Proposed Drink Restrictions

British Government Is Said To Have Arrived at More Moderate Decision.

LONDON, April 27.—(3.50 a.m.)—The government has finally arrived at a more moderate decision for dealing with the drink problem, according to The Times, which places the proposed restrictions under the following heads:

"FIRST—Prohibition of the sale of immature spirits. "SECOND—Encouragement of the brewing of lighter beers. "THIRD—Special public house restrictions in 'militant' areas. "FOURTH—Reduced hours of sale generally. "FIFTH—Compensation for the interests affected."

BIG ARMY IS NOW FIGHTING AGAINST TURKS

Attack is Being Carried Out by Land, Sea and Air.

LONDON, April 26.—All that is known of the attack on the Dardanelles is contained in a brief report issued by the war office and admiralty this evening, which simply says that in spite of serious opposition, troops have been successfully landed at various points on the Gallipoli peninsula and that their advance continues.

The attack is being made by land, the sea and the air. The allied armies are pushing an important part in the operation, its landing guns and trenchers and directing the fire of the warships which are covering the landing of the troops. The Russians are doing their share by making a demonstration against the Turkish forces at the Black Sea entrance of the Bosphorus.

Official Statement. The following official announcement was given out in London today: "The general attack on the Dardanelles by the fleet and the army was resumed yesterday. The disembarkation of the army, covered by the fleet, began before sunrise at various points on the Gallipoli Peninsula, and in spite of serious opposition from the enemy in strong entrenchments protected by barbed wire, was completely successful. "Before nightfall large forces were established on shore. The landing of the army and the advance continues. "Kitchener Force There. British troops have been brought from Egypt and French soldiers are being landed from the southern shores of the Mediterranean. There have been despatches recently relating to the movements of British troops in the direction of the Aegean Sea. "A report is current that Kitchener's new army to the number of 100,000 and even 200,000 men is in the Aegean. A recent despatch from Egypt disclosed that General Ian Hamilton, of the British army, was in command of an expeditionary force destined for European Turkey, composed of British and French troops.

GERMAN SEAPLANE ATTACKED TRAWLER

GENERAL ELECTION MONDAY, JUNE 7?

Best Information in Ottawa Points to Appeal to People.

EXPECT ANNOUNCEMENT

Sir Robert Borden Will Intimate His Decision in Day or So.

By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, April 26.—The best information in Ottawa today, whether in Liberal or government circles, points to a general election early in June, probably on Monday, June 7. If this is so, Sir Robert Borden will intimate his decision to his colleagues tomorrow or next day, and the necessary orders in council will be framed and the date announced on or before Thursday of this week. All the ministers are in town today.

One of the results of the survey of the country by the respective ministers is that Quebec may give the Conservatives 20 seats. It is not so certain that Sir Lower Gwyn, the Liberal premier of Quebec, will appeal to his electors a few days before the federal election.

One near friend of the government put it this way tonight: "The government are forced by the situation and the intricacies of Canadian politics, to go to the people, and they will give trenchant reasons in a statement from Sir Robert Borden to the electors this week. The public should wait for this statement; they weigh it against the criticisms on it."

St. Julien Captured By Enemy Thru Sheer Weight of Numbers--British Lines Holding Fast and General Situation Around Ypres Unchanged

LONDON, April 26.—(11.15 p.m.)—The British War Office has issued the following statement respecting the battle around Ypres: "First—Severe fighting to the northeast of Ypres still continues, the general situation remaining unchanged. Our left flank, in readjusting its line to meet the altered conditions due to the forced retirement of the French, had to face to the north and to extend to the west beyond St. Julien. "This extension weakened our line for a time, and after a very gallant resistance by the Canadians against superior numbers, St. Julien was captured by the enemy. Our lines now run south of that place. "Troops Severely Tested. "Second—Our troops to the east of Ypres have borne the brunt of repeated heavy attacks, which they stubbornly opposed throughout the battle in an entirely unexpected situation, which has demanded the exercise of gallantry and fortitude by the men, and quick resource and other military qualities by their commanders. "Third—Attacks were also delivered yesterday by the Germans on the east of the Ypres salient. In spite of the use by the enemy of asphyxiating gases, the attacks were repulsed, and German officers and men were captured. "No Heavy Guns Lost. "In the fighting during the last three days we have inflicted very heavy casualties on the Germans. Our losses also have been heavy. The German wireless report that four English heavy guns were captured is untrue. "One of our aviators dropped bombs on the Courtrai station this afternoon and destroyed the junction. Altho wounded, he brought his machine safely back to our lines."

