

CITY OF LONDON ELECTION.

Polling on Friday, 26th February,
From 9 a.m. till 5 p.m.

C. S. HYMAN

The People's Candidate.

A FINAL WORD.

So far as the ADVERTISER is concerned, the campaign is over.

We have endeavored to conduct it openly and straightforwardly, and to keep within the limits of moderation and accuracy.

To-day is the electors' day. From time to time we have discussed, as seemed to be necessary, the questions of the day.

We have pointed out the advantages to all classes of our community of widened trade relations with the United States. To make more friendly and profitable London's and Ontario's trade relations with the United States is the policy of Mr. Hyman.

We have recalled the frightful exposures during last session of the Ottawa Government—exposures which have already caused, and will yet to a greater degree cause, a stench in the nostrils of mankind. Mr. Hyman will go to Ottawa pledged to cleanse the Augean stable, the first preliminary to which must be the letting in of more light.

But Mr. Hyman is also deserving of election on personal grounds. He is one of London's own boys, born and brought up in our midst. He is already one of the best of the newer speakers in the House.

Fairly elected by a majority of 183 votes, he was unseated through no fault of his own, under the severities of an election law since considerably modified.

It is only fair play that he should be allowed to fill the remainder of the term for which he was elected.

Mr. Hyman's opponent has a seat in the Senate already to which he will be reappointed immediately after Mr. Hyman's election, so that those who vote for Mr. Hyman do not deprive Mr. Carling of a seat in the upper branch of the Dominion Parliament.

We trust the citizens of London to join hands to-day in such a verdict as will be an encouragement to our young men and a credit to our fair city.

THE ROORBACK INDUSTRY.

We do not know whether our esteemed contemporary is satisfied with the number of roorbacks already issued.

Our contemporary does not seem to have remembered, as it ought, that it has to live and do business with the citizens of London after the election is over.

It may do no harm, however, to warn the public to keep a look out for any last minute roorbacks.

Respectable voters know that statements people make at the last moment, when too late to be contradicted, are apt to be slanders.

If anything of the kind is attempted let the answer be a still larger majority for Mr. Hyman.

Through the altogether unnecessary delay in holding the bye-elections, twelve constituencies were without representatives in Parliament when the House of Commons reassembled yesterday. Mr. Carling and his associates should be ashamed of themselves.

THE MANUFACTURERS AND THE CANDIDATES.

Eighteen manufacturers of the city of London, each representing an independent industry, signed the official paper nominating Mr. Hyman as candidate for the representation of London in the House of Commons.

This fact is significant as showing that all the manufacturers outside those who are members of rings, or who are extreme party men, are on the side of the popular young manufacturer, or at least believe that he should be given an opportunity to complete his term in Parliament.

That the majority of the manufacturers of London, over 70 per cent. of the whole-sale merchants and the overwhelming proportion of the retailers support Mr. Hyman in this contest is conceded on all hands.

But Mr. Hyman's friends might well despair of success if they only had the independent employers of labor on their side. The canvas, however, reveals the fact that the great mass of workers are supporting the young and energetic representative, and that no business establishment in the city is an exception to this rule. The reasons for this great popular uprising in favor of Mr. Hyman are given in various parts of to-day's ADVERTISER, though, truth to tell, they must have long since been apparent to Mr. Carling's friends.

On the other hand, but nine manufacturers could be induced to sign the paper nominating Mr. Carling, thus proving most conclusively that, no matter what the professional politicians may tell the electorate, the chief employers of labor in the city would gladly welcome extended trade relations with our neighbors that would have the effect of adding to their markets, thus enabling them to make more money, to give more and steadier employment to their workers, and at the same time to pay them better.

On the eve of the election, and with victory guaranteed them as the result of a hard day's work, Mr. Hyman's friends may well be congratulated on the splendid campaign they have made. They, at all events, have said nothing either for the popular young representative or against his opponent that they have to take back or to squirm about. With the poet, they can truthfully say:
Let liars fear, let cowards shrink,
Let traitors turn away;
Whatever we have dared to think
That dare we also say.
Whatever we deem oppression's prop,
Time-honored though it be,
We break—nor fear the heavens will drop
Because the earth is free.

DEFEAT OF MR. CARLING FORESHADOWED BY HIS FRIENDS.

