PROSPECTS FOR 1917 POTATO CROP

Farmers Advised to Save Best Tubers and Lots of Them for Big Acreage

Present conditions indicate a potato shortage next year accompanied by fair prices. Aroostook buyers are reported to be contracting for next season's crop at $2.50 per barrel instead of $1, which was the ruling contract price of last year.

It is exceptionally difficult to form any definite opinion concerning the prospects for the New Brunswick potato crop of 1917, as the total yield depends to a large extent on numerous factors which we cannot, or have not, learned to control. There are, however, certain conditions existing which are likely to influence the acreage planted and the probable yield during the coming season.

Many of these factors indicate that the average New Brunswick farmer may well consider and conclude that this crop may prove quite remunerative during the coming season.

First let us remember that our potatoes help, even in a small way, to supply the markets of the whole of North America. Therefore, a shortage in the West Indies, or the Southern States, will more or less influence the value of the crop in New Brunswick and the greater this shortage, the greater will be the value of our crop. New Brunswick produces annually about 8,000,000 bushels of potatoes, while Canada produces approximately 75,200,000 bushels, the United States and West Indies, nearly 400,000,000 bushels annually. Therefore, New Brunswick produces about one-tenth of the Canadian potato crop, or less than one-fiftieth of the total production in North America. Hence, an over production in New Brunswick will not materially affect the total production in the area of which we are a part, nor will it greatly reduce the price. On the other hand, anything which reduces the crop over the whole area, will tend to make a general scarcity and consequently higher prices will prevail. Let us realize, then, that a large acreage in New Brunswick is not going to produce a glut on the market, accompanied by low prices.

What then are the existing conditions which are liable to influence the potato crop in North America? (1) Price of seed stock, (2) Quality of seed stock, (3) Supply of the necessary fertilizer, (4) Necessary labor, (5) Probable value of the crop. With the exception of the last condition, all tend to show that we may have a scarcity during the coming season. The price of seed being one of initial costs, influences to a large extent, the acreage planted. The average New Brunswick farmer planting six barrels of potatoes valued at $5 per barrel, will expend $30 on seed alone. Moreover, the Ontario and American farmer will pay $8 or more, making the cost of seed approximately $50 per acre. This condition will tend greatly to reduce the acreage over a very large area.

The quality of the seed stock is one of the most important factors in production and unless good seed is planted, a comparatively poor crop may be expected. This is particularly true in many sections. The unfavorable condition prevailing during the last two years has probably weakened much of the stock in other sections of Canada and the United States, and owing to the scarcity and high price of good seed, much poor stock will be planted, which is almost sure to result in a low yield unless something is done to supply good seed.

The scarcity of fertilizer containing a sufficient supply of potash will undoubtedly react to some extent on the crop. Many farmers will plant a smaller acreage on a good quality of fertilizer, while others will endeavor to get along without any, or use reduced quantities. This condition will be most marked in sections where the growers have been depending on commercial fertilizer, and to a smaller extent where barnyard manure or clover crops have been regularly ploughed under.

The potato crop requires a good deal of hard labor, particularly in sections where modern machinery is not used, and the scarcity of farm laborers will undoubtedly further reduce the acreage planted and may also reduce the yield per acre, due to poor cultivation. This scarcity will not be felt in sections like New Brunswick or Maine, where the farmers have the necessary potato machinery, but it will be very acute in many large areas like Ontario where hand-planting, hand-hoeing and digging are quite extensively practiced.

The above four conditions indicate a small crop, but the possibility of receiving a high price will induce many to plant more extensively. However, indications at present are that this will not offset the scarcity due to other causes.

In view of the fact that these conditions exist in an aggravated form outside New Brunswick, in large potato growing areas, the total crop for North America will be even smaller than during the past season, and farmers who have large quantities for sale will likely reap a just harvest.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

"PAST SINS CAME UP BEFORE ME"

Writes Sandy Hayward after Being Under Hun Shell Fire

Following is a letter recently received by C. E. Hayward of Coldstream from one of his two sons who are at the front:

France, Jan. 30.

Dear Father:

Would like to have you here for the evening. Have got lots of tobacco and we could go down to the hospital where Walt. is and talk the matter over.

After you had assured yourself that Walt. was as good as a dozen dead men, and taken notice of his increase in stature, you would ask us about our experiences in France.

First place you would be informed that this a French village a few kilometres from a place that you have often read about, and is now pretty well torn up.