GERMANY'S PRESS FAKE VICTORIES

An Army Corps, Withdrawn From Argonne, Stated to Be Annihilated.

PARIS, April 26.—"The German press, basing its claim on so-called losses of the French army," says a semi-official communication issued tonight, "asserts that during the winter 26,000 French men were put out of action in a single sector of the Argonne. It was stated also that a second French army corps, which defended this part of the front, had disappeared after being almost entirely annihilated. "It is true that this second army corps at the end of the winter was withdrawn from the Argonne, but the Germans faced it in Champagne, and to this corps is due a large part of the credit for the French success on the Perthes-Beaumont front."

Dinner's Set the Style in Hat Fashion. A new shipment of hats was being unpacked at this old-established house yesterday when a World reporter happened to enter. "By Jove these look swell hats—something new in style and smart effects, too. "They certainly are! enthusiastically replied one of the salesmen, handing one of the new models to the reporter for further inspection. The consignment comprises the very newest hat creations in soft styles, from such celebrated makers as Henry Heath, Christy, London, Bonziani, and Borziani, Italy. The colors are pearl gray with bands in matching colors, some have bands of contrasting colors; steel gray and Belgian gray. Prices range from $2.50 to $1. Don't miss the opportunity of seeing them. You'll be delighted with the smart ideas in hatwear."

Kronprinz Wilhelm Interns

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Lieut. Capt. Thierfelder, commander of the German commerce raider, Kronprinz Wilhelm, late today informed Collector of the Customs Hamilton, at Newport News, Va., that he would intern his ship for the war in American waters. The commander presented this note: "Herewith I have to officially inform you that I intern."

No explanation accompanied the communication, but later the German commander said he had intended to attempt a dash past the allied warships off the Virginia Capes, but that the illness of more than sixty of his sailors with beri-beri would make that impossible before expiration of the time that the United States Government granted to make his cruiser seaworthy.

THE HEAVIEST LOSSES

Probably no battalion has suffered so heavily in the great engagement north of Ypres as the fourth company, commanded by Lieut. Col. Birchall, who was killed. This battalion lost three officers killed and 13 wounded, which included the second in command, Lieut. Birchall, and both majors, all of whom were wounded. The fourth had a reputation as being the most efficient fighting unit in the division and was made up of both regulars and very popular with his men. When the troop train returning from Thanksgiving Day manoeuvres was wrecked at Streetville a few weeks ago, Capt. MacLaren, who was acting as commander of his company, turned to and administered first aid to all the injured.

Wood Full of Germans Cleared in Victorious Rush—Canadians Without Food or Water For Whole Day—Prussian Guards Ran.

LONDON, April 26.—The following appears in tonight's Evening News as from a Canadian who took part in the recent engagement: "After the breaking of the line on our left we received orders to stand by the side of the canal, then we had orders to proceed immediately to the north of Ypres. We set off without any food or water, nothing except wet equipment, each taking 400 rounds of ammunition. We waited at this point from early in the day until nearly midnight, when two battalions formed in line by half companies in extended order, received the signal to break fire and charge the enemy, about 500 yards away.

Deadly Fight in Wood.

"We were at once mown down like sheep by the enemy's artillery. Some 2400 of us had attacked a wood where there were 7000 Germans; the place was full of machine guns. We drove them from the trenches in front of the wood, went right through 400 yards to the other side, then we got surrounded and had to retire to the trenches which we had taken. There we dug ourselves in, remaining till Friday morning, the enemy shelling us all the time with shrapnel. Then we had to lie out on Saturday morning to make room for reinforcements.

Recovered Howitzers.

"In our advance we were enfiladed by heavy fire from both sides, but in spite of this we moved them between us, and recovered three howitzers which the French had left behind in the wood. These we blew up and then succeeded in recapturing our own four 4.7 guns which the enemy had taken. At one point we surrounded 60 Germans, 45 of whom were bayoneted," he continued. "I saw one German officer die. It is impossible to estimate the number of German dead, but German searchlights worked all night trying to locate them.

Prussian Guard Fled.

"It was certainly a horrible time, the most awful time I have ever known. They seem to have enfiladed us completely at the beginning, but we got them on the run. We had the Prussian Guard in front of us, and they ran like cowards; the Germans didn't mind where they fired, they were continually shelling the dressing-stations with the Red Cross flag. They certainly planned the attack most carefully, with a machine gun pointing at the mouth of almost every trench.

Clear-Cut Victory.

