"Hear the Eagle Scream!" and Lorry Sheelstra, a would-be bad man from across the line, made a pass at Officer Wm. McDonald with a heavy iron bar. The eagle screamed, but not according to Sheelstra's program, for he was quickly thrown on his back on the floor and the bracelets adorned his wrists.

Even then the dramatic spirit of the bad man prevailed and he begged the officers to take the bracelets off. "But give me one chance to die before they are taken off," he pleaded.

The Ultra-Clerical French Papers Refer to Him as Charlatan.

Paris, April 22.—The only discordant note heard from the Paris press in its comment upon Mr. Roosevelt's visit comes from the Ultra-Clerical papers like the Gil Blas, which only derides the American guest as a charlatan.

JAP IMMIGRATION
ALARMING BRITAIN

They Are in Britain to Take Part in the Coming Anglo-Japanese Exhibition This Summer.

London, April 19.—The "boom" in Japanese immigration into England is developing a feeling of racial hostility, particularly in London, which is beginning seriously to alarm British public men.

HE INHERITED HIS ILL-HEALTH

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured J. Ballargeon's Rheumatism. Further Proof That No Case of Kidney Disease Can Stand Before the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy.

Monte Bell, Labelle Co., Quec, April 12.—(Special)—That a man may be cured even of inherited ill-health if he keeps his blood pure and his body toned up by using Dodd's Kidney Pills is the experience of John Ballargeon, of this place.

Chicago, April 22.—Ten cases of drinking water have been shipped to Jack Johnson's California training camp. The champion will hire a chef to prepare his meals and the utmost preparation will be taken to see that the food is in proper shape when it is served.

Eozoma Must Yield to THE WONDERFULLY SOOTHING, HEALING INFLUENCE OF DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

There is one thing you can depend on, and that is to cure eczema. There is no more severe test to which an ointment can be put, and because Dr. Chase's Ointment has cured so many cases it has become the standard ointment.

When another ointment is praised it is said to be as good as Dr. Chase's. This illustrates the high position held by this preparation.

Ball News From The Home Plate

(By Chan.) Sleeping peacefully in his little cot during the night on the fourth day of his stay at the Hotel, Capt. Stuart, fire fighter, prize fighter, and all round sport, a few nights ago had a dream, a dream that would be remembered for its significance.

It was a dream of the "old sport" saw the opening ball game, the same we are all looking forward to, and it is believed that this dream is a premonition of the fact that he is some two weeks ahead of the season.

Sitting around at one of the many tables, he saw the Hon. Pate Chief Justice, puffing away at one of the special. In his slow deliberate style, Pate returned his dream in such a manner that before long he had advanced a few of the dried-in-the-wool fans, who were fortunate enough to be present, were already cheering and throwing flowers in the air.

Although as Capt. Stuart says, he is no novice in his own line, he does not doubt that the opening game as he has seen it, still he is satisfied for the benefit of the club that this dream is a premonition of the fact that he is some two weeks ahead of the season.

The day was a corker, with the usual amount of our glorious Alberta sun. The parade came down Eighth avenue led by the Calgary band. It seemed as if the entire population were on hand to welcome the opening of the season.

THE CALGARY UNIVERSITY

The Calgary university is almost a fact now. No project was ever before launched in this city which appealed to the people so greatly. It has met with the approval of all our citizens. It has aroused the enthusiasm of all the people, who not only approve, but will support the movement in every way.

By a home university all this would be avoided. It is possible it would have the same standing as other universities for a time, but the more ambitious student could go abroad at the conclusion of the course here, and it would not be very long before the new university, if properly managed, would compare favorably with other institutions in this country.

There is something for every person to do in this work. United effort means success. As yet there has been no opposition to the proposition except that which comes from Edmonton, which cannot be regarded as very serious.

Mr. Clarke knew that the bonds were going to sell at a big premium. The bonds sold for 110. The province got 110. Had Clarke sold the bonds himself for 110, he would have had to turn over the money to the province, according to the law.

Now all that we have to show how Mr. Clarke disposed of the bonds is what purports to be an agreement between Morgan and Clarke in which Clarke was to get par.

That is the only agreement that has appeared. Mr. Clarke is not exactly what may be described as an easy-going man in achieving his ends. He was not content with the 50 per cent. He wanted the bonds to be disposed of at a profit.

Mr. Clarke could tell all about these things, if he wanted to, but he is not giving evidence before this commission.

What? In the meantime some persons enriched themselves out of those bonds. What? The public would like to know a little more about the bond sale before they whitewash any person.

And in the meantime the province has $760,000 or more in the bond deal.

THE HUDSON'S BAY ROUTE The press in the west, and to a lesser extent the press of the east, marvel very much at a somewhat remarkable editorial in the Toronto Globe, condemning in sweeping language the proposed Hudson Bay railway.

The Globe doubts the need of a road to the Bay and believes that the advantages in communication would not be very great because the Bay is clear only a small portion of the year, the danger of cargoes being frozen in would be very great, the perils to navigation are enormous, and the west will find itself well supplied with transportation facilities with additional railways and the possibilities of the Pacific route for western grain, particularly with the completion of the Panama canal.

little in half a century. Taking into account the greater opportunities open nowadays to an individual to attain affluence through the greater profusion of wealth and individual possessions, on one side, and, on the other side, the reduction, by the decrease in the average length of sentences, in the periods for which he is forcibly restrained from crime, the report says it may reasonably be inferred that the members of the predatory classes are appreciably fewer than in 1857, in spite of the fact that in the interim the population has almost doubled.

Of the total of 63,116 indictable offences, no fewer than 55,602 were offences against property without violence. Larceny is the country showing the greatest increase in indictable offences, the amount of increase being 144. Durham coming second with an increase of 97, and the West and East Ridings of Yorkshire third and fourth, with increases of 65 and 45 respectively.

Devon has the distinction of showing the greatest decrease in crime, the country's decrease of indictable offences being 77. Somerset is second with a decrease of 38, and Cornwall third with 22. It is under the heads of burglary, house-breaking and shopbreaking that the ratio of apprehensions to crime is lowest. Of the 68,100 persons charged with non-indictable offences during the year 299,926 were apprehended and 368,180 proceeded against by summons.

The total number of arrests made during the year was 37,992, compared with 36,764 in the preceding year. There were 3,761 cases of suicide, an increase of 274. Of these 2,828 were males. The returns from the prisons show that the total number of convicted prisoners received into prison during 1909 was 184,708. Persons sentenced to death numbered 25, while there were 1,182 sentences of penal servitude, the remainder being sentences of imprisonment. About two-thirds of the prisoners were sentenced to hard labor. Out of 25 sentences of death 11 were commuted to penal servitude for life and two free persons were granted. Of two hundred and sixty-two persons received into inmate reformatories, 218 were women.

EDITORIAL NOTES And yet the contract with Mr. Clarke has not been cancelled. This government does not seem to be inclined to obey instructions.

Why does the commission have to go to Winnipeg? Is it a question that may be grown up enough for a wise professor to answer.

It is a wise professor who declines to deal with embarrassing and unanswerable questions by referring to the childish nature of them.

And when anyone asks for some explanation about this iniquitous railway deal the wise professor replies that your questions are childish.

The university of Calgary should serve all that part of Alberta south of Red Deer and also a greater portion of Eastern British Columbia.

The condition of the police cells at the city jail is a disgrace to the city. They are iniquitous. There should be some relief somehow.

Despite the opposition of the Edmonton Capital, the Calgary university is a fact, and the Calgary university will be in working order in a very few months.

Why is an effort being made to prevent the royal commission from getting the whole truth from Minty and others? That is a fair and square question. Why?

There is one thing about a university. It cannot have too much money. There is ample room for any person who desires to help it along with money contributions.

It is humiliating that we have to go to Winnipeg to expose the A. & G. W. deal which is disgracing the province. We should have preferred to hold it right inside of the province.

The government has not cancelled the contract with Mr. Clarke, yet its newspaper support does not seem to be wavering. The skin and crossbones are still waving at the masthead.

It might be somewhat fairer, that is, for fair-minded people, to wait until Mr. Cushing has given evidence before being too sure about his connection with the A. & G. W. proposition.

And no person has ever suggested that Mr. Cushing ever sanctioned the iniquitous specifications, and the agreement and the orders in council, and the bond deal and a myriad of other features in this Waterways business.

When a father objects to the object of his daughter's affections his objections are about as effective as the bite of a toothless dog.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Unsatisfactory Condition of Our Police Station Editor Albertan:—Dear Sir:—Your photo in today's Albertan of a prison cell in our local police station, and your subsequent comment on inopportune accommodation provided by Dana Justice to her unwilling guests, recalls to mind an anecdote of the great Napoleon.

