SIR A. PEARSON IS DROWNED IN BATH

Slipped, Striking His Head on Faucet.

Founder of Pearson's Weekly and London Express—Blind Himself, He Helped Many So Afflicted.

(Canadian Press Cable)
London, Dec. 9.—Sir Arthur Pearson is dead as the result of an accident at his home here. While in his bath he slipped, striking his head against a faucet. Stunned, he fell into the water and was drowned before aid could reach him.
Cyril Arthur Pearson was born Feb. 24, 1866, the son of the late Sir Arthur Pearson, of Springfield, Chelmsford, and was made a baronet in 1916. He was one of the outstanding publicists in England until his eyesight completely failed in 1914.
He founded Pearson's Weekly and other well known publications among which probably the best known is the Daily Express of London. Another of his properties which he acquired by purchase was the London Standard, which he consolidated with the St. James Gazette. He disposed of this property following his affliction.
At the time of his death Sir Arthur was president of the National Institute for the Blind, and during the Empire war he organized measures for the benefit of blinded soldiers and sailors. Early in 1919 he visited America in connection with this work. He was also the founder of St. Dunstan's Hostel for Blind Soldiers in London.

NO TOBOGGAN RIDING ON SUNDAY

Toronto Park Commissioner Opposed to Any Change in Order.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—There will be no slides or other forms of organized open recreation on Sunday during this winter. The decision rests with Parks Commissioner Chambers. An excellent place for young people on Sunday is at church, he said at a meeting of the Engineering Institute, in which he referred to representations which have already been made to allow the use of toboggan slides on Sunday.
The slides have been closed on Sunday every season for the last eight years. Some representations, not very open of strength, have been put forward that this be changed. The commissioner said his personal opinion was opposed to operation on Sunday. He urged the necessity of combating tendencies which were frivolous and dangerous.

Is Not Likely To Effect Plans For Parliament Session

DeValera's Reputation of Irish Agreement at Variance With Irish Press Opinion and General Acceptance of the Terms of Settlement.

(Canadian Press Cable)
London, Dec. 9.—The reputation by Eamon De Valera of the agreement reached between the British and Irish plenipotentiaries for the establishment of the Irish Free State and the resultant split in the Dail Eireann have completely overshadowed all other developments of the situation.
The receipt of this news immediately raised two important questions—What will be the outcome of the division among the Irish leaders as to the agreement? What effect will the situation in South Ireland have upon the British government's attitude and the opening of the imperial parliament for consideration of the agreement?
The best opinion is that the split among the Dail leaders will not affect the plans for the opening of parliament. The agreement was made between the British government and plenipotentiaries representing the Dail Eireann, and it will be placed before the House of Commons and the House of Lords as such agreement in the king's name.
Then, after Lloyd George in the lower house and Lord Birkenhead in the upper house, have explained and supported the agreement. A brief statement will be taken to await the vote of the Dail Eireann, which will meet on the same day, next Wednesday.
The ratification of the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain will be moved at the Dail Eireann meeting on Wednesday by Arthur Griffiths as chairman of the plenipotentiaries, so it was announced today by Mr. De Valera, in a statement issued by the Dail publicity department. It would not be moved as a cabinet decision, added the statement.

IRISH PAPERS FOR THE AGREEMENT

Dublin, Dec. 9.—The Freeman's Journal commenting on the split of the Dail Eireann, says that the men who represented Ireland in the conference demand, and we cordially support their demand, that Irish people who are signed and trusted in the appointment of these gentlemen as the spokesmen of the nation, should now support them to the fullest extent.
The Irish Times says:—The country will read with deep interest the statement Mr. De Valera has issued. As the skillful and patient negotiators and plenipotentiaries justified the faith placed in them, the whole of the Nationalist press, and we believe that Irish people who are signed and trusted in the appointment of these gentlemen as the spokesmen of the nation, should now support them to the fullest extent.

TRYING TO CHECK DISORDERS IN THE PACKERS' STRIKE

Injunction of Court Disregarded—Moonshine Liquor Factor in Chicago Fight.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Extra precautions to prevent recurrence of disorders were taken by authorities in several of the large packing centers of the middle west today, following the spread of rioting here by strike sympathizers to other parts of the country.
An injunction against the meat cutters' union was ordered here by Judge Sullivan on petition of twenty packers, including Swift & Co. and nineteen of the smaller plants. This injunction ordered that picketing cease, but according to the authorities, it was disregarded by the strikers and strike sympathizers.
Moonshine liquor was said to be a big factor in the fight here. Twenty prohibition enforcement officers are working in the area about the stock yards, hunting for moonshine stills.
The Daily Mirror, in an editorial written before receipt of the De Valera message, refers to rumors of hostilities and expresses doubt as to whether he is able, in any event, to disturb the settlement. It is no secret that the newspaper, "while his telegram to the Pope was an almost fatal blunder which is unforgotten."
Meanwhile the attitude of Ulster is awaited with interest, Sir James Craig (Ulster premier, left Belfast for London last night and was expected to confer with Lloyd George at noon. He was accompanied by a large party, including the Marquis of Londonderry. Mail correspondents in Dublin said the following members of the Dail Eireann cabinet voted for acceptance: Arthur Griffiths, Michael Collins, Robert C. Barton and William Cosgrove.
Cardinal Bourne officiated at a thanksgiving service in Westminster Cathedral last night.
London, Dec. 9.—A despatch to the London Times from Dublin says it is anticipated that there is a possibility that the votes of the four Unionist members of the southern parliament from Dublin (University might conceivably be needed to turn the scale of the voting in the Dail Eireann in favor of the treaty.
Washington, Dec. 9.—The new Irish Free State will assume the obligations, in this country, of the Irish republic, amounting to about $6,000,000, S. M. O'Mara, mayor of Limerick, and "fiscal agent of the Irish republic," said last night. He said the certificates of the republicable sold in this country were regarded as a moral obligation of the Irish people and probably would be converted into bonds bearing interest at five per cent, to correspond to the rates on the certificates.

AS HIRAM SEES IT

"I see that there Women's Councils is in everybody to help the Children's Aid," said Mr. Hiram Brown to the Times reporter.
"The Council," said the reporter, "is always ready to help where the little folks are concerned."
"Well, sir," said Hiram, "Sol Hicks and his wife out to the Settlement adopted a little girl from that Children's Aid, and you see she 'er now. They give 'er their own name 'an' use 'er just as if she was their own child. She's well dressed 'n' goes to school 'an' Hiram says she's as bright as a noo pin. They say that afore she was took into the Home she was the most neglected little 'id in St. John. I wonder when folks fingers on the coat of keepin' up a Home if they set down on the other side what those girls 'n' boys that gets good homes is wuth to the country. That's the way to figger it, Mister—'an' that's the way the Women's Council does—yes, sir."

