PEARL DIVING

It is estimated that 300 lives are lost each year in the northwest of Australia. The dangerous work is invariably carried on by Malays who use an ordinary diver's kit in performing their task. This protects them to a certain extent from several minor dangers. The giant cod, capable of tearing off a limb in a direct rush is their chief enemy. In the Pamotu Archipelago, in the Pacific, diving kit is prohibited by law and the pearl diver descends naked to the oyster-beds; sometimes he attains depths which according to science is impossible.

It is a rare-how tinted wonderland to which he fights his way through the limpid waters; but death, in various guises, lurks in almost every rock and cranny of the coralline formation.

Great multi-coloured, poisonous sea snakes, savage eight foot conger eels, pass and repass; myriads of stinging medusae float around. The very coral is a menace; if the diver but scrapes against it he will be laid up for months with consequent poisoning.

Sometimes a long grey form steals silently from the shadows of a dark bank. It is the one thing in the world the Pamotuan fears—the shark. Sharks are not the cowardly creatures most people seem to think them; a hungry shark will stop at nothing; large sea species have been known to attack canoes. On the other hand, the diver has very little to fear from the giant octopus, which is accredited with great fierceness. He is in reality very timid, and retreats at the slightest alarm into his cavern under the reef.

The most curious and perhaps the most horrid death the diver is liable to suffer is being trapped by a giant burleworm clam, weighing anything up to 800 pounds. If it happens to close on a diver's legs or arm it is almost impossible for him to free himself.

When the diver has spent a minute or so scouting around for shells, he strikes for the surface with his fin. Arriving there, he catches the out-riding of the canoe and for several minutes suffers untold agonies while his organs readjust themselves. The quick transition from the lightness of the atmosphere to the many tons pressure of the sea bottom and then back again is very devastating. Only men of exceptional physique can hope to last long at the game.

Last evening (Wednesday), the Young Men's Club, of the Baptist Church, held their first meeting in the form of a Banquet which was tendered to them by the Sewing Circle. After the "feast" and toasts a pleasant hour was spent in music and social intercourse. Owing to this event falling due on the eve of our publication, we were unable to give full details, but we hope to do so in our next issue.

Myrtle Rebekah Lodge on Thursday evening, November 17th, was honored by a visit from the Vice-President of the Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. Laura M. Cross, of Kentville. Two candidates, Miss Mary Hart and Mrs. Lucy Graham were initiated into the Order, and a splendid address on their principles generally, were given by Mrs. Cross and the evening most pleasantly and profitably spent.

The American House is undergoing extensive improvements these days. Mr. Armour is putting forth every effort to make it the most modern in the Valley. Painting and decorating is being carried out over the entire interior, new bookcases are being laid, and the whole electric wiring system is being changed along the most modern approved lines. The going is not the only changes being made. A new addition is being built, which, when completed, will provide just double the space in the dining room and office. Tourists will find no difficulty next year to find accommodation when they come to Middleton.

Last Thursday we placed on display two of the splendid premiums we are offering for subscriptions. Full particulars of these premiums will be found in another column. The children took a great fancy to the wonder doll and beautiful sewing machine. Mrs. MacPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. MacPherson, soon took advantage of the opportunity to secure one of the dolls, and Mr. MacPherson arrived at the office with eight subscriptions and claimed her tray; and now she is on the trail of a doll. The public are meeting kindly with the proposition and are gladly helping the drive with their renewals and new subscriptions. Margaret Vye is out after a tray and a doll too. These young ladies know value when they see it and are not afraid to put forth a little effort to get these premiums. For every dollar and a half given to these endeavoring to secure a new count of one subscription is given whether it is a new or renewal. Every person, old and young, is entitled to these premiums as soon as they bring or send to the office the required number of subscriptions. If we happen to be without either premiums at the time received, it will only be a matter of a few days, as another consignment of these two premiums (dolls and trays) are now on the road from the factory. Come and see the premiums, and we will express adequately and we would like everyone to see just exactly what they are trying to get.

THE WALRUS

A walrus was recently added to the Zoological Gardens, London—the first of its kind to be received in fourteen years. It was captured in Northwest Norway.

These extraordinary and ungainly creatures exhibit characteristics which place them nearer the curious ideas of natural history.

