The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

THE accompanying work, compiled and edited by a Committee of Graduates and Undergraduates of the University of Toronto, is offered to the University public and to the musical world as a comprehensive, and, in many respects, a unique collection of College Songs.

Its design is two-fold,—to meet the requirements of the University College Glee Club and of the undergraduate body, and to be a suitable collection for use in the drawing-room and around the camp-fire.

All the music in the book has been carefully edited by Mr. Theodore Martens, of whose thorough and painstaking services the Committee desire to make especial mention. Wherever necessary or desirable, songs have been re-harmonized, transposed or arranged for male voices, and—a special feature of the work—nearly all choruses have been arranged with parts suitable for college and general use. Great economy in the disposal of space, and the almost entire use of the short score, have made it possible to include an unusually large number of songs. Among them will of course be found many, original, or peculiar to the University of Toronto, that have never before appeared in any permanent or accessible form. Numerous German songs, for which translations have been specially written, will be particularly serviceable and acceptable. To give added interest to the collection and greater permanence to its value, a large amount of standard music has been included, while many valuable copyright songs have been purchased, or are used by special permission.

The Committee desire to express their cordial thanks to the President and Faculty, to the Graduates and Undergraduates of the University, and to many others less intimately connected with the College, for the assistance generously afforded them in the prosecution of their work.

For permission to reprint certain copyright songs, the Committee and the Publishers acknowledge their obligations to John Farmer, Esq., Balliol College, Oxford; to Messrs. Chappell & Co., Messrs. Robert Cocks & Co., Mr. Edwin Ashdown, Messrs. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Mr. John Blockley, of London, England; and to Messrs. A. & S. Nordheimer, of Toronto.

The Compilation Committee and the Publishers, Messrs. I. Suckling & Sons, have made every endeavour to discover the authors and owners of all songs in the work. Should any cases have eluded their vigilance, the Publishers ask the kind indulgence of those whose permission would gladly have been sought.

4. Français! en guerriers magnanimes,
L'ortie de retenez vos coups;
Épargnez les tristes victimes,
A regret s'armant contre nous;
Mais le despote sanguinaire,
Mais les complices de Bouillé—
Tous ces tigres qui sans pitié
Déchirent le sein de leur mère.
Aux armes, etc.

5. Amour sacré de la patrie,
Conduits; soutiens nos bras vengeurs.
Liberté, Liberté chérie,
Combats avec tes défenseurs;
Sous nos drapeaux que la victoire
Accours à tes dards accents,
Que tes ennemis expirants,
Voyent ton triomphe et notre gloire.
Aux armes, etc.

2. With luxury and pride surrounded,
The vile, insatiate despots dare,
Their thirst of gold and power unbanded,
To mete and vend the light and air.
Like beams of burden would they load us—
Like gods would bid their slaves adore—
But man is man—and who is more?
Then shall they longer lash and goad us?
To arms, etc.

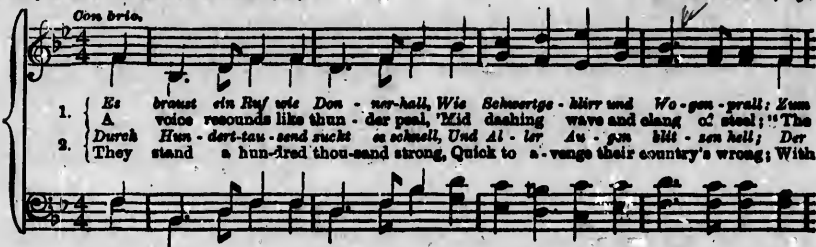

3. Oh liberty! can man resign thee,
Once having felt thy generous flame?
Can dungeons, bolts and bars confine thee,
Or whips thy noble spirit tame?
Too long the world has wept, bewailing
That falsehood's dagger tyrants wield—
But freedom is our sword and shield,
And all their arts are unavailing.
To arms, etc.