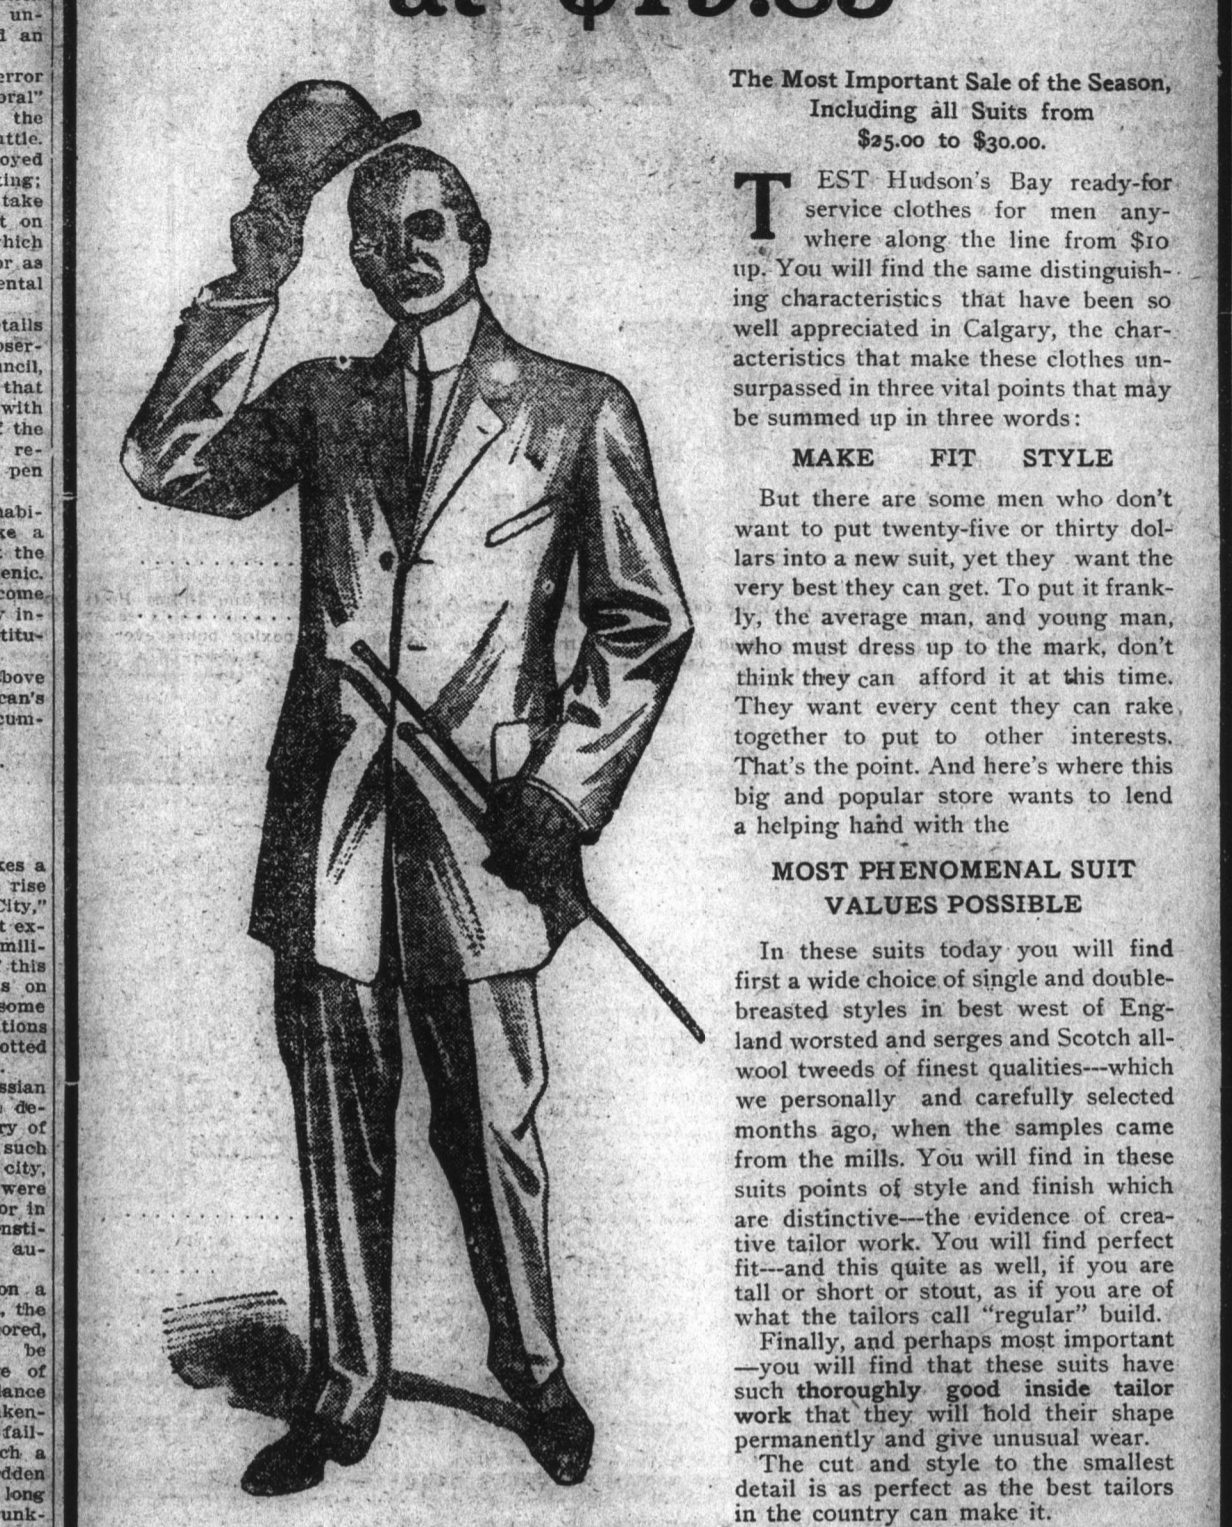

As is well known, it is quite an error to imagine that the "Little Corporal" was never happy unless he was in the field, and amidst the crash of battle. On the contrary, he very much enjoyed what we should call cabinet meeting; and those who were privileged to take part in such gatherings have put on record many apt remarks of his which are full of the driest humor, as well as sound good sense and governmental ability.

As is equally well known, no details of administration escaped his observant eye. On one occasion in council, it was suggested by some one that every village should be equipped with a small jail for the convenience of the police. Napoleon nodded and remarked (gnawing the end of a pen with a thoughtful air): "Yes, and moreover, every inhabitant of the locality should maintain the point of insisting and seeing that the jail is comfortable and hygienic. For, who knows, but a day will come when he will be himself personally interested in the question of the inmate's comfort and sanitation."

I have happened to read, in a Canadian police station being run on such degrading lines, we should raise a cry of protest and opprobrium. That such conditions can prevail in our city, right here, would be unthinkable, were it not that I find them vouchsafed in your valuable journal, which constitutes a sufficient proof of their authenticity.

Let us exercise our imagination a little. Every one of us (the richest, the most respectable, the most honored, the most sober), might any day be wrongfully arrested on a charge of crime, arising from facial resemblance to the real criminal, or of drunkenness, owing to an attack of heart failure, or a fall from a ladder, or one at being immured in a cell, and left to wallow the night long among the vomit and vermin of drunkards and other disgusting creatures. To sort the mail with as few handlings as possible is our aim, said one of the London postal officers the other day. By the use of the endless bands,

LONDON'S NEW POSTOFFICE Said to be the Finest Institution of Kind in the World

London, April 22.—The new general post office in London, now in the course of erection on Newgate street, is expected to prove the finest institution of its kind in the world. Simplicity and expedition were the two major objects of the authorities in designing the building, and the officials declare that it will be possible to handle mail in the new post office more quickly than anywhere else. More than 3,000 men, including sorters, porters and clerks will be employed when the building opens for business next August. Ten electric elevators, one having a carrying capacity of six tons, several smaller lifts and numerous endless moving bands will assist the employees in their work. "To sort the mail with as few handlings as possible is our aim," said one of the London postal officers the other day. "By the use of the endless bands,

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

ONTARIO FOREST RESERVES AND NATIONAL PARKS The policy of setting aside forest reserves is now followed by all countries that have considerable areas of land still in public ownership. The province of Ontario has many such reserves, and it seems probable that still more will be added. This policy was inaugurated in 1883 by the reservation of Algonquin National Park, 1,733 square miles. The diagrams show how the proportion of reserves to the total area of the province has increased. Eastern Forest reserve, 135 square miles, was made in 1899, and the Sibby reserve, 70 square miles, in 1900. The great and beautiful Temagami Park, 2,300 square miles was then reserved, and the Western Temagami reserve, 3,700 square miles, was added in 1902. Others were as follows: Missisquoi reserve, 1904, 2,916 square miles; Lake Nipigon reserve, 1905, 7,297 square miles; and Quetico reserve, 1909, 1,522 square miles.

THE FIRE WASTE

The actual loss by fire in Canada is not known, but we have some guide to it in the tables given by the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance. One of these tables sets forth the total losses paid by the companies that operate under Dominion license year by year since from 1899 to 1908. It is as sure as anything can be that these payments do not amount to much more than half of the actual loss, but their increase or decrease is almost certain to be in proportion to the whole. The size of the dismantled buildings here pictured gives an idea of how the fire loss has grown with the growth of the country.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

Platonic love might work if only one of the couple got it. A man worships his own brains, eschews matrimony and never turns out for work or gully. It is perfect land for irrigation.

QUEBEC LEADS IN PULP.

The manufacture of pulp is carried on in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and British Columbia. Last year, the Dominion Forestry branch made a special effort to learn the facts concerning this manufacture. The figures collected relate to the year 1908, but, in proportion, they would hold good for the present, except that British Columbia, where the manufacture was just beginning, could not then report actual results. The wood-piles in the illustration show the standing of the other four provinces in this manufacture. On the whole, it takes about four tons of wood to make three tons of pulp. The total pulp production of the Dominion was 363,079 tons. The wood most freely used in this manufacture is spruce, but in all provinces balsam and aspen also contribute to the total. In Quebec, in 1908, even Jack pine was used to the extent of 2,750 cords.

a hard time keeping Capt. Kidd from going into hysterics. Barnstead fans retiring the side. Score 1-0 Edmonton. Wally Smith as he steps to bat gets a great reception and lives up to his reputation by clouting one on the nose over second for a clean single and things start to look bright. Tallant is thrown out at first on a sacrifice. Smith taking 2d. Kellackey our new first sacker, slaps one that catches his umpire in the bread basket and the umpire takes the count. Great excitement for a minute, but after a little medical attention, and a few shots of liquid dope the umpire resumes play, sending Smith to 2d, leaving Kellackey on 1st. Walker, our nifty shortstop, hits into a double play retiring the side. Score 1-0 Edmonton.

With Morrell, head of the batting list up, things look good for Edmonton as he takes a walk. Mills, on a hit and run play, is thrown out at 1st. Baxter gets a life on an infield error by Walker, Morrell taking 3d. Baxter is safe on 2 on a steal and things look cloudy. Rams steps into a jam and hits into right field while Carney, who has been flirting with a pet gopher, is caught asleep at the switch and the ball rolls into the track, both men scoring. Rams taking 3d, while Bill gets the laugh from the crowd.

During the excitement "Old Dad" who has come down to view the game, gets excited while puffing away at one of the Home Plate's Choice Cabbage Leaves, and a cloud of smoke is seen pouring up from the bleachers, and before long it is discovered that "Dad's" choice crop of whiskers has taken fire. But after a hurried call from the fire department, a stream from the chemical is started and although minus his bunch of spinach, the old Sport is none the worse for his experience. Brennan hits an infield grounder, and Rams is thrown out at home. Morse hits a long fly, which is gobbed up by Babe Clynes, closing the inning. Score 3-0, Edmonton. Plenty of noise from the Edmonton rooters, and Capt. Kidd, who is very noisy, is quietly tossed over the bleachers, by a few huskies, and takes the count. A few of Calgary's choice coppers are soon on the scene and order is resumed amongst the spectators.

Pete Standridge, first man up, is out on an infield grounder. But Bill Conroy releases himself by hitting into right field for two bases. Conroy is safe on an infield error, Carney taking 3d. Everybody's there with the big hit as Babe Clynes goes to bat and after looking over a few, he slaps one into right field, but before Lussi can reach the ball, Carney's pet gopher has beaten him to it, and the ball has never been found, and although Carney mourns the loss of the ball everybody is satisfied and it is rumored that in Gopherville they have formed a league of their own. By now Calgary rooters have got busy and hats are flying in every direction, and it is rather fortunate for Capt. Kidd that he is not on hand.

