Former Labor Alderman Will Receive Salary of $4,000 Per Year.

Henry D. Ashplant, labor alderman in Ward 4, was appointed full-time city auditor at a salary of $4,000 a year, by the city council, after his resignation as a member of the council had been accepted at the regular session Friday night. His duties will commence January 1. Members of the council voiced an opinion that Ald. Ashplant had served well on the council, and that he was perhaps the best man in London to fill the post to which he has been appointed. Two applications for the position were received by the council. Russell Otton asked a salary of $2,000, but he was expected. As he will head one of the civic departments, it was decided the salary should be $4,000. A letter of appreciation will be sent to the Toronto Commercial Travellers, who at a banquet held at the Tecumseh House Thursday night turned over $40, the surplus of the evening, to Ald. Leonard Douglass, one of the speakers. To be donated to the War Memorial Children's Hospital. Provision was made for the holding of civic meetings in schools in the various wards during the present election campaign. Two meetings, the council decided, will be held in the Masonic Temple.

Sandwich, Nov. 17.—Frank Bianchi, sentenced to be hanged January 25 for killing William Fraser, is sick with fear. Not having room enough for pacing about on the cold concrete, he lies or sits on the bunk all the time, with his eyes closed or fixed on the wall or ceiling. By turning his head he may see autumn leaves and blue sky through a window, but perhaps the bars on it fall in the vision of a gallery, for he turns suddenly away when his gaze encounters them.

Everlasting Life On Earth

Ascending as this statement may seem, an opportunity to attain this is shortly due to be offered to all—except the Christian. God has guaranteed this, and has declared the conditions to which all must conform to attain this blessing. Man's extremity, which will be reached in the near future, will be God's opportunity. Referring to this time, He says: "All the earth (society) shall be devoured by the fire of my jealousy, then will I turn to the people a pure language (teaching)."—Zeph. 3: 8. "The elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth (social order) also, and the works therein shall be burned up."—2 Pet. 3: 10. This fire is now burning amongst the nations, and we note the friction is increasing in the political, financial and ecclesiastical elements, as their works are brought to the bar of public opinion. As the conflagration spreads, consuming these man-made systems, we point to the words of Jesus: "When these things begin to come to pass, then look up, lift up your heads (rejoice), for your deliverance is at hand."—Luke 21: 28-31. The establishment of the new order is now due. What will this mean to you? You should hear this lecture, "lest that day come upon you unawares."

Make Great Strides in Developing Forest City Telephone Facilities

In connection with "Telephone Week" it is interesting to learn from Manager C. H. Beard the surprising development that has been made in London's telephone facilities.

Mr. Beard points out that London is now in the 10,000 subscriber class, having 10,900 stations, and having practically doubled in stations since the year 1918.

There are 325 employees, 140 of whom are local and long-distance operators. The local exchange is handling daily from 85,000 to 90,000 calls, and the long-distance exchange, daily 1,100 "outgoing" calls, and about 2,500 "incoming" and "through" calls.

There is one side of the telephone development that is of vital interest to the progressive man of business. Long-distance arrangements have been so greatly improved lately that many large houses have come to use the telephone in the daily transaction of business that formerly required the services of a highly-paid traveler.

The Niagara Fruit Growers' Association, for instance, sells two-thirds of its crop by long-distance, and on one occasion used 49 calls at a cost of $47, enabling them to sell 36 carloads of fruit in one day. A traveler for a grain house sold two carloads of wheat worth $2,400 by using the long-distance telephone, for the use of which he paid $68.80.

There are a number of such instances, but one of the chief considerations in the use of the long-distance phone is knowing the most economical way and time to use it. For instance, if you call a party by name you are charged at the rate of 30 cents for three minutes, whereas, if you merely ask for a certain number you pay at the rate of 25 cents for five minutes' conversation, which is quite a consideration.

Then, too, between 8:30 and midnight evening rates, which are just half the daytime rates, are in force, and this, too, is a point worth knowing.

For the greater convenience of patrons the Bell Telephone Company has arranged a code call list, whereby a subscriber having one of these code calls can substitute a number in calling up any of the customers on his list, and this saves both time and trouble.

FAVOR SECURING JUVENILE COURT

Various Organizations of City Discuss Project With Mayor Wilson.

Mayor Wilson held a meeting on Friday afternoon, at which the representatives of the various organizations interested in child welfare were present, to discuss the project of these societies as to the juvenile delinquency act, and also to the use of a juvenile court. The prevailing opinion seemed to be in favor of having the juvenile court in operation as soon as possible, and the majority of those present favored the appointment of Magistrate Graydon as magistrate of the juvenile court.

After some discussion the following motion was proposed and unanimously carried: "That this meeting, composed of representatives of the various bodies interested in the well-being of children in the city, ask the council to urge the proclamation of the juvenile delinquency act, and that we strongly recommend Mr. Graydon, the present police magistrate, as the official to take charge of the juvenile court."

It was decided that all other matters, such as the personnel of the court officers, location of the court rooms, remuneration of the magistrate, and so on, were matters of secondary importance just at present, and might well be left over until a future date.

Among the societies represented were the following: Kiwanis, Y. M. C. A., the Chamber of Commerce, the Mothers' Clubs of the city, the Ministerial Alliance, the Board of Religious Education, and the Children's Aid Society.

TILLSONBURG WOMEN FORM I. O. D. E. CHAPTER

Special to The Advertiser. Tillsonburg, Nov. 17.—A largely-attended meeting of the women of this town was held this afternoon in the council chambers and a local chapter of the I. O. D. E. was organized. Mrs. E. T. Cromwell, district organizer, addressed the meeting, also

Mrs. Dunsmore of St. Thomas.

In her address Mrs. Cromwell thoroughly explained all matters in regard to the work of the I. O. D. E., and the following officers were elected by ballot: Regent, Mrs. V. A. Sinclair; 1st vice-regent, Mrs. A. C. Rennie; 2nd vice-regent, Mrs. E. V. Tillson; secretary, Mrs. Lancaster; educational secretary, Mrs. T. M. Layman; Echoes secretary, Miss W. Maddock; treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Fallow; standard-bearer, Mrs. W. C. Brown.

