DISEASE FROM MARMOTS

There are Two Kinds of Pestilence—Missionsaries Trying to Save the Children From China's Other Scourge, the Famine—Worse Than in 1906

(Canadian Press) Peking, April 3—The Chinese authorities have made the most elaborate preparations for the international medical conference which will begin in Mukden today to investigate the plague situation.

Many marmots, from which the disease was first contracted by the hunters who secured the pelts, have been collected for experiment. Although no cure has yet been found for the plague the doctors feel confident that they will eventually find a serum.

Dr. Kitasato, a noted Japanese bacteriologist, says that while no vaccine of pneumonic plague recoveries, this disease is really more easily controlled than bubonic as the pneumonic is contracted through exhalations or expectorations, which can easily be avoided.

The railway zones in cities are now near interior towns and villages are still suffering seriously.

The success of the doctors of the modern school is considered as the beginning of a new medical era in China.

The famine Reports from the famine district say that many missionaries are engaged in special efforts to save the children from starvation.

The plague in Eastern Java is officially confirmed in the vicinity of Malang, in the eastern part alone, there have been forty cases, twenty-six of which were fatal.

An Object Lesson. An object lesson which explains the bitterness of the feeling against the lords all over the kingdom, was given in the London high court this week when a libel action was heard in the case of Lord Howard de Walden against John Lewis, a disreputable and disreputable Londoner. Lord Howard de Walden is an honorable and amiable gentleman and there was no personal quarrel with Lewis. From some cause in Oxford street his Lordship, through his agent, drew huge rents which greatly enriched the estate of the late Lord Howard de Walden. Some £30,000 was spent on the property. The ground landlord refused his consent to the rebuilding required by the tenant. The tenant was refused as the houses were only fit for shops. Mr. Lewis is a lighter and later landlord, and he received the stipulated amount of the lease which bound the tenant not to reconstruct without the landlord's consent. Mr. Lewis having disobeyed an order of the court, had foolishly been guilty of contempt of court, and for this he suffered imprisonment.

MORNING LOCALS. An adjournment was made until Saturday next in the case of the two news agents, Joseph Friedman and Samuel Kippin, on Monday last in the police court, and they were allowed out on bail. At the afternoon session, evidence was given by George McNeil, Samuel Shearer, Albert Doherty and Thomas Hoskins, all of the C. P. R. A building in Water street, used as a warehouse by the Crosby Molasses Company and the Robert Reford Company, was gutted by fire on Saturday afternoon. A few hundred dollars, it is thought, will cover the damage to the shed. Between $5,000 and $6,000 worth of molasses was destroyed. Worry is a confession of weakness, but that thought does not help much.

BRITAIN AND INDIA. Price Collier is contributing to Scribner's magazine a series of remarkable articles on the British in India. From an American point of view, Mr. Collier has been going through the various provinces of India studying its problems on the ground.

IN THE COURSE of his last article he comments on the British in India in these telling words: "If you and I had taken over the government of a distracted country, which for centuries had dated passing events from the last raid, the last massacre, the last famine, the last deluge, the last plundering ride of a foreign invader, and if we had had there 30,000 miles of railway, 100,000 miles and more of telegraph wires, if we had 17,000,000 acres with canals of our own construction, if we had arranged that one in every seven acres of the whole country were irrigated; if we had built schools, nursing homes, dispensaries, hospitals—where 8,000,000 children are vaccinated and 25,000,000 people receive relief annually—and post-offices, and police-stations; if school attendance had increased from 500,000 to 6,000,000; if the letters carried had increased from none to 700,000,000 annually; if we had policed the country from end to end, administered justice without fear or favor; spent millions of money and thousands of lives in the country's defence; protected the widow from brutal customs, protected the people and the orphan; secured to every man, woman and child his rights, his property, and his earnings; if the government drawing salaries ranging from 400 to no small income for a native of India—up to $5,000, as many as 6,000 by Europeans; if out of a gross revenue of $75,722,000 only $22,000,000 were raised by taxes so-called, while in England taxation supplies five-sixths, and in India only about one-fourth, of the public income; if we had reduced crime to proportions smaller than in England itself; if the public debt, outside of debt secured by the ample assets of the railways, canals, and so on, amounted to $28,000,000, a sum less than half of what it cost to suppress the Mutiny alone; if the land, which when we took charge of it had hardly any commercial value, was now worth $200,000,000; if the export trade in less than fifty years had increased from $40,000,000 to $220,000,000, while taxation works out at about 3 cents per head; if innocent religions and social customs had not only not been changed, but protected from interference, in these days too, alas, when so many people mistake mere interference for influence, and in a land of jarring and quarrelsome sects—if you and I had a fraction of the things accomplished by the English in India to our credit, we should be astonished at censure from within. We might indeed be tempted to write them: "The unrest in India, he says in conclusion, is an economic problem which presses upon every country in the world; less in the United States and in South America than elsewhere merely because those countries so largely have the food supplies of the world in their hands."

