Labor Leader Believes Land Will Be Overrun With Government Agents.

winnipeg, Jan. 13.—(By the Canadian President of the anti-sedition bills now pending in Congress was made yesterday in a statement issued by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

President Gompers declared such legislation "would violate the constitution and rob the whole American people of their most cherished and basic guarantees of free government."

"Section 5 of the bill, unbelievable as it may seem," he said, "may be easily construed to make it a crime to wear in public any button of an organization whose purpose it is to secure an amendment to the constitution of the United States or any existing federal nited States or any existing federal

It is unhappily true that even a legitimate strike may result in indirect injury to the employers' private property right in his business. The recent steel and coal strikes were both falsely heralded as attempts to overthrow our Government. "The inevitable result of this bill, if we enacted, would be to spread a reign of terror over the United States, all the country with spies and special agents of the department of justice, fill the land with suspicion, and heresy hunting would quickly become a personal interest.

Hamilton, Jan. 19.—Isaac Bainbridge of Toronto, a One Big Union man, and organizer for the Amalgamated Garment Workers' Union, declared here that he had no hope for the emancitation of the working classes of the world by political action. He considered the industrial problem will have to be settled on the industrial field, through the application of the strike weapon. The U. F. O.-Labor Government, he said, was too young yet to be judged. He desires that it be given a fair trial. DRESDEN FLOUR MILLS ON STREET RAILWAY DESTROYED BY FIRE

This Morning.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Dresden, Jan. 19.—The plant of the Dresden Flour Mills, Limited, burned here about 4 o'clock this morning. The chopping mill and the elevator were saved, but the office and flour mills were completely demolished. The contents of the safe were rescued. The mill has only been under the present management for about a year, having formerly been the property for more than forty years of Mr. McVean. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The bishops have issued a proclamation calling on Germans to unite in opposing the surrender of these persons, "the threat of which is driving men to suicide." It calls on the country to prevent any train passing the frontier bearing German men to face a hostile court.

DECISION IS REVERSED. Toronto, Jan. 19.—The appellate division this morning reversed decision of Mr. Justice Sutherland in the Bailey Cobalt mines liquidation case, and allowed the appeal of the liquidators. It is held that the court has power to make an order for the acceptance of the offer made by A. J. Young for the purchase of the assets of the company. That deal will now be carried through.

RESOURCES OF NATIONAL BANKS $22,444,922,000

Washington, Jan. 19.—With resources aggregating $22.444,992,000 on November 17 national banks of the United States have established a new record for growth and development it was said today by John Skelton Williams, comptroller of currency. Total deposits on November 17 were $17,467,853,000. November 17 were $11,401,805,000.

Increases in resources, analyzed as to geographical locations, show that the national bank development generally was not confined *r any one section of the country, the only section showing a decline being the central western states.

PRINCE PARTIAL TO PARIS GIRLS FOR HIS HAREM

Paris, Jan. 18.—Since the signing of the armistice Paris has become a city of kings and princes. Recently it has sheltered two eastern monarchs, the shah of Persia and Ameer Feisal, heir apparent to the kingdom of Hedjaz. Both are enthusiastic over the Parisian theatres, but the latter cares more for the lighter places of amusement. He usually discards his eastern robes when visiting the music halls and, rigged out in western mufti, contents himself with walking around the galleries.

No doubt with a view to forming a harem, the Ameer seems to take particular interest in the Parisian cocotte, and should one of them find his favor he sends his secretary to her to tell her so. She and the Ameer thereupon disappear. He enjoys the noisy music and pomp of Parisian shows. He was once heard to say:

"This show would do fine in my country as a fantasia."

Whether any contracts were signed at the time is not known.

The mission, which was appointed by to turn them into the court. The mission, which was appointed by Sacretary Lansing on the request of Ignace Paderewski, then president of the Polish council of ministers, arrived in Warsaw on July 13, 1919, and remained in Poland for two months during which time it traveled by automobiles more than 2.500 miles, making a personal investigation in every town where anti-Jewish outbreaks had been reported. While it admitted that in eight specific cases the Jews had been made the arget of outrage, pillage and murder, the report of the mission declares that it would be unfair to place the blame for these excesses on the Polish nation as a whole. whole.

