Lady Wyvernes' Daughter.

"I wish our love to remain a secret; and yet, Inez,—my love, my darling—I want you to save me from Veronica di-Giotte."
"How can I do that?" she asked, with a smile.
"Bind me fast to yourself," he replied. "When my friends renew the subject, let me have it in my power to say that I am married."
"But that would ruin your prospects," she said, quickly.
"Not in that case," he said. "You must understand they suppose me to be a stranger to their intentions; if they hear of my approaching marriage they will interfere to prevent it. If they know nothing of it until they open these negotiations with me, they cannot feel either surprise or offense if I tell them I am married; they will think some other way to serve me."
He saw no smile on that beautiful young face; it wore a bewildered, beautiful expression.
"I cannot quite understand you, Count Rinaldo," she said. "You wish our love to be a secret, yet you wish to be married. How can you manage both?"
His answer, whispered in a low, tender voice, brought a bright crimson flush into the proud face, and for some moments she made no reply.
CHAPTER XIX.
In some parts of his story, Count Rinaldo had adhered strictly to the truth. The Montalis were an honorable and noble old Venetian family, and time had been when their name was of note in Italy. But Rinaldo's father had been guilty of what was called rebellion and treason. His estates were confiscated, and given by the government into the hands of his enemy, the man who had betrayed him.

At his mother's death the count came into possession of her small fortune, and on that he managed to gain the reputation of a gay and gallant man of the world. He had talents of a certain kind. He had no inclination whatever for work of any kind. He played well at cards, and managed every year to make a pleasing addition to his narrow income. To sum up the count in one word, he was a fortune-hunter. He did not intend to make money either by the labor of his hands or by that of his brain. He had a handsome face, a gay and gallant manner, a dignified bearing, and a musical voice. Of these advantages he intended to woo and win one.
Yet the count had not been very successful in his love adventures so far. At Naples he had met with a celebrated American heiress. He had felt secure of her, and had already borrowed money on the strength of his prospects, when the lady suddenly gave the preference to a poor English captain, and they were married at Rome. In sheer disgust the count fled from Italy. He next heard that the Donna Maria Fabes, the only child of a rich merchant in Seville, would be ultimately one of the wealthiest heiresses in Spain. He went immediately to Seville; he found the lady in question no longer young, but amiable and accomplished, and, as matter of course, surrounded by adorers. Donna Maria showed no signs of preference for the handsome count who devoted himself to her; and while endeavoring to awaken an interest in the heart of the Spanish heiress, he saw and loved Inez Lynne. Count Montali was essentially a selfish man. No matter what the cost, he never refused himself the gratification of any wish. Now that for the first time he loved, and loved passionately, he determined that at all risk the beautiful young girl should be wooed and won. He knew that a marriage with her would run all his prospects, for she had no money; but he cared nothing for that. All that Count Rinaldo cared for then, or at any future time, was the gratification of his own selfish wishes.
He had resolved that a private marriage should take place as soon as he could persuade Inez to consent. He asked himself what was to be

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Thompson's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Winnipeg, Man.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me good in every way. I was very weak and run-down and had certain troubles that women of my age are likely to have. I did not like to go to the doctor so I took the Vegetable Compound and an astringent right along. I recommend it to my friends and to any one I know who is not feeling well."
—Mrs. Thompson, 308 Lisias St., Winnipeg, Man.
When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." C done after that. A hundred things might happen. He would trust to fate and fortune. The present was alone worth living for; the future must take care of itself. That he might desert the young girl he had taken such pains to win was just possible. The idea flashed once or twice across his mind; but he dismissed it, as he did every other thought, and dwelt only upon the happiness of winning the lovely, innocent child, who trusted him so implicitly.
It was this reckless, unprincipled, selfish man whom the poor girl trusted with her love and her life. At first, the thought of a secret marriage was distasteful to her proud, high spirit. It was not so, she felt, that the last of the Montaleones should be won; but he knew her generous nature, and appealed to that. He dwelt upon the poetry and romance of their love, growing like a beautiful flower in the shade, unlike the common, vulgar love that sought the light of day. He appealed to her generosity. She was so young, so childlike in her simplicity, she must be pardoned that she yielded to his fervent prayers, and promised to become his wife in secret.
The count undertook all the arrangements. Inez bribed old Juanita, telling her she was going to spend a long day out in the grounds. A carriage stood waiting a short distance down the road and no one saw her as she stole from her home.
No one missed the lonely girl. Caterina sat all day in madame's room; Nita, who was supposed to wait upon the young lady, said nothing of her absence. When she returned late in the evening, with a pale, frightened face, no one saw her but Nita, who was waiting for her; she kissed the trembling girl, and made her drink some wine, telling her she had walked too far, and must not go out alone again. In her heart, the old servant deeply pitied the solitary fate and lonely lot of the signorina.
Even while the "glamour" lasted, Inez never liked to remember that day—the hurried flight, the half-confused ceremony, that bound her forever to Rinaldo, the introduction to her husband's friend, Luigi Carmello, the hasty return. Even the passionate thanks, the loving words, and tender caresses of her husband, did not efface these things from her mind. She was not quite happy; she did not like to remember that she had helped to deceive Madame Montaleone. In after years she could not endure to think how she had been duped and betrayed herself.
For six whole weeks, despite this one shadow, her life was like a dream of romance. Her young husband seemed day by day to adore her more and more. They spent long and happy hours together in the orange grove, where he had first told her of his love. He never ceased to thank her for what he called "her generous sacrifice." Neither of them thought much of their future, or how their ill-starred union would end.
For six weeks Inez drank deeply of the cup of happiness. Day by day she grew fonder of the handsome, kindly man, whose every word seemed like a caress.

LINES ON OUR HUMAN ALARM CLOCK.
Oh, you regular little tyrant,
Ruling us just as you like!
Do you hear the old clock strike
At the dawn?
Why are you so wide awake?
Do you hear the morning break?
On the sound the sunbeams make
On the lawn?
Now the east is scarcely red
And you're crowing in your bed,
And you're shouting to be fed
Right away!
And the kicking of your heels
Most insistently reveals
All the joy your spirit feels
With the day.
Though you haven't learned to speak,
There is language in your shriek
And your mother turns to peek
Where you lie;
Then she sees your regular grin
And the dimple in your chin,
And she promptly takes you in
With a sigh.
What though I would slumber on
Till the night be fairly gone?
You, plump, laughing, lovely one,
Rule the place.
And you drive all sleep away
By the manner of your play
As your tiny fingers stray
Round my face.
Little tyrant, I'd like to know
Do you see the east glow?
Does a fairy whisper low
Night has fled?
Do you hear a sunbeam fall
Very lightly on the wall,
Or do angels come to call
At your bed?
Not more punctual is the clock,
Or the twittering birds that sock,
Or the crowing of the cock,
Than your tricks.
And I wonder how you've got
To discover in your cot
So precisely the dot
When it's six.
Tennis Court Errors.
POINTS LOST BY CARELESS PLAY
If you have not played a great deal of lawn tennis you must remember to keep your head and pay particular attention to schooling yourself to refrain from returning the ball when it is going out of court.
Many points are given away by inexperienced performers through neglecting to judge properly at what angle a tennis ball will pass them without dropping inside the base or side line.
The best way to impress this on yourself is to ask a friend to drive over the net at varying speeds and from different positions. Stand on your court and watch the ball closely as it passes you, making a mental note of the speed and angle, according to whether you are close to the net or near your base line. Soon you will be able to judge what kind of return you should take, and which you should leave severely alone.
The Match-Winning Volley.
It is always tempting to try a "killing" volley, but to "take" a ball that will certainly give you a point if left alone is irritating when you realize what you have done—especially if the other fellow gains the honor through your mistake.
Another point about the volley that is worth remembering is that when you are standing two or three feet from the net and the ball comes straight for you, you will be inclined to "give" slightly in an instinctive mood. Unless you are very quick on your feet you are certain to be in a cramped position, with your racket across your face or chest, and as you give way before the oncoming ball you must straighten out your forearm and give a flick of the wrist if you do not wish to see the ball drop in front of your feet on your own side of the net.
If you find this "drop volley" difficult to execute, slip your hand a little way up the racket handle in order to take the strain off your wrist. This is also a particularly useful hold for making well-placed short "cut" strokes.
Never allow the ball to touch the ground when you can bring off an effective volley. The reason for this is that you save much time by volleying, and disconcert your opponent by the speed of your returns. There

DEADLOCK AT LAUSANNE.

