ENTENTE REPLY TO PEACE NOTE HANDLED TO U. S. AMBASSADOR

Most Important Joint Statement Ever Made, is Delivered in Paris

Washington, Jan. 11.—The Entente reply to President Wilson's peace note began arriving this morning at the state department. As fast as it was decoded it was laid before President Wilson and Secretary Lansing.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Premier Briand yesterday received Ambassador Sharp and handed him, in the name of all the allied governments, the answer to President Wilson's note of December 19. The reply will be published on Friday morning, the Allies desiring to be sure that the President has the text in hand before publication in the press.

Premier Briand at the same time gave Ambassador Sharp a note from the Belgian Government. This note while declaring entire adherence to the general answer of the Allies, says that the Belgian Government desires to show its feeling of gratitude to the American Government for the generous services rendered the unfortunate Belgian population.

The reply of the Allies is said to be a long and detailed document in this respect, presenting a strong contrast to the note of the Central Powers. Commenting on it The-Matin says:

"The most important joint statement ever drawn up by any governments was delivered without comment by the representative of the French republic to the delegates of the great transatlantic democracy. In the same capital which has witnessed great revolutions, Premier Briand addressed the Ambassador of the vast confederation of states which were assisted by French volunteers to conquer their independence 150 years ago. A witness to this act, by which the old world confided its claims and desires to the new, was the minister of little Belgium, a country that was stabbed in the back and would have been wiped out but for the help of powerful neighbors. The grandeur of this ceremony cannot escape the high conscience of the United States of America."

London, Jan. 11.—The Times says: "We understand the joint reply of the allies to President Wilson's note was handed by the French Government yesterday to the United States Ambassador at Paris. Few changes were made by the various allied Governments to the draft approved at the conference of the British and French Ministers in London at the end of December. The text of the note will be published 48 hours after it has reached President Wilson, probably to-morrow (Friday). The allied reply is understood to differ considerably from the answer given to Germany. It is believed to be conceived in a spirit of frankness and cordiality, and to define broadly the only terms on which the allies would contemplate peace. It appears to be addressed in reality, if not in form, quite as much to the American people as to the President, and constitutes a crushing rejoinder to the German pretensions of superiority to the manly spirit of the allies."

INVISIBLE ZEPPELS NOW New German Aerial Emits Smoke Which Hides Its Presence

Geneva, Jan. 10.—via Paris, Jan. 11.—A monster zeppelin, the L-40, made its first trial flight over Friedrichshafen and Lake Constance yesterday. It is equipped with specially designed propellers, which make virtually no noise. There is a machine on board the craft which when put into operation, quickly covers the airship with smoke, resembling a cloud, so that the aircraft cannot be seen from below. A gun of larger calibre than those previously used on zeppelins is mounted on top of the L-40. The new airship will soon join the airship fleet on the North Sea. A second zeppelin at Friedrichshafen is half completed.

British Take Six Lines of Turkish Entrenchments

Sweeping Success Descends Upon British Arms in Latest Advance

London, Jan. 11.—Six lines of entrenchments covering the town of Rafa on the Sinai peninsula have been captured by the British it is announced officially. The statement says 1,600 Turks were captured. A Turkish relief force was destroyed. Rafa is thirty miles northeast of El Arish, Egypt.

The operations of the British have carried them to the Turkish frontier, the furthest advance eastward which has been made, since the defeat of the Turkish expedition against the Suez canal.

The new campaign of the British has been in progress for several weeks, but almost no information has been received concerning it with the exception of an occasional official statement. There have been no indications whether the British have embarked on an offensive with the design of striking a serious blow at Turkey from the south, or whether they intend merely to clear out hostile forces from the Sinai peninsula and improve the defences of Egypt and the canal.

The first report of these operations was the announcement on December 22 of the capture of El Arish, 90 miles east of the canal. A few days later London reported the capture of Maghdabah, 20 miles southeast of El Arish, with the virtual destruction of a Turkish force of about 2,000 men, but Constantinople characterized this statement as exaggerated, and said the British subsequently evacuated the position.

Rafa, the ancient Egyptian rhapsody, is just across the line in Palestine. It has been the scene of many battles, which history traces back as far as 721 B.C. The town is about 70 miles southwest of Jerusalem.