NOTABLE YEAR FOR RED CROSS

Provincial Division in Annual Session Here.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick division of the Canadian Red Cross Society opened this morning in the Red Cross depot, Prince William street. R. T. Hayes, the president, was in the chair. The session was opened with prayer by Rev. Captain Mollineux of the Imperial War Graves Commission.
The president welcomed the visiting delegates and spoke of the activities of the society through the year, with particular reference to the membership campaign.
C. B. Allan read a paper on the work accomplished by the central council throughout the year. He said that the cost of enrollment in the membership campaign was about $100,000. This included the cost of literature, New Brunswick, in proportion to population, which was more than any other province. The executive are making preparations to organize the whole dominion in the early spring or summer.
Miss Macdonald, an overseas nurse, has been engaged to make a survey of the work of the Junior Red Cross. He commented on the fact that it had been found by a survey that seventy-five per cent of the school children in this country have some ailment. In New Zealand, the infant death rate had been reduced to 40 per thousand. If the same thing could be done in Canada 15,000 children would be saved each year. He also said that the D. S. C. R. had received $100,000 from the Government for the work of the Junior Red Cross. He also said that a committee of the Junior Red Cross had been appointed to look into the matter.
The Red Cross depot was described as the hub of the wheel. A year ago it was opened as a centre for the work. Since it has 5,700 articles of relief have passed out through its doors. These include 1,618 articles to hospitals, 283 to fire sufferers, clothing to Soldiers, 40,000 articles to the Grenfell Mission, thirty to the Anti-Tuberculosis Society, two cases of clothing to the Home for Incubables, 800 articles to the Navy League, twenty-four to the Victoria Order, five cases of clothing for the nurse outfits and the rest for straight relief. In every case the need was investigated and found to exist.
There were twenty-six meetings held at the depot and welcome guests were the St. John Local Red Cross, the St. John Ambulance Association, the Grenfell Mission, and the special committee who have the milk fund in hand. The V. A. D's have gathered there also and provincial church bodies that have been in session in the city. Here, too, the Red Cross nurses were bidden Godspeed in their sojourn to their fields of labor and have welcomed when they have returned.
During the campaign week the depot roll was compiled and she was sure they would agree it reflected great credit on the compiler, Miss Marian Magee.
Throughout the year the division had several distinguished visitors. Dr. Abbott, the general secretary S. B. McCready, Junior Red Cross organizer for Ontario; Douglas Brown, who had been the Red Cross secretary in Siberia. At today's meeting they had the pleasure of welcoming Rev. Capt. Mollineux. In April they also were happy to welcome delegates representing many of the branches. They were glad to welcome on the executive representatives of two of the foremost bodies, the Council of Women and the Daughters of the Empire. An invitation was also extended to the Women's Institutes but they, apparently as a provincial body, are not ready for the representation.
The report referred to assistance given to the provincial department of health and the graduation of five public health nurses. The results of their work would be heard later from the supervisor, Miss H. McKelvie. It had certainly exceeded fondest expectations. The important work done and hope expressed that all future exhibitions would reserve space for the Red Cross.
The good word was said for the committee and their work during the year, also for the Bulletin assistance from the

FOR BETTERMENT OF TRADE WITHIN THE DOMINION

Toronto, Dec. 9.—That difference in the laws and trade regulations in the various provinces are so pronounced as to restrict free trade within the dominion was a declaration by Hon. Wallace Melville, K.C., in addressing an Empire Club luncheon, yesterday. He maintained that conferences between the provincial attorney-generals would do much to ameliorate matters if such conferences were arranged to bring about a greater uniformity in commercial laws.

WILL PUT HEINE GROH AT THIRD

None Better in Baseball, Says McGrath.

New York, Dec. 9.—John McGrath, manager of the New York Giants, expressed the belief today that Heine Groh, his $100,000 infielder would make the team's infield the greatest he has ever managed.
"I will place Groh on third, for Heine has no superior anywhere as a third sacker. Frisch will be moved to second, where he belongs and would rather play. With Kelly on first and Bancroft at short—well, wait and see. Rawlings (one of the heroes in the 1920 series) will be used as a utility infielder and we will have a feeling of security with Johnny ready for duty."
New York, Dec. 9.—Two former bantam boxing title holders, Pete Herman and Joe Lynch, will engage in bouts here tonight. Herman will meet Paeky O'Grady, in a fifteen round bout, and Lynch will have Maxey Williamson, an opponent fit a ten round contest.
New York, Dec. 9.—Six teams were tied for the leadership in the annual six day bike race in Madison Square Garden at six o'clock, the 104th hour. There was no change in the relative positions of the seven other remaining teams after a night of fast riding. The leaders had covered 1,608 miles and 4 laps. The record for this hour is 2,003 miles and it laps made seven years ago by Popler and Hill.
Denver, Colo., Dec. 9.—Harry Wills of New Orleans, negro heavyweight, won a decision over Bill Tate of Chicago in their twelve round and last night date took heavy punishment in every round. Halifax, N. S., Dec. 9.—The Crescents hockey team, Halifax, has received an offer to play in Boston during the coming season.

Dempsey and Mrs. Dempsey and their son and two daughters were locked in the death cell by the bandits.
Slaughter escaped in Mrs. Dempsey's automobile, which was standing in the penitentiary yard.

A. PUGSLEY BUYS STEAMER BASSAN

Parsons, N. S., Dec. 9.—The former U. S. shipping boat steamer Bassan, 1,238 ton register, which came here for repairs, has been sold at auction to Alder Pugsley, River Hebert, N. S., for $5,200. The widow is to have the use of the bulk of the estate during her life, and upon her death it will go to the son, Alexander, and three daughters of the testator.
A feature of the will of W. T. The owner of the still was not at home, but police were assigned to wait for him.

OPPOSITION GROWS DAILY

Many Against Bringing Unknown Soldier to Canada for Burial at Ottawa.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—The Globe says that the opposition to the Meligen government's plan to bring an unknown Canadian soldier from the old western front for burial at Ottawa is growing daily. Not only have the various women's organizations in the city banded together to protest against the plan, but various branches of the G. W. V. A. and the G. A. U. V. as well as the Amputation Association have already forwarded their protests to Ottawa.
Following a meeting of the board of directors of the G. A. U. V. on Wednesday night, Fred Marshall, division secretary, and W. L. Bayfield, V. C. president made the following statement:
"The G. A. U. V., consistent with its policy of loyalty to the British Empire, accepted the burial of the unknown soldier at Westminster Abbey, a representative of the whole empire. The unknown soldier buried there was as well Canada's unknown warrior as Britain's. On account of the fact that many have believed in the dominion have approached the unknown at Westminster Abbey, who died at Gibraltar in March 1915, the G. A. U. V. consider the proposal ridiculous, a waste of time and money, and a travesty on the solemn ceremonial of November 11, 1920 at Westminster Abbey."

UNIQUE CLAUSE IN THIS WILL

Straightens Joints Deformed Since Childhood by Stretching Ligaments Without Cutting — Is Swamped With Appeals.