The Toronto Empire, the chief newspaper of the trade restrictionists, takes it for granted that Mr. Carling will be defeated to-day, and that he will remain in the Senate. No other construction can be put upon its statement, respecting the arrangement of seats in the House of Commons during the session of Parliament begun to-day. The Empire says:

"The Sergeant-at-Arms has been busy for some days past in rearranging the seats of members consequent upon the changes in the personnel of the House. Sir John Thompson, leader of the House, moves down from his old seat beside Mr. Chapleau to the desk formerly occupied by Sir John Macdonald; Mr. Oulmes has secured Sir Hector's place next to Sir Adolphe Caron; Sir Hector crosses the floor and will be found in Mr. Oulmes's former seat on the Opposition side next to Mr. Desjardins, of Hochelaga; Mr. Chapleau's name remains in its old place, but it is not unlikely that on his return HE WILL MOVE FORWARD AND TAKE MR. CARLING'S FORMER DESK."

This is certainly a candid admission that Mr. Carling "is not in it."

During this campaign the ADVERTISER has made neither class nor sectional appeals. It is a citizens' battle, in which all stand shoulder to shoulder.

WAGES-CUTTING SEASON.

Hamilton molders are on strike because they decline to accept wages that will net them $1.38 a day the year round for skilled and heavy work.

The Cornwall cotton weavers struck work yesterday because the bosses asked them to accept reduced wages.

What a travesty on trade restriction and monopoly rule these reductions in wages and strikes are.

When the N. P. was brought forward, were not these workers told that its sole object was to give them plenty of work at increased wages?

The combine managers know better. Now the eyes of the workers are opened—in London at any rate.

GRAND JURIES TO BE REDUCED.

Hon. Mr. Hardy has introduced a measure into the Ontario Legislature having for its object the reduction of the number of citizens requisite to form a grand jury from 24 to 13. As the bill is a Government measure, and has no doubt been well considered, it will become law.

Some people believe that the administration of justice could be carried on without the aid of a grand jury, but it is perhaps as well to move cautiously, and a reduction from the unwieldy body of 24 to 13 is a step which all can approve. It will be an important saving to the Province.

The Bogus Votes Are Off the List!

We print below a fac-simile of the special papers sent in by the agent of Mr. F. A. Fitzgerald and his associates in regard to the 230 bogus votes. These names have been struck off by Revising Officer J. H. Fraser, and are not on the list, as clearly acknowledged in the notice given by Mr. Hellmuth, in the words capitalized by us. Those who vote, therefore, must know that they vote as bogus voters, and that their so doing will in no degree help Mr. Carling to secure Mr. Hyman's seat:

In the matter of the Electoral Franchise Act and Amending Acts, and
In the matter of the final revision of the List of Voters for the year 1891 for the Electoral District of the City of London.

TAKE NOTICE that I, George Sherwood, a person upon the said list of voters as preliminarily revised, intend to appeal, and hereby appeal to the Judge of the County Court of the County of Middlesex, from the decision of James H. Fraser, Esquire, the Revising Officer for the said Electoral District, given on the 4th day of December, 1891, WHEREBY MY NAME WAS REMOVED FROM THE VOTERS' LIST on the application of Frank W. Lilley.

AND TAKE NOTICE that one of the reasons for such appeal is, that no sufficient notice of objection was deposited with or mailed to the Revising Officer or delivered or mailed to me as required by the said Electoral Franchise Act and Amending Act.

Dated this 11th day of December, 1891.

To JAMES H. FRASER, Esq.,
To FRANK W. LILLEY, Esq.,

GEORGE SHERWOOD,
Per I. F. Hellmuth, his solicitor.

CANNOT BE TOLERATED.

Our citizens must have noticed the large number of suspicious strangers dogging in and out of the wards within the last few days.

These stranger Personators and Intimidators and would-be Corruptionists—who are being brought here to overawe our own citizens, and to cheat Mr. Hyman's possible, out of his right to fair play—are being spotted and watched, and will be driven out of the constituency.

The stalwart young men who uphold Mr. Hyman—young men possessed not only of brains and character, but also of the steth and sinews of a manly race—do not propose to look idly on while imported Personators attempt their nefarious work.

