> LIEUT. LAWLOR KILLED. TORONTO, Sept. 4-A private cablegram was received tonight stating that Lieut, John Lawlor, of the Inniskilling Dragoons, had been killed in action in South Africa. Lieut. Lawlor was a gallant young officer, and a son of the late Dr. Michael Lawlor of this city. He was educated at Beaumont College, Windsor, England, for the army, got his commission in 1'98, and went to South Africa with the Inniskillings on the outbreak of the war. He was with Gen. French in the cavalry engagements of the campaign. Lieut Lawlor was 26 years of age and the owner of a most valuable business block in Toronto.

The minister of railways has been greatly bothered over the question of a constituency. Careful enquiry in these two constituencies demonstrates beat Mr. McAllister nor Mr. Powell, so that he has to look elsewhere. It is now intimated that the minister will be a running mate to Col. Tucker in St. John. Mr. Burpee having resigned his senatorship, it is proposed to give the seat in the upper house to Mr. Ellis. Messrs. J. H. Doody and John Russell, of St. John, were here a day or two ago to urge Mr. Ellis's appointment, and Mr. Blair is understood to be not adverse to recommend Mr. Ellis, as by so doing it might assist in restoring harmony in the party ranks in St. John, and at the same time give him (the minister) a constituency to contest. Mr. Ellis was here on Sunday, but did not see Mr. Blair, his business being with the

There is little doubt, however, that Germany's reply is the outcome of the discussion carried on during the last few days between the European cabinets, and that the compromise policy of maintaining the occupation of the capital but withdrawing the greater part of the troops to Tien Tsin will be found to have met with general concurrence.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—Several spatches have arrived from Washington during the last five days, which have met with various interpretations here. One of these is that the United States government intended to withdraw its troops from Pekin if Russia did the same. Official circles were slew to believe this, however, although a short Washington despatch received today seems to confirm it.

The withdrawal of the Russian and American forces from Pekin would, of course, upset Germany's programme, as outlined in Count Von Buelow's circular of July 3, and would create a wholly novel and much more difficult situation.

The press continues a lively discussion of the Russian proposal, the more plain spoken papers pointing out that Russia's motives are selfish. The Centrist organ, the Cologne Volkszeitung says:

"Russia's purpose is to get all foreign troops as quickly as possible out of China, and then to lay aside the mask and seize the empire for herself. Her proposal is an unfriendly act toward Germany, since Count Von-Waldersee announced that he would never give an order to retreat." The Vossische Zeitung says:

"Russia is trying to establish a protectorate over the Celestial Empire, in doing which it makes no difference to her if she vexes Emperor William and thwarts the policy of Germany."

Even the semi-official Berliner Post expresses "painful surprise" at the latest French report upon the expedition led by Vice-Admiral Seymour, showing how the Russian detachment refused full co-operation with the

"Whatever force is left in Pekin." says the Post, "must be strong enough to defend itself against all attacks by the natives, and not merely a small detachment representing the sovereignty of the powers."

The papers print with evident satisfaction British opinions hostile towithdrawal from Pekin. The Leipsic Neuste Nachrichten connects the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia to Balmoral with Russia's proposition.

(War Correspondence London Mail.) WITH HEADQUARTERS, CHINA EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, HONG KONG, July 21.-I arrived here yesterday on the transport Nuddea from Calcutta, with General Sir Norman Stewart and staff and a wing of the 24th Punjab Infantry. On the Nuddea were General Sir Norman Stewart, I. S. C., commanding the 1st Brigade, and two members of his staff; Major Leonard, 5th Infantry, Hyderabad contingent, orderly officer; and Capt. T. The 24th Punjab Infantry arrived in Calcutta by special troop train at about half-past ten on the evening of Monday, July 2. They had been delayed some time owing, it was believed, to another train having been derailed or some similar cause. The officers of the regiment walked into the docks and managed to procure a meal from the staff of the Nuddea, the vessel on which they were to embark the following day.

UNACCUSTOMED HEAT. The next morning the regiment moved into the docks, and the work of embarkation commenced. Every one was working at high pressure throughout the whole day in spite of the heat, which to many of the officers and men fresh from the cooler stations in the Northern Punjab was excessively trying. The work of landing the stores was not actually commenced until the morning of departure, the previous been devoted to coaling, and as the vessel was carrying three months' stores, in addition, I believe, to coal and water for an almost similar period, this portion of the work was no light task, as may well be imagined. However, every one worked with a will, and soon after six o'clock everything was on board, the deck being piled high with bales and packages of every description. The men of the 24th Punjab Infantry were then formed up in No. 1 shed and marched on board, the anchor being weighed immediately afterwards. The departure could scarcely be termed inspiriting, the sole spectators being three or, perhaps, four Europeans and the native do:k hands. SEPOYS IN STRANGE SURROUND.

INGS. On the miscellaneous collection of bales and packages with which the deck was laden sat, squatted, or laid, some three or four hundred sepoys and followers, very hot, very dirty and full of wonder at their new surroundings. Presently they began to settle down a bit, and all the stores having been successfully deposited in the hold, the sepoys began to make themselves comfortable, and talked, smoked, and ate as though they had been used to being on the water every day of their lives; in fact, later in the evening, they had so far adapted themselves to their position that we heard a little weird and melancholy music, wafted aft as we glided slowly down the river after dinner, and evidently emanating from the Afridi section of the community. The Nuddea did not go very far that night, but cast anchor just opposite to Princep's Ghat, facing the Calcutta Maiden, the myriad lights of the city twinkling merrily on her starboard bow.

UNIVERSAL MAL-DE-MER. At about four o'clock in the morning, while the city still slept and the shipping loomed up stern and grey on either side, she stole quietly away and proceeded on her course up the river. But a few hours later she stuck in mid-stream, and owing to the falling tide it was not until well into the middle of the afternoon that it was possible to resume the voyage. The next day she reached the open sea and dropped her pilot, the pilot brig signalling with flags, "Success, adieu." From this time onward for three days the weather was stormy. The Nuddea is not at all a large ship, and she rolls fearfully in a heavy sea. All the sepoys, with the exception of a couple of dozen or so, were utterly prostrated, and only two of the officers were fit enough to descend to the saloon for meals. Afterwards the weather settled down to a beautiful calm, but the heat was very great throughout the voyage. The horses suffered fearfully during the stormy days, and Colonel Lorne Campbell's charger Warrior, to which he was greatly attached, as it had been through several campaigns with him, was killed. Ice and vegetables began to run very chort as the vessel neared Singapore, but she was not allowed to stop there even for an hour or two, although every one on board was dying for news, as the captain had strict orders to push straight on to Hong Kong.

LEARNING THE NEW RIFLE. Every day during fine weather the men were paraded on deck and instructed in the use of the new .303 Lee-Enfield rifle, which most of them

The news of the flag raising was soon the talk of the town, and to say that the people were angry is putting it very mildly. A dozen volunteered to cut the pole down without further ceremony. Admiral Upshur was particularly whement in his denunciation of the man and the deed. Chas. H. Wood, chairman of the board of selectmen, called on Mr. VanNess and politely requested that the flag be taken down, as it was considered ar. insult to the British, who had accepted cur invitation to come here on a friendly visit. Mr. VanNess refused to grant the request, whereupon Mr. Wood returned to the Gentlemen's Club, where the excitement was at fever heat, and held a council of war. Again the owner of the flag declared that he would never haul it down and defied the officers to remove it. Quite a crowd had gathered to listen to his address against the Britsh and their methods. When he had finished, Mr. Wood stepped out to where the pole was erected and himself applied the knife to the halyards, and the Boer standard floated to earth amid the cheers of those assembled. The flag was taken to the police station, where it is now held.

Railway Question that Grave ly Affects the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Blair Flatly Refuses to Permit Business Men to Choose by Which Route They Shall Send Their West-Bound Shipments.