The sea lion whose aquatic capacity may always be relied upon to provide a "strut" on any afternoon at feeding time, have a fine to boast of in the way of ears, but the walrus does not better for he is entirely devoid of aurial appendages, a wretched standing which handicaps his sense of hearing is remarkably acute.

His dental equipment is almost equally eccentric, for while the young animal has a set numbering thirty, a round dozen of these are lost at maturity, leaving the adult with a long straight, downwardly projecting tusk which in the male protrude from the upper jaw to a length of eighteen inches or more.

The teeth are, however, perfectly adapted for the purpose for which they are required having low, blunt, sub-conical crowns, admirably suited for crushing the shell of the bivalve molluscs on which up steep inclines they feed.

A full grown male will measure up to 12 feet in total length and weigh as much as 2,999 pounds, but the queer-looking head is far too small for the rest of the body. The face is heavily wrinkled and entirely destitute of a huge mole-like nose, composed of translucent bristles, divided by a deep groove in the center. Two tiny eyes, the unimpaired, the reddish colored forehead and rounded skull, all contribute to the grotesque and unattractive appearance of the animal—an effect by no means improved by the fact that the fur is apt to come off after middle size has passed.

The tusks, besides forming formidable weapons of offence, are used to dig in the mud for the purpose of raking up the molluscs which form the staple of their diet.

It is also stated that the animals will employ their tusks as grenades, dragging their clumsy bodies over the ice and up steep inclines by their aid.

The walrus is, as a rule, a gentle and inoffensive creature, and proverbially affectionate to its young, and to other members frequently coming to the rescue of the wounded or disabled comrade. It is easily approached and killed, and is now extremely rare in all but the least accessible parts of its range. In keeping with its size, the walrus has an appetite not easily satisfied. An adult female will consume 300 pounds of filled fish per day.

PRESENTATION TO JOHN I. MARSHALL

John I. Marshall has been less than two years in the Commercial Department at Halifax, where he occupied the position of Chief Clerk, but he did not find the time too short to make himself solid in the regard of his fellow Commercialites there. So when the dictum pronounced that John I. was to "pack his kit and trek" to Sydney to become District Commercial & Traffic Manager of District 1, his co-workers felt that it was up to them to send him off in good spirits.

John I. seemed to have a suspicion that there was something afoot for when the hour of saying good-bye arrived—5 p.m. of October 19th—he was not visible on deck. After a search, our "silent one" ran him to earth in the cloak room, concealed behind clouds of cigarette vapor, and promptly laid him to his doom in the commercial superintendent's office.

There, the commercial staff was drawn up, spectators and other commercial superintendent Mackay sat to say farewell on behalf of his satellites.

In a few words, Mr. Mackay adverted to Mr. Marshall's period of service in the department, and expressed the satisfaction he felt in connection with the work John I. had done and the efficient way in which he had done it. He felt certain that in his new position John I. would maintain at its present high pitch his reputation for doing a good job. He expressed, on behalf of the staff generally, regret that Mr. Marshall was going away but hoped that he would prosper in his new sphere of activity, and a small remembrance from those with whom he had worked during the past two years or so, he handed Mr. Marshall a tobacco pipe and pouch.

Mr. Marshall, with that modesty which is one of his outstanding characteristics, remarked on the suddenness of this presentation, thanked Mr. Mackay and the staff for the excellent way in which they had conducted the presentation, and promised that whenever he should "light up" the pipe he would think of his associates at the Commercial Department.

Mr. Marshall appears to be well equipped as an admirer of My Lady Nicotine. A massive silver cigarette case was noticed jutting from a vest pocket. One young lady said that it was the Baptist Church, Sunday morning. Miss Eileen Shankel visited Mrs. J. W. Hatt, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, of Gardise, spent Sunday in town.

Rheumatic People Now Find Relief

BY Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood is thin and watery or charged up with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Cold, wet weather or sharp winds may start the pain, but the cause is rooted in the blood, and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. As a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic sufferers who give a fair trial.