Mr. Lister, at the Opera House here, after complimenting Mr. Hyman upon the Parliamentary ability displayed both as a speaker and committee-man in his first session, remarked truthfully that all the speeches made by Mr. Carling during his 30 years of Parliamentary life would go easily within the limits of a small copy book.

THE FREE MAN ON ELECTION DAY.

The Ballot is absolutely secret. There can be no doubt about that. The free man can go to the polls and mark a little and no one can see him. The free man can go to the polls and mark a little and no one can see him. The free man can go to the polls and mark a little and no one can see him.

The roughest now is but my pen. The highest not more high; To-day, of all the weary year, A king of men am I. To-day alike are great and small. The nameless and the known; My palace is the people's hall; The ballot-box my throne!

Who serves to-day upon the list Beside the served shall stand. Alike the brown and wrinkled, The gloved and dainty hand. The rich is level with the poor. The weak is strong to-day; And sleekest broadcloth counts no more Than homespun frock of gray.

To-day let pomp and vain pretense My stubborn right abide; I set a plain man's common sense Against the politician's pride. To-day shall simple manhood try The strength of gold and land; The wide world has no weapon to buy The power in my right hand!

Mr. Meredith strongly objects to being followed while he engages in nocturnal visits to suburban residences in company with the mysterious strangers that are trying to "work" the constituency in Mr. Carling's interests. A man, not to be judged by the company which he keeps, and watched accordingly.

YOUNG, ENERGETIC, CAPABLE.

A good speaker, and rapidly improving in that regard, Mr. Hyman has already attained a first-class position in the House. Mr. Carling never speaks, anyway. If the Government want him they can have him, all right, in the Senate.

He has had the honors and emoluments of office for a lifetime.

He can have them yet in the Senate without interfering with Mr. Hyman's seat, but he always wanted it all.

As long as he could be he was the member for the Local as well as the Dominion House.

MR. MEREDITH'S WAIL.

A citizen of Toronto, Mr. W. R. Meredith, writes a somewhat effusive letter to a contemporary to the effect, in brief, that wherever he goes canvassers for Mr. Hyman soon appear, and that he cannot pursue his neglect of his legislative duties in peace.

Mr. Meredith throughout his whole life has never manifested either dignity or courage when a battle has been going against him, and his appeal to be allowed to go about the wards like some wax-work lady crowned with rose-leaves, is what in ordinary parlance would be termed squealing in advance.

But we should not be too hard on the gentleman from Toronto. He had just heard of the results to himself of Wednesday's polling—a loss in his following of four seats in a division.

For one thing, Mr. Meredith is in bad company. He is in the company of other outsiders who have come in to overbear the sentiment of the majority of those who think London a good enough place to live in.

Nor is Mr. Meredith conducting a manly canvass, as he fervently darts in here and darts in there. We have it on the best authority that Mr. Meredith has been saying, practically, "Support no one not in favor of the Government," yet he pipes an entirely different tune when he asks to be sent to oppose Mr. Mowat's Government. Then it is said he has been talking against Mr. Hyman personally—in other words, according to the best advice, Mr. Meredith's private canvass against Mr. Hyman is as unmanly and shabby as his squealing published letter.

History fails to point to a nation whose people were contented and happy, where the few were given the power by tariff laws to rob the many. London electors, we feel certain, will vote for Mr. Hyman who is pledged to work for the reduction or abolition of all taxes on necessities of life.

THE OMENS OF VICTORY.

Mr. Carling's managers must have seen Wednesday night how the tide was going. The Liberals packed the Grand Opera House, not to the doors but to outside the doors, and hundreds had to go away.

On the streets the red necktie was out in fine force, and cheerful cheers for Hyman were prevalent.

Mr. Hyman's committeemen were at their work in great numbers and with irresistible ardor.

Contrast this with the dismal failure of the Carling procession. Some boys and less than 100 men followed the band around and were rewarded by speeches from F. A. Fitzgerald, E. T. Esery and others. It was a bad night for the monopolists.

Mr. Carling in 1890 voted that no man who did not earn $300 a year should have a vote. By this action many of the workmen of London are to-day deprived of their rights as freemen. No wonder the progressive young men are all ranged on the side of Mr. Hyman, who believes in every man having a vote who earns an honest living, however small his income. Mr. Carling voted to disfranchise the poor man who is sick for a couple of weeks in a year. Was it not shameful?

