CHAPTER XI.

"You had better not ask that question, sir."
"I am your friend, Disbrowe."
"I know it, sir; and for that reason I would not tell you."
"Alfred!"
The young man sprang from his chair, and began pacing violently up and down the room. Mr. De Vere looked at him in something like dismay.

"Lord bless me! It can't be possible?"
"What, sir?"
"That you have gone and fallen in love with—"

"Well!" said Disbrowe. "Make your mind easy on that point. My cousin Augusta is up among the stars—too high above my reach. It happens to be some one nearer the earth."
"Oh!" said Mr. De Vere, looking relieved. I thought, by your manner, it was some one here; and, as Augusta is the only one—

"The only one! You forget you have another daughter!"
"What! Good Heavens!" exclaimed his uncle, in perfect horror. "It is not possible that you love—"

"Jacquetta De Vere! Yes, sir; I do, with all my heart and soul!" fiercely, passionately, exclaimed Disbrowe.
Mr. De Vere felt back, perfectly speechless, in his chair.

"Yes; I love her so well that I would marry her to-morrow, if I could!"
"My dear Alfred, this is—is—is horrible!" gasped Mr. De Vere.
"What! is it such an unheard-of thing, that a man being engaged to one, loves another?"

"No; it is not that. You do not know. Good Heavens! if you only did!" cried Mr. De Vere, perfectly aghast.
"Know what, sir?"
"Oh, I can't tell you—I can't tell you! My dear boy, this is the most unheard-of—the most shocking—I'm astounded. Captain Disbrowe! Love Jacquetta? Why, it's perfectly awful!"

"Really, uncle," said Disbrowe, coldly. "this is very singular, to say the least. Miss Jacquetta appears to be a sort of human Koh-i-noor—a female mysterious princess, whom it is high treason to look at. I do not see anything at all awful about the business."
"Oh, you don't know—you don't know. Good gracious! if you did! Does Jacquetta know this?"
"Yes, sir."
"She does! My dear boy, what did she say?"
"Say? She said so much that I would find it difficult to tell you. I know she got into a towering passion and told me I had insulted her—which was far enough from my thoughts. Heaven knows! One thing you may set your mind at rest about—she doesn't care two coppers for me."

"Heaven be praised for that!"
Disbrowe stopped in his excited walk, and looked at him, as well he might.

Mr. De Vere had recovered from his first paroxysm of horror and astonishment, and was growing calm.
"This is a most unfortunate affair—dreadfully unfortunate—the worst thing that could possibly happen; and I am very sorry for you, my dear boy. Yes; you must go—there is no help for it; but you must return again, sometimes—when you are married!"
A strange sort of smile flickered around Disbrowe's handsome mouth; but his only reply was a slight bow.

"Does she—Jacquetta—I mean—know you are going to-morrow?"
"No, sir."
"Will you tell her?"
"Most assuredly, sir!" said Disbrowe, haughtily. "You do not suppose I am going to steal off without bidding her good-by. I shall see her to-morrow."
"My dear Alfred, I am very sorry, and I know you feel this deeply, but believe me, Jacquetta feels it just as much as you can possibly do."
Disbrowe thought of the scene in Jacinto's chamber, and again that bitter, mocking smile came over his face.

"You must try to forget her; you must try to be happy; you must love your bride. Will you, Alfred?"
"I will try."
"God bless you, my dear boy!"
Disbrowe left the library, and sought his own room, to arrange his affairs before starting. It occupied him until the supper-bell rang; and then he descended the stairs with a small pain at his heart, as he thought it was the last time, in all probability, he should ever hear it.

Neither Jacinto nor Jacquetta appeared, and he was glad of it. Frank was loud in his lamentation, and Augusta looked her regret at losing her cousin.
The clock struck eleven before his uncle and cousin left the drawing room that evening; and he found himself alone with his own thoughts—angry and disappointed, in spite of himself, at her absence. What if he should not see her at all before he left? He strove to persuade himself that he did not care—that she was nothing to him; he thought of her as he had seen her last; but all would not do. The thought that it was the very last time, perhaps, he should ever see her, softened his feelings. She rose before him bright and radiant, as he had first seen her, standing in the golden glory of the bright morning sunshine, and he could remember nothing but that he loved her with all his heart, and was about to lose her forever. With something like a groan, he sat down by the table, and dropped his head on his arm; and for more than an hour he sat there, as still and motionless as if death had stilled forever that impulsive heart. He was so dead to all outer things, that he heard not the door softly open, nor saw the light, delicate figure that stood in the doorway.

It was Jacquetta, paler, perhaps, than usual, but with a cold, proud look on her face, and the defiant fire still smoldering in her dark eyes, ready to blaze up again at one haughty word or supercilious tone. There was that in her look, half-hypocrisy, half-defiance, such as shines through the wild eyes of half-tamed animals; but it softened as it fell on that prostrate figure and young, grief-bowed head. A pang smote her heart at the sight. There was something so forlorn and sorrowful in his attitude—so touching to see in one so proud. She could forget his taunts and bitter words, and remember, with a still softening heart, that she was the cause, and that on the morrow he was going away never to come back. She came over, and one little white hand fell softly and tenderly among the neglected locks of his rich brown hair.

"Dear Alfred!" she said, gently.
He looked up, and the last trace of her anger faded away at the sight of his griefed face and sad, reproachful eyes.
"Oh, Jacquetta! have you come at last?"
"Yes; to bid you good-by."
"You know, then, I am going away?"
"Yes."
"And you are glad, no doubt," he said, with some of his old bitterness.
"We will not quarrel again, Cousin Alfred, if you please. We have had enough of that for one while. Let us part friends."
"Friends we never can be, Jacquetta!"
"I am sorry for it," she said, sadly.
"Something far more or something far less we must be to one another. As cousins we may part—never as friends."
"You will think differently by and by; you are angry now."
"Oh, Jacquetta! I wish to Heaven I had never come here!" he cried, vehemently.
"It is useless wishing that now. It might have been better for each of us if you never had; but what will be will be."
"Oh, Jacquetta! is it too late yet? I will give up everything for you! Perish wealth and rank, when put in competition with this dear hand!"
"Enough, Cousin Alfred. You are raving again. You say we cannot part friends; we will go to the other extreme and part enemies, if you keep on like this. Between you and Jacquetta De Vere lies a gulf as wide as that between Lazarus and Dives, and just as impassable. I will not see you to-morrow; so I have come to bid you good-by and God-speed to-night."
She held out her hand with a faint smile. He took it, and dropped his hot forehead on the cool, white palm.
"And it all ends here, Jacquetta?"
"Yes. Is it not a better ending than that Grizzle Howit prophesied?"
He started, and his face was crimson.
"I have lived in a trance since I came here—the pleasantest one I ever know, and it is very hard this awaking. Oh, Jacquetta! I never knew till now how dear you were to me!"
"You will forget me in a month."
"Never!" he almost fiercely exclaimed.
"You will laugh at this in three months, and wonder you could ever have been such a—shall I say it—simpleton. See if I am not a true prophet!"
He dashed her hand away, and sprang to his feet.
"Jacquetta, you are enough to drive a man mad! Your heart is as hard as a nether millstone! You have no more feeling than a block of iron!"
She smiled slightly, and looked at him with her calm, gray eyes.
"Don't look at me! You drive me frantic with your cold, icy eyes! Good heavens! hot with such a fire in my heart, you can stand before me such an iceberg!"

When engineers of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company recently perfected a practical, commercial method of transmitting pictures by wire, the process was acclaimed mostly for its value in the dissemination of news pictures. It was pointed out that newspapers, when the picture-transmitting stations were generally installed, need no longer wait for trains and ships to bring photographs of far-away happenings. The pictures would be available for publication almost as soon as reports of the events that they illustrated could be transmitted by means of the telegraph.
A few weeks ago, however, another and more dramatic use was found for the new photo-transmitting process. It was demonstrated to be one of the most useful weapons ever put into the hands of the police for their war against the criminal.
With the aid of telegraphed pictures, when a countryside search is instituted for a criminal, the police of distant cities need not depend on a telegraphed "description" of the fugitive. They can have a photograph of him immediately. More, they can have his finger-prints, specimens of his handwriting, or any other sort of identifying material that can be photographed.
As a test of the value of the photo-transmitting process in tracking criminals, the New York police selected a finger-print from the files at Police Headquarters, and telegraphed a photo of it to Chicago. The transmission required about four minutes, and scarcely was it completed when the Chicago police telegraphed back an identification of the man.
Insofar as its first purpose—the transmission of news pictures—is concerned, the new process proved itself beyond question during the recent Republican and Democratic Conventions at Cleveland and New York respectively. Photographs of convention scenes, delegates, and candidates were available for newspaper reproduction in cities near the receiving stations at New York and Cleveland virtually as soon as the telegraphed reports of the convention proceedings were received.
Many attempts have been made to transmit pictures by wire, and several different methods have been devised. This system is the first, though, that has proved practicable both technically and commercially.
The method is so simple that a positive film, made from any photographic negative, is suitable for transmission. The apparatus transmits a picture five by seven inches in a little less than five minutes, and the picture is received in such form that after the usual process of photographic development it is ready for reproduction.
Line drawings, handwriting, and printing, provided it is not too small, also can be transmitted.
The film is inserted in the transmitter by rolling it up in cylindrical form. During operation, a very small and intense beam of light shines through the film onto a photoelectric cell within. The film is rotated at a uniform speed, and by means of a screw mechanism is caused to advance parallel to the axis of the cylinder. The motion of the light relative to the cylinder consequently is the same as that of a photographic needle relative to a cylinder record. Thus, each minute portion of the picture affects the intensity of the light reaching the photoelectric cell.
A photoelectric cell is a device the electrical conductivity of which varies according to the intensity of light directed upon it. In the photographic transmission process, the variation in the amount of light striking the sensitive surface of the cell, caused by the lights and shadows of the picture, gives rise to a current. Through the agency of a vacuum-tube amplifier and modulator, this current controls the telephone line current.
At the receiving end an unexposed photographic film is rotated under a beam of light in a manner similar to that at the transmitting end. Both films rotate at exactly the same speed, and by means of a new device known as a "light valve," the impulses starting from the photoelectric cell at the transmitter, control the amount of light reaching the film at the receiver.
The system has been demonstrated to be applicable to radio when atmospheric conditions are such that soundness of transmission and freedom from interference can be assured.