Among the rheumatic sufferers who have proved the great value of this medicine is Mr. M. Foley Windsor, N. S., who says:—"My trouble started with a bad cold, the result of working in a heavy rain, storm. From that I developed into rheumatism which badly crippled me and kept me confined to bed for upwards of six months. The doctor who treated me did not help me, and every friend who called to see me had something different to advise. Some of these remedies I tried, but with no better results. My legs were stiff from the hips down, and every move I made caused intense pain and constantly was growing weaker. Then a friend from Falmouth, who came to see me, asked if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had taken so much medicine without benefit that I was skeptical and said so. However, he gave me so much faith in the pills that he got me a supply and to please him I began taking them. I had not been taking them long when I began to feel a change for the better, and I gladly got a further supply. Soon I was able to get out of bed and walk around on crutches. Still taking the pills I used in all seventeen boxes, by which time I was a well man and at work every day. Now I always keep a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house and if I feel an ache or pain I take them and always with good results. I believe I would still be a bed-ridden cripple but for these pills, and I shall always praise and recommend them.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THOUSANDS OF MEDALS AWAIT OWNERS.

A total of 735,338 war medals have been issued in Canada, according to recent figures from the Department of National Defence. This total is made up as follows: 1914-15 Stars 72,822; British War Medals 34,217; Victory Medals 368,299.

Due to the fact that the address of those entitled to them are not available, 2,541 1914-15 Stars, 77,706 British War Medals and 45,394 Victory Medals are still awaiting issue.

In the course of the last 12 months, 243 Stars, 11,011 British War Medals and 5,768 Victory Medals, making a total of 18,157 were despatched. The recipients, in the majority of cases, were traced through the efforts of Defence Headquarters, 15,082 postcards notifying ex-soldiers that their medals were available, and requesting a permanent address having been mailed.

In addition, 593 Memorial Crosses, issued to mothers and widows of those who paid the supreme sacrifice, are still awaiting claimants. These Crosses, it was explained, were forwarded to the last known addresses and returned undelivered.

Memorial plaques and scrolls, totaling 4,784, given by His Majesty the King to the next of kin of those who lost their lives during the war, are also awaiting issue. More than 3,000 of these were despatched and returned owing to those entitled to them having changed their place of residence.

Any ex-soldier who has not received his war medals, any mother or widow who has not obtained the Memorial Cross, and any next of kin who has not received the memorial plaque and scroll should make application for same to the Deputy Minister (Director of Records), Department of National Defence, Ottawa, or advise the Dominion Command, G. W. V., Citizen Building, Ottawa.—The Veteran.

"DEAD" MEN WHO LIVE

A young man appeared recently before the authorities of Plymouth, England, with the rather odd complaint that the charges for street organs were too high. The interesting feature of the case was that the man claimed that he had served through the Great War in a Canadian regiment; but he did not name the regiment. He claimed to be able to speak several languages. He could not obtain a permanent pension because he carried his own death certificate, and he could take anyone to see his name on a memorial stone in London.

Although he was still attempting to do so he had never been able to prove his identity.

Quite a number of cases have occurred of soldiers who have been reported killed or missing during the war returning home to find their names on the local war memorials.

Three years ago, William Nelson Haynes, living in East Ham, England, who had twice been reported dead, went to the Mitcham, Surrey, gas works and asked to be reinstated in the post he held before the war, and learned that his name was on the firm's roll of honor as being dead.

At Pontardawe (Swansea, W. Wales), in June, 1922, Stoker Glynn Williams, whose name appeared on the local war memorial, died after an absence of eight years.—The Veteran.

DEATH OF TWO OF THE "FIRST HUNDRED"

Two of the first hundred men to join the Canadian forces at the outbreak of the Great War died on October 5th at Toronto, in the persons of ex-Pte. Harry Crane, regimental No. 98, and ex-Pte. Walter Edwin Harding, regimental No. 92. Comrade Crane served through the South African war as a bugler and enlisted for service in the Great War on August 4th, 1914. Comrade Harding was an ex-imperial soldier, having joined the Gloucestershire Regiment at the age of seventeen and served for five years in India. Enlisting with the C. E. F. at the beginning of the war, he went to France with the 2nd Canadian Pioneer Battalion. Comrade Harding's number was 92, and his son, Alfred William, who joined the same unit, was No. 93.—The Veteran.

29th BATTERY ASSOCIATION

Members of the 29th Battery Association, which is probably the only organization composed of veterans on the Great War that has held annual reunions continuously since demobilization in 1919, met in Guelph on October 3rd for their seventh annual gathering. Close to one hundred artillerymen were present from all over the province, and had an enjoyable time at a monster banquet in the evening. Dr. J. Little, of Windsor was chosen as president of 1925-26. The 1926 reunion will be held in Windsor.—The Veteran.