GREEDY AND UNJUSTIFIABLE.

It is the general impression that it is greedy and unjustifiable on the part of Mr. Carling to want to take from Mr. Hyman the honor of a seat in the House of Commons bestowed by the people of London.

It is a violation of the Commandment, Thou shalt not covet.

It is the more covetous when one remembers that Mr. Carling already has a seat in Parliament, in the Senate Chamber of the legislature.

Close up the ranks, and to the polls! Mr. Hyman's election is assured by a large majority if the full vote pledged to him is polled. We have no doubt that it will be polled.

Did Carling

Resign His Seat in the Senate?

A Dispatch from Ottawa Says He Did Not.

In that Case His Candidature is Invalid.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—It is stated on good authority that discovery has been made here that in the absence of almost the entire Government in the bye-elections, a vital point was overlooked, namely, the necessity of Mr. Carling tendering his resignation as Senator before nomination in London, so that he is not legally a qualified candidate, and if elected would have to resign and run over again. It has leaked out in the Privy Council office, and there is consternation and dismay among the party.

The above is a dispatch from our usually well-informed Ottawa correspondent.

Whether this information be correct or not, a very short time will show.

In any case, it matters not to the friends of Mr. Hyman, who must to-day poll every vote.

But if it be correct, all the more does it illustrate the outrage of involving the electors of London in a contest to elect to the House of Commons a man who is still a member of the Senate.

WHY DO THE 100,000 LEAVE US EVERY YEAR?

Simply to get the benefit of the trade engendered by the larger market. Waiting is hopeless. We are stagnant because we, by our position, must trade with them, and cannot do it profitably now because of the heavy tax upon that trade at the border. We send them practically all the minerals we have to sell.

Why not sell them freely, when the trade would rapidly increase? We send them all our fresh fish. Why have to pay a tax out of the profits when delivering our goods?

We send them all our sawn lumber, $11,000,000 a year products of the forest. Why not get the full value of it instead of paying away millions each year to get it to its market?

Freedom of trade of this continent is our one and only remedy. Then their market would be ours, and with it such prosperity as Canada has never conceived of. Ship yards would be at work on this side of the lake as now on the other. Our mines would be developed rapidly. All they want is a market. The only market they can ever have is that south of us.

British capital, seeing the same market open to the Canadian factory as the American, would naturally manufacture here.

The boot and shoe factory on Carling street would be opened and some special line of goods made for the Detroit, Chicago and western market. It could be as well made here as anywhere in America, and if successful, could be extended almost indefinitely. The increased population demands there increased factories every year. We would have them. Our real estate would partake of the character of it in the United States about it and go up in value year by year.

Let London speed the good time coming. Who knows? Her election of Mr. Hyman, a good majority to-day, may mean the downfall of the discredited N.P. That is all that keeps us from reciprocity. We can have freedom of trade to-day by abandoning the N.P.

A Red Parlor Government does not want it, but the people are the rulers. Let them speak to-day.

The prospects look good for London now. —[St. Thomas Times.]

You are right; London will to-day re-elect its popular representative, Mr. Hyman, and rebuke the family compact, who desire and demand that every political honor shall remain in one or other of two families.

DR. GRANT ON INTERNATIONAL BARRIERS.

A contemporary expresses astonishment because Principal Grant, in his address before the National Educational Association at Toronto recently, made this impassioned appeal to the great body of educationists there assembled:

"Oh, kinsmen, blend the two flags together, and count those men enemies of the race who seek to erect or seek to maintain barriers between the British commonwealth and the United States, or who teach that it is a good thing for neighbors to have no intercourse with each other. Join hands and never forget that we at last are children of the light."

This is no new position for Principal Grant to take up. In an address delivered at New York before complete freedom of trade between the two countries had become a political issue, Dr. Grant said:

"The advantages of unrestricted access to our natural market (the United States) are undoubted. Indeed it seems to me simply impossible to doubt that the advantages would be equally great on both sides."

We look upon Dr. Grant's counsel to the teachers of the Dominion and the United States in national convention assembled as a reaffirmation of this impregnable position. He is on the right track in this regard. Only monopolists and party-blind politicians will say nay to the proposition he lays down.