His breast with pity burned;
The large round head upon his cane,
From ivory was turned. 4. Kind words he ever had for all,
He knew no base design;
His eyes were dark and rather small,
His nose was aquiline. 5. He lived at peace with all mankind,
In friendship he was true;
His coat had pocket-holes behind,
His pantaloons were blue. 6. Unharm'd, the sin which earth pollutes,
He pass'd securely o'er,
And never wore a pair of boots,
For thirty years or more. | 7. But good old Grimes is now at rest,
Nor fears misfortune's frown;
He wore a double-breasted vest,—
The stripes ran up and down. 8. He modest merit sought to find,
And give it its desert,
He had no malice in his mind,
No ruffles on his shirt. 9. His neighbors he did not abuse,
Was sociable and gay,
He wore nor lefts nor rights for shoes,
And changed them every day. 10. His knowledge, hid from public gaze,
He did not bring to view,
He made a noise town-meeting days
As many people do. |

His peaceful moments ran,

1. Ye blooming freshman dons his gown,
And walks ye earth with awful frown.
He sees ye maidens' glances sly,
And rolleth his magnetic eye.
2. He's brought before ye Mufti's throne,
'Mid sulphurous smokes and muffled groan,
'Mid red-hot brands and boiling tar,
He scenteth danger from afar.
3. Ye spikes out deep, ye race is run,
He rides ye chariot of yo sun,
Ye brake is put on Ixion's wheel,
L'Inferno's inmost caverns reel.
4. Ye ritual he chanteth now,
Dread Lucifers attend his vow;
Ye sounds die 'way, ye ordeals cease,
"Ad iustitias thrones."
5. As tiniest voice from tiniest star,
Or monkish monotone afar,
Ye freshman's shattered accents rise,
Ye mask is lifted from his eyes.
6. To 'Varsity men this tale I speak,
For making men and killing cheek,
Stick up for your formalities,
"Ad iustitias thrones."

THE FRESHMAN'S VERSION.

N. H. ROSS, '37.

1. Ye 'Varsity man has doffed his gown,
He wields a stick, but wears no frown
He sings about ye freshman's cheek,
But on him vengeance we will wreak.
2. L'Inferno's caverns are his hall,
L'Inferno's lord is at his call,
He sits upon l'Inferno's throne,
And thinks he bears ye freshman's groan.
3. Ye 'Varsity men assemble 'round,
With silence awful and profound,
And judgment give in words like these—
"Ad iustitias thrones."
4. Ye minions scour earth's utmost zone,
And seize ye freshman when alone,
He's brought unto ye 'Varsity cells,
'Mid torturing jeers and miscreant yells.
5. Ye freshman rise with one accord,
And break ye ranks of that vile horde,
They burst ye 'Varsity's flimsy chain,
And bear ye prisoner back again.
6. To freshman all "this tale I speak,"
For quelling those who'd kill our cheek,
Down with all informalities,
"Ad conservandas thrones."

3. I shipped as cook and steward, me byes,
 Fur divil a cint I had;
 I said good-bye to Mary Ann,
 And was feelin' purty bad.
 As I said good-bye to Mary Ann,
 And set me face to the west,
 I heard the engineer remark
 That the horse was doin' his best.

4. The first time that I seen the ship,
 She lay in Teraulay street canal;
 She was tall, an' large, an' beautiful,
 Forgit her shape I niver shall.
 Oh, the captain he wore a large straw hat,
 Knee-breeches, and a body-coat blue;
 Arrah, bedad! the byes all said, he'd make a fine
 figger-head
 Fur to ornament The Bugaboo.

5. Oh, the engineer he went asleep
 As he sat aboard the mule;
 And the second mate called out to him
 "Arrah, turn the orank, you fool!"
 The second mate hollered and swore, me byes,
 Till he split the back of his vest;
 And the engineer woke up, and replied
 That the horse was doin' his best.

6. We soon weighed anchor, an' set sail
 Fur to plough the ragin' surf;
 We wuz bound for the bog of Allaghen
 For to git a load of turf.
 We sailed all night until we reached
 The back of Richmond Barracks so true;
 And the gallant Eighty-Sixth fired a royal salute of bricks
 At the captain of The Bugaboo.

