New Clue Being Followed in Effort To Find London Man.

WIFE TO RECOVER

Local Citizen Wanted on Charge of Murder at Niagara Falls.

Canadian Press Despatch

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 29. Police are following a new clue their attempt to find Frank Barned of London, Ont., who on Saturday drove a motor car onto the sidewalk killing Smylie Muirhead and maiming his own wife, Mrs. Ruth Barned, who accompanied Muirhead.

The police are searching for London man whose last name is Featherstone and who, it is alleged, came here with Barned and disappeared a few minutes before the tragedy occurred. All trace of Frank Barned has been lost after he hit a loaded bus a few minutes after the tragedy and the car was found a few hundred yards from the lower bridge and the river bank. Torrential rains prevented a thorough search of the river bank today. Mrs. Allison of London, mother of Mrs. Barned, who had her leg broken in two places, is here with her daughter.

Mr.s Barned will recover, doctors say today, but is pr news that Muirhead was killed. wish I had been killed instead of Mr. Muirhead," she said. The inquest has been adjourned until October 9. Police on both sides of the river are on the watch and believe that Barned will be arrested if still at large as he is a conspicuous figure because the fact of his extreme lameness.

STORY OF TRAGEDY.

Special to The Advertiser. Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 29 .-Frank Barned, 26 years old, of 7 Horn street, London, Ont., is being sought by police on a charge of murdering Smylie Muirhead, 35 years old, of this city.

Barned, it is alleged by the police, deliberately drove a heavy closed motor car onto a sidewalk where his T. C. Benson and H. S. Wilwife, Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Muirhead were walking on Saturday afternoon. He struck Muirhead, who was thrown some distance, drove right over him, killing him outright, and then struck Mrs. Barned, who courthouse on Oct. 13, was set down the judge who is holding court in the judge who is holding court in the county court room on the main

Does Government Sale Stop the Bootlegger?

Twenty Articles in The Advertiser Give the Facts of Government Sale in Other Provinces-See Page Two.

There are well-meaning people who are inclined at present to favor government sale because they believe it will end bootlegging. But is their hope supported by the facts of government sale resul's in other provinces? Or has government sale had an opposite effect?

A representative of The Advertiser has spent several weeks in impartial investigation of results in Manitoba, Alberta, British Columbia and Quebec in order that he might answer these questions with accuracy.

He is presenting his findings to Advertiser readers in a series of twenty articles, which are appearing daily on page two. The second article is published today and continues his experiences

Market House Removal Urged To Provide More Selling Room For Farmers

IMPROVING MARKET DISTRICT IS URGED

Mayor Believes Scrapping Market House Would Bring New Stores.

PROMISES ACTION

Scrapping of the present market house is suggested today in the presentation of a new angle to the market tangle. This morning the idea was set forth in order that bona fide farmers and gardeners would secure more space on the market, a desire they have long fortered. they have long fostered.

With the tearing down of the old sheds, which now house leased stalls of a dozen or fifteen butchers, these butchers would be virtually forced off the market. But, it is pointed out, that they would likely they that they would likely then secure property on Talbot and King streets, fronting on the market, put in shops there, and help to build up this area as a better business district.

as a better business district.
"There's no reason why the city should go into the business of landford to these butchers," declared Mayor Wenige, a supporter of the scheme to do away with the market

Not Needed.

"The market house isn't really needed. The space for farmers and gardeners is needed. Get the butcher stalls out of there, and they'll heip build up the surrounding district." build up the surrounding district."

The mayor promises to bring up this suggestion at this week's session of No. 1 committee of the council. He is also keen to have the 80 per cent lause put back in the bylaw. This would govern the hucksters on the market, so that they would have to provide an affidavit that they were producers of four-fifths of the mer chandise which they had for sale.

There appears to be some disrup-tion in the ranks of No. 1 committee today regarding the day for meeting this week. Under ordinary circum stances the session is scheduled for Wednesday, but the mayor points out that several aldermen and himself will be out of town that evening, and wants Thursday substituted.

Wednesday It Stays.