"We all lost everything we had. We were, in fact, 48 hours without food, some of the men were 72 hours. We lost most of our officers and dressing stations full of wounds, but it was fine to see as I came down from a mine to hold the position we had won; Indian lancers, French lancers, and heaps of British troops."

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

PARIS, April 26.—The Germans who made inroads on the French and British left at Ypres last week-end are being driven back with heavy losses. This was the cheering news given out at Paris by the French war office tonight. The attacks of the allied troops continued to make headway in its section, and the German surprise appears to have definitely failed.

The war office also announced that the Germans have employed a new asphyxiating gas, but that a means of protection has been adopted that is giving the best of results among the French and Belgian troops.

The advantage which the Germans claimed to have acquired over the French through their possession of the Meuse was short-lived, their attacks on the left of Les Eparges, St. Remy and From the trenches in front of the wood, went right through 400 yards to the other side, then we got surrounded and had to retire to the trenches which we had taken. There we dug ourselves in, remaining till Friday morning, the enemy shelling us all the time with shrapnel. Then we had to lie out on Saturday morning to make room for reinforcements.

THE "UNREDEEMED" ITALY

The map shows, according to press rumors and reports, what Italy demands as the price of her neutrality, and how much is offered by her former allies.

GERMAN STRATEGY IN NOVEMBER

Despite the reports which have so far been published describing the contest now proceeding about Ypres, there is no means clear that the present struggle is comparable with the great battle of November fought on the same fields. In the earlier struggle some 120,000 British troops, hastily detached and sent into the gap between the extreme left of the French and the sea were suddenly assailed by something like half a million Germans, including the famous Prussian Guard. No opportunity came to the British to erect permanent or semi-permanent defences, they fought in hastily constructed field trenches. Much of the fighting was bayonet work and nothing in the nature of a trench war. The British line was broken, and the French army corps, they yielded a little, but hung on to Ypres.

As Closely Run as Waterloo.

The purpose of German strategy in November was plain. Calais and other channel ports were the immediate objective, the destruction of the British army and a second advance to Paris a possible outcome. The whole allied left flank in France and Belgium was in deadly peril. Not even Waterloo was a more closely run race than the battle of Ypres.

But a second fight on the same ground opens wholly new horizons. First of all British strength in France has risen from 120,000 to 750,000. Not less than half, are on the firing line, but this is treble the number that held Ypres in November. In artillery the improvement has been enormous. To the westward about Neuport, where 50,000 Belgians, the remnant of the German 4th army, repulsed the Germans there at now 120,000, six divisions reorganized, supported by new artillery.

Allied Lines Fortified.

Beyond these advantages lies that incident to the fortification of the allied lines. For months this year, upon trench by trench, one line upon another, the British, Belgians and French have dug themselves into a position, held once under terrible pressure, when it was hardly fortified at all.

Under the circumstances it is difficult to believe that the Kaiser's command is, undertaking to resume the earlier, more ambitious strategy, which aimed at Calais, Dunkirk and Boulogne. All told, with available resources, the British, Belgians and French forces must number close to a million on the narrow front of the German concentration of equal numbers is not now conceivable.

Merely Local Success.

On the other hand, it is plain that the Germans have won about Ypres, the ground won a local triumph wholly comparable to the British at Neuve Chapelle. They have won it, too, in the concentration of their troops. The great bombardment, the shelling of the line, the use of gas-filled projectiles, the use of the trench, the rush as at Neuve Chapelle, the German advance has been checked, the taken, and the allies have resorted to counter attacks, which have been more or less successful.

Allied Tactics of Nibbling.

Now, on the present evidence, this is a perfect repetition of the allied tactics of "nibbling," which were exemplified at Neuve Chapelle and about St. Mihiel. It is a fight for local advantage, an effort to take a position of real, but local strategic value, and to inflict enormous losses on the opponent by forcing him to make costly counter attacks to regain his lost ground.

The point selected by the Germans for their attack, west of Ypres, instead of east, where they advanced in autumn, is a natural target. Could they actually break through the line here, and were there no line of defence in the rear, they would penetrate between the Belgian and the British, throw the Belgians back upon Dunkirk and roll the English in upon the French at La Bassée.

No Such Advantage Yet.

But in the whole western fighting since the battle of the Aisne opened, neither side has succeeded in any grandiose operation. Roads and rail lines have been the measure of local advantages and momentary successes in piercing first lines has ended in a dead halt before the second or third. Conceivably the Germans have again set out to "back their way thru" Flanders. But the last attempt, with all advantages in their favor, was costly and profitless. A general and sweeping success months later is almost unthinkable.