7. Then the captain piped all hands on deck,
 Fur to answer the salute;
 And he grabbed ahold of a marlin' spike
 And the second mate's left-hand boot.
 He throwed the boot so straight, me byes,
 That he hit the mule on the ohest;
 And the engineer re-mon-strated
 That the horse was doin' his best.

8. Nine years we sailed, when a storm arce,
 The canal rose mountine high;
 Oh, the lightnin' flashed, and the thunder roiled,
 An' lit the dark blue sky.
 The second mate he gev orders
 Fur to lower the eail an' clew;
 An' the captain down below, lyin' smokin' in his berth,
 Got fire to The Bugaboo.

9. Then the mule took fright an' run away,
 An' left the crew afloat;
 The mate he shouted to the engineer
 Fur to come and save the boat.
 But the mule was gittin' along, me byes,
 An' his tail was headin' for the west;
 And the engineer called out quite loud
 That the horse was doin' his best.

10. When the captain seen what he had done,
 He loud for help did shout;
 An' he hollered up troo' the chimney hole
 Fur the helmsman fur to come and put it out.
 But the helmsman he was fast asleep,
 An' to his post untrue;
 An' the fire burned so hard in the middle of the turf,
 Bedad, we couldn't save The Bugaboo.

11. Oh, the fire it burned so hard, me byes,
 That it burned the towin'-ropes;
 And the mule he throwed the engineer,
 Who tumbled down the slope.
 The captain called to the engineer
 Fur to give the mule a rest;
 And the engineer replied from the bank
 That the horse was doin' his best.

12. When forty thousand miles from land,
 In latitude fifty-four,
 Oh, the fire it burned so hard, me byes,
 That it couldn't burn any more;
 The captain he then gev orders—
 "Lower (ad lib.) the boats an' save the crew!"

Tune—"JINGLE, BELLS."

J. D. SPENCE, '89.

1. Come youths and maidens all,
Just listen while I tell,
Of a Varsity undergrad,
And what to him befel.
He was a merry lad,
And laughing all the day,
For thus it was he strove
To drive dull care away.

Chorus.

Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!
Laughing all the day,
Oh! what fun it is to laugh,
And drive dull care away. (Bis)

2. But one bright day there came
A maiden to the college:
Her face was full of charms,
Her head was full of knowledge,
He looked and looked again
Upon the lovely sight;
He watched her all the day,
And dreamt of her all night.
Chorus.—Ha! Ha! Ha! &c.

3. And so it came to pass
She stole his heart away;
He grew quite thin and pale,
And pined the livelong day.
He worse and worse did grow,
Until—most awful doom,
The skeleton he became
In the Biology room.

Chorus.

Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!
Laughing all the day,
Oh! what fun it is to laugh,
And drive dull care away. (Bis)

4. And should you chance to tread
At midnight's solemn hour,
Along the passage dread
Of the western corridor,
You'll hear a gruesome sound,
Your hair will stand with fear,
'Tis the skeleton's voice profound,
In accents hoarse and drear.
Chorus.—Ha! Ha! Ha! &c.

A TALE OF TWO IDLES.

Two—"THE SPANISH GUITAR."

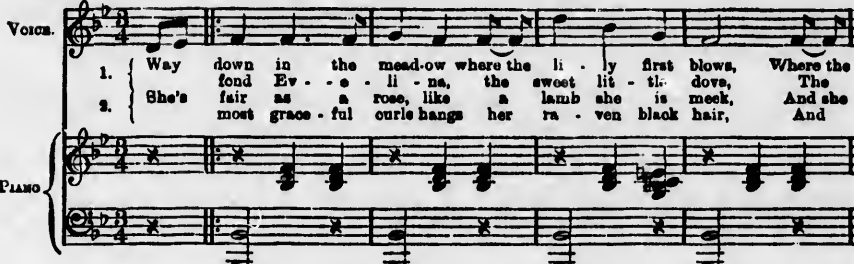

Words by MADGE R. ROBERTSON, '99.