"Dear Alfred!" she said, gently. He looked up, and the last trace of her anger faded away at the sight of his griefed face and sad, reproachful eyes.
"Oh, Jacquetta! have you come at last?"
"Yes; to bid you good-by."
"You know, then, I am going away?"
"Yes."
"And you are glad, no doubt," he said, with some of his old bitterness.
"We will not quarrel again, Cousin Alfred, if you please. We have had enough of that for one while. Let us part friends."
"Friends we never can be, Jacquetta!"
"I am sorry for it," she said, sadly.
"Something far more or something far less we must be to one another. As cousins we may part—never as friends."
"You will think differently by and by; you are angry now."
"Oh, Jacquetta! I wish to Heaven I had never come here!" he cried, vehemently.
"It is useless wishing that now. It might have been better for each of us if you never had; but what will be will be."
"Oh, Jacquetta! is it too late yet? I will give up everything for you! Perish wealth and rank, when put in competition with this dear hand!"
"Enough, Cousin Alfred. You are raving again. You say we cannot part friends; we will go to the other extreme and part enemies, if you keep on like this. Between you and Jacquetta De Vere lies a gulf as wide as that between Lazarus and Dives, and just as impassable. I will not see you to-morrow; so I have come to bid you good-by and God-speed to-night."
She held out her hand with a faint smile. He took it, and dropped his hot forehead on the cool, white palm.
"And it all ends here, Jacquetta?"
"Yes. Is it not a better ending than that Grizzle Howit prophesied?"
He started, and his face was crimson.
"I have lived in a trance since I came here—the pleasantest one I ever know, and it is very hard this awaking. Oh, Jacquetta! I never knew till now how dear you were to me!"
"You will forget me in a month."
"Never!" he almost fiercely exclaimed.
"You will laugh at this in three months, and wonder you could ever have been such a—shall I say it—simpleton. See if I am not a true prophet!"

French Levy 26 Per Cent. Protective Duty on German Goods

Disarmament Conference is Subject to Ratification--Fighting in China Becomes General.

DEATHS FROM EARTHQUAKE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 20. Sixty deaths and the destruction of three villages are given as the toll of a second earthquake reported in Digen District of Armenia. Large cracks appeared in the ground from which loud subterranean noises were heard. The population of the district were panic-stricken. The Government is sending aid.

PRELIMINARY TO THE CONFERENCE.

GENEVA, Sept. 20. No international conference on the reduction of armaments is possible unless the parliaments of Great Britain and France ratify the proposed protocol on arbitration and security. That much emerges clearly from the statements made by the leaders of the League of Nations Assembly. A British journalist having expressed his doubts that either the British Parliament or those of the Dominions would ratify the protocol, a prominent member of the French delegation came back with the remark that if Great Britain did not ratify the world might be assured that no conference would be held.

FRENCH PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

PARIS, Sept. 20. An import tax of 26 per cent. will be levied on all goods from Germany, beginning Oct. 1, under the terms of a decree published to-day. This protective tariff against German goods was authorized by Parliament three years ago, but was never enforced.

MANCHURIAN LEADER CLAIMS SUCCESS.

TOKYO, Sept. 20. In a communique issued at Mukden Chang Tio Lin, Manchurian leader, claims decisive successes over the forces of the Federal Government of Peking at Liu Ho, north of the capital, and on the Phinfai border, between Chin-Chow on the Peking-Mukden railway, on the railway in Manchuria and Tarovank Ypi Hill, according to press dispatches received here. Chang also claims his second and fourth armies, which are crossing the Chihli border, captured large quantities of munitions.

FOREIGNERS ADVISED TO LEAVE.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 20. Chang Tio Lin, the military dictator of Manchuria, requested the British and U.S. Consuls to warn their countrymen at Chingmangtao, a gulf port of the Manchurian-Chihli border, and Haikgan, an adjoining town, of his intention to bomb these places. The Consuls were asked to advise the foreigners to leave.

ARTILLERY BOMBARDMENT.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 20. There was a short resumption of artillery bombardment at 5 o'clock this morning in the battle area between the Shanghai-Nanking railway and Kaiping, west of here, where the Kiangsu army is vigorously attacking the Chekiang lines defending Shanghai. The artillery duel lasted two hours after which the bombardment subsided, continuing sporadic during the rest of the morning. The headquarters of the Chekiang Army claims gains along the railway around Twangtu. The defences of the foreign settlements of Shanghai are being closely maintained at strategic points along the boundary. The influx of refugees continues unchecked.

DEFENDERS CLAIM GAINS.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 20. In an engagement that started at daybreak, reinforced Chekiang troops, on the front between the Shanghai-Nanking railway line and Kaiping forced the invading Kiangsu forces back, strengthened their line and retained the positions near Hwangtu, 15 miles west of here.

TANKER ON FIRE.

HALIFAX, Sept. 20. The tank steamer Ivor was reported this afternoon to be adrift and abandoned 500 miles east of Sable Island and liable to blow up at any moment. Advice came by wireless to the local agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department and all shipping was warned to keep clear of the danger zone. The crew had been taken off by the Baltic American Line steamer Lithuania, which had headed for Halifax.

SEAPLANE SINKS.

FELIXSTOW, Eng., Sept. 21. The seaplane which was to have been Great Britain's entry for the Schneider Cup race, to be flown near Baltimore Oct. 24 and 25, descended on the water Friday night after a trial flight and sank; the pilot being rescued by a motor boat. The seaplane, which had been especially built by the

Air Ministry, will not be entered in the race now, even if the attempt to salvage it are successful.

37 VILLAGES WIPED OUT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 20. Of 46 villages on the bank of the river Aras, in Armenia, 37 have been destroyed by the recent earthquake. Details of casualties and of material damage done are lacking here. The shocks are continual in Erzerum District and in numerous places large fissures have developed. Shocks are also being felt in the neighbourhood of Kars.

LABOR DELEGATE ADDRESSES A CANADIAN GATHERING.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 20. "A Labor Government in power in Canada may not come within life time if only because it is based on justice and right," said J. T. Brownlee, the Fraternal Delegate from the British Trade Unions to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, in course of a speech before large meeting here last night. "If the people of Canada," he said "had any real desire to translate the sermon of the Mount into acts of legislation, they would find that there are plenty of men and women in the Labor Party who are as anxious as themselves to put into practice the every day tenets of the Prince of Peace."

ENCROACHING ON DANGEROUS GROUND.

TIENTSIN, Sept. 20. Hanghaikwan, a border town on the Peking-Mukden Railway, was shelled on Friday morning, according to a correspondent, several civilians being killed or wounded. Appeals have been made to the British and United States Consuls, to protest against the shelling of civilians. One of Chang Tio Lin's airplanes dropped a bomb on the same day at Phinwang Tao, in Phihli. The bomb fell between two British steamers anchored off the breakwater.

Rod and Gun for October

The readers of the October issue of Rod and Gun in Canada are introduced to the intimate haunts of the elk, the red fox and the moose. The Bugler of Crystal Mountain by Naine LeRoy Gayle is an unusually interesting biography of the elk. Bonny castle Dale, in his best style, makes us acquainted with Sly Reynard in Nova Scotia. Sure Fire Fishing on French River by J. E. Kerrott is a description of an ideal place for the sport of the angler. Bob White's Rival, a story of Hungarian partridge hunting in Alberta, by W. D. Elliot is equally interesting reading and Back to Nature, by "Timber It" and Surprises for Miller by Martin Hunter, are two particularly entertaining sketches. In addition to these in this well illustrated number, there are numerous other worth-while articles and stories and the regular contributors have packed their departments full of interesting material from first hand experience.

Treasure Hunt by Seaplane in South Atlantic

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Seaplanes will be used in a treasure hunt in the South Atlantic if a scheme now being promoted develops. The treasure is believed to be hidden in a grim and rocky little island named Trinidad, nearly 700 miles from the coast of Brazil. The tradition is that centuries ago a band of pirates after rifting a Spanish vessel, were themselves chased by pirates. In their haste they buried the treasure on this islet, hoping to return and secure it later. As it happened, however, they were caught, and all were hanged. The island, which is little more than an uninhabited rock of eight square miles, has been visited by more than one treasure-seeking expedition. Its rocks, however, are washed by such seas that often for weeks on end it is not possible to land or to leave. All the expeditions hitherto have been forced to abandon their quest. The promoters of the present project believe that a party might be landed on one of the few occasions when the sea is not rough, and supplies could be maintained during an indefinite period, if necessary, by flying-boats or seaplanes.

Seized Truck With 1100 Gallons Alcohol

Hyannis, Mass., Sept. 15.—A truck that was supposedly an oil container, but which gave off both alcohol and gasoline from its false bottom, was seized by State and local police here to-day with its cargo of 1100 gallons of alcohol. Officers were investigating ownership of the truck, which was found in the rear of a tea house here on premises ostensibly leased to S. B. Picroni of Boston.

Tidal Force for Power

The possibility of using the tidal force of the Bay of Fundy for the generation of electric power has long been mooted, although it has hardly reached the experimental stage as yet. But in the Old Country, owing to the increasing cost of coal and the lack of big rivers and mountains to furnish waterpower, the Government is considering the possibility of utilizing tidal power as a means of generating electricity. The harnessing of the Severn, proposed by Sir Eric Geddes, is being investigated as to its practicability under Philip Snowden, the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Severn is the greatest tidal estuary in Great Britain. A barrage below Bristol, only 115 miles from London, would develop 600,000 horsepower, create a lock basin of twenty-seven square miles for shipping, save a fifty-mile detour for a heavy road traffic and permit the laying of valuable railroad tracks. The Snowden committee will report only upon the geological formation which underlies the dam site. The cost of the project, even before the war, was guessed at as $150,000,000. The Severn project is in vastness second only to the proposed power and ship development of the St. Lawrence River by Canada and the United States. The creation of a great hydro-electric development probably would encompass an industrial revolution in the British Isles.—Morning Chronicle.

An Explanation of What Chiropractic Is FOR THOSE WHO DO NOT UNDERSTAND ITS TRUE MEANING.

By WM. H. MACPHERSON.

A fall occurs in many ways. The fall is a small thing. It happens to thousands. A tumble down a stairway is a small thing, it happens to thousands. A slip on the icy roadway in winter is a small thing, it happens to thousands. A strain or wrench occurs in various ways. The strain or wrench is a small thing, it happens to thousands. The fall or tumble, the slip, the strain or wrench produces a sub-luxation. The sub-luxation is a small thing. The sub-luxation produces a pressure on a nerve. The pressure cuts off the flow of mental impulses (life force). That is a small thing. That decreased flowing of the life force produces a diseased body and brain. That is a big thing to that man.