Smith raps out a long fly that is handled by Morrell, while Tallant closes the inning on an infield fly. Score 3-2. Lussi leading off, comes through with one of his long drives for two bases, and Brooks sacrifices, but Barnstead fans out for the second time. With two out, Morrell is thrown out on an infield grounder.

Score 3-3. By now a Chinook from Edmonton has struck town and a good stiff wind has blown up. Umpire Shuster is hurrying the game along as everybody is anxious to see it finished. Kellackey keeps the fans on the jump by hitting one on the line. Pete Morse after a high dive in the air pulls it down with his bare hand. Carney by now has decided to win the game by all means and slips out a ball to Barnstead, who has been using his spitter to good advantage, well saturated with oil of mustard. Barney is soon looking towards Deaco for help. All balls are immediately thrown out by the Deaco, but Barney has decided that it is hardly safe to use the spitter. Flanagan gets a life on an infield error and Walker follows with a clean single. The Edmonton team now look worried and Josh Henchorn is racing up and down ready to cut the string. Standridge laces one over the infielder's head for two bases, two men scoring. Everybody is now on the jump and the Edmonton rooters are looking rather tame. Carney is thrown out at first, but Conroy comes through with a hit over third, Standridge scoring, and everybody is happy. Chuck is caught stealing.

6-3, Calgary. The storm has now hit the grounds and hailstones as big as four bit pieces are falling, yet the ump calls the men to their positions. If Mills takes his place at the bat, Pete who is busy dodging ballstones, seems worried and bounces the first ball pitched off Rube's shins, who, after a little rubbing down, canters down to first. Moose Baxter, next man up, sacrifices. Rams gets a walk and Carney who kicks on the fourth ball, is railroaded out of the game, Geehan taking his place. Brennan fans and with two down things look bright. Hailstones are still bouncing in all directions, while the Deacon who has been using his noodle trying to figure out a scheme, in some way has thrown a ball well plastered with glue. Against who has been put wise, lays up moral the first ball pitched and hits it far away. Thousands of ballstones have gathered on the ball as it sped through the air, and as it reaches the ground it seems to be of tremendous size, and although all outfielders are rolling it swiftly towards home plate, by the time they reach the infield, Morse has raced around the circuit with enough runs ahead of him to tie the score, while the Deacon is seen prancing around giving Bill Carney, who is sitting on the bench, shouting everything but his prayers, the laugh. Lussi fans for the last out. Score 6-3.

Still we have hopes and everybody is looking for a much needed visit as Babe Clynes with a look of confidence turns to the plate. Babe steps one of Barnstead's fast ones with his elbow, and Smith gets a walk. But Barney can't seem to pitch ball and duck ballstones, and Tallant gets a walk, filling the bases. Kellackey who has been offered all kinds of inducements for his, places one on a line over short stop, but Morse is again there with a sensational catch and touching second on a quick throw to first completes a triple play. This proves to be an awful blow to a few of the betting class, and Jim Crist slips out of the judge's stand to the ground below, but after bouncing up and down for a few times, lands on his feet and is none the worse for his experience. Score 4-4. By now all Cappy's audience, who have been listening to his weird story, are commencing to gaze at one another wondering what the next thing will bring forth, while Cappy with perspiration standing out all over his chubby face, quietly announces that the Umpire has called the game.

INTERESTING STORIES TOLD IN LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS

number of statements that sound extremely amusing now. He points out that few details should go into the government guarantee, but, as they might provoke too much discussion in the house. Such details, he suggested, should be contained in a private bill.

The Town Site Proposition. The use of the words town site should be avoided, because the opposition might insist on the government's getting a share. We must be careful to avoid any references that might provoke criticism.

On March 30, Clarke telegraphed from New York to Minty that "Friend had started" and advised him not to "leave for Winnipeg." The same date Minty wired Clarke from Edmonton that Biggar and Woods could not keep track of Cross, and that he might have to California or Honolulu as well as New York, and they did not know whether he had reached that city yet.

The Judge Laughed. Then Mr. Walsh read a letter of September 14, 1909, from Minty to B. R. Clarke that was so funny that he held their giggling exercises. The amusing apartment was prettily decorated with flags, gay bunting and spring blooms. Interspersed with the very excellent program of musical and literary selections the students and their friends enjoyed several promenades. The musical numbers for the promenade were kindly contributed by Mrs. Page, Miss Graham, Miss Clarke, Mr. Weir, Miss Robinson and Miss Manser. The program included the following: Opening address... Dr. Coffin Recitation... Miss Robinson Recitation... Miss Proulx Recitation... Miss McCrocker First Reading of the Oracle, Mr. West First Class Prophecy... Mr. West Solo... Madame Ellis-Brown Recitation... Miss Malouff Second A. Prophecy... Mr. West Recitation... Miss Ryckman Solo... Dr. Dawson Second Reading of the Oracle.

Another interesting letter was that from Minty to B. R. Clarke, in which he pointed out the expediency of besting Woodman's mouth shut, as he talked of having made a lower estimate of the cost of construction than Goddard, and that reason he advised that Woodman's claim be paid.

The Whole Thing Anyway. On May 3, Minty sent a telegram to W. R. Clarke, in which he said that he could act as the broker in the sale of the securities, take the commission, and use it as he saw fit, as he was the "whole thing" anyway.

W. L. Walsh, counsel for the Royal Commission, said this morning that the attempt of Minty and his associates to have the order of the King's court of Manitoba ordering them to give evidence before the commission at Winnipeg set aside would not deter the commission from going there. It is not thought probable the effort to block the investigation will have any serious effect on the commission.

THE WORLD MOURNS AT AUTHOR'S DEATH

Press From All Parts of World Refer to the Work of Mark Twain

London, April 21.—The British publication of the obituary notice of Mark Twain's last illness with deepest sympathy and the news of his death will be felt as a national loss. All of the London newspapers published extended sketches of his career with portraits and reminiscences, especially recalling his last visit to England in 1909 when Augustus, the young prince, was in London, presiding at the Phipps dinner, paid an eloquent tribute to Mark Twain as a man Englandmen delighted to honor.

The Morning Post says that he enjoyed a popularity in Great Britain that exceeded by an American class of letters.

The Daily Mail says that it is no exaggeration to say that Mark Twain was the greatest humorist the modern world had known.

"With the exception of Tolstoy," says the Morning Leader, "probably none has a finer writer whose death would arouse more universal emotions of respect and regret. Mark Twain leaves a blank in the purely human literature of the world."

Nearly Four Score Years. Salt Lake City, Utah, April 22.—"Mark Twain lacked only six months and five days of four score years," said Judge C. C. Goodwin, a veteran editor, in commenting on the death of the humorist. "I know he said that he was 75, for I remember it," Judge Goodwin said when we were in Virginia City, Nevada. Mark was older than I, and I am 78. Here is the record of it." He quotes a book of biographies by Amelia J. Carver, published in 1899. There it is, "Samuel L. Clemens, born Nov. 30, 1834."

At His Boyhood Home. Hannibal, Mo., April 22.—The news of the death of Samuel L. Clemens was received with profound sorrow in Hannibal, his boyhood home. Many of the characters in his earlier books are still living here. All business places and city offices will be closed on the day of the funeral. The funeral will be held at the same hour as the services in the east. A movement has been started to have the "Clemens Boyhood Home" purchased by the state and State Senator McAllister, said that a bill to this effect would be introduced in the next legislative session.

Mark Twain Memorial Library. Reading, Ontario, April 22.—The free public library which the Literary Colony here is building, will start as a permanent monument to the town's most distinguished citizen. The building is to be known as the "Mark Twain Memorial Library."

One of Mr. Clemens' last acts was to draw a check for $5000 for his contribution toward the building fund. Dan Beard, Ida Tarbell, Jeannette Cluder and Dr. W. C. Denning, whose wife is a grand-granddaughter of Mark Twain, have the honor of having raised $7,000 more and the work of erecting a building is to begin at once.

Reading the financial assistance, Mr. Clemens gave a great part of his private library to the institution. A few hours before his death Mr. Clemens conversed at length with his literary executor, A. Bigelow Payne, regarding his manuscripts. There is a large amount of unpublished work, besides his autobiographies which are a collection of incidents, and short stories of his life.

According to Mr. Payne, there are many unpublished letters, several long works and all the odds and ends of a lifetime of literary activity. There are also a number of unpublished works, but about which Mr. Payne has no information. It is believed that the works and all the odds and ends of a lifetime of literary activity. Woods in the early part of the day told of Minty's first visit to Edmonton in the fall of 1908, saying that Cross had been in the city and had been talking to him, and spoke of the contemplated construction of a railroad to the north.

WONDERFUL CURATIVE QUALITIES OF FRUIT

Demonstrated by FRUIT-A-TIVES

Physicians puzzled over the strange case of Kingston girl. Nothing did her any good until the Famous Fruit Medicine completely restored her to health.

The people are awakening to the marvellous powers of fruit juice as a preventative and cure of disease. "Fruit-a-tives," the only medicine in the world actually made of fruit juice—has demonstrated the extraordinary value of fruit juice even in cases that were apparently hopeless. The strange case of Miss Mable Todd, of Kingston, Ontario, well illustrates the wonderful properties of "Fruit-a-tives."

From a happy, rosy cheeked girl, she had become pale and thin and so weak that she could hardly stand. Her many friends knew that something serious was the matter. The best medical attention was sought but the ordinary resources of the physician failed to do any good.

As a last resort, "Fruit-a-tives" was tried. Read the result.

MISS MABLE TODD.

"Fruit-a-tives" made this wonderful cure because "Fruit-a-tives" is a magnificent heart tonic and nerve tonic. "Fruit-a-tives" soothes the stomach and stimulates the liver, kidneys and skin, thus purifying the blood and restoring the heart action. "Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box for $2.50, or trial box, 25c., or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

AT THE THEATRES.

At the Lyric.

The Juvenile Bostonians, that merry crowd of wee entertainers, returned to the city last night, with their gay choruses, their joyous laughs, their clever acting, and gave a large audience at the Lyric theatre a few hours of high class amusement.

The play last night was "Berta's Billions." Of course, it doesn't matter what the play was. The performance was as good as this company can give, and that is a lot of praise in a few words. The performance was full of choruses and Alpine scenes and that sort of thing. The choruses were very excellent, and the songs were excellent. The audience showed their appreciation by encoring every song that was sung.

Babe Mason, who has become a first favorite with the Calgary audiences, took the leading part. She is a finished actress and her work was exceptionally good.