On the other hand by taking the offensive now the Germans may fairly

OTTAWA, April 26.—The minister of militia today received from the Duke of Connaught the following letter, apropos of the Canadians' part in the fight at Ypres.

"Dear General Hughes—I write to you, as minister of militia, to express to you my deepest sympathy in the heavy losses of valuable lives amongst our first division in the splendid fight they have made at Ypres.

BORE THEIR BURDEN AS CANADA WISHED

GREAT SUPREME TRIAL

Everyone Shares in the Elation Felt in Canadians' Record.

By a Staff Reporter.

OTTAWA, April 26.—The sentiment here today is one of subdued exaltation over the news from Europe. The list of casualties when it is complete may be appalling in the death, wounding or capture of many brave Canadians, but every one's heart beats high because our troops underwent a great and supreme trial in a noble and courageous manner, and in a way that brought credit to those at the front and to those here behind.

Our boys did their best, they faced unflinchingly the German attack, they repelled, they even retired early in the fight they had to temporarily abandon. They bore their share of the empire's burden as Canadians wished they would and as we here knew they would. They gave their lives as others of our nation will do as the fight goes on.

A great empire devoted to liberty and the rights of the smaller nations of Europe is being forged into a solidarity of high purpose, and Canadians are now in the fire that will try our empire and ultimately make greater than ever. That fight for freedom will not fail and the results will be felt and enjoyed hereafter by all Canadians, by all Britons, by all Americans everywhere. What we achieve for ourselves we even achieve for the German nation. That is all worth fighting for and suffering for. So everyone shares in the elation felt in the fighting of last week.

Every-thing possible has been done to pre-vent the spreading of the disease. This is the first case of meningitis to appear at the camp for some weeks. Everything is being done at Niagara camp as soon as they are ready to be transferred to the new camp. In the case of the hospital, this is being transferred as soon as possible, and the first time the fumigation plant will be taken, owing to the earliness of the camp it has been thought ad-visable to have all the tents floor-sterilized by having rushed on with all possible speed.

FIRST NIGHTS AT THE THEATRES

"THE LADY IN RED"
 FINE PRODUCTION
 Vehicle for More Ingenious Novelties Than Have Appeared Lately.

SOLOISTS CAPABLE
 Music is Bright and Tuneful and Above the Average.

"The Lady in Red," which appeared at the Princess last night, serves as the vehicle for more ingenious novelties than have been seen in any similar production lately. An impression of a series of brilliant flashing color scenes remains with one, and the music is sufficiently tuneful and lively above the average, and with an augmented orchestra and some clever scoring, which includes a good deal of very effective writing for the harp, makes the orchestration a feature.

The soloists are capable, and Edward Martindel, who looks like a brother of General Sam Hughes, made a decided hit with his fine, resonant voice, which had its best opportunity in his last song in the third act, "Where is the Girl for Me?" This was enclosed several times, as was his previous one, "My Own California." Mr. Martindel is the human interest element in the piece, and he creates a vivid little picture of the cowboy ideal.

Glenn Hall as the painter, Bruce Vernon has a number of excellent songs which were heartily received. Gertrude Vanderbilt has a soubrette part as Kitty, and abounds in slang and impudence and dancing of a quite sufficiently daring character. Valli Valli as Sylvia Stator, is the heroine of the piece, "The Lady in Red," who is painted in a semi-nude pose by Vernon, from an idealized memory. Her anger at being made a public show leads her to endeavor, with the assistance of Dick, to destroy the picture, but his indignation at her duplicity leads him to sell it to Darius Dirks, a soap manufacturer, who is the comedy element along with Peppins Catania, two characters played by very broad and at times slightly coarse lines by Will Phillips and Josie deal of smart dialog in his part and his clever delivery arouses plenty of laughter.

Valli Valli's songs are highly successful and in her duets with Mr. Hall she was encored repeatedly. "Ships That Pass in the Night," and the picturesque "Visions of the Fireside," proving popular. There was some excellent dancing by Miss Van derbit, Valli Valli, and Edmund de launier in the last act.

The costumes are full of rich color and inventiveness, and the efforts to introduce the colorline effects only serve to show how clumsy and ungraceful that device is in comparison with natural drapings. The color schemes are of extraordinary delicacy, and its constant change produces the most delightful effects. In the last act the gorgeous carnival or masked ball reveals presents a mass of dainty color as delicate in variety as a bed of Iceland poppies.