Ald. L. H. Douglass, chairman of ne committee, said at noon that he believed that a quorum of the com-mittee could likely be secured for Wednesday, the usual meeting night. At any rate, teh notices have already been sent out for Wednesday, an Wednesday it will apparently be if quorum can possibly be mustered Ald. John Anderson objects to the mayor's statement that he was instrumental in recently having amend ments passed which blocked efforts to get at offending hucksters, who grabbed up the good locations on the market square. Makes Record for Longevity.

Instances of extraordinary longevity are not always above suspicion, but Thomas Parr, who was buried in Westminster Abbey, London, seems to have lived for 152 years. That is the inscription is funny, isn't it, that all of us like to get letters, and most of would rather have a tooth pulled than to write one? Also it is passing strange that both our greatest sin of omission and ommission is letter-writing.

Dorothy Dix

Our Greatest Sin of Omission or Commission Is in Writing or Failing to Write Letters.

There is no other step we listen for so eagerly as the postman's, and we fall upon our mail like a famished tiger on its kill, but our idea of a perfect correspondence is one in which we are always receiving letters without having to send back any reply.

It warms the very cockles of our own hearts to get letters from old friends who write occasionally from far-off places, and who thus show that they hold us in affectionate memory, but we let those who we truly love pass out of our lives because we are too selfish and lazy to keep in touch with them through the mail.

Nothing pleases and touches us more than the letters of condolence or of congratulation that we get when some sorrow befalls us or some good luck comes our way, but we do not do as we would be done by, and write the note of sympathy that would soften another's sorrow, or the word of praise that would be another leaf in

We make the letters, that we receive—the little graceful note of appreciation, the prompt letter of thanks for a gift, or some courtesy-a test of breeding, but we fall under our own condemnation by deferring the hated task of putting pen to paper, or omitting to do it altogether. The very hallmark of culture is the ability to write a charming letter, yet we let our children grow up in absolute ignorance of how to do it. These sins are heavy on our heads, but the greatest sin of omission all is committed by men, who have grown so case hardened in their selfindulgences in doing only the things they enjoy doing, that they never write back to their old parents at all. It seems incredible, but there are other wise decent men who from year's end to year's end never take the trouble to write a real, warm, loving, personal letter to the mothers who bore them.

Sometimes they do not write at all. Sometimes they occasionally dictate a formal, cold, lifeless note through their secretaries. Generally they delegate the task to their wives, as if any mother wanted to hear from her own child through a third party, and in a duty letter, to boot.

God only knows how any man justifies his not writing to his parents to his conscience. He knows that old people have few interests of their own; that they live only through their children, and that the smallest thing that he does is of more importance to them than public events that shake the world. He knows that only in words of affection and appreciation and gratitude can he repay his debt for all the sacrifices they made for him. His imagination is dull, indeed, if he does not picture the old people watching for the letter that never comes. If he does not vision the hope that springs into their breasts as the postman pauses at their gate, the dull despair that settles down on them as he passes by

The man pleads that he is too busy, too rushed with work to write back home, but he isn't too busy to answer the letter that will bring him more business, yet what business so important as bringing a little cheer into the drab lives of those who have little left to interest and entertain

Be sure the time will come when a man will look down on the dead face of his old mother, and he will be gladder to remember the loving letters he wrote her than he would be to have written a Six Best Seller or a letter that brought him $50,000 worth of or-

But if we sin in failing to write those letters that we should have written, we equally sin in writing letters which we should not have written. Chief among these is the blue letter, and herein women are the great offenders.

There are women whose letters make the Lamentations of Jeremith read like a merry wheeze. And when you get one of their epistles you feel like taking a dose of Rough on Rats, and getting out of a world that has got nothing in it but afflictions. They literally comb their community for horrors, and there isn't a case of sickness or a broken nose or a bankruptcy or a scandal or anything unpleasant that they do not retail for your benefit. And they always wind up by telling you that they don't think they will live long, and that they pine for your society in their departing days.

live long, and that they pine for your society in their departing days.

Such letters take all of the heart out of you. They break down your morale, and when they come to one who is already staggering along under all the load that he or she can bear, they are nothing less than a crime, all the load that he or she can bear, they are nothing less than a crime, and that they pine for your society in their departing days.

Bahr.