However, we will, no doubt, have something "spicy" to say in the next issue. CANADIAN BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Royal Bank of Canada Letter

Not since the beginning of the economic readjustment period have fundamental conditions been more favorable to a healthy expansion of industry and trade. There are already signs of improvement in the business situation. As a rule for the most part, they relate to seasonal conditions, some of the changes are indicative of the gradual restoration of business conditions which are necessary to general prosperity. The maladjustment between industry and agriculture during the past twelve months has been mitigated if not entirely relieved, and the highly satisfactory crop returns now indicate that the purchasing power of the farming community will be greater than for the past five years and more widely distributed. The yield for the three prairie provinces as estimated by the Northwestern Grain Dealers Association in their mid-October report, compared with the final estimates of 1924, are as follows:

	1925	1924
Wheat	400,385,000	235,694,000
Oats	392,853,000	233,300,000
Barley	68,355,000	70,830,000
Rye	8,229,000	11,126,000
Flax	6,395,000	5,577,000

Livestock markets showed a very encouraging tone during the month. Supplies were heavy, but export demand from Great Britain and the United States was strong. Hogs are bringing high prices, and this is likely to be the case for some time to come owing to short supplies.

The major industries of the country are generally more active. The iron and steel mills are again operating close capacity. More than sixty thousand tons of rail business has been placed, and the demand from automobile and agricultural implement companies has been in larger volume. The important textile industry which in 1924 had one of the worst years in its history, as feeling the stimulus of improved conditions, and the current volume of business indicates a tendency to expansion. Car loadings and bank debits throughout the woolen goods the situation is the past two months have been well better, and in silks, including rayon relative prosperity prevails. The hat and shoe industry has been unsatisfactory for some time, but there is a general report of better business, and leather prices are firm.

Mineral production records for Canada show a steady growth. Production of metal and non-metals reached a total value of $50,347,693 as compared with $4,307,355 in the first six months of 1924. The output of gold for the six months was $14,908,319 as against $11,810,060, and silver, 5,601,853 oz. as compared with 5,908,256 oz. for the corresponding period of the previous year. In British Columbia the production of non-ferrous metals, especially lead and zinc, shows a large increase and at present market prices the total output for the first eight months of the year estimated at $41,000,000 or only $7,500,000 short of the total value for the whole of 1924. The coal mining industry after being completely disorganized by protracted strikes, is making rapid recovery and a better feeling is in evidence. Export trade in lumber is quiet. The Maritime Provinces find it difficult to obtain satisfactory business against European competition. The Australian market appears to be satisfied, and the demand from Japan has fallen off. There is a steady increase however, in shipments from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic Ports of the United States, and domestic demand is expected to improve with western conditions. In the pulp and paper industry production and shipments are ahead of last year. The production of newsprint for the eight months ended the 31st August is 888,764 tons as compared with 907,693 tons in 1924.

The value of building permits and contracts entered upon for construction work in Western Canada for the first nine months of the year show an increase of $3,583,000 over the figures for the same period of a year ago, although the figures for the Dominion for the same period are slightly lowered.

The usual statistics which reflect stimulus of improved conditions, and the current volume of business indicates a tendency to expansion. Car loadings and bank debits throughout the woolen goods the situation is the past two months have been well above the corresponding figures of last year. The agricultural situation is contributing in no small degree to larger and better balanced buying power. Wholesalers generally report increased turnover, although in all lines buying is cautious and closely confined to immediate needs.

Commercial failures for the third quarter of 1925 show a distinct improvement both in number and extent of liabilities. Our foreign trade continues to show a growth that is particularly noteworthy. During September, exports amounted to $108,497,911—a considerable increase over $86,960,729 for the corresponding month last year. This represents a record total for this month since 1920. For the six months of the fiscal year ended September, total exports were $571,215,240 against $482,091,954 for the same period last year.

The comfortable position of the money market, the small fluctuations in commodity prices, light stocks of merchandise, the increased purchasing power based on good crops and a high state of employment are factors which collectively inspire greater confidence in the business situation.

Here and There

More than 100 persons joined the ranks of the Trail Riders of the Rockies on their horseback journey from East to Wapta Camp, via Marble Canyon and Lake O'Hara. The ride started on August 8.