Sun respecting the controversy between the Canadian Pacific and the Intercolonial: "This dispute, which is exciting so much interest, has not, I think, been quite fairly presented in some west to newspapers. Although the Intercolo-nial, that is to say, Mr. Blair, is a rarty to it, there is no reason why it should be made a political issue. It discussed as such without reference to obscure the truth.

"There are certain undisputed facts, namely, that the Canadian Pacific was compelled to build its line to St. John by the action of the maritime members at Ottawa, who did not wish to see Boston become the winter port of our transcontinental road; that by the act of 1885, parliament voted the line a subsidy of $186,000 a year for twenty years; that the company forthwith began to develop an export business at St. John, and that to encourage it still further in that patriotic work Sir John Macdonald made an arrangement with it whereby it gct a share of the passengers and freight coming here from and going hence to the western provinces. "Certain newspapers maintain that this arrangement was unfair to the Intercolonial; for instance, that the Canadian Pacific trains running bethe local fares along the route between St. John and Halifax and Halifax and St. John, so that the Intercolonial was literally fleeced. This is entirely untrue. All local fares collected on Canadian Pacific trains between those points go into the treasury of the Intercolonial. The Canadian Bacific gets nothing save and under similar circumstances on other eastern railways. I mention this matter to show how far astray those western papers have gone which have the argument. Canadian Pacific trains are run through from Montreal to Halifax and from Halifax to Montreal simply for the convenience of the public, and the receipts from through tickets are divided in the usual way. But, as said, every cent received from local passengers and the mileage proportion of fares paid by through passengers using Canadian Pacific trains within the territory of the Intercolonial goes into the coffers of the Intercolonial. "Parliament subsidised the line to St. John because no set of men in their senses would have built it without public aid. In the first place distance is against it: Miles.

Montreal to Portland (Grand Trunk) 297 Montreal to Boston (C. P. R. and В. & М.) 342 Montreal to St. John (Short Line). 481 Thus a car containing export freight for St. John has to travel, coming and returning, 368 miles further than a car on the Portland route, yet the export rate to St. John may not exceed the export rate to Portland. Again there is no export traffic to St. John in summer, Montreal getting it all; and little local traffic at any season of the year, Northern Maine being a wilderness. The subsidy runs out in five or six years, and then the Canadian Pacific will have to meet the fixed charges on the Short line, which amount to $600,000 a year without assistance from any quarter. "Sir John Macdonald made the traffic arrangement I have spoken of because he considered it was advantageous on the whole to the Intercolonial, and also because he felt that the dominion government had a common interest with the Canadian Pacific in building up St. John as a winter port. In pro-Confederation days the Grand Trunk had established itself at Port-That road was designed to land. open up upper and lower Canada, and had no interest in the maritime provinces. But on the completion of the Short Line the Canadian Pacific set itself to develop a winter port in Canadian territory, and the government of the day felt bound to co-operate. Very little import traffic (traffic from Europe) comes by way of St. John, the bulk of such traffic destined for the western provinces arriving at Portland. Boston or New York. Hence the Short Line was likely to be what railroad men called a one-way road for an indeterminate period, and this consideration moved Sir John to give it a fair share of the local freight going west from the maritime provinces He wanted to see St. John become a winter port worthy of the name. There are state reasons why Canada should not be dependent altogether on Portland or New York. "The Intercolonial is in no position, however, to carry export traffic to St. John, the distance from Montreal to help to promote the export business of St. John is to make a traffic arrange-ment of some sort with the Canadian Pacific so that the latter may get as much return freight as possible from St. John in order to help it to overcome the handicap of distance and the further disadvantage of being a oneway line. Sir John perceived this and made the arrangement accordingly.

"Mr. Blair came along, however, and, having extended the Intercolonial to Montreal, terminated the arrangement with the Canadian Pacific. Traffic originating in the maritime provinces and destined for western Canada is now carried by the long route of the Intercolonial to Montreal and handed over there to the Grand Trunk and its American connections beyond, Of course, Mr. Blair is quite right in making all he can for the Intercolonial; that is his plain duty. Only he ought to be sure that the traffic he hauls pays for the hauling and is not carried in part at the taxpayer's expense. He must confess with the rest of us that, whether the traffic pays or not, A prominent Canadian railway man it is a curicus sight to see our governmakes the following statement to the ment railway feeding a line which for half the year does its best to divert Canadian business from a Canadian port to a port in the United States. If he is promoting the interest of the Intercolonial he is certainly not promoting the interest of St. John or Halifax, or helping to bring about a united Canada. "There is a feature of the case which is a novel one in railway disputes on is a railway question gravely affecting this continent. In some European the maritime provinces, and should be countries, where the ownership of railways is mixed, it has been found politics. The newspapers referred to that injustice resulted from the commake out that Mr. Blair is standing up petition of the state-owned lines with for the public interest, whilst the Can- the lines owned by companies; and adian Pacific is fighting for its own various devices have been adopted to hand against the public interest. It get over the difficulty, such as the is unfortunate that partisan claptrap arcelling of territory, the purchase of this sort should be employed to by government of the private lines affected, and so on. But this is the first time such a conflict has arisen in America. So long as the western terminus of the Intercolonial was at Levis the Intercolonial was not a competitor in anybody's way; but its entrance to Montreal at once brought it into competition with the Canadian Pacific, that is, with the road which has it in its power to make St. John a place of greater commercial importance.

"Obviously the government has a tremendous advantage over a company as over an individual in any business in which it may engage. In railroading, for instance, it obtains its rolling stock and supplies free of duty and can do pretty much as it pleases in other respects. No one expects it to earn a dividend; indeed the Intercolonial is not even expected to make revenue meet expenses. Such a feat has occasionally been accomplished, tween Montreal and Halifax pocketed but the opposition, now the liberals, now the tories, have in each instance pointed out that it has been due to legerdemain in bookkeeping. Competing with a government railway, which can draw at will on the resources of the country, resembles nothing so much as the case of a private trader competing with a rival who does not care whether he goes bankrupt or not. except the fares for its sleeping or The minister of railways, whoever he parlor cars and a mileage rental for may be, can quote rates from th the use of its trains, which, by the maritime provinces to western points way, is less than the mileage paid which the C. P. R., even with its shorter route, would be hard set to meet, by the simple process of making good the loss by charging items to capital which by rights should be charged to imported the bias of partisanship into revenue. He can procure lots of business in that fashion, and newspapers will praise him for swelling the receipts of the Intercolonial without, however, telling the people that they are paying through the nose for it. "As I understand it, the Canadian Pacific is ready to meet any reasonable rates the Intercolonial choose to nake. But Mr. Blair flatly refuses to ermit our business men to choose for themselves whether to ship to the west via the Canadian Pacific or via the Intercolonial and the Grand Trunk. He has established a boycott against the Canadian Pacific as regards westbound freight from the maritime provinces, and yet expects it to supply St. John with export traffic against the competition of Portland-to carry the longer distance for the same rate and > Trunk, which 'n turn is the mainstay of Portland? "Mr. Shaughnessy does not ask the government to restore the traffic arrangement which Sir John Macdonald made and Mr. Blair terminated. Time and events have put that out of the question. What the Canadian Pacific offers is, briefly, to make it worth while for the Intercolonial to permit shippers to send freight to and from the west over its line from St. John, by giving the Intercolonial an arbitrary or constructive mileage. This done every day railway world where, as in this instance, two roads of unequal length are seeking to draw traffic from a certain territory. The Canadian Pacific is willing to concede the Intercolonial a minimum mileage of 330 miles in the division of receipts whenever that allowance does not exceed local maritime men going to do about it?

merely that Mr. Blair may have the satisfaction of feeding the Grand rates. In very many cases it would pay the Intercolonial better to accept this arbitrary than to handle the freight over its long route. For example, the rate for a carload of flour from Guelph to Halifax via the Grand Trunk and Intercolonial is $63, or 21 cents per 190 pounds. The Intercolorial proportion of $39 for a haul of 837 miles, or .31 of a cent per ton mile. If a carload were routed via St. John, the through rate would be the same, but the Intercolonial for its service from St. John to Halifax, 275 miles, would be paid for 330 miles and receive $17.25, or .43 of a cent per ton mile. Contrariwise on a carload of fifth class freight from Moncton Toronto via Levis, Montreal and the Grand Trunk, the Intercolonial receives $4.28 per ton for a haul of 651 miles, or .66 of a cent per ton mile. If the same freight were sent via St. John and the Canadian Pacific, the Intercolonial would be paid for 330 miles, although the distance from Moncton to St. John is only 89, and that such an arrungement as this would be of direct benefit to the In-tercolonial; that is, it would pay it to turn over a fair proportion of the freight going west from the maritime provinces and coming east from the vestern provinces to the Canadian Pacific under this minimum mileage, rather than to do the hauling over its long route for bare cost or loss.