WHAT WELL MEN MEAN.

Multiply that sick man by hundreds and you control the physical and mental welfare of a city. Multiply that man by thousands and you shape the physical and mental destiny of a country. Multiply that one vertebral (spinal) column by all of them in the world, and you can see the master key to the sane or insane thoughts and healthy or sick actions of the world.

Every man, woman and child living has a backbone. Every backbone has subluxations. Every subluxation is producing a disease, so the fall or tumble, the slip, the strain or wrench, the subluxation, pressure flow of mental impulses and disease is big enough to control thoughts and actions of a world. Now comes a man—and any one man is a small thing. This man gives an adjustment, and the adjustment is a small thing. The adjustment replaces the subluxation, and that is a small way. The adjusted subluxation replaces pressure upon nerves, and that is a small thing. The released pressure restores health to a man, and that is a big thing to that man. Multiply that well man by hundreds and you step up the physical and mental welfare of a city. Multiply that well man by thousands and you increase the efficiency of a country, and you have produced a healthy and better race for posterity. Multiply one Chiropractor by a sufficient number to adjust all the subluxations and you have made sane all the insane; made well all the sick.

CRYING FOR ADJUSTMENTS.

Every disease is crying out for an adjustment. Every adjustment demands the Chiropractor. It makes no difference whether that subluxation occurs in, and the adjustment be given to a male or female, young or old, white or black, on the mountain top or in the valley, in the desert or on a ship, at the North Pole or the Equator.

The Chiropractic message is for the body what the God given message is for the soul. A gospel for the multitudes, for all people, for all colors, for all countries, for all conditions. It brings life easier, it makes life easier. It adds years to life and life to years.

Dresses, Coats, Costumes, Hats, Blouses, Accessories

TO-MORROW AND FOLLOWING DAYS

DOWN THE AUTUMN TRAIL COME THE MANNEQUINS OF FASHION. THE MODE HAS SAID HER SAY—MINGLING THE GRACE OF OLD SPAIN AND FRANCE WITH MODERN YOUTH'S VERVE AND DASH. SHE'S SHORTENED THE SKIRTS—BUT TO HEIGHTEN THE HATS. HESITATED, TOO, BETWEEN REED-LIKE STRAIGHTNESS AND SILHOUTTES—A FLARE BELOW THE KNEE. FIXED ON A THOUSAND VARIANTS OF SMART SIMPLICITY

Coat "Entries"

IN FASHION'S RACE.

The "favourite," of course, is the long Wrappy Coat with gorgeous lining. Rich are the materials—luxurious the furs that form its collars and cuffs. Not a Coat that's "in the running" is without its rows of buttons—and Fashion's colours are: Penny Brown, Sand, Grey, Dark Fawn, Black, Navy, etc., etc. English travelling Coats have a "thoroughbred" air—in "noisy" Plaids or two-toned effects with swagger fullness.

PRICE RANGE FROM

11.98 to 65.00

Now, as first leaves fall, Fashion Week at "THE BROADWAY" reveals the mode authentic. Out of our many years of Fashion experience we have chosen signed models from the clever adoptions of New York. Depend on it—they'll be continued successes as well as Fashion leaders

Dresses 9.98

OF A NEW SHORTNESS.

Chic, dashing, brimful of joy are the new daytime Frocks. Straight as a reed from neck to hem—a Chinese tunic or Victorian flounce—long or short sleeves or none at all—Corded Silks, Velvets, Satins, Cantons—so runs the tale of Fashion. Like gems to gleam 'neath evening lights are the bouffant dance frocks every one loves. A-flutter with Ostrich, a-glitter with beads, they swirl in clouds of Chiffon and Lace

All New York is Wearing

The New Costume

The one fashion featured unanimously at all New York openings. It's the aristocrat of the mode—with its touches of fur—its long six-eighths Coat lined with the dress material. Such a versatile affair, too; trim enough for travelling and rich enough for receptions. The New Fall Fashions also presents plain tailored Costumes in such rich materials as: Broad Cloth, Velour, Tricotine, Poiret Twill, with beautiful dress linings and Canton crepe. Every costume interlined. Colors are: Black, Navy, Sand, Brown, etc. PRICES RANGE FROM

19.50 to 45.00

of originality in Autumn Velvets
and Silks.

Hundreds of them have arrived. Their loveliness, their daring, their originality is amazing, and yet there is not a bizarre hat among them. Lyons Velvet and Panne Velvet are the favoured fabrics, plain or combined with corded silks, etc. Trimmings are new—a leather banding—a dashing ornament or gay feathers. PRICES RANGE FROM

3.75 to 8.50

Again the TUNIC—
This Time in BLOUSES

Their long, slim lines are magical—transforming Autumn Skirts into Autumn "ensembles." Some have embroidery, others the rows of buttons that New York and Paris loves. There's a new note, too, in shorter overblouses for Suits—they are one mass of tiny pleats or graceful with jabots. PRICES RANGE FROM

4.48 to 7.98

HOSE

A complete range of Silk and Silk and Wool Hose, in colors to match your Autumn Dress or Costume. Every pair priced at most reasonable prices.

Billiard Champion Presented With Warren Cup

PLEASING EVENT AT THE B.I.S. CLUB ROOMS ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

A very pleasing event took place at the B.I.S. Club Rooms on Saturday night when W. J. Skinner, Billiard Champion of Newfoundland, received a handsome silver cup, donated by W. Warren, K.C., and which was presented for under the auspices of the Newfoundland Amateur Billiard Association in a tournament last spring. The affair was conducted in the room, and a large assembly of billiard fans and sports were present. President of the Association, Mr. J. Martin, presided. W. J. O'Neill, Chairman of the B.I.S. L. & A. Committee welcomed Mr. Warren after which Mr. Martin, acting in behalf of the donor, Mr. Warren, in a very appropriate address, congratulated Mr. Skinner and presented to him the cup. Skinner, in rising to respond, was enthusiastically applauded. The following toasts were then duly honored: The Donor—Prop. Mr. J. C. Pippy. The Losers—Prop. Mr. J. G. Higgins; Resp. Mr. J. Edwards. The Game—Prop. Mr. D. French; Resp. Mr. Snow. The Absent Friends—Prop. The Chairman, coupling the name of Hon. J. Higgins, K.C.; Resp. Mr. Pippy. The Chairman—Prop. W. J. O'Neill; Resp. Mr. W. J. Martin. Songs were rendered by Messrs. Wallace, Jackman, and others, whilst community singing was an added attraction; and Mr. Higgins' recitation received well merited applause. Refreshments of an "appropriate character" were served, and it was not until midnight that the gathering dispersed, after the singing of Auld Lang Syne, and the National Anthem.

The 9th Commandment at Majestic To-Night

PARAMOUNT FEATURE AN APPEALING STORY.

The 9th Commandment—Thou shalt not covet. The missing word or words are told in the unique feature. One of Fannie Hurst's noted stories, "The 9th Commandment," said to be similar in appeal and dramatic strength to the same author's "Hunger," has been screened by the Metropolitan Corp. for Paramount, and it will be the feature attraction at the Majestic Theatre to-night. The story deals with a department store girl who marries a fellow clerk who later develops tubercular troubles. Told that her husband will die unless he goes to the country for a long stay, the unhappy wife, all but penniless, resorts to desperate methods to obtain the money required. This development is the expansion of the theme of the picture—that there are other than the Ten Commandments which men and women must not violate. The leading roles are portrayed by Helen Moore, James Morrison and Eddie Phillips. The picture was directed by Frank Borzage and adapted by Frances Marion, both of whom collaborated in the making of "Humoresque." The picture is thrilling and intensely appealing. There are many phases dealing with the subject which are held over as it might prejudice the opinions of patrons. The remarkable ending of the feature is very much different than the great majority. See this splendid story and be satisfied that you saw one of the best ever written by Fannie Hurst.

Disturbance Created

Excitement reigned supreme on Saturday night near the Post Office and for several minutes all traffic was suspended. An aged gentleman had fainted while coming from the telephone window. He clasped a message in his hand and on opening same, it was found to contain the sad news that practically all the tickets were gone for next Wednesday's Smoker at the Casino.—adv.

Expresses Appreciation

By last mail, Mr. H. Saunders received a letter from Mr. H. F. Glass, now City Auditor, Halifax, stating that he and his family had quite a smooth trip, but the children were a little seasick. He says: "We felt a little sad at leaving so many friends behind. We shall always remember the pleasant times we had in the ancient colony and the kindness shown to us. We shall always welcome any of our friends who happen to be passing through Halifax and do all we can for them."

A Foolhardy Feat

On Saturday night about half past nine a motor car was noticed proceeding west along Water Street with two merry passengers sitting on the front bumpers. As far as can be learned they concluded their foolhardy ride without mishap.

Personal

The Rev. Geo. Pickering, who had been in the city attending the services conducted by Rev. Dr. Morgan, left for his home in Lower Island Cove, this morning.

Master Jack Cotter, the well known St. Bon's hockeyist, left by S.S. Sylvia on Saturday for Antigonish, where he will enter St. Francis Xavier College to continue his studies.

Mr. Ken Goodyear left for his home Grand Falls by yesterday's express.

Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C., and Mrs. Howley are passengers on the incoming express.

Major A. R. Moncrieff, aide-de-camp to his Excellency the Governor left by the Digby yesterday for England.

Amongst the passengers who arrived by Saturday's express was Mr. Ray Pushie. Mr. Pushie has been in New York taking a special course in ballroom dancing from Mr. Arthur Murray, and having successfully passed his examinations, has been accepted as a member of the National Institute of Social Dancing. He reopens his classes shortly.

Excursion Train Well Patronized

Upwards of 800 people availed of the last excursion train for the season yesterday, for points as far as Kelligrews. The greater number got off at Topsail and witnessed the departure of the Special Service Squadron.

Motor Car Hits Bridge

Last night a motor car proceeding to town when crossing Doyle's Bridge near the Goulds, hit the railing and barely escaped going into the ravine. About 14 feet of the rail was carried away.

The Squadron Departs for England

On Saturday the perfect weather enabled many persons to pay a final visit to the ships of the Special Service Squadron. Children's parties, totaling in all about four hundred, were made up from Methodist College, Mt. Cashel, St. Patrick's Hall, Holy Cross, and the Presentation Convent, and they were shown over the Hood and the Repulse. In addition to the sights to be seen on board, the trip over the waters of the Bay, on which there was scarcely a ripple, made the outing all the more enjoyable.