Grain figures issued by the Harbor Commission of Montreal show that on August 1st all grain shipment records were broken by one day's delivery of 2,277,712 bushels of grain to outgoing ships. Harbor officials state that this is the first time that grain shipments in one day have topped the two million bushel mark.

Installation of machinery at the new annex of the Dominion Textile Mill at Montserrat Falls, Quebec, will be started by January first next. About 300 additional employees will be required to operate the plant. At present there are about 1,900 employed at the mill.

A prophecy that the Orient would become in the very near future a really large importer of Canadian wheat was made recently by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works. In predicting increased Orient trade in grain, Dr. King pointed out that imports of wheat from Canada for 1923-1924 increased by 400 per cent.

Over fifteen thousand men left the east on the first harvest excursion from the east to the wheat fields in the middle of August. Four other excursions are to follow from Toronto later in August and September, when it is expected that the majority of the remainder of the 50,000 men required for the harvest will travel west.

British teachers touring Canada under the auspices of the Overseas Educational League are now enjoying all the various forms of entertainment to be found in the Canadian Rockies. They have been riding trails, hiking, fishing, motoring, bathing in the sulphur springs at the Banff Springs Hotel and were the guests at a dinner there given by J. M. Gibbon, secretary of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies.

Confidence of United States capital in the Dominion, optimistic preparations for the new Canadian financing, prospects of a good crop, large United States purchasing in Canada, and heavy expenditures of American tourists in the Dominion, were some of the reasons offered by New York financial experts for the consistent above par stand of the Canadian dollar on the New York exchange. The Canadian dollar is now at a premium on the New York exchange.

The total number of students in Canadian universities and colleges in 1924 was 52,639, or nearly one in eighteen of the total population, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Under the category of colleges, the total number in 1924 was 83. Of this total six are agricultural, two technical, two law, one dental, one for pharmacy, one for veterinary science, 23 theological, 29 affiliated, one school for higher commercial studies, one college of art and one military college.

During the coming winter Canada will see the debut of a new transportation device known as the Snow-motor. This consists of two hollow cigar shaped cylinders or drums to which flanges, resembling cork screws, are attached. These drums are fixed to an automobile or tractor in the place of the wheels and, by rotating actually float the machine over the snow. The snow-motor is regarded as especially valuable in the transportation of lumber; it can negotiate snow of any depth and can operate in countries where other methods of transportation are impossible or too costly and can also make roads which other vehicles can use. It is manufactured in Detroit and will be on the market in Montreal during the coming winter.

A Tall Tale
Little Teddie's father usually takes his son with him when he visits the barber. A week ago Teddie reclined in luxurious ease on a divan and watched the gleaming scissors as they darted among his father's bushy locks.
"Daddy," he blurted "may I have one of your curls?"
The barber wiped away a tear with a towel.
"Dear little chap," he said, "Ow affectionate! 'Ow touchin'! Do you want to treasure it?" he continued, as he cut off a wiry bunch. "Do you wish to keep it, so that in years to come you may say, 'Behold a lock of hair from my dear father's head!'"
"Not much!" cried Teddie. "I want it for a new tail for my rocking-horse!"

Not What She Meant

It was the day of the country golf championship, and Jones was starting his first round.

Jones was a good golfer, but on occasions like this he became terribly nervous. Today was no exception, especially as a large crowd had assembled to watch the players drive off.

Mrs. Jones stood among the spectators, and she was filled with pride as Jones took his stance at the first tee. After a little waggle he swung his club and missed. Dead silence reigned.

"Another swing and he missed again. For the third time he tried, but again he missed. This time the crowd broke into a burst of laughter. Jones's wife was furious at their derision.

"It's no laughing matter," she said angrily. "Nobody hates his misses more than my husband."

ALPINE CLUB OF CANADA ENJOYS RECORD MEET

(Upper) Abbotts Pass Hut and Glacier Peak. (Lower) Director Wheeler reading report at the annual meeting. (Inset) Mr. Wheeler, right, congratulating Capt. MacCarthy, who just returned from capturing Mount Logan.