"The prime consideration, however, is that the government ought to cooperate with the Canadian Pacific in maintaining St. John as the Canadian winter port and ultimately in running a fast line from Halifax. The only way in which the government can be of assistance lies in its giving the Canadian Pacific a fair proportion of the busin ss between the maritime provinces and Western Canada, as large proportion as it can concede without doing injustice to the Intercolonial and I'm certain that public opinion will support it in thus standing by the interests of Canada."

CHARLOTTETOWN.

Alexander Martin, M. P. the Choice of the Conservatives of East Queens.

Split Among the Liberals in King's County -Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr Foster Given a Rousing Reception.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Sept. .-At the convention of the Liberal Conservatives today, Alexander Martin, M. P., was nominated for East Queens. Every district in the riding was represented by a full quota of delegates.

Martin's majority at the last election was over 300, and there is little doubt it will be largely increased. His opponent will be Attorney General Mc-Kinnon. A conservative convention will be 'ield at Summerside tomorrow to nominate a candidate for East Prince. A. A. Lefurgy, the well known merchant, will likely be the choice. That nomination made, the conservatives will have a candidate in all of the five ridings in the island, and they are sanguine that at the elections four out of the five members returned will be supporters of Sir Charles Tup-

In Kings county, the liberals a year ago nominated J. J. Hughes to oppose A. C. McDonald, M. P. They have now called another convention for tomorrow, when an attempt will be made to turn down Hughes and substitute for him either Dr. Robertson or Thomas Kickham, both aspirants. A bitter feeling exists among the rival liberals. At Martin's convention today speeches were made by Mr. Martin, Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Foster. A most hopeful feeling was the prevalent tone of the speeches. Liberals all over the island are announcing their adherence to the conservatives. Hon. Mr. Foster received a big cheet when he said the liberals had promised up to the hilt, but had not fulfilled to the point of the dagger. Tonight over 3,000 people gathered in the rink and gave an enthusiastic hearing to Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Foster. The leader was presented with an address by the conservative association. Several hundred called on Sir Charles this afternoon at the residence of W. S. Stewart, the liberal conservative candidate, who opposes Sir Louis Davies.

And Senator O'Brien in the City on Their Return from Newfoundland.

Among the travellers who put up at the Dufferin Tuesday were Senator Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Senator O'Brien. They agreed some time ago to pay a visit to Newfoundland haul back empties into the bargain, at the end of the session, and are now returning from their tour. Sir Mackenzie remarked that he was not well posted 'n Canadian politics just now. When he left Canada the defeat of the government seemed, to be in the air, and he had not discerned any change on his return. Down in Newfoundland they have an election campaign. It seems to be a question of Reed and anti-Reed. No doubt the Reed enterprises have been a great boom to the province. This seems to ben generally admitted, but there are important differences of policy as to details. The Reed railway is a good line and appears to be well managed. The boat which connects with Sydney is a good one. The two senators inspected the modern city and are of the opinion that a great future is in store for Cape Breton. Sir Mackenzie is not making predictions, but he heard it remarked that Sir Charles Tupper would probably have a majority of about a thousand in the county. "Are you taking a hand in the cam-

But little attention was paid to them at the time, but it has since transpired that they were hired to go over the city and tear down the posters announcing the visit here on next Saturday of Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Geo. E. Foster, and the public meeting at the Opera house in the afternoon. The grit emissaries did their work well, as but few posters' remained on the boards or fences on Monday morning. "I have been to see the governor today in company with the Hon. Mr. Todd and Capt. Robinson. We urged him to make a strong call on British minister at Washington by telegraph to urge upon American government the necessity of their sending U.S. troops to Eastport and Calais to prevent this attack from their territory and preserve peace on the border. We also asked him to send some regular troops down. He said that Col. Cole and Gen. Doyle were strongly opposed to this, as it might happen that they would be attacked by superior force and defeated; and that a defeat of even a few regular troops would be made much more of by the Fenians than if they were opposed merely by militia. I told him that it was hard that our young men should have to bear the whole brunt and run the risk ing was in hopes to have been able to

He said there was none in the province except the few pieces in St. John, and they would raise a great disturbance if it was taken from there, He promised me that he would send down the two pieces which they have in Fredericton as soon as the river opened, which will be clear on Monday. We also urged that one of the men-of-war should be sent to the Ledge, so that in case of attack the marines and sailors could come to our

What the National Policy Has Done

WESTVILLE, N. S., Sept. 3.—Large day speeches by Sir Charles Tupper,

Major McDonald was in the chair. major." On the 15th, the diary says:- are allowed to wear side arms when speakers were Charles Fergie, Rev. Rifle Co. at Christ church. Despatch off duty. Troops in garrison will Robert Cumming, John Moffatt and the masters of the P. W. A. lodges that were making the demonstration. The Westville band, under the leadership of James White, played a number of selections before speaking commenced, the programme beginning with the "Ladysmith March," composed by Robert Wilson, the trombone player of the band.

> Sir Charles Tupper was received with loud cheers. It had been made the rule today, he said, that the speakers were not to talk politics, but he thought it was impossible to speak at a labor meeting without talking politics, for labor is the soul and heart of the country. Long before his public life began, he had been closely associated, he said, with labor, having been appointed physician at the Joggins Mines when that property was under the General Mining Association. Sir Charles glanced backwards at the condition of the province in 1857, when he entered the government of Nova Scotia, when all the coal was vested in the Duke of York. The next year they were freed by the united efforts of the conservatives and liberals. In 1858 the total output of coal in Nova Scotia was 221,720 tons. In 1878, at Sydney, he had unfolded the National Policy, a policy which he felt would change the inactivity in the coal business that prevailed into scenes of vigorous and increasing prosperity. With the freedom of the speakers were not to talk politics, but scenes of vigorous and increasing prosperity. With the freedom of the mines in 1858, the output of coal had grown in 1878 to 690,000 tons. This year it would be 2,419,000 tons, and in a very short time the output would rise to 5,000,000 tons. If the pier at Sydney today could ship 15,000 tons daily, that amount would not more Sydney today could ship 15,000 tons daily, that amount would not more than meet the demands. Sir Charles alluded to the iron bounties which he had advocated and enacted, and pointed out how the protective tariff that his government had given to the country had worked so well for the coal and iron industries of Cape Breton, and had tremendously enhanced the status of the working men of Cape Breton. The time had come, Sir Charles was proud to know, when lib-

Breton. The time had come, Sir Charles was proud to know, when liberals and conservatives allke could publicly praise the vital value to Canada of the National Policy. Since that policy had been promulgated, 15,000 miles of railway had been constructed in Canada, and manufacturing had increased with wonderful strides, giving vast employment to the labor of the country. There is no country on the face of the globe that presents such magnificent opportunities for labor and capital as does Canada. Why is it, then, that we have less than six millions of people, while the population of the republic is seventy millions? Sir Charles replied to his own question by saying that in comparison with the age of the United States and of the Dominion our progress had been proportionately greater than theirs. He pointed out that Canada is greater in area than the United States; that our fisheries are vastly superior to theirs; that every country is looking to the conditions. In favor of prohibition, and pledge ourselves to do all we can to bring it about." A vote of thanks was tendered to the rail-reads and steamboats for courtesies shown to the delegates of this convention.

The meeting adjourned to meet the first Friday before the first Lord's day in September.—Carried.