The report deals at length with the causes of the anti-Semitic feeling in Poland which is declared to be to a large extent political rather than racial

System Is Vindicated.

London, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press).—
The results of the Irish local elections are still incomplete and will not be fully known till Tuesday night, but some newspaper comment is available, though opinion is not unanimous. The view generally convered to the view generally expressed is that the proportional representation experiment has been justified, as it has secured some representation of minorities, which otherwise would have been overwhelmed. The Sinn Fein has secured his meiorities whelmed. The Sinn Fein has secured big majorities in the southern provinces, but its success in Ulster is greatly qualified, and the Times says its ultimate significance is tempered by the remarkable demonstration of power and growth of Irish labor, which the election results disclose. It is believed, says the paper, that the Government is no longer blind to the necessity for change, and that preparatory steps are so far, laid before the committee a long letter, entitled, "Certain Naval

THE STATES GO DRY.

Except for medicinal and industrial pur poses King Alcohol is through in the United States. Under the conditions of a constitutional amendment which went into effect Saturday the manufacture, sale or importation of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is prohibited throughout disintegrate or destroy. the Union. The ruling now is that any drink containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is to be considered intoxicating. Several of the States have announced that they will carry the question of legality to the supreme court, but the American public as a whole appears to have accepted constitutional prohibition without any widespread feelings of hostility. The states of New York and New Jersey are, however, expected, through their legislatures, to reverse their resolutions ratifying the constitutional amendment.

The United States Government announces that it has mapped out a vast scheme of regulation. To suppress illicit manufacture, importation, and bootlegging, the Government will employ tens of thousands of special officers and spend billions of dollars. It is frankly admitted that the country will not be bone dry for five or six years. Meantime, the drastic activity which the Government promises may cause local reactions sufficiently numerous and influential to compel modification of the prohibition laws. One evil that is certain to develop from the sweeping conditions of prohibtion is the more or less secret manufacture and consumption of poisonous liquors masquerading as whiskey and

DE KOVEN PASSES.

Reginald De Koven, who for nearly two score years has been entertaining the English American and Canadian publics with comic operas and songs, died Saturday at Chicago. De Koven will long be remembered gratefully ciation finds itself under the necessity of fallby hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of ing back upon other methods of endeavoring to theatregoers. His name at once recalls "Robin | make the worse appear the better reason in its Hood." That charming, ever fresh composition work of serving its masters' purposes by bulshares with "The Mikado" the honor of being warking the protectionist system with misrepthe most popular comic opera of the English stage. While it lacks the satiric brilliancy of the Gilbert and Sullivan masterpiece, De Koven's Economist, in reviewing the history of British story of Sherwood Forest and its merry men trade policy during the half century preceding possesses an atmosphere of romance that ap- | the world war, points out that the total value peals to all ages. And its music, too, is of a of the import, export and re-export trade of the high class, appropriate and scholarly. The tunes United Kingdom in 1913 was £1,343,602,000. It are catchy, but not so catchy that solid endur- exceeded the foreign trade of Germany by ing qualities are sacrificed. This superiority was true of all the thirty odd light operas, one trade of France by 125 per cent. Year by year, grand opera, four hundred songs, as well as as the Economist points out, the trade of the pieces composed for the piano and orchestra United Kingdom had gone on expanding. "Our that De Koven turned out. It is to his everlasting credit that he never descended to ragtime or the jazz. His work proved that light of our three principal rivals-Germany, the opera could have the widest of appeal and yet United States, and France, was that of high be musically honest and high class. He gave tariffs and trusts. The moral appears to be the public the light musical' entertainment it desired without sacrificing the best traditions of his art. For that the world will hold him in the kindliest of memory.

THE BOLSHEVIKI AND INDIA.

