DIAMOND MAKER HAS DISAPPEARED Alleged Swindler Said to Have Fled from Paris

Famous Formula Taken from Envelope and Excited the Laughter of the Court

PARIS, June 18.—This was the day upon which Henry Lemoine, the alleged diamond maker, who has been under arrest in Paris since last January, though, out on his most of the time, on a charge of swindling Sir Julius Wernher, of the De Beers Mining Co., out of a large sum of money by pretending to be able to make genuine diamonds, was to have appeared before Judge Poltvein to produce a diamond of a certain size and shape, to prove that he could really make diamonds. He failed to appear and Judge Poltvein, the examining magistrate, said that Lemoine had fled.

The comedy terminated today when the envelope containing the formula for making diamonds, which represented Sir Julius Wernher's security for $20,000 he advanced to Lemoine, was opened and found to contain nothing more valuable than the bottom found when Mme. Humbert's safe was opened. Sir Julius and his co-complainant, Feldensheimer, reached the law courts at 1 o'clock precisely. Judge Poltvein arrived at 1.30. The latter was not surprised by the non-arrival of Lemoine, saying he had learned he had been missing since Monday evening. He had issued a warrant for his arrest last night.

LETTER FROM PREFECTURE.

Judge Poltvein then invited the complainants into his office, where he found a letter from Lemoine, saying he was not coming to court, as he had failed in the St. Denis factory owing to the interference of his landlady. He intended to continue his studies elsewhere, and if he succeeded he would expect a diamond from Lemoine. He explained that Lemoine had not been under special surveillance, as he wished to give him perfect liberty for his experiments. He would now send the case before the Correctional Court, where Lemoine would be sentenced to imprisonment. If he were not arrested in that time the Statute of Limitations would apply.

SCHOONER COMRADE ASHORE AT RED HEAD

Vessel Left Here on Thursday for Apple River and in a Gale Was Blown Ashore.

The schooner Comrade is hard and fast ashore on the rocks near Red Head, not far from where the steamship Belgoia was wrecked. The vessel is owned by G. C. McHugh of Musquash who is also the skipper of the craft. She cleared the Custom House here on Tuesday for Apple River but did not get away until Thursday morning. When the vessel got outside she struck the gale which was blowing then and had some difficulty in keeping her course. Watchers from Reed's Point could see her trying first one tack and then the other in an effort to get clear of the outer harbor.

The gale was too much for her, however, and she was gradually driven ashore until she finally went aground on the rocks.

The vessel was under charter to C. T. White and Sons, of Apple River, and was on her way to that port in ballast to bring back a cargo of timber for W. Macdonald MacKay.

The schooner has had bad luck lately. On her last trip which was from St. John to Boston, she became water-logged and had difficulty in making port. It was intended to put her on blocks at Apple River and give her a thorough re-tanking to prevent the same trouble overtaking her again.

There was a fatal case of cholera in St. John, Pictou, on June 15th, when a police court charged with disorderly conduct and was allowed to go on promising to do better in the future.

MARRIAGES

McPARRLAN-GROSS.—June 15th, by the Rev. W. W. McMaster, pastor of Bernald street Baptist church, J. R. McParlane and Josephine Deacon Gross.

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE IN INTERIOR OF THE PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL All the Rooms and Wards are Being Renovated and Refurnished---Additions to the Heating Plant---Many Changes Which Make the Place Like a Home.

Persons who visited the Provincial Hospital in Lancaster four or five years ago and who go back today, would scarcely recognize it as the same institution. During the past three years under the superintendence of Dr. Anglin the building has been transformed into a comfortable and attractive home, the changes being such as must be seen to be really appreciated. Not only have the fittings and furnishings been entirely removed but in the system of management there has been a revolution and the institution is now very much like a big hotel. It was seen years ago that great confusion would be caused and a very large amount of money would be necessary if the work of renovating and refurnishing were attempted all at once. Accordingly, with the full approval of the late government Dr. Anglin has been gradually refurnishing the entire building and has already succeeded so well that now more than half of the rooms and wards have been changed. In the women's portion of the building only one ward, and that a small one, is still to be refurnished. On the men's side more than half have been done. In the basement several sections have been greatly improved while others are now in the hands of workmen. In addition to all this, important changes have been made in some of the larger rooms and altogether the results are little short of astonishing. Most of the ceilings in the refurnished wards are being covered with plaster of paris, and big patches of plaster were falling everywhere, giving the wards an unsightly appearance as well as proving a menace to patients and creating a lot of dirt. The walls were all bare. The wood work in the corridors and the corridors generally looked like those of a jail. Uncovered electric wires ran along the ceilings and walls. Sanitary radiators stood in the corridors, and in some cases were giving out a strong odor. The floors offered excellent opportunity for dirt and filth. The system of improvement which has been carried on, first attention has been given to the patients' rooms. In the arrangements made with Mr. James McLeod to put in steel columns from Atrave patients have been closed, and one ward after another has received attention. The work has been greatly improved the appearance of the rooms. There are in the hospital about twenty-five of the best painters, one of them being an adept at gilding. Under proper supervision they are doing excellent work in decorating the ceilings. The color scheme varies in each ward, blue and green, blue and red, blue and white, blue and blue, green and brown being among the combinations.

The walls in all wards and rooms so far renovated have been covered with far removed a height of from four to six feet, this surface being painted a different color from that of the plaster. As rapidly as is convenient, hardwood floors are being put down. Most of the old floors were so worn clean and besides, owing to the numerous wide cracks, including holes in the floor, they were kept perfectly polished after being oiled and the rooms have been treated to floor wax. The ceilings are attractive indeed. The ceilings, like charity, cover a multitude of defects, including holes in the plaster and electric wiring. Overhead electric lamps covered by glass shades are treated to floor wax. The system of lighting a great improvement has been made. Formerly the lights in each individual room opening off a corridor were operated by a single switch. Under that arrangement if a nurse wished to look into or enter a patient's room during the night it was necessary to turn on the light in all the rooms. This awakened most of the patients. It is a single knob located just at the door so that the nurse may turn on the light in each room separately. This was a simple change but has proven very convenient. A new style of lock is also being put on the doors. It is a single knob set in just as an ordinary lock, but the inside of the door there is no catch of any kind. A patient locked in his room finds absolutely nothing on the door by which he can pull it open. The door by which he can pull it open. The door by which he can pull it open. The door by which he can pull it open.

THREATENS AN ACTION AGAINST SAMUEL J. AIDE

Richard Walsh Wants Settlement—Claims That He Was Falsely Arrested.

Mr. Samuel J. Aide, of the West Side, has a complaint about the police court. It appears that on April 24th, during a busy day at Sand Point, one of the lower windows in Mr. Aide's place of business was broken. On going out to make inquiries he was told that it had been broken by two men who had gone up street. Mr. Aide followed and came across Richard Walsh and Charles Osborne, the latter being under the influence of liquor. He spoke to them about the window and says he obtained no satisfaction he called Policeman Gouline and gave the men in charge. They appeared in court next day. Mr. Aide was unable to swear that they had broken the window but offered to produce witnesses. Walsh stated that Osborne was intoxicated and unable to go home alone. He took Osborne by the arm and was assisting him to walk when the window was smashed.

