

THE WESLEYAN

SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1879.

LECTURE AT THE JOST MISSION CHURCH, SOUTH BRUNSWICK ST.

Rev. R. Brecken, A. M., has kindly consented to deliver a Lecture at the above church, on Tuesday evening next, 27th inst., at 8 p.m. Subject—Fact and Fancy in Superstition.

Proceeds in aid of the Mission Sabbath School. Admission 20 cents. Tickets at the Book Room and at the door.

The business men of Yarmouth are passing through a severe crisis in commercial affairs. That thriving and enterprising town has been both the envy and admiration of surrounding places, but has recently suffered to an extraordinary degree from decline in, and loss of, shipping, besides pressure from failures outside.

Many will sympathize with Messrs. McDonald & Co., of this city, whose loss by fire is elsewhere recorded as a news item. The firm consists of several brothers, as industrious, frugal and capable in their line, as can be found in any place.

This fact seems to be assuming more positive proportions every day—that wooden ships are to be superseded by iron ships and steamers. To the Maritime Provinces this means either a revolution in trade, or a gradual but actual decline in wealth.

"A mighty structure of tones" is George Elliott's illustration for elaborate music. It seems quite possible to live in a different world from one's neighbors, according to our special gifts and education.

As a result of a railway accident in Ontario, reported by us last week, one of the injured men died after a few hours of great suffering. We find this record of him in a Montreal paper:

Mr. Gooderham gradually sank under the fearful shock which his injuries inflicted upon him and died on Sunday morning. He went off to quiet peacefully, and gratefully recognizing the attentions of those around him.

THE GENERAL PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

Dr. Douglas, from the seclusion of what at best can be but a chamber of convalescence, sends us a letter very characteristic of himself in every way. He will move our readers by more than the eloquence of his diction. It is easy to see that a great theme lies behind the impassioned words of this call to the churches.

It matters not by whom the suggestion originated which has thus taken shape, awaiting the church's endorsement. John McDonald, Esq., a large-hearted man, threw out the opinion that a universal movement in Canadian Methodism might result in advantages corresponding to those over which our brethren in Great Britain are rejoicing.

Arguments on this subject will be abundantly supplied as the movement gathers strength. At present any persuasion in addition to that of Dr. Douglas' letter would be superfluous, if not impossible.

We were not aware that the intentions of those who looked to a temporary adjustment of the deficiency-burden among Nova Scotia ministers, had been divulged beyond a very narrow circle.

PREACHING BY THE CLOCK.

The religious world has pretty much ceased all comments upon the length of our pulpit discourses. This is somewhat strange. For at least twenty years of our life, it was one of the stock themes in the newspapers. Many a couplet of poetry did it suggest; many a strong admonition. We do not remember, with one or two trifling exceptions, any allusion to the subject at all in recent years, certainly not of the fault-finding sort.

What have we gained by this? Much in several respects. Sermons, as a part of religious worship, should be subject to the rule, "let all things be done decently and in order." Here and there a preacher, strong in combativeness, fought by precept and example against the tyranny of public opinion which would hinder him from indulging in an inveterate habit.

at liberty to occupy much time, but a good, round season of pulpit expression was expected of him. Now, many of our readers are themselves preachers in a way—in the Sabbath School particularly. Sabbath brings for them work as well as worship.

On the other hand, we see great danger that this systematic habit will produce two bad results. It may repress that special energy and enthusiasm which come betimes to preachers who have any heart for their work.

Our hearers, again, are indulged to think that there can be no reasonable apology for a long sermon or a long prayer. A cardinal doctrine among the Jews was that of the Urim and Thummim;—God spoke by the High Priest, and as his object demanded. Our Wesleyan forefathers, in common with Quakers, Moravians, and other sects, believed very positively in the special, direct communication of knowledge from the Holy Ghost to human beings, and through them to others.

Do let us provide for spontaneity in public worship. Above all, let us encourage our preachers to believe that they are not only ambassadors but amanuenses of the Deity—God speaking through as well as by them, to the people.