WARNING.

The Liberal workers are thoroughly posted and keeping watch on the gang of impersonators and hoodlars being brought into the city to prevent fair play to Mr. Hyman.

Arrangements have been made not only to watch those implicated but for their prompt arrest.

An advertisement in reference to the matter appears elsewhere.

THE BAD VOTES.

Our friends need not have the slightest care about the fraudulent list. The bogus names have already been taken off the list, and they can never be counted unless put on again. That will never happen. If their owners are foolish and dishonest enough to tender their votes they will be kept separate from the rest, but they will never be added to the list nor will any attempt ever be made to go further with a contention that has been laughed out of two courts now.

Two things will prevent an appeal:
1. It would be hopeless and only make the party a further laughing stock.
2. Not half the bogus vote can be polled anyway. Decent people refuse to be made catspaws of and cannot take the oath for that purpose.

Mr. Hyman will have such a majority as will make any appeal useless.

THE BOODLERS ARE HERE.

A carload of the professional hoodlars who have been playing their trade in West Huron passed through the city to-day en route for London. They will try the same game they worked in West Huron, but in the energetic young Liberals of the Forest City they will find an opposition that may thwart their schemes.

The Toronto Empire (Conservative) now practically admits that the recent mission to Washington by Mr. Forster and his associates did nothing to forward better trade relations between Canada and the States.

WHAT A COMMENT ON THE N. P.

Last year the value of "household effects" entered for export to the United States amounted to $700,000!

Just imagine the pile of furniture and other goods represented by this amount, and think of the army that goes with the goods.

"We are coming, Father Abraham, 100,000 more," was the cry war song, but pathetic is the fact that for the past ten years we have been sending 100,000 of our population a year to Uncle Sam.

The Queen's Opera House in Belleville was sold at auction yesterday for $7,000. The building cost $15,000.—[Toronto Empire of to-day.]

High national taxation and trade restriction does not seem to increase the price of property in Belleville any more than in London. The country needs a change.

TURN ON THE LIGHT.

The corruption proved at Ottawa last session is only the turning up of one plank and exposing the creeping things thereunder. The light will be turned on during the session which opened at Ottawa yesterday.

MR. CARLING AND THE SENATE.

It is not denied that Mr. Carling will be reappointed to the Senate immediately after Mr. Hyman's election. Mr. Carling had every opportunity of denying it at the Opera House meeting, but did not do so. So that a vote for Mr. Hyman will not deprive Mr. Carling of a seat in the Upper House of Parliament.

SWINGING ROUND THE CIRCLE.

A week ago the St. Thomas Journal published the names of a notorious trio of election workers who had departed from that city en route for West Huron. They were: W. H. Ingram, a brother of A. L. Ingram, M.P.; J. W. Yearley and W. E. Nichol; and of them the Journal said: "This trio did effective work here, and no doubt will be of service to the Government and Mr. Patterson in West Huron." They passed through London northward, ships in hand, on Thursday last week.

The nature of their services in West Huron can be very well understood. They are not platform orators, and it was no part of their duty to speak on behalf of Mr. Patterson. They formed, however, a small section of an army of imported silent and effective carpet-bag workers, and having performed the duties expected of them there they wiled themselves hither to perform a similar service for Mr. Carling.

Since Tuesday last they have been in the city dodging hither and thither, holding

The nature of their services in West Huron can be very well understood. They are not platform orators, and it was no part of their duty to speak on behalf of Mr. Patterson. They were simply a small section of an army of imported slaves, effective carpet-bag workers, and having performed the duties expected of them there they bled themselves hither to perform a similar service for Mr. Carling.

They were seen in the streets of the city dogging hither and thither, holding private interviews by night and day with such persons as have been pointed out as being susceptible of such influence. Strangers are likely to excite suspicion, and they were followed by members of the Reform committee, and to-day if they still remain here they will be under the espionage of an effective committee.

Surely the honest electors of this city might have been spared the shame of having questionable outside influence brought to bear upon them in this contest, and left to determine fairly which is the better candidate to support.

It is quite probable that to-day may witness the arrest of some parties who do not keep well within the lines of discretion, and allow a fair record of the votes to be made at the several polling booths.