Walsh was dismissed and Osborne was fined $4 for being drunk and ordered to pay for the glass. Mr. Aide has since received from Daniel Mullin, K. C., a letter intimating that unless a satisfactory settlement is made with him he will take action on behalf of Mr. Aide for false arrest and imprisonment.

The ground of Mr. Aide's complaint is that he was perfectly justified in giving these men into custody, and that the window was broken by the two of them were together. He would not feel so indignant over the matter if the door of the court had been carried out for the glass as he was told to do. Mr. Aide has visited the police court several times since then and asserts that he has been rather sharply treated. He will fight the case.

LAURENCE HERO SAVES TWO LIVES Boys Upset From Boat in Gravel Pit, And a Young Fellow With No Legs, and Only Part of One Arm, Ploekily Rescued Them.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The World says today: With stumps for legs, a stump for a right arm and his left hand minus several fingers, Joseph Gilligan, 18 years old, swam to the rescue of two boys in a gravel pit pond near Morris Plains, N. J., and saved their lives. Alexander Patterson and Augustus Monahan, twelve years old each, were in an old boat in the pond which is near the Lockawanna Railroad tracks at Morris Plains.

The pond is about the best deep at its greatest depth, and it was at this point the boys upset the boat while playing. Patterson could not swim and before he was dragged down, Monahan cried for help. Gilligan was sitting with other boys in the shade of a tree, but out of sight of the pond. He had been showing his friends the artificial limbs his parents had procured for him. He had unstrapped the limbs when he heard the cries for help. Not stopping to put them on Gilligan hurried to the pond. Plunging in, he swam to the spot where the boys were struggling, and grasped the two lads and pushed them apart. He then swam with one hand and pushed Patterson ashore. Returning Gilligan sought Monahan, who was sinking. The cripple also pushed him ashore. The two boys, grateful for his rescue, carried him to their home, where he received dry clothing. Gilligan ten years ago was run over by a trolley car in Brooklyn. He lost one leg above the knee and the other below the knee. His right arm was taken off at the elbow, and three fingers from his left hand. He learned to swim a few years ago.

TROUBLE AGAIN AT THE MILL STREET CROSSING

Harry Hayes and Roy True, teamsters, and Fred Campbell, a motorman on street car 16, were before the police magistrate this morning on charges of driving through the I. C. R. gates at Mill street crossing. They all claimed that the gates were up when they went through. The motorman made a rather glaring statement, he said that the gates were up and he went through and when in front of the depot he had to stop as a train was passing. He further said that he had received the signal from his conductor to go ahead when the gates were down, and has seen as many as three cars start while the gates were up.

It is a rule, however, that conductors of street cars are supposed to run ahead of the cars at railway crossings to see if the line is clear before giving the motorman the signal to go ahead. The magistrate let all go with a caution and told the motorman not to allow any teams or cars to remain half way between the gates.

THAT BIG STEEL TRUST WILL SOON BE FORMED

LONDON, June 20.—In spite of all denials, the Iron and Steel Trade Journal declares it has authority for stating that the formation of an international steel trust, in which American, German and Russian syndicates will unite with British steel interests, will be an accomplished fact in a few weeks. The headquarters of the new concern will be in London and its capitalization will reach £10,000,000.

PAN-ANGLICAN CONGRESS

LONDON, June 20.—The Pan-Anglican conference continues to maintain the interest both of the public and the press by its astonishing success. In addition to the largely intended daily sectional meetings, for the fourth night in succession, the last Albert Hall was occupied last night by an address by the Rev. Canon Cook, of the Diocese of London, on "Races Problems in Christianity." The Bishop of Missouri presided.

Jack Power received a telegram yesterday from Mike "Twin" Sullivan that the boxer would arrive in the city this afternoon. Sullivan will be welcomed by a large number of friends as he is a favorite here.

Mrs. R. A. Olive will receive her friends Tuesday afternoon and evening at her home 24 Guilford street.

SUFFRAGETTES WILL NOT COME TO CANADA Next Meeting of the Co. gr. ss Will be in England Think It is Needed There—Sound Advice From a New Zealand Delegate—Holland Has Hope.

AMSTERDAM, June 19.—The Women Suffrage Congress today decided that the next congress shall be held in England. Invitations from Canada were declined, as it was agreed. England needed the most immediate support of the suffragettes. There was some grumbling that most of the speeches were in English and so few in French or German. The foreign delegates found it difficult to understand the American voices.

An enfranchised delegate from New Zealand assured her sisters of America and Great Britain that they were more likely to gain the right of suffrage by patience and intelligence than by agitating and going to prison. The English suffragettes thereupon shouted a query, and the proceedings were momentarily interrupted. Testimony was given by enfranchised women from Australia, New Zealand and Finland to the effect that women voters often differ from their husbands politically without discord. They are always making efforts to secure social, educational and temperance reforms. It is not the Dutch, but the women, who have taken Holland. To the capital of the Netherlands, bearing the imprint of seven centuries, have flourished the most modern and progressive women of twenty-three countries, reading around the globe, with the approval of upstart teaching, overturning the established methods of government and changing the course of Church and State. And over a thousand people in Amsterdam and vicinity have paid five florins apiece to see them do it. Two years ago, in August, 1906, the alliance met in Copenhagen at the urgent request of a few progressive women who felt that Denmark was far behind her neighbors, Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Finland and even her own colony, Iceland, in all of which women had some political rights. At that time Denmark was a country of men, and this was said to be very largely due to the public sentiment created by the convention. At that time it looked as if the Netherlands might put women suffrage in the new constitution promised for 1908, and so the women were desirous that the alliance should hold a meeting here in 1908. Arrangements for it were practically completed when, a few months ago, the Liberal Government was defeated and the Clerical came into power. This checked all movements for any extension of the suffrage either to men or to women, but as the situation is only temporary, it was decided to go on with the conference. One feature of the programme rather odd, a whole afternoon devoted to a discussion of "Woman Suffrage from the Standpoint of Christianity" an effort to show that it is not antagonistic to Christianity. In Holland for many years the suffrage movement has been almost wholly in the hands of those who are known as liberals in religion. While the clergy, both Catholic and Calvinist, have bitterly opposed it. The speakers at this religious meeting, which is really attracting more interest than any other, are the Rev. Miss Shaw and Police Judge Catherine Waugh McCulloch, of the United States, the latter a Congregationalist. Lady Balfour, president of the London branch of the British National Suffrage Association, Frau Pasterhoff Blauesfeldt, the very orthodox wife of a Lutheran clergyman of Denmark, who is organizing suffrage clubs there within the church; Countess von Helldorf, of Holland, at the head of the social purity work. They will try to demonstrate that a woman may enter the political arena and still remain a Christian.