BURNT-OFFERINGS TO VULCAN.

Vulcan-worship was at one time well established, particularly in Egypt, at Athens and at Rome. Nevertheless, if one may judge from the nature of the victims offered in his honour, this fabulous divinity does not appear to have been held in very high esteem.

Commencing with the Presbyterian Synod toward the close of May, we of the Eastern Provinces will enter upon a series of principal church gatherings, the interest of which will be sure to engage public attention to a considerable extent.

too he forged that fatal collar which was first presented to Hermione, the wife of Cadmus, but which was certain death to all who wore it. Nor was he very happy in his associations. Not to mention his unholy amours, it will be sufficient to instance his friendship with Bacchus, who enticed him into intoxication.

Where then is the cure for this tobacco evil? Is it not in a fuller appreciation of its pernicious character, and a more careful education of the conscience with regard to so important a matter? A relic of barbarism, often the associate of Bacchus, and baneful in its effects upon both mind and body, tobacco has no brighter record to point to than Vulcan had.

Almost the only honour enjoyed by tobacco is that it was introduced into England just about one year after the birth of the Bard of Avon; but even this honour is somewhat modified by the opinion pronounced upon it by King James I., in his "Counterblaste to Tobacco," in which he describes it as "a custom loathsome to the eye, hateful to the nose, harmful to the brain, dangerous to the lungs, and in the black stinking fume thereof resembling the horrible Stygian smoke of the pit that is bottomless."

THE MINISTERIAL MONTH.

Commencing with the Presbyterian Synod toward the close of May, we of the Eastern Provinces will enter upon a series of principal church gatherings, the interest of which will be sure to engage public attention to a considerable extent. There is solemnity to most of our own ministers in the very thought that "Conference is near." It marks an epoch in our little history. A year has gone past—a year is approaching. Freightened with grateful or painful memories, scores of hearts will soon be disburdening themselves in brotherly fellowship. Nowhere else can pastors find so sympathetic an audience as in the assembly of their brethren. With all its blots of defective judgment, of occasional hasty legislation, of stubborn and intractable purpose—as seen by outside spectators—the Conference remains a sanctuary to the honest, loyal Methodist preacher.

Need we counsel our people to prepare the way of the Conferences by earnest prayer? Much depends upon their meeting and their decisions. Kindled anew with holy flame, these elements may go forth as torches in the right hand of the Lord.

FRANCE.

What a significant fact it is that no less than five members of the Government Cabinet (including the Prime Minister) are now Protestants. When Necker (the father of Madam de Stael) was called into the Cabinet, just before the great revolution, his religion, as a Protestant, was considered an almost insurmountable difficulty; there had never been a Protestant in the royal councils; he was not allowed a cabinet title, nor full power, and his self-respect compelled him to retire; but the people forced the government to restore him and invest him with the legitimate powers and title.

RUSSIA.

No country in all civilization seems to be in so pitiable a plight at present as Russia. In addition to her immense foreign debt and her general financial derangement, her political afflictions are continually cropping out in defiance of law, and mysterious assassination, and her losses of every kind from the late war, she is threatened with famine. Last year she suffered exceedingly from drought; nearly one-third of her crops were destroyed by beetles and marmots, so that the seed has been deficient, and field-labor is inadequate in consequence of the excess of holidays—about a hundred a year—and the wide-spread drunkenness of the common people, involving great wastefulness. Grain, which is the chief article of export, which furnishes the means of paying taxes and of getting all supplies, now seems insufficient for home consumption. Her domestic debt is very oppressive. Most of the land of the Empire is mortgaged to bankers, and its owners are scarcely able to pay their interest, much less the principal, their arrears being from 25 to 30 per cent. Russia is a vast country of vast resources; but she has drawn on them very heavily of late, and all indications are that she is approaching a crisis in her fortunes which will require the fullest wisdom of her statesmen to meet. She appears to be socially, politically, financially and morally disorganized, or very near it, and she can not go on much longer in her present condition. No wonder her most thoughtful minds are pessimists.