A CONSERVATIVE PAPER PROTESTS.
(Sheffield Gazette, Conservative.)
We should be recreant to the principles of the Liberal-Conservative party were we to abstain from showing our disgust at the man of whom should justly be held responsible for the corruption at Ottawa, are still retained in power. There is reasonable ground for belief that their negligence to put it mildly, afforded opportunity for the commission of crimes. How can Mr. McLaughlin, Sir John Thompson, and the Conservative press to denounce Mr. McLaughlin at Quebec while he condones the same at Ottawa? He justly lays himself out to a charge of complicity. We are sorry to be obliged to speak thus plainly, but the interest of truth, justice and morality is necessary to be plain when the public power is false. When the members of the Conservative party next meet Mr. McLaughlin in caucus we hope and trust they will be backward in telling him plainly that his conduct is distasteful to the people and the party and will be disastrous to the Dominion.

PERTH.

Active preparations are going on in South Perth for the elections on March 10. The Liberals are organizing rapidly, and expect to roll up a splendid majority for their veteran, James Trow.

The Conservatives have placed a candidate in the field, but it is felt by very many that this action is lacking in honor, inasmuch as Mr. Trow was unseated without any just cause.

THEY MET IN PRISON.

Robert Coon Bequeathed $37,000 to W. O. Williams.

The Result of a Friendship Formed in a Minnesota Penitentiary.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25.—W. O. Williams, a carriage blacksmith of La Crosse, Wis., has come into possession of a fortune through a strange chain of circumstances.

Twenty years ago there was living in Port Coon, Wis., a wealthy family of the name of Coon. The eldest son, Robert, was the black sheep of the family, causing his parents much trouble.

In order to save his family from disgrace the son enlisted in a regular army and was assigned to a regiment stationed in Oregon. He soon deserted, but was captured after a hard struggle, in which he succeeded in wounding the captain and sergeant before he could be overpowered.

Coon was sent to the penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn. Williams was also a convict there, and he and Coon became warm friends. While Coon was yet in prison his father died, leaving his son a large fortune.

Coon was able to secure legal assistance by this means and materially shortened his term. In the meantime Williams had served his term and was released.

The two men met again. One day Williams happened to see an advertisement asking for information as to the whereabouts of W. O. Williams, formerly an inmate of Stillwater. Williams, who was then living in Wisconsin, answered the advertisement and learned that his friend Coon had died and left his property in St. Paul valued at $37,000.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Grand Lodge Decide to Remodel the Constitution.

Changes Necessitated by the Rapid Extension of the Order—Meeting Chosen as the Next Place of Meeting.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

At this afternoon's session of the Sons of England Grand Lodge the selection of the next place of meeting was the first business taken up, and by a unanimous vote it was decided that the Grand Lodge should meet at the next place of meeting.

The General Purpose Committee presented its fourth and final report, the most important clause of which was the recommendation that a committee be appointed to thoroughly revise and remodel the constitution, having in view the necessity of providing for the rapidly increasing strength and extension of the order.

This recommendation was adopted, and several important matters were referred to the committee for consideration, chief among them being the proposal to amalgamate the two degrees, and the question of instituting Provincial Grand Lodges, a step rendered necessary through the rapid extension of the society.

The matter of a paid assistant secretary was referred to the Executive Council, with power to act as they may consider advisable.

A special committee was struck to deal with matters pertaining to the juvenile branches with instructions to report at a subsequent session.

Reference was made to the death of the Duke of Clarence and Mr. John Macdonald, and an appropriate expression of sympathy and regret recorded in connection therewith.

A resolution was adopted regretting the attempt which is being made to destroy the memorial benefits attached to secret societies, and appealing to the brethren to use every effort to prevent legislation giving effect to such attempt.

A resolution was passed thanking the mayor and citizens of London for the hospitality extended to the Grand Lodge, and further expressing the extreme regret felt at the lamentable accident which had befallen Chief Ross during the exhibition run of the fire brigade.

Whatever there be between the two nations to forget and forgive is forgotten and forgiven. If the two peoples which are one by their duty, who can doubt that the destinies of the world are in their hands? Let America and England march in the van of freedom and progress, showing the world not only a magnificent spectacle of human happiness, but a still more magnificent spectacle of two peoples united, loving righteousness and hating iniquity, inflexibly faithful to the principles of eternal justice, which are the unchanging law of God.—Archdeacon Farrar, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Eng.