Several names were mentioned for the chapter, but were left until another meeting which will take place early in the year. The meeting was very enthusiastic, and the local branch promises to be a very successful organization.

VISIT TELEPHONE OFFICE.

In another column of this issue the Bell Telephone Company again invites the public to visit the Central Office, Clarence street, any afternoon or evening of Telephone Week, Nov. 20 to 25, inclusive. To The Advertiser, Manager Beard explains the idea behind Telephone Week as simply an effort after the highest standard of telephone service through widespread public co-operation.

"After all," said Mr. Beard, "the telephone user has no small part in determining the quality of his service. There are always three persons involved in every completed call—the calling party, the operator and the person called. To insure the best type of service all three must observe certain quite simple, but vital requirements of good telephone practice."

"Now we have found from actual experience that when subscribers know something about telephone equipment and the work that our operators are called upon to do in completing a call they invariably use their instruments to better advantage, insuring both for themselves and the community a service that can't be improved upon. Obviously there is no place like our central office for showing people just what lies behind their telephone instruments, and our whole staff are hoping that every night next week will see a big section of our public honoring us with a visit. They will be heartily welcome."

Our idea of a truly great man is one who can draw people more than five miles to attend his funeral.

SESSION WILL BE DEVOTED TO IRISH QUESTION

New British Parliament Will Convene On Monday Next.

LOYD GEORGE PREPARES

London, Nov. 17.—Now that the elections battle has ended, interest turns rather on the future fortunes, first, of David Lloyd George, whose star is temporarily eclipsed, and, second, on the Labor Party, than on that of the new Conservative government.

Until the new parliament is shaken down the exact strength of Premier Bonar Law's actual majority will not be known, but it probably will be about 80 votes, which constitutes a good working majority and renders the Conservatives completely independent of help from any other quarters.

The government supporters no longer will want even co-operation from the George Liberals, and although much was heard in the election campaign about possible pacts and co-operation when there was fear that no single group would be returned of sufficient strength to govern alone, it is safe to say that nothing more will be heard of such co-operation and that Lloyd George's small remaining group will be left entirely to its own resources.

Lloyd George Prepared. It is already evident that the former premier does not intend to be idle. He has taken up permanent political headquarters in London for himself and his chief supporters, Lord Birkenhead, Winston Churchill and others who form a brilliant group. Mr. Churchill will not long be without a seat in parliament.

The Labor party is preparing to make an energetic opposition in the House of Commons. The party will hold its first meeting on Tuesday to elect officers. It is expected that John R. Clynes will be chairman. With the exception of Arthur Henderson, the Labor party has now in parliament its most able leaders, including J. Ramsay MacDonald, Philip Snowden and Sidney Webb, together with two important king's counsel, Messrs Hastings and Hemmerde, and

This photograph, just received in Canada, shows Benito Mussolini, premier of Italy, leading his triumphant Fascist through Rome, where he was confirmed in office by the king.

Premier Mussolini's first appearance before the Italian chamber on Thursday proved a great personal success. He spoke to the deputies as he had addressed the leaders of his Fascist legions, and his orders were received with similar apparent obedience. He announced his foreign and internal policies, and announced the Fascist government had come to stay. He did not ask, but demanded, a vote of confidence in his government, declaring that if the deputies refused their mandates would be withdrawn.

His bitter enemies, who had looked forward to his encounter with the experienced politicians on their own battlefield, were disappointed, and his friends are saying that he is the greatest leader Italy has seen since Crispi, and that the Fascist rule will endure.

Congratulations were showered upon the youthful leader from all sides after he had concluded his exposition of the government's program. All the parliamentary groups joined in the applause, and the opposition extremists, who abstained from displaying any emotion. In the lobbies afterward the expression was heard many times repeated that in Mussolini Italy had found the leader for whom she had been looking for many years.

The Independent, Liberal and Labor parties were approximately 7,000,000. This arose from the fact that there were so many three-cornered contests and split votes. There is, therefore, already beginning strong agitation on the part of the Liberal and Labor parties for the introduction of proportional representation in order to secure fairer representation in the nation's voting.

The Liberal press is bitterly lamenting the advent of a Conservative government, which, it says, might have been prevented had the Labor and Liberal parties agreed on a common election policy, instead of fighting each other.

Analysis of the voting in the elections proves that although the Conservatives have been returned in much strength in the number of seats won, the party poll was in the minority. Their total vote in the contested elections was approximately 5,500,000, while the combined vote of

LADY ASTOR TO SEEK REFORMS

Will Fight For Educational and Housing Improvements.

Plymouth, England, Nov. 17.—Viscountess Astor, who was re-elected to the House of Commons, is ill today as a result of the nervous strain of her strenuous campaign. She is also suffering from a cold. Her condition is not serious.

Despite her illness, Viscountess Astor was able to leave her sickbed to receive a press correspondent today, who clearly showed traces of weariness and care.

"The new cabinet is reactionary, but I am confident that there will be an early swing to the left," she said. "There is a possibility of even a Socialist-Labor victory in the not distant future. That is my observation of the election result."

Anti-Americans Rebuffed. "I intend to fight for educational and housing reforms and hope the cabinet will support me."

"I believe the main factor of my own success was the anti-American outcry raised by my opponents. I did not try to hide my Virginia birth. I feel that the British people indicated that they were not prejudiced towards Americans, despite efforts of the liquor interests to arouse such prejudice."

"There is ground for the belief that Great Britain and America are going to continue to co-operate. Prohibition Gaining. "The American 'pussycot' influence, which liquor traders claimed was being used here, is 'the bunk.' It was only empty clamor. Nothing to it. There was a bogey to frighten and prejudice public opinion."

"There is a latent and growing feeling in favor of drink control. Owing to the nature of the new cabinet I have little hope for my local option bill to form the manner in which drink is sold. The bill likely will pass Commons for my local option bill towards temperance is growing stronger. It looks as though the liquor interests are going to get it on."