BANK RECOVERS BOND FOR DEFAULTING TELLER

TORONTO, June 20.—The court of appeal yesterday gave judgment in the case of the Crown Bank against the London Guarantee and Accident Co. to recover $1100, the amount of the bond recovered by E. S. Banwell and N. M. Mansell, teller and accountant of the bank, who fled in December, 1905, when Banwell ran away with $50,250.33 belonging to the bank. Mansell was held to have been at fault, but he checked off Banwell's figures and did not detect anything wrong. Judgment was given for the bank for the full amount.

LANGFORD DEFEATS BARRY

NEW YORK, June 15.—With a terrific right hand unopposed to the jaw, Sam Langford of Boston knocked out Jimmy Barry of Chicago heavy-weight, in the third round of a bout scheduled to go six rounds. The Pittsburgh Athletic Club tonight. The men were battling on even terms when Langford saw an opening and slipped in the knockout punch.

JAS. R. KEENE WINS PREMIER RACING EVENT

His Four Year Old, Ballot, Takes the Suburban Handicap—Racing Law Decreases Attendance.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Ballot, a sturdy four year old, son of Voter, today at Sheepshead Bay, carried an enormous white with the blue polka dot colors of James R. Keene to victory in the suburban handicap, the premier racing event of the United States. He won with ease by two and a half lengths. Struggling gamely forward at the finish came John, the Keene's three year old colt. King James, hard driven with whip and heels by Guy Burns, five lengths before Fair Play, the pride of August Belmont's stable. Master Robert was fourth, and the remainder of the field of 12 was well strung out. The time for the mile and a quarter was 2:08, being one-fifth of a second slower than the world's record for the distance made by Broomstick at Bridgeport, Conn., July 9, 1904. Broomstick used the same track and carried 140 pounds. Ballot was 112 pounds.

The enforcement of the new law against betting, however, had its effect upon the attendance today, for despite the brilliant weather, not more than 5000 persons were present, the gates to witness the classic race. Twelve horses faced the barrier for the $25,000 stakes and the honor of winning the race. Ballot was the favorite at 8 to 5, with Master Robert second choice at 4 to 1. King James ruled at 6 to 1, and Fair Play at 7 to 1, showing that, after Ballot, the three year olds were highly thought of by those who had the temerity to speculate on the race, for the older horses were quoted at long odds. Montgomery and Gold Lady being at 10 to 1, and the others gradually ascending in price, with the Canadian colt, Elliott, topping them all at 50 to 1.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO MIDDLE LIFE

All Women Need the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Actually Make

From girlhood to middle life the health and happiness of every woman depends upon her blood. If it is poor and watery she becomes weak, languid, pale and nervous. If her blood is impure, it is a source of trouble from headaches and backaches and other unspeakable distress which only women can understand. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, actually make the rich, red blood supply. Mrs. H. Gagnon, who for twenty years has been one of the best known residents of St. Johns, Que., says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a blessing to me. I was weak, worn out and scarcely able to drag myself about. I suffered from headaches and dizziness, my appetite was poor and to attempt household work was a task. I slept badly at night and what sleep I got did not refresh me. For nearly three years I was in this condition and was constantly taking medicines. But found no benefit from it. One of my neighbors who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with much benefit, advised me to try them. I did so, and the whole story is told in the words, 'I am well again, there are no more aches and I take the pills for they seem to me a guarantee against the troubles which so many women suffer from.' Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not act on the bowels. They contain just the elements that actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. That's why they cure anemia, indigestion, rheumatism, lung, headache, backaches, heart palpitations and skin diseases like pimples and eczema. That is why they are the greatest help in the world for growing girls who need new blood and for women who are troubled with irregular health. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail for 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FIVE ITALIANS KILLED BY PREMATURE BLAST

SCRANTON, Pa., June 19.—Five unidentified Italians employed by Burke Bros., contractors on the Lackawanna Railroad cut off at Lehigh on the Pocomo Mountains, were killed today by a premature blast. The blast had failed to explode and the foreman, a resident of Monroeville, near here, instead of using a stick, used an iron rod to see what was wrong. His tampering set the blast off, killing him and four others. The men were only known by their numbers.

SOME OF THE OMENTS AND SUPERSTITIONS OF THE SEA

The spread of education, the introduction of steam, and modern progress generally, have done much to eliminate the old superstitions in which sailors from time immemorial have placed such implicit faith, but they still wish for a wind, take black cats to sea, refuse to commence a voyage on Friday, and do and believe in many other things of which landmen laugh.

quite as ill-fated as the superstition concerning a Friday's voyage; but a horse-shoe "that has been found" insures a boat's safety if nailed to the mast with its ends upwards. A boot-jack or red garments of any kind are strictly tabooed by sailors, and it is considered to be an evil omen if a stray bird rests upon the yardarm of a vessel. It was formerly unlucky to pick up a drowning man, as he was sure to do the rescuer some injury—they seem to bear a great abhorrence for any locality which they cannot pass about dry-footed, and this must be the chief cause of their leaving a leaky ship, where they have to wander on an under deck too wet for them.

Save a drowning man at sea And he'll prove your enemy. Cats are generally supposed to bring good luck to ships. Bluejackets keep them as pets on a good many warships, and take as much care of them as they would of children. It is considered unlucky to drown or otherwise kill them at sea; in fact, some seamen believe it is impossible to get rid of them by throwing them overboard.

Another reason which Cookenale fisher-folk accept as a good plea for a day's idleness was the fact that a man who had been the first to wish them "Gude morning." This simple salutation coming from the lips of a stranger was credited by them as an omen of evil, and the man so saluted remained at home for at least a day. Then, when at sea, especially if going out or coming into port, if one of their number was heard to talk of the number of God in vain, the first neighbor who heard the expression immediately called out "Cauid iron!"

It is used to be considered lucky to commence maskered fishing upon May Day, as a good haul would be obtained by decorating the masses of the fishing boats with garlands. When the boats attached to the maskered nets were thrown overboard the fishermen used to shout a chorus:— Watch, barrel, watch! maskered for to catch. White may they be like the blossom on a tree. God sends thousands, one, two and three. Some by their heads, some by their tails. God sends thousands and never falls.

Resuming her journey, the vessel had almost reached her destination when she met with another mishap, and subsequently some months ago, she foundered altogether. This created a vacancy in the fleet, and another order was placed in the hands of the shipbuilders. On its completion the builders informed the owners, and proposed that the launch could conveniently take place on the Friday following, to which the owners hastily replied that on no account was the launch to take place on the fateful day mentioned, and accordingly it was delayed till the following day.

Amongst all superstitions there is one which is founded upon reason, and that is the fact of rats deserting a sinking ship. These rodents will stop in any place so long as there is food, but

As the last net went overboard the captain was careful to use the formula, "Seas all," which was supposed to ensure the perfect safety of the nets. Sailors undoubtedly believe in ghosts and tales of phantom ships are found practically all over the world. Admiral Foster, an officer of the early part of the sixteenth century, with three thousand of his seamen are still thought to haunt the bad rock which caused their deaths. Vice-Admiral the Prince of Wales has recorded that during his cruise in the Eschscholtz as a midshipman, in 1881, the phantom ship "Flying Dutchman" was seen.