Early yesterday morning smoke began to rise from the funnels of the ships, and throughout the day the crews could be seen actively preparing for sea. At three o'clock in the afternoon the last boat left Topsail pier, and conveyed on board H.M.S. Hood, several officers and Mr. Leonard Outerbridge, Masters Edgar Hickman and Campbell Macpherson, who have gone as passengers to England. The boats having been hoisted in and stowed away, the ships moved up to their anchors about five-thirty, and shortly afterwards were underway. Contrary to the expectations of many who had assembled at Topsail to witness their departure, the ships took a course which carried them to the north of Kelly's and Bell Island, and consequently the view of them as they steamed out was disappointing. The Hood took the lead, followed by the Repulse with the Adelaide bringing up the rear, and the last seen of them was a smudge on the horizon as they passed out to sea, homeward bound, between Baccalieu Island and Cape St. Francis.

If the weather during their visit was at times somewhat boisterous, it certainly made up for the unpleasantness yesterday. From sunrise to sunset scarcely a breath of wind disturbed the surface of Conception Bay, the sky was cloudless and Old Sol made those who were warmly clothed glad to discard their outer garments.

Is This The Way To Advertise?

All the world has heard of the undeveloped natural resources of this Colony, but as yet there is no rush of investors anxious to find an outlet for their capital.

This fact is strikingly illustrated in a pamphlet entitled "The Forestry of Newfoundland" which was prepared for distribution to visitors at Wembley.

According to Mr. Turner, no official information exists as to the extent of the timbered country on that peninsula.

Quoting Mr. Horwood on conservation, the pamphlet says: "The loss to forest wealth in Newfoundland to this date is very slight from the use of the axe compared with the ravages of fire."

As long as the information which we possess of our natural resources is of such a meagre nature it is useless to expect the interest of the capitalist to be attracted to Newfoundland.

have been carefully prepared. There is no Government Geologist, and the geological surveys which exist should be extended.

His comments upon the coal areas appear in a pamphlet circulated at the Wembley Exhibition, and the sceptical manner in which they are treated tends to defeat the very object for which the exhibition was held.

Squadron's Appreciation Voiced by Admiral

TO THE PRIME MINISTER.

H.M.S. "Hood," Special Service Squadron, At Topsail Bay, 20th September, 1924.

Sir—Before leaving Newfoundland I desire on behalf of the officers and crew of the Special Service Squadron, to convey to you and your fellow ministers our most cordial thanks for all that has been done to make the visit of the Squadron to Newfoundland so enjoyable.

We have been very fortunate to have had such a comparatively long stay in Newfoundland waters as it has enabled us not only to meet and become friendly with a large number of the inhabitants, but the rest and amusement after a strenuous period in Newfoundland waters have been of great benefit to us all. The people of Newfoundland have maintained to the full their traditional hospitality and kindness to officers and men of the Royal Navy, and nothing has been left undone to make our stay a complete success.

The splendid work performed during the Great War by the seamen and officers of which the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve formation will never be forgotten, and one of the most pleasant features of this visit has been the meetings with so many of our former comrades in arms.

When I wrote my letter to His Excellency the Governor I had not heard of the terrible tragedy which has caused universal sorrow. In carrying our comrades in the Royal Navy, we extend the deepest sympathy to the bereaved families of the people of Newfoundland, whose sorrow we share.

In conclusion I beg to extend to you our best wishes for the future prosperity and success of the "oldest colony" in the Empire. I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, (Sgd.) F. FIELD, Vice-Admiral Commanding Special Service Squadron.

The Honourable, the Prime Minister of Newfoundland.

TO THE MAYOR.

At Topsail Bay, 20th September, 1924. Sir—On the eve of departure from Newfoundland waters I desire on behalf of the Special Service Squadron, to thank you for the great kindness and hospitality shown by you and the fellow citizens during the most pleasant visit which is now drawing to a close.

It is a matter for regret to all of us that we were unable to anchor in St. John's Harbour, but the excellent transport facilities provided from Topsail and the universal welcome extended to us by the people of the capital resulted in our being able to spend many enjoyable days in St. John's and making friends with a large number of the inhabitants.

I was very pleased that it was possible to arrange a ceremonial march through the streets of St. John's, and the loyalty and enthusiasm shown by the inhabitants on that occasion were most sincerely appreciated by all who took part in the march.

In conclusion I desire to convey to the people of St. John's our best wishes for the future prosperity of the city.

I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, F. L. FIELD, Vice-Admiral Commanding Special Service Squadron.

The Mayor of St. John's, Newfoundland.

MAYOR'S REPLY.

September 20th, 1924. Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick L. Field, G.C.B., C.M.G., Commanding Special Service Squadron, H.M.S. Hood, Sir—I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of your letter of even date, and desire to thank you for the expression of appreciation contained therein.

Whilst joining in the general regret that you were unable to anchor in St. John's Harbour, I am cognizant of the hazard you would have run in attempting to do so, and our citizens all the more deeply appreciate your action in arranging for the ceremonial march through our city streets, which afforded them an opportunity to give expression to their feelings of loyalty and welcome.

I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, F. L. FIELD, Mayor of St. John's, Newfoundland.

TO THE PRIME MINISTER.

H.M.S. "Hood," Special Service Squadron, At Topsail Bay, 20th Sept. 1924.

Dear Major Outerbridge—Before leaving Newfoundland I wish, on behalf of the officers and men of the Special Service Squadron, to thank you and the members of the Entertainment Committee most heartily for all they have done to make the visit of the Squadron so very enjoyable.

Apart from the great hospitality which has been extended to us, I know perfectly well what a large amount of work this visit has thrown on you and your Committee, and your difficulties have been greatly increased by the distance of the Squadron from St. John's. I hope that the success of your efforts will be as great a satisfaction to you as they have been a pleasure to us.

It is quite impossible for me to write individually to all those who have extended hospitality or who have arranged for our entertainment by organizing shooting and fishing parties, sporting accommodation, and placing their motor cars at our disposal to mention only a few of the greatly appreciated kindnesses we have received. Will you therefore please let them know how very grateful we are and how much they have contributed to the enjoyment of our visit?

We shall leave Newfoundland with the most pleasant memories of the kindness and hearty hospitality of the people it has been our privilege to meet. Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) F. L. FIELD, Major Leonard Outerbridge, c/o Harvey & Co., St. John's.

Newfoundland, the Oldest Daughter of the British Empire, has ever in the past responded readily to a call from the Motherland, and the present visit of the Special Service Squadron will be the means of cementing that bond of affection which has always existed between them.

In conclusion I desire to thank you for the many courtesies extended our people, and wish you and your command a pleasant voyage in the last stage of your World Tour. I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, TASKER COOK, Mayor.

TO THE CHAIRMAN'S COMMITTEE.

H.M.S. "Hood," Special Service Squadron, At Topsail Bay, 20th Sept. 1924.

Dear Major Outerbridge—Before leaving Newfoundland I wish, on behalf of the officers and men of the Special Service Squadron, to thank you and the members of the Entertainment Committee most heartily for all they have done to make the visit of the Squadron so very enjoyable.

We shall leave Newfoundland with the most pleasant memories of the kindness and hearty hospitality of the people it has been our privilege to meet. Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) F. L. FIELD, Major Leonard Outerbridge, c/o Harvey & Co., St. John's.

TO THE CHAIRMAN'S REPLY.

St. John's Newfoundland, 20th Sept. 1924. Dear Sir Frederick Field—I beg to thank you for your kind letter of September 20th, written to me as Chairman of the Squadron's Entertainment Committee.

I shall make its contents known to all who helped in entertaining the Squadron, and I assure you that we greatly appreciate what you have written.

I know I am expressing the feelings of everyone in St. John's, when I say, that our only regret is that our harbour could not contain your splendid Squadron, and that the difficulties of distance and other circumstances forced us to modify our programme, and prevented us from doing all we should like to have done for you.

We, on our part, wish to thank you for the opportunity afforded to all to visit your ships, and for the fine parade which we were privileged to see in our city.

I am asking you to accept, for H.M.S. "Hood," the accompanying head of a Newfoundland Caribou from the Entertainment Committee on behalf of the citizens of St. John's, as a memento of your welcome visit here, which will always be remembered by Newfoundlanders with pride and pleasure.

We all wish the Special Service Squadron a safe and pleasant journey home. Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) LEONARD C. OUTERBRIDGE.

Susu in Port

S. S. Susu, Capt. Jacob Kean, arrived from the Fogo Mail Service yesterday at 3 a.m., after a round trip of 6 days. She brought a large freight and as passengers—Dr. Thompson, G. Field, G. S. Stranger, C. Hubley and son, B. Woodman, Mrs. Woodman, Misses Parsons, Howland, Butt, Moulton, Allen, Kean and two in steerage. Capt. Kean reports a good sign of fish at Fogo, Joe Batt's Arm and Change Islands for haddock and herring. Up to Thursday last the boats averaged as high as 15 qts daily. The trap fishery is now over and south of Tilling nothing at all is being done. While the ship was on her way south on Friday last a number of schooners passed Muirgrave being home, all apparently well fished at Westville. A number of schooners had already returned from the Straits of Labrador with fares from 700 to 12,000 qts.

Dr. Campbell Morgan's Address

AT S.A. TRAINING COLLEGE.

At 8 a.m. Sunday Dr. Campbell Morgan visited the Salvation Army Training College, Springdale Street, and took breakfast with 38 Cadets, who are now in training for Officership. Cpl. and Mrs. Cloud, Major and Mrs. Tilley and the city Officers were also present. The following is a part of Dr. Morgan's address in connection with this appreciated visit.

"Colonel Cloud, my dear old friend, it is a great joy for me to be here this morning. We have known each other for many, many years, having first met in the year 1887 in a little town in Cheshire. We have met on many different occasions, and when I arrived here in St. John's I was delighted to find that Colonel Cloud was here. I might talk this morning about my unwavering, passionate love for the Salvation Army. I might talk to you about the Founder, or the Mother of the Salvation Army—anyone who came in touch with her personally will never get away from her influence. I cannot find words adequate to express the influence of her personality upon my life. I suppose I would be in the Army were it not for her. I still have the little pencilled letter written by her in a frame in my study; she sent for me, and it was my conversation with her that decided that I should not be in the Army as an officer. After a long talk she said to me, 'Are you convinced that you can serve God nowhere but in the Army?' To which I answered 'No.' She said, 'I think you are right; don't come in the Army, if you come in the Army with your passion for souls, what is going to become of the churches?'"