Had Severe Pains In His Back. Could Hardly Work.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Corrie, Ont., writes: "For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stopped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot say too highly in their favor."

"This was only two years ago and I still remain cured. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo. Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged. Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They help the kidneys to flush off the acid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages. Price 50c per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA AND BRONCHITIS

Brought Mrs. Baker to Death's Door. Father Morrisey's No. 10 Saved Her.

Of the many hundreds of cures wrought by Father Morrisey's No. 10 (Lung Tonic) few are more remarkable than the saving of the life of Mrs. John S. Baker, of 164 Rockland Road (North End), St. John, N.B. She wrote on Oct. 15, 1909: "I wish to express my gratitude that I am living to-day, saved from the grave by Father Morrisey's No. 10 (Lung Tonic). This time last year I had pleuro-pneumonia and bronchitis, and had been given up to die, and had my lungs tapped in the City Hospital, and never expected to walk again; I was continually getting worse every day. I came home from the hospital, and everyone was watching for me to die. I tried everything but there seemed to be no cure for me. I began taking Father Morrisey's No. 10, and the second day I could eat without pain. I used 22 bottles of No. 10, as I was run down right into consumption, and for some time I was in shadow until I began to breathe. I am in good health, and surprised most of my neighbors. I feel it my duty to publish it everywhere I can, as with all I can say I cannot recommend it too highly. It is a saver to me, and I am very thankful to recommend it, as it is worth all I can say. Father Morrisey's No. 10 is very different from the many preparations that simply relieve a cough. No. 10 relieves the cause of the cough, restores the membranes of throat and lungs to a healthy condition, and tones up the whole system, giving strength to resist future attacks. Trial bottle 25c—regular size 50c. At your dealer's or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd., Montreal, Que. 92

PROTECT THE FISH

The local association for the protection of forests, fish and game, was recently strengthened by the addition of new blood, and it may now be regarded as both able and willing to do much useful work. And today a fine and pressing opportunity for service presents itself. Tons of sawdust—hundreds if not thousands of tons—will be dumped into the trout and salmon streams of this province within the next few weeks unless unusual precautions are taken to prevent the annual pollution.

WHEN THE SPECKLED TROUT ARE BITTING

(Geo. A. Cleveland, in the National Sportsman). There's a keeness in the rarin', There's an ardor in the dreams, Of the days we'll be returning To the mountains and the streams In the happy haunts inviting When the baln is in the sky, And the speckled trout are biting At the angleworm and fly. When the mellow day is breaking As the pines begin to croon, And the heron is awaking To the bugle of the loon, When the partridge in the clover Will be drumming out the roll, To call the quail and plover On the meadow and the knoll. When the woodpecker's tapping On the hollow of the snag, And the nighthawk is napping On the bough of the cypress, When the wood thrush is trilling In the shadow of the dell, And the woodcock is drilling In the loaming or the field. It is then we'll be blending To the merry roundelay, By the waters a winding To the music of the spray, So our weary hearts are lighting As the day's sun dawns high, When the speckled trout are biting At the angleworm and fly.

CANADIAN MISSIONARY WHO DIED IN LIBERIA

Mrs. Lillian Morrison, a Canadian, who died in Liberia, West Africa, where she had gone as a missionary. She went from Toronto. "Scotty," the well-known Death Valley gold miner, who is famous for the recklessness with which he throws his money, made a bet in New York the other night that he could pick up a hairpin on every block for nine blocks up Broadway, or forfeit $500 for each block missed. A big crowd followed him as he made the search, and he actually did find one or more hairpins on each block, thus winning $4,500.