RECIPROCITY DISCUSSED

In the Senate of the United States.

Gen. Foster's Statements Keenly Criticized by Senator Vest.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—In the Senate Mr. Hale's resolution of Jan. 19, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for copies of the reciprocity agreements under the last tariff act, was taken up to-day, and Mr. Vest moved an amendment. Mr. Hale addressed the Senate in reply to Mr. Hale's speech on the resolution. He agreed with Mr. Hale that the discussion of the question would become the leading issue in the approaching national canvass. In the States which have been eminently successful, and that success had been brought about by the fact that the South American States produced tropical fruits and commodities which did not come into competition with the farm products of the United States, and that of itself favored and even necessitated reciprocal commercial intercourse. He (Vest) would undertake to show by the statistics of the Treasury Department itself that the results of reciprocity with Brazil—the largest of South American markets—so far from there having been an increase of exports of farm products from the United States, there had been more and more of such exports, and that the only increase in American exports had been in articles on which there had been no import duty at all levied by Brazil, and consequently that reciprocity could not have brought about that result.

It had been also stated by Mr. Foster that reciprocal intercourse with Canada was a very different thing from reciprocal intercourse with South America, and that the principal reason given was that Great Britain controlled the tariff treaties of Canada, and that Great Britain was under the system of free trade, which was entirely antagonistic to the system adopted by the people of the United States. Mr. Foster seemed, Mr. Vest said, to be entirely ignorant of the fact that Canada was permitted to impose its own tariff duties, and that the home country had never taken into consideration the import duties of her provinces. Mr. Hale's speech also seemed to be ignorant of the fact that English imports paid as high duties on Canada as American imports paid.

Quoting from Mr. Hale's speech the statement that it was only the reciprocity feature of the tariff bill that had saved the Republican party from being totally swamped in the last elections, Mr. Vest said it seemed to him that the mind that framed the results of these elections in the Senate and House of Representatives constituted a swamping process even on the coast of Maine. He referred to the famous incident in the Senate Finance Committee room, in which Mr. Hale was represented as having "smashed his silk hat in baffled rage as he denounced McKinley and his colleagues" on account of the removal of sugar duties. Mr. Vest declared his conviction that as long as the New England dominated there never would be reciprocal relations with Canada. On this point he quoted Mr. Hale as saying in that debate: "Reciprocity with Canada is an animal of very different breed from reciprocity with South America." In other words, said Mr. Vest, reciprocity which brought free trade and free rubber to the manufacturers of New England was very different from reciprocity which brought free Canadian products to the consumers of the whole country. The amendment which he had offered to the resolution was intended to elicit from the State Department information as to the efforts recently made to establish reciprocity with the neighboring Republic, and if such efforts had failed what had been the cause of failure.

After some discussion by Mr. Hale and others, the resolution went over without action.

FOLLOWED HER HUSBAND.

Death of Mrs. Heslop, Widow of the Murdered Ancestor Treasurer.

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Heslop, widow of John Heslop, the late treasurer of Ancestor township, who was murdered about a year ago, died at her home near Ancestor to-day. She has been in feeble health ever since her husband was murdered, and died of congestion of the lungs, brought on by an attack of grip.

Mrs. Heslop would have been a material witness in the approaching trial against the alleged murderers of her husband, and her death may embarrass the case somewhat.

She was 70 years of age. Her husband, who lived on the farm where the murder was committed, was in the house on the night of the murder, will testify at the coming trial.

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

Hamilton Union Molders Still Hold the Fort—Other Labor News.

The Hamilton union molders are still holding their own against the foundrymen. Eight more non-union men were sent away Wednesday, making fifteen non-union molders whom the union pickets have persuaded to leave town within the past three days.

The weavers on the Hamilton looms in the Canada Cotton Company's mills, Ottawa, are out on strike. They claim the price on these goods have been reduced about 10 cents per cut, which would probably make it difficult for them to support every four loom weaver. The manager, Mr. Benton, claims the price per cut has only been reduced 1 cent. About 170 are out.

There is little change in the Hamilton molders' trouble. After getting rid of a lot of non-union men the molders say all is quiet. It is stated that some of the Patrons of Industry have discussed the question and in conclusion have decided to support only such foundries as employ union men. At the shops no change is reported.