LAUSANNE, June 6. The Paris Conference is again deadlocked with each side refusing to give way on any of the other's terms, and no immediate prospect of the crisis is in sight. The conference is virtually at a standstill with each delegation waiting for instructions from the Home Government which might permit the negotiators to break the deadlock.

BRUSSELS, June 6. The Allied and United Frontiers from Belgium, Great Britain and France, in the question of German reparations, with France and Belgium in favour of a policy with regard to the reparations the forecast in consequence of a meeting today of Premier Clemenceau and Foreign Minister Jaspar. A striking feature of the discussion according to both French and Belgian sources was that the way was left to the Stanley Baldwin proposal. It should be proved impossible to make a joint Allied reply to the proposals Germany is expected to make almost immediately on the reparations question. The French expressed their willingness to meet any reasonable German plan in a spirit of conciliation, and aside from insisting that payment from Germany be forthcoming before French troops march out of the Ruhr; Poland was ready and willing to entertain suggestions from friendly nations. The French and Belgians yesterday affirmed their decision to support the Ruhr only when Germany paid. Grave fears have been expressed that the French and Belgian proposals would prove irreconcilable.

BERLIN, June 6. A freight train was wrecked last evening at Linton, near Essen, by unknown persons, says a Central News despatch. Many cars were derailed and the tracks torn up. A German schoolboy was shot and killed at Düsseldorf by a French sentry, the Agency also states. "An attempt by a mob to lynch the responsible soldier was prevented by the German police."

DEMONSTRATORS AND POLICE CLASH WITH FATAL RESULTS.

LONDON, June 6. Six persons were killed and twenty-three wounded at Leipzig today, when a crowd of Socialists and Trade Unionists, holding a demonstration against the high cost of living, clashed with the police, says a Times despatch from Berlin. Demonstrators fired on the police who replied with a volley. The crowd fleeing from the police plundered food shops.

Our Montreal Letter.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
May 30th, 1923.

"High on the giddy bending mast,
The seaman furled the tending sail,
And fearless of the rushing blast,
He careless whistles to the gale
O, the sea, the sea,
It is the joy for me."

Yes, the sailor's home is the sea, the mighty sea. The few days which he spends in port is nothing to the life on the ocean wave. In many ports, where the "toller of the deep" enters for two or three days, life becomes rather monotonous to him. No place to spend a few profitable hours, either in reading or in writing letters home, or in passing a pleasant time in innocent amusements. Such sports of ten put temptation in the sailor's path, and he wanders into places of bad repute, only to part with his few hard earned dollars, and oftentimes to suffer bodily injuries. The port of Montreal stands out as a "Beacon Light" against such dangers to the poor seaman when he arrives here. We have two of the best and up-to-date Sailors' Clubs the world over. With men at the helm who understand the trying and laborious life of the brave mariner, every comfort, both spiritual and bodily is provided for them. When he visits the Club here, whether it be morning, noon, or night, he receives a welcome, yes a true and sincere one, and is told, that anything he wants in the line of reading, writing paper, amusements, medical attention if he's sick, in a word anything that can add to his happiness while he's stopping in port, will be given him. In reading over the 20th Annual Report of "The Catholic Sailors' Club," I find that nothing is overlooked which tends to have a beneficial effect on the uplifted life of the sailor-men. For the Clubs are for him "A Home From Home." The report says:

"We now approach the details of the last season's activities. During the seven and a half months of navigation, official harbour reports state that there entered 1,194 ocean-going vessels (969 ocean liners and 225 coasters) and 5,729 lake or inland vessels. The nationalities of the 969 ocean vessels were as follows:—British, 892; Norwegian, 104; American, 52; Italian, 45; Dutch, 30; French, 13; Greek, 9; Swedish, 7; Jugo-Slavian, 3; Belgian, 2; Spanish, 2; Finnish, 1; German, 1.

It has been computed that our clientele or "visits" may be estimated thus:—
1,194 Ocean-going vessels with crews aggregating . . . . . 73,146 (Official)
5,729 Inland vessels with crews aggregating . . . . . 86,835 (Computed)
Total . . . . . 159,981

Consequently it can be deduced that the Catholic Sailors' Club and the Marconi Sailors' Institute, which share in the reception of these men, have had a busy season. When the first breathing space comes to the wearied shipman after the passenger and freight are landed, he makes his way to the Club. All, irrespective of nationality or creed, are welcomed there, but there is offered for Catholics special spiritual service. If sick they are visited in the hospitals, and should they die in port, they are given honorable burial in our consecrated garden of sleep on the slopes of Mount Royal.

In general the activities of the Club have been in ratio to the ever-increasing busy life of the harbour wharves. More money than ever was held for safe-keeping or for transmitting to anxious mothers or dependents. The letter-writing tables were always occupied—the reading stands, the billiard rooms, the baggage shelves also. External recreation was provided, such as sports with outside city teams and the usual receptions and pilgrimages to the Mountain top. Relatives were sought after and found and a thousand other human interest catered for. An interesting and up-to-date novelty was provided by the Marconi Wireless Co. by the loan of the installation of a very efficient radio receiving station. This was inaugurated by a special illustrated moving picture on the wonders of wireless by Mr. D. R. P. Coats and the "radio" was "listened in" at every successive Wednesday concert and during the week days. Employment was found for many "legal" deserters were persuaded to seek re-instatement. For the destitute food and shelter were provided. We are glad to report that the law courts and the prisons called for scarcely any attention this year.

The Club believes in co-operation. That with the Montreal Sailors' Institute has already been recorded. It has reciprocated with the Hospital Social Services, the Shipping Companies, the City Assistance Department, the Consular Services, the Salvation Army, the Catholic Social Service Guild, the Montreal Convalescent Home, the Prisoners' Aid Society and the Navy League of Canada and France. It encouraged the seamen to take their share in "Clean-up" and "Fire Prevention" weeks and co-operated in the Nelson Day and the Last Post celebrations (May 24), and it has fostered mutual relations and interchange of services with the sailor institutions of Port Arthur, Halifax, St. John, N.B., New York, and with the Apostolate of the Sea in Great Britain (Headquarters Glasgow).

The Manager has been in communication with inquiries of various nations asking information on how to promote sailor service.

Speaking of the Hospital work done by the Clubs, the Gazette says editorially:—

"The report of the Hospital Committee visiting the sick sailors is an interesting document and makes pleasant reading. The Committee, it may be said, know neither creed nor nationality in the prosecution of their labour of love amongst the seamen who are strangers within our gates, and to whom the chastening hand of sickness comes. The noble men who go down to the deep waters in ships have been the heroes of romance throughout the ages. Sailors are a fine body of men as a rule and deserve recognition for their many admirable qualities. Those who followed the dastardly results of the submarine campaign can never forget nor have we any excuse for ignoring the national obligations we owe. The work of the sailors upon the seven seas is necessary, not only to the prosperity but to the existence of the British Empire, in which Canada is a potent partner. Hard and dangerous as the life of the sailors at sea may be, it is proverbial that their peril ashore is little less destructive. The phrase 'Jack Ashore' at once suggests all kinds of possibilities, including indeed, his falling among thieves.

"Sickness comes to all of us, and out of an invasion of some one hundred thousand sailors to the Port of Montreal each year, it is only to be expected that disease will take a serious toll. It is for this cause therefore that the Catholic Sailors' Club and the Sailors' Institute justify their existence, and the Hospital Committee, which performs such a noble and useful social work, is also entitled to the highest recommendation. It is to men like Dr. Atherton, Mr. Ritchie Bell, Captain J. T. Walsh, and ladies of the Misses Mamie Fitzgerald type, that sailors are under a deep debt of gratitude; big-hearted, philanthropic men and women, who at all times are prepared to lend the helping hand to Jack in port."

The Religious Report of the Club shows that it has an oratory and Chaplain, Rev. E. J. Devine, S.J., and that the Sunday Mass was more regularly attended than ever before. The concert provided every Wednesday evening were a great source of pleasure and enjoyment not only to the sailors, but to the thousands of citizens who patronized them.

The Financial Report was probably the best on record, and in subscriptions, weekly concerts and steamship concerts given at sea netted over $9,000. The Club owns in buildings and land, $36,000 worth, together with cash, bonds and war victory loans total $34,000. A larger and more up-to-date building is anticipated in the near future.