He—So you think that the new play you are in will be a success? She—Oh, sure. Why, even the leading lady blushed when it was read. ONCE WAS ENOUGH. "Did you ever," said one preacher, to another, "stand at the door after your sermon and listen to what people said about it as they passed out?" Replied he, "I did once—a pause and a sigh—but I'll never do it again." He—Women who imitate men simply make fools of themselves. She—Yes, when the imitation is a good one.—Lynn News.

IN THE MIST OF LIFE

The Jester went to the mountain peak And turned to gaze behind— "Was that a path for a step so weak? Thank God that I was blind. "The sunlit stretch where I laughed so loud, Did it skirt that precipice? The bridge where I stood to sketch the cloud, Did it span that black abyss? "When I turned aside to the little stream, Was that a path for a step so weak? Was the eagle's swoop in the evening gleam On the bones I see from here?" He, faced to the front again; his sight Could scarce discern the track; The slope on the left with mist was white And the wood below was black. In a hollow just ahead The pathway crept along, Enough to hid for mirth, he said, And the curlew heard his song. —E. T. Hopkins, Westminster Gazette

TO THE FRENCH CANADIANS
(Publishers' Press)

Whenever a daring deed was done or a chivalrous quest achieved—
Whenever the odds were ten to one, and the laurels bloodiest leaved—
Whenever the fight was fiercest and honor alone not lost—
Steel to steel, in the forefront, your swords and our were crossed.

Whenever the charge was swiftest, 'twas a laughing Frenchman led;
Whenever the charge was broken, it broke on our line of red—
The gayest hearts in battle, the stoutest hearts at sea.

Followed the Leopards of England, or fought for the Fleur de Lys.

Now this is the Law of England, and Hers is the law of the West,
'Tis the foe who fight us fairly make the friends we love the best.
The only peers of our people, are such as have dared and died,
With steady eyes on our bayonet points or cheering lips at our side.

We have buried our dead together,
Wolfs and your own Montcalm;
We have sung with you songs of battle;
We have taught the seas our psalm,
'Peace and be still,' and always we have used our blended might
To give to the people freedom and to every man his right.

This is no time to bicker. We, who have tried your worth,
Bid you stand shoulder to shoulder, for the peace of all God's earth.
We have shared this land in common
Now let us keep together, the homes we have won by the sword.

Let us build to protect our people,
Fret, that the World may see
The Ways of Peace kept open, by the Leopards and Fleur de Lys,
And the Land we love grows glorious,
Secure from hurt or loss
By Ocean, mounted, and guarded by the soldiers of the Cross.

STRONG APPEAL BY REV. J. H. A. ANDERSON

Powerful Address at Every Day Club Meeting on Sunday Evening

Rev. J. H. A. Anderson was the speaker at the Every Day Club on Sunday evening. He made a powerful appeal for a healthy moral atmosphere and emphasized the place the club was filling in this regard. The change in the club's constitution in requesting that a man take the total abstinence pledge was an appeal that he should first help himself and that was the first step in the right.

As it was necessary for a proper atmosphere for plant life, so it was for the home life and general life of the community. Good associates, good books, and all such worked to this end. In conclusion he urged that it was the duty of the parents to make the surroundings of the children pure, so that their lives might be so moulded that they might grow up good men and women.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By BUTH CAMERON

MY DEAR MISS CAMERON:
I am a reader of this paper and have noticed with interest the different occupations for women you sometimes suggest in your columns. Now, I would appreciate it very much if you would suggest some ways by which a college girl can earn money during her summer vacation. I refer to a college girl who is trying as nearly as possible to earn her own way through college. What can you suggest in this line that would not bring her to the opening of the college year, tired out and unfit for the year's work?

An early answer through the columns of the paper is greatly desired.

Again I am going to ask my readers' help.

On the previous occasions when I have requested this I have found that the country people as a whole were very helpful.

Last summer I happened to hear of two college girls who spent the summer as book agents in southern Canada. They had done very primitive country which had not been done to death by summer tourists, and were regarded by the country people as a most welcome diversion.