In "Romances of West of England" there is a record of a phantom vessel that visited the Cornish shores on the occasion of a storm, and to rescue which delusive bark help was sent. Away they pulled, and the boat which had been launched still kept head by dint of mechanical power and skill, at length the helmsman cried—"Stand by to board her." The vessel came so close to the boat that it could be seen the men and the bow carmen made a grasp at the bulwarks. His hand fell nothing solid, and he fell. Ship and light then disappeared. The next day the Neptune of London, was wrecked and all perished. The captain's body was picked up after a few days and that of his son also. The specter of the Cape of Good Hope was early established in the credence of mariners of all nations. It is thus circumstantially described by the poet Camoens in his "Lusiad," whether from his own impression or following the vivid account of some other actual eyewitness, is not known.— Robust and vigorous in the air appeared enormous and of stature very tall. The visage grim and with equal beard. The eyes were hollow, and the gestures all threatening and bad, the color pale and scard. Most likely he saw it himself, for the life of Camoens was a very adventurous one, and on one occasion at least he nearly lost his life by shipwreck. Another famous story is the shrieking woman of Oakham Bay. This was said to be the spirit of a Spanish lady who fell a victim of cruel pirates in the seventeenth century. Whittier graphically pictures the scene for us:— 'Tis said that often when the moon is struggling with the stormy even And over moon and star is drawn The curtain of a clouded heaven; Strange sounds swell up the narrow gulf, And threatening and bad, the gestures all And scard. THE PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL.

If the system of improvement in the Provincial Hospital, adopted under the late government, is continued during the next year or two, New Brunswick will have an institution to which all may point with pride. The superintendent, Dr. J. V. Anglin, asserts that the credit is due to the hospital commission which has so very generously approved his suggestions and provided money wherever his ideas might be carried out. It is gratifying to note that since Hon. Mr. Haseen's accession to the premiership no intimation has been given that improvement to the buildings and grounds should stop, this being taken as an indication that the present government wholly approves the sentiment which prompted its predecessor to reasonable expenditure for the comfort of those whose lives are spared from death. As noted elsewhere in this paper, the changes which have been made in the hospital during the past two or three years can be appreciated only on personal examination, and reflect the greatest credit on Dr. Anglin and his assistants. Not only have the wards and rooms been rendered more attractive and homelike, not only have modern fittings and furnishings been introduced, but there is now lacking in the institution that atmosphere of tragedy, that hopeless outlook which in the past made such hospitals places to be avoided by the impressionable. Instead, an air of cheerfulness prevails; no one is ill, but all are "better to-day," and expecting to be better still tomorrow. There is freedom and happiness instead of confinement and suffering; pleasant employment which occupies the mind instead of idle brooding. In fact the old and new names of the institution almost correctly describe the change. It was once the Lunatic Asylum, a place to be abhorred. It is now called the hospital for the Treatment of Nervous Diseases, but might well be known as the Home for Mental Sufferers. It is indeed a home and no families in New Brunswick could feel the least hesitation in sending friends to it for help. Dr. Anglin has succeeded admirably. Mr. Haseen will no doubt make it possible for him to continue the excellent work.

THE SUFFRAGE CONGRESS.

Not the least sensible advice tendered the delegates to the Woman Suffrage Congress at Amsterdam came from an enfranchised representative from New Zealand. "You are more likely to gain the right of suffrage by patience and intelligence than by agitating and going to prison." The British delegates promptly challenged this assertion. They reply in the formula which has been so often used in their meetings at home and in their address to politicians: "When we keep quiet and quietly ask for the franchise we are told that the question is an academic one which must be carefully considered at some future time; but when we display a little force we are told that nothing can be granted a pack of elderly women." All of this may be very true, but it is not apparent that the British suffragettes ever persisted in their campaign of mildness. They all too quickly turned to the opposite policy and although some slight success has greeted their efforts it has not been equal to that won in New Zealand where persistent effort combined with modern councils has prevailed. This Amsterdam Congress is probably the most important yet held in the interests of woman suffrage, and being international in character will no doubt lead to the formation of some scheme for united effort. Conditions in one country may not resemble those in another, but the strength which always exists in union will not be found lacking in this movement. Two years ago the congress assembled in Copenhagen, and some few months ago the government of Denmark extended the franchise. The women of Holland hope for a similar result from the meeting at Amsterdam, and as if tempting fate still further the next gathering will take place in England.

Considering that he received one vote out of a total of nine hundred and eighty, Vice President Fairbanks' decision not to again become the Republican candidate for that office appears to have been marked by wisdom.

Mr. Henry Lemole, the "diamond maker" who, in spite of his failure to produce diamonds, has shown himself to be one of the cleverest swindlers alive, has quietly disappeared. He was to have made diamonds to prove in the court his original contentions. Nobody has been fooled excepting the court and those who invested their money in his get-rich-quick scheme.

COMPARATIVELY SPEAKING. Says I to myself, says I, "Old man, Between you and me and the post, I've sized you up sir, as well as I can"

And you're looking as pale as a ghost.

"Moreover, nobody would ever suppose A complexion as white as a sheet Belonged with that bloom on the tip of your nose,

Which I notice is as red as a beet.

"You're old as the hills and look like a friar,

And your face is as long as your arm; The frown on your brow is darker than night,

And your soul is as broad as a farm.

"You're thin as a rail and gray as a rat,

And your features are harder than stone;

Your eyes look as if you were blind as a bat,

And your voice is as dry as a bone.

"You drink like a fish and eat like a pig,

And your form is as crooked as S;

All around you're as queer an old thingumajig— Well, quesser than words can express."

Says myself to me, says he, "Old man,

Beware, or you'll get your reward! I've put up with your nonsense as long as I can,

Go on—you're as drunk as a lord."

Mrs. Jimmy Beau—My good man, do you ever reflect that our days are numbered,

Kinhardly Waddie—Yes, mum; sometimes I gets to costs an' sometimes as high as 60.

"You know, dear," cooed the bride,

"You promised to let me have all the pin money I wanted."

"Yes, love, and you shall have it."

"Oh! you dear thing! Well, I saw a pin today with diamonds and pearls on it, and I do want it so."

"Won't the manufacture of gems hurt our trade?"

Dr. Anglin—Don't think it will in the long run," replied the jeweler. "Think of the rush we'll have when we begin to give quart of diamonds, rubies and sapphires with every 38-cent watch."

The Bachelor—I wonder why they call the boys about a hotel "buttoned?"

Do you know?

The Bachelor—I suppose it is because you can never find 'em in the places where they should be.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE

MOSQUITOES.

The country is beautiful these days and nights and the moon is brightly at her full there are beautiful pictures everywhere. I sat on a friend's broad verandah the other evening, and I watched the setting of the sun and the rising of the moon and I saw the shadows of the trees slowly fade away as the sun went down. And then just as the last bit of sunshine went out, the moonbeams shone upon the water and made a path of silver. The birds had been singing their good night songs and then came cooling to rest and twittering their last sweet notes—and then quiet and a silence so profound that one fresh from the noise of the city would be oppressed by it. And then there came into this Eden a sound so horrible, that fair women and brave men walked before it. It was the bugle blast of the mosquito.

