which create this distinction Dr. Hunter appears never to have considered.

Some people use Sunday cars to go to church, sometimes to go elsewhere. The latter cannot be made to go to church in these days, and there's an end of it. What does Dr. Hunter propose to do about it, beyond confining them to the close and stifling purlieus of the city? He proposes nothing, and until he does the people of Hamilton and Dundas will probably feel no disgrace while availing themselves of the goods which the gods provide.

GENTS.—On the moraing of Monday, August 37d, in the great conflagration that threattend to destroy our catiro city front, the hottest and most prolonged purison of the fire was centred in our large glucose refinery, foot of Princess stroet. We had at the time our books in one of your fre-proof safes, and we feel it only justice to you to inform you of the satisfactory manner in which it preserved its contents. The immense amount of large timber and brick in this eight story building together with the combustiol nature of its contents when fanned by the gale then blowing made the place like a blast turnace in its fury. None who saw the fire in its full force would imagine anything could resist its consum ag power. Yet we are thankful to say we found your Safe preserved its contents ensire, which reflects great credit to your well earned reputation. Yours truly, Turnate Sugar and Syrup Refinery.

through me like & knife—and, as I turned hastily round, the rent at the edge of the treacherous green sward told its tale, even before I heard the horrible, hopeless, dull thud on the sand below.

Believe me, when I say, at that moment all thought of hatred and envy left me. Herror-stricken I threw myself at full length upon the grass and crept to the edge of the cliff, looking for what I dreaded to see—his mangled body. The cliff at this spot overhung even more than usual, and it was with a feeling of hope I saw that Gordon had fallen clear of the rook and lay upon the sand. He was lying almost in a heap, and must have sustained fearful injuries; but dead he was not, for I saw him, after making a few piteous struggles, succeed in turning his face towards me.

I could, commenced running across country. I knew the part well. The nearest time before I could bring him the indispensable aid. With the remembrance of that helpless form lying on the sand before me, my thoughts were only how to rescue him with as little loss of time as possible, him with as little loss of time as possible, and for the first five minutes I ran at the top of my speed. Sheer exhaustion then compelled me to pause and draw breath, and as I mederated my pace the awful thought for the first time came to me. The tide I the tide! I remembered it was rising—that it was about three—quarters flood—that Gordon was lying very near to the edge of the water, and I having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more annoying than having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more annoying than having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more annoying than having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more delightful than getting rid of it? Holloway's Corn Cure will do it. Try it and be convinced.

William Atkinson of Guelph has in his garden a tree with ripe apples on one side and a few blossoms on the other. that it was shout three-quarters floodthat Gordon was lying very near to the edge of the water, and I knew if I could not bear him aid before the sea covered that narrow strip of sand he was a dead man.
And then the temptation began. Let no man say there is no devil, for I tell you in that moment the devil was with me. He brought your form with all its beauty before me; yes, and with love for me of honor, of self-respect and all peace of mind; but, you might be mine, and what price was too heavy to pay for that." And as thought after thought, each like a devil from hell, came to me I leant against a gate; knowing as I did so that every moment I lingered risked a man's life. The sudden temptation, the commencement of life, the commencement of the crime, the consequences to follow, the shame I felt, even then, bewildered me, and for a time I was beside myself. I seemed in a dream; all around me was unreal; the air seemed full of horrible forms and sounds. How long I waited motionless I cannot telf—would that I knew! It might have been moments, minutes or hours. At last it seemed as though I woke, and as I turned and ran like one pursued by wolves, I forwied I heard the words as the walker and sounds. The suddent of the crime is seemed as though I woke, and as I turned and ran like one pursued by wolves, I forwied I heard the words and wolves.

lowed was attributed to the shock I had undergone and the exertions I had used to save my friend. How people praised my presence of mind in at once starting for assis ance. How you—even you—wrote kind words to me—words that out my heart like knives. Yet no one knew that with me night\(^2\) and that ever in my dreams I was running, it seemed to be, from an image of you, and that fearful things were striving to stop me. No one knew how often I went to the spot where Gordon fell, and tined, as nearly as I could, the rising waters, to ascertain if it were possible for a man to have compossible for a man leaped at the idea. "I shall be glad to do a bit of hard walking," he said; for three weeks I have only been love making, and that isn't much exercise I fancy my muscle must be growing soft from want of using."

As he epoke he held out an arm like an iron bar for me to feel.

An hour's walk brought us to the coast; you know it well. For the distance of, gerhaps, two miles, runs a turf-covered, almost perpendicular cliff; then it shelves eway gradually, and one can easily get down to the water's edge. Here was our destination. We intended to walk along the edge of the sea, shooting anything worth powder and shot.