We have marched over nearly all of Europe in extra heavy marching order (greatly exaggerated) and spent one week in front line, and one in reserves, so we think we are regular old war-dogs now.

We found the trenches a little muddy (you don't know what that means and we couldn't explain) but we got a good job. We were sentries in a bombing post in a sap. All we had to do in case Fritz started anything was to hold him back until those in the front line had put on their boots, cleaned their rifles and got ready to assist.

(By this time your hair is standing on end and your eyes are as big as saucers).

Now, look out! The exciting part is just begun! We took up our position in that bombing post with a bomb in each hand and blood in our eye, and prepared for the onslaught.

The first signs of Fritz being handy was when he fired up one of those everlasting sky-rockets. It looked as though it was going to hit me on the cocco and I thought my time had come. I thought of the time I stole the hens from Mr. Belyea and the time I beat the cow with the

A WESTERN OPINION

(Manitoba Free Press)

The New Brunswick election, with its remarkable result, was fought in the main on local issues, but in two respects it properly engages the attention of the people of Canada at large.

The Opposition, which was virtually non-existent in the late house, with only two members in the Legislature, increasing to three after the last session, challenged the seemingly strongly entrenched government on moral issues, and clean government, which is a matter of Dominion-wide concern.

When J. K. Fleming was driven by the force of public opinion from the premiership some three years ago as the outcome of revelations of the political corruption brought out by an investigation which his own government had been forced to institute, it was a clear intimation to Conservatives of New Brunswick to clean house.

New Brunswick politics have of late left much to be desired. Mr. Fleming's weaknesses were held by his political associates to lean to virtue's side. The toll-taking enterprise which was brought home to him had been done for the furthering of the party fortunes, and had thus been sanctified. While, therefore, they thought it wise to secure his retirement from his official position, they still regarded him as entitled to their allegiance. Mr. Fleming transferred himself to the Dominion field and became the Conservative candidate for the Dominion House in Carleton-Victoria in opposition to F. B. Carvell, no doubt with the approval of Sir Robert Borden. He has in fact never ceased to be to the actual leader of the Conservative provincial party, and in the late election he took the platform as its most redoubtable champion.

The popular uprising of the people of New Brunswick against this cynical contempt for political decency shown by J. K. Fleming's continuance in public life is a proper subject for nation-wide congratulation. Public opinion in New Brunswick lines up with public opinion in Manitoba and British Columbia in declaring that the day for crooked and brazen politics is over, at least for this generation.

The other aspect of the contest, which is Dominion-wide interest is the relation of Saturday's voting to the political reputation of Mr. Carvell, Federal member for Carleton. Mr. Carvell, in addition to his arduous labors at Ottawa, has inspired and, so far as this was practicable, led the growing opposition to the successive Fleming, Clarke and Murray governments, and in so far as Saturday's result is a personal triumph, Mr. Carvell wears the honors. He declined the strong pressure which was put upon him to take the actual leadership, it is reasonable to infer that there would have been a greater landslide, in view of the showing made under the leadership of Mr. Foster, who took the position at the eleventh hour.

Mr. Carvell had thus declined the premiership of his native province in favor of the position of private member in the Opposition at Ottawa. These developments may perhaps give the public a measure of the man—his strength in New Brunswick and his ability to take the longer view which is so necessary to the highest success in politics. It is well that the people of Canada should get better acquainted with Mr. Carvell, because it is already clear that he is to play an increasingly important part in the political life of Canada.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flinch, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

"In my opinion, no other medicine in the world is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as 'Fruit-a-tives'. I was suffering from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis—with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and Pain in the Back. I tried pills and medicines of physicians, but nothing helped me. Then I was induced to try 'Fruit-a-tives', and now for six months I have been entirely well.

I advise any one who suffers from that horrible trouble—Chronic Constipation with the resultant indigestion, to try 'Fruit-a-tives', and you will be agreeably surprised at the great benefit you will receive". A. ROSENBERG.

dung-fork until she bleated, and all my other past sins came up before me; but the rocket just fell alongside and went out.

We stood there every night for a week and listened to our shells tearing Fritz's trenches down, but Fritz didn't show up. We used to listen to them talking in their sap. Had we thought they were talking about us we would have run for our lives.

Just as we had got used to standing in the cold water and had begun to think that it was impossible to be hit by Fritz's machine guns, they took us out to reserves.