His Holiness Pope Pius XI., on February 22, 1923, in a private and intimate audience granted at the Vatican Palace to the Manager of the Catholic Sailors' Club of Montreal, Professor W. H. Atherton, Hon. Vice-President of the "Apostolate of the Sea," graciously conveyed his Apostolic Benediction and Approval to this Club, which is now ranked as the premier of Catholic institutions for seamen. "Carry back to Montreal," said His Holiness, "my most sincere and personal Apostolic Benediction to your President, to your Directors, and to all who support, maintain and work for this most needed and laudable enterprise. Carry back this blessing to each one of these as coming from me personally"—and he added, "and don't forget the sailors themselves."

Pope Pius XI. has now a complete knowledge of the social and spiritual work done for seamen in Montreal, having interestedly studied, during the above-mentioned audience, a series of photographs descriptive of each phase of the activities of the Club. It may be added that the successor of Peter the Sailor and Fisherman, since his recent advent to the Pontificate, has given other and abundant proofs of his solicitude in the case of the sailor. On April 17, 1923, he caused a letter to be sent through his Secretary of State, His Eminence Cardinal Gasparri, to the "Apostolate of the Sea" formally blessing "this work of spiritual charity which undertakes the religious assistance of sea-farers, especially those of the merchant marine. The Holy Father is pleased to invoke on it the choicest graces of heaven and to bless with special paternal affection all those who, by their prayers, their offerings and their individual services, contribute to the final success of the greater Glory of God and the spread of His Holy Kingdom among souls." This blessing was again formally and verbally confirmed at the above-mentioned audience.

On October 16, 1922, His Holiness caused his formal blessing to be sent, through his private secretary, to the Rev. Edward J. Devine, S.J., Chaplain of the Catholic Sailors' Club of Montreal, in answer to a petition presented in Rome in the early summer.

This Apostolic Benediction is given:—
"For the Patrons and Benefactors, and for all who labour for the welfare of the Club, as well as for the Catholic Sailors themselves . . . so that this Club may continue to work more ardently for the greater glory of God and the salvation of souls."

Too much praise cannot be given to Dr. W. H. Atherton, Ph.D., and Ritchie Bell, Manager of the two Clubs, for their great zeal, their self-sacrificing spirit, and above all, their gentleness, and the whole-souled manner in which they labor in the cause of the sailors who visit this port, and the best evidence of the genuineness of their work is, that the "men of the sea" appreciate it in word and deed. Other places would do well to try and establish a similar club or clubs for "Jack at Sea." Remember, the Catholic Sailors' Club started 30 years ago in the upper storey or garret of a factory at the corner of St. Jean Baptiste and St. Paul Streets, and entered the present building, then a factory, in 1900. From small beginnings big ones come and so in a few more years the Catholic Sailors' Club will have quarters for the men second to none the world over.

Devoted Guards Keep Channel Light Burning.

LONDON, May 13. (A. P.)—Bishop's Light, rising from a foundation of jagged rock near the Scilly Islands, welcomes eastbound liners to the English channel, and at the same time gives grim warning of the nearby labyrinth of dangers. It stands guard over waters where rest the skeletons of more shipwrecks than in any other marine graveyard of the world.

The light is 160 feet above the sea level, yet the waves that break forever at the base of the rock constantly dash over its topmost masonry. So trying is the service at Bishop's Light that the three tenders are given frequent vacations ashore. Two months of duty with one month ashore is the rule.

During a recent spring storm the beams from Bishop's Rock came near to falling. The light weighs several tons, and revolves on supports resting on a circular trough of mercury, balanced so delicately a child may turn it by a touch of the finger. On this night the tower was so shaken by the heavy seas that much of the mercury was spilled out over the concrete floor of the light chamber. The three guards fell on their knees, scooped up the mercury in their hands and poured it back into the trough. Pursuing active puddles of quicksilver around a rough cement floor was not easy nor rapid work, and they finished finally with torn and bleeding hands.

If the tower of Bishop's Light ever crumbles the keepers there will not have the faintest chance for their lives. There is not even a foothold on the rough, slimy rock below them.

Forest Fires.

The time of year is come for the usual recurrence of forest fires. Prevention is better than cure and the best time for the department that has charge of the work of forest fire prevention to act in this business is before the fires occur. There is hardly a summer in which the growing timber of the country is not attacked by fire, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth destroyed in a few hours. Already Canada has had her first forest fire for 1923, which destroyed millions of dollars worth of growing timber.

In this connection we think that train hands should be given emphatic caution, and sportsmen who go on salmon and trout fishing excursions should be reminded that a camp fire may blaze up by a fanning wind after they have left the ground and are miles away. It is equally important to watch the match that is thrown away—often in the dry bush wood—after lighting a pipe or cigarette. Ordinary common sense precaution may save millions of dollars worth of growing timber. The great value of what timber there is now left in the country should be more evident to all now, in view of the exploitation of our forests for pulp and paper making such as is going on at Grand Falls and in prospect in the Humber valley. When it is realized that one small live match carelessly thrown away may destroy such gigantic industries in a few hours one should be sufficiently impressed with the necessity for using the utmost care as regards camp fires and matches when in the forest. It is to be hoped that the Government will use every precaution this summer to have fire patrols in all the timbered areas. It would be mistaken economy to cut out any of the fire wardens as was done last year. Mr. William Howe, the indefatigable Chief Ranger should be given a free hand to do what he thinks is necessary.

U. S. Labor Boom.

An editorial published in the New York Herald last week confirms our comments on the labor boom in the United States, and justifies the warning that was published, directed to Newfoundland workmen who contemplated emigrating to the great Republic, lured by the cry of plenty of labor and big wages. The Herald says: "Living costs which the public expected to fall to a reasonable figure have risen, and housing is as much of a puzzle as it was at the end of the great war. Whenever the people start to build houses they find the labor and materials jump overnight."

The Maritime Merchant of Halifax in its last issue, adding its own comment, takes occasion to give warning to intending emigrant workmen from Canada in these words: "This means that there is hardly more than the appearance of a boom now in the United States as the present boom apparently is not well founded. Our people ought not, therefore, be led away too readily for they may find after a while that their own country is the land of opportunity. Men who go away to seek employment are well advised not to take their families with them, for they will probably find it advantageous to come home some day and coming back will be a much simpler proposition if transportation has to be provided for one only. There is a possibility of curtailment in construction work in the United States very soon, and we may find these men coming back to us before many months."

Official Opening To-day.

To-day at 3 o'clock the official opening of the Legislature will take place when the speech from the Throne will be delivered. The customary proceedings as heretofore will mark the occasion when a detachment of police and picked sections from the various brigades will be inspected by His Excellency the Governor.

Election Petitions Filed.

Election petitions against the return of Messrs. W. H. Cave and R. Cramm, members for the District of Bay de Verde, were filed in the Supreme Court yesterday forenoon. The petitioner is Mr. Alex. J. Garland of Lower Island Cove. A. B. Morine, K.C., has been retained as solicitor for the petitioner. The security of $400 as called for by Statute has been paid into Court. The summons in the case of Mr. Cave was served this forenoon. It is not probable that the trial will take place before the fall of the year.

"Call Again To-Morrow"

The Workmen's Committee of the West End called at the Prime Minister's office to-day seeking an interview in reference to receiving employment for the large number of men who have been out of work since April 21st last. The committee failed to get the interview but were told to call again to-morrow.

Towing Ship at Sandy Point.

According to a message received by the Assistant Collector of Customs yesterday, the S. S. Gopper has arrived at Sandy Point from Quebec to assist in towing the S. S. Glenburnie to Montreal. The Glenburnie, it will be remembered, grounded at Sandy Point several weeks ago and later refloated.

Sable I. in Port.

S. S. Sable I. arrived in port at 9 yesterday from Halifax via St. Pierre, bringing these passengers: C. B. Conliss, R. Moulton, A. L. Batt, L. L. Hobden, J. A. Jackson, Mrs. Geo. Nixon, R. D. Chisholm; and from St. Pierre, Geo. E. Landry. The Sable I. sails at 4 p.m. to-day for North Sydney, taking as passengers—D. Malter, L. Shannon, Mrs. John Carey.

Friendly Football.

A friendly game of football was played at the Shamrock grounds last night, between the Cadets and a team from the Wistaria, and resulted in a win for our local aggregation by a score of five goals to nil. The game was well contested and was witnessed by a large number of enthusiasts. The Cadets have excellent material in their ranks and are confident of making a bold bid for championship honors in the coming season's fixtures.

Codfish at Outer Cove.

Fishermen at Outer Cove did fairly well with hook and line yesterday, securing fair catches for the first of the season. The fish were of large size. Within the next couple of weeks caplin will make their appearance when it is hoped that the fish will strike in in quantity.