The decision of the supreme council to allow certain necessary supplies to go into the interior of Russia may not, as stated, indicate that the official attitude towards the soviet government has changed, but it does indicate a recognition of the fact that people who have enough to eat are less likely to be a menace to the world than those who are starving. The supreme council has good reason, no doubt, to fear the influence of the Bolsheviki in Central Asia, where they have the chance to work upon great fanatical populations though talk of in-sion of Western Europe by Bolshevik armies of Chinese led by German officers sounds like a deliberate attempt at propaganda. It does not seem to deceive a large part of the English press, which sees the menace to India and Persia, but is not going to be stampeded by talk of another wave of barbarians trampling Western Europe under its feet.

If Lloyd George had his own way about it there would probably have been more settled conditions than exist in Russia today. The champion of intervention in Russia would appear to be the redoubtable Winston Churchill, Whom Bernard Shaw flayed so unmercifully the other day. As Shaw points out, Churchill's record is not of a character to give the country much confidence in his far-seeing sense, at least two of his pet schemes in the war having had very disastrous ending. Churchill is the man who wants war with soviet Russia, if his public attitude means anything. Lloyd George does not. Neither, it is safe to say, does the mass of English people want war with Russia or with anybody else. And probably, if the truth were known, there is less aggressive sentiment in Russia than some people are trying to make out. Authentic news with regard to all Eastern Europe has been at a minimum ever since the armistice was signed, though there has been an abundance of propaganda on both sides.

Britain is concerned, and rightly concerned, with regard to India. There has been frontier fighting there lately of a serious character, and the Afghans have plainly shown the influence of outside agitators. Internal disturbances have also been brought to public attention in an exceedingly ugly way by the revelations of the massacre carried out by General Dyer, an investigation into which is at present under way. Public sentiment in England is strong for the punishment of the men who were responsible for shooting down in cold blood several hundred unarmed natives in a public square. That is not the traditional British rule in India, of which we have been proud, and Britons do not want to put themselves into the same class with the fiends who outraged Belgium five years ago. It is heartening to note that there is no effort to whitewash the Dyer incident and the British Government is dealing promptly and fearlessly with this stain on its honor. The incident is the more unhappy in view of the fact that it happened just at the time when a far greater measure of self-government was being extended to India than had hitherto existed. No one with any knowledge of conditions would ever argue for Britain getting out of India. Her responsibility for the welfare of three hundred millions of people there is one of the great facts of history and must continue. Gradually the burden may be eased, but for a long time to come Britain must stand the main strain, not only of internal development and the upraising of a people, but also of defending those people from outside forces that would

He was in a £25 seat, had yawned through the preliminary bouts, and just as the "real thing" began, he dropped his cigarette case. Stooping down, he felt round for it anxiously, smoke being a vital matter. The room was dark except for the fierce light beating upon the scaffold, or place of execution, where Carpentier was softly, delicately, sinuously curving round his victim, seeking the soft spot for a lightning punch. Eagerly the seat-holder groped for his precious cigarettes on the dark floor, amidst the hubbub of the audience. Whack! Blam! As the searcher raised his head from a 70-second search, the referee was counting Beckett out. All was over. He had heard the smashing blow and the resounding fall of his countryman, but seen nothing. Such is life!

BRITISH FREE TRADE.

Some months ago printer's ink was made use of in large quantities by the Canadian Reconstruction Association to make it appear that Great Britain had become protectionist. Certain temporary Government regulations of a restrictive character which have been put in operation on account of the conditions created by the war were represented as meaning that Great Britain was about to build tariff walls around its coasts. Later developments have shown how unfounded such an idea was; and the result is that the Canadian Reconstruction Asso-

ALL ABOUT CHINS.

[Exeter Times.] Square chins, with little flesh, denote firmness and executive ability.

Broad chins signify dignity, unless vertically thin, when, if with it there be thin lips of the bloodless kind, you find cruelty. Protruding chins characterize men and women of the forceful type. Successful people usually carry their chins thrust forward, with compressed Retreating chins show lack of force mentally morally and physically, and denote that the possessor yields, is soon discouraged, and desires protection. The development of other faculties often makes up for this defect.

PLAYING TO THE GALLERY. [Govan Prairie News.]