Doris Gifford, as Wee Sandy, was also exceptionally good. The performance was the very best. There will be a matinee this afternoon and a performance tonight.

Starland

The pictures for today are some of the best photographic results put on for some considerable time at the theatre where one can always witness the very latest of pictures, hear the best music and receive the best attention. What more can one expect? And yet on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the small and ordinary price of 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children Starland patrons will be able to view a picture perhaps unique in the history of the motion picture world and anyone gifted with ordinary senses can imagine the difficulties besetting the operators who achieved this great success by their untiring efforts. In order to show in an indirect way their appreciation of the patronage afforded Starland, Ltd., since they became established in Calgary the management has decided to show this attraction at the usual price of 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

On Trial!

Black Cat Cigarettes

have been on trial before the highest court in Canada—the court of public opinion. The result of that trial is that Black Cats have met with phenomenal success and won the favorable decision of the smoking public.

Never in the history of Canada has any article so quickly justified its introduction. Back of all this success there must—don't you think?—be exceptional quality. Try for yourself—apply the test of comparison, and find out whether the superiority of this brand is not sufficiently marked to warrant your becoming a "Black Cat" smoker.

Take any Virginia Cigarettes at any price, and light it; at the same time lighting a "Black Cat." Smoke from each alternately, and pass the smoke through the nose. You will immediately detect the difference.

FAST TIME FOR SOME OF SASKATCHEWAN CITIES

Regina and Moosejaw Are Considering the Proposition.

Regina, April 21.—The regular spring movement for the adoption of the fast time has commenced, but this year it has assumed larger proportions than formerly and promises to be given more consideration. The C. P. R. is taking up with the scheme and there is a probability that the company would adopt the fast time in the division if it is adopted by the majority of the large towns. Already Wolsley and some of the smaller places have the more advanced clock, and there is an annual move to adopt it in Regina. Last year the movement nearly achieved success.

Moose Jaw city council is in sympathy with the idea. At the last meeting of the city council a petition was presented with that end in view, and the council received it favorably. The petition was as follows:

"We, the undersigned ratepayers of the city of Moose Jaw, being convinced of the advisability of the adoption of fast time in its relation to saving of lighting bills, and the time being gained for recreation and other purposes, hereby request you to pass a resolution changing the city time to one hour earlier for the peering, regulating, and closing of all places of business, schools, churches, etc., as regulated by the present mountain time, this change to be from April 1 to October 1 in each year.

In its report of the meeting, the Moose Jaw Times gives some interesting information about the attitude of the railway company. It says: "Mr. Rice said that they had encountered no opposition amongst business men or others to the proposed change. He had interviewed Supt. Uren, who stated that if all the important towns from Broadway to Swift Current would agree to the change, the C. P. R. would adopt fast time, but it would need to be for the whole year.

A motion by Alderman Mayberry was unanimously carried that the council view with favor the recommendation of the adoption of fast time in the city of Moose Jaw and that the collector be instructed to take steps towards framing a bylaw for that purpose.

Watch the Little Thefts

From the Kansas City Star.

"Poetry stealing, cheap graft—it's not all in Fitchburg," the head of the firm was angry. "Send for that collector," he said. The collector came.

"Seems to be too much work for you," the managing partner said. "Probably you need help." The collector believed another man would be a valuable addition to the staff. "How do you like to work," he said, and then, reading from a slip: "March 3—Left store 8:30; went to home at 8:45; East Steenth street; returned to store at 11:30; 2:15 went to Orpheum, etc."

He turned on the now amazed collector. "Hard work, wasn't it?" he asked. "Now, do you like to work, help pay the expense of the detective who trailed you and make good, or will you quit now?"

"I believe I'd like to work it out," the trembling collector replied.

"Well, get a move on you, then," was the parting admonition of the manager. And the collector got it on.

"Cheap graft," the manager resumed. "Often wonder how some men can stoop to such meanesses. Not long ago I observed that a certain young man had been stealing furbishings, neckties and such things by letter and paying for them in stamps. That seemed queer. I don't care for business that's crooked, so I investigated that case. The fellow was working in a bank; son of a wealthy father—just cheap graft. He'd been stealing stamps for a year.

"We allow our outside men to turn in daily accounts of money spent for car fare. Often one man collects it for several to save making many accounts. When I noticed one of these men charging us more car fare than I believed he spent I looked him up. Discovered he'd added a figure 1 to the 80 or 90 cent account every day and so got $1.80 or $2—cheap stealing for a dollar. Cost him his job.

"Nothing so detestable and so annoying in business as this form of dishonesty. There's no stealing going on now in this store that I don't know how to touch. The question in the minds of employees is, 'Should I tell the firm, or is it any of my business?' When we can get employees to understand that the firm's interests are theirs we'll have most of the graft controlled.

"If you see a clerk stealing from your employees, do you tell me? Would you report it if you saw a man putting his hand into another's pocket on the street? Don't you owe that much to the man who pays your wages or salary?"

Winnipeg, April 22.—Wheat values experienced a reaction from the bear movement today and bulged over a cent on the American markets and to a lesser degree here. The bulge resulted naturally from a market which has become greatly oversold during the past couple of weeks. Most of the dip was bearish. Both Indian and Russian shipments are estimated at higher figures.

Trade was the best of some days on this market. Opening was even with yesterday's close and fluctuations followed the American markets, but the bulge was not as large. The heaviest buyers on the advance were short holders covering yesterday's late sales. Cash trade was fair. Demand for the three higher grades was good. One northern traded 1-4 above May options; two northern 2-4 under and three northern 3-4 under. Exporters took several large chunks.

Liverpool, Broomhall.—The market at the start was steady, 1-2 to 3-8 higher, being affected by the strength in America yesterday which caused yesterday's late sellers to cover. Following the opening there was a further advance with offerings light. During the morning selling pressure developed and values lost 1-4 to 3-8 from the opening. There was a decline of 1-2 to 1d in spot values with the demand quiet and shipments from India this week are unexpectedly heavy and indicates free movement during the future. It is expected that Russian shipments this week will again be liberal and crop advices from Europe continue very satisfactory. The market at midday was earlier being 1-4 to 3-8 down from the opening and 1-8 to 1-4 higher than yesterday.

KING ALFONSO IS VERY ERRATIC AND WANDERS MUCH

And the Queen of Spain is Worried and Homesick.

London, April 22.—American visitors at the fashionable hotels are bombarded with lists of desirable residences, pressing invitations from jewelers and dressmakers, and delicately worded invitations from impetuous peeresses. Although the honors of the season, it is expected, will be divided between the Countess of Granard and Mrs. J. T. Astor, two other American hostesses, Mrs. Lewis Harcourt and the Hon. Mrs. John Ward, will entertain the king this summer.

The king has promised Mrs. Harcourt that he will spend a week-end at her beautiful riverside place in July. It is a wonderful house in the midst of Italian and Dutch gardens, and is regarded as one of the most perfect estates in England. His majesty will also honor Mrs. Ward with a week-end visit at Chilton Park, the estate purchased by her father for her. Here Mrs. Nicholas Longworth will be a guest before plunging into the gayeties of the London season, and also the Countess of Dudley, sister-in-law of Mrs. Ward.

Mrs. Joseph Stieckney is now looking for a suitable residence in which to entertain on a large scale. Mrs. George's Electric Guardian, Bentick, whose husband died in 1909, will give a few dinners in her house in Upper Brook street.

The Countess Szechenyi will be the guest of Lady Granard for two months. Mrs. Amory Moore will again dazzle London with her entertainments. Mrs. Beatty's Electric Guardian. Mrs. Beatty's Electric Guardian will be socially active. About a year ago Mrs. Beatty had an encounter with a burglar at her "hunting box" in Leicester-shire. She blundered with extraordinary pluck and the burglar vanished. Now her husband has converted the house into a regular trap, and any one clandestinely entering the house will receive various shocks of a severe nature.

Princess Hatfield is at Claridge's. Her mother, Mrs. C. P. Huntington, is expected from New York shortly and will visit the princess at Draycott before going to the continent. A private letter from Madrid states that Queen Regent Victoria Eugenie is becoming much more restless and homesick, and that the members of the royal household are now where to find him when his wife is wanted.

The queen's health is only consolation, and the rumors and gossip concerning her has greatly grieved the queen. The king's reckless manner in going about the country in a motor car, and his shooting grouse on the latter estates in the north of England and Scotland, while the queen will spend a month with her mother, Princess Henry of Battenberg, at Osborne Cottage, on the Isle of Wight.

Wales and Wife to Visit Africa. The Princess of Wales, who will this season perform these duties, usually Queen Alexandra's, is visiting her aunt the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, at Neustrelitz. The princess delights in long, and taking a real rest cure. It is whispered in court circles that the bulk of the grand duchess's fortune will go to the princess, who is by no means overworked, considering her position and the great calls for charities on her income.

The prince could not tear himself away from London, owing to his passion for politics. He spends most of his time in the house of commons following the debates with the keenest interest, particularly those participated in by Lloyd George and the Irish members, and then writes a vivid account to his father at Biarritz.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are soon to go to South Africa, accompanied by Sir Donald Mackenzie Wallace, as historian of the tour. The princess's account of her Australian trip to her relatives and friends was an amusing and racy affair, and Sir Donald is not a little nervous over the possibility that the forthcoming trip will bring out a repetition of her keen and caustic wit. There will be gorgeous and spectacular ceremonies in Rhodesia, where the prince meets the British and Boer officials and the great native chiefs.

Less Noise, Please! "Hear ye not the hum of mighty workmen?"—Keats

There is a great comet rushing through space somewhere "over" the barn, and it doesn't make any noise. It wouldn't wake the baby if he were asleep in the sun under my apple tree. It's simply astounding the things that old Nature can accomplish and make no racket at all.

The next great advance in civilization will be the elimination of noise. We won't stand for amells any more, and we won't put up with smoke, but neither of them get on a body's nerves like noise. There is far too much noise and not enough of music. Music and noise are not synonymous. When we undertake to do anything, we just naturally have to make a noise. In that respect we are savages still. We have got nothing on the barbarians in the way of making a noise. An Indian practicing his war-whoop was an infant crying in the night compared with us with our megaphones and sirens and college yells and our machinery.

Why can't we learn a lesson from Nature? A few days ago Nature started in pumping countless millions of tons of sap, but you can't hear the pumps—nary a pump!

Big Bull thrashing around building fire under the evaporator makes more noise than the who's forest from here to Halleybury. In a few more days Nature will start growing millions of acres of bushes of grain and roots, millions of acres of buds and grass, and you won't hear a mouse. Our world will be still and calm. Yet the young potato plant must force its way up through the soil, but it doesn't wail about the noise of the whole neighborhood in the doing of it.