Consequently, according to the reports which I got, they both had a delightful time and made very good money.

Other college girls whom I have known have earned money during the summer by acting as governesses, as monitors at summer camps, as play teachers in summer playgrounds, as teachers in summer schools, as clerks in the civil service (the examination is the last of April, I think) or in ordinary offices.

None of these things are very unique, so I am afraid I have not contributed much to the subject. And here, of course, is where I want my readers' help. If you know of any way in which a college or high school girl has earned money in the summer, won't you write and tell us about it?

Through these columns I will pass your suggestion on, to this girl and to any others who may be desirous of similar information.

Daily Hints for the Cook

GINGERBREAD NUTS.
Mix a pound of light brown sugar, two pounds of molasses and three quarters of a pound of butter, and melt all together. Then stir in four pounds of flour, four ounces of ground ginger, one ounce of all spice, two spoonfuls of coriander seed and some candied orange peel cut very small. Mix all into a paste with the well beaten yolks of four eggs and make them into nuts or cakes.

CHESTNUT CROQUETTES.
Cook the chestnuts to a tender state, then mash them to a smooth paste. To each cupful allow a tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoons of milk, the grated peel of a lemon, one teaspoon of salt, a dash of cayenne and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Mix this thoroughly, form into little balls, dip in yolk of egg, then in fine crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve with slices of lemon.

The way of the agitator has always been hard. He has been compelled to use harsh and unskillful efforts of their class who by every means in their power attempt to make clear the fact of wrong and the possibility of right.

THE AGITATOR

Ottawa Paper Finds Him a Useful Citizen, Contrary to The Usual Judgment

(Ottawa Citizen).

Much has been said of late years, and most of it decidedly complimentary, of that type of person known as the agitator. He has been condemned by the majority as a disturber of the peace, a fomenter of unrest, a public nuisance, and in general a person more dangerous than useful in the community. We are here reminded to call him anarchistic, and to put upon him blame for much of the social disorder of the time.

The agitator is one who is so impressed by some particular evil or injustice that he uses every opportunity to make public declaration of the fact, and to arouse the people to a similar realization of wrong. He is usually willing to adopt any method of publicity for the fact. After a very short time he discovers also that the average person requires the drastic dose to arouse him from the apathy or ignorance by reason of which the wrong is permitted and continued.

As a matter of fact, our usual judgment of the agitator is unfair and untrue. Our condemnation of him can only be justified on very superficial grounds. He is worthy of entirely different treatment, judged not only from the quality of his motive, but from the final results of his agitation.

The agitator is absolutely essential to good citizenship. The menace of this century is not the man who declares himself wrong, but the man who is so indifferent to real conditions or difficult in making declaration of them. Of all men, he is the one most to be dreaded and denounced.

The opposite of agitation is stagnation, and stagnation is death. Agitation simply stirs the public thought, and prevents the community from sleeping through the hour of peril. The agitator is a human alarm clock, sounding insistently in the ears of the drowsy dreamer, and warning him that the time for action has come. He receives just the same treatment that we would accord the alarm clock, when it has crashed into the fairy fabric of an early morning dream.

Whatever of evil exists in this country today, exists simply because of the lack of agitation concerning it. There is enough god in Canada to wipe out all the injustice that may exist at this present time. It remains purely because we have not yet attained to the fact of its existence or the evil of its influence.

And whatever of good will be won in the future, to the gain of all, will come finally as the result of those who agitate it, and create the demand and the power whereby it will at last be made possible of attainment. By methods gentle or rough, refined or boisterous must the truth be thrust upon the public mind. If people will not awaken at a whisper or a touch, they must be shaken into a consciousness of their peril and their duty.

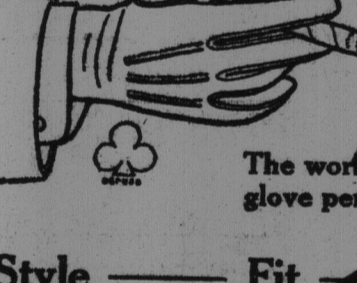

If all agitators were banished, it would mean death to Canada. If every man who had a conviction of truth and justice were to close his mouth, and never give expression to it, we would be on the highway to national destruction. The very hope of the country lies in the existence and efforts of their class of people who by every means in their power attempt to make clear the fact of wrong and the possibility of right.