At 2.30 p. m. an address was given on Home Missions by Dr. R. Bentley Ray, followed by a discussion, and at 7.30 a praise service was led by F. 2. Ford of South Lucter, Me. At 3 p. m. there was a Home Missionary rally, when addresses were made by H. E. Croke of Kempt, N. S.: J. H. Harding of Lord's Cove, A. Martin of Muncie, Ind., and H. Murray of Westport.

On the Lord's day at 7 a. m. a prayer service was led by J. Barry Allan, and at 10.30 a. m. a song service, led by Lyman Peters. At 11 a. m. the sermon was preached by J. H. Hon. G. E. Foster followed, speaking of the great benefits which had been secured by labor organizations. They were bound together laudably to gain their rights. Labor organizations strive to raise the standards of education and the facilities for education They advocate the principles of brotherhood among workingmen, of work for the alleviation of sickness and distress. The objects are sufficient warrant for the existence of labor organization of the country. Mr. Foster pointed out how dependent on each other are capital and labor, but either is helpless without the other, and how both are dependent on the man in the laboratory. Premier Murray, who was the next speaker, presented an array of figures. showing the wonderful progress in wealth and industry that Canada had made in the past thirty years, and he challenged anyone to say in the face of the progress of the past what would be the splendid position of Canada thirty years hence. (Applause). A. C. Bell, M. P., E. M. McDonald M. P. P., C. E. Tanner and Mr. Moffatt, grand secretary of P. W. A., followed with brief speeches.

The Horses Not in Very Good Shape

OLIPHANTSFONTEIN,

July 19th, 1900. Dear Father-I have not written you since we left Deodepoorte, nearly a We left Deodepoorte Camp in a hurry about three o'clock one morning, on a false alarm that the Boers were advancing, and as we were outlying post (as we always are, being mounted) we shifted into a stronger position about a mile away. The same day a small force, fifty men from A and B squadrons, one hundred mounted infantry, and one hundred New Zealanders, with machine guns, made a march towards Hebron and camped there for four or five days to cut off communication between Boers in Pretoria and the Hebron district. This was a very pleasant camp, not nearly so many guards, In the evening a political meeting brigade camp. When this force rejoined the brigade, one troop made up of men from B suadron, twenty in all, under Mr. Young, one of B squadron officers went out to relieve a troop of PICTOU, N. S., Sept. 3.—Sir Charles Montmorency's scouts who were camped about twelve miles west of Pretoria.

> We stayed there only one day, when we were relieved by a squad of cavalry. We then got orders to rejoin the brigade on the other side of Pretoria.

We spent one night in Pretoria-five of us hunted up a hotel and had a good meal-the first time I have sat down to a table since leaving the Cape.-Next day we joined the brigade at Reitfontein, ten miles S. E. of Pretoria, stayed there one day, then came here, twenty-seven miles from Fretoria, and between that place and Johannesburg.

We seem to be here just to block the Boers from advancing south, and I think are only a part of a general ine. We have had some fighting to do here, the artillery have been engaged nearly every day. Sunday a week ago we got into a mess and had to retire. B squadron was supporting some guns and got a bit knocked about with shrapnel. We had eight casualties out of the fifty men we had in this squairon. White, the only one who was seriously hurt, was hit in the stomach by was done for, but he is now doing well and may live. He is a chap from Canring, N. S., and has been horse holder in my group since we joined. A first rate fellow, we are all very sorry about him. Armstrong got a bullet hrough his foot which will lay him up for some time. These were the only ones hurt in the maritime provinces troop. We also had some horses killed. Our force had to retire, which is something new for us, and the Boers chased us, but did no damage.

Next day we escorted the same guns, took a position on a hill and put in a quiet day, lying alongside our horses smoking and sleeping. The Boers left us strictly alone till about four o'clock, when a shell dropped near us and woke us up pretty thoroughly. We retired out of range, but not before they had two or three more shots at us, the last one of which laid out Mr. Young, who was leading our troop (Mr. Borden was sick in Pretoria), wounding him slightly in the head.

We don't like escorting guns, as usually we get shelled without the chance of firing a shot-not much fun in that. We all thought we must have a force of Boers surrounded, as they stuck to it so well, but I am afraid that was a mistake.

The next few days we held a position, but were not attacked. The day before yesterday the Boers made a general advance, drove in our piquets and attacked us with a good deal of determination. (It is a new sensation for us to be attacked; usually it is the other way round). The fighting lasted all day, and 1 think they must have lost a good many men. Our battalion, or what is left of it, supported a piquet of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, which were nearly cut off. It was here that poor Borden and Birch were killed and three or four men badly wounded.

We know very little about the fight-ing, except what goes on in our own little corner, as the space occupied by our brigade extends two or three miles, and about other brigades we know nothing. You know more about Monday's scrap now in Canada than we do here. The colonel of the Irish Fusiliers wrote to Col. Lessard thanking him for helping them out of a tight place, and Lord Roberts congratulated the brigade on the way they had worked.

We leave here, I believe, tomorrow to take part in a general advance. Our horses are not in very good shape. We have been getting remounts, but they don't stand the work very well, being a poor class of Argentine ponies, and most of them played-out ones that have been given a month or so to pick up. The battalion has dwindled down A lot of fellows have gone on the railroad as brakesmen, conductors, telegraph operators, policemen, etc. More have gone back sick. We have only twenty left in our troop and about seventy in the squadron. Every corps out here is the same way. We have been expecting the war to end for some time, but there seems to be lots of fight left in the Boers yet, and we may be at it for some time before we are ordered home.

Your affectionate son,

JACK.

THE SEM'-WEEKLY SUN

ST. JOH! (, N. B. SEPTEMBER $, 1900 IN DEPENDENCE OF PARLIA-

Five years ago Mr. Mulock, now postmaster general, became troubled about the demoralization of parliament. He saw danger and wrong in the acceptance of office by members of the house, and introduced a bill to make such appointments unlawful. Not only did he propose to forbid the appointment of members to the senate and other desirable positions, but set about to provide that no member should be eligible for office until twelve months after the dissolution of

Speaking in support of his measure, Mr. Mulock said :

Not less than seventeen memters chosen by the people were taken from their places in parliament and put into positions of

After stating that men then in house had the promise of office, Mr. Mulock proceeded:

If the government of today can dangle public offices before their followers, and induce a few, and perhaps an increasing numter, to aspire to these positions instead of representing their constituer ts lere, and exercising an unbiased judgment and a wholesome influence upon the administration of the day, they become mere parasites upon the administration, and cease to voice the cpinion of their constituents. Not only do they do that, but moving about among their colleagues, they become, as it were, corrupting agencies within their own ranks. So it has become, in my opinion, a crying evil; and parliament is cast down from its high resition. There is even a worse evil growing out of this abuse. All through the country the electorate, noticing these things, are oming to the conclusion that the highest aim a man can have in seeking public life is that he may, through parliament, find his way into a comfortable position for life, Thus we have coming into public life, office seekers, place hunters, instead of those ready to make sacrifice for love of their

Mr. Mulock's view was supported in still stronger language by Mr. Lister, who afterwards sat in the present parliament with the promise of office, and is today a judge.

In four years fourteen members of the house received offices of emolument under the crown. It is believed that at least a dozen others hold promises of appointment which will be fulfilled before the elections. The following members of parliament have already been provided for in the manner that Mr. Mulock condemned in the language above quoted :

Constituency. Position. Name. Francis Forbes, Queens, N.S., judge, Queens N.B., senator. G. G. King, F. Bechard, Iberville, senator, M. C. Cameron, West Huron, gov'nr 7,000 J. Dr. Rinfret, Drummand, judge, J. Lavergae, F. Langelier. Quebec Cen., judge. P. A. Choquette, Montmagny, judge, St. John, senator, J. V. Ellis.

SENATOR ELLIS.