I have seen men (and a few women) who could bear the roar of the cannon and see the lightning flash, and remain quiet and unmoved, but I never saw a man remain quiet when a mosquito began to sting. I saw a woman—once, who was not afraid of a mouse, but I never saw a woman get who was not afraid of a "skeeter."

I read a scientific treatise once about the mosquito, his correct name, and how long he lived if he died a natural death. I did know once—but I have forgotten—which one does the biting, the male or the female, the man, or "the woman thou gavest me." I am glad that I have forgotten, for I am afraid that the scientist said that it was the wife and not the husband, but if he did say it was the woman, he must have been an old bachelor and did not sympathize with the suffragists and wanted a fling at anything feminine.

Mosquitoes are at home everywhere. They are true cosmopolitans. They know all languages and they are no respecters of persons. They have been known to dine on a king and sip out of a champagne glass, and have (almost) made a feason swear.

There are urban and suburban mosquitoes and they all sing the same old song, although the Boston mosquito is said to sing more artistically. If all the mosquitoes that have been stung at, had been hit, there would not be one to be found tonight save in the wilderness.

No person no matter how much he loves music, like a mosquito's singing. If they would only take their drop of blood without insisting on paying for it in music, they would not be as friendless as they are.

Mosquitoes are here only a short time. It is the short life and a merry one for them.

But the mosquitoes that wear clothes, derby and merry widow hats, are here all the year long and they, too, live in city and country. Who has not heard their buzzing and their stinging by them?

You never wrote a book, preached at a sermon, sung a song or did anything worth the doing, without being stung by mosquitoes. They are ubiquitous and they are more deadly than vipers. Life would be like a sweet song if it were not for human mosquitoes.

SCENE OF NAPOLEON'S HAPPY DAYS

Ten years ago two friends were enjoying a walk at Rueil, near Paris, when they noticed on a wall a big poster intimating that Maximilien was about to be sold by auction, and it immediately occurred to one of them that he might profitably become the purchaser of the domain where Bonaparte indulged in tenderest love, and passed the calmest and happiest days of his life.

A BONAPARTE MUSEUM. That intentional purchaser was M. Daniel Ostris, who, having affected the purchase and feeling greatly puzzled as to what he should do with the domain, ultimately decided that the wisest course to follow was to have the Administration des Beaux Arts—fine arts—as a state property, with a view of creating a Bonaparte Museum.

The generous offer was accepted, but it required a number of years to thoroughly repair this former residence of the First Consul, once so brilliantly attended by generals, statesmen and distinguished artists and men of letters. And now, with the assistance of the catalogue and guide-book, written by M. Jean Alabert, a well informed authority, the visitor is enabled to undertake through its various restored apartments and ornamental grounds an interesting historical pilgrimage.

SHORT ENGAGEMENTS. Josephine had her own kingdom—a kingdom of flowers. She had them sent from Martinique, while the British Government gallantly forwarded to Maximilien those found among the captures effected by British men-of-war.

Having viewed the numerous curios and relics once the property of Bonaparte and collected from all quarters, the idea naturally occurring to the visitor is what might have been the final disposition of it if he were in domestic retirement.

Once a week regularly Bonaparte spent eight or ten days in Martinique, and possibly for the time forgot his ambitious schemes of conquest. He joins in a game of hide-and-seek and tries his best to outwit his pursuers; now and again he stumbles over the root of a tree, which provokes the laughter of Josephine and Hortense. In the evening at La Malmaison there is amateur acting and music, in which he appears to take interest for a time, but he suddenly leaves his seat and retires to his study to elaborate the plan of some great forthcoming battle or outline the design of the Civil Code.

When he becomes an Emperor he repudiates Josephine, that "bonne grosse bete," as he sometimes styled the woman whom he had once so passionately loved, and under the influence of his domineering ambition he believes he will never have occasion to return to that home of his early affection. We shall see, by-and-by.

PATIAL NAME.

Only too soon, sad to say, La Malmaison justifies its fatal name, and Maximilien (had he been) Josephine, divorced, returns to her former happy home, to endure in solitude her wounded vanity, the remainder here two years, with intermittent absences for she had to travel by order of the Emperor who often visited her out of his way.

She was frequently accompanied by her grandson, little Louis, who, it is said, was passionately fond of sucking sugar-cane and who lived to be Napoleon III. After the abdication, Josephine visited in secret foreign potentates and Louis XVIII. She was taken ill with infectious influenza, of which she died. Her last words were: "Napoleon—land of Elba."

THE LAST VISIT.

If the prophecy of the old negro of Saint Domingo who predicted to her that she would live to be more than Queen, but would die in a hospital, was not entirely realized, she at all events was nursed on her death-bed by a maid who was not her own lady's maid, while on the day of her burial the crowd which had been attracted to Malmaison by the ceremony invaded the grounds and gardens and played havoc with her favorite plants and flowers. On his return from Elba after having broken his wings for evermore at Waterloo, the Imperial Eagle revisited La Malmaison and wanders disconsolate through the rooms formerly enlivened by the presence of Josephine. He turns away from them with tears in his eyes, and casts a last despairing look on those rose-trees, she loved so well. He has conquered. No ally to think of the woman he formerly loved. He surrenders as a prisoner to find what consolation is left for him in the remembrance of the happy days passed at La Malmaison.

PORTLAND, MAINE, HAS A BIG FIRE Building Worth $75,000 and Stock Worth $80,000 Destroyed Last Night—Fire Fighters Had Hard Work.

PORTLAND, Me., June 19.—The entire city fire department, including the reserves, called out by a general alarm, fought for several hours tonight against a fire which badly damaged the large four story brick business block in Monument Square at the corner of Congress and Centre streets. The fire started in the basement and went quickly up the elevator shaft, communicating to all the floors in a short time. The half of the building nearest the street corner was occupied by the firm of Haskell and Jones, tailors, while the floors above were divided into offices. The inside of the building on the Leving, Short and Harmon corners, was completely gutted from top to bottom. Haskell and Jones carried a stock of estimated to be worth $50,000, the greater part of which was covered by insurance. Haskell and Jones carried insurance to the amount of $25,000, and their loss will probably be one half of this sum. The building is owned by the J. B. Brown estate, and is valued at $75,000.

FINED FOR SHOOTING BOY IN THE LEG MONCTON, June 19.—On Monday the death occurred of a child of Mrs. Boudreau, Black River, Beauceche. The cause of the death was reported to be an unalloyed case of such a malignant type that extraordinary precautions had to be taken in preparing the body for burial and carrying out the interment, and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting anyone to assist. John Nash, who while shooting at a dog shot young Fred Patterson in the leg recently, was today fined ten dollars and costs in the police court. Moncton will have another building boom this year, permits having already been issued for twenty-five dwelling houses, all of the better class, costing from $2,000 to $4,000. The Bank of Moncton is also putting up a fine new stone structure on Main street. There promises to be an unprecedented boom in Moncton this year, and the western part of the city is expanding with great rapidity. A large delegation of Moncton Knights of Pythias expect to attend the convention in Boston in August. An enthusiastic meeting was held last evening and many signified their intention of going.