(New York Times)
Dr. Adolf Lorenz performed a bloodless operation at St. Mark's Hospital, 277 Second Avenue, yesterday morning on Marion De Roy, 15 years old, a daughter of Dr. M. H. De Roy of Pittsburgh. He was assisted by Dr. Dexter D. Ashley of St. Mark's staff. Only a few spectators were present, the operation having been held upon hurriedly. The girl's father had been suffering from a deformity of both knees since childhood.

The treatment given her by Dr. Lorenz was called technically "intra-articular redressment," or, in plain English, straightening the knee joints by stretching the ligaments without cutting. The operation took twenty minutes. At the end of that time the surgeon said the abnormal condition had been corrected. He encased the knees in plaster casts, which will remain on for three months. In order to prevent the deformity recurring, it will be necessary to give the child thorough after-treatment.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Lorenz examined ten private patients in the office of Dr. Ashley at 346 Lexington Avenue, ten being the maximum number he can see in one day because of the condition of his health and strength. Several of his private patients were from out of town. Many cripples continue to come to New York and thousands write letters, trying to see him privately or at clinics, although he emphasizes that many do so whom he cannot help.

Dr. Lorenz will be at a clinic at the Department of Health Building, at 505 Pearl Street, at 10 o'clock this morning, and will give private examinations again this afternoon in Dr. Ashley's office. Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, announced that the clinic this morning would be for those who already have made appointments to be examined.

No one will be admitted except those who have registered. Cripples who desire to register for examinations at possible future clinics at the Department of Health, Commissioner Copeland said, should register in advance by applying to R. Jacob Sobel, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, on next Friday or Monday. Dr. Copeland emphasized that no infantile paralysis cases would be examined by Dr. Lorenz.

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1921

Canada's Position Reviewed: Corrective Policy Outlined at Bank of Montreal Annual

Sir Vincent Meredith, the President, Deals With the Manner in Which Canada Has Withstood Shock of Deflation and Readjustment—Railway Problem Must Have Attention—Necessity of Vigorous Policy of Immigration Strongly Urged.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager, in Report to Shareholders, Pointed Out That Even After a Difficult Year the Position of the Bank Was Stronger Than Ever—Canada Must Turn Experience of the Past to the Advantage of the Future.

The annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal attracted very special attention, owing to the exceptional conditions Canada is passing through, as a result of the deflation that is occurring throughout the world.

finances, to taxation and so to the daily business of the country, which was already bearing heavy imposts to sustain the public credit.

Conditions in Canada. In dealing with conditions in Canada and the manner in which many of the difficulties might be overcome, Sir Vincent said:

"In the most propitious circumstances of trade, prosperity is rash, and in the complicated conditions that now beset us, I will refrain from the risk of forecasting. What we do know is that Canada has withstood the shock of deflation and re-adjustment in a manner which has afforded gratification to our own people and has caused much favorable comment abroad, but a return to pre-war standards cannot be expected at once and probably not for a considerable time to come.

"The position is still full of difficulties and the way to sustained improvement is not yet clear. While there has been a revival in some lines of business, in others deflation has not yet run its course and stocks are being carried which possibly may have to be written down to lower replacement values.

"The revival now being experienced, possibly based upon a demand in consequence of depleted stocks, has given a temporary spurt to buying. In any event, I look for a period of rise and fall as demand exceeds supply, or otherwise.

"A return to normality will be hastened if and when labor realizes that the deflation wages cannot be continued and that the changed conditions necessitate more efficiency and greater production, and we are to compete successfully in the world's markets. Increased production will without doubt be followed by lowering of prices, larger consumption and fuller employment."

Washington Conference. In conclusion, Sir Vincent expressed the opinion that there was reason to expect very beneficial results from the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments. In summing up the results of the conference, Sir Vincent said:

"The cause of this anomaly is still mainly the cost of labor. Unemployment is the natural corrective, though painful and regrettable by everyone. "Apart from this, I cannot see how we can count upon improved conditions concurrently with the present situation in the United States. Conditions are similar in many respects, as everyone knows, but our liabilities and our mistakes are our very own. Aside from the cost of the war, we must pay the penalty of having mortgaged our future in the building of superfluous railways and in other extravagances. Summing up the situation in this regard, Sir Frederick said in part:

"As regards the outlook in Canada and the prospect of affecting Canadian business generally, I have no desire to join the list of oracles who predict the date when normal conditions will be restored. For one thing, values are out of joint. Our main dependence is on our natural resources, and at present the purchasing power of the products thereof is at the lowest level reached for several years past. On the other hand, we still have with us high prices in other sections, while retail prices generally are conspicuously out of line.

"The Canadian resources that remain intact are the manhood of the Dominion and the industry and ambition of our citizens. In these respects Canada is still rich, and, having learned our lesson from that incoercible teacher, stern experience, we shall emerge from our difficulties in time a wiser nation and then proceed to the full development of a great inheritance on a sound and sure basis, turning the experience of the past to the advantage of the future."

Reviewing the general conditions in the country, Sir Frederick pointed out the necessity of paying the penalty of having mortgaged our future in the building of superfluous railways and in other extravagances. Summing up the situation in this regard, Sir Frederick said in part:

"Though the utmost hopes may not be fulfilled, great gain will come from reduction of expenditure on armaments and the lessened taxation thereby made possible. In no small measure the restoration of normal trade depends upon the outcome of the conference. A happy issue will give that confidence which creates credit and will go far towards abridging the period of liquidation and reconstruction."

General Manager's Address. Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the general manager, in his address to the shareholders, referred more particularly to the affairs of the bank and the manner in which the various developments of the year had been met.

Sir Frederick also touched interestingly on the relations between the United States and Canada and the large discount at which the Canadian dollar was still quoted. In this connection, Sir Frederick said:

"The premium on New York funds is still with us with little prospect of departure in the near future. The rate on New York funds is compared with 15 p. c. on the 5th December, 1920. The fact that Canadians have become accustomed to a premium of doing business abroad with an inferior domestic dollar does not alter the fact that Canada is at a very serious disadvantage indeed in its monetary dealings with the United States of America.

"I shall not go into the matter, as it has been dealt with in my previous reports, except to say that the premium on New York funds will not disappear until we buy many millions less of goods and materials abroad or increase our exports.

"The premium would have been higher had it not been that Canada, as stated elsewhere, has borrowed in the United States this year $144,000,000, which sum, as far as exchange is concerned, must be added to our exports or deducted from our imports.

"Every Canadian should understand, however, that this is merely alleviation, not a cure. Economically, it would be far better that we should borrow within our own borders. By borrowing abroad we add steadily to the already great sum of interest on our foreign obligations annually sent out of the country, the total amount aggregating nearly $8,800,000,000. Canada still maintains its excellent credit position in the New York market, and no difficulty has been experienced in floating such loans as have been offered."

When Otto Schmidt, proprietor of a stationery store at 944 Third avenue, entered his shop after midnight Sunday, his foot sank into a hole cut in the floor.

Schmidt pleaded with the robbers not to leave him bound as he would freeze to death before daylight. The thief promised to send the first person he met on the street back to the store. Two hours after his departure, Schmidt wormed the chair outside of the door to the stoop. No one would answer his cries for help.