The receipts last month of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were $37,558; $32,000 was paid for local benefits.

The National Furniture Workers Union of America has 6,410 members in 43 local unions. Last month's receipts amounted to $1,387.98, and the expenditures to $291.25.

Before the Royal Labor Commission on Tuesday a representative of the Lumber Sellers' Association, of London, denied that the virtue of London barmaids was especially assailed, and asserted that the young women under the watchful eye of the publicans were as safe as at home. The members of the commission were slightly incredulous of this story of the idyllic state of affairs in London public-houses.

The National Industrial Conference at St. Louis, Mo., on Wednesday, adopted a platform declaring the union of the labor forces of the United States to be a duty accomplished, permanent and perpetual.

A Winnipeg telegram says: Canadian Pacific railway conductors and brakemen threaten to strike for higher wages.

A largely-attended mass meeting of brickmakers and employees was held in Labor Hall, Toronto, on Wednesday night, for the purpose of forming a union with the object of keeping up the rate of wages, which the employers are threatening to cut down.

A SAD ENDING.

Chief Ross, of the Fire Department, Seriously Injured.

At 1:32 o'clock this afternoon the fire alarm on the Market Square was pulled by Supreme Grand President Ivens, of the Sons of England. The members of the Grand Lodge have been invited to witness a test run of the fire department, and they were assembled near the corner of King and Talbot streets to witness it. Seventy seconds after the alarm was given, the central fire brigade dashed up King street and reached the spot. In attempting to turn north on Talbot street the turn was not taken soon enough, and the sharp corner of the Hotel Ross building, had the effect of upsetting the hose wagon. The firemen were thrown out and unfortunately Chief Ross was thrown violently against the corner of the hotel. He was picked up unconscious and carried inside. Doctors happened to be on hand and a deep and heavy gash was found on his forehead and just over the eye. Everything possible was done to relieve him, but the wound was so deep that the result would be fatal. It was a sad ending to what was intended as an act of courtesy to the visitors. The fireman T. Alken was leg badly hurt. James Campbell was the driver of the wagon, the regular driver, J. Gleason, being off on his holidays.

At a late hour last night Chief Ross, of the fire department, was resting quietly at his residence, 291 Horton street, and suddenly recovering from the effects of the injuries sustained in yesterday's unfortunate occurrence. The wound on his forehead did not penetrate far. His many friends will be pleased to see him around again in a few days. Fireman James D. Riddell, who broke a rib or two, is also doing more and more. Campbell was the driver of the wagon, the regular driver, J. Gleason, being off on his holidays.

THE SUGAR COMBINE.

There has been a slight fall in the price of sugar within the last few days, owing to a temporary disagreement in the combine. The rupture will soon be healed, however, and then, once more, householders will be at the mercy of the millipioneers. Here is the authority for this, as printed in a dispatch to the Toronto World (Conservative):

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The sugar refiners have had their meeting, and the C. S. Guild have had theirs. The result has been anticipated by the press, the destruction of the guild. It is said that by general consent the members of the combine have agreed to sell their stock at such rates as they think proper and profitable for their own interest. In all these stocks are sold, however, members of the guild alone will be able to buy the refined sugar and ask them for more. There will then have to be a new market before the outside men can come into the market on an equal basis with the combine. It is to be expected that the price of sugar will be able to purchase sugar at all.

Dr. R. L. Maddox, the Pioneer of Modern Photography.

Dr. R. L. Maddox, of Southampton, England, the art of photography owes its important step forward since the time of its invention to him. He was in 1817 that he invented the gelatine plate, as the result of experiments intended to improve on the calotype process. His objections to that process were manifold. It was costly and the manufacture of the pot was tedious, and the calotype process was injurious to the photographer's health. Dr. Maddox's own objection to the process was that it was too slow. He was joined that of his household, as a depressive odor pervaded every room in the house. He met the case in a characteristic way, not with the submission of one who regards the art of an imperfect mode as inevitable, but with the spirit of an inventor, confident that thought and experiment will find a way of escape. High health and advanced age have not prevented Dr. Maddox from being identified with the latest triumphs in photography. He is recognized as the leader and tutor of a great art.