Viscountess Astor said she was "fearfully disappointed" because more women were not elected for Commons.

BUY TOBACCO IN SOUTH KENT

One Farmer Disposes of Season's Crop At 15 Cents Per Pound.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Nov. 17.—It was reported in the city today that tobacco buyers from one well-known tobacco firm are buying up tobacco in South Kent, especially along the lake shore.

The offers made for tobacco could not be ascertained, but one tobacco grower is stated to have disposed of his season's crop for 15c per pound.

The remains of the late Joseph T. Keefe were laid to rest in St. Anthony's Cemetery this morning, the funeral cortege being followed by a large number of sympathetic friends.

Solemn high mass was said at St. Joseph's Church at 9:15 o'clock this morning by Rev. Father Maurice Sullivan, assisted by Father Harrigan of the Blessed Sacrament parish and deacon and Father McKeon of St. Joseph's as sub-deacon.

Among relatives and friends from a distance who attended the funeral were Dr. F. McDonnell of Detroit, Dr. and Mrs. O'Keefe of Mount Clemens, Mr. and Mrs. Flattery of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Keefe of Detroit.

Owing to the bad condition of the lake shore route between Cedar Springs and Windsor, owing to ditching activities, the Kent Motor Club, assisted by the Essex Motor Club, is erecting special signs warning motorists to take other routes.

It appears that the government had been deepening and widening ditches for a distance of about 30 miles, and the ditching machines have thrown the clay up on the surface of the road. The result of this, combined with the rainy spell, has made the road well-nigh impassable for both passenger and commercial cars.

The special signs which are to be erected will direct the motorist to proceed via the provincial highway from Chatham. The surface of the highway is reported to be in an excellent condition.

Miss Eva Richard, alias Ricardo Mazzocco, wanted by the Wallaceburg police on a charge of theft, was arrested at the C. P. R. station yesterday when she attempted to take a train for an outside point. She was held here overnight and was taken back to Wallaceburg this morning to answer to the charge.

The most proper manner to handle the overcrowded condition of the Chatham Collegiate Institute is to build a new collegiate, J. M. Levan, high school inspector, told the board of education at a conference held at the Hotel Sanita last evening.

The inspector pointed out the present overcrowded classrooms, the lack of proper space in which to handle the pupils properly were factors which should be considered at an early date.

The excellence of the present teaching staff and the splendid discipline prevalent in the collegiate institute were highly commended by the inspector.

TWO INJURED WHEN CAR LEAVES TRACK

Seventy-Five Passengers In Miraculous Escape From Death At Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 17.—Seventy-five passengers on a Flint Limited Interurban car had a remarkable escape from death when the big car, splitting an electric switch in front of the state fair grounds, left its tracks and was rolled over and over for a distance of 50 feet, at 7:15 o'clock Friday evening.

The car, behind time, was being driven at a high rate of speed, according to statements of witnesses, and the motorman is said to have failed to slow down for the switch, which does not operate properly when struck at high rate speed.

While most of the occupants of the car were slightly bruised or shaken up as the big interurban rolled along the roadway, only two persons were seriously injured, 12 others sustained minor injuries which required treatment.

The car was north bound, and many of those who had lucky escapes from serious injury were placed on board another interurban and continued their journey to Flint.

Mrs. Irene Dewey of Windsor, a passenger, was taken to Ford Hospital, and it is believed her skull is fractured.

COAL SHIPMENTS TO CANADA DECREASE

U. S. Fuel Distributor Declares Strike Has Greatly Retarded Movements.

Washington, Nov. 17.—(By Canadian Press)—A large falling off in shipments of coal from this country to Canada on account of the recent strike has occurred, it was made plain at the office of the fuel distributor today. It has come about, according to fuel distribution officials, not because they are in any way hindering the movement of coal to Canada, but because of the general shortage of coal. The United States is suffering from the same shortage.

Fuel Distributor Spens has taken no hand in the movement of coal to Canada, save to ask the contractor to take care of the coal as well as they do the United States, on the ground that Canada, especially Eastern Canada, has always been a good customer for United States fuel. This is being done, officials say. They add that the United States will be about one-third short its anthracite, but heavy coal supply this year, and Canada will suffer likewise.

With respect to bituminous coal, in spite of the fact that the fuel distributor has urged that coal be rushed to United States and Canadian lake ports before the freezing weather comes on there is a much smaller movement to these ports than last year. The fuel distributor's figures show that from April 1 to Oct. 31 the shipments of bituminous to Canadian lake ports amounted to 2,450,000 tons, as against 4,450,000 tons the preceding year, and 5,250,000 tons in 1920 for the corresponding period. About the same falling off has occurred as to the United States lake ports.

EXPECT SESSION WILL BE BRIEF

London, Nov. 17.—It is predicted by experts that the session of the new parliament will be a short one. T. P. O'Connor, the Irish Nationalist and father of the House of Commons, will move the election of J. H. Whiteley as speaker on the opening day, next Monday. Speaker Whiteley also presided over the last House of Commons.

After the king's speech on Thursday the debate on the address from the throne will occur. It is hoped to conclude this debate by Monday to allow for the introduction of the bill dealing with Ireland on Tuesday. It contains only a few clauses, but will probably take a fortnight to get it through the house.

CANADA IS SECOND IN WHEAT PRODUCTION

Last year France took second place among wheat-producing countries, leading Canada by about 23,000,000 bushels.

MOTORBOAT CREW HAS CLOSE CALL

Craft Wrecked in Lake Ontario When Navigators Lose Bearings.

Belleisle, Nov. 17.—Wrecked on a rock at McEllan's Point, on Lake Ontario four miles from Coborne, the crew of the Sonora, a motor cruiser owned by J. McQueen of Belleville, had to swim for their lives. Capt. A. L. Wilson, George Keegan of Belleville and James McGuinnis were the members of the crew.

The Sonora was returning at night empty from a United States port, and in a heavy fog. The crew had lost their bearings and no danger was anticipated until the boat struck against a huge boulder, the craft being wedged between this rock and others around it.