He then turned to the last Chapter of John, which he felt was very appropriate on this occasion: referring to Christ's question to Peter, 'Lovest Thou Me?' This question was asked after that memorial breakfast on the Gallies, the Lord having made the fire and cooked the fish Himself. In the question 'Lovest Thou Me?' and the answer 'Thou knowest I love Thee', the word love represents two different Greek words. The first time Jesus asked him he used the verb 'to love', which is not emotional but affectionate. Simon answered 'Lord Thou knowest,' etc. 'Do you love Me with a high love?' He answered, 'Lord, Thou knowest, I love Thee.' He asked him the third time. Peter was grieved because he asked him the third time. I wonder if he knew the meaning of the high word love. The love that Jesus was seeking was the love that is intelligent and devoted, explained in the verse in which Ruth says, 'Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clave unto her.' Then it was that Jesus gave Peter his first commission: 'Feed My sheep! Feed My lambs!' Christ did not mean the sheep who are members of the church, or the children of the church, but His sheep was the whole world—the outcasts and the lowest of society. To you it means the people of the entire island, the children of the entire island. When Jesus went about in the flesh He saw the multitudes, as moved without a shepherd, and was grieved with compassion. The morning on the shore of the lake He spoke to one man, 'Feed My lambs. Shepherd My sheep.' To do this it may mean a grim battle with the wolf, in which you may die, but this is the commission, my comrades.

The four outstanding reasons why Peter became a disciple was his attraction by— The marvellous personality of Jesus. His supremacy. The horror of the Cross. The glory of the Cross in the light of the Resurrection.

When Andrew first brought his brother Simon to Jesus and Jesus said 'Thou shalt be Rock,' Simon was silent, never answering a word, but he was surprised and amazed. The biggest difficulty Peter had was to keep his mouth shut; but when Jesus said 'Thou shalt be Rock,' Peter, so full of will power yet always in trouble, was amazed—he fell at the attraction of Christ's personality. You and I will never be able to help the shepherd find the sheep unless we feel His personality.

Jesus later said to Peter 'Who do you say that I am?' Peter answered 'Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God.' He knew that he could not put Him in comparison with anyone else. 'Thou art above them all.' Some people have mingled the name of Jesus with Socrates, Plato and others. Cadets! Jesus has no place among any philosophers or celebrities of the world. He is supreme, and Peter felt His supremacy, so must you. There came another crisis to Peter, suddenly he found himself confronted with the tragedy of the Cross immediately after his confession, and we can somewhat sympathize with Peter. He said 'What! go to the Cross?' Those hands that never did any wrong suspended to the Cross. Peter was up against the vulgarities of the Cross. I use the word vulgarities because the Cross is the ultimate revelation of sin, until we have seen the horror of the Cross we do not know our own sin—Peter saw it, but it was not until he had found Him alive from the dead in the light of the Cross after the Resurrection that Jesus said to him 'Now do you love me? Feed My lambs! Do you love me with a high love? Feed My sheep!' Do we feel the attraction of Christ's personality as He stands in the light of the world and sin, or do we see Him in the light of the Cross after the Resurrection. The joy we found when first we saw the Lord is not to be compared with the joy of to-day.

May God give you all the desire of your hearts, that through you, His sheep may be shepherd. I shall cherish the memory of these few moments with you, and I do pray that God may make the message something that will abide with you.

Colonel Cloud in a few well chosen words thanked Dr. Morgan for his valued visit, and assured him that the memory of the gathering would ever remain with all present.

The Public Defender It Does Not Appear That One is Required in This Country. A special committee of the Canadian Bar Association has been considering the question of a public defender and a guarded report has been made. The proposal is a curious development of the modern attitude towards criminals. The old idea was that when a man committed a real crime and became a danger to his fellows, the state should curtail his liberty until he became repentant, and, at any rate, keep him where he could not prey on honest folks for a period fitting the crime. Generally, this worked out fairly satisfactorily. If the accused was too poor, a lawyer was appointed for his defence. Of late years, especially in the United States, it has been most difficult to convict a malefactor, the law's machinery being easy to manipulate in favor of the offender, and where money is available in large amounts, it is almost impossible to secure deserved punishment. Such high authorities as former President Tatt have lamented the tendency towards delay and the ineffectiveness of the Criminal Courts to render justice as it should be rendered. The delays are interminable and court trials have taken on the nature of a circus. Certainly there does not seem to be need for public defenders there. Rather does there seem to be required a strengthening of the hands of the district attorneys and others entrusted with the enforcement of the criminal laws. In Canada, the situation is not like across the border, but there is always a tendency to lean toward things American, so conditions in the United States Courts may be reflected to a certain extent in the Courts of parts of the Dominion. There are now appeals from sentence in criminal cases in Canada, which is right. It is doubtful if public defenders are necessary. There is provision for defence of criminals, and surely the judges are competent and truthful enough to see that the accused has a fair trial. It would seem like an anomaly for the state to try to punish him with one hand, while with the other it attempted to prevent that very punishment provided for in the statute books.—The Review. ### Dr. Grenfell to Have Radio

SEVEN SETS FOR LABRADOR MISSION.

After the experience of many months of dependence on dog sledges and small vessels to keep him in contact with the outside world, Wilfred T. Grenfell, the "Labrador doctor," whose work in behalf of natives and fishermen has received world-wide recognition, will now have the opportunity of trying out the value of radio in the many hospitals scattered through Labrador and Newfoundland.

Thinking first of the patients and volunteer workers among whom he has been spending a life of sacrifice, Dr. Grenfell is hopeful that all of the missions under the jurisdiction of the International Grenfell Association will be equipped with the latest marvel of science, that will bring to these dreary outposts of civilization, the finest music and educational facilities.

Seven complete receiving sets of the finest grade, entirely the product of American manufacturers, are to be installed in the Grenfell missions this fall by C. A. Service, assistant secretary of the American Radio Relay League, who was assigned the work by the Grenfell Association. He left Boston Sunday, August 24, having shipped all of the radio equipment.

Much of the inspiration in behalf of the project has been furnished by Eldon Macleod, treasurer of the Mason Regulator company of Dorchester Center, and associated for some time in the work of the New England Grenfell Association. Mr. Macleod has taken a great interest in the matter and it is through his financial assistance and the co-operation of manufacturers that the expense was met.

The assistance of the American Radio Relay League was requested for the purpose of selecting the equipment and allowing its assistant secretary the necessary leave of absence in which to undertake the installing of the sets. He will also investigate the power facilities of the mission in order to determine whether it will be possible to install amateur telegraph transmitters for inter-communication.

The need for a special radio service of this kind was made evident when in the middle of winter, fire destroyed one of the hospitals and the facilities were such that it was found impossible to get any word to the outside world for two months. The survivors were compelled to depend on dog teams to reach their ultimate destination and the task forms one of the interesting annals of the Grenfell Association.

In winter all but the largest of the hospitals are closed and the personnel remaining are faced with eight months of extreme cold during which communication with other missions, or base of supply, is practically impossible by the primitive means to which the doctors and the other workers in the field are forced to resort. Only radio can bring to these people the vital contact with civilization.

What the marvels of broadcast reception will mean to the natives who have never been outside of Labrador, it is difficult for anyone to conjecture, but Dr. Grenfell was quick to see the educational possibilities for them and a means of relieving the monotony of the winter months for those unaccustomed to the life and environment.

The equipment which has been selected through the A. R. R. L. will include three Sleeper Monotrol 4 tube sets, manufactured by the Sleeper Radio Corporation; two 8 tube regenerative sets, obtained from the Crosley Manufacturing Company; one Atwater Kent received with 5 tubes, and a 5 tube Neutrodyne donated by Mr. Macleod.

The supply of UV199 and UV201A tubes was obtained from the Radio Corporation of America, the "A" and "B" batteries from the Burgess Battery Company and special antenna wire from the Copperweld Steel Company. But for the co-operation of the foregoing manufacturers, the difficulties attending the entire project would have been enhanced.

Be sure and read the street car posters on Wednesday. The first man finding the mistake in the posters gets a free ticket for the Gies Company's Smoker—adv.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

A STRANGE REWARD.

If people are thoughtful and unselfish, do you reward them by not taking advantage of their unselfishness? Or do you punish them by putting on their shoulders not only their share of any burden but the share which someone else ought to carry? If you have a child who is quick and helpful do you find yourself giving him more than his share of the work because he will accept it pleasantly, and letting off those who are more inclined to be lazy? If you have a helper in the home or the office who is unusually willing do you find yourself taking unfair advantage of that willingness? Is it playing fair? It's awfully hard not to, of course. But if you like and admire that spirit of helpfulness and generous service, you are hardly playing fair in taking advantage of it. Two dear old ladies of my acquaintance keep house together. The younger is a widow with four children. She enjoys living with her sister and means to live that way as long as the latter lives, but if she dies she will have to make other plans. She was asked one day what she would do then and she said: "Well, I think I'd go and spend the night with James and his wife, and then I'd spend a week with Jane, and a month with Gertrude, if she wasn't at some convention somewhere and then I'd go and spend the rest of my days with Ruth." That was a well deserved tribute to Ruth's unselfishness and kindly way of making her mother welcome, but I wondered if the mother had never thought of the other side of it. Ruth loves her, and loves to have her mother with her, but as with the other two daughters, there is a husband to be considered. He, too, is very fond of his mother-in-law, but I think he might well feel that it would be fair if the other children did their share. And I don't need to tell anyone how much friction a feeling can cause. Unquestionably the mother is most fond of Ruth as she has good reason to be, but would that really be the way to show it? The Line of Least Resistance. Again I know of a father who refused to accept any help from one of his sons, because he felt the son's wife was resentful. "I'd rather go without than take from Dick while his wife feels that way," he said. Of course he couldn't go without, and it meant that the other son and daughter-in-law who were willing and generous, gave a little more. They were willing to do it and glad that they could but

The "KODAK" Store

Sells You Quality and Gives You Speed FREE

Do you get the very best results from your Snapshots all the time? You do if you let the KODAK STORE develop and print them for you, because so exceptionally up-to-the-minute are their printing and developing methods and equipment, so efficient are their assistants (you see they handle far more films than any one else in the city, and they're developing and printing only, all the time) that while they can, and do, give you a 24-hour service, no detail of quality is lacking. Every print from every negative is accurately and perfectly finished. When the KODAK STORE develops your prints it does not sacrifice quality for speed, it combines the two, and gives you—perfection.