We got pretty indignant when they led us to nice warm billets, and sulked for a few days but we got coaxed back to good nature again. (Walter is sulking yet; he always was a stubborn kid).

Business is picking up now. We have got it all over Fritz. They were all right so long as they could do their fighting with artillery, but the case is reversed, now, and I would like no better fun than to meet a half dozen before breakfast, so you can imagine what a man could do with them. Have got some heavy work ahead of us but we are coming back; but if we don't we shall not have lived in vain.

Tired and Discouraged

Mrs. Warren Randles, Rothesay, Kings county, N. B., writes, "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt all tired out and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the results were most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Nerve Food to others."

OLD MAIDS IN CONVENTION

The unmarried men of East and West Florenceville have disappeared, so The Observer is informed, and the continued lack of news concerning them is beginning to create the suspicion that they may not return. Investigation has revealed that the exodus began about the middle of February, that it conformed as to time with the appearance of an advertising poster announcing that an Old Maid's Convention was to be held on the 27th in Smith's Hall. Blazoned upon this poster was the picture of a man old enough to be a widower sprinting like mad before a desperate maiden lady with a large scoop net by which it seemed he might at any moment be covered. The next day, it is said, two of the far sighted ones quietly took their departure, evidently followed by others from day to day as the date for the gathering of the lonely ladies steadily approached.

It has since developed that if they had been courageous enough to have taken a sporting chance on the thing and stayed, they would have had the opportunity such as falls to the lot of few. For a miracle occurred at this convention. The old maids having discovered the fabled Elixir of Life were all rejuvenated, and there is now in the market twenty young and beautiful maids — young, that is, in face and figure but in experience, old; enriched by the mature knowledge and capacities of forty and over. What a chance! The Observer is asked to publish this report of the convention in hope that some of those in hiding may read of the miracle that happened in Florenceville and hasten to return.

The convention was really the gathering of a well-known organization here — the Matrimonial Club. Its notorious end and aim, its constant dream and prayer is to get its members married. It exists to dig up from all quarters and to study any and all methods which might be adapted to bring them to their matrimonial goal. Also to practice any that were promising. The convention was this organization called in special session to meet a wonder-working Sikh from the East, who in the literature he had sent to the club had electrified the members by his astounding, and, if true, most entrancing claims. He had guaranteed nothing less than to make old maids young, to take the old and the angular, those of parchment complexion and of stiff gait and transform them into young and sprightly damsels of desired complexion and accomplishment. His process involved a vital elixir he had discovered and a mysterious electrical cabinet into which the patient entered. Those consenting to treatment were to drink the elixir (No. 1 if a blonde complexion was desired and No. 2 if they would be brunettes) and then enter the cabinet which was manipulated by the professor.

Although the entire membership of the club underwent treatment the Professor's demonstration was marked by one or two untoward incidents. One of the ladies who was emphatic in her choice of a brunette complexion, in her impatient fervor drank too much of the elixir and was shot out of the cabinet a buxom black Topsy with knotted curly hair. The professor was able to save her however by timely counter treatment. He was not so fortunate with another radical member who turned traitor to her sex. She sent her rejuvenated associates into spasms and staggered the professor with her unexpected but persistent demand to be made into a man. Feeling that he had the opportunity of his life to win a reputation for his process the professor administered both brands of his elixir in double doses and arranged his cabinet for high power operation. The mad candidate for this unnatural transformation entered the cabinet, but only to cause a reverberating explosion and her own exit into nothingness. A few garments (female) were hurtled into the air through the top of the cabinet. The professor fled and those of the few young things who didn't faint made their escape from the building.

To subside into sobriety however it is to be said that the ladies of the Womens Institute here are to be congratulated on having organized and staged a real entertainment of a unique order in their Old Maid's Convention. They succeeded in raising over a hundred dollars for their Red Cross work.

Good for the whole family

A good cough remedy is one that can be depended upon to cure coughs. Not one that cures some particular cough, but coughs in general.

While the causes of all coughs are primarily the same, yet the condition of the patient is what makes the difference in the nature of the cough itself. Coughs of healthy persons are easier to cure than the coughs of invalids. The more powerful convulsive cough of a big man is harder to cure than the cough of a baby. If you get a remedy that will cure a big man's cough and yet not be too powerful for the baby, you have a good cough remedy.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is just this kind of remedy. It is good for any member of the family. It relieves coughs of all kinds. It is composed of things which cure the easily and soothingly without harming the delicate tissues of the throat, and is the ideal remedy for coughs, colds, croup, influenza and whooping cough.