The announcement, that Mr. J. V. Ellis has been appointed to the senate will not be so much of a surprise to the readers of the Sun as to those few unfortunates who confine their political reading to the government press. It has been well understood that Mr. Ellis would not again be a candidate in St. John with Mr. Blair's consent. It was equally certain that he would not be easily crowded out against his own will. On the whole, it is creditable to Mr. Ellis that he has stood out alone in the house of commons among the New Brunswick supporters of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as one who was not controlled absolutely by the minister of railways. Mr. Blair has little use for a member of parliament who is not properly submissive to himself as minister, nor properly appreciative of the class of opportunists, contractors, go-betweens, and political bargainers, who swarm in Mr. Blair's vicinity.

It will also be learned at an early day whether the removal of Mr. Ellis from the political field will make a place for Mr. Blair as a candidate of for some other man who satisfies the requirements of the minister.

Mr. Ellis has a large number of personal friends in St. John who will rejoice that he has reached a position where he can yet enjoy the pleasure of public life and be free from much of its anxiety. He has rendered much service to his party, and has earned THE CANDID VIEW.

Sir Charles Tupper is a gr at newspaper reader and is quite ' Akely to see some of the Telegraph treatises tell- Sir Chas. Tupper Cheered by ing him how great a failure he has been in public life. These articles, if not explained, to aght leave the impression on the Careless mind that Editor Hannay d' a not know history. The impress an would not be correct. Dr. Hann ay is both a reader and a writer of history. The editor of the Telegraph is not ignorant of Sir Charles Tupper's merits and of his services to his country and to this city. He has often sounded the praises of Sir Charles Tupper, and still does so in his candid moments. The real opinion of Dr. Hannay, the historian, was expressed not long ago in words like these:

"Sir Charles Tupper is one of the abjest chempions of the conservative party, a man of dauntless courage and of great resources, the man who brought Nova Scotia into confederation, and whose influence has changed its political complexion so completely that instead of standing eighteen opponents to one supporter it now stands sixteen supporters to one opponent.

"The opposition newspapers don't want Sir Charles Tupper, because they know that with his wonderful ability, courage and resources he is able to rout them, horse, foot and artillery. Most of them have sense enough to conceal their feelings, but not so the 'Silly Telegraph.' "

We repeat these strong and truthful statements in justice to Dr. Hannay, lest some careless persons might suppose him to be unable to appreciate statesmanship and statesmen.

MR. POWELL.

Mr. Powell has accepted the nomination of his party in Westmorland. He has had a fair share of honor paid him during his parliamentary career. and now enjoys a tribute from his opponents. It is supposed that Mr. Blair, who does not approve of Mr. Powell, induced the premier of New Brunswick to resign office and try to defeat Mr. Powell. If Mr. Emmerson ventures into this struggle he will have the patronage of two governments on his side. He will also be provided with a copious fund. And yet it is quite likely that the place on the bench will be kept vacant for Mr. Emmerson until after the election. That would be another tribute to Mr. Powell's strength, and a concession to Mr. Emmerson's prudence.

parently been keeping in close contact with the enemy. There are no definite reports of their engagements or operations, but frequent cables mention the names of wounded or missing men of the corps. We are left to infer that they are engaged in a succession of skirmishes, and in scouting expeditions, which involve the risk of capture or of long separation from their comrades. Many of Lord Strathcona's men are retired mounted policemen, accustomed to act alone, and possessing great courage and dash. They are expert horsemen and quick and accurate shots. When reached Africa they were sent to the east and were among the last of the colonials to get a share of the fighting. Now their turn has come to perform the service for which they are best qualified.

GOING OUT OF THE BUSINESS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is credited with the sarcastic remark to the effect that he did not wish to be interviewed, but left that to Sir Charles Tupper. It was not thus last October, when the premier gave out to the Toronto Globe the statement that the government could not and would not offer troops for Africa, as the Canadian militia could not be used except for the de-fence of the colonies. "There is no menace to Canada," said Sir Wilfrid, "and although we may be willing to contribute troops, I do not see how we can do so. * * * We simply could not do anything. So it is that we have not offered a Canadian contingent to the home authorities. As to Canada's furnishing a contingent, the government has not discussed the question, for the reasons which I have stated-reasons which, I think, must easily be under-'stood by everyone who understands the constitutional law on the question. When Sir Wilfrid reads this inter view and remembers what came after it, he naturally resolves to abandon that field of enterprise and leave the interviewing to a man who does not have to take it all back in a fortnight

MEMBERS AND CANDIDATES. In the general election of 1896 the Laurier party elected eight members in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. Of these three are now sena tors and one is a minister. Dr. Lewis Colonel Tucker and Colonel Domville are yet to be heard from.

Of the defeated Laurier candidates in this province one is a senator, one post office inspector, and at least two others have office of some sort. Lieutenant Governor McIntyre of Prince Edward Island is a defeated candidate. and of those in Nova Scotia one is a senator and one is in the service of the marine and fishery department and ne went back to a provincial office. So far as is known every one of the eighteen opposition members now representing maritime province constituencies will be a candidate in the coming election. Most of them have already been nominated, and in regard to the others there are no signs of a his rest and reward. May he live long desire for a change on the part of themselves or their party.

LIFE SAVING STATION. The new government life saving station at Seal Cove, Grand Manan, has been completed. The coxswain is Frank Benson, a very active and competent man; there are six boatmen and three reserve men, all of whom reside close to the station. The boat house is an excellent one, 20 ft. by 36 ft.. with quarters in the upper deck for shipwrecked persons. There is an iron railway launching slip, with skids to suit, so that the boat can be put afloat even at dead low water in a few minutes. Signals and all details incidental to such a station have been provided, and Captain Bloomfield Douglas, R. N. R., under whom the work was carried out, is naturally quite proud of this station.—Courier.

GREENWICH HILL, Sept. 3.

To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-Permit me to acknowledge the kindness with which we have been received into our new home and field of labor. On Tuesday, Aug. 28th, a number of friends took us by surprise by coming to our home and taking possession of it and us. We spent a very enjoyable evening together. The people here seem to possess the ability to be happy and cause others to be sharers in it. Kindness and good will seem to predominate among them. Chaste in conversation; considerate in action; kind to all; what wonder, when hey meet, that hours of sociability should glide quickly away. Cake and coffee were served, after which we were treated to the best of ice cream, which was exceedingly refreshing in this hot weather, awaking in us the desire to sing for gladness. Timely and appropriate speeches were niade, giving expression to the harmony and good will that prevailed. Then we all knelt down and thanked our God for His kindness. As we retired we all felt the joy that springs from fellowship with each other. coupled with communion with God. May the Lord continue to bless the

LIGHT ON THE TEXT. Introduction .- Jesus had been dining with a Pharisee (11: 37) and discoursing to the guests there. Coming out of the house he found great multitudes awaiting him. He then began to address his disciples in the hearing of the crowd, when he was interrupted by the man referred to at the beginning of the lesson.

Helps over Hard Places.-13. One of the company.-Of the crowd, not a disciple. Speak to my brother.-He thought that one who preached so against sin would be the one to right his wrong.

14. Who made me a judge.-Christ refused because it was not his business to interfere with personal quarrels, but to declare great principles; because his was a spiritual kingdom, and to decide the quarrel would have made neither party better, but todraw them to settle it in brotherly love would be great gain; because he was the friend of both. 15. Covetousness.—Greed of more, desire to get more at the expense of others, too great love of money. A man's life, i. e., the happiness, usefulness, value of life. Not in the abundance.-What a man is, not what he has, makes him happy and useful. 16. A certain rich man.-He seems to have been honestly rich, as it came from the fruitfulness of his lands; but even honest riches may be a curse. 18. Barns.-Usually holes in the ground, walled up, with an opening at the top. All my fruits and my goods. -He would hoard, not use; the first element in the rich fool's folly. For rot and rust and vermin and decay, in innumerable forms, begin their work with nimble and busy fingers on unused property. 19. Thou hast much good laid up for many years.—He counted on a long life; the second element in his folly. Eat, dring, and be merry.-He thought to satisfy his soul with granaries and their contents; the third element in his folly. He expected to satisfy that which is immortal with mortal things; that which was made in the divine image, with the food of beasts.