Will Salvage Wreck.

HALIFAX SALVAGE CONTRACTORS UNDERTAKE BIG JOB. Messrs. Bowring Bros., Agents for the London Salvage Association, have been in communication with Messrs. Bowring Bros., Halifax, during the past few days in connection with the salvaging of the s.s. Marvale, Besley Bros. are the well known salvage contractors of Canada and it is understood that they have made all arrangements to proceed from Halifax to the scene.

Train Notes.

Tuesday's west bound express arrived at Port aux Basques 9 hrs. late. The incoming express left Alexander Bay 6 hrs., 5 min. late, and is due in the city at 7 o'clock. The Carbonar train arrived at 1.30 p.m. The Tropassey train arrived at 2.30 p.m.

Opening of the House of Assembly.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE DELIVERED BY HIS EXCELLENCY SIR WM. ALLARDYCE.

The first session of the twenty-fourth general Assembly of Newfoundland opened at 3 p.m. to-day when His Excellency Sir Wm. Allardyce, K.O.M.G., in the presence of both branches of the Legislature and a large number of visitors delivered the following speech from the Throne:

Mr. President and Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council; Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly:

On this, the first occasion of my meeting you in your Legislative capacity, I desire to extend to you my cordial greetings. Since my assumption of the Governorship of this most ancient Colony of the Empire, it has given me pleasure to associate myself with all your interests, and the welfare of Newfoundland will receive my earnest thought and solicitude.

On the twenty-fifth of April last, on the occasion of the marriage of His Royal Highness Prince Albert, Duke of York, it was my privilege, on behalf of the Government and people of Newfoundland, to forward to Their Majesties the King and Queen, a message of loyal and dutiful congratulations, and to His Royal Highness and bride, an expression of the fervent good wishes from this Loyal Dependency of the Crown. Gracious replies were received from Their Majesties and from His Royal Highness.

Looking at the world to-day, we find that the process of reconstruction is making but slow progress. Action is followed by reaction, and the economic pendulum swings from one side to the other. It will be some years before comparative equilibrium is reached. These world conditions affect us seriously in Newfoundland.

The influence of the cost of the commodities we import, they depreciate the value of the products we export, they tend to increase the cost of living, to hamper development of trade, and to limit the avenues of employment. Although the rehabilitation of the world in its political and economic spheres is not proceeding as rapidly as had been hoped, it is evident that progress is being made, and we can therefore go forward to our tasks with cheer and courage.

The difference between the imports and exports at 30 June, 1922, showed for the first time since 1919, a balance in our favour. A larger quantity of codfish was exported during the last fiscal year than during the previous year, though the value was less because of low prices in the foreign markets. During the season of 1922 more vessels were engaged in the Bank Fishery, and the catch was forty per cent. larger, than in the previous year. The result of the prosecution of the Bank Fishery this year was slightly below that of 1922.

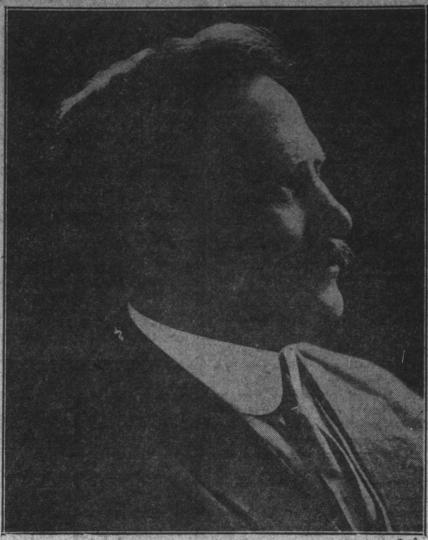

The question of unemployment and the consequent distress among the people especially during the winter months, have caused my Ministers constant anxiety. These conditions are not peculiar to Newfoundland but are existent in well high every country. My Ministers have every earnest endeavour to solve the difficult problem of unemployment by providing labour in connection with public works and other necessary measures. It is hoped that the crisis has been passed, and that new openings will shortly be provided to give all our men adequate employment.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly. The statements of expenditure and revenue for the last fiscal year will be laid before you in due course, and also the estimates for the several Departments of the Public Service, which latter have been prepared with due regard to economy and efficiency.

Mr. President and Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council; Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly: Since my Ministers assumed office in 1919 they have been giving continuous attention to the question of the development of the resources of this island. While the fisheries of Newfoundland are and will long remain the staple industry of the Colony, yet my Ministers are convinced that the time has come when a very special effort should be made to secure the industrial development of the interior with a view to relieving the burdens which are now carried by our main industry. The influx of new capital, the investment of money in the country by firms of high standing, and the profits which will be derived from turning our inland resources into money will materially increase our revenue and provide the means to meet the liabilities of the Colony without entirely depending upon the Fisheries. Proposals have been submitted by a powerful English firm for the development of the water power of Grand Lake and the Humber Valley, and the establishment of large Paper Mills and other industries in that vicinity. With the financial support of the Imperial Government, my Ministers after extended negotiations

New Leader of the Opposition.

William J. Higgins, K. C., is the Unanimous Choice of Party.

W. J. HIGGINS, K.C.

Irrespective of all political thought, congratulations to-day are extended to Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., on his election to the responsible position of leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the House of Assembly. After the members of the Opposition were sworn in yesterday, a party meeting was held in their rooms, for the purpose of electing a successor to Mr. John R. Bennett. The unanimous choice fell upon Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., the senior member for St. John's East.

The new leader of the Opposition was born Sept. 4th, 1880, and was educated at the Christian Brothers School, St. Patrick's Hall. After leaving school he served seven years in the railway service from which he resigned to study law with the well known firm of Purling and Conroy. In 1909 he passed his final examination and was admitted as a solicitor and received a partnership in the firm of Purling and Conroy. To-day he is the senior member of the well known law combination, Higgins, Hunt and Emerson, and it is a peculiar coincidence that his present professional partner is also a member of the Opposition Party, having polled the highest vote in the District of St. John's in the recent General Election. The new leader of the Opposition was first elected to the House in 1912, when he became a colleague of Sir Edward, now Lord Morris. In 1918 he was re-elected when he was appointed Speaker, a position which he filled with much credit to himself, his Party, and the country; particularly during the war period. In the last election he polled a record vote in the District of St. John's East, when he secured the second largest vote in the Island. Mr. Higgins is recognized as Newfoundland's leading criminal lawyer, and he is said to his credit, he enjoys a popularity and position in his native country largely due to his ability and integrity which he has displayed professionally, publicly and socially.

The Telegram with the rest of his friends and well wishers, joins in congratulating the new leader of the Opposition and in doing so, congratulates the members of the Opposition upon their selection.

Port de Grave Member Elected Speaker.

Mr. H. A. Winter, representative for the district of Port de Grave, was elected Speaker of the House of Assembly yesterday. At 2 o'clock the members of the House were sworn in, the oath was administered by commissioners Hon. J. D. Ryan, R. K. Bishop and Sir M. G. Winter. At 3 o'clock they met in the Assembly Chamber for the purpose of electing and installing a speaker.

Sir Richard Squires nominated Mr. Winter and Mr. Higgins, K.C., leader of the Opposition seconded the motion which was supported by Hon. Mr. Warren. The new speaker is a son of Sir James Winter and a nephew of Sir M. G. Winter. We extend our cordial congratulations to His Honor, Speaker Winter upon his attainment of this high position which is rarely accorded a member in his first session in the Assembly.

Coastal Boats.

Personal.

Mr. Harry Lake, of the firm of Lake & Lake, Fortune Bay, is at present in the city. Mr. Edgar Bowring, Jr., who has been confined to his home for the past week, suffering from a heavy cold, was able to get down to business this morning.

BANKER ARRIVES.—The banker K. C. Gordon arrived at Gaultois yesterday from the fishing grounds' having for 120 qts. codfish.

Magistrate's Court.

A drunk in charge of a horse was fined $1 or 3 days.