If might have hugged the land and run the risk of capture and run the run th eight than the spoken word, and Somehow the written word has to so no letter should ever be sent that does not carry with it a message of

Of course, the most dangerous sin of commission in letterwriting is the love letter, and to this weakness women are likewise especially prone. For alas, only too many women go on an ink jag and write things to men which they are ashamed to remember, and which they often have to pay good money to get back.

The only way to write a safe love letter is to keep it on the ice for twenty-four hours after you have written it. Then it never will be sent. The morale of all of which is that we should write plenty of letters. but we should write each letter as if it were one day likely to be read DOROTHY DIX. aloud in court.

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD IN INGERSOLL CHURCHES

Anniversary Services and Sunday School Rallies Are Well Attended.

Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, Sept. 28.—Special services were held in the local churches today, and, despite inclement weather, the congregations were large.

At St. James' Anglican church, Ven. Archdeacon Draper, Cape Breton, was the speaker at the morning service, and in the evening the Bishop of the Yukon, Rt. Rev. I. O. Stringer, was heard. Bishop Stringer was the first missionary among the Eskimos, and his message was one of outstand

Revival Justified.

The revival of the gymkhana has been amply justified. The presence of over 600 spectators and over 50 riders in an afternoon filled with color and stirring action proved it. If at times there were slight delays between events nobody objected. There was the lovely lazy sunshine of a late September afternoon, there were always beautiful horses and smart riders to watch, there was excellent music from the band of the Royal Canadian regiment, there were good humor and friendly interest everywhere. There was no need to hurry and nobody wanted to on such an afternoon. Saturday's gymkhana has demonstrated a surprisingly wide interest in good horses and horsemanship, and it will undoubtedly serve to stimulate increased activities.

The Flat Race.

The flat race was spirited. The nine entries, including several women riders, got away to a good start. One rider lost his seat at the first quarter but his horse stayed with the field and plain horses. And there were all classes of riders—army men, famous amateurs, sturdy little boys, sporting little girls, beginners, veterans, venturesome men and equally plucky women in smart habits. HEAT AND COLD.

It used to be a saying out West where I came from: "Heat is life and cold is death.' As far as my own experience goes I should be inclined to look favorably upon this statement. Heat is expansion. On a warm summer day full of sunshine, when the air is vibrant with heat, and you look out from under the shade of a tree, it seems easy to send your soul into the Infinite, for it seems as if you were a brother to all things.

Cold drives you into the house. It makes you shut the windows and doors, to defend yourself against the universe. It makes you hug the stove. It's influence upon one's ideas is similar. Cold is the friend of narrowness and littleness and egotism and all things that contract one. Whereas brotherhood and fellowship, if all these exist, can hardly endure except in a state of warmth My notion of nowhere to go is the North and South Poles, high mountain tops and cold and remote places. Their atmosphere is unfriendly. You cannot exist in them unless you take your own little world with you. My vote is for "the good old summer time." To be sure, winter may have its pleasures, but they are all, in a measure, artificial and are not for a moment to be compared with the happiness that comes to us with the long, warm, sunny days. If there be any fault with summer it is that it is too favorable to life. The universe is too crowded for us and bugs and insects and all sorts of small deer contend with us for a place. But, to the hospitable soul this is no drawback. Himself feeling the pleasures of warmth, he is willing to share them with other forms of

Carnation Milk

What the Red and White Label Means to the Modern Housewife

IT means real economy. Carnation keeps—none is wasted. It serves every need for milk. In place of cream for coffee, cereals or fruits, use it just as it comes from the can. For cooking, simply add water as desired. For tea use one part Carnation, three parts water.

It means wonderful convenience! Get it with your groceries. Store it in your pantry. It is always ready, always sweet and pure-always the same dependable quality.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. It bears a label the housewife can trust.

Order several tall (15 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer. Test it, critically, yourself. The Carnation Recipe Book is a splendid collection of 100 tested recipes. A copy of this Recipe Book is ready for you. Write for it today. It's FREE, RICE PUDDING.—2½ cups water, 1½ cups Carnation Milk, ½ cup rice, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tbsp. sugar. Wash rice, mix ingredients, and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake two and one-half hours in a very slow oven, stirring every twenty minutes the first hour of baking to prevent rice from settling.