The tide, when high, lashes the foot of the coast cliff; when low, it leaves a strip of sand uncovered. The rock of which the cliff is composed is of crumbling, unstable chalk, and has the habit of getting hollowed out under the surface, leaving green cushions, firm enough in appearance, but apt to break away as the unwary foot pressee them. A dangerous cliff it is more than the edge of which one shrinks instinctively.

When it is considered that the lots that mot been advertised in the States it must indeed be a wonderful perfume to have been allowed by the best words Gertrade Blake dropped the manuscript, and burying her face in her head, burying the face in her head, burying her face in her head, or it is my did he tell me? Why did he tell me? Why did he tell me? Why did he tell me? Say, and the entered a store, "do you keep the will be to hear. Thank god I have no children in whose face; "Well," returned the bory, sarting for the door, with the hungry waters of early green counting the proportion of the hungry waters of the coast cliff; when how it is life that it the delayed help arrive of sand uncovered. The rock of which the substitute of the coast of the coast lift; when how, it leaves a strip of sand uncovered. The rock of which the words was a the unwary foot present them. A dangerous cliff it is more thanked to the present the could not bring her ilps to frame the words.

I saw him, after making a few piteous struggles, succeed in turning his face towards me.

"Gerald," Peried, "are you much hurt? For God's sake try and answer me."

A faint voice—the ghost of his usual voice—replied: "I have broken one arm and, I think, my thigh. Can you come down to me?"

"I cannot," I said, "without going along the coast for a mile or more. I am going now to get ropes and help. Try and bear up till I return."

And then, leaving my gun to mark the spot where he fell, I turned and, swiftly as I could, commenced running across coun-

Mr. St. John Makes a Proposition ST. Louis, Sept. 1.-J. A. St. John of this city has forwarded to the Turf, Field and Farm a proposition which is intended to bring together in a great race all the leading soullers of the country. He proposes a sweepstakes of $3500, $500 each between Hanlan, Courtney, Teemer, Ross and Gaudaur, for a race of three miles and turn, on any lake course in the country, the winner to take $2000, the second to save his stake, and the excursion and gate money to be divided, three-fifths to the winner, one-fifth to second and one-fifth to third.

Editor World: I see by your issue of Monday that Capt. Kersteman thinks his setter Rudder was handicapped in the swimming race at the island last week. I am surprised at Capt. Kersteman entering his dog in a race knowing her to be in pup, and thereby staking the reputation of so famous an animal, but I am prepared to give him satisfaction at any time he may wish, the stakes to he from one delicate. wish, the stakes to be from one dollar to one hundred. I would like it to be stated also that Rudder was not only just beaten, as my dog Jack finished easy, with several lengths to the good.

D. G. LORSCH,

Come to Time, Mr. Thomas, Editor World: The challenge given out by Mr. Thomas against any setter dog to a swimming race will be accepted by the writer if the first conditions are complied with, viz., "put up the stakes at the place mamed," and they will be met. Bruno.

Another of those mean remarks for which the Hamilton Spectator is becoming notorious, appeared in that paper yesterday. It was to the effect that Fred. Goldsmith intended to give up the saloon business in London and open here, the insinuation being that that affords a reason for his favoring Toronto in his umpiring decisions. Goldsmith has certainly gained favor in this city and for these reasons that, unlike the Hamilton unpires, he is thoroughly impartial, prompt and decisive. No other umpire that has been seen on the Toronto ground has given evidence of possessing umpire that has been seen on the Toronto ground has given evidence of possessing the same qualities to so satisfactory an extent. Jeffers has done well, and George Bell fairly, but all the others, almost without exception, have not failed to give Toronto the worst of it on a doubtful point. acing sufferers from catavrh at a great sadvantage in the event of a cholera visita-disadvantage in the event of a cholera visitation.

Catarrh is a contagious disease. It is a muco-purulent discharge, caused by the presence of a vegetable parasite in the lining membrane of the nose. These parasites reproduce themselves in great multitudes, and each generation is more virulent. They spread up the nostrils and down the fauces or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat, up the custachian tubes, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hearseness; usurping the proper function of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

The reason that catarrh has become so prevalent a disease is entirely due to the fact that it has not been understood. Physicians have been unanimous in treating it as a simple inflammation of the membrane and have signally failed to produce cures, but microscopic research has revealed the presence of the parasite, and now sufferers from this disease who appreciate the fact that it is by way of its secondary effects a most deadly one, will be glad to learn that a wonderfully successful treatment has been formulated, whereby the most aggravated cases of catarrh have been permanently cured in from one to three simple applications. The interesting pamphlet descriptive of this new treatment, from which we glean the above, is sent free to all applicants on receipt of stamp by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.
