civil government. (Epistle of St. Paul to the Colossians, iii., V., 11.) She rejects no one, rich or poor, "learned or ignorant, noble or of low degree, good or bad, master or servant, superior or subject. There is not a single country in which the Church has not members and where her missionaries have not announced the divine word, and have even testified to it with their blood. The Church extends to all times, all places, all men, all truths and supplies all the needs of humanity. She counts a greater number of faithful children than any sect can count of followers. But her soul is even more ample and universal than her body. From her society and humanity have received immense favors. She influences the State, favors the art and science shapes legislation, and makes herself felt in the domestic circle and in all the walks of life.

The Church is also apostolic. Apostolic both as regards her ministry and doctrine. In the ministry she is apostolic because the Apostles received from Jesus Christ the double power of orders and jurisdiction for the administration of the holy sacraments. From the Apostolic See, after the Apostles, the ministers of the Church received the power to teach, rule and govern the people of God. She is apostolic as regards doctrine, because she has not, nor could she have, any other doctrine than that taught by the Apostles sent by Jesus Christ to teach all people. This power was transmitted entire to their successors in the Apostolic ministry as a sacred deposit which could not be altered in a single point without interrupting the current of this divine stream which is diffused over the whole body of the Church as the blood which nourishes and vivifies the body is continually diffused over the body by the heart, and we therefore confine ourselves to making patent the tradition and doctrine of the faith and doctrines of the Church of Rome founded by the glorious Apostles S. Peter and Paul, by the uninterrupted succession of its Bishops till our own days; and we easily confound all those who either from caprice or from vanity or blindness in their evil teachings and to rob the Church of its harvest. (Adver. haeres, Book III., chap. iii.) Then commences the catalogue of the Bishops of Rome, successors of St. Peter, as we shall see later on.

Tertullian, speaking of the individual offices of his time, affirms that they are apostolic, because they are children of the mother church founded by the Apostles and because they have received without change the doctrine of the faith transmitted through the Apostles to those who succeeded them in the Apostolic ministry. (Praescript No. 20.) If some heretical sect should presume to trace back their origin, he adds, to the Apostolic times, the best way to confound them is to oblige them to show the constant succession of their Bishops, a succession which must show that their first Bishops were intimately connected with the Apostles or with their legitimate successors who have persevered to the end in the communion of the doctrine of the Apostles. (Praescript No. 32.)

Origen affirms that we ought not to receive any other doctrine than that which was transmitted to us in firmly by the churches through the legitimate succession of their Bishops. (De principiis, lib. i.)

S. Cyprian, relating Novatian, who had introduced a schism into the Roman Church, speaks thus:—"Novatian belongs not to the Church nor should he be considered a Bishop, since having broken the tradition—of the ministry and of the doctrine—he is successor of no one, but proceeds from himself, taking on himself an authority which no one has given him." (Nemini succedent, a. saepe ortus est. (Epistle 76.) In him. In fact, the same in all heresies and founders of new sects, the ecclesiastical unity, together with the tradition of the Church was broken. Such sects are not apostolic, and therefore are not churches, but synagogues of Satan, for St. Paul warns us that the Church of Christ is built upon the foundation of the Apostles and of the prophets who preceded them; super fundamentum Apostolorum et Prophetarum. (Ephesians, ii., V. 20)

Whereby you see venerable clergy that the whole Church of Christ centres in the unity of the Apostolic ministry, no less than in the Apostolic doctrine received through an uninterrupted tradition. Whichever of these two is wanting, the unity is broken and the true faith corrupted. Thus affirm the Apostolic Fathers and doctors of the primitive Church, as we have seen, Luther and the heresiarchs of the sixteenth century committed moral suicide by suppressing ecclesiastical ordination, and denying openly the Apostolic tradition. By this policy which had not been adopted by the heresiarchs of other times, they let it be understood most clearly that the churches—so they called them—which they founded, were not Apostolic nor churches at all, for they lacked the character of Apostolicity which they had voluntarily rejected. All those who interfere in the sacred ministry of their own authority," says on this subject the Holy Council of Trent, "or who have been chosen by the people or by the secular power, or by the civil magistrates, must not be held to ministers of the Church, but as highwaymen and robbers who have not entered in at the door, but who, by their own temerity, have invaded the sheepfold of the sheep of Christ." (Sess. xxii., chap iv.)