1. Now we'll sing you a song of two idles,
Who idled by night and by day; ding dong;
Who idled round "Varsity" precincts
One year from October to May; ding dong.
- Chorus (very slowly).
Ding dong ding, ding dong ding, toll out ye bells!
Oh, toll out ye bells! oh, toll out ye bells!
Ding dong ding, ding dong ding, toll out ye bells!
As we chant this most doleful refrain; ding dong.
2. They "posed" idly about at the doorway,
Waiting letters—nay, duns, we should say; ding
dong;
And ogled the girls, who, in passing,
Could see but a tattered array; ding dong.
Chorus—Ding dong ding, etc.

3. Sometimes they strolled into a lecture
To idle an hour away; ding dong;
Next, dinner took up all attention,
Then football the rest of the day; ding dong.
Chorus—Ding dong ding, etc.
4. They idled through divers flirtations,
And idled at last into love; ding dong;
But alas for the charms of our idles,
Their idols most faithless did prove; ding, dong,
Chorus—Ding dong ding, etc.
5. Then last, idly fell in a "fixed system,"
A piece of red ribbon and blue; ding dong;
Went up on a "complex idea,"
And to life bid a last fond adieu; ding dong.
Chorus—Ding dong ding, etc.

THE LANDLADY'S DAUGHTER.

Translation by JAS. EDMUND JONES, '82.

|--|--|
| 1. Three students that came from far over the Rhine,
Once stopped at the door of an inn for some wine. 2. "Kind landlady, have you good wine I pray?
And where is your charming young daughter to-day?" 3. "My beer and my wine are refreshing and clear.
In her heavenly home is my daughter so dear." 4. And when they stepped into the chamber of death,
They gazed on the maiden and each held his breath. 5. The veil from her face the first drew aside,
And looked at her sadly, and mournfully cried: | 6. "Ah! didst thou but live, oh maiden so pure!
From this very moment I'd love thee, I'm sure." 7. The veil o'er her face the second one drew,
And wept as he turned from the sorrowful view. 8. "Alas, that thou thus liest dead on thy bier!
For thee I have loved since many a year." 9. The third moved again the veil from its place,
And bent o'er the form, and kissed the pale face. 10. "Thee always I loved, thee love I to-day,
And thee shall I love for ever and aye." |

2. Dynamic forces ne'er can move
Th' ecstatic zero of my soul,
No calculus compute its love,
Nor optic powers discern the whole,
Though squared and cubed, no lapse of years
Can e'er her fond remembrance drown,
Nay though they numbered thrice the tears
She mended in my College Gown
3. No language can express her charms,
No living tongue her virtues tell;
Her name the poet's pen disarms,
And dares his powers to break the spell.
Nor would he, if he could, disclose
That name in every language known,
'Tis stated best in English prose—
She mended my old College Gown.
4. Philosophy perchance may please
The earnest and enquiring mind
But neither mighty Socrates
Nor Cicero himself could find
A secret that in ages past
Baffled sages of renown.
The summun bonum—found at last!
She mended my old College Gown.
5. Great wonders Science brings to light,
Great truths her growing powers unfold,
And Nature spreads before our sight
A thousand beauties new and old.
Yet one o'er all I still prefer,
Who in her Kingdom wears the crown,
The world were empty wanting her
Who mended my old College Gown.

He is a blood among the Sheenies, beloved by one and all,

PORK, BEANS, AND HARD-TACK;

A REBELLION SONG.

SOLOMON LEVI.

1. Our volunteers are soldiers bold, so say the people all,
When duty calls they spring to arms, responsive to the call,
With outfits old and rotten clothes ill-fitted for the strife,
They leave their home on starving pay to take the nichies' life.

CHORUS.

Pork, beans and hard-tack, tra la la la, etc.,
Poor hungry soldier, tra la la, etc.
In rags we march the prairie, most eager for the fray,
But when we near the enemy, they always run away.
As Corporation labourers with fat-i-gue each day,
We dig and scrape and hoe and rake for fifty cents a day.