There must be a certain amount of noise accompanying the untidings of every leaf, but we do not hear the hum of the mighty workings. Everything in the universe hath a voice, but that voice is not a noise. Our choirs might learn a lesson from the sky.

Look how the floor of heaven is thick laid with patins of bright gold. There's not the smallest orb which thou seest, but in his motion like an angel sings. Still quiring to the young-eyed cherubims.

Is it not possible that we could get along with less noise? We work our jaws and joints on roller bearings? Couldn't we make less noise when we eat, when we sing, when we pray, when we sleep? Once more, we make less noise when we walk and work? Young Maxim has invented a noise-preventer to be attached to a canon. If they didn't cost too much couldn't we attach one of our new spring suits? You wondered why I expected you to walk in. There was nothing remarkable about the dear boy's case. You could hear you coming four blocks away. If we could get our spring neckties and this season's socks—say, they are a noisy bunch—we might be able to get it back.

Here is where Mother Seigel's Syrup does its wonderful work. It gives you back lost power. Not all of it, for then you could live for ever; but most of it. Convincing proof of this is the case of Mrs. John W. McGregor of McLarty, Alberta District, Ont., who writes on January 1910, Mrs. McGregor says:

"At the early age of fifteen, I began to suffer distress after dinner. The action of my bowels was irregular. I could sleep only by snatches. My face was pale, and I had severe pains in my back. In 1891 I first began to use Mother Seigel's Syrup, and with the best results, and I have had no further need of it for twenty-six years. I have unbounded confidence in this remedy!"

Mrs. McGregor had no further need for Mother Seigel's Syrup. I cannot restore her stomach, liver and bowels to healthy working order, and for twenty-six years they have done their digestive duty. The cure effected by Mother Seigel's Syrup are not only sure and speedy, but permanent too. Mrs. McGregor has proved this! Prove it yourself!

to hear a runaway team of horses coming down the next street.

Many of our preachers try to make a noise like the late lamented DeWitt Talmage, and they only succeed in making a sound like a fanning mill. Some of our lawyers try to make a noise like others who are dead and gone, and they only succeed in giving a poor imitation of a spinning mill drilling hemlock knots, into shape. Some of our songsters try to make a noise like Melba, and the least said about it the better. I hate to say ill-natured things in print.

A party of beavers will dam a great river and flood thirty square miles of territory, and you wouldn't know they were doing it; but one of its fellows couldn't plug a hole in the rain-buried without making more noise than a gravel train.

It isn't necessary, I saw three women trying to feed a young one the other day, and the bunch made as much noise as Mount Etna. Not long ago I was in the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, and I saw a couple of nurses feeding fifty babies, and you wouldn't know that there was a soul on the premises.

If the Creator can grow fifty bushes of wheat to the acre in the field before the Wigwam and you wouldn't know that there was anything going, why should Big Bull and Old Twilight deafen the whole neighborhood every time they put out the fanning mill and clean up a grit?

The earthquake makes a great noise and the thunder and lightning and the tempest, but the still small voice is heard more plainly than any of them.

The Surprise of My Life
I couldn't help feeling that she expected me to speak to her. Not exactly that she invited it, but—but—oh, you know what I mean.

I think she is about the nicest girl I ever saw; so trim and neat, and I felt it good to be near her. By a mere accident we got into a talk, and she spoke of the church work, and what did I think of the new hymnal? And I strolled home 'neath the budding maples trying to place her.

"Where had I seen that girl? It worried me a whole lot, and I used to go to sleep asking myself: Where have I seen that girl?"

She dawned on me in the choir. Like magic it flashed on me that that was she! And it was, in spite of her disguise. Her unseemly hat, her wild of store hair, didn't deceive me. It was she all right!

Of course she can't sing. That's why she's there. In the Book of Common Prayer there is a rubric which says, in the quaint old archaic English, "in quires and places where they sing."

What a silly humorist that old fellow was!

She is a member of the choir, but I like her best in her dowdy old wrapper.

I lied like a gentleman. I told her that I could hear her alto all over the church.

She may sing any other variety of tone for all I know!

THE WATER BABY
PART II.—The Sea Monster.

"Watch her—she's moving," exclaimed the Ticklemouse, with a frightened glance toward the disappearing devilfish. She gently lifted out the surprised Water Baby and rocked it, and tried to get it to sleep with a soft little lullaby: the twins had never heard before:

"O labeling, my waterkin, hush, my flower,
Hush, my Pearl of the coral,
O happy heart! dance for joy, ever
hour,
Like the moonbeams that dance on the water.

"The father, the merman, is swimming swimming,
Pack to his baby and me;
His strong, eager heart, dear, is brimming, brimming,
Full of the joy of the sea!"

The Mother stirred uneasily and looked at his tiny watch. "Time we were moving," he whispered to the twins. "I wouldn't care to have the merman 'nd us here!" and their host slipped away softly through the deepening shadows to the open sea.

"Now what?" asked the Ticklemouse, who was waiting for the ship to shrink enough to go back into the box of toys again.

"Oh," said Dorfy, disappointed enough for two, "that's more candy, that cave than we've ever seen before in all our lives, and—we forgot to eat even a cent's worth. Hitt's nibble of it!"

The Ticklemouse chuckled. "Well, never mind," he said, fondly. "It will be there for next time." You have candy enough, I guess, darlings—all leave all the more for the little Water Baby!"

quicker up from the sea and creep, delving over the rocks toward the mother and child. The Ticklemouse saw it, too, and started pale with horror. "A devil-fish!" he muttered with a shudder, and tried to get it to sleep with a soft little lullaby: the twins had never heard before:

"O labeling, my waterkin, hush, my flower,
Hush, my Pearl of the coral,
O happy heart! dance for joy, ever

The Ticklemouse chuckled. "Well, never mind," he said, fondly. "It will be there for next time." You have candy enough, I guess, darlings—all leave all the more for the little Water Baby!"

he's allus grouching' I found an' lend a hand. Hang on till next spring—an' then sell it if you want to." So they all turned in and worked like beavers to make the place look nice. The unsightly lanes that led to the highway was straightened, and the stumps and boulders yanked out. Then they got their plows and harrows and the township road scraper and harrowed it and rounded it up and shotted the Theplanted a double row of trees on each side of it—they got them out of the "Tree Saver" that night as I like to finger out, they was mostly spruce, fir, spruce, like you an' me, an' they wouldn't do a blame thing without prophesying! the moon.

"Well when these here ancient people wanted to kill a hog they picked on the full up the moon, for if they waited till the next day he'd all be fat in the pan, an' when you come to cook sasidges they'd be full up nothin' but hot air, with a smell that reminded you of a delicatesse restaurant. They'd offer a piece of him as a roast sacrifice to the moon, an' when it got cold they'd eat it themselves—an' why not, I'd like to know. When you get up a tea meetin' for the Lord's house, don't you eat the sanghines an' raisin pies? I guess yes. Talkin' about hogs, you remember old Mister Teeple, who lived down by the sprink creek?—But of course you don't! Well, he usta fatten up a hog every Christmas an' he'd a guessin' as to how much he would weigh dressed. Say, there was sport for you, an' lots of it. You paid a York shilling a guess, an' they'd give you a ticket with your name an' tiggers onto it. He was in a big pen, an' you'd walk in and feel me lad—bust all over—measure him if you wanted to, with a tape line, and heft him, too, if you wux big 'nuff. Well folks, usta come from fur and near, from Transalgar, an' Guelph, an' the Grand river and the Short Hills an' Wellington Square, to guess in this de'n nig. An' when they had all guessed they up'a killed his porkship an' put him on the scales, and the feller who had guessed closest, why, he got the pork—by hedges—an' there you was! Ten to one he would put the carcass up to auction, an' that made more fun, an' then we had a dance at night. Oh, then was the days!

"Cook-a-doodle-oo-doo-oo!" Exit Old Bill Teeple's ghost.

Indefinitely Postponed

The hard, slovenly, sordid old man was dead, slovenly, sordid old man was dead, surrounded by the ill-kept farm, and the biggest thing on it was the mortgage. It was almost with a sense of relief that the boys re-entered the shabby place after the funeral. Now they could have something, see something—do something. They would hold a sale, and after they had paid off all the debts, they would buy a house and lot in the village for their mother and sister, and then go west or north, or to the States, or to the city—anywhere—anywhere at all, so long as it was away from here. Anywhere from the hungry, worn-out farm which had meant nothing to them but poverty and hardship at their lives. So they drew up a sale bill. And no one was sorry but the poor mother, who had never had enough clothes to wash a gun, and whose lifelong ambition to have a bay window and bed of peoples in front of it had never been fulfilled.

It was at this crisis that Uncle Aleck arrived on the scene. He took a walk over the farm, inspected the buildings, and then sat down in the family circle. "You sent for me to fit my advice, an' here it is: Postpone this here sale till you fix this place up. You ain't givin' to sell yer hen on a rainy day, is you? This here farm is full up to good land, an' if you sell it an' you wox't get half what they're worth. You take it from me that a sale just now is foolish. You've got to fix up this here place so's it'll look attractive, an' then it'll sell, an' if you've gotta spare bed and room for me at the table till stay in spending it.

That was ten years ago, and today nothing would induce them to sell their beautiful home. Money couldn't buy it—they wouldn't hear of such a thing. They have everything their hearts can wish for, and Lizar Ann—she is "Miss Teeple" now—is going to make the best match in the country. Cousin Jim's ones and Uncle Pete's ones used to look down on them; now they are proud of them.

There would have been fewer sales in the land this spring had there been more Uncle Alecks on deck.

Three-fourths of the teachers of Victoria are women and many of them have fathers, mothers and sisters or perhaps children to support. While it is against the law for women to form political parties or societies, there is a decided effort being made to so prevent the women question that the women teachers are organizing a society, they being very poor at present.

SAYS EARTH IS ELASTIC.

Prof. Milne Declares That Tides Pull it Out of Shape.

London, April 21.—That the earth is elastic and pulled out of shape by action of the tides has been discovered by Prof. Milne, the leading English authority on earth phenomena.

The experiments have been carried out at Bidston observatory, near Liverpool, one and a half miles from the sea, with a modified form of seismograph, designed to record tidal effects, and the more minute movements which other seismographs would not or not often record.

At high tide the bed of the Irish sea became depressed from an increased load, and the effect of this was to pull the shores together. At low tide the amount of deflection was about equal to one inch in sixteen miles.

Prof. Milne, many years ago, showed that our ordinary and apparently stable English valleys opened when the sun fell upon them and contracted during the night. He also showed that apparently the whole of the Isle of Wight tilts up at high water, owing to the greater weight of the water in the English channel as compared with that in the Solent.