Canals of the World.

"Great Canals of the World" is the title of a study prepared by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics. It shows the commerce, cost and dimensions of the great canals of the world especially those connecting great bodies of water and which may be properly termed ship canals.

Ship canals connecting great bodies of water and of sufficient dimensions to accommodate the great modern vessels plying upon such waters are of comparatively recent production and few in number. The one great example of works of this character which has been a sufficient length of time in existence and operation to supply satisfactory data as to cost of maintenance and operation and practical value to the commerce of the world is the Suez canal, and for this the available statistics begin with the year 1870, while its new and enlarged dimensions only date from the year 1869. For the Sault Ste. Marie canal, connecting Lake Superior with Lake Huron, statistics date from 1855, though for the canal in its present form, they cover but about four years. Statistics of the Welland canal date from 1867, but for the canal in its present enlarged form cover only two years of operation. The other great ship canals of the world are of much more recent construction, and data regarding their operation therefore cover a comparatively brief term, and in some cases are scarcely at present available in detail.

The artificial waterways, which may properly be termed ship canals are nine in number, viz:—

1. The Suez canal, begun in 1859 and completed in 1869.
2. The Corinthian and St. Peterburg canal, begun in 1877 and completed in 1890.
3. The Corinth canal, begun in 1884 and completed in 1893.
4. The Manchester ship canal, completed in 1894.
5. The Kaiser Wilhelm canal, connecting the Baltic and North Seas, completed in 1895.
6. The Elbe and Trave canal, connecting the North Sea and Baltic opened in 1900.
7. The Welland canal, connecting Lake Erie with Lake Ontario.
8. and 9. The two canals, United States and Canadian, respectively, connecting Lake Superior with Lake Huron.

Items of Interest.

Rev. Cecil Nurgate, lately minister at St. John's Station on Elm, England, has been received into the Church.

The death of the Duchess Salviati, nee Fitzjames, is announced from Rome. She was one of the leaders of Catholic society in the Eternal City and the founder of the Hospital of the Child Jesus for delicate and ailing infants.

The Requiem Mass celebrated on the 7th ult., on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of Pope Pius IX. was an unusually striking ceremonial. Cardinal Satolli officiated. The Pope, who was surrounded by the members of the Sacred College, the Pontifical court and the Roman aristocracy, gave the absolution and the Apostolic Benediction. There were many Americans in the overflowing congregation, including among other prelates Mgr. Kennedy, rector of the American College, and Bishop Burke, of St. Joseph, Mo.

In an appreciative sketch of the late Senator Dawes the "Republican" of Boston says: "By Catholics his name will always be remembered with affectionate gratitude for what he did in the Know-nothing days. The organization of the Republican party found Massachusetts still in the power of that anti-Catholic party. Accepting a Republican nomination for Congress, Mr Dawes was easily elected, and this meant the beginning of the end of Know-nothingism in Massachusetts."

The golden jubilee of the Sisters of Charity in San Francisco was celebrated in St. Patrick's Church, that city, on Sunday, January 24. His Grace Archbishop Riordan celebrated Solemn Pontifical Mass.

Bishop Tierney, of Hartford, has published a decree of major excommunication against a certain Vincent Dillon, alias V. Petraitis, calling himself pastor of the Independent Lithuanian Church of Baltimore, who has attempted to establish a congregation among the Lithuanian Catholics of Waterbury. It is a matter of fact, says the Bishop, that he is not a priest, and that even such notorious apostates as Z. Ziolkowski and Kaminski have denounced him as a fraud.

The bones of the five abbots recently discovered on the site of the old abbey at Bury St. Edmunds, England, have been reinterred in the stone coffins from which they were taken.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism; that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"I suffered dreadfully from rheumatism, but have been completely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for which I am deeply grateful." Miss FRANCES SMITH, Prescott, Ont.

"I had an attack of the grip which left me weak and helpless and suffering from rheumatism. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and this medicine has entirely cured me. I have no hesitation in saying it saved my life." M. J. McDONALD, Trenton, Ont.

A Scandalous Transaction.