A man summoned for being loose and disorderly was fined $2 or 5 days. Capt. Bramwell Jones, S.A., Long Pond, Mansel, summoned three young men of that settlement into court this morning for interrupting the service held at the Barracks on Sunday night last. Captain Jones in his evidence stated that the accused were laughing and talking aloud during the service, while one of the defendants, after being told he was a disgrace to the community by acting so, deliberately attempted in the midst of the meeting to seek revenge. The officer also had some trouble with defendants after he had left the place of meeting, one of whom threatened to cause him injury. Three other persons who were present at the meeting appeared as witnesses and corroborated what Captain Jones had said. Two of the accused men were convicted while the third was let go. A man named Eason, who caused the greatest disturbance, was fined $5 or 10 days, and was ordered to furnish bonds of $100 in his own behalf and $100 from another. The second man, named Tilly, was ordered to pay costs, while he was bound-over to keep the peace in the sum of $50 on his own behalf, besides an extra bond of $50 from another. Judge Morris strongly condemned the evidence of the defendant in this case, and gave a warning to others that he would not stand for such conduct where divine service was being held.

Britain's Birth Rate 1921 Lowest Recorded.

PARTICULARS OF VITAL STATISTICS FOR VARIOUS BRITISH DOMINIUMS.

LONDON, May 28.—Great Britain's birth rate in 1921, namely 22.4 per 1,000 population, was the lowest ever recorded in this country, except in the war years, according to a report just issued by the registrar general. The number of marriages in 1921 was 60,000 less than in the previous year. However, 1920 was a low record year. The most popular marriage age in the United Kingdom appears to be 24 for men and 21 for women.

The divorce decrees granted by the courts of Great Britain in 1921 totalled 3,590, the highest number yet recorded.

The registrar general in his report adds some particulars of the vital statistics for some of the districts of the various British dominions. From these it appears that Manitoba has the highest birth rate, 30.3, and British Columbia the lowest, 29.3. New Brunswick has the highest infant mortality rate, 113 per 1,000, and New Zealand the lowest, 48 per 1,000. The highest marriage rate is in Natal, South Africa, 18 per 1,000, and the lowest is in Saskatchewan, 13.4.

Concert and Sociable.

JUVENILE SOCIETY, N.B.S. HAS A SUCCESSFUL EVENING.

Last night in the Synod Hall, a delightful concert and sociable was held by the Albert Edward Branch, N.B.S. Mr. I. C. Morris occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks paid a fitting tribute to the work of the society in days gone by. The concert was highly successful, the following artists contributed to numbers:—Piano Solo, Miss Jean Bowden; song, Mr. F. Wiley; recitation, Mr. Bert Colton; spoons and mouth organ, Messrs. Whitten and Harvey; dance, Misses Hammond and Butler; song, Mr. T. Seymour; dance, Mr. L. Keats; piano solo, A. B. Walker; Selection, Messrs. Harvey, Whitten and Hammond. The Jazz Band rendered several pleasing selections during the evening, in their own inimitable style. During the interval ice cream and candy was sold, while the teas, which were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary, were great enjoyed. Mr. Charles W. Bowden, President of the Adult Society proposed a vote of thanks to the Chairman and all those who took part, for the excellent evening's programme, which was accorded by acclamation. The affair was very successful, a goodly number being realized. The National Anthem brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Gasoline Tank Explodes.

MOTOR CAR TAKES FIRE.

Yesterday afternoon a Studebaker car, owned by Mr. J. J. Lacey and driven by Robert Sellers caught fire whilst passing along Duckworth St. near the Court House. The chemical truck from the Central Fire Station was called, but before the flames were extinguished, the car was badly damaged. The fire was caused by an explosion of the gasoline tank. The driver is unable to account for the cause of the accident. As far as can be learned there was no insurance on the machine.

St. Bon's Sports Day.

The annual sports at St. Bonaventure's College take place on Wednesday next, June 13th, and the pupils are now hard at work practicing for the different athletic competitions. Yesterday afternoon a class of junior boys doing club exercises on the Campus evoked much favorable comment from a number of spectators. The running and jumping teams were present and it is confidently expected that some new records will be established. Nothing is being left undone to ensure the success of the sports.

West Coast Fishery.

The following reports of the West Coast Codfishery were received by the Board of Trade yesterday from Red Island to Couron. Mr. J. E. Cunningham the sub-collector states that 60 boats are fishing, and the total landed is 600 qtrs., with 40 qtrs. for the last week. Mr. Cunningham says the fish is being got in deep water, and there is very little done in shore and the prospects are very poor. Herring are plentiful and many persons, he adds, will give up the fishery altogether if they can procure work at Humbermouth.

Football League Meeting

The Newfoundland Football League is holding a special meeting to-night to discuss the matter of releasing several football players from their last year's teams. Several of last year's players are seeking a shift, and while the captains in each case are agreeable, the matter was brought up at last week's meeting and must now be dealt by the League. A full attendance of delegates is expected at to-night's meeting.

Negotiating for Steamers

SHIPS TO BE USED IN FISH CARRYING.
 It is reported that local firms are negotiating for the purchase of two steamers of the Adventure type, to be used in the fish carrying trade. It is the intention to have the ships prosecute the sealfishery every spring, and used in the fish carrying and coal trades during the remainder of the year.

Tourist Ship Coming Here.

SIDETALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

WASTED PLAYTIME.

It was Saturday morning. I dropped in to do an errand and my neighbor called from the foot of the stairs for me to come up. She was making Barbara's bed, she explained, and picking up her room. "I suppose," she said, "I ought to make Barbara do it, but she is always crazy to get out on Saturday morning, and the poor child is cooped up in school the rest of the week, so I haven't the heart to make her. And, of course, she doesn't have time to do it week-day mornings. I do wish," she sighed, as she pulled out one shoe from under the dresser, and looked about for the mate, which she ultimately found on the window seat, "I do wish she were a little more orderly."

Why should she be (unless she had a strong natural instinct that way for a child), when she has a lady's maid to wait on her?

Why should she waste her precious playtime, when she can come back and find her room pleasant and orderly, and the only cost to her is perhaps a wistful "I do wish you would be more orderly" from her mother? The mother means to be very kind, of course, but isn't she being cruel in her ultra-kindness?

Barbara's Future Playtime.

She is giving her child more time for play right now by picking up her things for her. But isn't she encroaching on Barbara's future playtime by failing to enforce the habits of order which will mean so much to Barbara in later years? Anyone who has painfully acquired good habits in adult years knows how hard it is then. And anyone who has ever given the subject, any thought knows how much time a habit of disorderliness wastes. Barbara is glad now that her mother isn't like that cross strict Mrs. James across the street, who insists that her daughter Lucy, Barbara's chum, shall make her bed neatly and put her room in order before she goes out, and makes her darn her own stockings, and is teaching her to knit. But will Barbara always be glad?

"Cooped Up in School."

There is such a thing as making childhood life so easy for children that you make their after life, with all its inevitable adjustments to a scheme of living in which other people do not

Cloisters Under Stable in London.

Once Magnificent Norman Church Covered by Debris for Centuries. After being lost for four centuries, part of the cloisters attached to St. Bartholomew the Great, the finest Norman Church in London, have been discovered hidden under buildings used for stabling purposes. The 800th anniversary of the founding of this wonderful Smithfield church has just been celebrated. Tradition has given a romantic history to its founder, Rahere. He is supposed to have been a young minstrel and favorite at the court of King Henry I. who made him his jester. Then Rahere founded this priory, and for twenty years was abbot prior of St. Bartholomew the Great. He died and was buried within its walls, the tomb to-day being on the north side of the altar. Then the world began to change outside the priory walls. Smithfield itself changing from a village to a great meat market. During the reformation the priory crumbled, but the church survived. It was unharmed by the great fire, and bombs that fell in the neighborhood from a Zeppelin in 1915 did a great deal of damage all about it, but the church was untouched.

It has taken 38 years of steady work to restore the church. One after another, beautiful parts have been reclaimed, and it now can be seen outside in a way that has not been possible for hundreds of years.

Naturally, I am not advising that we teach our children to make chair seats before they go to school in the mornings. But I am suggesting that there is another extreme, and that we would do well to avoid it.

Rugby Game.

CITY DEFEATED R.F.C.

A large attendance of fans and spectators wended their way to Calver's Field yesterday afternoon to witness the rugby match between Bishop Field College and the City aggregation. The game proved very interesting and resulted in a win for the City by 10 points to 8. A feature of the game was the splendid run of 50 yards, made by White, of R.F.C., who eluded several of his opponents and secured a touchdown. Anderson converted it with a difficult shot against the wind a moment later. In the second half Arthur Monroe for the City, made a good run, but he failed to get over the line. In the play Paterson managed to secure the ball and went over the line for a touchdown. The exhibition was very good and all the players are to be complimented on their exceptionally fine play. Mr. R. R. Wood refereed the game. The next game will be played between the City aggregation and a team from the Methodist Guards.

Wedding Bells.

BRADLEY-NICHOLSON.