2. Faint, cold and weary, we're packed on an open car,
Cursing our fate and grumbling as soldiers ever are,
Hungry and thirsty, over the C.P.R. we go
Instead of by the all-rail route—Detroit and Chicago.—Chorus.
3. On half cooked beans and fat pork we're fed without relief,
Save when we get a change of grub on hard-tack and corn beef.
On fat-i-gue and guards all day, patrols and pickets by night,
It's thus we while our time away, our duty seems ne'er to fight.
4. Down the wild Saskatchewan in river boats we go,
At last we reach Lake Winnipeg and are taken by a tug in tow.
On board a barge two regiments are shoved into the hold,
Like sardines in a box we're packed, six hundred men all told.
5. Down the length of Winnipeg Lake we roll throughout the night,
And on we're towed along the Lake till Selkirk is in sight,
We disembark in double quick time, we once more board a train.
We're on our way for Winnipeg, we're getting near home again.
6. The ladies of our city are noble dames you know,
And helped us in our woe when grub was very low,
We cannot thank them as we ought for every kindness done,
But we say it from our inmost souls their goodness our hearts has won.

2. Her mouth it was like a—och! sure I can't tell,
 But when'er she spoke through it a sound like a bell
 Went a ringin' and dingin' straight into my soul,—
 Sure a swate little mouth was that same little hole.
3. Her skin it was whiter than newly-laid milk,
 And softer by far than the softest of silk;
 Her complexion indade was so clear and so fair
 You could see through her face all the roots of her hair.
4. Her lips an' her cheeks had an exquisite tint,
 So rich and so rare, by the angels 'twas lint;
 Arrah! naught could compare with her blushes so red,
 When she walked in the garden the roses dropped dead.
5. Her hair was so fine that it couldn't be felt,
 An' so much like the sunshine you'd think it would melt;
 Oh! it glistened an' dazzled, I'm tellin' no lies,
 That to take a look at it you'd shut both your eyes.
6. Her neck an' each shoulder, each arm an' each hand,
 Made her fit for a fairy queen holdin' a wand;
 Arrah! she was so deservin' of fairy-like things,
 I'm not sure but I think she had nice little wings.
7. Her teeth were like pearls strung out in two rows,
 Between luscious cherries right under her nose;
 They formed a nate fence round such nice private grounds,
 Where a sharp teasing tongue never stayed within bounds.
8. Her breath was as pure as a babe's or a dove's
 That milky-like breath that a spoony man loves,
 'Twas the clarified essence of nectar an' dew,
 An' sugar an' honey made into a stew.
9. For a word or a smile from my paragon Peg
 I'd cut off my head, or I'd saw off my leg;
 And as for a kiss from her lips fresh and swate,
 'Twould so fill me with joy as to intoxicate.
10. I cooed an' I wooed her a year an' a day,
 An' I asked her to marry me quick straight away.
 Oh! she laughed in my face sayin', "Larry, me boy,
 I'm engaged to be married to Mickey McCoy!"
11. Then I threw myself under a willow tree,
 An' I blubbered an' bawled till I scarcely could see.
 Why didn't I ask when I first crossed her door
 If she'd e'er teen engaged or married before?

NOTE.—As the soloist reaches the climax of the swell in the last measure, the chorus, démouand-é-é-é, turn on their heels and scatter in all directions, thus illustrating the peculiar dis-away dissipation of sound characteristic of the bag-pipes. Meanwhile the soloist, holding his note, stands facing the audience, and puts an added volume of twang into his finish, as though he had, with an effort, squeezed his bag flat.

 Days full of pleasure without stint or measure,—
 Days when the hours were like birds on the wing,
 These were our blessing, when, ardent possessing,

CHORUS.

Sail, sail, my bark ca-noe, O'er Jo-seph's wa-ters blue! Haste to the kind end true,

SAIL, SAIL, MY BARK CANOE.

Ere daylight's o'er..... Sail, sail, my skiff so light! Sail, sail, for the land's in sight; And the camp-fire throws its ruddy light A-long the rocky shore!

The musical score consists of two systems. Each system has a vocal line (treble clef) and a piano accompaniment (grand staff). The first system includes the lyrics: "Ere daylight's o'er..... Sail, sail, my skiff so light! Sail, sail, for the". The second system includes the lyrics: "land's in sight; And the camp-fire throws its ruddy light A-long the rocky shore!".

3. In the mellow gloaming
Rings our dinner bell;
Weary with our roaming,
We like the sound full well.
And when we've done our dining,
In kilmarnocks bright
Round the fire reclining,
We spend a jolly night.