SOME RIPE COMEDY
 BY PERCY HASWELL
 Happy Combinations of Fun Feature Farce Last Evening.

GIRL IN THE TAXI
 Songs Generously Sprinkled Thruout Very Pleasing Performance.

There is some genuine ripe old comedy developed in Miss Percy Haswell's offering, "The Girl in the Taxi," at the Royal Alexandra Theatre this week. The distribution of the fun and the characterizations in all the important parts are happy and well conceived. Easily the most pleasing life like part is that of Jack Amory as a gray old sports, and his laugh has a very infectious quality.

Working in able conjunction are George Christie and Edward Hayes, both of whose styles are well recognized. The trio in this farce form an excellent combination.

Miss Haswell's playing, of an intriguing and the effect of her acting is enhanced by the wearing of a series of fetching gowns.

Pleasant musical numbers are sprinkled thruout the play. One of these pictured the dialogue of two road cars in a garage.

An innovation of the evening was that of singing a patriotic song by the actor, Harry Taylor, and its reception seemed very cordial.

MISS EMMA BUNTING
 IN "HELP WANTED"

Dainty Little Actress Scores Success at the Grand Opera House.

In "Help Wanted" the offering at the Grand Opera House this week, the girl or woman who has never worked for a salary, and who is thinking of making a wide-angle glimpse of the experiences that come to every woman aspirant for a place in the business world. Does the adoption of business life by a girl or woman diminish her sex attraction or her womanly influence? That is a question the advocates of feminine progress are continually asking, and the negative answer of the woman's suffrage movement from the home will quite as eagerly insist that commercial life does quicken the sense of woman's duty to the world.

The opponents of woman's departure from the home will quite as eagerly insist that commercial life does quicken the sense of woman's duty to the world.

ENDURED THRU TEST

"They have done magnificently," was the comment of Col. H. M. Elliott when asked what he thought of the way the first contingent had acted during the past few days. "I was deeply grieved to hear that the losses have been so heavy, but we must feel grateful that things were not worse. I knew many of the officers whose names have been returned as killed or wounded, and can only say that they were a splendid lot of fellows."

Major H. C. Bickford stated that the first contingent had only done what he expected them to do. "I knew quite a number of the officers, and did not expect anything else when they were put to the test. They were a fine lot of men, and we have cause to be proud of them."

"I feel very proud that they did not get our guns," was the comment of Col. George T. Denison. "That would have been a bad blow. But when they were taken at a disadvantage and then returned for their guns—that is pluck. It is the finest indication of their military spirit. Lieut. Hene Franklin, Caruso, Bert Williams, Kirkpatrick was my grandson. Of the others who died I only knew a few. Col. Birchall was a fine fellow."

OPERATIC SINGER ON SHEA'S PROGRAM
 Orville Harrold is a Tenor With Exceptional Dramatic Temperament and Fine Interpretation.

Operatic singers are not found every day in vaudeville, and seldom a tenor of exceptional dramatic temperament such as Orville Harrold, who this week heads the bill at Shea's. In his number at the initial performance yesterday afternoon, the American tenor proved himself equally competent to interpret the simpler ballad, the dainty selection, "How Ireland Got Its Name," and the old favorite, "Falling in Love With Someone," being both finely interpreted. Mr. Harrold won many rapturous plaudits, and an accompanist of merit.

The one-act oddity billed as "The Meanest Man in the World" is one of the most attractive and best played sketches put on this season. Allan Dinehart, the man in the both, and Marie Louise Dyer, the girl, winning five curtain calls at the close of their altogether human and splendidly played act.

Clever Skating. Terry and Delaney have a really clever skating offering, in which lighted candles and Arctic setting play a part. McLeod and Cart present a banjo and violin novelty, in which they seem to have discovered the secret of perpetual motion. Bradley and Norris offer a mixture of bicycle feats, songs and dancing, and Comfort and King present a satire on the legal profession entitled, "Coon Town Divorces," a skit furnishing many laughable situations with corresponding results.

Maug and Snyder, billed as twentieth century wonders, demonstrate their right to the title in their masterly treatment of a series of extraordinary athletic feats. New war pictures on the kinetograph close a generally good bill.