Wilson, Keegan and McGuinnis jumped overboard, and although they could not see the shore they took the chance as the waves were dashing over the cabin of the cruiser. At the risk of being dashed against the rocks they found footing on shore. One of the men in jumping overboard had picked up a waterproof tin box containing matches, and with these the shipwrecked trio started a fire. When dawn broke they saw a farmhouse, where they were warmed and fed.

BRITISH POLICE MAKE CHARGES AGAINST "EARL"

Self-Styled Scion of House of Dunblane Wanted in England.
COURT SIFTS LOVE STORY
State Authorities Investigate Financial and Matrimonial Adventure.

Charlevoix, Mich., Nov. 17.—At the morning session of the trial of a mysterious "Earl of Dunblane's" life was brought to light, the prosecution seems determined to lay bare all that Greig has done in America. Yesterday, an attempt to discover his operations in England was made. Greig has realized this. He sees that it is not only his finances that are being examined, but also himself, his character; not only the companies, which he floated, but also the lives he led with the women he married and supported—one in Toronto, and one in Michigan.

Attorneys for the state declared during cross examination of the defendant that he was wanted by Scotland Yard. The charge said to be pending against Greig in England was not divulged.

Ask Detention.
The sheriff's office here has already received requests for Greig's detention, in event he is acquitted, from authorities from several cities, as well as Detroit.

The prisoner is accused of withholding $30,000 of the company funds, refused yesterday to answer numerous questions relating to the operations of the defunct Title Guaranty and Casualty Company, organized by him.

Greig is a changed man. Some of the self-confidence showed still as he walked to the witness stand, but his smile was gone. His brow is seared by two furrows of worry. His pincenez is discarded. Heavy rimmed spectacles half shade his eyes.

Story of Loves.
The story of Greig's marriage to this woman, which proved interesting to the audience, which thronged the court today. He married the countess four years ago, in Sault Ste. Marie, Alfred, Earl of Dunblane, England, and his age is 36.

He said he was an English barrister. The countess had nothing from him. She told him that she was a divorcee; that she had been married to Wilbur Dye Chicago. She put this on the marriage certificate. He registered her previous marriage.

But Greig, this Alfred, Earl of Dunblane, did respond in kind, when he asked if he had been married before, he said "No." This was shown on the certificate. The marriage certificate, produced this morning, Greig admitted it to the prosecution. He admitted that he had denied that he had fooled her ever since.

Paying Alimony.
At the time that he had married her, at the time he had told her that he had no other wife, he was paying Christina Greig in Toronto $200-$100 per month rent, and $1,000 a month in court today, alimony.

Further evidence showed that Greig had taken his countess with him on business trips. He had taken her to Montreal. He had taken her to Toronto and had registered at the King Edward Hotel as Alfred Earl of Dunblane and the Countess.

FRENCH "TIGER" STARTS TO WIN HEARTS OF U. S.

Georges Clemenceau Arrives at New York on Liner Paris.
HARDEST FIGHT OF LIFE
Intends to Stress the German Menace and Dispel Idea of French Militarism.

Special to The London Advertiser. New York, Nov. 18.—Georges Clemenceau, grizzled old Tiger of France, arrived at New York today for the hardest battle of his tempestuous and domineering career—to win American public opinion for France.

Before dawn the giant liner Paris was anchored off Queensboro, and soon after the 81-year-old war premier of France was on deck to catch the first glimpse of America that he had had for more than half a century.

Vessels saluted, and the mayor's yacht, Macom, with a welcoming committee aboard, steamed out to bring "Le Tigre" to the city. Clemenceau will be greeted officially by the United States government.

Base His Campaign.
The Tiger will base his campaign in America on the following points: 1. Will try to dispel the belief that France is now the great military power of Europe, and he will stress the German danger; that according to the contention of France makes necessary that country have an army of 800,000 men.

Constitute Easy Index.
The big controversial subjects on which Clemenceau will speak constitute the inside of the Tiger's attitude of coolness of the American government toward France on the one hand, and the attitude of France toward America on the other.

TELLS OF DOGS LEFT TO PERISH

Humane Society Inspector Shows Cruelty of Careless Motorists.

During the past year over 500 dogs have been run over by local motorists. This, in all conscience, is bad enough, but to make matters worse, some of the dogs had been left lying on the roadway to die. The lucky ones are killed outright, those more unfortunate crawl to the side of the road, there to starve or freeze.

Only Skin and Bone.
Saturday a woman was offering for sale on the market a little three weeks' old pup that was only skin and bone. This little fellow now has a comfortable home with the Humane Society, and though by no means fat, is looking well and fit.

NATURAL RICHES IN WEST PROBLEM AGAIN ARISES

Outlook for Settlement of Age-Old Question Diminishes When Prairie Province Plenipotentiaries Depart From Ottawa Without Making Headway.
CONVENIENT POLITICAL FOOTBALL

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Another effort to settle the apparently age-long problem of the disposition of the natural resources of the western provinces has ended in failure, and the plenipotentiaries from the prairie provinces are returning to their respective homes with little to show for their labors.

Subsequently provincial elections were fought upon the question in Saskatchewan, the problem was convenient political football. As long as the real estate boom lasted and the province was enjoying steady prosperity, there was no real popular enthusiasm behind the demands of political leaders for the restoration of provincial resources to provincial control, but once the boom days passed and the state of provincial finances demanded necessitous high taxation and careful husbandry, the people of the prairie regions almost with one accord became convinced that the control of their natural resources by Ottawa was an injustice.

Mention was made of the statement by Rev. Dr. Gordon, that the attorney-general had offered a bribe of $50,000 if he would permit lax enforcement of the existing liquor laws, and J. M. Thompson, Winnipeg, declared that minor officials of the government going around the country "must be subject to similar temptations, for smaller amounts perhaps."

Special to the Advertiser. Brantford, Nov. 17.—An unusually large gathering of delegates to the trades and labor council met and decided to notify the various locals as to the attendance of delegates, and to urge the regular and full attendance at meetings. It was reported that with present pressing labor problems.