On April 6th, 1923, the first Presbyterian Church, San Francisco, California, was the scene of a very pretty wedding when the marriage of Eys, youngest daughter of Mr. Chas. Bradley (formerly of St. John's, Nfld.) to Mr. Thomas C. Nicholson, youngest son of Mrs. S. E. Nicholson, of Victoria, B.C., was solemnized in the presence of friends of bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. R. Guthrie. The bride was attended by Miss Jo Lana, of Calgary, Alta., while the groom was supported by Mr. Ralph Sedger of Victoria, B.C. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bridemaid a string of pearls, and to the best man a gold stick pin. After the reception, which was held at the Plaza Hotel, the couple motored to Santa Cruz, California, where the honeymoon was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will make their home in San Francisco. The Telegram extends congratulations.

Where Umbrellas Are Barred.

A jealously guarded spot is the London Stock Exchange, familiarly known as the "House." The stranger who attempts to elude the vigilance of the lynx-eyed janitors is soon spotted and ejected. An outsider who does not wish to risk this had better not betray his identity by carrying a stick or umbrella, for such articles are strictly forbidden inside the building. Occasionally the "House" entertains celebrities. King Edward, when Prince of Wales, invited himself to dinner on his return from his Australian tour. When he paid his promised visit, the whole house, was

Ben Leonard Knocked Out Pink Mitchell.

WORLD'S LIGHTWEIGHT BELT HOLDER RETAINS HIS TITLE.

Chicago, May 28.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, knocked out Pinky Mitchell of Milwaukee in the last round of a scheduled 20 round contest here to-night. Leonard scored the challenger with a right swing and Mitchell was counted out while on one knee in the centre of the ring. The fight ended in a riot which started when Ritchie Mitchell, brother of the challenger, flew into referee Lavey Miller hitting him a right and left to the head. Ritchie Mitchell claimed Leonard hit Pinky while the Milwaukee boxer was resting on one knee, while referee Miller was counting over him.

In less than thirty seconds the ring was swarming with frantic spectators and 30 or 40 flat fists set in before the police could clear the ring with their clubs.

In the height of the ring-side riot Ritchie Mitchell was thrown out of the ring by the police, who also grabbed Billy Mitchell, brother manager of the Milwaukee boxer. Leonard outboxed and outslugged Mitchell throughout the contest, with the exception of the eighth and ninth rounds. Mitchell fought a defensive fight, waiting to nail the champion with a right hand punch. Leonard was forced to do most of the leading in the early rounds, while Mitchell contented himself with countering.

Mitchell had Leonard backing away and in danger in the ninth round as a result of landing four right smashes to the chin. In the tenth Benny came out of his corner and backed Mitchell into the ropes. When they reached the centre of the ring, Leonard ripped over a right to the chin flooring Mitchell. He attempted to get up and drew a leg under him, resting on his right knee. Leonard attempted to punch him but referee Miller waved him off, and counted the challenger out in the centre of the ring.

Flying by Night May Soon Become General.

CHICAGO, June 2. (A. P.)—Night flying by aviators has been brought squarely before the public by the great non-stop flight across the continent by Lieutenants MacReady and Kelley and, through this demonstration of its feasibility, general night flying and the delivery of mail during the night may become an accomplished fact before the end of the summer, according to I. J. O'Malley, of Chicago, in a recent address before the Chicago Aviation club.

"A great part of the plans for this epoch-making achievement in aviation now rests with the public utility lighting companies or the cities themselves," said Mr. O'Malley. "Guide or beacon lights are necessary for night flying particularly when stops are to be made for delivery of mail or passengers. A great start has been made in this respect, as well as in the construction of landing fields, and probably more work will be done in this direction during the coming summer."

"The United States Aerial Mail has developed a plan for flying night mail which seems thoroughly practicable, once the various cities over which the night mail passes agree to maintain the necessary lighting system and emergency landing fields."

"It is a fact that the whole future success of the aerial mail hinges upon the success of night flying, since the time that is lost by laying over nights would eliminate the saving in time obtained through day flying. The night flyer is reduced to flying by compass, and no compass has yet been evolved that is sufficiently reliable to be depended upon exclusively. Then the question of forced landings is involved. In event of motor failure the flyer is obliged to make a landing. This is sometimes dangerous, although not as much as one might think, since a plane, properly equipped with search lights operated from battery, can be guided intelligently when near the ground, although being without power it cannot rise again if the ground is unsuitable for landing."

"In general, night flying depends upon beacon lights at various points along the route by which the flyer may know his location; emergency landing fields indicated by upward streaming searchlights; planes equipped with searchlights for landing and the cultivation of a night 'flying sense.'"

Land Reform.

On March 1, 1928, the Greek Government took from their wealthy landowners over 3,000,000 acres of land and distributed the land amongst 300,000 peasants.

Those with large families received greater tracts than those with small families. The landowner is receiving the new value plus 25 to 50 and 40 per cent. The peasant is given the opportunity of purchasing his holding in 30 annual instalments.

A Mosquito Catcher.

The device of luring an animal by imitating the cry of its mate is probably prehistoric, but it has been left to modern man to apply the method to the mosquito.

Nathaniel Morgan has invented a mosquito trap, consisting of a violin string, violin bow, and suction fan. The bow scrapes the string and faintly reproduces the female mosquito's high soprano serenade, and when the male comes along to see what is the matter the suction fan gently pulls him in and deposits him on a piece of sycoper. It is like the sire's song that lured the mariners to destruction.

The idea seems ingenious and excellent, but it has plainly one great flaw, for it only entraps the males, and it is the female mosquitoes that inoculate malaria.

Gloomy Forecast by Lloyd George.

WORLD REELING IN DENSE FOG, FORMER PREMIER DECLARES.

Edinburgh, May 28.—"Europe to-day holds exactly the same elements that produced the Great War," Lloyd George declared yesterday, in a speech here.

With gloomy forecasts of Europe's future the ex-Premier declared that the suspicion and hate existing among nations filled him with alarm, saying: "Can anyone see what is going to be the end of it all? I simply see a dense fog in which the nations are drifting recklessly."

Bull Fight Horror.

An infuriated bull attacked a matador at the first bull fight of the season at Bordeaux, recently, and inflicted terrible injuries upon him. Mendez, the matador, was scheduled, in company with a comrade, to fight six bulls. He wounded the first animal twice in the neck, but was then thrown violently and his clothing torn to shreds. He continued fighting, however, and succeeded in killing his first two bulls. He then advanced on his third adversary, but failed to evade the rush of the animal, which tossed him in the air, and, when he fell, gored and threw him again with great force. Mendez had just sufficient strength left to raise himself and leap the barrier, behind which he faints.

Viscount Lascelles.

SAYS HE REFUSES "TO FIGURE AS A FILM STAR."

"I refuse to figure as a film star," declares Viscount Lascelles who is objecting to the release of the film of the Bramham Moor Hunt in Yorkshire, in which he appears as master of the pack. The film depicts a day with the hounds at Goldsborough Hall, and Lord Lascelles objected to many of the subtitles, and these were deleted by the producer; but when he was described as a "film star" in the Press, Lord Lascelles intimated that he would prefer the picture not to be shown at all. The picture, however, has passed the Board of Censors, and the release cannot be stopped. "I do not think Lord Lascelles can do anything unless he obtains an injunction," said a member of the Butcher's Film Service, who are releasing the film. Lord Lascelles has appealed to the Home Office, but the producer has not yet heard from the officials who saw the film, and preparations have been made to show it next week.

Scientists Still at Odds.

OVER RELATIVITY THEORY.

Paris, May 1.—(A.P.)—A division in scientific circles has been made here by the relativity theory of Einstein, challenging old conceptions of time and space.

Former Premier Painleve, first a mathematician and later a politician, is threatening to drop politics long enough to prove that the earth has stopped turning. In fact he asserts that it never did turn. M. Painleve has a brand new theory of the universe, based on mechanics. He says Einstein is right, except that he is not right enough.

Professor Langevin, physicist of the College of France, inventor of the sounding machine by which ships may be piloted in any sea, has made what his friends describe as a religion of the Einstein theory, combating old theories and all others with much ardor.

Emile Picard, the genial permanent secretary of the Academy of Sciences, from his retreat in the Institute palace, has sought to dodge this battle of the worlds. However, he is inclined to the belief that the old timers were fairly correct.

Director Baillaud, of the Paris Observatory, says that in many respects science is still like Diogenes, stumbling along with his lantern. "As for me," he added, "I have no opinion as to the relative merits of the discussion. It would take me two years of my life to become familiar with the Einstein theory, and as I am 75 now, I really haven't the time to spare."