20. But God said unto him. This is contrasted with what the man has said of himself. Thou fool.-Literally, fool, sensless, unthinking one. So different from what the shrewd man thought he was.

21. Rich toward God.-Rich in those things which God loves, and which bring him near to God-rich in love, in character, in good works, in deeds of kindness, in labors and gifts for the salvation of men; rich in all that makes the glory of God and the bliss

22. Take no thought.—Be not anxious. "Thought" in old English atothe time our Bible was translated meant anxious thought.

Fred Marshall of Grand Falls tells a wonderful story of escape from being crushed to death in a log jam at the Grand Falls. At the foot of the falls, he says, the logs have piled up crossways and endways to a distance of a hundred feet or more. Twenty men have been engaged for two weeks or more using dynamite blowing the jam. Some heavy charges have been used, but even yet the monument stands apparently as firm as ever. One day last week after a very heavy charge of dynamite had been used under the jam, it, seemed as if it was going to topple over, but after an hour or more the pile remaining in place as firm as ever, John Mitchell of the dynamite crew conceived the idea that another heavy charge under the key log might start it. Mitchell took a coil of fuse and walked down over the rocks and up to the base of the pile, where he was to place the charge. He had measured the fuse and cut it off and was about to climb back after the dynamite, when the whole jam settled and the logs piled down over him. All the crew could see him as the logs rolled over each other and made another big pile some sixteen feet high over him. It was fortunate for Mitchell that two great spruce logs feil down endways, one striking on either side of him, both on end, and as the pile closed around him the two great spruces kept their position about four feet apart. Mitchell was rendered unconscious for some time, but when he came to he could see a streak of light far above him and succeeded in climbing out. When he reached the surface and looked at the pile of logs around him and realized that he was still alive and well he could not keep from crying. Not a man of the crew ever expected

Mitchell among the rest.

Liberal Conservative Convention Ever Held in the Old County

Speech of Acceptance Delivered by Senator Wood on Behalf of Mr. Powell, Who was Absent on Account of His Mother's Death-The MONCTON, Sept. 6.-The liberal conservative convention of Westmorland, which met in the Opera house this afternoon, was the largest and most representative of the many large and representative conventions held in this fine old county. Upwards of 420 delegates were in attendance, representing every polling district in the county. In the unavoidable absence of President Black, Vice-President O. M. Melanson, M. P. P., occupied the chair. After the formal opening,

H. A. Powell, the present member was nominated in a rattling speech by John Fawcett of Sackville, seconded by Alex. L. Wright of Salisbury. Dr. L. J. Belliveau of Shediac, Jas. Webster of Shediac and others.

The motion was carried amidst great enthusiasm by a standing vote. Senator Wood made a neat speech of acceptance in behalf of Mr. Powell, who was absent on account of his mother's death, and the convention then proceeded to the discussion of a number of resolutions, all of which were unanimously adopted, as follows: Moved by R. A. Borden of Moncton and seconded by A. E. Trites of Salis-

Sir Charles Tupper, bart., as the honored and respected leader of the liberal conservative party in Canada, and do acknowledge the ability displayed by him as our leader; and do recognize him as one of the fathers of our great country."

Moved by P. G. Mahoney, warden of Westmorland Co., and seconded by W. A. Russell, barrister, of Shediac: "That this convention recognizes in the Hon. George E. SUSSEX, Sept. 3.-The firemen Sussex and their visiting friends owned this town all day, in fact it was not until midnight that the residents of this usually quiet place realized that they had anything to say with regard to it. The day was an ideal one except that it was too warm for the visitors from St. John, and even Moncton and Amherst people complained that it was a little on the hot side. The town was in holiday attire, and everything was looking its best. The St. John firemen .nd salvage corps men reached the village about 10 o'clock and were escorted to the fire station. Later on the Amherst and Moneton fire !addies with large crowds of friends arrived and were given a cordial welcome. streets were thronged with people, hundreds naving driven in from the surrounding districts. The pretty dresses of the ladies and the flashy uniforms of the men who had come to help our boys make the Labor Day celebration a success made up a scene which will not soon be forgotten. The local band and the musical organizations from outside enlivened the day with choice music. Flags were thrown to the breeze from every available place. It was almost noon when the firemen's procession was formed in front of the fire station. Very little time was consumed in getting the men into line so perfect were the plans and arrangements of the committee who had this part of the celebration in hard. The procession was as follows:

The Sussex Hose Reel, drawn by the Mem-

horses. All the bands played well, and all the firemen were attractively uniformed. The marching was good, that of the St. John salvage corps men excelling of course. The new uniform coats of the north end salvage corps company created much admiration. The procession moved all over the town. The streets were packed with prople, and the crowd became very enthusiastic at times. When the firemen returned to the fire station they were cheered by the people, and then dinner was the order of the day. The town is now without a large hotel, but the houses which are in existence did their part admirably towards satisfying the appetites of the hungry hundreds. Several of the religious denominations, realizing the difficulty in this respect, provided meals at convenient places so that all were well cared for in this particular as in all others.

In the afternoon the fifth annual sports of the firemen were held on the exhibition track, a place of which all Kings county people should be proud. The attendance was very 'arge. The grand stand was crowded, and the open spaces near it completely filled with people. The officials of the day were: Judges, Chief Engineer Ackman of Moncton, J. Pickering of Amherst and Foreman John Bond of St. John: referee, S. A. McLeod; timers, S. Chapman and Geo. H. Barnes; starter, Jesse T. Prescott; announcer, H. E. Gould; clerk of coarse, J. M. McIn-

The various events were warmly contested and the results of each are given below: W. H. Irvine of St. John captured the 100 yards dash in 10 3-5 seconds, good time considering the track and the wind which prevailed at the time. James Bradley, who had a handicap of 3 feet, was second. There were six starters in the halfmile bicycle race for firemen. Wm. Mc-Leod of Sussex was the winner, with E. Howes, also of this place, second. The time was 1.14. Assistant Chief Bell of Amherst had an easy time of it in the 50 yards dash for married firemen. His time was 6 seconds. J. Trenholm of Amherst finished second. Wilder C. Hoar of Sackville got first place in the 220 yards dash, time 24 3-5 seconds. G. A. McLean of Amherst was second. The time made in the hose coupling contest, which consisted of a run of 50 yards and making the coupling, was as follows: J. Hamilton and D. Ring, St. John, 14 2-5; W. Potts and H. McBeath, St. John, 13 4-5; A. McDonald and Wm. Edgett, Moncton, 12 2-5: Geo. Croasdale and Bud Taylor, Moncton, 11 2-5; Donald Malcolm and John McKendrick, Moncton, 12 2-5; William Hayes and Ed. Howard, Fairville, 12 3-5; E. Crainnie and R. Coram, Fairville, 13 4-5; W. Lester and B. Schofield, Fairville, 13 3-5; C. Mason and F. Linton, Fairville, 14; John Knox and W. G. Asbel, Sussex, 14 3-5; R. H. Bell and T. Trenholm. Amherst, 12 1-5. This gave Moncton first and Amherst second. John Brown won the half-mile bicycle, open to Kings county only, in 1.12 4-5. Wm. McLeod was second.

The 440 yards dash brought out five starters. Wilder C. Hoar of Sackville was the victor, and W. H. Irvine of St. John got second place. In the quarter-mile bicycle race, flying start, John Brown was the victor time, 30 seconds. A. H. Whitenect of Springfield was second.

The Moncton team got first place in the ladder race. Their time was 10 3-5 seconds. Amherst came second in 11 Fairville next in 11 1-5. The St. John men took 11 2-5 seconds to make the run and erect the ladder with a man at the top of it.