No man in public life whose position is consequent upon the votes of the people can afford to ignore public sentiment if the chief object is .o. retain his public position. This is obvious on the Playing to the gallery, however, as history records times without number, is a precarlous proposition, in the great majority of cases leading straight to financial disaster.

Playing to the good old British principle of a square deal is safe and sound, which, though at times apparently ineffective, is sure to insure final access. It is true in sport. It is true in business.

It is true in politics, The public mind is not nearly so corrupt as some would imagine. Neither is it so easily molded and manipulated as some would imagine. The great inclination of the public mind in the mass is to be on the square. Good is greater than evil, and the principle of a square deal appeals to it, and in the mass it touches a responsive chord. Playing to the gallery isn't in it with being on the square.

From Here and There

ORIGIN OF "GONE WEST." [Stratford Beacon.]

The following is given as the origin of the phrase 'Gone West": More than 3,000 years ago the uncient Egyptians spoke of the dead as "the westerners," or those who had "gone west." For the abode of the dead was believed to be in the realm of the setting sun, in that Amenti where Osiris reigned belief by the ancients in the soul going west has at least a reflection in the customs of some of our own North American Indians, who cherisned the belief that their "happy hunting grounds" lay in the west, and who practiced the custom of laying their dead away on well-provisioned platforms facing the west. The belief of the ancients died long, long ago with the religion of that far-distant -died only to return to earth again during th Great War.

So quickly did the phrase become a part of the vocabulary of the soldier in the trenches that today t would be difficult to find a reading person in all the earth that does not instantly perceive its

A CANADIAN SALT LAKE. [Exeter Times.]

A lake has been discovered in the Denzil district of Saskatchewan which produces almost pure salt, and its development is being actively proceeded This lake is the more remarkable from the fact that it is the only one of a group of 190 which tends over about fifteen acres, and is covered with a brine which, in itself, does not possess any pure salt properties. On books salt properties. On boring, however, it was discovered that the depression had a rock foundation, about six feet below the surface, and as each bore was put down a salt spring developed, each of which contained approximately 9 per cent pure salt.

ODD FACTS.

[Guelph Mercury.] There is a creeping moss found in Jamaica, Barbados and other islands of the West Indies which is called the "life tree," or, more properly, "life plant." Its powers of vitality are said ness, and limbers up stiff, aching joints to be beyond those of any other plant. It is believed to be indestructible by any means except immersion in boiling water or the application of red-hot iron. It may be cut up and divided in any manner, and the smallest shreds will throw out roots, grow and bud. The leaves of this extraordinary plant have been planted in a close, airtight, dark box, without moisture of any sort, and trouble, the damnation of pessimism,

[London Daily Mail.] There has been enough solemn finger-wagging at the Germans, who have come to believe that it is safe to defy the Allies. As the result we have the kind of spirit that is now showing itself among the ex-officers and leading them to drink "to the day" when the Hohenzollerns shall be restored. Weakness the Germans do not understand. The wise and merciful course it to tell them plainly that if within a fixed time limit they do not comply with the Allies' conditions and fulfill the treaty terms, the blockade will be renewed.

COLDS.

The child with the cold in school probably has got a "common cold." The chances are he has the measles. A child may have one of these contagious diseases for nearly a week, with no suspicion that he has anything but an ordinary cold. When the rash appears, quarantine is days too late. It is by means of the cough and sneeze that the infection is carried. Whooping cough is another that begins this way.

The danger with measles is not measles, though that is bad enough, and likely to cause serious eye troubles if the utmost care is not taken. The great danger is pneumonia. Remember the ravages of that disease, and treat the common cold with respectful attention.

SQUELCHED. An editor received this letter from a fresh youth:

SEE DANGER IN INCREASED RENTS. [Le Soleil.]