Forced to Leave School, Had St. Vitus' Dance

Astonishing Cure of This Nervous Trouble Effected by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Here is a case where life-long gratitude will be felt for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As a school girl and in later life Dr. Chase's Nerve Food came to the rescue when the nerves gave out. Now a healthy, robust woman happily gives the credit to this great food cure for restoring her to health and strength.

Miss Sadie M. White, 33 Waterloo street, Fredericton, N. B., writes: "When ten years of age a friend of mine had St. Vitus' Dance and she had to leave school and go under a doctor's care. Instead of benefiting by the treatment she appeared to get worse. Her tongue and tongue became swollen than she could scarcely take any nourishment. For two weeks she was this way and then took Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She was ordered to the hospital, but soon got worse again. I recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to her and she took it. She is now growing better. Three years later a severe fright brought on the nervous trouble again, and she suffered everything a human being could endure. Her mother bought a dozen boxes of the Nerve Food, and with the treatment she was fully restored. I wish you could see her now, a strong, healthy, robust woman with two lovely babies. She still uses the Nerve Food when she feels out of sorts, but she had no return of the old nervous trouble."

For weak, puny, nervous children there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood, restore the starved nerves and start them on the way to health. When they fail to get proper nourishment from the food they eat, this food cure presents the necessary ingredients in condensed and easily assimilated form, and strength and vigor is restored. 50 cent a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, Edmondson, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

A Point for All Local Merchants

The advertising manager of one of the largest mail-order houses in Canada in a talk before the members of an advertising club recently gave some information on how they secured much of their business. He said:

We have a bureau whose duty it is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the country. There is not a paper of any consequence in our territory that our bureau does not get. This bureau looks over these papers and when we find a town where the merchants are not advertising in the local papers we immediately flood that territory with our literature.

It always brings results far in excess of the same effort put forth in territory where the local merchants use the papers.

This is the mail-order situation. The local merchant who does not use his local paper for advertising has only himself to blame when worth-while business goes by mail order route to Toronto.

Let us help you with your advertising. Just give us a hint and we'll show you how our service will make money for you.

THE POTATO SITUATION

Today dealers refuse to purchase potatoes at any price. Since the government investigation showed that there are tens of thousands of barrels more potatoes in Canada than can be consumed before another crop arrives the bottom seems to have fallen out of the ridiculously high prices. People simply will not eat potatoes when eggs, oranges and Oregon apples are just as cheap. Every one rejoices when potatoes bring the farmer a decent return on his invested capital, good pay for his work, and an additional fair profit, but when he roars $5,000 or $10,000 for four months work he is going beyond the line of legitimate money-making.

FRANCE TO BUY 1,000 HORSES IN N.B.

One thousand horses, for the use of the French Army, are to be purchased in New Brunswick. A dealer has closed a contract with the representatives in America of the Republic of France to carry on the work of purchasing in this province and buying is to be commenced at once. Three varieties of horses are to be bought, a light horse fit for saddle purposes, a medium weight animal that can be used by field artillery and a heavy draught horse for general purposes, of the armies. The agents are to be located in various centres. As to the prices to be paid for the horses little could be learned today. Among the men engaged in the horse trade there seems to be somewhat of a difference of opinion as to the number of animals available in New Brunswick at prices which are likely to obtain. It is pointed out, however, that with lumbering operations just now being closed down and a large number of horses thus being without work for some months at least, the present should be a favorable time for purchases. If the order for 1,000 animals can be filled in the province it will mean the expenditure of probably at least $150,000 or $175,000 practically all of which will go into the pockets of the farmers of the province.

The New McLaughlin Four is powered high in proportion to its weight, which is under 2100 pounds. This gives you all the speed you want with enough reserve power to take the hills on high gear.

The car was designed to be an efficient, economical, easy running and easy riding automobile for the man who does not care to invest in a six-cylinder model and it fulfills all these functions admirably.

The specifications alone are sufficient evidence to the man who knows motor car values. Read them and compare them point by point with other makes of cars selling under $1000.00.

We already have many orders for this model and our output for 1917 is fixed. The demand will doubtless be greater than the supply, but orders will be filled in rotation. Send for literature.