The lord bishop took for his text the ninth chapter of Proverbs, beginning verse 8, "The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom." Speaking of the books of Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and Selomon, his lordship showed and Solomon, his lordship showed that the books were written quite clearly after the code of the Lord had been established. He thought that they belonged to that period in the world's history when in the time of Alexander the Great an era of cosmopolitanism burst upon the universe; in the early days of the Greek period, when services were more majestically rendered, when worldly prudence and worldly orthodoxy could win a fair measure of prosperity for Religion was behind and in the centre of the great conception of wisdom. A new concept for a wider scheme of thought and wisdom be-gan with skill and knowledge, and was passed on to prudence, and was associated with moral strength. Purpose of Education.

To sum up or to explain a university in one word, the ford bishop said that he would use the word "wisdom." The university's purpose The third element of wisdom is a knowledge of manking. "wisdom." The university's purpose was to build up a nation by sending out generation after generation of men inspired with wisdom. Wisdom was attained through four great elements; first the training of the mental equipment. The purpose of elements; first the training of the mental equipment. The purpose of mental equipment. The purpose of education was not only the acquisition of knowledge. That was only the beginning; the mind should be trained so that whatever the duty was to be fulfilled in after life the mind would be ready to cope with it. Brantford St. Basils Eliminate Forest City Team in Semi-Finals.

Basils eliminated London East A. C. from the Juvenile O. B. A. A. series by winning the final game of their series 5 to 2 here Saturday afternoon.

Timely hitting by St. Basils and stronger fielding gave them the victory. Although Cook allowed six hits, one less than "Beaner" Pickering, on the mound for the winners, he was relieved by Player in the last inning. Pickering, who is also a noted softball hurler, was wild at times and he lived up to his appellation by hitting three batsmen. Howard, the first of these, getting a severe knock on the side of the head.

ting a severe knock on the side of the head.

Three-base clouts by Woolski and Demarco for the Brants, both of which came with runners on the paths, were important factors, while a sensational catch by Forkos and a double play. Player to Howard to Coleman, uncorked by the Londoners in the last frame, were the fielding features.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—In a not unusual pre-season match, McGill's rugby squad triumphed over M. A. A. A. team yesterday at the Percival Molson memorial terday at the Fercival Molson memorial stadium by a score of 8 to 1. The game was featured by the kicking of Hughes of McGill, who easily outclassed Bennett of M. A. A.

In the opinion of experts, McGill put up an excellent game, considering the fact that they have had only several days to get into condition.

Jawn J." Leads Giants To Fourth Consecutive Pennant and Tenth in Twenty Years—Pinch Hitter's Double Wins For Senators.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Sept. 27 .- While the lyn lost to Boston. New York Giants clinched their fourth straight pennant today and their tenth under the magnetic games, scheduled Monday and Tuesday. A victory for the Senators in only one will assure them the pennant, even if the Yankees take both of their remaining contests.

By taking his fourth straight pennant, McGraw gained one of his most cherished goals and set a major league record. Back in the '70s, in the old National Association, Boston won four straight pennants, while in the American Association a decade later, St. Louis won four straight, but no American or National league club has ever won more than three in a row. The Giants' finish this season, despite the handicap of injuries that forced Groh and Frisch, bulwarks of the always and say was the case yesterday, cheered steadily for a Washington von victory, even though Howard Ehmke, the best of the Boston pitchers, started in the box.

Mogridge started pitching for the Senators. After the Washington team made two runs on doubles by Rice and Goslin and Judge's triple in the first, the Sox scored four runs in their half of the opening inning on Wambsganss' single, Boone's single, a pass to J. Harris, Ezzell's single of peckinpaugh's glove, Lee's single and a successful double steal.

trimming Philadelphia, while Brook-LEFLER'S DOUBLE WINS.

Associated Press Despatch. Boston, Sept. 27. — Pinch Hitter their tenth under the magnetic leadership of John McGraw within a score of years by beating the Phillies, Washington advanced a step nearer the Senators' first flag triumph by defeating Boston, while the New York Yankees lost to Philadelphia team defeated the Yankees, 4 to 3. The washington, with a two-game lead on we can get no worse than a tie in the junior circuit, for the rival contenders each have two remaining games, scheduled Monday and Tuesday. A victory for the Senators in League pennant.