The way of the agitator has always been hard. He has been compelled to use harsh and unskillful efforts of their class who by every means in their power attempt to make clear the fact of wrong and the possibility of right.

announcement that an amendment suit had been brought.

While she paced up and down the floor, wringing her hands, Mrs. Pierce exclaimed: "Any story that Roy is insane is a lie. It is a plot to ruin my happiness, for we were happy, supremely happy, until that very day when he went out in response to a telephone call and never came back. They say he has waxes, which is also false. There is not a grain of truth in it. He was rational, true and good, and I believe he is so today."

"How could he have developed paranoia? He never drank and never dissipated. If you want to know how he was taken away, carried out, go down and ask his father. From me, how the plot was devised and I can't talk about it. It is more than I can bear. I have been silent all these weeks to escape the notoriety. I am not on the stage any more, and I am out of the limelight. I had hoped to live quietly and happily, and now they have ruined it all."

From another source it was learned that the marriage was performed by an altar man in city hall early in November. Young Pierce did not want his parents to learn of the marriage at the time. In obedience to his wishes his bride consented to be known as Mrs. Chapman and they engaged in a luxurious apartment near Riverview Drive. They lived there for two months.

According to Mrs. Pierce, her husband (he is eight years her junior), was with her constantly and protested that he loved her passionately. There was no quarrel, and the parting came upon Mrs. Pierce like a bolt out of a clear sky.

A month passed before Roy Pierce confessed the marriage to his parents. How they felt about it is manifest in the present attitude. One evening early in January the young man received a telephone call and told his wife that he would be gone for about an hour. He did not say who called. He went out, and that was the last his bride saw of him.

She waited all night, and then telephoned to all his friends and relatives. She telephoned to the elder Pierce, and he replied that he had not seen his son and had no inkling where he was. No report of his disappearance was made to the police.

"I didn't know, but I suspected," said Mrs. Pierce today. "I determined to wait patiently until the time came to act. Now we will fight the case in the courts to the bitter end. No terms of settlement have been proposed, and none will be accepted."

SAYS HER HUSBAND WAS TORN FROM HER

Son of Oil Magnate, Placed in Sanitarium—Bride Will Fight Case in Courts

New York, April 3—"It is a damnable plot to ruin my happiness," cried Mrs. Roy E. Pierce in discussing an action brought to annul her marriage to the son of an oil magnate, the millionaire oil magnate. The young woman related for the first time how her husband was torn from her two months after their marriage and confined as a patient in the Central Valley sanitarium of Dr. Charles F. MacDonald.

It is alleged that young Pierce is insane and that he was insane when he was married to Mrs. Betsy Chapman, a stage beauty, last November.

Mrs. Pierce was seen at her apartment at 229 West 50th street, where she has been living with her mother since all her efforts to locate and bring back her husband proved fruitless. The first news of the marriage came today with the an-

THE LATE JAMES ROSS.

The funeral of James R. Ross, son of Elijah Ross, the veteran seaman, took place from his late residence, west side, yesterday afternoon. The burial was with military honors and was one of the largest ever seen on the west side. Under command of Major Smith, the members of No. 2
Company, Garrison Artillery, and No. 5 Battery turned out in full uniform. They were accompanied by the military band, which played en route to the cemetery.
The coffin was placed on a cannon wagon and a detachment from No. 2 Co. Garri-

HOLBEIN WILL TRY AGAIN.

Montague Holbein, who has several times almost accomplished the swimming of the English channel, will make one last effort next summer. He has learned a new leg stroke by which he not only hopes to increase his pace, but also to lessen the strain on his stamina. It is called the "Northern kick" and offers in absolute minimum of resistance to the water when the legs are being drawn into a position for kicking. His motion increases in speed, and there is not nearly the same fatigue resulting.

Honey sandwiches were much relished at tea the other day, the honey being blended with butter before it was spread on slices of Boston brown bread.