4. Or should skies most glorious,
Tempt once more to stray,
Moonbeams dancing o'er us,
Light each rock-bound bay;
Maidens fair, with eyes of light,
Freight our shallops frail;
And far beneath the Queen of Night
We merrily sing and sail.

JOHNNY SCHMOKER.

In this song, an old German musician tells his friend, Johnny Schmoker, about the instruments upon which he can play, and describes them by motions while he sings. The motions are made only when the words describing the instruments are sung, as, for example, at "Rub, a dub, a dub," the roll of the drum is imitated, beginning—as in the case of all the instruments—with the first and ending exactly with the last word. At "Pilly, willy, wink," the hands are placed as if playing the fife, and only the fingers move; at "Tie, knock, knock," the right hand strikes three times under the left, as if playing the triangle; at "Bom, bom, bom," the hand is moved forward and back, as if playing the trombone; and so on to the last, which is imitated by crooking both arms and striking with them against the sides, as if playing the bagpipe.

REVELRY OF THE DYING.

Written by a British officer in India, at a time when the plague was hourly sweeping off his companions. He did not long survive his wonderful production.

Air.—"AWAY WITH MELANCHOLY"

1. We meet 'neath the sound - ing raf - ter, And the walls a - round are bare, As they shout to our peals of laugh - ter, It seems that the dead are there.

But stand to your glasses, stea - dy! We drink to our comrades' eyes, Quaff a cup to the dead al - rea - dy, And hur - rah! for the next that dies.

2. Not a sigh for the lot that darkles ;
Not a tear for the friends that sink ;
We'll fall 'midst the wine-cup's sparkles,
As mute as the wine we drink.
So stand to your glasses, steady !
'Tis this that respite buys ;
One cup to the dead already ;
Hurrah ! for the next that dies.

3. There's a mist on the glass congealing ;
'Tis the hurricane's fiery breath ;
And thus does the warmth of feeling
Turn ice in the grasp of death.
Ho ! stand to your glasses, steady !
For a moment the vapour flies ;
A cup to the dead already ;
Hurrah ! for the next that dies.

4. Who dreads to the dust returning ?
Who shrinks from the sable shore ?
Where the high and haughty yearning
Of the soul shall sting no more.
Ho ! stand to your glasses, steady !
The world is a world of lies ;
A cup to the dead already ;
Hurrah ! for the next that dies.

5. Cut off from the land that bore us,
Betrayed by the land we find,
Where the brightest have gone before us,
And the dullest remain behind.
Stand ! stand to your glasses, steady !
'Tis all we have left to prize ;
A cup to the dead already,
And hurrah ! for the next that dies.

SPEED AWAY!

Among the superstitions of the Senecas is one which for its singular beauty is somewhat well known. When a maiden dies, they imprison a young bird until it first begins to try its powers of song, and then, loading it with kisses and caresses, they loose its bonds over her grave, in the belief that it will not fold its wings nor close its eyes, until it has flown to the spirit land, and delivered its precious burden of affection to the loved and lost. "It is not unfrequent," says an Indian historian, "to see twenty or thirty birds set loose at once over the grave."

Thus one more day slips by;
So home again returning,

Dann zieh' ich von der Heide

LE DRAPEAU DE CARILLON.

At Carillon (now Ticonderoga), on Lake Champlain, Montreal in 1758 drove back the English forces under General Abercrombie. A French soldier, after a vain attempt to rouse his nation to a sense of the danger in which their possessions on this continent were placed, returns to the scene of his former victory, and is supposed there to give utterance to the words of the song.

 Of thy great deeds shall ne'er fade or grow less,
 And 'twixt death's shall last my deep affection,
 Guarding my flag I come to perish here.

4. Thrice happy they to whom by fate 'twas given
 'Mid the brave throng near Levi's height to die,
 For them the cloud by onegad ray was risen,
 Glory could sweeten their sad destiny.
 Ye who now slumber till the great awaking,
 On whom I call with dying accents clear,
 Awake! my banner in my hand I'm taking,
 Upon your graves I come to perish here.