A crowd of 22,000 saw the game

despite the handicap of injuries that forced Groh and Frisch, bulwarks of the club's inner defence, out of the lineup, ranks among the most sensational in National League history. Threatened by both Pittsburg and Brooklyn, the makeshift McGraw team rallied in the final week, put the Pirates out of the race by defeating them three times in a row, and clinched the pennant today by

Hydro League To Open Oct. 8

Six Teams Entered For Bowling Season.

At a well-attended meeting of the employees of the various hydro departments it was decided that the Hydro bowling league, which has been in operation for the past four years, would continue to function for 1924, beginning Oct. 8. The league has produced many excellent bowlers, and this season promises to be even better than before. Six teams are to be entered.

J. E. Pirrie was elected president of the league, and D. Newton will act as secretary.

Recommendation Before Commission.

In order that the appearance of the streets may be improved and also that the service be bettered, E. V. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities commission, will recommend to that body at its next regular meeting that a second downtown underground transformer vault be constructed.

The first underground vault was constructed some time ago at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets. The second one, should the commission approve the recommendation of the manager, will be constructed on Clarence street, just north of Dundas street.

The construction of the second underground vault will result in the removal of unsightly overhead transformer structures.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT BONDS NOW

In November, 1923, German Government Bonds touched their lowest level. The European political and financial outlooks were gloomy and involved. The world's financiers and bankers realized how important to the world's trade and progress the rehabilitation of Germany was. International conferences decided upon the urgent necessity for some equitable and immediate settlement of the German reparations question. Germany was in the position of a bankrupt debtor. The allies, more especially France, desired to receive the payments due to them. Conferences culminated in the setting up of the Dawes International Expert Commission. During this period, German Government Bonds reflected the optimistic views of the convened nations. They rose steadily in value. The adoption of the Dawes report and the acceptance by the allies drove these bonds further up in value. The immediate acceptance of the Dawes conditions in the German Reichstag set the final seal upon the potential values of German Bonds, and caused them to make sensational rises.

Today our clients who purchased German Bonds in November, 1923, are comparatively wealthy. German Government and Municipal Bonds, at their quotations today, still sell at a fraction only of their real value at date of maturity.

Fortunes Earned by Shrewd and Thrifty Investors

Situation in November, 1923

European conditions were at their darkest in the fall of 1923. Exchange rates of European countries crashed. Foreign Government and Municipal Bonds depreciated. German Government 5% Bonds, valued at $238,500.00 during the war, were sold at $4.00. Other German Government Bonds. Polish Government, Austrian Government, and Municipal Bonds of these countries were almost unsaleable, and in fact, difficult to give away.

C. M. Cordasco & Company

offered Polish Government Bonds at $10.00 per 1,000,000 Marks Bond; City of Berlin 4% Bonds, 1914 and 1915 issue, went begging for a few dollars; City of Bremen Bonds, pre-war issue, were practically value-less; City of Hamburg 4% Bonds, could scarcely be given away.

The House of C. M. CORDASCO & COMPANY advertised throughout the length and breadth of Canada, through Newspapers, Circulars and all other available channels, urging upon Canadian Investors that these bonds had great potential values, and strongly advising their purchase. Each and every one of our clients was written to separately, and informed of the respective merits of each of the bonds, and insistently advised to purchase the bonds which to their minds, showed greatest powers of recuperation and ultimate profit.

Our advice received very mixed reception. Many Newspaper Financial Writers informed the reading public not to touch these bonds. We received much puerile and at times hostile criticism. We received many letters from all parts of Canada, informing us that all Continental bonds were valueless. We were informed both by expert Foreign Exchange Brokers and the ordinary investing public that the German Bonds.

Happily, however, all our advice was not ignored. Many far-sighted Currency was a more lucrative medium for speculation than German Bonds.

Happily, however, all our advice was not ignored. Many far-sighted and astute investors maintained an open mind and assumed that such advice, coming from a reputable house must necessarily be based upon sound and exhaustive inquirles. An example we might give here was the following:

One of our clients had already invested $1,000.00 in German Curcency before he had read our advertisements. A few days later, he came to us and purchased 60,000,000 Marks German Government 5% Bonds at an average cost of $19.00 per bond, or for a total of $1,140.00. Today his German Money is valueless. A few days ago he sold out his bond holdings, and obtained $165,000.00 for those bonds, a profit of $163,860.00 on his original money.