"Many landlords, without taking into consideration the difficult conditions of existence it the present time, are increasing the rents, and often without just cause or reason. We are prepared to admit that an increase may be justified in certain particular cases; but a general increase throughout the city cannot be justified. Proprietors who have increased expenses to meet ought not to forget that their tenants, too, are face to face with pressing obligaions-that they likewise are the victims of the excessively high cost of living. To attempt to profit by actual conditions is to show a want of public spirit and patriotism. It is a piece of bad work that will instil in the minds of an important group of people feelings of hatred and resentment. And who knows if it will not act as a boomerang? Who knows if the tenants may not organize to put a check upon too exorbitant landlords? It is manifest that an inconsiderate increase in the price of rents is calculated to bring about the worst consequences alike to the proprietors and to the city, and then

[From the Book of Wonders.]

The colors of the rainbow, which are always the same, and are shown in this order-red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet-are sunlight broken up into its original colors. It takes all of these colors in the proportions in which they are mixed in the rainbow to make the pure sunlight. These are known as the prismatic colors. As shown in another answer to one of your puzzling questions, the rainbow is caused by the rays of the sun passing into drops of water in the air and reflected back to us with one part of the drop of water acting on it in such a way as to break up the pure sunlight into these prismatic colors. When a rainbow appears at a time when there is a great deal of sunlight, you will generally see two rainbows. The inner rainbow is formed by the rays of the that en'er the upper part of the falling raindrops, and the outer rainbow is formed by the rays that enter the under part of the raindrops. In inner or primary bow, as it is called, the colors beginning at the outside ring of color are red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet, and being exactly reversed in the outer or secondary bow. The secondary bow is also fainter. You may sometimes see smaller rainbows, even if it has not been raining, when looking at a fountain or waterfall. These are caused in exactly the same

We, mother, sister and I, read with We, mother, sister and I, read with great interest your page, and have gained great help. That fudge recipe was just all right. The one published Thursday. The Mall-Box has certainly grown to be a large family. Has anyone washed their knitted sweater without it losing its shape? I have. Mother washed it in Lux and then laid it flat on the floor underneath a sheet; pull in proper shape and leave to dry. I tried washing my feet in ashes for chilblains, but it did not help. If you put the colored iodine on it is a sure cure; not much, or it will blister. Aren't they awful?

I wonder if any of your readers have an old reading about a bag of beans? The story runs something like this: A young girl and her lover wanted to get married, but having no money they decided to ask the parson to marry them for a bag of beans. They both mount his steed, and, placing the beans beside his steed, and, placing the beans beside them, they start off for the parson's home, where he dismounts and goes in to hold the momentous interview. He soon comes to the door and shouts with glee: "Come on in! He says he'll take the beans." ie beans."

3-2, by London's heavier and more experienced team. The visitors had anything but an easy time winning the fixture, and the Blue and White youngsters backchecked and were at their heels continually. The locals' failure to combine, which reports indicated they did with more or less success in their last clash with the Cockneys, cost them the game, as their Individual efforts were wrecked on the London defence or Hynds in goal. Both goaltenders were busy throughout the session. The visitors' net minder showed admirable coolness, making stops of sure looking counters.

The Stars.
Arthurs. Elliott and Gillies excelled don, and O'Brien, Mellon and was handed three penalties for minor him.

Both teams slowed up the first period by playing a defensive game for the whole twenty minutes with a nil result in the way of goals.

In the second period they went at it in earnest and real willing. O'Brien opened the scoring when he batted one from outside the defence. Gillies circled through two minutes later and beat Mc-Allister on a net shot.

At Top Speed.

Both teams were going at top speed the third spasm, and Arthurs pushed in a rebound for London's second.

He duplicated the feat five minutes later with the third. With only minutes to go, the whole local crew pressed down, and Jackson scored. Hynds was having a hard time to avert an overtime period when the gong ran. The line-ups were:

DENTALS WIN. Harvey Ernst, who owns and has managed the Rockport race track for many yea s, is about to sell the land and retire from giving race meetings. The land has become so valuable, in the most rapidly-growing part of Cleveland, the West Side, that he feels that he cannot afford to hold it much longer. It is rumored that John King, the well-known judge and the lifelong friend of Ernst, who has moved to Cleveland recently, has taken an option on the Berea track, which is just a little bit farther away from the centre of the city than Rockport. This means that when Ernst retires the third half-mile track near Cleveland will be maintained at Berea. There is no reason why Mr. King should not be as successful with the Berea track as Mr. Ernst was with the Rockport track.