"The camp this year was one of the best climbing camps we ever had," said T. B. Moffatt, regarding the outing of the Alpine Club of Canada, at Lake O'Hara, this summer. The weather was ideal and there was work for all classes to do, hikes to Lakes McArthur and Oesa, and to the Opabin Pass. Then shorter climbs were available for the graduates, such as Shaver and Odary. The more seasoned climbers had Huber, Victoria, Lefroy and Hunabee.

The high mountains were in a better condition this year than they have ever been before, owing to the scarcity of ice. From 50 to 60 members were out every day climbing, the two days' trip over the passes being very popular. Through the courtesy of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which placed its hut, situated at the top of the Abbot Pass, at the disposal of the members, the work of climbing was greatly facilitated.

The annual business meeting of the Club was held at Lake O'Hara Camp on August 6th. This was an auspicious occasion, for Captain MacCarthy, leader of the Mount Logan expedition and Henry S. Hall, one of the party, were present. The business of the Club was transacted in the morning at ten o'clock, under the large gully on the shores of Lake O'Hara. No setting for the occasion—that of welcoming Capt. MacCarthy and his party—could have been more appropriate than amid the superb peaks that surround O'Hara. Flags of various nations were strung between the trees of this primeval forest in which the camp was pitched, this being the Club's own property, which Mr. Wheeler, its director, secured as far back as 1907. The scene was a festive one, the whole atmosphere, despite the serenity of these majestic peaks and lake, was one of joviality and every one was in particularly good spirits.

Captain MacCarthy was elected a honorary member of the Club, not wholly on account of the Mount Logan ascent, but on other grounds as well, for he was recognized long before this as an outstanding mountaineer. Votes of thanks were extended to the Canadian Pacific Railway and various departments for the Swiss Guides and the mountain hut at Abbot Pass.

In primitive countries woman is regarded somewhat as a beast of burden. She is subjected to all sorts of drudgery, does practically all the work, and her lot is hard and discouraging. This custom is rightly regarded as inhuman and uncivilized.

Ready to Roll the Worlds Grain Caravan

To the average person a railroad shop is perhaps the most uninteresting institution one could possibly think of. It suggests to one's mind everything that is cold and inanimate—dry—grimy. Even the fence surrounding these stolid premises looks forbidding, like a prison wall.

But during the great Canadian grain rush from West to East there are few places in the West more interesting than the Weston Shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at Winnipeg, where 600 cars a day are snatched in off the main line, repaired and shot out the next day to resume their place in the big rolling movement of the world's grain caravan.

This institution, quietly situated on the western outskirts of Winnipeg, ranks among the big industrial organizations of the West. It employs eighteen hundred men the year round, and has a monthly payroll of $220,000. Weston Shops, which last year repaired 39,518 cars, 290 coaches and 424 engines—and manufactured a million and a half dollars' worth of material—gives one the impression of being a big, self-contained corporation, instead of a minor part of a big railroad system.

HONEY AND ITS USES

Centuries before anyone ever had thought of sugar as we know it, honey was the universal sweetener, and while its use for sugar purposes has decreased with the advent of the more plentiful granulated sugars, it is still highly prized and largely used, and justly so. For honey is the one concentrated sugar that can be eaten in its natural form, just as it comes to us. It needs no refining or processing of any sort, and like ripe, fresh fruits, communicates its food value to the system in exactly the way Nature intends it shall be received.

Pure honey is in a class all its own. It is one of the few foods that cannot be successfully imitated because in passing through the body of the bee it secures special protein and animal elements that man cannot duplicate. It is one of the few forms of sugar which require no digestion.

Its slight content of formic acid tends to prevent fermentation, which renders it less irritating to the digestive tract than cane sugar. Furthermore, unlike other sugars—will the exception of fruit sugars—it contains certain minerals—namely lime and iron—which are absolutely necessary to the proper sustenance of the body.

In addition to its proper food value it is known to exert a slightly laxative influence. There can be no doubt of the wisdom of using it generously in the feeding of the children, and its specially valuable place in cookery and on the table—cakes, puddings, sweets and preserves are all excellent when made with honey.