TOOTON'S, The "Kodak" Store

it didn't seem to me like a fair way of rewarding their willingness. Of course it's the natural human tendency to follow the line of least resistance in every direction. But sometimes when we stop and think it over we see that it is leading us into injustice; and if we care about justice we take a right about turn.

The Screens Most Magnificent Triumph

INITIAL SHOWING OF "THE WHITE SISTER" TO-NIGHT.

"The White Sister," the tremendous photoplay which played for $2.20 admission in the big American theatres, gets its premiere at the Nickel Theatre to-night.

Another great picture has been added to the honor roll of the screen. That it is a worthy adaptation of a famous story is one of the titles to favor of "The White Sister."

Lillian Gish makes an appealing figure as the wistful heroine of the great story of F. Marion Crawford. Supporting her is a long list of exceptional players, notable among these being Gail Kane in the role of the wicked sister.

Then there are Ronald Colman as Captain Severi, the lover; J. Barney Sherry as Monsignor Saracinesca, a reverent and forceful interpretation; and Giuseppe Pavoni as the archbishop, whose sincerity will lead many momentarily to believe the functionary really is a high priest of the church.

The palatial quality of the natural settings impresses from the first. There are frequent glimpses direct and indirect of towering and menacing Vesuvius.

Then in the eruption phase there are closeups of boiling lava, some of these in colors. They are vivid and for some may approach the terrifying.

There are tense scenes aplenty, the subject tightly holding the interest from the beginning to the end.

One of the more dramatic of these is the preparation of Angela, believing her lover dead, for taking the final vows, while off in Africa, Severi, two years a prisoner of the desert men, lays plans to escape.

There are alternate shots of the progress on each side of this tragically divided couple, the retardance being so planned as greatly to heighten the suspense.

The drama still further is accentuated as the lover returns and suddenly is confronted by Angela in the robe of a nun. His desperate fighting with the monsignor and pleading with Angela are in vain.

The portrayal of the Vesuvian outbreak and the succeeding gale and storm and the panic of the inhabitants are most vivid.

Highly Recommended

When any product is highly recommended by its users, that product must have merit. Pearlina the great washing Powder has been recommended by thousands of women for many years past. To-day, whenever women see Pearlina, they greet it like an old friend, for they know what Pearlina is. They know that no washing Powder is better than Pearlina that it is economical and easy to use, and that it does not injure the most delicate garment. Pearlina is now obtainable at most grocery stores for ten cents a package. Every home should have Pearlina, for it saves time and money. sept.22.1f

Ignorance and Disease

London Times: The acquisition of knowledge has always been followed by the repulse of disease. In the absence of knowledge disease invariably remains master of the situation. In other words, our health is in our own hands. Given the men and the means, there is probably no secret which cannot be read. In the past the world has been content to leave its safety to a few pioneers, ill-equipped and often vexed by many disadvantages; and for its carelessness it has paid the penalty. . . . It is not enough to spread knowledge among professional men; the public must share it, since, in the last issue, every citizen is a soldier in the army of health. The menace of public ignorance has recently been illustrated by the appalling epidemics which swept over Russia after the Bolsheviks had murdered the medical men in that unhappy country.

To Light London

Plans for illuminating the west and west-central districts of London, (an area of thirty-six square miles) with enormous floodlights placed on nine towers, five hundred feet high and a mile and a half apart, have been presented to the British Institute of Public Lighting Engineers. These brilliant lamps are intended to replace existing installations and are expected to provide a moonlight glow, free from glare and devoid of deep shadows. Promoters of the scheme maintain that it would effect a considerable saving over the present cost of about two million dollars a year to light the inner area of the city along its twenty-two hundred miles of streets.

Just Folks.

ON THE BEACH.

Women young and women pretty, Leading beauties from the city, Dainty damsels, blonde, brunettes, Daughters of the upper set; Laughing eyes and silver voices, Yet not difficult the choice is. One there is who's lovelier far Than these radiant beauties are.

Some say this: The maid in pink! Some the one in scarlet think Fairest of that lovely throng. But I hold that these are wrong; Passes now a matron striking. Type that suits some people's liking. But one fairer far than she Many a watcher failed to see.

There upon the sand that day Youth and beauty met to play; Grant them all at the beginning To be free from cruel stinging, Free from malice and deception, Still there is, without exception, One who sits where sunbeams fall, Who is lovelier than all.

Maids and matrons flash your charms! Show your lovely necks and arms; Touch with paint your lips and faces, Wear your costly silks and laces. But entranced still I gaze there At a little child who plays there; Radiant, lovely, though you may be—More exquisite is that baby.

The bear carried the baby away while she was playing with her four-year-old brother, Eddie. The bear is believed to have escaped from a carnival here.

Marchioness as Director of Spa

STRATHPEFER IS ABOUT 20 MILES FROM INVERNESS, SCOTLAND. The beautiful Marchioness of Carisbrooke, whose husband is a director of Strathpefer Spa, which is about twenty miles out of Inverness and nearly 600 miles from London. In becoming an hotel director, the marchioness is only following the precedent of the marquis, who after his war service in the Grenadier Guards went into the City as a director in the shipping firm of Lamport and Holt. The marquis, when the marchioness was still Lady Irene Denison (only daughter of the Earl and Countess of Londesborough), was known as Prince Alexander of Battenberg. Just before their war-time marriage in the Chapel Royal the prince's surname was changed to Mountbatten, and the marquessate of Carisbrooke was conferred on him.

Household Notes

Garnish a hot fish platter with broiled slices of bacon. Serve a tart-flavored ice with, or after, the heavy dinner. Store your rooty winter vegetables in a clean, dry place. Flavor pie crust with a little grated orange or lemon peel. Toast sticks or cheese straws are nicest served with fruit salad. If you prefer mayonnaise dressing very bland, use no mustard. Fry squares or rounds of bread, and heap with creamed spinach. Try adding a few finely-chopped dates to orange ice before freezing. Sliced oranges, canned pears and shredded coconut make a dainty dessert. Line your garbage pail with old newspapers and it will be easier to clean. Season cornmeal mush with sage, fry in bacon fat, and serve with crisp bacon. Pour jelly into glasses before it starts to congeal, or it will look cloudy. A few thinly sliced, sauted mushrooms are a delightful addition to an omelet. Embroidery looks best when it is pressed on the wrong side, over a thick pad. Tiny "rose" radishes and strips of pimento make a nice garnish for egg salad. An egg salad garnished with mustard pickle is nice served with baked ham. Jam generally has the best texture when made with as little water as possible. Slices of pickled beets, olives and pickles make pleasing garnishes for potato salad.

Sugar Adds to Flower's Beauty

Sugar solutions of varying strengths are being used by a French florist in preserving cut blooms. Practically all well-known flowers except lilies, sweet peas and lilies, are said to be susceptible to the treatment, although the former, it is claimed, will respond to it by improving in time and living longer if a trace of manganese sulphate is added to a twelve-per-cent solution. Carnations are declared to last twice as long with fifteen per cent. sugar, while roses require only half that amount.

The most beautiful skin needs the protection of pure soap. For simple cleanliness is the basis of all beauty. Ivory Soap cleanses perfectly and its natural fragrance is delightfully pleasing—adv.t.f.

WHO WILL GET YOUR LIFE INSURANCE MONEY.

Statistics prove that 90 per cent. of Cash Estates of $5,000.00 and upwards are lost in seven years. 65 per cent. of Widows lose their all in five years. A widow generally has no experience in making investments, and is liable—through bad advice to dissipate her whole capital.

Can the British Empire Survive

By RT. HON. LORD MORRIS, K.G.M. G., LL.D.

It is well for us sometimes to look at our own great Empire in the light of the history of the great empires of the past, that came upon the stage of the world's history, made their bow, and then disappeared, leaving behind them ruins of civilisations that now have interest only for the historian and the antiquarian.

It is related in the New Testament by the Evangelists that there were three phases of the great temptation to which the Founder of Christianity permitted Himself to be subjected. Of the three, the last was probably, in the opinion of Satan, the most alluring temptation. He took Him up to the pinnacle of a high mountain and showed Him all the great kingdoms of this world. And there were great empires in those days. Rome was at its imperial height. Egypt had a civilization extending over thousands of years. Tutankhamen had been buried two thousand years amid artistic surroundings which have shown to the modern world the high state Egyptian civilization and culture had attained. And these empires had taken the place of other great empires which had preceded them—Assyria, Chaldea, Babylonia, Macedonia, Persia, and many others.

When our Lord was tempted by Satan with the gift of the great kingdoms of the world if He would give him one moment of adoration, where was the British Empire? There were only a few thousand people in Great Britain, and there were certainly not one million people in the whole of the British Isles, and they were clothed in skins and lived in mud huts and worshipped the oak. To-day our population is roughly about 480,000,000. And upon us, who are the trustees of this great Empire, which has been built up in its present vast dimensions, there exists a very great responsibility to transmit it to the coming generations unimpaired. We have acquired by conquest, or annexation, or occupation, or treaty, imperial possessions that now encircle the globe, until to-day we have the greatest empire the world has ever seen, with a population of about 480,000,000. We are rich in territory, rich in civilization, and rich in liberty and freedom. But let us not disregard the lessons which history teaches us concerning the rise and fall of nations.

If we study the history of our Empire we shall see that one of the Reasons for our Prosperity is to be found in the fact that trade has always followed the flag. We have been a great manufacturing country. Sheffield was a great manufacturing town before America was discovered, and four hundred years before that London had its guilds and corporations which were endeavouring to perfect our industries. And we had no real competitors in those days. But our people were enterprising, our merchants were prepared to take risks, although they knew their interests were safe where the British ambassador or consul and the British gunboat were.

We have prospered because we have been a great manufacturing nation. It is important to remember that in these islands we depend upon the manufactured articles we send out. We can produce food for only ten millions of our nearly fifty millions of people, and we need to provide manufactured goods and other products to exchange, in the foreign market, for food to feed the remaining forty millions.

The great question to consider is whether we are sending out sufficient of these things to maintain our prosperity. We have before us the deplorable fact that we are producing only sixty-four per cent. of what we produced before the war, and sixty-two per cent. of our present production is consumed by our own people and only thirty-eight per cent. is being exported; ten per cent. being sent to our dominions and colonies, and only twenty-eight per cent. to foreign countries.