Tears vs. Microbes.

Tears, according to the latest scientific discovery, contain an ingredient that is fatal to any microbe. A writer of some humorous verses in the "Windsor Magazine" for May on this inspiring subject makes a neat point as follows:

My Molly I know you are itching To tidy this study of mine; I notice your fingers are twitching To deal it a straining condition; Full often you give me a bitter Reminder that I am a man Of letters (so-called) not of litter. And outline your straightening plan, But up till to-day I've protested, Though not, as you think, on the ground That, as long as it went unmolested, I knew where my things could be found. But rather because of the number Of microbes among the debris; To harr them out of their slumber I feared would be fatal to me. But now you've my gracious permission To start on a glorious clear; No germ can retain its position In face of the curative tear. We'll ban the bacilli with weeping; Together we'll make our attack; You busily scrubbing and sweeping, And I giving baby a smack.

The Right Time to Smoke

A PHYSICIAN'S TOBACCO TIPS. It may not be a popular attitude to adopt, but many doctors will agree with Lord Leverhulme's dictum that a man who smokes before eleven will not do a quarter of a day's work.

We are not dealing nowadays with normal human beings. The nerves of the community suffered severely during the war, and one is forced to admit that people are giving way too readily to various methods of nerve medication.

It must be borne in mind that alcohol, tea and tobacco are all, to some extent, poisons, and that, whereas in small doses and at the proper season they may be beneficial, in excess and out of season they will have a directly opposite effect.

Admitting the necessity for some nerve relief, it must be emphasized that in a healthy, efficiently working body, there should be no need for tobacco in the early part of the day.

In the morning the body and mind are fresh from their long rest, the wear and tear of the previous day have disappeared during sleep, and the individual should be "as a giant refreshed" and ready to face unaided the strain of the day.

There is little doubt that smoking to a diminished output of work. By all means let us smoke, but no cigarette while dressing, none during the day's work--except, possibly, one after lunch. Masters of industry are not all cranks. When they lecture on life and work. Observation and non-observation of energy have placed them where they are.

Harbor Grace Notes.

The birthday of his Majesty the King having fallen this year on Sunday, it was kept on Saturday, 2nd inst., as a Government and Bank holiday here.

Mr. Gerald Strapp, who is studying Medicine at McGill University, arrived in town last week to spend his vacation with his mother.

A deputation from Lodge "Diamond Jubilee," S.O.E.B.S., from here went to Heart's Content on Friday last to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Tolson Rendell, which was held there on that afternoon. Mrs. James Fox of this town is a sister of deceased, to whom we tender our sympathy as well as to all other relatives and friends in their hour of bereavement.

The S.S. Portia on her way North arrived in port on Thursday afternoon and remained over night. She left again in the early morning.

Salmon is still very plentiful and is being purchased at the stores at ten cents per pound and under.

Mr. E. Simmons, M.H.A. went out by this morning's train to the city.

Mr. R. C. Rose, representing E. W. Gillett Co., has been in town the last few days on a business visit.

Mr. D. F. Meaney, our popular Station Master, went to St. John's recently for medical treatment, and returned home by Saturday night's train. His many friends hope that he has benefited considerably by the treatment received during his stay in the city.

Constable G. Trickett paid a brief visit to town on Friday and returned to the city again the following day. He will be leaving for duty at St. John's, Labrador, by the first steamer.

Schooner "Minnie Maud" arrived in port from St. John's on Saturday night with a load of provisions, etc. This schooner will be leaving in a few days for Hooping Harbor, White Bay, where her owner, Mr. E. Simmons, has a branch business, which will be taken in charge this year by Mr. Christopher Pike.

The schooners Bullbird and Loch Lomond are in port for dockage.

Miss Lena Squires went to St. John's last week to undergo an operation for Tonsillitis, and has since been operated on and doing well.

Miss Milcent Parsons, who was on a visit to relatives and friends in the city, returned home by Saturday night's train.

Schooner "Netherion," Capt. A. G. Williams, which was here for dockage, was towed to St. John's on Friday by the tug "Hugh D."

Miss Naomi Snow, of Bay Roberts, is at present visiting friends here, and returns again to-morrow, Tuesday.

The Boy Scout Concert, which was postponed recently, is to be held Thursday night of this week at St. Paul's Hall. We trust the Concert will be well patronized, and thus encourage the boys in their good work.

If Dame Rumor is correct we are to learn of, at least, two June brides, at an early date. Both are very popular young ladies of this town, and may we, in advance, offer our felicitations.

A Dr. Jack Handy Bag will be presented to the children attending the Saturday matinee at the Nickel. As only a limited number of these bags are available, it is suggested that the young folks come early. The film, entitled "Dr. Jack" which is the first six reel Harold Lloyd comedy to be shown in Newfoundland, is scheduled to be shown on Monday together with Cosmo Hamilton's great story, "Reckless Youth." The star in this picture is none other than the popular Elaine Hammerstein.

The attraction for to-night and the remainder of the week is "The Man From Hell's River" adapted from James Oliver Curwood's story "Golf of the People." The picture has a great dog in it, Rin-Tin, a north woods hunkie. His role assumes the same prominence as that of the star and he does his part of the entertainment with sure-fire results. Irving Cummings is the leading man as director. Mr. Wallace Beery is the villain and the heroine is played by Eva Novak. Charles Hutchinson appears in the current episode of "Hurricane Hutch." Dan Delmar, the Minstrel Man will be heard in new song hits. This is a show well worth seeing.

World's Queerest Clocks

WEIRD TASTES IN TIMEPIECES.

The wonderful clock presented to the Duke of York as a wedding gift from the City of Glasgow embodies all the ingenious eccentricity of the world's collection of curious clocks. The "carillon of sixteen bells, with eight different changes to chimes and a selection of eight airs," is reminiscent of the famous clock possessed by an Emperor of China, which boasted a fully-equipped automatic orchestra playing forty foreign and twenty-four Chinese musical selections.

A similar piece of ingenuity was owned by a man in Lutterworth. This clock's "orchestra" consisted of a flute, a cello, two violins, two dancers, and three singers.

The Duke of York's clock has a possession of the Royal Family of 1804. But this is only one of a number of procession scenes which have intrigued the fancy of clockmakers.

The clock constructed in 1842 for Strasbourg Cathedral had a gallery below the dial across which heathen deities drove in chariots. Diana drove on Monday, Mars on Tuesday, and so on. Higher up was a second gallery, with a figure holding two bells. At each quarter a second figure appeared and struck one of the bells.

At the hour an old man walked across, striking the four quarters, and after him came the figure of Death, which struck the hour with a bone.

At noon in the top gallery the 12 Apostles walked in procession round Our Lord, who at the close made a sign of the Cross. While this went on a cock on a pinnacle on the left flapped his wings and crowed three times.

A grimmer clock is owned by a Hindu Prince. The dial consists of a great gong, under which there are a certain number of human bones and skulls. When the hands point to one o'clock some of the bones unite to form a skeleton, which, actuated by hidden mechanism, springs to its feet, seizes a mallet, and strikes the gong a single blow.

At two o'clock two skeletons repeat the actions, and at three o'clock three skeletons, and so on until twelve, when a dozen of these ghastly objects stand in a row and strike the gong in an uncanny burlesque of human actions.

The Reason.

A man bought a horse at a fair. Before purchasing he was careful to ask whether there was anything the matter with the animal, as the price asked seemed to him below his estimate of its value.

"No," replied the seller, "I know nothing whatsoever again it, 'less it be that he has a trick, a bad trick of shyin' dreadfully when he passes a tavern," which he named. "He's a lamb elsewhere. You see, one of the stable hands there was cruel to him, an' he's never forgot, an' he's never forgave."

The man found the horse admirable in every respect. In order to see if he really possessed temper he determined at last to ride past the obnoxious tavern and see what would happen.

No sooner had he come within sight of the place than out ran the landlord and his stable boy.

"You thief!" cried the landlord.

"We've got you at last, have we? Then the man knew why the horse was supposed to shy at that particular spot."

Trapped in a Room With a Huge Python.

Locked in a small upper room of a three storey house with a huge python for a sole companion, was the experience of Mrs. F. W. Fitzsimmons, wife of the director of the Museum at Port Elizabeth, Natal.

Mr. Fitzsimmons takes an intense interest in reptiles, and as his house is situated near the museum, it occasionally happens that specimens shipped in for the zoological collection are temporarily stored on the third floor of the Fitzsimmons home.