His latest work is the completion of earlier research, and tends to show that the earth is a great, more elastic and responsive to pulls and strains than is commonly appreciated.

Wage-Workers' Symposium

PARAGRAPHIC RECORD RELATIVE TO THE TOPICS, PROCEEDINGS, EFFORTS AND LESSONS LEARNED BY THE WORKERS AS THEY PLAY THEIR PART IN THE WORLD'S GREATEST MOVEMENT.

The Carpenters' union at Vernon, B. C., has ceased to hold meetings. Toronto District Trades Council is considering the subject of publishing a labor paper.

There is less danger from stuffed ballot boxes than there is from stuffed voters.—John Cole. "The dictator who would turn back the tide of Socialism will find himself a general without an army."

The annual convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks will be held at New Orleans, April 13-23.

The killed and disabled in British factories, etc., last year amounted to 328,981 persons—in 23 of those employed, 3,447 were killed outright.

What of the matrimonial "matches" made for the sake of money? What meaning is contained in such everyday expressions as "she married well?"

The dawn of the glorious day for labor will break when they vote to capture the lawmaking power and use it in their own interests.—Bellingham Journal.

Among Hearst's newspaper employees it is alleged that the unorganized employees of the Hearst newspapers have plenty of grievances which they never dare present.

The street railway employees' union of Vancouver, B.C., are quietly negotiating a new wage schedule which provides for a substantial raise. There are some five hundred men involved.

Organized labor of Oklahoma city has launched a movement to build a home where all the various labor unions can meet. The membership of organized labor in Oklahoma city has reached nearly 5,000.

The election of a Socialist mayor and city government for Milwaukee should awaken the people of the United States to a realization of the fact that the Socialists are a political factor which must be reckoned with.—Kearl Herald.

Toronto carpenters have turned down an offer made by the builders' exchange to set the rate of wages at 35 cents per hour. The Brotherhood and Amalgamated men are working together in an effort to secure 40 cents an hour as the minimum rate.—Labor Page, Hamilton Herald.

If John Hendry, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, sincerely believes that "our mechanics and working men are capable of looking after themselves" how does it come in his mind to have evidence such as interest in their welfare by attempting to disrupt international unions?

Very often the men who are loudest in their protest against women being granted the franchise, are not even voters themselves. Surely women could make no worse of their votes than wage-workers have in the past. Neither men nor women are entitled to the franchise if they fail to demand it.

After the steel trust had murdered and crippled thousands of its employees, after it had blacklisted and hunted down every union man in its employ, and then ransacked the hidden corners of Europe for victims to be used in beating wages below subsistence and increasing hours beyond endurance, it has now introduced a "welfare" scheme, with "profit-sharing" and other socialistic and lolly-pops and soothing syrup.—Daily Socialist.

Cut Out Overtime For some years past the Vancouver Typographical Union has prohibited the accumulation of overtime. It must be given out to the first available "sub."

Calgary Leather Workers The striking leather workers of Calgary, Alta., have submitted their dispute with one of the biggest employers to a local arbitration board, which convenes on April 25.

Union of Toronto Girls Ed. Stephenson, a voluntary A. F. of L. organizer, of Winnipeg, at present in Toronto, has succeeded in organizing a union of Toronto Stippers, the membership of which is composed of girls.

Victoria Job Printers' Wages Victoria, B. C., job printers have voted to go after $27 per week, eight-hour day. The new printers' scale is $1.50 per seven and one-half hour shift, and $1.75 per seven and one-half hour night.

National Socialist Convention By a referendum vote of 3,029 to 2,500.

Heart Trouble Cured. Through one cause or another a large majority of the people are troubled with some form of heart trouble.

Increased membership of nearly 100. The federation has issued 102 charters to newly formed local unions directly affiliated, as against 52 charters for the corresponding five months of last year. The affiliated international unions report the issuance of 140 charters within the last five months.

Railway Brotherhood and A. F. & L.

There is now a quiet movement on foot among all the railway brotherhoods to become a part of the American Federation of Labor. The railway brotherhoods have always been looked upon as very conservative organizations, but the fact is becoming apparent that the railway organizations as a whole are being transformed into an industrial union of the workers of the railway corporations and the manner in which petitions from various brotherhoods have been recently signed by the railway magnates is opening the eyes of the membership to the fact that the solidarity of labor must be brought about in the very near future if victories are to be won from the employers.—John M. O'Neil.

The Belcourt Amendment

State Belcourt's proposed amendment to the criminal code, making criminals out of international trade unionists, was too raw even for the Ottawa Free Press, a federal government organ. After generally condemning the Belcourt proposal the Free Press observes: "It is unfair to the membership to the United States unions with which Canadian unions are affiliated, who may come to Canada to assist in the organization of our unions. The experience of the Free Press with these men is that they are anything but 'agitators.' They come here almost invariably in the role of peace-maker and as a rule they are successful. They have frequently been able to avert trouble."

Population of Canada.

The estimated population of Canada at the present time is 7,000,000, an increase of 33 per cent in ten years. With the increase has come increased responsibilities, gigantic industrial combines, and all that goes with the "development" of a country. The same forces and conditions prevailing in the older countries are at work, and the policy of emigration and immigration so far from solving the unemployment problem, has merely transferred the scene of its being and ultimate solution. In the new hope, activities and determination of the stuff that makes pioneers lies the triumph of Labor on this western continent. The "final struggle for political supremacy" might as well be made in Canada as any place else, so let them all come.

Unions and Politics

Wage-workers who still believe unions, as unions, should go into politics, read profitably what the official paper of Seattle's central body has to say. Concludes the Union Record: "With more than 18,000 members of organized labor in Seattle, the voice cast for the 'United Labor' candidate looks like a rebuke to those members who would drag the unions into politics." Unionists the continent over are slowly learning that the working class political and industrial organizations must be conducted separately to prove successful. This for the reason that economically the interests of the workers conflict, but politically their interests are identical. Hence in the latter organization only can the workers internationally unite.

Opposed Belcourt Bill

Messrs. Wm. Gockling, president, Toronto; Gustave France, vice president, Montreal; and P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer, Ottawa, representing the executive of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress; Mr. J. J. Donohue and J. H. Barnett, Toronto; J. A. Flett, Hamilton; John Tweed, London, representing the 5,000 members of the Brotherhood of Carpenters; J. B. McLachlan, Springfield, N.S., representing a great many members of the United Mine Workers of the Maritime provinces; and Mr. Campbell, Toronto, vice-president of the railway telegraphers, were at Ottawa on April 14, to oppose the Belcourt bill in the Dominion Senate, by Senator Belcourt of Ottawa, and which concerns international unionists as it aims at preventing Americans or foreigners in any way directing strikes or troubles in Canada. When it came to a show down however, Senator Belcourt never even moved for a second reading of his previous amendment.

Marx on Strikes

At the same time, and quite apart from the general servitude involved in the wage system, the working class ought not to exaggerate to themselves the ultimate working of these everyday struggles. They ought not to forget that they are fighting with effects, but not with the causes of those effects; that they are retarding the downward movement but not changing its direction; that they are applying palliatives, not curing the malady. They ought, therefore, not to be exclusively absorbed in these unavoidable guerilla fights incessantly springing up from the ever-ceasing encroachments of capital or changes of the market. They ought to understand that, with all the miseries that it imposes upon them, the present system simultaneously engenders the material conditions and the social forces necessary for an economical reconstruction of society. Instead of the conservative "A fair day's wages for a fair day's work," they ought to inscribe on their banner the revolutionary watchword, "Abolition of the wage system."—Karl Marx in 1866.

USING PURGATIVES INJURES HEALTH
What You Need in Spring is a Blood Building Tonic
A spring medicine is an actual necessity to most people. Nature demands it as an aid in carrying off the impurities that have accumulated in the blood during the indoor life of winter. But unfortunately thousands of people who do recognize the necessity of a spring medicine do not know what is best to take and do themselves with harsh, gripping purgatives. This is a serious mistake. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that the use of purgative medicine weakens the system but does not cure disease. In the spring the system needs building up—purgatives cannot do this—they weaken you still more. The blood should be made rich, red and pure, and only a tonic medicine can do this. The best blood building, nerve restoring tonic medical science has yet discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine actually makes new, rich blood. This new blood strengthens every organ, every nerve and every part of the body. This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure headaches and backaches, rheumatism and neuritis, hives, pimples and eruptions, and give a glow of health to the most sallow skin. Men, women and growing boys and girls who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills eat well, sleep well and feel bright, active and strong. If you need a medicine this spring—and you do—take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the best blood building, nerve restoring tonic, and see the new life, new health and new strength it will put into you. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RADIUM HAS NEW RIVAL

Active Polonium Has Wonderful Properties and Costs $4,450,000 Ounce (Brooklyn Eagle). With London quotations upon radium recently at $390,000 an ounce, the nonscientific observer of things scientific is absolutely overwhelmed with awe when he is informed that polonium another radioactive "emanation," is 5,000 times more rare than radium, and consequently at least that number of times more valuable. It was Mme. Curie, who discovered radium, who isolated polonium from radium. This was in 1898, and the name was suggested as an honor to the Polish home of Mme. Curie. Since the announcement of the discovery of the so-called X-rays the public has grown accustomed to scientific wonders made known from time to time by the Paris experts. The phenomena and the different kinds of rays given out by the substance have been discussed by such scientists as Sir William Ramsay, and it was at a recent dinner given in his honor at the Aubrey Club in London that he talked very entertainingly of the wonderful properties of the element and its strange power. It was the most concentrated form of energy known, he said, but that it could never be used for anything but that one could say that there had been things favorable to that suggestion. Within the last few years scientists have been paying special attention to many of the rarer metals, and tungsten, molybdenum, vanadium, tantalum, boron, silicon, titanium and chromium are some of the names given to valuable additions to the minerals used in manufacture nowadays. Uranium too, is a word in the scientist's mouth these days, for it was from uranium that pitchblende was secured, and from pitchblende came radium. Uranium mines, then, are eagerly being sought the world over these days. The pitchblende necessary to produce three milligrams of polonium, according to one authority, is 15 tons. It now assumed that there are three different kinds of rays given out by radium. The rays that can be kept in a glass tube easily are known as the Alpha rays. Then come a second kind known as the Beta rays, which are able to pass through the tube, and are also known as cathode rays. The third, Gamma rays, are the most penetrating and can pass through non-transparent substances, such as six inches of lead.