Worst of European Situation Over

It was becoming daily more evident to Bankers, Economists, and Financial Experts throughout the World, that the gloomy state of depression into which German Finances had fallen was unlikely to lead to any satisfactory settlement of the Reparations Question. Germany was powerless to lift herself out of her slough of despair. Aggressive oppression by military methods of the powers occupying the most wealthy portions of Germany had the opposite effect to that intended. Interested and uninterested countries realized the importance to the world of a stable German Government. New methods had to be found. Allied Nations convened conferences. The outcome was the setting up of a commission under the American Financial Expert, General Dawes.

Astute investors began to see that there were, after all, signs portending large profits in German Bonds, German Government 5% Bonds now became about $200.00 per 1,000,000 Marks bond. Other Foreign Government and Municipal Bonds appreciated in value.

The House of C. M. CORDASCO & COMPANY still continues to urge upon their clients the exceptional opportunities offered for large profits in German Government Bonds.

European Reparations Settlement

The International Commission of Experts issued a report which was enthusiastically received by England, Italy, and the United States. France was impressed and ultimately accepted it. The German Experts called to the conference eagerly sought to place the report before their countrymen. The German Reichstag immediately adopted it. The constantly increasing favorable news from Europe gradually caused a rise in the value of all German Government and Municipal Bonds. Public opinion throughout the world considered the report to be a fair, sound, and business-like one, and as the most likely means of ultimate settlement of the European situations which had been in a chaotic condition since the cessation of hostilities. The adoption by the Reichstag of the Report caused sensational rises in the value of German Bonds. German Government 5% Bonds now became $2,800.00 per million, Polish Government 5% Bonds became $450.00; City of Berlin 4% Bonds, 1914, were quoted at $13,000.00; City of Stuttgart 4% pre-war issue, were quoted at $13,000.00; City of Munich, 4% pre-war issue, were quoted at $13,000.00; City of Munich, 4% pre-war issue, were quoted at $13,000.00; City of Munich, 4% pre-war issue, to $20,000.00; and all other Government and Municipal Bonds increased in value.

Immense Profits Made

The investor who had followed our advice, and purchased bonds when we urged him to now became comparatively wealthy. Our clients who had ridiculed our suggestions to them, now insistently begged us to buy some of these bonds for them, even at a high figure. Our most invective critics now praised our foresight. We were content that many of our clients were satisfied and had made large profits by following our advice.

History Repeating Itself

The history of the world is repeating itself today. The sale of Foreign Securities has long since passed the stage of being considered a speculative one. It is, on the contrary, full of exceptional possibilities for potential profits. The opportunities represented for profits of these bonds will never again occur in a lifetime. The United States was financially bankrupt after the Civil War. Their Securities could then be bought for practically nothing; yet, in a few years time, the Americans were on their financial feet again, and are today considered the richest nation in the world. England, too, suffered the same financial distress when Napoleon nearly brought her to her knees. British Bonds went begging for next to nothing, but the victory at Waterloo sent them sky-high. The Rothschild family accumulated the majority of its wealth in these bonds. The experience of France in 1870 is a further example.

A nation with the skill. natural resources, and latent wealth of Germany will stabilize herself and again take her place in the foremost rank of nations in a very short time.

Germany's Potential Wealth

Few people realize that Germany has an area of 472,000 square kilometres, with a population of approximately 60,000,000 people. Before the war Germany was one of the three most powerful nations of the She controlled the second largest mercantile marine. Her exports of manufactured goods was the second largest in the world. The industry and inventive ability of her skilled workmen was unsurpassed. She was almost pre-eminent in iron manufacture; minerals in large quantities were found throughout her territory. Her North Sea and Baltic Fisheries were important. Before the war, her national wealth was placed at about $1,000,000,000,000.00. A nation defeated on the fields of battle by practically the whole civilized world came out of the conflict without one square inch of her territory attacked. Today her potential wealth is greater than ever. Minerals are produced in Prussia, Bavaria, and other places. Her present mercantile fleet has already recovered over one-third of its pre-war tonnage. Experts especially appointed to examine Germany believe that she is today far more wealthy than in 1914. General Dawes' Report says: "After a short period of recovery, we believe the financial and economic conditions of Germany will be returned to a normal state. Everything tends to a brighter and more prosperous future."