The request of the Industrial Co-operative Society for Toronto, in the presence of a labor representative before the coal commissioner when he visited Brantford was completed with opposition was rendered to the rescinding of the early closing bylaw, and the motion of April 27, 1921, removing all honorary delegates from the council was carried.

Planes are already under way for the organization of a big Labor Day demonstration next year, and efforts are to be made to revive the labor movement in the city during the coming season. President William Powell was in charge of the meeting.

Chief D. J. Lewis will ask the fire and light committee of the city council to erect a 60-foot platform in the vacant lot at the intersection of the waterfront in order that there may be some structure for the members of the fire department to practice fire-fighting, and carry hose up to the roof.

A dummy hydrant has been set up behind the postoffice, and every day groups of firemen may be seen carrying their hose up to the roof on one or another of the buildings. Remarkable proficiency is being shown in connection with getting a hose up to the top of the buildings.

Ald. Briggs will act in the capacity of acting mayor until Mayor Parker's return from Toronto and Northern Ontario. Mayor Parker announced the appointment of Ald. Briggs this morning.

AUDITORIUM FOR OTTAWA. Ottawa, Nov. 18.—An inquiry committee for Ottawa is now practically assured. A syndicate composed of Frank Ahearn, Mayor F. B. Burpee, W. H. McIntyre and A. C. T. Lewis, has been formed and has been working on the plans for some time. The men behind the project propose going ahead with the plan as early as the weather will permit for 1923.

Weather conditions, in spite of the predictions that they would continue fair and mild, were decidedly disappointing to youngsters and grown-ups who thronged the streets Saturday morning to see the commencement of Christmas shopping.

Penniless Woman With Little Child Seeks Help At Stratford Shelter

Stratford, Nov. 17.—A woman who is a stranger in Stratford came to the Children's Shelter in this city. She brought with her a little girl, 2 1/2 years old. She said that the little girl was her child, and she wanted to leave her in the Children's Shelter. The mother looked worn out, and said that she was hungry and had no money and no place to stay. She stated that she had left her husband in Oxford County, and that he would not see her any more.

PRINCE SETS MEN'S STYLES IN ENGLAND

Popularizes Tuxedo For Evening Wear—Introduces New Overcoat. London, Nov. 17.—The male members of the royal family have for generations set the styles for masculine wear in England, and therefore indirectly for the entire world.

This has never been more pronounced than at the present time, and the fashion makers watch with unwearied eye for the least change, or the appearance of a new style in the royal garments.

It was the Prince of Wales who introduced the small checked bow tie, the colored collars, and the fancy socks, popular at five years ago. Since the prince first appeared wearing a morning coat, soft shirt, and turned over stiff collar, this has been the standard wear of the man-about-town. The prince is in the habit of wearing his hat, particularly his silk hat, slightly tilted, and today old-fashioned hats are being seen with headress similarly arranged at any time of the day or night on the fashionable thoroughfares of the West End.

The latest contribution of the prince to the dinner suit, or tuxedo, which has generally been avoided by the best-dressed men as being too informal for formal occasions and too formal for informal necessities. Few tuxedos have been worn in London in the past, as compared with the wear of the man-about-town. The prince appeared in one at a dinner party before his trip to the East, and since that time the dinner jacket has made great inroads into the popularity of full dress attire.

His royal highness appeared a few weeks ago at a dinner dressed in a white tuxedo, with a black jacket and a black bow tie, also with white shirt and a white neckerchief. The dandies of the West End appear at their favorite haunts dressed in the Prince of Wales's tuxedo.

The coat for winter wear for the coming season will be of heavy weight, with a large collar and probably belted, for the prince appeared in such a coat at a recent gathering in Scotland.

When the late King Edward was Prince of Wales, he was generally known as the best dressed man in Europe, and it was at him that the least change of style which he affected. It was King Edward, who brought the grey ascot hat into vogue. He wore a white shirt with a white waistcoat, and white spats and the derby hat, and his popularity to him.

So closely was King Edward followed in the matter of dress, it is said, that the style to wear the hat button on the vest unbuttoned, so universal in London 20 years ago, came from the fact that once at a house party the king was seen beginning to take on his corpuent build, and the button for the sake of comfort, that was enough, however, and from that time on the last button was only an ornament.

BLTYH Blyth, Nov. 17.—Miss Little Taylor has returned from a week's visit with friends in Philadelphia, where she also had the pleasure of attending the World's W. C. T. U. convention in session in that city.

Sidney Leslie of Frelton is in town on business. Reeve Dodds and J. D. Moody are canvassing the town, with a view to taking further and definite steps with Brussels and Walton for the securing of hydro on a guaranteed basis. They are meeting with much encouragement from the householders, as well as from the business places. It cannot come too soon, for this municipality, while enjoying good service from the householders, has an owned plant, is much inconvenienced by the fact that the service is limited to lighting, and that only till midnight.

BRUSSELS Brussels, Nov. 17.—Rev. Mr. Connor and bride have arrived in town, and will be at home at St. John's rectory.

By the upsetting of a lantern in the bank barn of Mark Garsden, a Morris Township farmer, the building was destroyed by fire, and the season's crop. Fortunately, the stock was rescued. There was insurance of $1,800, but that will not begin to cover the loss. He is holding a sale of most of his livestock, as he is not able to house them in the cold weather.

Joint Bros., drygoods merchants here, have disposed of their business.

Toronto Agent Allowed Out On Bail At Trial At Aylmer.

Special to the Advertiser. St. Thomas, Nov. 17.—The preliminary hearing of an assauult case was opened before Magistrate Summers in Aylmer this morning. W. W. Welling, of Toronto, the agent for a number of leading manufacturers of musical instruments, was charged with assault, causing bodily harm to Mrs. Scriver of Aylmer. Col. Rabbet of Toronto, appeared for the accused and County Crown Attorney McCrimmon prosecuted.

Welling was bailed for trial at the Aylmer on Dec. 12, after evidence had been heard in the case. Mrs. Scriver had refused admittance to Welling, and it is alleged that the latter roughly shoved her out of his way and entered the house. He did not, however, get the Victrola at that time, but returned for it later in the day.