In arranging for the consolidation of the City incorporation and the various statutes relating to the city of Charlottetown, the Mayor and a majority of the Councillors have perpetrated what appears to be a very crooked transaction. Ignored, from the evidence extant, it might more properly be characterized as an exceedingly "dirty job."

There is another phase of this question which should not be overlooked. It is the opinion of some that, the Recorder should revise the statutes in virtue of his office. This, we are informed, was the view taken of the matter by the late Mayor Dawson.

It will be noticed that the Stipendiary and the Recorder, who had previously asked $1000 for the work of consolidation, immediately that tenders were solicited, sought the work at $500, just one half of their former demand.

BY-ELECTIONS for the Ontario Legislature were held in North York and Centre Bruce on Thursday last. In the former constituency, Hon. E. J. Davis Government, was elected; but in Centre Bruce, Clarke, Conservative, was re-elected by an increased majority.

As will be seen elsewhere, our winter steamers are in a most critical position. Both are now out of action, and the Minto is completely disabled. This condition of things renders our position extremely serious, we are, so far as traffic is concerned practically cut off from the mainland.

The New Brunswick elections on Saturday last, resulted in favor of the Tweedy Government, by a somewhat reduced majority. There are forty-six members in the Legislature and in the last House there were only seven opposition members.

Councillor Grant pointed out to him he had no right to keep the information from the press, as the business they were engaged in was that of the citizens and the meetings of the Council are open to the public and the press. After securing the information the Examiner refused to publish it, because the Mayor requested its suppression.

Three by-elections for the Dominion House of Commons were held on Tuesday of last week February 24th. The constituencies contested were: North Grey, in Ontario, and Terrebonne and Two Mountains in Quebec. All three were carried by Liberals at the general election.

Ottawa Weekly Letter. SIR WILFRID DENOUNCED BY A LIBERAL. The Winnipeg Tribune, one of the staunchest Liberal journals in Canada, publishes an editorial bitterly condemning the hypocrisy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party in tariff matters.

There is one thing Canada should be in a position to apply to her home markets in any quantity, it is manufactures of wood. Yet our furniture importations under the Fielding tariff are steadily climbing upwards, and we certainly have the workmen to fashion the growth of our forests into the requisites for home and office use.

LIBERALS AND TEMPERANCE. Prohibition has received many hard kicks from the Liberal party, yet in every election Liberal candidates appeal for the support of the temperance vote.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY ALREADY FIXED. Canada's chance at the sittings of the Alaskan Boundary Commission are own and the resources of civilization were lavishly employed to carry the elections.

There is no doubt in the minds of those on the inside, that Sir William Mulock's interest in the North Ontario campaign is a purely selfish one. The gentleman, in truth, has aspirations for the position which Sir Wilfrid Laurier will shortly be forced to vacate.

A GOOD OVERCOAT

Has saved many a doctor's bill. We suppose that a mean looking Overcoat will keep you just as warm as a nice looking one, and so will a blanket for that matter and some of the overcoats you see on the streets these days look as much like blankets as they do like overcoats. Do you think we would talk like this if ours were of the blanket kind.

At $6, 8 & 10

At these prices we will sell you coats of good material, perfect fitting and elegantly tailored, worth a lot more money. Should this not suit you, you can bring them back.

At $12, 13 & 14

We have coats of every desirable color and style. The dark dressy Raglan, the steel grey Governor and the blue and black Chesterfield are all favorably known, and we are selling the balance of them without profit. Now is your chance to get $14, $16 and $18 coats at $12, $13 and $14. If you don't want to buy, don't; but come in and buy at any rate.

The Irish Land Question.