A learned clergyman in the State of Maine was accosted in the following manner by an illiterate who despised education:—"Sir you have been to college, I suppose?" "Yes, sir," was the reply. "I am thankful," rejoined the former, "that the Lord has opened my mouth to preach without any learning." "A similar event," replied the clergyman, "took place in Balaam's time, but such things are of rare occurrence in the present day."

We have been following with no little interest—we may say anxiety—the reports of the Church of England Institute of this city.

It is expected that more than 150 candidates for the ministry will present themselves for examination. As that number is larger than is needed, doubtless great care will be taken to block the progress of inefficient men.

Many fears have been expressed that in consequence of the great depression of trade, there would be a very large decrease in the numbers of the members of the Society in England, as reported at the March quarterly meetings.

PICTOU CIRCUIT.

DEAR BRO.,—We do not often trouble you or your readers and therefore think a word or two concerning our doings in this town may not be amiss.

In August last two of our lady friends undertook to canvass the congregation for subscriptions to purchase an organ for use in the church. A few hours effort resulted in a sum sufficient to purchase a neat and substantial instrument, which has since greatly helped our service of song.

During the Christmas holidays a bazaar was projected and carried to a successful issue. The amount netted was about $130.00, and is to be used in promoting the comfort of the pastor and his family.

Nor have the occupants of the present parsonage been forgotten. More than once during the past twelve months substantial tokens of good will and regard have been received from individuals and from the congregation.

WILMOT. DEAR BRO.,—As the result of a few special services held on several parts of this circuit, God has been pleased to quicken the church and save sinners.

SHALL OUR MISSIONARY SOCIETY BE RELIEVED.

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Will you permit me to call the attention of our church to a suggestive event which is now transpiring in England.

Without referring to the urgency of our French and Indian missions, yet another appeal comes to us, from a quarter which delicacy would gladly leave as too sacred to be uncovered, but which requires to be laid bare, that the condition of silent and patient suffering may be alleviated.

By the most direct testimony, we know that some of the children of these families are in such destitution that they cannot in decency appear in the churches in which their fathers minister.

For several years income has been decreasing, and debt increasing, till at length it has reached the enormous sum of sixty-three thousand dollars.

On the authority of the senior secretary and the Lay-Treasurer, we learn there is but little hope of the present income exceeding, if indeed it equals, that of the past year.

Mr. Charles Gallagher brought two bars of gold, weighing 80 ounces, to town lately from Isaac's Harbor.

A gang of burglars charged with robbing the shop of Mr. John Muebeck in Bridgewater, were arrested near Bridgewater.

Capt. Cook, of Schooner "Rosebud," of Halifax, which arrived at this port on Saturday from St. Pierre, Mix, reports on Thursday last, when off County Harbor, David Zuck, aged 17 years, fell from the mainmast overhead, and was killed.

responsibility. A scheme has been inaugurated to erect four hundred churches along the outlying settlements, and the church is becoming aroused to the resources of every praying heart.

It is impossible for the Methodist Church of Canada to overlook the immediate responsibility which is thus laid at her door, to multiply her evangelizing agencies throughout the settlements, which are now being planted, without branding upon her own brow the impress of failure in the accomplishment of that high mission to which God has called her.

the church not arise, and with high resolve and holy purpose, at once enter into this movement of relief?

Make it profoundly spiritual. Let it find a place in every temple. Let it be the burden of every praying heart. Let ministers with one accord come up to the annual Conferences to consecrate themselves and offer a gift of thanksgiving unto the Lord, according to their several abilities.

In closing this unduly extended letter, we indulge the hope that as the Methodist Church of Canada has never since its confederation, made a united effort for the accomplishment of any given object, it will now, when a Providential crisis is upon us, give demonstration that it is not "a rope of sand," but that we are one, and inseparable, now and forever, in the work of spreading Scriptural holiness over these lands.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

NOVA SCOTIA.