Is your factory a museum?

YOUR job as a manufacturer is to keep in touch with the buying public and to make it trust you. Otherwise, the buyer is indifferent to your product, and your factory becomes a museum for dead stock.

Your closest contact with your customers is your advertising in the Daily Newspapers. The people who buy this newspaper today did so yesterday and will do so tomorrow for one prime reason—to get the news. The shopping crowds at any department store prove how closely such news is read. Perfect your contact through the advertising space you rent for today, and give them more news—today's news of your product, your prices, your service and your avenues of distribution.

You can do this in only one way—through the Daily Newspapers. If you tell the truth and do your job as well by the readers as the daily newspaper does by you in providing and retaining them, you will not need to advertise in any other way.

NOVEMBER 18. These people come under the sign of Scorpio and make the very best doctors in the world. They are not deterred by the patient's fears, and preserve the coolness of their native element under all circumstances, no matter how trying. Such persons are often considered unfeeling and unresponsive, and this is sometimes true, though more frequently it is an appearance caused by a resolute and determined desire to succeed. Before an operation some of these surgeons are regarded by their patients as demons, but afterwards, they are always a god.

Rich, Red Blood Necessary To Health

Weak, Watery Blood Needs a Tonic to Build It Anew. Why are we continually told that health-giving blood must be bright red? Just this—the oxygen in the air is the great supporter of all organic life. One function of the blood is to take the oxygen from the air which it meets in the lungs and delivers to the tissues of the body.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

FARMER BROWN'S BOY IS GREAT.

A true heart counts no trouble great. That saves one from a dreadful fate. —Farmer Brown's Boy.

Farmer Brown's Boy, in starting out to look for the runaway young Fox, was depending very much on the wonderful nose of Bowser the Hound. He hoped that Bowser would be able to pick up the trail of the young Fox and lead the way straight to him. But Bowser didn't. No, nor, Bowser didn't. You see, the ground was very dry, and it had been many hours since the young Fox had started on his way to freedom. By the time Farmer Brown's Boy and Bowser started out there was no scent left.

Bowser did his best. Yes, indeed, Bowser did his best. He didn't know just what he was expected to do. That is to say, he didn't know that he was expected to find the trail of that young Fox. But he knew that Farmer Brown's Boy expected him to hunt someone. So he ran this way and that way, with his nose to the ground, sniffing and snuffing and doing his best to find a trail which he could follow.

They tramped across the Green Meadows, over to the Old Pasture. Farmer Brown's Boy had a feeling that that young Fox would go to the Old Pasture. All the time that Bowser was trying to find a trail with his wonderful nose, Farmer Brown's Boy was looking and looking for signs of a dragging chain. But though he tramped this way and that way along many cowpaths in the Old Pasture he found no signs to show that the young Fox had been there.

The longer he tramped the more worried Farmer Brown's Boy became. "I must find him. I must find him," he kept saying over and over to himself. "Perhaps he didn't come to the Old Pasture at all. Perhaps he went up through the Old Orchard to the Green Forest. I will go over there as soon as I have thoroughly hunted through the Old Pasture."

It was the middle of the afternoon, and Farmer Brown's Boy was about ready to start for the Green Forest, when Bowser gave an impatient yelp. His master understood that yelp. It meant that he had caught a whiff of the scent of someone who had passed that way. Bowser yelped again. Then for a few minutes he was silent. His master could see him running back and forth this way and that way, with his nose to the ground, and his tail wagging more and more excitedly.

Presently Bowser lifted his head and sent his great voice rolling out to tell all within hearing that he had found a trail. Then away he started, baying as he ran. Farmer Brown's Boy knew that Bowser had found the trail of a Fox. There was no doubt whatever. He plunged after Bowser as fast as he could go. He hadn't a doubt that Bowser had at last found the trail of the young Fox and would catch up with him, for, of course, the young Fox could not run fast with that chain dragging behind.

But after a while Farmer Brown's Boy began to doubt. Already he had been led far from the place where Bowser had first found the trail, and it appeared that the Fox was running without the least trouble. It simply couldn't be the young Fox. It must be another Fox. In this Farmer Brown's Boy was right, for Bowser was chasing Reddy Fox.

At last Farmer Brown's Boy had to give up. It was getting late, and there was work that must be done at home. So with a sad heart he trudged home. He didn't enjoy his supper that night. All the time he was eating he kept wondering if his pet had any food. When he went to bed that night he didn't sleep good. He kept waking up worrying about that young Fox. "I've got to find him," he would say. "I've got to find him."

The next story: "T. W. Burgess."

TRIUMPHS OF M. JONQUELLE

By Melville Davison Post.

THE MAN WITH STEEL FINGERS. THE great drawing-room through which Monsieur Jonquelle advanced was empty.

But it was not silent. A vague music, like some weird conception of Tchaikowsky, seemed to fill about the room, extending itself a thing that crept blindly and disturbed as though it would escape from something that followed it tirelessly and inevitably.

It required the fingers of a master on the board of a keyed instrument, to produce these sounds. They came from the room beyond, a second drawing-room looking out on the Bois de Boulogne.

Monsieur Jonquelle had not allowed the servant to announce him. "One is not permitted to disturb Lord Valleys at this hour," the servant had said.

Monsieur Jonquelle's card had added to the man's perplexity. One was also not permitted to deny an entrance, anywhere, at any hour, to the Prefect of Police of Paris. The man had made a hopeless gesture, like one resigning himself to the inevitable.

Monsieur Jonquelle, after the door had closed behind him, remained for some moments quite motionless in the eddy, as one might write it, of this strange, weird music, in which there was always a note of ruthless vigor—a note of barbaric vigor, harsh and determined.

Monsieur Jonquelle could not place the music in any remembered composition. It was not the work of any master that he knew. It was an impression of the fingers that produced it.

Presently he advanced into the room from which the music issued. He paused a moment in the doorway, watching the figure with white, nimble fingers hard as steel. Then he spoke.

"Your pardon, monsieur," said the Prefect of Police. "I am desolated to disturb you."