Austria appears to have practically a monopoly in the production of radium. Uranium, from wherever it is found, is sent to Austria, where it is treated for the pitchblende it contains, which, in turn, is rid of the radium it holds. The sale of radium is controlled by the Austrian government, the experts of the Vienna Physical Institute have found a comparatively satisfactory way of handling it. What is sold, however, is not pure radium, for that, the scientists say, cannot be obtained. But what is sold is radium in radium barium chloride in three different grades of strength. The price per ounce, however, of any sale being made that necessitates the use of postage or express office for its transportation. In every case where a sale has been made it has been made personally to the buyer or a representative sent expressly to Vienna for that purpose. The price per ounce, too, is subject largely to the quality of the substance, the sum of $880,000 per ounce being only comparative, some sales having been made at the rate of $2,375,000 per ounce.

ZANGWILL ON ZIONISM.

Advices Immigration to the United States Rather Than to Turkey.
London, April 21.—Israel Zangwill, writing on the Jewish problem in the Fortnightly Review, finds Zionism, confined as it is to the quest of a home in Palestine, a "Jewish Utopia," and suggests that the solution of the settlement question, if immigration on a large scale is to be adopted, will be found rather in America than in Turkey.

TURKEY MAY CELEBRATE ALLIANCE.

"But," he continues, "nations are not always guided by economic advantages, and it is always possible that Turkey will refuse the proposed Jewish alliance." "If the Zionists," says Mr. Zangwill, "insist on Palestine or nothing, it will probably be nothing." He then refers to the work of the "Itto," which, foreseeing the possibility of the fall of the Zionism and territorial efforts alike, began three years ago to divert the stream of Jewish emigration which congested New York and the eastern cities of the United States toward the half populated regions west of the Mississippi. Future of the Jews. "If the only future of the Jews is peaceful citizenship as a religious minority," says Mr. Zangwill, "it is better they should become more Americans than Ottomans." It is, therefore, not unlikely that the work of diverting Jewish emigration to the less populous districts of America, heretofore a subsidiary undertaking of the "Itto," will be transformed into its main activity.

A Hint to Young Mothers

Don't walk up and down the floor with a cross, restless child. Nothing can be more demoralizing to the little one and it is a serious tax upon the mother's strength and nerves. When a child is peevish and cross there is probably some little derangement of the stomach or bowels, and a dose of Baby's Own Tablets will remove the cause of the trouble and enable the little one to sleep soundly. Mrs. W. Bouffard, Popolis, Que., says: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets superior to all other remedies for curing constipation and making teething easy. They also promote a peaceful sleep, and I recommend them to other mothers." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ONE SCANDAL THAT MET SUDDEN DEATH

Such Was the Fate of the Efforts of a Manitoba Tory

TRIED TO MAKE ALARM AGAINST INDIAN DEPT.

The Address by Mr. Oliver Put An End to It All

Ottawa, April 22.—Two important aspects of the policies of the Liberal government and of the Conservative opposition in the house of commons were brought into conspicuous contrast before the Canadian public by the debate in its homely Wednesday and Thursday of this week on the resolution of censure of the government embodied in an amendment to a motion to go into committee offered by George H. Bradbury, member for Selkirk.

One illustrated the extremes to which the opposition as at present constituted, being practically disorganized, is willing to go for the sake, or in the hope rather, of gaining party advantage. Although the movement was disguised under the mantle of solicitude for the welfare of the Indian, the character of the debate on the opposition side, in its homely Wednesday and Thursday of this week, was insincerely as denoted by the obvious crocodile nature of the copious tear shedding and heart bleeding indulged in by fervid orators, stamped upon it the unmistakable imprint of a play at politics pure and simple in an effort to create in the east where, quite naturally, the people know little or nothing of Indian or Indian reserves, sympathy for the Indian who was depicted as suffering gross neglect of his interests by the government through its department of Indian affairs.

The other brought into distinct outline the wisdom of the policy of the government in dealing with the Indians and Indian reserves of the west in the best interests of the spirit of progress which animates the government and which supplies the actuating motive when dealing with such problems, while at the same time safeguarding the interests and promoting the well-being of the Indian population.

The exposition of the policy of the government relative to Indian affairs, as delineated by Minister of Interior Frank Oliver, was specially clear cut and convincing.

The contrast between the two policies but once again reveals the reactionary tendencies of the opposition as compared with the attitude of progressive advancement conspicuously displayed on the government side of the chamber when important questions are being dealt with. In this instance the unfavorable light in which the opposition placed itself was given special emphasis by the fact that the resolution of censure was lost by the largest majority the government has had this session.

The debate was precipitated Wednesday evening when Minister of Finance Fielding moved that the house go into committee of supply. Mr. Bradbury moved as an amendment his resolution censuring the government for the manner in which it had dealt with the matter of procuring the surrender of the St. Peter's Indian reserve in Manitoba, disposing of the land of the reserve and establishing the Indians on another reserve.

Mr. Bradbury proceeded to deliver himself of a long and somewhat rambling speech, both as to length—he spoke over four hours—and as the minister of the interior put it later, as to the number of baseless and untruthful allegations and insinuations made against the government.

The principal contentions raised were with respect to the manner in which the surrender of the reserve was procured, the methods employed in advertising the sale, and the prices realized for the land. It was insinuated by innuendo rather than charged, as is characteristic of the present opposition when fabricating charges against the government, that the conduct of the surrender and the conduct of the sale were carried on in a manner designed to enable alleged favorites of the government and speculators to acquire the land at prices much below its real value, and the term bribery and other extravagancies of imaginary wrong doing were freely bandied during the protracted oratorical effort of the member for Selkirk.

Minister Oliver replied to the assault on the interior department Thursday morning. In his opening remarks he said:

"The member for Selkirk has the honor of making not only the longest speech of the session, but I believe that never since this chamber was erected has there been delivered within its walls such a persistent and sustained tirade of unfounded assertions and unwarranted insinuations, a tirade which in its gratuitous inexactitudes is an offense to the privilege of parliament and an insult to its intelligence."

"The chamber shook with tumultuous applause, and Mr. Bradbury jumped to his feet with the point of order that the language was unparliamentary."

Mr. Oliver then proceeded to detail the circumstances in relation to the whole matter. He stated that before the St. Peter's reserve was created, a considerable number of people acquired land rights within the boundaries of what subsequently became the reserve. In 1874 a survey was made and a portion of the land was laid out in what were called river lots. Some of the occupants of these tracts were white people, some were half breeds and some were Indians. Subsequently some of those who were Indian or part Indian decided to enter treaty and the river lots were put into the reserve. Some, however, decided to retain their citizenship and private ownership and did so. These tracts were scattered over the reserve and as the government could not control the sale of liquor on the individually owned tracts and disputes over titles arose, a very unsatisfactory condition of affairs grew up. Complaints were made from time to time by people wishing to get title to their property which was also claimed by the Indians and eventually, to try and get matters straightened out, Chief Justice Howell of the Manitoba supreme bench was appointed a commissioner to endeavor to adjudicate matters.

Chief Justice Howell was unable to effect a satisfactory settlement of these rights by themselves and as the proximity of the reserve to the town of Selkirk was unsatisfactory to the people of the town and it seemed impossible to effect a settlement of affairs on the reserve, it was suggested that the most satisfactory solution of the whole difficulty was to procure the surrender of the reserves, dispose of the land and create another reserve for the Indians elsewhere.

"These are the facts in relation to the surrender of the reserve" said the minister. "The insinuation has been made that the department deliberately planned it for the benefit of party friends but I submit it is ridiculous. The condition of affairs required adjustment in the interest of the town of Selkirk, of the Indians and of everyone else concerned and Justice Howell merely conducted the negotiations."

"In the settlement the Indians were granted land in their own right and as those who had occupied land in severalty at the time of the acquisition of the country by Canada might claim rights as settlers, it was decided to give them sixteen acres to each member of a family on condition that they surrender their rights as settlers and I submit that in dealing with men who were owners of land in severalty in 1871 and occupants in severalty ever since, that was not an improvident transaction."

Referring to a criticism of the fact that the government did not administer the land allotted to the Indians in severalty, the minister stated that the Indians refused to sign the agreement to surrender with that provision included and it had to be struck out. The lands when apportioned, were selected by the Indians themselves wherever they chose.

As to the assertion that the lands were sold at ridiculously low prices, the minister read a long list of sales showing that the price ran all the way from $4 to $17 an acre, a number of them being above $15, showing that the Indians sold at their own discretion, which they had insisted upon being permitted to do and at any price they chose to take.

Relative to a report received at the Indians were not being dealt with, the minister stated that he had sent the law clerk of the department to the reserve to investigate, informing him not to interfere as to the price agreed on but that if they were getting their money, that would be no matter to be dealt with. That day he had submitted a report showing the name of every Indian who had been given land and what disposition he had made of it, together with the price received. The member for Selkirk had had that report in his hand yet he tried to tell the house the Indians had not received $4 an acre for their land and that there was irregularity in connection with the sales.

The member had also laid stress on what he termed insubstantial notice to the Indians as to the surrender was to be made. The minister stated that the negotiations had been in progress the greater part of a year; the Indian people in the west were not in the way of news affecting their interests in any manner of degree and it had many of the terms among the Indian people when they voted to surrender they were with the arrangement. It was not true that but one day of notice when the vote was taken had been given three days and that they were shown by the fact who were entitled to present. They undoubtly were voting on a carried a majority small, was recognized legal and it would sound policy as to be surrenders when voted in view of the fact that was in the best interest of the Indian people.

It was not true that but one day of notice when the vote was taken had been given three days and that they were shown by the fact who were entitled to present. They undoubtly were voting on a carried a majority small, was recognized legal and it would sound policy as to be surrenders when voted in view of the fact that was in the best interest of the Indian people.

Referring to a criticism of the fact that the government did not administer the land allotted to the Indians in severalty, the minister stated that the Indians refused to sign the agreement to surrender with that provision included and it had to be struck out. The lands when apportioned, were selected by the Indians themselves wherever they chose.

As to the assertion that the lands were sold at ridiculously low prices, the minister read a long list of sales showing that the price ran all the way from $4 to $17 an acre, a number of them being above $15, showing that the Indians sold at their own discretion, which they had insisted upon being permitted to do and at any price they chose to take.

Relative to a report received at the Indians were not being dealt with, the minister stated that he had sent the law clerk of the department to the reserve to investigate, informing him not to interfere as to the price agreed on but that if they were getting their money, that would be no matter to be dealt with. That day he had submitted a report showing the name of every Indian who had been given land and what disposition he had made of it, together with the price received. The member for Selkirk had had that report in his hand yet he tried to tell the house the Indians had not received $4 an acre for their land and that there was irregularity in connection with the sales.