HALIFAX TORIES WERE THIRSTY

Barrels and Bottles of Rum
Were Seized by the Inspectors.

"What will they say in the select circles when the story there is told"—to paraphrase a really "loil" saying, when the great leaders of the "Party of Purity and Righteousness and loyalty and high-toned saving" learn that three barrels, one ten-gallon can and a number of full bottles of rum were found on the premises of the Conservative Transportation Headquarters at the Masonic Hall last night; that this portion of the Tory stock in trade rests in disarray via this morning, having been seized by Inspector Tracy between eight and nine o'clock last night.

The basement of the Masonic Hall was being used last night by the representatives of the Conservative party, as "Transportation Headquarters." Inspector Tracy had been informed that men had been seen going in and out of the building carrying suspicious looking parcels, and being dubious of the nature of the contents of the parcels, he determined to pay a visit to the place.

When he and the police arrived, they found instead of a "transportation headquarters," a small sized brewery, containing a washing and bottling machine and all the equipment necessary for the handling of beverages. The inspector was accompanied by Sergeant O'Leary and Police Officers Ray Mitchell and McIntyre.

Their appearance created a tremendous sensation among the number of Tories who were assembled in the building, the majority of whom made their escape through rear doors and windows. The seizure was on a big scale and constitutes one of the biggest of its kind in this city for a long time.

No arrests were made, but Inspector Tracy states that a number of them would follow within a few days and some interesting developments are expected.

Appropriate to the occasion there was the usual diluting process, and a pit to effect the desired dilution of the rum was found in operation. A well-known former taxi man was busily engaged in washing bottles and another man, who was described by the inspector as a groceryman was engaged in diluting a quantity of rum. It may be that he will be charged under the pure food laws, but the inspector would not commit himself to that last night.

Any way this rum, watered stock, and all, was being transferred to empty bottles. A number of other men who were in the building at the time left hurriedly by various exits and one of them, who was recognized by the inspector, proceeded rapidly along Barrington street in the direction of the Conservative headquarters. The house was loaded on the patrol and taken to the station, accompanied by Sergeant O'Leary.

The Inspector stated after the raid that he was firmly of the opinion that the liquor was to be used for election purposes, and said he believed the "Transportation" office to be the source of supply for the various Conservative offices throughout the city.

PROF. MACMECHAN TALKS ON CANADA

(Halifax Chronicle)
"The very name Canada seems beautiful to me," said Dr. Archibald MacMechan, Professor of English at Dalhousie, in an address before the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon in the Green Lantern yesterday.

He said that from 1914 to 1918, Canadians had shown themselves pure gold in the field and behind the lines. He had pondered a great deal about this country, of which he thought so much and had come to certain conclusions. He regarded Canada in the first place, as one of the greatest experiments in Democracy. It was true of Canada as of individuals, that "no man liveth to himself." Our Democracy was conditioned by our climate and the fact that two races of two religions strove to live together. He felt that the United States had exerted too great a spiritual influence in this country, which was inevitable. We followed the United States in sports and other things, but he would like to see Canada lead.

Supporting people came to Canada because she had a national character which was attractive; suppose the business men of Halifax were notorious for their commercial integrity. An Englishman's word in South America was as good as his bond.

According to our officials, from one end of Canada to the other, our educational system was adequate, but a democracy like Canada did not want education, because it could not pay for education. He believed that the want of education was the downfall of Russia. Canada needed education more today than ever before. If the community had money to give, it should be given to the foundation—the underpinning of the system, that is, the preliminary schools. He had noticed the growth of private schools in this country, but why? Because those who attend them were taught something that they were not taught in the public schools. Supporting that Canada was notorious for good manners, would it not be a great asset?

Speaking of Secho-Slovakia, and their wonderful organizations, he said that the Czechs had left Valcarles Camp in better condition than they found it. Among the Czechs, only one out of every one hundred was unable to read and write. Could we say that of Canada? If Canada could face the great test of the war as she did, he believed that we could make her name shine in letters of gold.

ILL HEALTH FORCES MCBRIDE TO QUIT HELM OF SENATORS

Washington, Dec. 8.—The resignation of George McBride as manager of the Washington American League baseball club was announced today by Clark Griffith, club president, in a long distance telephone message from Buffalo, N. Y., where Mr. Griffith is attending the meeting of minor league officials. McBride, who became manager of the Washington club at the beginning of the 1921 season, resigned because of ill health, President Griffith said. He was struck on the head by a thrown ball last summer, and the accident is understood to have affected his health. President Griffith said McBride would act as scout for the Washington club this season if his health permitted. The club president had no statement to make as to his plans for obtaining a new manager, but asserted that he would resume the active direction of the given up with the appointment of McBride.

POLITICAL NOTES OF LOCAL INTEREST

The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette says that Hon. Mr. Meighen has been offered a seat in New Brunswick as well as in Ontario and British Columbia. (York-Sunbury has been named.)

The Fredericton Gleaner hears that the appointment of Col. Frank Black to the senate will be cancelled and that Mr. Turgon will be called to take the vacant seat in the Red Chamber, and adds: "It is not unlikely that the appointment of Col. Frank Black will be rubbed out; and it may also be that the senate itself will call into question the fitness of Senator Macdonald, of Amherst, N. S., but appointed for New Brunswick, to retain his seat."

Hon. C. W. Colter, brother of Rev. J. Colter, of Fredericton, and a native of Kewick, York county, was one of the former residents of New Brunswick who were candidates in other provinces. He offered in East Egin, Ontario, where there was a three-cornered fight, and he was the low man of the trio in the vote. Judge Colter represented the county of Haldimand for a number of years in the federal parliament and was appointed to the County Court bench in 1897, but he retired as a judge last year.

PROMISES TO BE STIR IN ROYAL

Recount and Protest are Reported to be on Programme in Kings-Queens.

With the election a matter of history by only a few days, the political pot in Royal (Kings-Queens) has commenced boiling again and some sensational results are anticipated. On account of the variation in the returns reported from the different polls in the two counties it has been almost impossible to tell whether George D. Jones, the conservative nominee, or Dr. D. H. McAllister, Liberal, has been elected. On this account, it is said here today, friends of Dr. McAllister have intimated that a recount will be asked for, regardless of the result of the poll announced on declaration day—next Monday.

It is understood also that the Progressives, who candidate G. D. Perkins, was third man in the count, will protest the election, claiming that there is evidence of bribery both personally and by agents.

Other irregularities are also charged, including participation on the part of the chief returning officer, and some of the residents of the constituency have asked for an investigation into this feature of the case. The removal of the Berwick poll from the place in which it was customary to hold it to a point some distance away is claimed to have had an effect on the casting of the ballots and it is understood that this matter will also be taken into consideration.

Altogether the situation in Royal promises to develop some sensational and interesting features on declaration day.

of disaster. Another gift to the Red Cross was that of a beautiful adjustable wheel chair, which may be loaned for emergency cases and may be had by application at the depot. It was the generous gift of the Horncastle Estate of the county of York.