The man at the piano sprang up and turned swiftly as though his body accomplished the act with a single motion.

To the eye, the man was strange. His shoulders were very broad and squared, his face was wide, massive—the face of a Slav. His hair was thick, close and black, but it was not long, and affected no mannerism.

The man was very carefully dressed, after the English fashion, and with its well-bred restraint. But the impression he gave one was decidedly not English. It was that of which he had opened his discourse. He had taken a small chair, and he sat in it as a man of great strength and vigor and of an unusual bulk which he is uncertain will support it.

He did not move, but the expression in his face changed slightly. His eyebrows lifted as in a courteous inquiry. Monsieur Jonquelle went on. He seemed not entirely at ease.

"I shall not pretend at ignorance of your affairs, monsieur. The law-courts of England are brutal and direct. They have no consideration for anyone, and the press of those islands has a less restraint."

"When one is charged with a crime in England, and comes into its courts, no humiliation is negbeen spared little. I have had every experience humiliation. The criminal law of England is a bungling and cruel device. Those who find themselves concerned with it, I profoundly pity.

"There is no consideration of family or culture that in any way mitigates its severity or in any direction preserves one from odium, once the machinery of a criminal court of England is on its way. The experience of it is a horror to me, monsieur; but if it can result in any benefit to you or to another, I am willing to recall it. What is the problem, monsieur, upon which you would have my opinion?"

"It is this, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police. "Is it your conclusion, upon this experience of life, that there is a Providence of God that undertakes to assist the affairs of mankind—to assist the helpless and to acquit the innocent?"

Lord Valleys seemed to reflect while the Prefect of Police with speaking, and he now replied with his hesitation.

"Chance, monsieur," he said, "is unquestionably, the greatest and most mysterious fact in all human affairs, but it is modified and diverted by the human will. . . . Human intelligence, monsieur, and chance are the two factors which the Prefect of Police continued to look down at his hands.

"I have been of a different opinion, Lord Valleys," he said. "I think there is an intention behind events, a sort of will to justice, to righteousness, as one has said. It is not chance, as we usually define it, but not ultimately to disturb it, but not ultimately to defeat it."

"Take the extraordinary events that have happened to you, Lord Valleys, and tell me, if you can, how they could have arrived by chance. Your uncle, Lord Winton, took the title and the whole properties of your family, by the accident of birth, no title and no fortune, entered the diplomatic service, and was allotted to one of the little courts of southern Europe. He married your mother there, and you were born and grew up in the atmosphere of Serbia."

"There was little chance that you would ever have fortune or title. Lord Winton had two sons, one of them married an American, the other three lives between you and this title and its immense estates in England. . . . What chance was there, monsieur, that these persons should be removed and these benefits descend to you?"

He paused. "But they were removed, monsieur, and the benefits have descended. The war appeared. Both sons of Lord Winton lost their lives in it; Lord Winton is himself murdered, and you come, monsieur, from a paupered kingdom of southeastern Europe to be a peer of England with an immense estate. Even the American granddaughter of Lord Winton takes nothing under this extraordinary English law of entail. Would you call this chance, monsieur?"

Lord Valleys found no difficulty at all with the inquiry. He replied directly.

"Monsieur," he said, "it was all clearly chance except the murder of Lord Winton. That was, of course, design."

"Another installment in this thrilling detective story will appear in our next issue."

Another Request for Blocks. Dear Miss Grey.—Surely there is room for one more in your cozy little corner. Those dreary days are brightened so by the cheerful little letters, and I always enjoy them so much. I always feel with all my heart for those in need, and wish I could help—perhaps I may in some way—those little darling babies, for which your efforts are much to be commended. Dear Miss Grey, being a very busy mother, thought perhaps I might try for the quilt blocks which Doonaide so kindly offered.

If I am fortunate enough to receive same, would be very grateful. Will close now, as this is my first letter, and will come again (please). Will sign (pen name). DUBLIN DAISIE.

The blocks have been given out, and as the requests and money keep coming in for the blocks, I feel quite guilty, as if I were taking the money under false pretences. What shall I do with the inclosed money order? Please do not know. I am pleased to think you enjoy the Mail-Box so much.

Turkey Dressing. Dear Miss Grey and Boxites.—It is some time since I wrote to the Mail-Box, but I am back again, evening and see where so many send in such nice recipes. Here is a turkey dressing which is very classic.

Turkey dressing: Three cups of stale bread crumbs, one cup English walnuts cut fine, half cup chopped celery, one cup chopped apples, three eggs, one teaspoon summer savory, one and one-half cups deviled ham. Onions and raisins may be added if liked.

Inclosed you will find a dime for the S. C. H. fund. Wish it was more. Well, I will run along or you will not let me come again. Yours as before, PIFFACE.

THOROUGH TRAINING AIM OF O'BRIEN BUSINESS COLLEGE

Graduates of School Now Hold Responsible Positions in Cities of Dominion.

Among the outstanding commercial schools of the province London may justly boast in possessing the O'Brien Business College, one of the foremost of its kind. It numbers its successful graduates by the hundreds, and is constantly expanding in influence and efficiency.

The success of the school, which was founded by the late Mr. W. D. W. Friddle, was due to the fact that it eventually developed into a great extension institute with a continent-wide system of correspondence courses, centered about the personal ability of William J. O'Brien, its founder and principal.

Mr. O'Brien was born and reared in the city. He was educated in the public schools and the Collegiate Institute. Mr. O'Brien holds a Collegiate Institute commercial specialist's certificate, and a chartered accountant's intermediate certificate.

In less than six years, Mr. O'Brien, by hard work, combined with up-to-the-minute education, has established a qualified public school and collegial institute teachers, who give strictly individual instruction, has built up a business college that has a reputation for thoroughly trained graduates.

Graduates of the O'Brien Business College are now holding responsible positions in Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Vergreville, Alberta, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Windsor, Sarina, Wallaceburg, Kitchener, Brantford, Personal St. Thomas, Hart, Michigan, and other places, besides the large number of business firms in the city that are demanding efficiency in their offices, and asking for graduates of the O'Brien Business College.