One day, recently, a python measuring about fourteen feet from the top of his evil-looking head to the tip of his shining tail, his body as thick as a man's thigh, was so stored in the little attic room. In this room also was a small wooden trunk, in which Mrs. Fitzsimmons kept the hundred and one treasures a woman never throws away.

On this particular day, with the clear, warm sun shining and the sea breeze sweeping in from the North Jetty, Mrs. Fitzsimmons remembered some articles she wished to get from the wooden trunk in the third floor room and proceeded to obtain them.

Now this room had a spring lock, and, as has been said, the sea breeze was sweeping in from the North Jetty. Mrs. Fitzsimmons, intent on her secret, did not prop the door open, but merely pushed it back and began to rummage in the little wooden trunk and the door slammed. She looked up, her hands full of various articles, and remembered with irritation the spring lock. And then, her heart stood still.

There, across the room, was the big snake, watching her with lidless eyes. Even as she looked, it gathered up its coils preparatory to giving the hammer blow that precedes constriction. She screamed, but no one could hear her. She seized the small stick which should have been left in the doorway to prevent the very calamity that had occurred, but as she took it up she knew that it was useless. The python coiled.

Snake Bruised by Trunk.

With the desperation of fear, Mrs. Fitzsimmons seized the trunk, set it on end, and got behind it just as the snake made its first plunge. The box bruised the hideous flat head and confused the reptile for the moment, and his intended victim took swift advantage of that to climb on the trunk to a small window, at which she screamed for help, clapping her hands for service. In the fashion of the memsahibs in South Africa, thus summoning the Kafirs in the servants quarters to her aid. Help came quickly, and she was soon released from her prison.

It is said that in such cases the worst suffering comes afterward, when the victim has had time to realize the enormity of the danger and reflect upon the narrow margin by which death had passed her. If so, Mrs. Fitzsimmons is surely cast in heroic mould. For, only the next day, one of the Kafirs was instructed to go to the attic room and remove the python to his new quarters now ready for him in the museum.

The huge snake, apparently, had other ideas on the subject. The moment the Kafir seized the python's neck, it wound its dreadful coils about him, pinning one of his arms to his body.

Now the Kafir was of South Africa, which means that he was tall and well made and dark chocolate brown, but also means that he was close to savagery and without fragility or great courage. He shrieked. He called upon his gods and memsahib. His cries arose with a great noise.

Memsahib to the Rescue.

Memsahib herself, reclining after her adventure of the previous day on a cool couch fanned by the sea-breeze that had so nearly been fatal to her a short twenty-four hours before, heard him. She darted up the two flights of stairs, calling to him: "Memsahib comes!"

Memsahib did indeed come. She did not flinch before the lidless eyes of the terrible creature that had so nearly ended her life for her.

"Grip his head tight!" she ordered. "Hold it. Do not, as you value your life, release it. Do you understand?" The Kafir nodded and proceeded to put all his might into executing the order, whereupon Mrs. Fitzsimmons calmly took charge. She seized the reptile's tail, and by strenuous exertion uncoiled the python sufficiently so that the Kafir could break loose, after which other servants, summoned, helped to secure the museum specimen and transport it to its waiting cage.

Severe Kidney Trouble

Mrs. F. Rinehart, Campbellville, Ont., writes:

"I had trouble with my kidneys and very frequent urination. This was followed by pains which at times were very severe. The doctor said I had inflammation of the bladder and that an operation might be necessary. To this I refused, and began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. From the first few doses I felt the benefit. The pains left, urination was corrected, and I have had no recurrence of these ailments."

Proposals Made for Fish Industry.

Laboratory and Curing Plants Urged Upon Government.

OTTAWA, May 25.—Members of the Biological Board have been in Ottawa for some days in consultation with officials of the Government with regard to research work in the fishing industry. It is understood that the board will make some important representations to the Government with regard to the fisheries of both the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia, and will submit definite proposals regarding measures which may be taken for their conservation and extension.

It is probable that at the present session legislation will be introduced changing the constitution of the board so as to enable the Government to appoint as members of the board two men, who will be representative of the fishing industry, one from the Atlantic and one from the Pacific Coast.

May Need Supplementary Vote.
Whether the board's proposals, which follow as a result of consultation with the Department of Marine and Fisheries, will be proceeded with this session depends largely on whether the necessary funds can be secured from the supplementary estimates. Among the proposals which the enlarged board would have the Government adopt, and which would be applicable to both the Atlantic and Pacific fisheries, would be a study of the present methods of catching, handling and distributing fish, with a view to determining how they could be improved. This would involve:

Laboratory Provisions.
(a) Laboratory work in the study of all articles used in the preservation and curing of fish, etc.

(b) A small curing plant to enable accurate determination of the best methods of curing and the extent and rapidity of penetration of the different kinds of salt at different temperatures, and the effects of substances the salt may contain on the fish.

(c) A small drying plant in which the temperature and moisture conditions on any part of the coast could be duplicated so as to enable a determination of what will best meet requirements in the different localities.

(d) A small smokehouse for study which is much needed in connection with smoking fish.

(e) A small freezing plant to enable study on best methods of freezing.

(f) A small plant for canning fish to enable study of that important branch of the industry.

(g) Facilities for studying the best means of reducing fish offal into commercial products, to overcome the tremendous waste of such that is going on.

(h) A kitchen to enable a study of the best methods of preparing fish for the table.—Toronto Globe, May 16th, 1923.

Ground-Work in Tennis.

HOW TO SHAPE FOR YOUR SHOTS.

In lawn tennis, as in many other sports, the beginner is often tempted to put the "cart before the horse." When one sees more practiced players does wonders at the net in a "double," the inclination to stop worrying about plodding away at ground shots and take a hand at the volleying game is often very great.

But unless a player has mastered this branch of the game he cannot hope to shine on the court. One of the chief points to bear in mind in making a ground shot is "Keep well away from the ball." If you are right on top of the ball when it bounds you will be cramped up, your drive will lose its force and the chances are that when you strike you will merely send up a high gentle shot.

The Follow Through.
Therefore remember to keep at arm's length from the ball when you make your shot and see that your racket is held parallel to the ground. Swing the racket well back before making the stroke and do not check the flight of the racket on the point of impact, but allow it to "follow through." At the end of a forehand drive your racket should have been carried right across the body and be pointing over your left shoulder.

The value of the "follow through" lies in the fact that if the racket is not checked as it hits the ball it helps to keep the flight of the ball down more than in the case when the ball is stabbed by a stroke that is stopped short.

When to Strike.
The moment in which the ball should be struck is that in which it has reached the top of its bound. If the stroke is made too soon or too late the ball will probably be driven either into the net or go sailing gaily out of your opponent's court.

When making a forehand drive, the player should turn slightly to his right so that instead of his body being parallel with the net it forms an angle of about 45 degrees, (that is a right angle) with it.

The reason for this turn is obvious. If you make a drive standing square on to the net the ball will naturally be driven away to your left instead of being returned into your opponent's court.

Turn for the Back-Hand Stroke.
But if it is necessary to turn to make a forehand shot it is far more essential to do so when playing a back-hand stroke. In this case the player should carry his right foot across to the left so that when the shot is played, his right shoulder is pointing directly towards the net, whilst his body is at right angles to it.

With regards to the correct grip of the racket, whilst the player should suit his own particular style, it is well to remember that a racket should be held firmly and as close to the end of the handle as possible. When making a back-hand shot, the grip should be altered slightly to allow the thumb to point straight up the handle at the back in order to gain further control.

World's Rarest Stamp.

The world's rarest stamp, the one cent black and magenta issued in British Guiana in 1856, of which only one copy is known, will be included in the collection shown at the London International Stamp Exhibition, at the Royal Horticultural Hall, Westminster. This stamp brought the record price of more than £7,000 in Paris a few months ago.

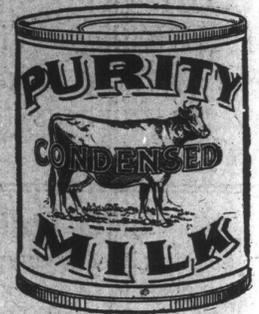

A model stamp-making factory, showing all the processes, will be a feature of the exhibition.

Mr. Irving Glover, third assistant Postmaster-General of the United States, arrived at Southampton yesterday with a collection of 5,000 stamps, valued at £20,000, owned by the American Post Office, which is to be exhibited at the Royal Horticultural Hall.