Although John Redmond failed to draw the chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Wyndham, into a revelation of the contents of the coming Irish land bill on the 25th, ult., his amendment provoked quite a remarkable debate. Scarcely in the history of the Irish question has such a conciliatory spirit been displayed on all sides. The only disappointing aspect from the point of view of the nationalists was the ominous silence of the members of the unionist, who seemed apprehensive regarding the heavy demands on the lion's share when the bill is introduced. The amendments seemed to have disappeared. John Redmond and Mr. Wyndham exchanged almost flattering compliments; Colonel Sanderson, the member for North Armagh, confessed that he was wrong in disbelieving in the Dublin landlords and (liberal) unionist conference. T. W. Russell (Liverpool) on the other hand, expressed belief in the government's generosity and hardly a dissenting voice was raised. John Morley, the former chief secretary for Ireland, rose to speak during the hurricane of cheers which marked the close of Mr. Wyndham's speech. Mr. Morley began by declaring that nothing like the present situation had happened since Cromwell landed in Ireland. The demand was no longer to get rid of the landlords, but that provision should be made to enable them to remain on their estates. He was greatly pleased with the tone and temper prevailing in Ireland, and with the speech of the chief secretary for Ireland. The Earl of Donraev was interviewed regarding the report of the Irish landlord and tenants conference in Dublin, of which he was chairman. He spoke hopelessly regarding the prospects of legislation which he thought would end the difficult life in Ireland. Lord Donraev said: "The utterance of King Edward, and of the British public men, the present day, the reception of the conference's report by the public and the action of the government since the publication of the report are all favorable indications pointing to the success of the government's Irish land bill, which if it contains a just and generous far, will make good the first impression on which all depends. The bill, if drawn on the foregoing report, will ensure a final settlement and remove the cause of friction in Ireland, which is reacting favorably not only in Great Britain but throughout the empire and on our kindred in the United States." Lord Donraev replied to the adverse criticism of the report, saying that the conference could not lay down a specific formula to be adopted. They were bound to deal with the matter on the broadest lines, considering both the interests of the situation and those of individual landlord and tenants. He did not think that the government would be able to specify a strict formula which, if attempted, would confuse the issue.

A DISGRACE TO BRITISH INSTITUTIONS.

The treatment accorded Mr. Munns, the prohibitionist candidate in North York, Ontario, furnishes another example of the disgraceful methods employed by Hon. G. W. Ross and his followers in their efforts to retain power. Mr. Munns' candidature was distasteful to Hon. E. J. Davis, whose chances of election were thereby affected. Consequently when Mr. Munns attempted to exercise his right of free speech, he was set upon by a mob of Liberal leeches, knocked down, kicked and struck by a dead skull. The ministerial editor of the Toronto Globe, whose professions of independence are still fresh in the public mind, pursues a course calculated to encourage the mob in its unlawful action. The proceedings are a disgrace to British institutions. Hon. G. W. Ross, in whose hands lies the power to punish the rowdies, views the situation with complacency, and Mr. Munns has no redress. Truly the Ontario government is 'building up Ontario' in a remarkable way. How long are the honest people of the province going to submit to such outrages?

The Winter Steamers.

THE MINTO DISABLED.

On Wednesday of last week the Minto managed to free herself from the ice which she had been stuck hard and fast for about nine days, and steamed in the direction of the Stanley to attempt her rescue. She was not able to get nearer than a half mile to the sister ship. She had on board some 45 tons of coal for the Stanley and this she placed on the ice together with a sleigh, which the Stanley's crew used in hauling the coal on board their ship during Wednesday and Thursday. The Minto being unable to make any further progress towards freeing the Stanley started for Georgetown. She made her way slowly, by means of leads, till she reached Cape Bear. At this point she was obliged to remain for the night. Towards daylight Thursday morning the ice began to move and she got up steam and headed for Georgetown, arriving just in time to connect with the morning train for Charlottetown. Captain Finlayson came to the city and after consultation with the officials here it was determined that the Minto should take 150 tons of coal and other stores and start for the Stanley on Saturday in a final effort to free the latter. If she could not reach the Stanley, the coal was to be placed on the ice before, so that it could be taken on board by the men. In her battling with the ice the Minto lost one blade off her propeller, which cannot be replaced till she is placed on the slip.

The Minto started to the rescue of the Stanley on Saturday as decided upon, and nothing more was heard from her until the following telegram from her purser was received by Mr. Lord here shortly after three o'clock on Monday afternoon: "Landed at Cape George. Minto's propeller broke. All blades off—close to hub. Half a mile from Stanley. Transferring coal. Made fast to pan of ice that Stanley is in. I am leaving for Pictou."

M. C. McDONALD, Purser Minto.

In consequence of this disaster the Minto is absolutely powerless. There are plenty of extra blades on board and at Pictou, but they can only be attached when the Minto is on the Marine slip. She will have to keep fast to the pan of ice until the Stanley can be freed and tow her to port.