Why is it that we have idle factories and unemployed people to the extent of one-and-a-quarter million? The reason is this. The Great War cost the world $24,000,000,000, and of that vast sum Britain had to pay $8,000,000,000, the interest on which sum would amount to $400,000,000. We owe something like $900,000,000 to America, and our industry is mor-

What Do You Think of a Fluid

That will draw roaches and ants out of every hole, crack, or crevice before killing them and not poison food?

That will kill bugs instantly and not leave an unpleasant odor?

That will knock flies off the wall and not harm paint or paper?

That will keep the bedroom, kitchen, or verandah clear of flies, mosquitoes, etc., for several hours after a few sprays?

That will take fleas off a dog and not harm the dog?

That will destroy chicken lice without any injury to your stock?

That applied in small quantities to the exposed parts of the body will insure you from Mosquito bites?

That as a general disinfectant is stronger than the ordinary carbolic solution.

THAT FLUID IS

SAN-O-SPRAY.

No insect can live where San-O-Spray is used. Yet San-O-Spray is non-poisonous to human beings and can be used with perfect safety in pantry, kitchen, dining room, and cellar, moreover San-O-Spray has an agreeable and delightful odor, removing all fetid or unpleasant odors. In addition San-O-Spray is a disinfectant and germicide. Keeps the home sanitary and free from infectious diseases.

forming another chapter in the story of empires that have passed away. In the first place, it is obvious that if you are to hold a great Empire together you must govern it properly. And what is true of the Empire as a whole, is true of each of its component parts. In the past the Empire has been developed by enterprise and by capital. If we do not spend money in the development of the Empire it may pass into other hands to be developed. We must not spend all our money on pleasure and luxuries. I do not say that we must have no holidays, or no sports and pastimes; but I do say that we must have greater regard for the substantially productive work of the earth with a safety lamp tied to them. And next to these I would place the men engaged in work connected with the railways and the merchant ships, who help to send our British goods all over the country and to our foreign customers. Then I would place the men engaged in industrial pursuits. If these vital industries are stopped, it will mean the ruin of the country and the fall of the Empire.

That is why it will have to be seriously considered as to how far we can go on spending so much as we do on amusements and pleasures and luxuries. Last year we spent £1,500,000 on pure luxuries, including £400,000,000 on drink; and every penny of that expenditure had first to be paid out of boots and coal and other goods we produced.

These are a few of the things we have got to consider as a nation and as individuals if we would help to save the Empire from following in the wake of those who have passed away.

California Fires Beyond Control

TWO HUNDRED MEN WORK TO SAVE MOUNT WILSON OBSERVATORY.

PASADENA, Cal., Sept. 12.—Two hundred men worked frantically to construct a fire-break about the waist of Mount Wilson to protect the great United States solar observatory on its Gabriel Canyon.

After many days of the fire, the worst in California this season, it is still beyond control.

State and Federal forestry authorities were tapping every available source for fire-fighters. The Mount Wilson Observatory houses the finest collection of equipment ever assembled for the study of solar phenomena. The greatest loss to be suffered should the fire attack the buildings would be the big telescope, the largest in the world, which would cost nearly $3,000,000 to replace. The worst possible weather conditions—high temperature and low humidity—attend the fight to control the fire.

The fire line of the west now extends from the east side of Fish Canyon westward to Monrovia Canyon, approximately five miles.

The note will reply to the protest of Canada against suggestions of the United States Government that a study of the diversion of water at Niagara Falls be included in questions referred to the board, in order to ascertain how this diversion balances with water taken from the lake by the Chicago sanitary district. ## Inherits Fortune, Dies in Poverty

Nixon Gray, formerly a mining engineer, who was left $200,000 by his father, a lieutenant-colonel, 24 years ago, died in poverty and dependent on relatives at Cardiff Royal Infirmary recently.

He was said to have spent between $100,000 and $150,000 on blood stock and large sums on various sports, and it was reported that he disposed of the bulk of his fortune in 15 months.

He was a grand-nephew of the late John Gray, a pioneer of the Welsh coal export trade.

BRINGS DIVORCE.

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 30.—Forty-four slaps in the face, administered on an average of one a day by her husband from the day in March when they were married to the date of their separation, won a divorce for Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers when she appeared before Superior Judge Peter J. Shields.

On the ground that love can be slapped entirely out of existence, Mrs. Rogers has now successfully petitioned for permission to drop the name of her former spouse, Don Francis Rogers, and resume her maiden name of Crowley.

Prospero From the North

H. S. Prospero, Capt. Field, arrived from the Cook's Hr. Service at 12.30 p.m. after a splendid round trip of 10 days. Fine weather was met with on the entire run, with the exception of yesterday when the ship ran into thick fog. Capt. Field reports the fishery practically over, and the crews are now making preparations to return home. From Orange Bay to Conche and in the vicinity of the Grey Islands the fishing is fair with hook and line, the average being from 4 to 5 qts. daily. North of Conche the fishing is a blank. Due to winds, fog and much rain the fishermen have been handicapped considerably in the curing of fish. Much of it has been spoiled, and the loss is a heavy one. Capt. Field saw Mr. Waterman, at Paquet, who had just returned from Murgford, with 500 qts. He reports other schooners pretty well fished. The new hospital at Twillizate opened on Thursday last. Col. Creebie a missionary from the States, boarded the ship at St. Anthony to be present at the opening ceremony, but the boat was late in arriving. Two patients were landed there for hospital. Capt. Field reports things booming at Orange Bay. The Rossing plant is now going full swing under Supt. Mr. Dove, of Springdale, and is turning out an average of fifty cords per day. A steamer is expected to arrive there in a few days to take the first shipment. The ship brought a small cargo of fish and oil, and the following passengers:—Messrs Moore, Peddle, Jackman, Hiscock, Lawrence, Morgan, Milfin, Morgan, Manuel, Elliot, Rowe, Hoey, Shave, Bishop, Best, Parsons, Winsor, Jamieson, Jamieson, Bourne, Parsons, Harding, Coffin, Coffin, Upward, Coaker, Bendell, Reid, Rosenback, Ash, Reader, Ploughman, Rendell, Hunt, Downton, Taylor, Morris, Godden, White, Templeman.

The Prospero will be delayed in port a few days, to have a new smoke stack installed, while much coaking will be done about the decks.

Fast Driving

A well known citizen with his wife, whilst walking in Newtown Road leading to the Sandpits yesterday forenoon, came near being killed by a motor car which passed at a very high speed and splashed them with mud. This road is very narrow and there is great danger in driving fast over it. The pedestrian fortunately secured the number of the car.

Our attention has also been called to a case which occurred on Harvey Road a few nights ago, when a man standing at the head of Garrison Hill turned at the sound of an approaching car, and had his pipe knocked from his mouth and his teeth broken off. He was unable to make out the car number, and in this connection we would suggest that drivers should be compelled to keep number plates clean and not to have them placed where they are hidden behind the bumpers.

The Trains

Yesterday's west bound express left Bishop Falls 5.30 this morning. The Trepansey train went out at 11.30 a.m., taking a goodly number of passengers.

KENNECOTT COPPER CORPORATION.

Has Retired All Its Braden Bonds, Eliminating All Parent and Subsidiary Funded Debt—$36,000,000 in Cash and Copper After Redemption.
(From Boston News Bureau, Sept. 15)
Boston—With little or no help from any rising copper market but because of steadily decreasing costs and increasing cash, the Kennecott Copper Corporation has made marked changes in its financial condition since the first of this year. In addition to the calling for redemption on Nov. 1 next of its $15,000,000 7 per cent bonds, it has already retired the remaining bonds of its subsidiary, the Braden Copper Co., amounting to $10,000,000.

Thus on the first of November the approximately 4,000,000 shares of Kennecott will constitute the sole capital liability of a company that directly and indirectly has capacity for an output of over 600,000,000 pounds of copper annually.

Its Cash Position To-Day.
After retiring its Braden bonds, Kennecott has to-day in cash and copper (virtually all of the latter old) over $36,000,000, or more than $9 per share on its stock. Of this, more than $20,000,000 nestles in the treasury of Kennecott proper, and over 60 per cent, or $12,000,000, is actual cash. Therefore, waiving aside for the moment subsidiary cash and without allowing for further copper sales, Kennecott right now has cash in its own banks and in copper inventories a margin of $5,000,000 over the face value of $15,000,000 bonds called for redemption next November. This elimination of funded debt has been accomplished by the conversion of large copper production into cash and the utilization of the strong treasuries of constituent companies.

Earning at Rate of $5.50 a Share.
Although Kennecott issues a report only once a year, its production, including equities in subsidiary, amounted to 250,000,000 pounds of copper in the first six months of the year, or at the rate of about 500,000,000 pounds for 1924. This copper was produced at an average cost of under eight cents a pound including all interest charges, selling commission and delivery expenses, but exclusive of depreciation and depletion. In this half-year period net profits after all charges except depreciation and depletion ran at an annual rate of $5.50 per share on the 4,000,000 shares, or almost double the entire year's dividend of $3 a share.

Expert Woman Burglar's Record
"Splendid Servant" Who Bolted With Employer's Jewels—Used False Keys—Photograph in Rogues' Gallery Provided Means of Identification.
(Montreal Daily Star.)
A woman who holds the unenviable distinction of being one of the most frequently convicted criminals of her age appeared at Tower Bridge Police Court.

At the age of 38 Mary Elizabeth Robson has received sentence totaling 24 years, and she now receives of 12 months' hard labor.
Housebreaking is one of her specialties. Robson has never been known to use burglar's tools, but usually gains an entrance by means of a duplicate key.
Her favorite method is to obtain a situation as a domestic servant by means of forged references, and to seize an opportunity during her brief residence in the house to take an impression of the front-door key.
"She seemed a splendid servant, and worked so hard," said her last victim, Mrs. Florence Arnold, of Waterloo road, S.E. Robson relieved herself of the necessity of breaking into her employer's house by decamping one Sunday night with $68 worth of notes and jewellery.

She was arrested in Newcastle by Detective Sergeant Ellis, of Kensington road, the police having got on her track through Mrs. Arnold picking out the woman's photograph from among those of notorious criminals kept at Scotland Yard.
All Robson's previous offences have been committed in the North of England, where she is well known to nearly every police authority.
Her convictions total thirty, and she has twice been sent to penal servitude.
Dangers to Navigation
The following obstructions have been reported:
August—Lat. 34 degrees, 51 minutes, long. 55 degrees, 52 minutes, passed a red conical gas buoy with lantern gone—Valprato (Ital. s.s.) Report by radio.
Aug. 19—Lat. 42 degrees 08 minutes, long. 45 degrees, 55 minutes, passed a wooden mine, with iron bands, about 40 feet long, and covered with marine growth—Veddam (Du. s.s.). Krol; fourth officer.