Armistice Day was celebrated by the placing of some valued possessions and posters in the window of F. A. Dykeman in Charlotte street. Through the week this window was the centre of attention and that the little message was passed on.

Branch reports were in hand from the Local Red Crosses of St. John, Centerville, Andover and Perth, St. Martins, Newcastle, Hartland, Wilson's Beach, Rivestide (Albert county), Woodstock, Doncaster, Milltown, Middle Seckville and Wintanet Junior. These all showed great activity and a renewed interest that was most gratifying.

Unfortunately there was no report from the activity and progress committee. Their mission was to look over the field and see wherein lay new possibilities for work. To Mrs. Kubring and her committee they owe a great deal of credit for their work. A few of the peace problems. It was with a great deal of regret that the executive learned of her departure to another sphere of usefulness.

Mrs. Jarvis told of her attendance at executive and central meetings in Toronto. Perhaps the most momentous part of the programme was the calling together of the heads of the soldiers and sailors relief and settlement societies of the dominion. The thoughtful consideration given to the soldier and his needs and the regrets that of necessity each society must have their limitation were features that made one proud to be a Canadian. The personnel that gathered about that Central Council table was an imposing one. The leading men of Canada thought it worth their while to travel to Toronto and sit for two whole days of lengthy sessions, when the interest never flagged, to discuss and relieve the problems of the soldier and the civilian—the weak and the helpless. Not a small part of the pleasure in attending the meetings was the personal knowledge gained of our splendid staff of head office officials, and all of them seemed to be very much on the job.

Miss Jarvis thanked the officers, executive and members of committees here for their work. Before another year has passed she hoped that the division would be so organized that the work would be done in a more efficient manner. She said that the Junior Red Cross was being most successfully operated in 1000 schools in Saskatchewan and has 4,000 members among the children of the United States. Surely it was well worth while.

In closing, Miss Jarvis said: "Looking backward again we see that surely and solidly is our work advancing. There has been no flourish of trumpets to herald the advance, in this province at least, but the cause of suffering humanity has appealed to the best people in our midst, and ere long we may rest assured that all nations will look back and bless the day when the five great powers saw fit to continue through the years of peace the noble work of the Red Cross."

FINANCES.

C. B. Allan, financial secretary, reported the finances of the society to be in a flourishing state. The receipts for the year were $79,919.22 and the ordinary expenditures $31,768.76. After deducting grants yet to be paid the balance on hand is $9,150.46.

The next business was the reading of the correspondence, which included a letter from the Great War Veteran's Association, thanking the society for co-operation in the recent Poppy Day campaign.

A nominating committee was then appointed consisting of Miss K. Steward, Miss A. E. Ryan, Miss Ethel Jarvis, Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong and Dr. Murray MacLaren, M.P.-elect.

The chief matter of new business discussed this morning was a proposal by Mr. Allan that the society should build a recreational building in connection with the Lancaster military hospital. There was a good attendance at the session this morning, mostly of city people. The outside delegates were: Miss Kate Stewart and Mrs. R. Fitzandolph of Fredericton; Mrs. Charles Sargent of Newcastle; Miss A. E. Ryan, of Moncton; Miss Melkjohn, superintendent of the New Brunswick Nursing Service, and Rev. Captain Mollicaux of England.

Sir Basil Home Thomson, K. C. B., Goes Against His Will—Charge He Failed to Consult Chief.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) England has always been a law-abiding country and has rarely displayed sentimentality over criminals, but nevertheless England likes its detectives best between the covers of a book. This is probably at the bottom of the agitation just led to the resignation of Sir Basil Home Thomson, K. C. B., who steps out of Scotland Yard. His leaving is strongly against his own will, but if the whole influence of the government had been exerted to save him it would have been of no avail. His conduct was ac-

THE IDEAL STORES

103-105 Union St. West

Sir Basil denied the charges that were made against him, and there is little doubt that the nominal charge, insubordination, was not the real reason for his dismissal.

Expulsion. Sir Basil, after long public service as magistrate in Fiji and governor of Wormwood Scrubs and Dartmoor, was placed in charge of a special branch at Scotland Yard. It had not to do with ordinary crimes, but seems to have been a sort of espionage department brought into existence for the purpose of frustrating Bolshevism. It was this department that laid the charges that led to the expulsion of many undesirable foreigners. What roused hostility to it was the fear of members of parliament that it might become a sort of political police, forces of which are common in Europe, but would never be tolerated in England. Naturally enough Sir Basil and his spotters incurred the hostility of men like Ramsay MacDonald and members of the Labor party, but even Conservatives expressed their displeasure that English radicals should be placed upon as were the Russian radicals in the days of the Czar.

Refused Byrnes. The nominal charge brought against Sir Basil was that he failed to consult the chief commissioner at Scotland Yard, he being himself only an assistant commissioner. Months would go by and Sir Basil would make no reports. He insisted that when his department was established it was well understood that he should confide only in the Home Secretary. Finally Mr. Shortt brought the assistant commissioner and the chief commissioner together and it was arranged that the former should report to the latter at least once a week. For a while these instructions were obeyed, but the matters were too secret and important to be confided to a mere police officer, failed to report. There was another complaint, followed by questions in the House, and then the announcement of the resignation. The position was offered to Sir J. A. Bryce, inspector general of the Royal Irish Constabulary for several years, but he was not the subject of a record had been the subject of sneering remarks in the House.

The Liberal View. The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent had the following comment to make upon the incident: "It would be idle to deny that this peculiar and very independent and powerful department of Scotland Yard, of which Sir Basil Thomson was the chief and in a way the creator, had achieved a sinister eminence in the eyes of Liberal politicians. It was a political police department, and a very powerful one, and every English Liberal hates the thought of secret police activity. It had a great deal to do with the surveillance of suspects among journalists and publicists, which is a thing which the British public and the British Liberal like still less. Its dealings with Russian subjects to be interned or deported during the two or three years after the war gave rise to bitter criticisms, and most of all its espionage among workmen, placed the Archbishop of Canterbury under arrest. All the evidence pointed to the fact that the political criminal who was wanted wore clerical gaiters and had Lambeth mud splashed upon them. On the evening in question the Archbishop was the only person he could find answering the description who had been in the vicinity. Needless to say he was not arrested. But a sounder authority on detective method than Sir Basil, namely, the late Frederick Williamson, long head of the Criminal Investigation Department at Scotland Yard, and one of the ablest men ever to fill that position, has said that "Sherlock Holmes got a guide book for detectives, but Sherlock's methods as taught by Conan Doyle have taught a good many of my men the value of little things in crime detection."

ST. FRANCIS X IS TO GET MILLION

Boston, Dec. 8.—An estate of approximately $1,000,000 will go eventually to St. Francis Xavier College at Antigonish (N. S.), under the terms of the will of Neil McNeil, a retired builder, who died on December 4.

His will, filed for probate today, bequeathed the bulk of the estate in trust to I. R. Clark, for the benefit during their lives of sixteen nieces and nephews. At death, the income of each beneficiary is to be paid to the college governors. When the last of the heirs are dead, the principal, with interest, is to be turned over to the institution.