Mr. F. W. Hyndman, Lloyd's agent, Monday, wired to the Marine Department, on his own account, advising the Government to secure the services of a Newfoundland sailing steamer to relieve the Minto and Stanley. This steamer is to leave St. John's about March 10th. Mr. Hyndman received no reply, but in reference to Mr. Hyndman's telegram Mr. Lord received the following from the Department:

"Hyndman advises relief of Minto and Stanley, both being disabled. What do you recommend?"

F. GOUDREAU, Mr. Lord replied as follows:

"See my telegram to-day. Think purser gone Pictou for explosives. Consider both crews should break Stanley out with aid of dynamite, in which case Stanley would tow Minto to Pictou. The only other alternative would be powerful sailing steamer from St. John's, Nfld. No steamers in these waters. Will report as soon as get particulars."

A. LORD, Agent.

FROM PURSER TO MR. LORD.

A. LORD—

"Minto broke into pan two hundred yards. Stanley half mile distant. Captains think impossible to free Stanley until continued fine weather. Minto moored securely to same pan as Stanley."

(Sgl.) "M. C. McDONALD."

LONDON advises that arrangements are being made for the visit to Canada in August of a large party of members of the British House of Lords and Commons, who will land at Halifax on a tour through Canada in order to realize themselves the possibilities of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain embarked at Cape Town on board the United Line steamer Norman, on the 28th ult., for Southampton. As a result of Mr. Chamberlain's tour the feeling of safety in Cape Colony is greater than it has been any time since the Jameson Raid.

ON Thursday last Mrs. Mills, of Toronto, was about to leave home for an extended trip, and her fourteen year old daughter, who was much attached to her, did not wish her to go. She thought if she could make herself ill her mother would not go. With this end in view she swallowed a dose of carbolic acid, which caused her death soon afterwards.

At the Colonial Club banquet in London on the 28th ult., Major General Laurier, M. P., in speaking in regard to trade, said that the mother country should make an offer to the colonies. The under Secretary of the Board of Trade declared that Canada was not giving a preference for anything, as the British taxpayers paid for the defence of the Empire, and the colonies should reciprocate them.

CINCINNATI had a three million fire on Feb. 26th. A number of buildings were destroyed, as well as much valuable property in the shape of goods in store of different kinds. It is said there are over four hundred losses by the fire. Several firemen were hurt, one fatally. It broke out in a large grocery store, and shortly after starting there was a terrific explosion which quickly spread the flames.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy on leaving Montreal for England a few days ago, said the Canadian Pacific would be delighted to take over the contract for the East Atlantic service "if the conditions we desire are granted. We are not unduly anxious to take over the contract, but our company has always been desirous of improving the Atlantic service." R. B. Angus, a director of the C. P. R., said: "With a surplus of twenty or fourteen millions the company have no difficulty in paying cash for such a little thing."

The crew of the barquette Persia, of Windsor, which arrived from Halifax at Boston, Monday, on the 28th ult., and attacked Captain Cogswell and Mate Peter Hobson. Both are Nova Scotians. The mate is so badly slashed in the abdomen that he is not expected to live. Captain Cogswell is badly out and bruised. The port police boarded the vessel and ordered three ringleaders named Harry Small, Canadian; John Belle, a Nova Scotian; and Frank Rooking, an Englishman.

In the U. S. Court at Trenton, N. J., on the 24th ult., a jury awarded $500 damages to Henry E. Johnson, of the Pullman Car Company for $10,000. Johnson is editor of the Christian Advocate, and on March 25th last, while riding in a Pullman car between Richmond (Va.) and Washington, sought service in the dining car. He claims he was refused food by different waitresses, notwithstanding he applied three times. Finally when all the passengers were served and the employes were eating he said he was offered food.

The most disastrous fire that has taken place in Halifax for years occurred on Saturday night in the midst of a terrific wind and rain storm. It started in Moir's large bakery which was soon destroyed. Scattered dry goods store on Duke Street was also burned with all the contents. The City Hall took fire several times but escaped. Several other buildings were more or less damaged by the flames. The total loss estimated at a hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Moir's loss will be about eighty thousand. Four hundred people will be out of employment as a result of the burning of the Moir establishment.