John Brown and Wm. McLeod finished first and second in the mile bicycle race for novices. Bell of Amherst captured first in the 100 yards dash for firemen. Wm. Bradley was second. The time was 11 seconds. The boys' 75 yards run did not end satisfactorily. Herman Thomas of Moncton was the winner. Hugh Ross finshed second and M. Ross third. A protest was entered against Thomas on the ground that he was over age. No decision was reached by the judges Hoar was first in the 880 yards race, and R. Ross second; time, 2.16. The hose race brought out teams from St. John, Fairville, Moncton and Amherst. The first named consisted of men from No. 1 salvage corps, and they were victorious. Their time was 34 1-2 seconds: that of Moncton, 36 1-5; of Amherst, 39, and Fairville, 41 1-5. The prizes were presented to the victorious contestants in the evening at J. R. McLean's store by J. M. RETURNED PAARDEBERG HERO INSANE.

Sergeant Englefield, R. C. A., has returned from Dartmouth, N. S., having taken to the insane asylum there Private F. B. Strong, late of the Royal Canadians in South Africa, says a Quebec exchange. Private Strong was one of the 29 invalids who returned to Canada by the Parisian about six weeks ago, and was invalided on account of sunstroke received during the battle of Paardeberg. In England he partially recovered, but was troubled especially with a hallucination that he must immediately return to the front. This idea troubled him after his arrival in Quebec, and he was placed in the citadel hospital in the hope that corfect quiet would restore his unbalanced faculties. Unfortunately he grew worse rather than better, and at last the authorities were compelled to send him to Dartmouth. The case is one of the saddest of the war. Private Strong, while at the front, was a member of "F" company, out it is said he came from New Brunswick. He was not attached to any militia corps before his enlistment.

PORT HILL, Aug. 30.-The Whelan demonstration which took place at Charlottetown on the 27th instant, was a decided success. The ovation of Geo. V. McInerney, M. 'No mere synoptical report can do even partial justice to his splendidly rounded periods," is the verdict of the Charlottetown Guardian, a journal of grit tendencies

A deputation of electors of West Prince waited upon Mr. McInerney and extended him an invitation to speak at a meeting to be called in the riding at some future date in the interest of the West Cape Richibucto route.

As this is a question that effects the interests of the electors of Kent and West Prince more intimately it would be well to have Mr. Hackett, the conservative nominee of the latter riding, and Mr. McInerney address meetings together both here and in Kent, N. B.. in connection with the scheme.

IN CAMP KIMBERLY, July 22. Dear George-I am alive and well and in the Diamond City at last. Two of our guns, the right section, came up from Schmidt's Drift last Friday. the others will be up some time next week, I think, though I hope they will stop there for a while, as we have more time to ourselves when we are alone. We have seen nothing of interest since we left Bloemfontein.* * * I have a Boer rifle and bondolier and a lot of cartridges. I can bring them home with me. I can see the Paardeberg hills from here. They are only about 25 miles away. I am going to try to get out to see them. * * They want volunteers from all the colonial volunteers out nere for the Pretoria and Johannesburg police. I came near joining, but thought I had better go home for a while, although it may be some time before I can start for Canada. There is some talk of us going up around Warrenton.

* * * I started this letter on Monday; I will finish it tonight, Tuesday. Yesterday I got a pass out from 2 o'clock, p. m., and went down to De Beers' office, for a pass to see the diamond mines, but I could not get it till three o'clock, and hen they told us that visitors were not allowed to go down in the mines. But they showed us all around the grounds. I went up to the top of the tower, which was used as a look-out during the siege. One can get a fine view of the city from it. There are mines all over This mine when running full blast employs about 4,000 blacks, besides a lot of white men, but there are only about 1,700 employed now. We did not have time to see all, so I will have to get off some other day and have another look around. I want to get down in the mine itself. I have seen the long Cecil gun that was made here during the siege. It is a nice gun to be made here in such a hurry. The city is very pretty. The spots that were struck by shells are all marked by the letter H. There is a Boer nine pounder here in the public gardens. We are camped half way between Kimberly and Beaconsfield, which is a part of Kimberly. It was at Camperdown that the Boers had their hundred pounder. On our way to Kimberly from Schmidt's Drift we saw a lot of forts the Boers had used. If they had been any good they could have taken this place very easily, but I guess the Boers are no good at taking towns. I don't think the people here had much to fear from Boer shells. Hhe only thing that bothered them was the short supply of grub. Cecil Rhodes used to kill two oxen a day and make soup, which he sold for three pence a pint.

There are not many troops here now. We have two guns of the 88th Royal Field Artilley, 18 pounders, and two guns of the Cape Artillery. Some of them are going up to Mafeking. * * * There is still quite a bit of fighting going on up around Pretoria, but the end is pretty near. The Boers are pretty well used up, although De Wet is a right smart man. Your loving brother,

Whole Mountain of Five Per cent. Ore Reported at Howe Sound

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 28.-A mountain of copper has been discovered at Howe Sound, within thirty miles of Vancouver, by prospectors engaged by H. W. Treat of New York and Sir Charles Tupper of Vancouver. Assays from all over the mountain have been taken and the ore runs 5 per cent. On the Daisy claim, the chief showing in the group, nature has done, according to Mr. Treat, what a gang of 200 miners could not do in five years. stream of water has worn away the soft schist and exposed a cliff of copper ore 428 feet high. Surface openings have also been made with powder, which exposes the big quarry of copper for 1,500 feet.

The tremendous out cropping is less than half a mile from the famous Britannia group of prospects which sold in London this week for $1,500,-000. It is said by Mr. Treat and Sir Charles that their properties have a bigger showing than the Britannia group, and the Britannia mines, according to the report of two New York engineers, had 9,000,000 tons of at the Union church in Calais on Tueslow grade ore in sight before $300,000 day afternoon. had been spent on the property.

It seems to have water into the milk can, and I said to been prepared unid the bloom and him, 'I think that will do.' And he inaroma of a garden midsummer. The sulted me, and I knocked him down text is Song of Solomon v. 1: "I am come to my garden."

The Bible is a great poem. We have in it faultless rhythm and bold imagery and startling antithesis and rapturous lyric and sweet pastoral and instructive narrative and devotional psalm; thoughts expressed in style more solemn than that of Montgomery, more bold than that of Milton, more terrible than that of Dante, more natural than that of Wordsworth, more impassioned than that of Pollok, more tender than that of Cowper, more weird than that of Spenser. This great poem brings all the gems of the earth into its coronet, and it weaves the flames of judgment into its garlands and pours eternal harmonies in its rhymth. Everything this book touches it makes beautiful from the plain stones of the summer threshing floor to the daughters of the Nahor filling the troughs for the camels, from the fish pools of Heshbon up to the Psalmist praising God with diapson of storm and whirlwind and Job's imagery of Orion, Arcturus and the Pleiades.

My text leads us into a scene of summer redolence. The world has had a great many beautiful gardens. Charlemagne added to the glory of his reign by decreeing that they be established all through the realms, deciding even the names of the flowers to be planted there. Henry IV. at Montpelier established gardens of bewitching beauty and luxuriance, gathering into them Alpine, Pyrenean and French plants. One of the sweetest spots on earth was the garden of Shenstone, the poet. His writings have made but little impression on the world, but his garden, the "Leasowes," will be immortal. To the natural advantages of that place was brought the perfection of art, Arbor and terrace and slope and rustic temple and reservoir and urn and fountain here and their crowning. Oak and yew and hazel put forth their richest foliage. There was no life more diligent, no soul more ingenious than that of Shenstone, and all that diligence and genius he brought to the adornment of that one treasured spot. He gave £300 for it. He sold it for several thousand. And yet I am to tell you today of a richer garden than any I have mentioned. It is the garden spoken of in my text-the garden of the church, which belongs to Christ, for my text says so. He bought it, he planted it, he owns it, and he shall have it. Walter Scott, in his outlay at Abbotsford, ruined his fortune, and now, in the crimson flowers of those gardens, you can almost think or imgine that you see the blood of tha old man's broken heart. The payment of the last £100,000 sacrificed him. But I have to tell you that Christ's life and Christ's death were the outlay of this beautiful garden of the church, of which my text speaks. Oh, how many sighs and tears, and pangs and agonies! Tell me, ye women who saw him hang! Tell me, ye executioners who lifted him and let him down! Tell me, thou sun that didst hide, ye rocks that "Christ loved the church and gave himself for it." If the garden of the church belongs to Christ, certainly he has a right to walk in it. Come then, O blessed Jesus today. Walk up and down these aisles and pluck what thou wilt of sweetness for thyself!