What To Purchase

INVESTORS IN SELECTED GERMAN GOVERNMENT BONDS WILL REAP AMPLE PROFITS. This has been our slogan during the past eight months, and we now have the daily pleasure of seeing our clients reap handsome profits on their outlays made by following our advice. TODAY we advise you to make immediate purchases of German Government Enforced Loan Bonds, issued in 1922. When the people of Canada fully realize and appreciate the potential profits to be gained from these bonds, YOU may be too late. There is not an illimitable quantity of them on hand. There will arise a scarcity of these bonds, which fact alone, coupled with the insistent and increasingly large demand, will cause them to come to a very high figure.

WE URGE UPON YOU TO MAKE IMMEDIATE PURCHASES OF GERMAN GOVERNMENT 4-5% ENFORCED LOAN BONDS ISSUED

A few words concerning this bond. It was issued in denominations of 100,000 marks in 1922. The rate of exchange was approximately 400 marks to the dollar. A bond of 1,000,000 marks denomination had, therefore, a value of $2,500.00. Keep before you the fact that this is known as the Enforced Loan. German Government loans were made during the war, and since the war, precisely similarly to our own Canadian Victory Loans. Would you ever again invest in Canadian National Securities if our own government repudiated its debt, or fail to repay the principal of its borrowings? The German regards the German Government as you regard the Canadian National Loan. We, therefore, have the position that the German Government received from its citizens $2,500.00 in the value of Canadian money for every million marks bond it issued. The German people will, therefore, insist that they be repaid the money they loaned to their country, plus the interest accrued.

with the 1922 Enforced Loan of the German Government. Observe the word "Enforced." The German people were compelled to subscribe to this loan precisely in a similar manner as you are compelled to pay your Income Tax. Every citizen of Germany was compelled to subscribe to this loan in accordance with his means, based on a grading of his income.

If such a loan were issued by the Canadian Government, and you were forced to purchase a holding, would you be content to receive back anything less than what you had loaned to the government? Your answer would be "NO." The German gives the same answer. Is it not plain, therefore, that the German will be repaid at the rate, in Canadian currency, of $2,500.06? YET TODAY YOU CAN BUY THIS BOND FOR $85.00 per million marks bond. This loan will show you a profit of $2,415.00 on an archieve of $85.00. $85.00 per million marks bond. $2,415.00 on an outlay of $85.00.

It looks almost too big to be true. Yet, consider what we have spoken of above, regarding German Government 5% Bonds. People have made these large profits on their small outlays, and you are probably regretting that you are not one of those fortunate ones. Are you going to lose this opportunity? In twelve months time, do you intend to be able to congratulate yourself on your wisdom and foresight in purchasing German Government Enferced Loan Bonds—or are you going to be again amongst those who wish they had followed our advice?

We urge upon you to make up your mind, and to make it up quickly

It has been said that the German Government would repay its loans in German Marks, which have today practically no value. Can this be true? The following judgment of the German Supreme Court in Leipzig which bears a close resemblance to the Supreme Court in Canada, will prove conclusively that this is not to be the case.

Some time before the war, a man named Stolz loaned to one named Reinshagen the sum of 13,000 marks, secured by mortgage on property. The mortgage became due in 1920. Reinshagen then demanded that the mortgage be cancelled, and tendered as payment to Stolz 18,000 marks for 13,000 borrowed. Stolz refused to accept the proffered amount, claming that as the value of the mark had depreciated so considerably, he must be repaid in gold value to what he had loaned. The German Supreme Court upheld his contention, stating that it would be in contradiction to the principles of fairness and justice if the creditor was compelled to accept anything less than what he had loaned to the debtor. Reinshagen was, therefore, compelled to repay his loan in marks of gold value. So will the German Government be compelled to repay their bonds in marks of gold value for the sums they received for the Enforced Loaned to the contradiction to the compelled to repay their bonds in marks of gold value for the sums they received for them.