THE LATE DR. GEO. F. COLTHER

(Marquette Eagle-Star.)

Dr. George Fred Colther, prominent physician and surgeon of Marquette, passed away at his home, 1833 Riverside avenue, at an early hour this morning after an illness extending over several months. He had been confined to the house for several weeks. His last days were marked by the fortitude that had characterized him throughout his life. He suffered uncomplainingly.

Dr. Colther was born in Fredericton on December 21, 1864. He was educated in the public schools of his native town and later attended the University of New Brunswick. From there he went to the University of Pennsylvania, where he took his medical degree. After completing his medical education he practiced for one year in his native town and then came to Marquette. In 1889, where he had resided ever since. He was married to Marie Louise Laing of Marquette in 1889, and one son, Lloyd Colther of this city. Besides the widow and son survive him, Dr. Colther's immediate surviving relatives are his aged mother, Mrs. Victoria of Fredericton, New Brunswick; one sister, Mrs. Allen Sterling of Fredericton, and four brothers, Arthur N. of San Francisco, Thomas H. of Fredericton, Samuel J. of Duluth and Dr. Roy B. Colther of this city.

MOTHER TAKES COURTS SENTENCE ON HER SON

"Spotted Him and Am to Blame," She Says, Assuming Probation Responsibility.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 8.—Mother love obtained leniency for a wayward son in Recorder's Court, when Mrs. Charles H. Staling, wife of a prominent Plint banker, agreed to go on a year's probation and accept the penalty for failure to report regularly in order that the son should escape serving a sixty-day sentence in the Detroit House of Correction. She received the sentence from Judge Faust following her plea for mercy for her son, Charles, aged twenty-six.

Judge Faust was about to sentence Reynolds for failure to report regularly in two years, the latest being the theft of two pairs of women's silk hose from a department store. He was found guilty last week, but sentence was deferred until the court could confirm reports that Reynolds' stepfather, Mrs. Staling tearfully assumed the blame for her son and volunteered to pay the penalty.

BEDS MADE FROM FRUIT.

The cocoa-nut is more useful than any other fruit in the world, for every part of it can be utilized; nothing need be wasted.

The actual nut, in addition to being good to eat, is invaluable for flavoring purposes. Also, it contains a large amount of oil which is used extensively in making soap. The milk is a favorite drink in the tropics, for it quenches thirst better than any other liquid. The inside of the husk is made into fibre and yarn, which is used for stuffing mattresses and making brushes. The coconut palm tree rises to a height of about eighty feet, and grows chiefly in Ceylon. From that country 14,000,000 nuts are exported every year.

CHARLES WAS JUSTIFIED IN HIS TEMERITY

Crown of Hungary One of the Most Ancient and Curious of Royal Diadems.

London, Nov. 20.—(By Mail)—The Crown of Hungary is undoubtedly worth the struggle made by former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary to obtain it, being one of the most ancient and most curious of the royal diadems now in existence. It is made up of two parts. The first crown was offered by the Pope to Duke Stephen in the year 1000; the second was given by the Emperor Michael to Duke Geisa in 1072. The latter crown bore a curious inscription which spoke of the Duke as the King of the Turks. Duke Geisa had the two diadems welded together, the Papal crown in forming the lower part and the byzantine jewel the upper part. The dual crown was jealously guarded in the Royal Museum at Budapest, and was only taken from its case for coronation ceremonies. In 1840, in the course of the rising, when Kossuth endeavored to obtain the independence of his country, he came into possession of the Royal crown which he buried at Orsova when he was obliged to seek safety in flight. The secret, however, was not well kept and the Austrian government finally discovered the crown in its hiding place.

London, Dec. 9.—(Canadian Press Cable).—According to a Reuter cable from Melbourne, the Australian House of Representatives has passed a bill authorizing the raising of a loan of £10,000,000 for the purpose of re-establishing the diadem and for land settlement work. A bill has also been passed extending preferential tariff treatment to New Zealand.

TEACH CHILDREN TO LOVE WORK

This is the title taken by Dr. Barnardo's Homes for their annual booklet, a copy of which we have just received from the director, Rear-Admiral Sir Harry Stilleman.

In his accompanying letter he points out that it is most important in the future of the nation and empire that the children should be taught to love work for the world's sake, for this will go a long way towards the solution of our industrial troubles.

So far as the nation's destitute children are concerned, he urges the necessity of training them on right lines, lifting them out of the slums and giving them a good environment and a happy childhood, so that they may take their places as healthy, upright, honorable and God-fearing citizens.

Barnardo's deal with 26,000 young people every year, and every year they permanently admit some 1,600 children. In fifty-five years they have passed over 62,000 boys and girls through their hands, and today they have a resident family of 7,200—the largest family in the world—of whom 1,191 are babies and little tots under five.

The charter of these National Homes is: "No destitute child ever refused admission." They cater for those who cannot by any possibility help themselves. There is no system of votes and no real test. The Open Sesame to their care is destitution, and it is of the destitute the homes achieve such good results. Up to the Free-Open Door they come, boys and girls of every size, of every kind, of every stock—dirty, hungry, neglected, verminous; or patched and clean and wet with the tears of parents who would so gladly keep them if they could. And out of the far gate of the Fairy-Castle of Transformation they go, years hence, taught and trained, self-respecting, self-reliant workers in the great vineyard of God and the empire. Children are suffering, children are perishing, body and soul. Children are crying aloud day by day, hour by hour, for help, and it is in the power of each one of us, in some degree, however small, to lessen the terrible sum of child-suffering.

Barnardo's appeal for help this winter, to save little ones from the suffer-

148-FOOT SMOKESTACK RAZED IN 55 MINUTES
5,000 Scientists and Professional Men See New Fire Method Used on Staten Island.

A thousand scientists and professional men journeyed out to Staten Island yesterday to witness the raising, by a recently devised means, of the highest smokestack on the island, between Tompkinsville and Stapleton. The 148-foot stack, which required two months and two days to build, was brought to the ground in fifty-five minutes.