Asbestos

THE MONEY MAKER

The Demand Far Exceeds the Supply.

Engineer's Report.

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 18, 1908.

The D'Israeli Asbestos Co., D'Israeli, Que.
Gentlemen—Under separate cover I am enclosing you my report on your Asbestos Property, situated in the Township of Garthby, in the County of Wolfe, Quebec, which goes fully into the detail in each section. However, I wish to point out to you briefly the following points of advantage:

GEOLOGICAL FORMATION.—The Asbestos or Chrysotile is found in a dark green Serpentine, which is itself heavily interstratified with Asbestos.

GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION.—Only three miles distance from D'Israeli; property abundantly supplied with water; the hilly nature of ground, which will be of great assistance.

ACCESSIBILITY.—Only two and one-half miles from railroad connection.

LABOR.—Skilled labor is very cheap indeed, and also plentiful.

POWER.—Your contract of $25.00 for 24 hour horse power per annum is an asset, the value of which can hardly be over-estimated.

MINING.—This Ore can be reached so easily that the cost will be much under the Government estimate.

MILLING.—Good position for Mill, a quality of rock easy to separate the mineral from, and only a very small percentage of unproductive Serpentine to be treated, which can be done at a low rate.

GRADING.—The four Standard Grades of Asbestos, each of excellent quality, can easily be separated from your deposit on this property.

MARKET.—There is a large market for this mineral, which is still on the increase, and the price still continues to advance, as the latter have done even through the severe slump, which so heavily affected other minerals during the last year.

From rock taken from the surface of your Property, I find it produced 30 per cent. Asbestos, while at a depth of 30 feet there was a large percentage of Milling Rock, and 1 1/2 inches of the most magnificent Grade No. 1 long spinning fibre, giving 90 per cent. Asbestos.

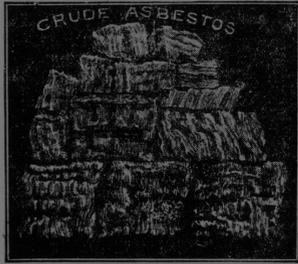

I am pleased that I have been able to report so favorably on your Property, which, with the above advantages, which your Property possesses, cannot help but become a splendid producer, yielding heavy profits over and above all working expenses.

Wishing you every success,

Yours faithfully,

EDW. J. COOPER SMITH, B. A., M.C.M.I.,
Mining Consulting Engineer, care of Drake Son & Parton,
24 Rood Lane, London, E. C. England.

Asbestos is quarried, not mined. Asbestos withstands heat, the force of fire, and is both water and moisture-proof. The uses for Asbestos are increasing rapidly. New and various uses for Asbestos are being daily discovered. Asbestos is largely used for the manufacture of fire-proof theatrical curtains and in the construction of partition walls. For several years Asbestos has been successfully employed in the manufacture of roofing and shingles, and in this respect it is without a peer, being not alone fire-proof, but heat, water and moisture-proof as well. We also have Asbestos fire-proof lumber, wall paper, plaster and paint. Asbestos is extensively employed for the insulation of steam pipes, boilers, gas loas, gas gratings. Likewise, it is found indispensable for the manufacture of gloves, boots and other garments for the use of electrical and furnace workers. Arc deflectors, a dozen or more of which are required in every electrical motor controller. Asbestos here, for the carrying of hot liquids, Asbestos table cover pads and flooring, Asbestos refrigerators, Asbestos writing paper, steam packings, insulation of wire, and other Asbestos products where permanency and fire-resisting qualities are desired. It is also used in the modern apartment houses as a floor declener and for window frames. Asbestos is a fibrous mineral—one of nature's unique products. The connecting link between the vegetable and mineral kingdom. In addition to the fire-proof qualities, it is practically indestructible. Asbestos is also used for the making of leather, filters, lining for floors, cloth and rope.

SPECIMENS OF CRUDE ASBESTOS

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of this Company is located 2 1/2 miles from D'Israeli, in the Township of Garthby, in the County of Wolfe, Province of Quebec, on the Serpentine Belt, better known as the Asbestos Belt, extending from East Broughton to Asbestos, the latter town being situated three miles distant from Danville, and comprises 250 acres underlaid with the highest grade Asbestos Ore. This property, in the very heart of the Asbestos District that ranks first in all the world, is more valuable than thousands of acres of "Prospective" Territory. There is nothing "Speculative" or "Prospective" about the Proposition. We have the Ore in sight, and samples taken from the surface show 30 per cent. Crude, and at a distance of 30 feet show 90 per cent. Crude No. 1, ASBESTOS, and it has been tested and Proven to be Highest Grade Asbestos. (See Official Report of Mining Engineers). The Ore outcrops at the surface and can be profitably mined to a depth of from 400 to 700 feet.

FINANCIAL PLANS

The D'Israeli Asbestos Co. is incorporated for $900,000 under the laws of Arizona. All Stock is fully paid and non-assessable when issued, and shares alike in the voting and management of the Property and Assets. The par value of the Shares is $5.00 each. Of this amount the Directors have authorized the sale of 80,000 shares, the proceeds of which will be expended towards the building and securing of necessary Machinery, etc., and for the exercise of existing options, and also to provide for working Capital. The remainder of the unissued Stock will remain in the Treasury.

It is the purpose of the Company to erect a modern Mill of 250 tons daily capacity, and further Mills will be erected when the need of same becomes apparent. This Mill, when completed, will be one of the finest that experience, invention and money can produce. We have recently secured an interest in an Asbestos Separator which has been proven and tested to be one of the finest ever invented, and will enable us, by the use of same, to market 30 per cent. of the material that is now thrown on the dumps, practically worthless by other operating Companies.

This Company has already been approached by a large German Manufacturer, who has offered to purchase the entire output of the Mines on a four-year-contract at very advantageous prices. This offer has been refused, as it is not deemed advisable to contract so far ahead, for the reason that Crude Asbestos is enhancing in value from year to year, and the Directors do not think it advisable to tie themselves up on a contract beyond the period of one year, thus taking advantage of the best markets, and in addition they propose to sell direct to the Consumer, obviating the necessity of paying Agents' and Brokers' Commissions.

INEXPENSIVE TO MINE

The Asbestos bearing rock is handled exactly like a rock quarry. No underground workings. No Tunnels, Drifts or Expensive shafts. The average cost per ton to procure Asbestos, is from $14.50 to $17.50, and sells as high as $600. a ton. This is one of the finest opportunities the investing public have had to acquire an interest in an Asbestos Company, as all the present Canadian Companies are close Corporations. One Company, according to the Canadian Report (See Canadian Government Report "Page 23," paid 2 1/2 per cent. dividends on $1,000,000 Capitalization.