The commercial department is equipped with the most modern desks, chairs, and the typewriting department has the latest Underwood typewriters and Dalton calculating machines. The fastest typist in Western Ontario for the past two years has been a graduate of the O'Brien Business College.

Many a pugilist has been beaten at his own bidding by the agile, but that's your limit.

Local Officials Charge C.R.F.U. With Slackness in Enforcing Age Limit

CENTRAL FEEL PROTEST WOULD BE JUSTIFIED

"Special Permission" Not Granted Sessions, Lost To Team All Season, Until Last Moment—Crew Is Confident.

London Central Collegiate officials on the eve of the team's big tilt with Sarnia C. I. last year's champions of the O. R. F. U. inter-scholastic series had two courses open to them: either taking advantage of the permission granted them to use Sessions, who is over-age and who has not been practicing with the squad all season under the illusion that he would not be allowed to play, or play without Sessions and protest the game because Sarnia has at least two players over-age who are also playing under this strange, inconsistent "special permission" granted apparently this season wherever asked for, in the inter-scholastic series.

If the latter course were adopted it would be more to bring this inconsistency of the O. R. F. U. officials to general notice, and especially in view of the recent ousting of Hamilton Collegiate for playing players who were over-age, than to "legislate" over a win. Sessions, even if used today, will not be as useful to the team as if he had played with them all season and this lax enforcement of the age limit has resulted in lessening the effectiveness of the London team to an extent.

There are still a few optimists left who persist in believing that London will one day drop its title of the Forest City and become the "Arena City."

Nine men on Queen's team which meets Varsity in one of Canada's two big football tilts being staged today graduated from the Kingston Collegiate Institute team, Kingston C. I., having no large schools near, finds opponents difficult to locate, and therefore get a good deal of their practice from Queen's and R. M. C., both heavier teams, but calculated to make the C. Mike Rodden predicts that Queen's will spring some new football wrinkles in their game with the Blue and White today. Their followers will be satisfied if they just bring a victory.

Kingston, Nov. 17.—Messrs. To-day, while they are supposed to be en-training at Kingston for their trip, they are practicing on a rugby field at Montreal, after resting in their hotel for the night.

Meeting Today May Launch London and District Basketball Association

CENTRALIZATION OF CONTROL NEEDED

Basketball Teams Spring Up All Over Western Ontario.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock a basketball meeting will launch what is hoped will be the beginning of a London and district basketball association, embracing Stratford, Woodstock, St. Thomas and London.

This undertaking seems all the more necessary when it is considered that the W.O.B.A. with its outdoor basketball series and its annual tournament for the schools of Western Ontario, is developing more basketball players than has ever been developed in this region before.

The formation of a London and district basketball association does not in any sense mean that there is any fault to find with the O. B. A., but it is in general line with a well developed tendency noticeable in all lines of sport to decentralize to some extent the present unwieldy provincial organizations. Basketball lends itself admirably to this change, and it stands to reason that a live organization right on the spot is in a position to foster the sport more and encourage its development than the larger provincial body.

Basketball is being played in practically every town throughout Western Ontario, and before long it will be more popular because every town has some building which could be readily adapted to the needs of the game. Formerly it was necessary to have a gym and all that, but that was only a mental state.

The possibilities of the plan to form a London and district basketball association may be readily grasped from the fact that Lambeth will have representatives at this afternoon's meeting. Lambeth is figuring on two teams, one juvenile and one junior.

Western University, the "Y" house leagues, several of the London churches and technical and collegiate are other sources from which teams may be expected to form the London group. No attempt will be made to enter a senior team this year, but the program outlined includes the other three series. Incidentally, this year the juveniles must be under 18 years of age and the juniors under 20.

CARL TREMAINE, FORMERLY OF LISTOWEL, ONT.

Joe Lynch says he is ready to meet anybody in the world at 118 pounds. Jimmy Dunn, who looks after the interests of Tremaine, rises to remark that his protégé is ready, yes, anxious, for a clash.

Tremaine boasts a wonderful record. He has knocked out more opponents than any other bantam in the ring. When he goes into action fight fans get a real run for their money.

Knocked Out O'Dowd. Only recently Tremaine knocked out P. Blake 136 188 170—494 Casburn 185 245 208—628

Tremaine is certainly entitled to a crack at the bantam title. His record justifies that assertion. To fail to bring him together with Lynch is an injustice to the fight fans of New York.

Tremaine is 23 years old. He has been fighting since 1917.

Inc. too to treat with his opponent. It is said of Tremaine that he battles as ever made him back up, and that he always has the last punch in a clinch.

In many ways Tremaine remains one of Terry McGovern when that great fighter was in his prime. He has plenty of color.

GIVES OUTLINE OF EXTENSIONS BY UNIVERSITY
J. A. Dunlop Addresses Members of Inquiry Commission in Parliament Building.

WANTS DISTINCTION MADE
Toronto, Nov. 17.—The manner in which the University of Toronto is not only admitting the public, but is also taking its facilities to that section of the public which cannot attend, was told today at the Parliament Buildings to the members of the university inquiry committee.

Mr. Dunlop stated that the university was providing courses by correspondence, and by attendance at the five weeks' summer school for school teachers and others who wished to take advantage of them.

While agreeing with the utility of this work, Thomas Marshall, for Lincoln, strongly believed that distinction should be made in the degrees granted to the extra-mural students. He admitted that they might be the equals of the regular university students in scholarship, but he held, nevertheless, that they were not equal to the regular students in the college life and its broadening influences.

Through these agencies, Mr. Dunlop pointed out, a group of citizens in almost any part of the province might combine and obtain a course of instruction in any subject which they were desirous of pursuing.

"I think," Edgar Watson, M. L. A., remarked, following the recital, "that is a part of the university work that ought to be too highly commended."

Salaries absorbed nearly 60 per cent of the budget; maintenance of buildings and grounds 20 per cent; maintenance of laboratories and purchase of supplies and books for library, etc., 15 per cent, and interest on capital account and certain overhead expenses 5 per cent.