THE second public temperance meeting, under the auspices of the League of the Cross, was held in the Cathedral basement on Sunday afternoon, his Lordship the Bishop, presiding. Addresses were delivered by his Lordship, Rev. Dr. Morrison and Rev. Dr. Monaghan. About one hundred new members signed the roll and had the pledge administered to them.

Mrs. Watts, wife of W. H. Watts of this city died very suddenly on Thursday last. She had been attending choir practice in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening apparently in her usual good health. She suddenly fell into the arms of those about her, being seized with a violent pain in the chest. She was placed under the influence of an opiate and slept till about ten o'clock Thursday forenoon when she died.

A Queenstown, Ireland, despatch of yesterday's date is to the following effect: "The Dominion Line Steamer Merion, having sailed February 20th, bound for Liverpool is aground near Roche's Point, White Bay, and in a dangerous position. Part of passengers and crew are on board." Messrs. Paton, Leigh and McCleod, of this city, had been passengers on the Merion, on their way to the London market to buy goods for their respective firms.

A TERRIBLE gale was sweeping over the British Islands on Saturday. Losses of life and enormous damage to property is regarded. In some cases people were killed in their beds by falling debris. The death roll due to falling roofs exceeds a dozen, while hundreds were injured. The fatalities along the coast by ship wrecks were much heavier. Scotland and Ireland suffered particularly from wrecks, but information from both countries is meagre.

THERE was a two hour conference at Ottawa on Saturday between G. M. Hays, General Manager and Vice President, and Mr. Wainwright, Assistant General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway and members of the Government, on the proposed trans-continental line. There were present at the interview Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hons. Sifton, Fielding, Sutherland and Fitzpatrick. The interview was of course private. It is said that two propositions were laid before the Government, one for the land grant and subsidy combined and another for a cash subsidy without a land grant. One thing is certain there will be no land grant.

"Be ye therefore followers of God, as most dear children; and walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us and hath delivered himself for us, an oblation and a sacrifice to God for an odour of sweetness." St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, chap. V., and 2. This was the text of Rev. Dr. Morrison's sermon on Sunday evening last in the Cathedral. This was the first of the special Lenten sermons. His theme was religion in the family. In the first place he pointed out that religion constituted a bond between God and man; between the Creator and the creature. Religion might be defined as the science of knowing God, and after knowing Him, loving Him. The family is the basis of human society, and it is of the utmost importance that this society should rest upon religion pure and undefiled. There are many so-called religions, but only one true religion; consequently the greatest care should be exercised by those in charge of the family to possess and teach to the young children the pure genuine religion of Jesus Christ. By a faithful adherence to these obligations we will enjoy God's blessing on earth and His presence eternally in heaven.

The annual meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society was held last Monday evening, when a very large number of the members were present. friends, had brought him to this pass. He had to choose between betraying his associates or giving himself up to the hangman, and the latter seemed to him the most honorable alternative.

I read over to him what I had written, and he attempted to sign it. An illegible scrawl was all that he could achieve. "Mr. Topcliffe with his rack is a bad writing master," he said, as he handed me back the pen with a sorrowful smile.

My spring is past, and yet it hath not sprung; The fruit is dead, and yet the leaves are green; My youth is past, and yet I am but young;

A few days later Bill Bell came to me and asked if I would accompany him, the following night, to the cell where Tichbourne was confined.

After a few moments I consented, considering that it was a work of charity to console the afflicted, trusting to my guardian angel to preserve me from harm.

"Whom have you brought?" he asked my companion, starting up as we entered. "I said I wanted a notary."

The man explained that in the Tower one must have whom one could get; besides he was bringing an old acquaintance.

Proverbs

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh, we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free. Be sure that this picture is the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

On Tuesday, the 20th of September, A. D. 1586, the first half of the condemned conspirators were executed. It was a warm autumn morning.

The horrid scene, together with the patience of the victims, had excited the disgust and pity of the bystanders to such a pitch, that when, on the following day, my uncle Remy and the rest were to be executed.

At length these terrible days were ended. The victims had been sacrificed, and I thanked God that it was all over.