If We Could

HAVE A—

with prospective Investors at our office, and show you the fine specimens of Asbestos taken from our property, and explain to you the wonderful possibilities of this Mineral, it would be an easy matter to interest you in our proposition.

We certainly have a straight-forward business-like offer to present to investors, and those of you who can call at our office, we urgently request your doing so. To others residing out of the city, we can assure them that any proposition, like Asbestos Mining, the profit-earning capabilities of which are explained so minutely, and quoted in the Canadian Mining Dept. Book issued by the Dominion Government, is of sufficient guarantee, that those participating in this venture feel absolutely assured of reaping large and permanent dividends.

Our advice is to buy now at the reduced prices. Stock will certainly advance at an early date.

NOTE

While all Minerals, such as Copper, Lead, Zinc and other metals, have declined frightfully during the late panic, ASBESTOS has advanced in price some 25 per cent.

Hustling Zebediah

By LUCY STEWART.

(Copyrighted, 1907, by E. C. Parcella.) "Jibes Strong, I'm not going to start this thing another day!"

"I'll allow us things was to me in," answered her husband after a minute. "It might if Emeline had a better, but she ain't got. I've let it go on and on, thinking maybe I hadn't better say nothing, but I shan't let it go another day. I may want you to help me. If I do, you've got to pitch right in."

Emeline inside of a week, for she was a bright, attractive country maiden, but Zeb waited three months. It came to be a case of love on both sides, and three months later he proposed and was accepted. It stopped short at that, so far as Zeb was concerned. He meant to marry some day, but that day was indefinite. Farmer Williams came to know of the engagement, but he had no opinion to express. He went on with his plowing and eating boiled dinners and left matters to fate.

It was this state of affairs that had provoked the indignation of Mrs. Strong. She didn't think it right on the part of Zebediah to keep Emeline "on the hook," as she expressed it. While all other young men were driven away by knowledge of the engagement, Zebediah continued to "poke around" as if he had fifty years to get married in. On one or two occasions, when he had come over to borrow a hoe or to sit on the veranda and discuss crops with her husband, she had spoken her mind pretty plainly. She had hinted that she knew of farmers' sons who were looking about for wives, and that there were more windmill and wife-fence men coming along than she could shake a stick at, but Zebediah was unmoved. She had made Emeline own up to the engagement, and she had advised her not to make a long engagement of it, but when the girl had blushing asked her what she could do, Mrs. Strong had no plan at hand and didn't know where she was to get one.

Fortune favors the conspirator as well as the brave. Two or three days after her talk with her husband on the veranda, Mrs. Strong's brother came on a visit from Illinois. He was a jovial, hustling young man, but he had a sweetheart back home, he would have fallen in love with Emeline Williams. It was while he was here that Mrs. Strong got her plan. It was as simple as sliding down a cellar door. She crowded and giggled over her half an hour, and was still crowing and giggling when the girl from across the road came over to borrow a hoe or to sit on the veranda and discuss crops with her husband. The discovery was made that Miss Emeline was not in her room. Her wardrobe had been overhauled and she had evidently fled. The discovery was not a minute old, when Mrs. Strong came over to report that her brother was missing. "After Jim Smith, the justice!" "What fur?" "There's going to be a wedding here in less'n an hour. And there was, and though the groom was roughly for a while, he soon got over it and acknowledged that he was glad of it. That is, he was glad he had married five or six years sooner than he intended to, but if the "squire" ever returned to that neighborhood, let him look out for a broken neck.

There was another horse in the barn and waiting only long enough to slip on a bridle. Zeb mounted and was off for the nearest village. As he went clattering through the midnight darkness he saw red. In his heart he was a murderer ten times over. He did not have to go to the village, three miles from home he met a boy driving the old gray mare homeward. He had been paid a dollar by the "squire" to do so after the young man had taken the train. The boy was positive that there was no one with him. The old mare was put to a gallop for home, and the farm house was reached to find father and daughter at the gate. Emeline had explained that she had sat up late fixing over a dress and had finally gone up to the garret to hunt for some pieces of cloth. "Elope?" She had never even dreamed of it. In love with the young man from the West? She couldn't say she even liked him. At this point Mrs. Strong came into the discussion to say that her brother was very erratic and sometimes did strange things and that when he took sudden resolves to go home he sometimes borrowed even a horse and buggy without consulting the owner. She hadn't heard him, say he was going home, but he didn't always let her into his confidence. Zeb heard her out and then clumped into the buggy. "Where are you going?" asked the farmer. "After Jim Smith, the justice!" "What fur?" "There's going to be a wedding here in less'n an hour. And there was, and though the groom was roughly for a while, he soon got over it and acknowledged that he was glad of it. That is, he was glad he had married five or six years sooner than he intended to, but if the "squire" ever returned to that neighborhood, let him look out for a broken neck.

There are many reasons why you should ask for the above well advertised articles, but absolutely none why you should let a substituting dealer palm off something which he claims to be "just as good," or "better" or "the same thing" as the article you ask for.

The buying public recognize the superior quality of well advertised and standard articles like Gillett's goods. The substituter realizes this fact and tries to sell inferior goods on the advertiser's reputation.

TALK OF ANOTHER ROER WAR IS SILLY

South Africans Say There is No Reason for Fear.

The Government and the Police— Artillery Corps to be Established —Affairs in Cape Colony.

CAPE TOWN, June 19.—The Congress of the Afrikaner Bond has concluded without further incident. The proclamation of the proposed visit to the Congress of Herr Dernburg, the German Colonial Secretary, has occasioned relief and satisfaction. A feature of the proceedings at the Congress was the unflinching spirit with regard to past events which characterized the president's address, which showed in marked contrast to the most frank and friendly utterances of the younger members of the Bond.

Efforts are being made to improve the financial position of the Cape Government Railways. An extensive withdrawal of concessions is announced, together with curtailments in the train service. Many towns will only have a train every other day. It is significant that the withdrawal of concession affects the towns more than the country.

Owing to the concession of railway construction work at Lobito Bay, in Portuguese West Africa, a number of workmen are returning at the end of the month.

JOHANNESBURG, June 19.—There is yet no sign of the government departing from their high-handed policy with regard to the police "reorganization," unless the "Grand Mall" petition praying that the question be postponed may be said to foreshadow a strategic retreat. The feeling in the police is very bitter. The men are complaining that, whilst British Indians readily find influential supporters in England, no one raises a voice in their behalf. The complaint, however, is not justified, for Lord Selborne, recently addressed a strongly worded despatch on the subject. The Home Government moreover, have flatly refused to sanction the proposed retrenchment of a certain batch of six officers of the South African Constabulary.

Despite the grave discontent which exists among the important sections of the British community here, the foolish talk of another Boer war is denounced on every hand as absurd. In the first place, because the Transvaal government is taking no risks. That is so not only in the Ammunition Act passed last season, which is manifestly aimed at the "Witwatersrand" and in the speech made by Mr. Smuts last Monday, in which he made the statement: "It has occurred to me that the best thing to do is to attach a trained artillery force to the Transvaal police." Their decision is doubtless pending upon the proposition of Dutchmen who will ultimately be in the force.