We have obtained a limited quantity of the Enforced Loan 4-5% Bonds of 1922. These bonds will yield interest at the rate of 4% per annum up to the year 1930. From 1930 onwards, the rate will be 5%. Before advising you to purchase this bond, we made the most exhaustive investigation concerning its merits and have come to the conclusion that the purchase of these securities at the present price of $85.00 will earn rapid and material profits in a reasonable space of time. In fact, we believe that all German Government and Municipal Debentures offer exceptionally favorable opportunities to investors, but we think that the Enforced Loan is pre-eminently the best investment.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Sept. 29.—There are 800 cattle billed through. The run is heavy and generally of poor quality, with about 2,000 western cattle. Trade opened slow. Odd lots of steers sold at $3 to $5.50. Exporters took medium grade steers at $5.75 to $6.50. Prospects are for slow trade, with a large hold-over. Calf trade opened steady at $10 to $11 for choice, with grassers down to $1.50 ft. Shop Hogs are slow and 15c lower at $10.25 off cars.

Lambs dropped 50c, selling at $11 for Chair and blue varieties will reach their reprist.

Caradian Press Despatch.
No oats had been offered at 10 o'clock. Only two or three lots of vegetables and fruit were in evidence, and these were not of the home-grown variety. Butter and eggs remain steady at the same prices.

Live hogs are $9.75 per cwt, a trifle higher than last week.
A comparatively good-sized market is expected tomorrow.

Although peaches, pears, plums and tomatoes are finished as far as many growers are concerned, compensation can be gained for this loss by the knowledge that grapes will be the most popular fruit in the course of a week, when both the white and blue varieties will reach their reprish.

have observed that business conditions in this country are always At certain times we enjoy grea prosperity, with nearly all industries operating to capacity; factories overpaded with orders, and all available labor employed at attractive wages. Merchants are busy and traders are active, extravagance is witnessed on every hand; in fact, every one appears to have plenty of money, which he is willing to spend quite freely.

Then suddenly there comes a change, and gradually we enter a period of depression which presents an entirely different picture to us. The wheels of industry come to a standstill. Thousands of workmen are thrown out of employment; are thrown out of employment; forced to walk the streets and become orced to walk the streets and the bread line. Manulandidates for the bread line. Manulandidates for the bread line. Manulandidates for the bread line. Manulandidates find that orders on nand to make purchases and increase the to make purchases and increase the re being cancelled, and new ones do not appear. Merchants see their shelves overstocked with goods for which no purchasers can be found. Retailers must liquidate their mer-chandise below cost in order to meet pobligations assumed in days of pros-perity, and many business houses established after years of effort and intiring labor are forced into bankeruptcy on account of commitments ade at a time when prices were at their peak, or because of inability to realize on their stocks of goods. Then again between these extremes f prosperity and depression we have eriods of business recovery follow-

Beaded Blouses That Bear the Signature of Yvette

From the smart little shops of Paris-straight to London-have come these beaded blouses. Yvette selected them while Paris openings were in their prime glory. Each one reveals her charming and distinctive taste. And Yvette might have been thinking specially of you—of every possible type of wearer in her choice. For the styles are so many—the colors of such infinite variety.

A Blouse of White Crepe de Chine, beaded in glistening crystal, has unending possibilities of beauty. Just a simple skirt of black satin or heavy silk is all that is necessary to transform it into a striking and unusual costume. And there are the perennially popular shades of deep blue and black, lovely colors of fuchsia. American Beauty, shutter green-every new shade which has come with autumn. Priced at $7.50, $10.50, $11.50, $12.50, $15.00 and $17.50

Blouse or Dress With Silk Skirt or Slip—the Tunic Blouse May Be Either-$7.50 or $20.00

Fashion perennially brings forth the Tunic Blouse-but never has it been more happily inspired than during the present season.

With a skirt of silk or satin, pleated or plain-it is a dress complete. As a blouse, it keeps pace in length with the smart long coats.

And from "The Breath of the Avenue" comes a most timely New York suggestion-that smart women are banding the hem of their costume slips with a broad band of satin-and over this simple and easily achieved foundation wearing the exquisitely lovely tunic blouses which Fifth avenue shops feature so extensively. The Blouse Department displays a group of recent arrivals. A model of figured crepe, with rose and purple beautifully blended on a background of sand-completes itself with neck line and broad bands of gold. One of the very smartest in sand brocaded crepe has the long. tight sleeve and a bateau neck line from which falls a pleated frill