"PINAFORE" SPLENDIDLY GIVEN. "H.M.S. Pinafore," the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, was given last night at Columbus Hall under the auspices of the Newman Club. Most of the principals had appeared in the opera before, and consequently it was a very creditable offering. Jas. P. Mohan as Dick Deadeye, was very good, and Miss Gertrude Heck as Josephine who made her debut as an amateur, exhibited a splendid voice. E. G. Giblin was the producer of the opera. It will be repeated tonight.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES GOOD ENTERTAINERS
 Low Hilton, Hebrew comedian, and his large cast of American Beauties, given a grand reception by the large audience at the Gaiety Theatre last night. Hilton has a new line of funny sayings and sings several new much applauded with her songs and dances. The Carnes Sisters and Burns, three clever instrumentalists, have a good act. The "Chicken Farm," a song new to the house, gives the large chorus ample opportunity to show their talent. The stage settings are good.

HAWAIIAN MUSICIANS HAVE GOOD NUMBERS
 Headliners on Hipp. Program Display Fine Ability at This Week's Performance.

Hawaiian music of an appealing and refined nature is to be heard this week at Shea's Hippodrome, the offering being by the Royal Hawaiian Sextet. The instrumental work of the entire group is remarkably fine and their soft, pathetic voices were most effective in the various vocal numbers.

The popular Irish entertainers, James E. Donovan and Marie Lee, have a snappy and well arranged program and song hits sharing honors with Miss Lee's charming vocal and clever dance numbers.

Billie, billed as the dancing violinist, is an accomplished artist. A humorous, the ridiculous skit that is the "Honeyless Honeycomb," cut short by the actor being summoned to address a large straggling mass of the vicissitudes of "hobby" in striving to be "boss" afford a quarter of an hour's continual laughter.

Marion and Cumberland, in a bright musical melange, complete the vaudeville numbers, which, with this week's thrilling instalment of "Runaway June," which June meets the artist friend of Byle, make up the bill.

UNUSUAL JUVENILES PLAYING AT LOEW'S
 Seven Youngsters Give Several Impersonations and All Act Well.

An unusual juvenile act is put on at Loew's this week. "The Birthday Party" is the title given it on the program. There are seven youngsters in the act, and all of them give a good account of themselves. They offer impersonations of stage stars, such as Eva Tanguay, Weber and Fields, Hene Franklin, Caruso, Bert Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle. Jack Strousse, a dialect comedian, had some very catchy songs. "Easy Money," a little farce in which a father gets the worst of it thru his own fooling, and loses his daughter and a cool million in the bargain, carries many laughs. Juliette Dike, a late star of "The Honeycomb Express," sings some very snappy songs in French, and the Gasch Sisters close the bill with a refined acrobatic act.

STEAMSHIP TRAFFIC GETS AN EARLY START

Boat Service on Many Lines Will Commence About Middle of May.

Announcement was made yesterday that the boat service to Niagara and Lewiston of the Canada Steamship Lines' steamers will commence on Saturday, May 15. The Corona is ready now, and glitens with a new coat of paint. The Cayuga, the largest boat of the fleet, is being put in trim by a large number of cleaners and painters and in a few days will be ready for service.

It is said that the members of the University of Toronto Officers' Training Corps may go to their camp at Niagara on May 3 via boat, if so they will sail on the Corona.

The big steamship, Bickerdike, Canada Steamship Lines, arrived in Toronto yesterday from Montreal with a cargo of freight, which took eight hours to unload. This is the boat's first trip this year.

HOME IS IN ANCASTER.

The Capt. Clifford referred to in yesterday's casualty list is Capt. E. Dasher, Dolly's lover, and the make-believe aunt, was extremely funny. Miss Edith St. George was delightful in the role of Dolly. As the maiden aunt, Mrs. Arthur Hills gave a splendid character impersonation. Miss Marjory Gray and Ward Price were amusing in the roles of the real butler and maid, while Miss Annie Allen and Harold Rich, as the master and mistress, furnished many funny situations in their endeavors to behave as servants. Miss Lelia Auger and Douglas Gray, as a pair of lovers, billed and cooed in realistic fashion, while "Toby" as Toby was the most natural actor in the cast and behaved like a perfect dog.

The musical numbers which were interpolated into the piece were the most enjoyable part of the performance. "D.D.D." will be repeated tonight and on Wednesday night, and a visit will be well repaid by an evening of solid enjoyment.

At Boulogne, France, a Canadian Red Cross office has been established under the direction of Captain Baylock, assistant commissioner. The society has purchased one lorry for the purpose of conveying supplies to the various hospitals in France, and another lorry was donated by Mr. Conrod.

HYDRO ASKS FOR TIME

Commission Wants to Postpone Payment of Its Liabilities.