In a recent nutritional experiment it was found that bread spread with honey was digested and left the stomach as quickly as bread alone which proves conclusively that the use of honey with bread in the diet of children is preferable to the eating of candies. Honey not only serves to make the bread more palatable, but leads to a greater consumption of body-building foods instead of depressing the appetite, which is likely to be the case with candies which are eaten between meals. To introduce honey freely into the diet of children serve it with rice and breakfast foods. Honey and cream make an ideal combination. Fruits, both raw and cooked can be sweetened with it and for soups, creams, gelatine, custard and other creams it is a most pleasing flavoring. Honey candy will please the little folks, and are wholesome. Cakes made with honey are delicious, and have a surprising way of remaining fresh and mellow long periods of time, which is, of course, satisfactory to the thrifty housewife.—Bank of Commerce Farm News Letter.

LICE AND VERMIN

When you send us a job you can rest assured that it will be executed by printers, not a collection of various other tradesmen who are just learning the fine art of printing. Our staff are all old at the game and therefore can do the work of printers. Think this over before you place orders in shops where they are only printers by "name" and not by "experience."

factory all bolts and iron casting parts for the entire western line of the company. Each month 100,000 tons of cast iron is manufactured here.

It is interesting to go through these shops and see some of the biggest engines in the service being stripped right down to their wheels and completely rebuilt. An engine can be rebuilt here in about eighteen days.

"There is an engine that went into the rock-sides in the Rockies two months ago," says the foreman. All one can see of this engine is its frame, just steel bars on wheels. It is being re-made, boiler and everything.

Passenger and freight car wheels for western lines are also made here. The wheels must be ground white, both wheels are on axle, and both must be made exact in size within a hundredth of an inch. For it is the foreman explained, one wheel is an eighth of an inch larger than the one on the other side of the axle that larger wheel will travel an eighth of an inch farther every time the other one turns over, thus wearing down the flange and spilling the track—and causing danger to the engine. Annually, 15,000 pairs of new wheels are made here.

And on these wheels roll the world's grain caravan.

Lights Out

A man was motoring by night through a town in the Midlands which was in darkness owing to a breakdown at the generating station. Somewhat to his dismay his car lights, too, failed suddenly owing to his batteries having gone wrong. Soon he found himself held up by a policeman, who pointed out that he had no lights and demanded his name and address. The motorist did a little quick thinking; then he smiled.

"Of course my lights are out! Haven't they failed all over the town?"

"Beg pardon, sir, I forgot," stammered the policeman. "Carry on."

MURINE FOR YOUR EYES

Wholesome Cleanse Refreshing

ARE YOU SUPERSTITIOUS?

They say that every one has one pet superstition, even when denying that very fact. How often have you heard women say:

"Well, I'm not a bit superstitious, but I must admit that when I speak of any good luck of mine, I like to touch wood!"

Another who hasn't a bit of superstition in her nature confesses, to a dislike of sitting down at the table with thirteen; still another will not wear an open fur love or money, and as for the unsuperstitious folk who don't mind anything but breaking a mirror or walking under a ladder, their same is legion.

Now superstition is nothing in the world but fear, and fear is admission of weakness. Not only that, but it brings on an unhealthy state of mind that is apt to result in some sort of disturbance, even if the one feared does not come about. Home women especially with their sense of responsibility about their families, and their comparatively outlook, are apt to lay far too great stress on these meaningless happenings, and let "premonitions" take possession of them. I know a little woman who broke a looking-glass while house-cleaning last fall, and just as she turned in dismay she saw her creeping baby reaching under the step-ladder for his ball. She went into hysterics an do bed for the rest of the day.

Oh, don't let's be so foolish, women dear. If you could only talk with enough sensible persons, thousands would tell you of broken mirrors and tables of thirteen guests, and a hundred other superstitions laid, when nothing whatever happened as a result. Clear your mind of the dread, the ignorance, the silly faith in such things. Think of the bad events that have occurred in your own circle that were not heralded by a bird flying past the window and not connected with number thirteen; of the failure to "touch wood."

A wholesome, sunny faith in good luck, good happenings, good fortune, and good health, is a million times more potent to bring results than a foolish belief in some unimportant and accidental happening. Out out these "pet" superstitions which you are coddling and be free.

S. O. S.

The rector of a country parish bought a new flag for the church tower.

As it fluttered gaily it was eyed with marked approval by his parishioners. All were delighted save one, an old navvies' signaller, a new-comer to the village.

"Don't you like our new flag, Jack?" asked the rector.

"No, sir, I don't," replied the old signaller. "Nor would you, parson, if you knew the meaning of it."

"Indeed! And what does it mean?" "It means 'In distress; want a pilot.'"