Two of the blocks were then removed, and the centre block, which had been saturated with kerosene, was set on fire. A short time later the smokestack crashed with such force that some of the blocks of masonry dug themselves two feet into the ground. Most of the bricks were intact and can be used again. Members of the New York Fire Department witnessed the demolition, which was completed by the Custodial Chimney Construction Company, 95 Nassau street. The same firm built the stack.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK AS A BANK SEES IT

(Bank of Commerce Circle)

The improvement noted in general business conditions in Canada during October, as a result of heavy shipments of grain, was maintained during November, owing doubtless to further declines in grain prices. The textiles, lumbering, boot and shoe, transportation and paper industries were more active, but in these, as in other industries, conditions are still far from being normal. As most of them depend to a very large extent upon the success of agricultural operations, they suffer in common. Many western farmers, finding it difficult to meet maturing obligations, are not making new commitments. This cannot be surprising in view of wheat deliveries at country points in Western Canada up to November 11 being valued at $127,221,098 for 132,022,419 bushels, as compared with $284,863,775 for 109,221,000 bushels during the corresponding period a year ago. This sudden contraction in the value of one of the main products of Canada should hasten the adjustment of the prices of those services and goods which the farmer must have in order to carry on his operations. Wages, the main factor in transportation charges, whether in providing fuel or other supplies which they require, have yet to undergo drastic readjustment in order to make possible the restoration of normal conditions. Market conditions and thrashing returns throughout the Dominion up to the close of October show very unimpressive results for those engaged in agriculture and stock-raising. A larger proportion of the crop than had been anticipated was damaged seriously by inclement weather before being threshed, and during the harvest period prices for all grades of grain declined sharply. The price for No. 1 Northern wheat in September averaged 45.84 per cent. lower, and in October 50.19 per cent. lower, than in the corresponding months a year ago. The changes in price of both wheat and oats since 1920, and particularly the precipitate decline from the peak reached early in 1920, are shown on the accompanying graph. It will be noted that the present price of a bushel of wheat is below the price of a bushel of oats in the districts farthest away from market centres, if present market conditions prevail during the winter, many farmers will not receive sufficient revenue from the proceeds of their crops and live stock to discharge current obligations, and in districts within easy reach of the best markets those farmers who depend upon cereal products, or upon beef or store cattle, will have difficulty in doing so with comfort. The decline in the prices of dairy products has not been so marked as in the case of cereals, and thus farmers who ship cream and milk are in a relatively better position. Under these circumstances it is surprising that farmers, particularly those in the prairie provinces, are able to keep up their payments as well as they are doing. The chief exceptions are those who have only a nominal equity in their land, and having obtained excessive credit now find themselves in an embarrassing position. Unfortunately, for the time being there is little hope of better prices for either cereals or live stock products, both of which are plentiful. There are reported to be unusually large amounts of grain in store at British and Atlantic ports

STATE OF TRADE IN UNITED STATES

(Bradstreet's)

It may be said that the statements recently in these columns that many big primary lines quieted, and that the peak of fall buying in October, are confirmed by statistics of production and traffic. At the current time, it may be said that big wholesale buying has quieted farther, and that regular jobbing lines, aside from those catering to holiday requirements, are rather less active. Attention, in fact, is concentrating on retail trade, which feels the influence of irregular weather conditions, and varies from almost good in parts of the west to slow or poor in the south, especially Texas, where here and there a drawback to trade of all but the most immediate kind. Storms at opposite points of the country, the north Pacific coast and in New England, have also hurt trade. Mail-order trade in November was below that of October, and heavily below November, 1920. Retailers in some cities are reported shading prices to induce buying. Basic industry tends to quiet either because of the advance of the year toward its close, or, as in the case of the coal trade, because seasonal weather is absent. At the same time, it must be noted that reports as to collections are better than for some weeks past. Railroad business has picked up a little, but probably reached its peak in October, when gross earnings were 16 per cent. below a year ago, while net operating income gained 25 per cent.

Mrs. Edward Kinnear, 60 Bryden St., St. John, N. B., writes: "I wish to express my hearty thanks to your valuable remedy Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and what good it did me. Last fall I contracted a severe cold, like I never had, my head and nostrils were so clogged up I could get no vent, and could scarcely get my breath. I tried remedy after remedy until at last I thought I would try 'Dr. Wood's.' After the first dose I felt relief, and by the time the bottle was finished I was all better. When Your Choice Is His Choice!

WHEN your choice is his choice the pleasure of giving and receiving is doubly enhanced. Sometimes one of the difficulties of Christmas shopping is to know just what the recipient would like. When you are thinking of giving that most useful of all gifts to men—a safety razor—you can make no mistake when you select a Valet Auto-Stop for that is the choice of men themselves.

They know that no razor can give a clean, comfortable shave unless its edge has been stropped. So they choose the Valet Auto-Stop razor because it stropps its own blades, on a straight leather strip (without any "extra" attachments), and provides a fresh, keen edge for every day in the year. It saves constant blade-expense, and saves time and trouble—for it stropps, shaves and cleans without removing the blade.

10,000 MILE GOLF TOUR ARRANGED

Hutchison and Barnes Have Planned a Busy Winter Session.

New York, Dec. 9.—Ten thousand miles by rail and road; one thousand more on the links. That is the ambitious itinerary by which Jim Barnes of Pelham, the American open golf champion, and Jock Hutchinson of Glenview, open champion of Great Britain, will tour the West and South this winter, giving exhibitions as they go.

They will start on their tour on Thursday, Dec. 15, at Pelham, N. Y., where they will play a match with the local champions. In all, the affair will carry through some thirteen weeks, from December 15 to March 22, during which the champions will roam up and down the Canadian Northwest, the Pacific Coast and later the warm and genial South. In addition to the exhibition dates, Barnes and Hutchinson will also take part in the North California open tournament, January 6 and 7, and California state championship at Wilshire, January 18 to 19, inclusive.

Leaving the Grand Central Station on Thursday, Jim and Jock will travel the long trail to Vancouver, B. C., where the first match of the tour will be played. Then by easy stages they will work down into California, where the sun is kindly and the competition keen. Indeed, the Native Sons think so well of some of their "pros" that they are willing to back them against the champion duo to no considerable extent.

For instance, a match involving Hutchinson and Barnes on one side and John Black and Abe Espinosa, two California stars, on the other, has been arranged with a side bet of $1,000. This would seem to indicate that either Black and Espinosa are uncommonly good golfers or Californians do not object to tossing their money around with lavish hands. Certainly no pair of golfers in the country can figure as an even money bet against such as Hutchinson and Barnes, who are easily the best of the American field, with the possible exception of Walter Hagen.

Before the champions venture into California, however, they will get plenty of competition at Victoria, B. C., in meeting Dave Black and Phil Taylor, both of whom rank with the best of the professional west of the Rockies. Down Los Angeles way it has been arranged for Arthur Clarkson and MacDonald Smith to oppose the Barnes-Hutchinson team on the links of the Ambassador Club. This means another keen match, particularly since MacDonald Smith is generally regarded as being one of the finest golfers in the country. The two California championships which the wayfarers will appear in are especially arranged, in the matter of dates, to suit the convenience of the champions. It is also likely that Barnes and Hutchinson will subsequently play in a San Antonio professional tournament, for which a purse of $5,000 has already been subscribed.

After leaving San Diego the pilgrim golfers will work over into Arizona and New Mexico, and then push south into Texas, where they expect to be joined by a group of "pros" from this section of the country also on tour through Texas, Louisiana and Florida. This is all virgin territory, as far as Barnes and Hutchinson are concerned, as indeed is the entire itinerary. Golfers in the sections to be visited have read much of the exploits of Jock and Jim, but few have seen them in the flesh. On this account the trip promises to be a rare financial success that might well be carried through the spring and summer were this practicable. Indeed, the two stars are in such demand that several clubs in Mexico have entered bids for their services but, unfortunately, they will be unable to appear on the wrong side of the Rio Grande, owing to the fact that the previous dates demand their presence elsewhere. Subsequently, the tour will be carried into Florida, but here the exhibitions will be few and far between. One will be given at Jacksonville, but after that is concluded both stars will lay aside their clubs and undergo a complete rest for two weeks. After that they will take up serious preparations for the important north and south championships at Pinckney late in March.