The Toronto Hydro Commission has asked for more time in which to pay its liabilities to the city. Up to December of last year the hydro received from the city $6,119,292, and the capital expenditure up to that time was $5,282,515, leaving a balance of $836,777. The total liability to the city to Dec. 31 last was $987,453, made up of interest and debentures, sinking fund instalments and interest on arrears. The working capital amounted to $1,063,282, less current liabilities, making it $854,596. The report presented to the board of control yesterday shows that there is a depreciation reserve amounting to $449,506, which is available either for extension of plant or for investment in working capital.

That a memorial service be held in Massey Hall next Sunday, is the suggestion of Mayor Church. "The heroic conduct of the Canadians was worthy of the highest traditions of the British army," said the mayor. The question of the memorial service will be taken up with the officers of the military and the board of control today.

The city council moved out to Catfish Pond yesterday in order that each member could size up for himself the deplorable condition of the pond, and what some conclusion as to what should be done. The matter will be dealt with in council when the estimates are being considered, as what is done will require an added expenditure which will have to be included in the year's expenditure.

A prominent legal firm has written to the property committees, setting out that the present court accommodation in the city hall is far too small, especially in the non-jury courts, and suggesting that court rooms be provided in the new registry office on Elizabeth street. The letter has arrived somewhat late, however, as the registry office building is well under way and cannot now be changed without considerable added expense.

Mayor Church, Mayor Stevenson of London, and T. J. Hannigan, secretary of the Ontario Hydro-Electrical Association, had a conference yesterday afternoon, in reference to the opening of the first municipally owned hydro railway, which will run from London to Fort Stanley. The opening ceremonies will be held in the new registry office on Elizabeth street. The letter has arrived somewhat late, however, as the registry office building is well under way and cannot now be changed without considerable added expense.

The first electrical inspection department, over which there has been some talk in the city hall, is proving to be a most satisfactory undertaking. During operations covering only a month and a half, the surplus revenue has been $1800, and the way is being made for the department to increase promises to make the average monthly surplus for the year much greater.

Commissioner Harris is busy preparing data in connection with the Lansdowne civic car line, and specifications of the cars are being made ready.

The abattoir smells in West Toronto are not being kept down as it was hoped they would be. Dr. Hastings is watching the odors closely, and unless there is an immediate improvement he purposes asking the legal department for an injunction.

For the purpose of insuring the balance of the Toronto members of the second contingent, a deputation of civic officials will go to New York on Wednesday.

Transplanting the Early Pinks

It is always best to do this work as early as possible, so that a long season of continuous bloom is obtained. These early Scotch and June Pinks (there are many dozens of different varieties) are such satisfactory performers that I can never find out why more gardeners do not make them permanent inmates of the garden. Old friends are always the best, the most beloved and the most dependable, and as far as these lovely tufted-blossoms are concerned, they are increasingly lovely as the years go by.

If you took care to heel the soil up well around the plants before the frosts set in, and kept them well mulched during the winter, you should have some good bushes now, to start out with. If you did not take these precautions, you will find some wobbly and rather useless specimens on your hands, and these will have to be nursed up well, if bloom is desired this summer. Plants are just exactly like babies; they've got to be looked after and fed and kept warm, and so on, and if you don't do your duty by them you can't expect to have successful gardens, any more than you can expect to have satisfactory children. You mustn't coddle them to death, but you must help them out all you can.

And I don't really know any personal tales that respond so wonderfully to ordinary care as do these tufted pinks.

Right now you have got to get down on your hands and knees and fix them up around the soil, and make them so brittle, the tops snap off—winter killed! You will find some turned out of the earth, and Mr. Earthworm has been trying to pull that one in after him, bodily—transplanted too late last fall! You will find some that have grown thick and branchy during winter, and just ready to fill apart if you touch the sprawly tuft, not sufficiently covered and heeled up last fall! And perhaps you will find some snug and firm in front, already sending up small and stout young spear-like blades. Good!

They will take some looking after to get a successful and new stock, but you have enough to start on. Use up these last ones well, you can see little as possible, and transplant some where else, only being careful to plant them deep in the soil, and to water them deep and cultivate well the soil around the roots, every time you get a minute to spare from the other job, to keep well watered, all the time!

Now those sprawly ones; pull them apart from the central root. You will be able perhaps to make five or six new plants from those wobbly looking bunches, and plant deep in the soil, in about four days the soil will be new, fine with threadlike roots, and if you cultivate constantly, and water constantly, these will bloom almost as soon as those others mentioned. As for the others, plant deep all the likely looking shoots, keep well heeled up with fine soil, keep well watered, and the earth firm, and the plants, but not hard—and live in hope! Things may happen. Do not give up hope.