THE CHURCH IS A GARDEN. The church in my text is appropriately compared to a garden, because it is a place of choice flowers, of select fruits, and of thorough irrigation. That would be a strange garden in which there were no flowers. If nowhere else, they would be along the borders or at the gateway. The homeliest taste will dictate something, if it be only the old fashioned hollyhock or dahlia or daffodil. But if there be larger means then you will find the Mexican cactus and blazing azalea and clustering oleander. Well, now, Christ comes to his garden, and he plants there some of the brightest spirits that ever flowered upon the world. Some of them are violets, inconspicuous, but sweet as heaven. You have to search and find them. You do not see them very often perhaps, but you find where they have been by the brightened face of the invalid and the sprig of geranium on the stand and the new window curtains keeping out the glew of the sunlight. They are perhaps more like the ranunculus, creeping sweetly along amid the thorns and briers of life, giving kiss for sting. And many a man who has had in his way some great black rock of trouble has found that they have covered it all over with flowery jasmine running in and out amid the crevices. These flowers in Christ's garden are not, like the sunflower, gaudy in the light, but whereever darkness hovers over a soul that needs to be comforted, there they stand, night blooming cereuses. But in Christ's garden there are plants Mexican cactus-thorns without, lovelines within-men with sharp points of character. They would almost every one that touches them. They are hard to handle. Men pronounce them nothing but thorns, but Christ loves them, notwithstanding all their sharpnesses. Many a man has had a has only been through severe trial that he has raised even the smallest scrap gnarled fruit. of grace. A very harsh minister was talking to a very placid elder, and the ter, "Doctor, I do wish you would conminister to the elder, "I control more temper in five minutes than you do in five years."

WASHINGTON. Sept. 2.-This ser- morning I was crossing yery early a Do you think I ought to join the church?" Nevertheless that very same man who was so harsh in his behavior loved Christ and could not speak of sacred things without tears of emotion and affection. Thorns without sweetness within, the best specimen of Mexican cactus I ever saw.

> There are others planted in Christ's garden who are always radiant, always impressive, more like the roses of deep hue that we occasionally find called "giants of battle:" the Martin Luthers, St. Pauls, Chrysostoms, Wycliffes, Latimers and Samuel Rutherfords. What in other men is a spark in them is a conflagration. When they sweat, they sweat great drops of blood. When they pray, their prayer takes fire. When they preach, it is a Pente-When they fight, it is a Thermocost. pylae. When they die, it is a martyrdom. You find a great many roses in the gardens, but only a few "giants of battle." Men say, "Why don't you have more of them in the church?" I say, "Why don't you have in the world more. Humboldts and Wellingtons?' God gives to some ten talents, to others

In this garden of the church which Christ has planted also find the snowdrops, beautiful but cold looking, seemingly another phase of winter. I mean those Christians who are precise in their tastes, unimpassioned, pure as snowdrops and as cold. They never shed any tears, they never get excited, they never say anything rashly, they never do anything precipitately. Their pulses never flutter, their nerves never twitch, their indignation never boils over. They live longer than most people, but their life is in a minor key. They never run up to "C" above the staff. In their music of life they have no staccato passages. Christ planted them in the church, and they must be of some service or they would not be there; snowdrops always snowdrops.

MOST BEAUTIFUL FLOWER.

But I have not told you of the most beautiful flower in all this garden spoken of in the text. If you see a century plant, your emotions are started. You say, "Why, this flower has been a hundred years gathering ur for one bloom, and it will be a hundred years more before other petals will come out." But I have to tell you of a plant that was gathering up from all eternity and that 1,900 years ago put forth its bloom never to wither. It is the passion plant of the cross. Prophets foretold it, Bethlehem shepards looked upon it in the bud, the rocks shook at its bursting and the dead got up in their winding sheets to see its full bloom. It is a crimson flower-blood at the roots, blood on the branches, blood on the leaves. Its perfume is to fill all the nations. Its breath is heaven. Come, oh winds from the north and winds from the south and winds from the east and winds from the west und bear to all the earth the sweet smelling savor of Christ, my Lord!

His worth if all the nations knew. Sure the whole earth would love him too.

Again the whole church may be appropriately compared to the garden, because it is a place of fruits. That would be a strange garden which had in it no berries, no plums or peaches or apricots. The coarser fruits are planted in the orchard or they are set trees. out on the sunny hillside. But the Hark! It is a prac- up to that old man and touches him ly the American share will be paid tical, life giving, healthful fruit, not posies, but apples.

"Oh," says somebody, "I don't see what your garden of the church has yielded?" Where did your asylums come from? And your hospitals? And your institutions of mercy? Christ planted every one of them; he planted them in his garden. When Christ gave sight to Bartimus he laid the cornerstone of every blind asylum that has ever been built. When Christ soothed the demoniac of Galilee, he laid the cornerstone of every lunatic asylum that has ever been established. When Christ said to the sick man, "Take up thy bed and walk," he laid the cornerstone of every hospital the world has ever seen. When Christ said, "I was in prison and ye visited me," he laid the cornerstone of every prison reform association that has ever been organized. The church of Christ is a gloricus garden, and it is full of fruit. I know there is some poor fruit in it. I know there are some weeds that ought to be thrown over the fence. I know that may be better compared to the there are some crab apple trees that ought to be cut down. I know there are some wild grapes that ought to be uprooted, but are you going to destroy the whole garden because of a little gnarled fruit? You will find worm eaten leaves in Fontainebleau and insects that sting in the fairy groves of the Champs Elysees. You do not tear very hard ground to cultivate, and it down and destroy the whole garden because there are a few specimens of

It is so with a great garden of Christ-love, joy, peace, patience, character, brotherly kindness, gentleness, mercy; glorious fruits, and heaven.

BETTER TREE; BETTER FRUIT. I have not told you of the better fruit. It was planted just outside Jerusalem a good while ago. When that tree was planted, it was so split and would ever grow upon it, but no sooner had that tree been planted than it budded and blossomed and fruited, and heart laugh. While in the midst of his that struck down that fruit, and it fell into the lap of the nations, and men began to pick it up and eat it, and they found in it'an antidote to all thirst, to all poison, to all sin, to all death; the en I told you at the beginning of my smallest cluster larger than the fam- sermon. He sat down amid those bowried on a staff between them. If the to happiness, I am angry and envious one cluster of mercy shall restore.

Again, the church in my text is appropriately called a garden because it is thoroughly irrigated. No garden could prosper long without plenty of ease. Christ is the only rest and the water. I have seen a garden in the midst of a desert, yet blooming and luxuriant. All around was dearth and barrenness, but there were pipes. aqueducts, reaching from this garden up to the mountains, and through these aqueducts the water came streaming down and tossing up into beautiful fountains until every root and leaf and flower was saturated. That is like a church. The church is a garden in the midst of a great desert of sin and suffering, but it is well irrigated, for "our eyes are unto the hills. In that lifeboat the passengers and from whence cometh our help." From crew were getting ashore. The vessel the mountains of God's strength there flow down rivers of gladness. "There is a river the stream whereof shall make glad the city of our God." Preaching the gospel is one of the aqueducts. The Bible is another. Baptism and the Lord's Supper are aqueducts. Water to slake the thirst, water to wash the unclean, water tossed high up in the light of the Sun of Righteousness, showing us the rainbow around the throne. Oh, was there ever a garden so thoroughly irrigated? You know that the beauty of Versailles and Chatsworth depends very much upon the great supply of water. I came to the great supply of watch. I consider the latter place, Chatsworth, one day when strangers were not to be admitted, but by an inducement which alted, but by an inducement which alted the cry: "Save me next! Save me next!