The member had also laid stress on what he termed insubstantial notice to the Indians as to the surrender was to be made. The minister stated that the negotiations had been in progress the greater part of a year; the Indian people in the west were not in the way of news affecting their interests in any manner of degree and it had many of the terms among the Indian people when they voted to surrender they were with the arrangement. It was not true that but one day of notice when the vote was taken had been given three days and that they were shown by the fact who were entitled to present. ONE SCANDAL THAT MET SUDDEN DEATH of a year; the Indians are the greatest people in the world to hear any news affecting their affairs and there was no manner of doubt they knew about it and had many times discussed the same among themselves so that when Mr. Pedley went to take the final surrender they were fully acquainted with the arrangement. And the assurance was not true that they were given but one day of notice of the gathering when the vote was to be taken; they had been given three or four days notice and that they all knew about it was shown by the fact that out of 289 who were entitled to vote, 235 were present. They undoubtedly knew what they were voting on and the surrender carried by a majority which though small, was recognized by the law as valid and it would not have been sound policy not to have accepted the surrender when voted by a majority. The fact that the surrender was in the best interest of every consideration.

Referring to a stirring reference made to the Rev. Semmes, an employee of the department of Indian affairs, Mr. Oliver said he had known Mr. Semmes since 1872 as a Methodist minister who had given his life to the service of the Indians and he did not believe him any less a Christian gentleman now than he was in the employ of the government.

As to the charge that the sale had been "advisedly" advertised, the minister read from the record to show that it had been advertised for three weeks in six different newspapers and that the people who it was thought would be most likely to want to buy, would have the money from their own pockets and people would be able to buy who could not at any other time.

Asked why, if that was the case, sales of school lands were held in the winter, the minister answered that school lands included in the sale had been scattered far and wide and people who wanted to buy had to travel to see them, the St. Alberta reserve lands, which were thought to be such a sale, was known long in advance and everyone who would be interested had an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the land and knew what it was like.

Before December was as good a time as any other, better in fact, for the reason stated, than any other time and enabled the matter to be closed.

While on the subject of school lands Mr. Oliver took occasion to read from minutes at hand, a list of prices that school land in the same locality as the reserve and in some cases actually adjoining, had brought at auction sale. There was a considerable number of sales and the average price the land had brought was $5 an acre. This was another evidence of the lack of justification for the claim that the school lands had not brought adequate prices.

Referring to an intimation that at the sale of the Indian lands, fair offers had not been accepted and every one to bid but that friends of the government had been favored, the minister characterized it as one of the intemperate declarations which was an insult to the house, declaring as preposterous the idea that an auction sale of land would be held within twenty-five miles of Winnipeg and anyone having the money to buy be prevented from bidding.

One of the principal assertions made by the member for Selkirk was that the Indians had never received the amounts for their lands, or that ninety per cent of them had not. Answering, Mr. Oliver exhibited 338 receipts for amounts delivered to the Indians. Then Mr. Bradbury claimed the Indians had signed the receipts and the minister declared that if that were true it was a case of forgery and it was the duty of the member to lay the matter before the criminal authorities of Manitoba and have the guilty parties prosecuted.

Mr. Bradbury replied that he thought it more the duty of the minister, to whom Mr. Oliver said he would agree, to believe that he believed and the government believed and that the receipts were genuine and that the amounts had been delivered. Therefore as the administrative hands of the criminal law was in the hands of the provincial authorities of Manitoba, it was up to the member to use his influence to see that the guilty parties were prosecuted and make good his charge.

With reference to the intimation that the chief of the Indians and his councillors had been bribed to sign the agreement to surrender and that one Barner had been compensated for a claim for $500 for his part in it by an extra allotment of land being given to the chief and his councillors, the minister said the chief and councillors had received more land than other members of the tribe because the tribe voted it to them. He then read the list of the various amounts of land the chief and councillors were entitled to and showed that they had received patents for those amounts.

Reverting to the charge that the procuring of the surrender of the reserves from the Indians was a conspiracy, the minister read the names of the witnesses to the agreement to surrender, among which was the name of Dr. Grain, a Conservative member of the Manitoba legislature for the district in which the reserve was situated. He said he did not know the gentleman but from the fact that he was a prominent enough Conservative to be a member of the legislature, he presumed he was as responsible and reputable a man as the member for Selkirk and that his name on the document ought to be an earnest that it was anything but a Liberal conspiracy. This, the minister said, was exactly in line with the whole discussion. It was the same as the intimation that Chief Justice Howell had been instructed by the government to procure the surrender, whereas, the advisability of procuring the surrender had been suggested as far back as in 1900 by Special Agent Rothwell who was first sent to investigate and acting on his suggestion, the department had suggested to Justice Howell that it might become necessary to procure the surrender.

The minister then read from a report of Justice Howell wherein he had advised getting the surrender in the interest of the Indians who, Justice Howell said, were retrograding and it was his belief that it was because of their situation. Justice Howell stated that out of about 50,000 acres of land in the reserve the Indians had only 250 acres under cultivation and the minister observed that appeared to furnish very good reason for a government taking action which had the interests of the Indians and the country at heart.

Mr. Bradbury had said that some of the land that sold at the auction sale for $5 an acre had since sold for $50 an acre.

"As to that," said the minister, "I can only say that it is the avowed purpose of the government in procuring the surrender of Indian reserves to enhance the value of the land. If my honorable friend thinks that is a condemnation of our policy I can only say that is another point on which we differ in opinion. I may say however, that I am glad to learn from the gentleman himself that our policy in that respect at least, has been successful. Anyone unless it is my honorable friend can readily understand that land cannot have the same value if the social environment is of a low order that it would have after those conditions that have been made better. In this case the town of Selkirk and Manitoba have been the gainers from the action of the government."

In concluding his remarks the minister said: "In pursuance of the policy of the government in dealing with Indians, we entered upon the business of procuring the surrender of St. Peter's reserve. It was not the same as an ordinary reserve and extraordinary methods had to be adopted. We procured the highest authority in Manitoba to deal with the matter; it has been settled, the Indians have received all that was coming to them and a new reserve of 15,000 acres much better than the one they had and we helped them to move there. They have gained, not lost and the only criticism that I can see can be made in relation to the transaction is that they got too much."

"As a result the value of the land they left has appreciated and the district has been put in line for improvement and development, socially and in every other way in a manner that could not have been possible with the reserve in existence. Everything was done in the open light of day and nothing was concealed. The government has nothing to apologize for and I ask the endorsement of the house on the transaction."

Other speakers followed on both sides of the question. Those for the opposition but reiterated the assertions and intonations of their sub-leader, the member for Selkirk, while those for the government amplified Mr. Oliver's justification of the government's course and when the vote was taken showing a majority of fifty for the government. Mr. Oliver was given one of the greatest ovations ever witnessed on the floor of the house.

HAS "ELIXIR" OF LIFE
French Surgeon Claims, Micolysine Will Add To Years

"I hereby announce that my discovery micolysine, which I am confident will greatly prolong human life and revolutionize the practice of medicine, is available to only authenticated American physicians for test and experiment if they apply to me through the American Embassy in Paris."

In these words Dr. Eugene Louis Doyen, a famous physician and surgeon, outlined today the manner in which physicians in America can test for themselves the substantiality of the claims he made for his new "elixir of life" in a paper he read before the medical congress at Monaco recently.

"The experiments by American physicians, whether made in hospitals or in private cases, need not extend over a long time," said Dr. Doyen. "Four weeks will suffice to convince physicians of the value of my discovery."

"For ten years I have been working to produce this result. I have followed lines in some ways similar to no others radically different from the work which Sir Almroth Edward Wright has been doing in England in that period. Wright has been experimenting with dead germs or cultures. To these I have added other substances in producing my therapeutic agent which I call micolysine. Etomologically the word means something that dissolves germs."

"Micolysine is composed of colloids, the scientific name for jelly-like substances which are not really soluble, but which remain suspended in liquids in infinitesimal particles.

"From my youth I have studied the fermentations of alcohol, such as are found in wine and beer as well as the fermentation found in the putrefaction of butter, the fat of meat and cheese. The colloids in micolysine are extracted from such fermentations.

"These therapeutic colloids have the property of causing the rapid destruction of micro-organisms by the phagocytes (white corpuscles in the blood) in the human system. The phagocytes, acting as scavengers, immediately attack disease microbes and destroy them. Then, their work done, the phagocytes disappear.

"Such, in broad terms, is the way in which micolysine acts—destroying germs or disease by producing and multiplying phagocytes. Micolysine arrests almost immediately such maladies as carbuncle, erysipelas, boils in the head, sore throat and grip. In connection with electricity micolysine causes the disappearance of cancers of the skin and of the body.

"Strictly speaking these therapeutic colloids are not pharmaceutical substances as well as a cure. It prolongs life so that by its means the average of human existence will be lengthened by from 15 to 20 years. It is as truly an elixir of life as that sought by the ancient alchemists."

Dr. Doyen was asked whether micolysine was administered hypodermically or through the mouth.

"It can be taken into the stomach or through the blood," Doyen answered. "In less serious affections it is taken into the stomach. For that purpose my preparation is combined with acids, because the stomach is acid. But in grave cases it is given under the skin; then it is combined with alkalines.

"A singular and interesting part of my discovery is that micolysine has absolutely no harmful effects. It can be taken by a healthy person as a preventive; by the sick as a cure."

As yet no European scientist has given publicly his opinion of the value of Dr. Doyen's discovery. However, his announcement has excited the widest private discussion. This seems likely to develop into a scientific dispute even more acrimonious than that which followed Dr. Doyen's announcement four years ago that he had found an efficacious method of treating cancer. On this scientific opinion still is divided.

Why France is Rich
(From Moody's Magazine)
Paris is the Mecca of foreigners. They come from all parts of the world to enjoy life in the great metropolis; and the yearly income from this source alone approximates $600,000,000. Along with this item the earnings of French capitalists on their investments in the securities and properties of other countries amount to fully $250,000,000 yearly. On the other side of the account in an adverse balance of trade, which in 1907 amounted to $100,000,000 yearly. Deduct this outgo from her income of $850,000,000 and it leaves France with $750,000,000 to the good. Instead of getting an income of $900,000,000 from foreign tourists, the United States pays out at least $15,000,000 for the expenses of American tourists abroad. Add $100,000,000 more which we pay for ocean freights in foreign vessels and the yearly outgo is $350,000,000. Deduct our yearly income of $500,000,000 for favorable trade balance and it leaves a yearly deficit of $350,000,000.

Investors in our securities and properties. A third factor is the army of aliens who flock here from all parts of the world to board up money, which they take back to their own countries; this drains costs us $300,000,000 more. Add $100,000,000 more which we pay for ocean freights in foreign vessels and the yearly outgo is $350,000,000. Deduct our yearly income of $500,000,000 for favorable trade balance and it leaves a yearly deficit of $350,000,000.