HOUSE IN FLAMES AS THEY SLEEP

HOME IS DESTROYED

Flames Break Out in House on Dark Lake Road Early This Morning—Family Forced to Shelter in Barn and Watch House Burn Down

To be driven from their comfortable little home by fire, at 3 o'clock in such a sharp morning as this was, with no clothing on save their night clothes to protect them from the biting wind, was the experience of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osborne and their three little children who resided on the Dark Lake Road, in the vicinity of the Isolation Hospital. The family lived in a two and a half story wooden house, and the fire which visited their home at such an early hour, practically razed their home to the ground.

That the fire was not accompanied by loss of life is cause for wonder as it was not seen until nearly the whole house was enveloped in flames. The oldest of the children is but five years of age, and the youngest one year, and it was with difficulty that they were rescued from the flames.

Through Smoke and Flames to Safety

Mr. Osborne, who is a painter by trade, was at home all day yesterday. The family retired at an early hour last night. Not a sign of smoke or fire was seen before retiring, but about 2:40 o'clock this morning Mrs. Osborne was awakened by the crackling of wood, and the strong smell of smoke. She immediately roused her husband and it was discovered that the whole house was practically on fire. Seeing that it was almost impossible to extinguish the flames, the two ran to the room where the children were sleeping, and took the little tots out of bed and hastened to the barn. The flames and dense smoke impeded their passage from the house, and it was with great difficulty that the children were rescued.

The flames spread rapidly and it was impossible for Mr. Osborne to gain access to the house again to try to save anything. Some distance away from the house is a little barn in which were stored a couple of carriages and a small quantity of hay. Here, the little family, were forced to sit, shivering with the cold and watch their house burn down. For more than half an hour they remained huddled up in the hay, the fire, hurried to the scene, but found it impossible to render any assistance. A message was sent to the Isolation Hospital and word was telephoned to Mrs. Osborne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hadden in High street. Mrs. Osborne's three sons, each carrying a bundle of clothing, started for the scene of the conflagration, a distance of nearly three miles from the city. Meanwhile they were cared for at the Isolation Hospital.

Brought to City

After a team was secured and Mrs. Osborne and her three children were brought to her mother's home in High street. There she said to a Times reporter: "I shall never get over the fright as long as I live. All our belongings, with the exception of one carriage, are destroyed. A piano, a quantity of jewelry and all our household furniture were destroyed by the flames, but fortunately we escaped with our lives."

Asked if it were known just how the fire started, Mrs. Osborne said that she thought it caught from an incubator in the rear of the house, but on this point she was not certain. She added that of late several tramps had been loitering about the place, and that the fire might have been of incendiary origin. "If the wind had been blowing the opposite way, she said, the barn would have been destroyed, and we would have been forced to walk over a mile in our bare feet before we could have found a shelter, as the Isolation Hospital is the nearest building to our place. The neighbors were very good to us, and must be credited with the saving of a mowing machine, a sleigh and one wagon from an out-house."

Mr. Osborne carried $500 insurance with William Thomson & Co., but this amount would not begin to cover the loss, which is roughly estimated at more than $1,000.

PRESENTATION MADE TO PAUL LONGLEY

Gift From Badminton Club on His Leaving for Montreal—The Scaron Prize Winners

The final meeting of the Badminton Club was held on Saturday afternoon. An open tournament of mixed doubles was played and was won by Miss S. Hare and J. G. Harrison. The feature of the afternoon was the presentation of the club cups for the year, by Chief Justice Barker. The cup for the ladies' doubles was won by Miss S. Hare and Miss Mabel Thomson, that for the mixed doubles by Miss K. E. Hassen and Paul Longley and the consolation mixed doubles by Miss Warner and Rev. D. Lang.

Much regret was expressed of the intended departure of Paul Longley, the secretary of the club, to Montreal, where he is to reside. Mr. Longley was the first secretary of the club at its organization ten years ago, and has held office ever since. On Saturday afternoon he received a solid silver cigarette case from the president, G. W. Jones, on behalf of the club. Mr. Longley replied in a feeling speech.

MUCH GRAIN SHIPPED.

In the week just closed, what is probably a new record for the port was made in grain shipments. A grand total of nearly 800,000 bushels of wheat, oats, corn, barley, and buckwheat was delivered to the winter port steamers from the C. P. R. and I. C. R. elevators for shipment across the ocean.