DETROIT, Jan. 18 .- After a career of a lifetime as a trainer of athletes, hairy Turnill, since 1995 in charge of the Detroit Tigers as guide, philosopher and friend, has recined from active service. "Tutt" announced his withdrawal yesterday to President Frank Navin. His successor will be Tominy Daily, trainer last season for Tolonto Lears and in the off-season conditioner of soccer or hockey teams. It is un-derstood that Daiy's appointment came aerstood that Daly's appointment came as a result of a recommendation from Dan Howley, who became intimately acquainted with Tommy during the time he managed the Toronto club. Harry Tutnin's retrement concludes a long service in athletics, in the course of which he was associated with such hen as James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy West, Steve O'Donnell and Young Corbett. He alterwards was engaged by McGraw to afterwards was engaged by McGraw to

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

To Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than o cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure, eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water. Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine: the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold wea-ther the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheuma-

IN MEMORIAM. MILLER—In loving memory of Mary Della Miller, beloved wife of Joseph A. Miller, who died one year ago of a loved one gone to rest, nd those who think of her today. Are those who loved her best.

-Husband and Children.

REID—In memory of Hugh Charles Reid, who died on January 19, 1919, one year ago today, at Parkhill, Ont. Just one long year ago today Our dearest one was taken away; The reason why we cannot tell, But know He doth all things well.

We've tried our best not to grieve or But, oh, we're so lonely we cannot forget, How cheery he was, good-hearted and true.
We miss him continually all the day through.

How we long for his voice and a glimpse of his face,
But we know we must wait until God's day of grace:
Till then we'll keep striving to trust and not fear,
And live as our dear father would live as our dear father would wish if he were here.

We love you, yes, we love you, but Jesus loves you more.
And He has sweetly called you to yonder shining shore;
The golden gates were opened, a gentle voice said come.
And he calmly entered home.

He has gone to brighter regions, Free from every grief and care; We shall meet you again in heaven, And there will be no parting there.

| Waterloo. | Waterloo. | London Conservatory of Music | Conservatory | Conserv Angels guard you, darling father: May your harp ring loud and clear, Leaving notes of love behind you, To the ones who loved you dear. "Not our will, but Thine de done."

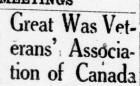

-His Wife and Sons.

JACQUES—In loving memory of our dear mother, who died one year ago, January 19, 1919:
Days of sadness still come o'er us, Tears of sorrow often flow;
Memory keeps our loved one near us, Whom God claimed one year ago. Dear is the grave where she is laid, Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die, If some have forgotten her, never will I.

Deeply mourned by Sons and Daugh-WILKEY—In loving memory of Evelyn Wilkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walton, who died on January Two years have passed since that Sad day
God called the one we loved away;
Forget her, no; we never will!
As years roll on we love her still.

-Father, Mother and Sister.

Gets Largest Majority Since First Executive Was Chosen.

SHOW OF PATRIOTISM

Formal Proceedings End in Hurrahs of New Official and Demonstration.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 17. - Paul Deschanels was elected president of the French Republic today by 734 votes of the 889 members of the National Assembly voting. His majority was the Adolphe Tiers, the first president after the fall of the empire, who was chosen unanimously.

The result was certain since caucus of yesterday, at which M. Des-chanel was chosen the candidate of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, comprising all the prising all the various parties.

Holiday Character.

The election took on, besides a holiday character, the atmosphere of a patriotic manifestation. The feeling among the senators and deputies was that after the retirement of Premier Clemenceau from the cabinet, to whom the parliament was disposed to give evidence of the nation's gratitude, it was fitting that the new president should come into power with a vote that would give him the necessary authority to speak impressively for France. The general sentiment is that while M. Deschanel has not won the presidency by such outstanding services as those rendered by Premier Clemencean, he is a man admirably adapted for the position, which requires careful tact and is above all a safe man.