A REQUEST TO MOTORISTS

FOR KIND CONSIDERATION.

It has been brought to the attention of the Newfoundland Motor Association that there are several thousand people in the city who do not own motor cars and who walk to Bowring Park on Sunday and holiday afternoons.

It is a well-known fact that these citizens are deluged with dust in the fine weather and often splattered with mud in wet weather, as however careful a driver may be, it is usually impossible not to raise dust and sometimes it is impossible to prevent splashing when driving through the mud.

The Association has therefore decided to issue a personal Request to Motorists generally not to use the Southside Road on Sunday, Holiday and Half Holiday afternoons, thereby affording the many people in the city who do not own cars an opportunity to walk to the park in some degree of comfort on Sundays and holidays. (This request, of course, does not apply to motorists living on the Southside nor motorists wishing to call at houses on the Southside on these afternoons.) This is an appeal to Motorists, not an order nor a demand. A little consideration is all that is asked and the Association believes that Motorists, generally, are considerate.

Issued by the Executive and Road Committee.
THE NEWFOUNDLAND MOTOR ASSOCIATION,
P. E. OUTERBRIDGE, Sec'y-Treas.

In the Realms of Sport

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

Good Exhibition Promised.
The final football game for the Tis Cup, takes place on St. George's Field at 6 o'clock this evening between the Saints and Guards. Both teams are presenting their very strongest line-ups, and an interesting clash is promised. In the League series these teams played to a draw. The Guards have only suffered one defeat during the past two years, and will enter the field to-night strongly backed by their supporters. The winning team will become absolute owners of the trophy.

WILL BATTLE TO-NIGHT.

Benny Leonard and Mickey Walker will battle to-night for the Welter-weight Championship of the World. The fight will take place at the Polo Grounds, New York.

EARN'S RIGHT TO BATTLE DEMPSEY.

Harry Willis, the "Brown Panther," who won a decisive decision over Luis Firpo, "Wild Bull of the Pampas," will now be given a chance to meet Jack Dempsey in a fight for the heavyweight title. This is the match that Willis has been looking forward to for the past four years, but the champion has always managed to sidestep him. Willis has only been knocked out once in his long career, and that was by Sam Langford, another colored battler like himself.

36 HOURS WALK AT EIGHTY.

Eighty years old, Mr. Francis Wood walked from Bath to London and back to see the Wembley Exhibition, and for one stage walked for thirty-six hours continuously.

CHANNEL SWIM FAILS.

Frank Perks, the Birmingham swimmer, failed in his attempt from Dover, having to give up only four miles from Calais owing to cold.

GIRL SWIMS 17 1/4 MILES.

18 Year Old Herline's Medway Record in 6h. 27m.

A record swim for a woman in the Medway has been accomplished by Miss Flora Wheatley, aged eighteen, of Castle Road, Chatham, who recently made a plucky attempt to rescue a man from drowning off Sun Pier, Chatham.

She swam from Aylstorf to Gillingham Pier, a distance of seventeen and a quarter miles, in five hours, twenty-seven minutes.

YORKSHIRE CHAMPIONS.

Innings Victory Over Sussex—Kilner's Great Bowling.

Yorkshire made themselves county champions for the third year in succession recently when, at Brighton, they defeated Sussex by an innings and 110 runs.

Fortunately for the northern team the pitch was very slow-easy yesterday, and in an hour and fifty minutes Holmes and Oldroyd put on 107 runs for the second wicket. A great change came over the game after the adjournment, the ground then helping bowlers considerably, and seven wickets fell for ninety-four.

Holmes gave a chance forward short leg when twenty-four, but otherwise battled with fine skill.

Sussex, 193 in arrears, again came badly to grief in their second innings. Young, going in first wicket down at eleven and eighth out at seventy-two, battled with much skill for seventy-five minutes, but in an hour and three-quarters the home side were all out for eighty-three.

Kilner and Rhodes were altogether too much for the Sussex batsmen. The former with seven for thirty-seven, made his record for the match twelve for fifty-five. Rhodes had six wickets for thirty.

Middlesex and Surrey were unable to make a start before tea-time in their match, which, however, cuts no ice now that Yorkshire has won.

Pos.	Pts.	Per.	W.	L.	Pts.	Ob.	Cent.

New York, Sept. 16.—Luis Angel Firpo has felt the humiliating sting of the knockout blow but twice in his meteoric career. In his first fight as an amateur he was stretched horizontal down in his native Buenos Aires by a gentleman amateur, Angel Rodriguez, now retired from active ring competition. That was in 1917.

In 1923 in the most hectic ring struggle in modern history, Firpo was stretched for the fatal ten once again, this time the damaging right of Jack Dempsey being the propelling power which lowered the Argentine's centre of gravity.

But prior to his defeat by Dempsey, Firpo was a raging bull in a china shop of alleged heavyweights. Following his defeat, in 1917, the big Argentine started a string of victories, first as an amateur and later as a professional, in various parts of South America. He won a score or more of bouts by knockouts against leading South American heavyweights before he made his debut in the United States early in 1922.

Firpo's record since 1922 follows:

1922—Sailor Mated, K.O. 7 rounds; Joe McCann, K.O. 8 rounds; Jack Herman, K.O. 5 rounds; Jim Tracey (at Buenos Aires), K.O. 4 rounds.

1923—Bill Brennan, K.O. 12 rounds; Jack McAuliffe, 11, K.O. 3 rounds; Jack Herman (at Havana), K.O. 2 rounds; Jim Hubbard (at Mexico City), K.O. 2 rounds; Jess Willard, K.O. 8 rounds; Joe Burke, K.O. 2 rounds; Homer Smith, won decision, 10 rounds; Charley Z. Welnert, K.O. 2 rounds; Joe Downey, won decision, 10 rounds; Jack Dempsey, lost by K.O.

1924—Al Retch (at Buenos Aires), K.O. 1 round; Farmer Lodge (at Buenos Aires), K.O. 5 rounds; Ermino Espilla, K.O. 14 rounds.

1924—Willis won decision, 12 rounds. New York, Sept. 16.—(A.P.)—Harry Willis, the black panther of New Orleans, has assumed the reclining position but once in his long ring career. That was at the hands of Sam Langford back in 1916 when the two negroes fought a historic battle in which Willis was floored for the ten strokes in 19 rounds. Later, however, Willis vindicated this humiliation by stretching Langford to the canvas in two successive bouts in 1918, the first bout ending in the seventh round and the second one in the fifth stanza.

In his long career, which started back in 1911, Willis has lost but five matches, two of them to Sam Langford. Sam McVea beat him to the decision in 1914. In 1917 he lost to Battling Jim Johnson when he broke his arm in the fourth round. Bill Tate won a decision over him by the foul route in 1922.

Willis' long record follows:—
1911—Battling Taylor, K.O. 7 rounds; Nat Dewey, won decision, 10 rounds.

1912—Harry Brown, K.O. 2 rounds; Sam Collier, K.O. 7 rounds; Ben Pedes, K.O. 3 rounds; Kid Brown, K.O. 6 rounds; John Tholmer, K.O. 5 rounds; Jack Graves, won decision, 10 rounds.

1913—Kid Brown, K.O. 2 rounds; Kid Cotton, K.O. 4 rounds; Jim Sullivan, K.O. 1 round; Joe Jeannette, no decision, 10 rounds; Jeff Clark, draw, 10 rounds.

1914—Kid Cotton, K.O. 4 rounds; Battling Brandt, K.O. 3 rounds; Charlie Horn, K.O. 1 round; Rough House Ware, won decision, 10 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 10 rounds; Joe Jeannette, won decision, 10 rounds; Willie Meehan, won decision, 4 rounds; Jim Cameron, won decision, 4 rounds; Sam Langford, lost decision, 14 rounds; Sam McVea, lost decision, 20 rounds.

1915—Sam McVea, no decision, 10 rounds; Jim Johnson, no decision, 10 rounds; Sam Langford, no decision, 10 rounds; Battling Jim Johnson, won decision, 20 rounds; Sam McVea, won decision, 12 rounds.

1916—Kid Cotton, K.O. 2 rounds; Jack Thompson, K.O. 9 rounds; Sam Langford, no decision, 10 rounds; John Lester Johnson, no decision, 10 rounds; Bill Tate, no decision, 10 rounds; Jack Thompson, no decision, 10 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 20 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 8 rounds; Jeff Clark, won decision, 20 rounds; Sam Langford, lost by K.O., 19 rounds.

1917—Jeff Clark, K.O. 6 rounds; Jack Thompson, no decision, 10 rounds; Sam Langford, no decision, 6 rounds; Jim Johnson, no decision, 10 rounds; Sam Langford, no decision, 10 rounds; Rough House Ware, won decision, 10 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 10 rounds; Battling Jim Johnson, lost (broke arm), 4 rounds.

1918—Sam McVea, K.O. 6 rounds; Sam Langford, K.O. 7 rounds; Sam Langford, K.O. 5 rounds; Jeff Clark, K.O. 6 rounds; Sam McVea, won decision, 20 rounds; Jack Thompson, won decision, 8 rounds; Jack Thompson, won decision, 8 rounds.

1919—Jeff Clark, K.O. 5 rounds; K. O. Krovsky, K.O. 1 round; Ole Anderson, K.O. 2 rounds; John Lester Johnson, won decision, 8 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 8 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 10 rounds; Joe Jeannette, won decision, 8 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 15 rounds.

1920—Andrew Johnson, K.O. 1 round; Fred Fulton, K.O. 3 rounds; Ray Bennett, K.O. 4 rounds; Jack Bennett, K.O. 1 round; Jack Thompson, won decision, 4 rounds; Jack Thompson, won decision, 15 rounds; Sam Langford, won decision, 15 rounds; Sam McVea, no decision, 6 rounds.

1921—Bill Tate, K.O. 2 rounds; Ray Johnson, K.O. 4 rounds; Jeff Clark, K.O. 4 rounds; Andrew Johnson, K.O. 1 round; Battling McCreary, K.O. 6 rounds; Ray Bennett, K.O. 1 round; Bill Tate, K.O. 1 round; Gusboat Smith, K.O. 1 round; Clem Holman, K.O. 6 rounds; Jack Thompson, K.O. 5 rounds; Denver Mark, K.O. 1 round; Jack Thompson, won decision, 8 rounds; Bill Tate, won decision, 15 rounds.