General Sir Patrick Macdougall will not leave for England until Tuesday next, when he will go by the mail steamer from Halifax.

A two year old son of Mr. James Paekham, printer, strayed out in front of his father's residence, on Gottingen St., last Monday, and was run over by a flat wagon, driven by a man named John McDonald, and so seriously injured that he died an hour afterwards.

The annual report of the Board of School Commissioners for Halifax City has been published, and from it we gather the following interesting information:

NUMBER OF TEACHERS EMPLOYED.—The total number of teachers employed is 104—an increase of three over last year; of these 23 are males, and 81 female. Of the 23 male teachers, 5 hold the Academic License, or Grade A; 15 hold the 1st class or Grade B; and 3 hold inferior grades.

The number of pupils registered for the term just ended, exclusive of the 101 scholars in the High School, is 5,279. In this number the sexes are almost equally represented, there being 2,653 girls against 2,626 boys.

The Nova Scotia giants, who a few years ago married the Kentucky girl, has lately given birth in London to an infant who is supposed to be the largest child brought into the world since Girth of Gath.

Mr. Charles Gallagher brought two bars of gold, weighing 80 ounces, to town lately from Isaac's Harbor.

A gang of burglars charged with robbing the shop of Mr. John Muebeck in Bridgewater, were arrested near Bridgewater.

The annual report of Mr. BRIDGES, General Superintendent of Government Railways, for the year ending 30th June, 1878, shows the mileage of the entire railway system to be as follows: Railways actually in operation, 6,243 miles; railways under construction, portions of which are completed and track laid, 721; railways under construction, 1,941; total, 7,905.

Joshua Snow, about 17 years of age, son of Mr. William Snow, of Shelburne, while on the voyage from Liverpool, Eng., to Philadelphia, on board a Yarmouth ship, Killam master, on the 28th of March, fell from aloft to the deck, and was killed instantly.

On Tuesday morning, an alarm of fire was sounded from box 35. The fire proved to be at the brass foundry and steam fitting establishment of the enterprising firm of Macdonald, Bros., North Barrington Street. The fireman were soon at the scene, and did good service. The fire is supposed to have originated in the "finishing" shop, which is situated above the portion of the building where the most damage was occasioned.

NEW BRUNSWICK & P. E. ISLAND.

News was received here of the death at Liverpool, England, of William A. Robertson, Esq., who was formerly a resident of this city.

Three men, named respectively William Kane, James Flaherty and Collins, have managed to effect their escape from the penitentiary. They were at the time working in a field adjoining the institution in company with several other, one of the keepers being in charge, and they seized their opportunity and ran away together.

A very nice entertainment, and one that reflected creditably on the performers, was given in the school room of the Portland Methodist church by the Sabbath School in connexion with that church.

We have to record the departure of more of our people for the West. On Monday last Mr. C. L. Churchill, his son Herbert, Miss V. Baker, Messrs. C. T. Turner, James Reed, of Woodcock, and Mr. Henry Blackmore, of Richmond, left for Montana.

The old Baptist meeting-house, at New Tuscum, was burned on the 21st inst. Incendiaries.

Charlotte County has adopted the Canada Penitentiary Bill.

A Prohibition Run Seller has appealed against a conviction on the Canada Temperance Act. Temperance men and liquor dealers will await with considerable interest the decision of the upper courts on this question.

Captain Leiber, of Halifax, the celebrated diver, and a crew of twelve men, are now at work in Orwell Harbor, P. E. I., taking up portions of the wreck of the ship "King David," which sank some fifty years ago.

The Union Hotel at Alberton, P. E. I. was partially destroyed by fire on Thursday. Cause, incendiaries. Loss, $800.

Good catches of herring are reported along the Western shore of P. E. Island.

At the spring session of the Maine Historical Society, which opened at Portland, on Thursday last, Dr. Peckard, Secretary, read the report of the St. John authorities, that, owing to the destruction of their library by the great fire, literary societies throughout the country be asked to help the institutions with literary collections.