Proceedings Formal.

The proceedings, as provided by the constitution, were formal, giving little

Proceedings Formal.

The proceedings, as provided by the constitution, were formal, giving little occasion for enthusiasm. When the vote was announced, however, the members of parliament on the floor and the visitors in the galleries joined in a great outburst of acclamation, in a great outburst of acclamation, while former Premier Briand, who is generally credited with a large share in the election of M. Deschanel, declared to a group of friends: "France and the republic continue."

Madame Deschanel and her children witnessed the demonstration from the gallery, and returned to Paris with the Dresident-elect in a motor car. On president-elect in a motor car. On the return trip M. He cited instances to show that the natives would stand and listen to a missionary for hours. It was rare that a speaker met with any opposition. Although it did not mean that the people were becoming Christianized, it showed that they were interested.

Continuing the speaker said: "The masses are beginning to awaken after centuries of sleeping, during which time they were oppressed and ground down. Now they cry, 'Where can we get liberation?' And they are learning that they can find it in Christianity," He stated that at one mission 150,000 people were refused baptism because there was no one to teach them, and they were so ignorant of all things. Hope of Society is That Swearing May Be Eliminated. Rev. Father J. F. Stanley of Woodstock, received 125 new members into the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church at the evening mass on Sunday night. This brings the membership of the St. Mary's Church branch up to approximately 375 members. The officers expect the society to grow rapidly, as since its inauguration it has become popular with those who attend ecome popular with those who attend

"The colleges are a great ald," he said. "The student comes and learns that the beliefs that have been handed down to him by his father are false, and he too often becomes an atheist. The greatest door into India is the Assyrian Church, which was established in India centuries ago. Through all this time it has been asleep, but now has suddenly awakened. Every man and woman in that church now regards it as his or her duty to act as a missionary, and every class is working hard to spread the Gospel. "The greatest obstacle to the spreading of the Gospel is the appalling ignorance of the people. Less than ten per cent have any knowledge at all. In portance attached to the keeping of their pledge.

ing of the Gospel is the appalling ignorance of the people. Less than ten percent have any knowledge at all. In any villages not a person can read or write. With the ignorance goesprejudice and bigotry, as one finds in our own country. The people will argue that our missionaries should not expect to teach them things when thousands of years ago their ancestors were highly educated, while ours were little better than beasts."

**Lack Sense of Sin.**

Among the educated there was a lack of the sense of sin. Professor Scott said that quite often he had students and never would sin, and they even would say. "Saviour for what? Sin? Sin does not exist." The caste system presented a great difficulty. The students claimed that caste was not an Indian institution alone, that the western nations were guilty of it, too. Of course this was not true. The society of the western countries could not be compared to the castes were as inflexible as stone walls. People born into a given caste died in that caste. To the Brahmins the lower castes were less than animals: It is difficult to talk of the brotherhood of men to them because they could not understand. However, for their own welfare the Brahmins were beginning to take interest in the lower classes, because the masses were beginning to take interest in the lower classes, because the masses were beginning to take interest in the lower classes, because the masses were beginning to take interest in the lower sented a great difficulty.

were beginning to take interest in the lower classes, because the masses were beginning to awaken.

The low esteem in which women were bedied also presented a great difficulty. They were secluded. The men could not see the use of sending the girls to school, as they regarded them as utterably unable to learn. When they were sent to school, however, they proved that they were as capable of learning as their brothers. There was a strong movement among the Mohammedians to better the position of their women. Prof. Scott said the people in this country could help greatly in the work of Christianizing India by their prayers, which, he said, were a powerful factor; by giving money, because the missionaries were working with little funds, and by going as missionaries themselves, which, he said, no one could regret.

Prof. Scott paid tribute to the loyalty of the Indians during the war. He said that they sent over a million men into the conflict, gave all the supplies for the eastern campaigns, and gave money, besides keeping peace within the borders of their own country. But he said that the loyalty was prompted by self-interest, and that India would stay loyal to Great Britain only so long as it was to her interest to do so.