The meeting held yesterday to organize a public appeal on behalf of the Young Men's Christian Association suggested that, at the request of the representative of the British Governor General was urgent to draw a large audience had departed. Mr. Selborne's assurance had departed. Mr. Selborne's assurance had departed. Mr. Selborne's assurance had departed.

LONDON COMMENT ON TAFT'S NOMINATION

LONDON, June 20.—Most of the morning newspapers and the weeklies which are issued today, print editorials on President Roosevelt's triumph in securing the nomination of Secretary of War Taft for the presidency. The Daily Chronicle says:

"To save the life of his policy he loses his life as president. It is an interesting phenomenon in the working of the American constitution."

The Daily Graphic describes Mr. Taft as an "American Napoleon," adding that there is something Napoleonic about this creation of new dynamic legitimacy under the shadow of the stars and stripes."

All of the newspapers pay tribute to Secretary Taft's great qualifications for the high office to which he has been nominated.

The chief point of the Republican platform that is attracting attention here is the fiscal plank. The Nation thinks it would lead to a reduction in the tariff in favor of free trade in Great Britain.

MONCTON UNION CELEBRATES.

MONCTON, June 20.—Lodge No. 684, The International Association of Machinists last night celebrated their fifth anniversary. The ladies' auxiliary, which was recently organized, joined in the celebration, and two hundred were present. The speakers pointed out that the union was making great progress on the I. C. R., something like ninety-five per cent. of the machinists on the I. C. R. being organized.

Percy L. Higgins, who is to be married next week, was tonight banqueted by friends at the American Hotel.

OIL CAR EXPLODES.

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., June 19.—A car of oil, standing in the freight yards of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad, caught fire from some unknown cause tonight and exploded. Hugh McKay, a brakeman of Plymouth, was seriously burned about the face and arms. Several freight cars were totally destroyed and a number of passenger cars badly damaged.

MAN AND YOUNG GIRL FOUND DEAD IN PARK.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., June 19.—The bodies of Miss Arline Knisely, 15 years of age, and Charles S. Stach, 59 years, were found late tonight in the city park. Both had been shot in the back of the head. The police say Stach managed a moving picture machine at Akron, while the girl acted as his cashier. Whether the tragedy was the result of a suicide pact or the couple had been murdered, the officers have not determined.

BOMS THROWN AT TAMMANY CLUB

NEW YORK, June 19.—A bomb, said by the police to have contained nitroglycerine, was thrown at the front of the house occupied by the Kanawha Club, the Tammany organization of the Thirtieth Assembly district on East 124th street tonight, resulting in an explosion that frightened 200 of the club men, standing around the steps to the building and smashed all of the windows.

NEWFOUNDLAND AND THE POSTAL SYSTEM

Ancient Colony Wants Something That Will Shut Out United States Trash.

ST. JOHN'S, June 19.—It was represented to the Imperial Post Office authorities by the Canadian Government some years ago that the Dominion was flooded with cheap United States literature, and that if postage were reduced on British periodicals it would have the double effect of benefiting the British publishers and deepening Canadian loyalty to the Empire. The request was, after considerable delay accorded to, and the result has been a splendid success; an immense increase in the volume of British literature in Canada, and the gain to the postal revenues has been steadily increasing. Now it will be clear to the nearest understanding that, as British North America is one country geographically, Newfoundland's application to share in the reduced postage allowed to Canada was curiously refused. Exactly the same conditions occur here as in the Dominion. This Colony is flooded with trashy United States literature, books and periodicals, whilst the postage on British books and papers is kept up at four times the rates allowed to Canada. The Treasurer who came here with the Prince of Wales declared Newfoundland was "the most English of all the Colonies they had visited in the Prince's tour around the world."

PROGRESS OF SOCIALISM IN NEW ZEALAND

WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 19.—One sometimes hears New Zealand spoken of as the State in which Socialism rules. It depends upon what is meant by Socialism. Sir J. Ward, the Premier of the Dominion, has said recently, "We are determinedly opposed to that revolutionary Socialism which destroys individual efforts." Our Socialism is not, and never has been, "revolutionary." Socialism in any sense of the term, it has been State action, providing the conditions and facilities by which the greatest number of men and women may get on in the world. It is easy to show how well the system works. The total yearly earnings of the people of New Zealand is $24,000,000, of which amount the women earn $2,500,000. As an example of the progress of a single city, Auckland may be taken. Six years ago it had a gross capital valuation of five and a half millions; today it is nine and a half, and the rateable value of the area, which soon will be included in the city of Auckland is thirteen millions.

Caterpillars are creating havoc in sections of the province, but particularly for young mothers. They are the most fatal months in the year for babies and young children, because of the great prevalence of stomach and bowel troubles. These come almost without warning, and often before the mother realizes that there is danger the little one may be beyond aid. It is the duty of every mother to use all reasonable precautions. For this purpose no other medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets. An occasional dose will keep the stomach and bowels free from offending matter, and will ensure trouble comes unexpectedly the Tablets will speedily cure it. Every home, therefore, should keep the Tablets on hand always; they may be the means of saving your child's life. They are guaranteed free from opiates and narcotics, and may be given with perfect safety to a new born babe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PROFESSIONAL WIDOWS.

NEW YORK, June 19.—A despatch to The Herald from New Orleans says:—That professional widows exist here was indicated today when four women applied consecutively for the belongings of a sailor washed overboard from the schooner Anita D. in a recent Lake Pontchartrain squall. When the vessel weathered the blow Anita D. was on her way here from Mandeville and docked this morning. A few hours afterward a woman in deep mourning came aboard. Between she told Captain Clarke she was Mrs. Anderson and asked for his wages and belongings. Clarke told her Anderson had drawn all that was coming to him. The woman then ransacked the dead seaman's locker "for keepsakes" and left. Fifteen minutes later another "widow" climbed aboard and asked for details of her husband's death. This was all she got. The captain was still puzzling over Anderson's past when another somberly veiled female presented herself as the third Mrs. Anderson. Clarke dismissed her without ceremony and went astore to notify the police. When the master returned he learned that another "widow" had called in his absence.

WANTS WIFE RELEASED TO CARE FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Thomas V. Doucett Now in Asylum

In Fit of Insanity She Killed Her Baby—Now Cured and Family Want Her at Home Again.

With four or five children at home needing the care of a mother, Thomas V. Doucett, of Moncton, is making strong efforts to secure the release of his wife from the Provincial Hospital for Nervous Diseases.

For four months Mr. Doucett has done what he could to look after the motherless children, but the household feels the need of the guiding hand of a mother.

Dr. Anglin considered her to be better, but did not wish to take the responsibility of releasing her as he thought she might at some time possibly relapse from a similar attack.

Speaking of his efforts to have Mrs. Doucett released from the Provincial Hospital, Doucett said he had talked the matter over with Dr. Anglin who believed Mrs. Doucett was perfectly healthy mentally at present, and said Dr. Anglin had promised to communicate with the Hon. Mr. Hazen regarding the matter.