OAKVILLE AND HAMILTON

Giddings and Hendrie Horses Arrive at Woodbine—Breeding Notes and Trials

Early spring, the weather and a fast track have drawn the Canadian stables to the Woodbine earlier this year than in the past few seasons.

For the first time in several years there is only one two-year-old with the string.

This year's plate candidates, Harry Bassett II, h.g. 2, by Bassettlaw-Honey, and Oscar, h.g. 2, by Bassettlaw-Honey, are a shifty-looking pair.

The other horses in the Hendrie stable are Errol, Patsy, Skipper Day, and six two-year-olds—Water Dawn, Fair Orin, Sogus, Good Shot, Scotch Grouse and Onda.

George Walker will bring down the dymon horses, which are eight in number, some time next week.

The track was muddy yesterday morning, but the footing was firm, and several of the trainers sent their stables along.

The two-year-olds, Rockhorn, Peep, Eight, Thorncliffe and Typhoon went three-eighths in 32 1/2.

Ben Stone and Abevance worked three-eighths in 32 1/2.

Fountain Fay, a mile in 1:55.

John Nixon worked Charlie Miller's three platers.

Word was received with great regret at the track yesterday by local horsemen of the death of Leonard Ogden, formerly secretary of the O.C.C., and predecessor of Mr. W. P. Fraser.

LAW LAID DOWN TO RAILWAY COMPANY

Peremptory Order to Begin Construction Work Issued by Board.

In spite of the protests of the Toronto Street Railway that financial conditions will not permit of construction of new lines, the Ontario Railway Board yesterday ordered that certain new work be started on Friday, and that it be completed by Aug. 1, and reference is to the proposed lines on Ossington avenue, Hallam and Dufferin streets, and an expenditure of $75,000 is involved.

The judgment followed a final hearing of the matter on Friday last, when Manager R. J. Fleming and H. S. Oster, K.C., argued vigorously against being forced to undertake the contract.

The work planned consists of double track along Ossington avenue, from Dufferin to Hallam, along Hallam to Dufferin, along Dufferin to Leppin, and thence to Lansdowne avenue. The city is prepared to co-operate at once with their grading gangs.

EXPECT RUSSIANS TO ROUT ENEMIES

Gen. Smith-Dorrien Tells First Contingent Slavs Will Turn Tide.

"I would not say that the war will end this month nor would I say that it will end next month, but I have it on authority that the war will not last another winter." Such was the cheerful prophecy Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien, in command of the army corps, of which the first Canadian division is a part made to the 3rd Brigade of Canadian Highlanders, after reviewing this body of men on the morning of April 10, just a few days prior to their marching to the trenches, probably near Ypres, a distance of 17 miles. This information appears in a letter written by Sir Horace to the command of the 15th Highlanders to his parents.

"We are carrying on a campaign of the passive type at present," said the general in his letter. "The enemy have ceased to assume the aggressive and content themselves with responding to our attacks. We will therefore continue to snuff and annoy the enemy."

"In this theatre of war, a comparatively small force can hold the enemy with one flank running to a neutral country and the other flank into the sea. In the eastern theatre it is likely that our allies will be successful in closing in on the flanks of the enemy."

Sir Horace also made several comments of a complimentary nature about the Canadians. "When I was told that the Canadians were to be a part of the Second Army, which I command, I was afraid of a few things, but these have been entirely removed from my mind now. The splendid appearance of your men tells me that they take pride in their appearance and smartness. My old friend, General Alderson, who fought beside me in South Africa, tells me that the discipline of the beginning is excellent and that answered the greatest question regarding the infantry. Then I wondered if your artillery would measure up to the requirements of this portion of the firing line, and so to satisfy myself, I had one of my officers who has been in charge of an artillery division since the beginning of the war, visit your artillery for several days. He reported to me that the Canadian artillery was magnificent, and that I need have no fear of their ability."

While under my command in South Africa.

"The inspection was held between two hills with the spring foliage and green crops giving it a wonderful setting. The letter continues, 'As far as one could see, the country looked a veritable garden. Dotted here and there the old Dutch windmills sailed around, much as one sees in quaint freescos. On the road to our right motors carrying imperial and French officers to and from headquarters, hustled along. Away about five miles the guns were grumbling, possibly sending a few conch boxes over the next lot of trenches we are to occupy.'

"Every one is optimistic and with the warmth of the spring sun and the lengthening days we are enjoying France during the rest period. We are to be here a few days more before our next move."