COMPARISON OF FATHER AND SON

Young Bob Fitzsimmons Cannot Hit as Hard as His Daddy Could.

Writing to the New York World, Igoe says: This is the strange case of Young Bob Fitzsimmons and his old man, fighting immortal. There crawled through the ropes at Madison Square Garden a few nights ago, to make his first fight before "big bugs," Bob, son of Fitzsimmons. There was a rattle of exclamations as this tall, round-shouldered youth tossed off his bath robe, gloves strapped to his powerful looking arms, ready to make his first bid for fame in New York, hotbed of pugilism.

Men old in the sport marvelled at the great similarity between Bob the present and Bob gone down in the great divide. Around Young Bob's loins fitted snugly his old man's famous white woollen fighting trunks. Through the loops at the waist was belted the striped silk belt that the old man wore around his middle at Carson City the day he belted Jim Corbett in the body and brought to life the "solar plexus" punch. The old man's tight's having gone through countless set-to's with motley these many years, were patched in twenty different places with darning wool that hadn't been aged to the tint of the tights. On the boy's feet were the old man's fighting brogans, the familiar white wolverine socks pulled over the tops of the shoes. The same long-freckled arms, the steel-blue eyes, even the tremendously rounded muscular back in the making, of his old man.

And with these accompaniments of an amazing fighting size, young Bob Fitzsimmons stepped forward under the same rafters that had echoed his old man's acclaim to be—a shock and a disappointment! How they did want Bob's boy to loom up as the son of his old man! How breathlessly the old guard watched him shuffle forward, even as the old man, to take his fling at fame and die he did in the debut.

Oh, he whipped Keiser, that's true. He got a Judge's decision, but there was the big thing lacking in his coming-out party. The thing they all looked for, hopefully, with eager, widened eyes was his old man's punch. Not a sign of it. Could it be possible that this big, husky kid, looking so much like the old man could not hit hard enough to knock a diploma's stoppage list off? That was just it. He couldn't. He hasn't got the punch. Hasn't got "the old man's wallop, the sock that broke great fighters' hearts in the long ago.

And it seemed a pity. He looked so formidable, yet when it came to dropping the lighter Keiser he swayed and tottered in front of him throughout eight rounds, but Bob, the son of his father, could not drop him. Pity the ring warrior that swayed before his old man. Any man who tottered before old Bob was doomed and doom came with the blinding crash of thunder.

Old Fitz could hit. Fifteen pounds lighter than his son, Fitz laughed at weight handicap. His theory was "the bigger they are the harder they fall" and they appreciated the worth of hitting and respected a hitter. Strangely enough, one of the smallest men he ever fought hit him the hardest.

The writer dropped in on Fitz fourteen years ago at his ranch at Dunellen, N. J., and the conversation drifted around to hitting. For a change I asked him how it felt to be hit hard and who had hit him the hardest. Bob didn't have to jog his memory. He had his pet wallop's name right on the tip of his tongue.

"The hardest punch I ever got in all my life was delivered by little Joe Choyinski," said Fitzsimmons.

JUDGE REFUSES TO GRANT BAIL

Determined to Make Things Hard for Violent Men and Burglars.

(Montreal Herald) When George Lamoureux, who gave his address as 275 St. Lawrence Boulevard, asked for bail this morning, charged with having drugs in his possession, Judge Lanctot refused it in any amount the accused could produce. He remarked that the case with which it appeared to him that opium, cocaine and heroin could be purchased was one reason for its destructive use by the youth of the city.

"Hereafter, cases of drugs, burglaries, robberies and all such crimes, stealing of automobiles and thefts from the person, will have a hard road to travel when prisoners appear before me. The frequency of attacks on the streets, the prevalence of dope-saturated men, the alarming number of automobile thefts and similar offenses must be checked. The way I propose to curb lawbreaking is through refusal to give bail. In the future, bail will not be sanctioned for the perpetrators of acts of violence or burglaries," said the Judge who remanded Lamoureux for trial without bail.

ALCOHOL FIGURED IN TWO DEATHS

Suicide Verdict Returned on Longueuil Man Who Took Poison.

(Montreal Herald.) Two cases in which the victims met their deaths either directly or indirectly through alcoholic poisonings were disposed of by Coroner McMahon this morning.

The first inquest was upon Robert Hilton, 30 years of age, of 5,000 Western avenue, N. D. G., who died on his way to the hospital Sunday night, after being found lying on the doorstep on St. Lawrence street in an unconscious condition. Evidence submitted showed that the man had been drinking heavily and an autopsy proved that death was caused through alcoholic poisoning. The Coroner rendered a verdict of accidental death.

In the case of Joseph Debe, 43 years of age, 114 St. James avenue, Longueuil a common poison had been the immediate cause of death but, after an autopsy, alcohol was shown to have been one of the indirect causes. A verdict of suicide was given, because of the statement made by deceased to the doctor shortly before his death, in which he said he was discouraged by unemployment, and had taken the poison to end his life. He had been drinking heavily for some time past, according to relatives.

Old Fitz could hit. Fifteen pounds lighter than his son, Fitz laughed at weight handicap. His theory was "the bigger they are the harder they fall" and they appreciated the worth of hitting and respected a hitter. Strangely enough, one of the smallest men he ever fought hit him the hardest.

BLAZING TURPENTINE BURNS BOY TO DEATH

Barrel Exploded and John Carbons Was Caught and Enveloped in Flames.

(New York Times) Blazing turpentine flowing from a barrel which had exploded in front of Isidore Bund's paint store at 211 Chrysler street yesterday afternoon enveloped a ten-year-old boy, John Carbons, of 218

Chrysler street, and burned him so badly that he died two hours later in Knickerbocker Hospital, Charlotte Park, 17 years old, of 2 Suffolk street and two painters who were in the store were cut off by the rapid spread of the flames and saved only by prompt action of firemen, who wrenched iron bars from windows in the rear of the store.

The explosion, the cause of which is unknown, was heard for two blocks, and a sheet of the burning fluid shot out and flowed over the sidewalk. The Carbons boy, caught before he could move, staggered out of the flames with his clothing on fire. Passersby caught him, rolled him in the gutter water and hurried him to the hospital. He inhaled some of the fumes and was also badly burned.

The heat from the burning barrel of turpentine broke the store windows, and the flames spread to the paints and varnishes in the store. There was no time for Miss Farb and the painters to rush through the door, and they made their way to the back, where they found escape was cut off by a locked door and barred windows. They were nearly overcome with fumes from the burning paints when firemen of Truck 5 rescued them.

Above the paint store is a tenement in which twenty families live, and those who were caught escaped by going to the roof and down through the roof building. The flames were out in a few minutes.