GUARANTEE DEMANDED Switzerland Asks for Assurance That Her Flag Will be Respected

Geneva, via Paris, Jan. 11.—The Neue-Zürcher Zeitung, which is supported by several other leading Swiss newspapers, demands that the government open negotiations with Germany in order to secure a guarantee that German submarines will not attack vessels under the Swiss flag, Switzerland at the same time to give a guarantee that the vessels shall carry only foodstuffs, especially cereals, for use in Switzerland.

This step is desired, the newspaper says, because the problem of feeding not only the Swiss people, but a large number of interned prisoners and refugees from all nations daily is becoming more acute.

Over 1600 Prisoners Taken Together With Guns Says Official Statement

London, Jan. 11.—Following is the official statement: "On Tuesday our troops captured a strong enemy position consisting of six lines of entrenchments with six main redoubts and a central-keep, covering Rafa, 30 miles northeast of El Arish. The British force composed of an Anzac mounted corps and the imperial camel corps, left El Arish on Monday and the attack on the position commenced at 7 o'clock on the morning of Tuesday. The fighting lasted until 5 in the afternoon, when the position was finally carried.

"After the engagement a Turkish relief force was located, advancing from Shalal, 16 miles east of Rafa. This force was engaged at a point about four miles from the Rafa position and was entirely destroyed. "Full details of these operations are not yet at hand. Up to the present we have taken 1600 unarmoured prisoners and four mountain guns. "The enemy, killed and wounded, in our hands, amount to 600."

GREECE ONCE MORE ACCEDES TO DEMANDS OF THE ALLIES

RESIGNATION OF TREPPOFF Was Due to Failure of Collaboration Between Government and People

London, Jan. 11.—(New York Times cable)—The Daily News Petrograd correspondent sends the following: "Trepoff believed there was at least a temporary need of meeting the wishes expressed by the Duma, the assembly of nobles and the press for real collaboration between the administration and the people. He resigned on seeing that this was not to be. The Russkaya Volya sends a gloomy leading article on the new changes by saying: "Let us be calm. In these latest times Russia has suffered much, but we never before realized so vividly that the fatherland was in danger now as never before. We must love Russia and think of her in these bitter days."

Surrender of Mountain Guns is Made and Ultimatum is Complied With

Athens, Jan. 10.—via London, Jan. 11.—The Government has formally accepted the ultimatum of the Entente powers.

"In accordance with the agreement made with the Allies on December 1, King Constantine to-day began delivery to the Entente naval authorities of six batteries of mountain guns. He gave orders to the troops to suppress all hostile demonstration which was promptly done and a meeting called to protest against the acceptance of the Allied ultimatum was summarily dispersed. The leaders of the reservists under pressure from the King issued a statement that their followers were ready to support the monarch and accept the decisions of his government.

An ultimatum was delivered to the Greek Government last November demanding, among other things, that the artillery of the Greek army be turned over to the Entente naval authorities. This demand was refused after Germany notified the Athens administration that the surrender of the guns would be considered an unfriendly act. On December 1, allied forces were landed at Piraeus and marched on Athens. Severe street fighting took place, but the following day a truce was arranged and in a subsequent agreement King Constantine promised the surrender of six batteries of mountain guns.

Forecast of Allies' Terms Restitution, Reparation and Security the Keynotes of Entente Reply to Wilson

London, Jan. 11.—The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent, forecasting the terms of the Entente Allies' reply to President Wilson, says: "Restitution, reparation and security are demanded, and the note gives some indications of the aims of the allies in redrawing the map of Europe. The principle governing this must be the question of nationalities. "Certain formulas are mentioned. Belgium must regain her independence and be indemnified for her losses. The boundaries of France must be redrawn in a spirit of restitution. Italy must redeem her provinces, and the boundaries of the Balkans must be redrawn in conformity with nationality and history. Russia must have access to a warm sea. Great Britain is not mentioned, nor is the question of colonies.

"The reply also deals with the American proposals for a league to enforce peace, which it approves in principle, but questions how such a league can be brought about and the machinery by which peace can be enforced.

"The striking thing to the world is that while the President directed the note to each of the Allies, the Allies' reply is one."

MONTREAL HAS FIRE IN THEATRE

Five Lives Lost When Motion Picture House Bursts into Flames

Montreal, Jan. 11.—Fire claimed five victims in the destruction of the Idealograph motion picture theatre at 1691 Notre Dame street, west, at 2 o'clock this morning. The victims were the children and maid of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Leblanc, a dentist at 1689 Notre Dame street, west, who were in the family's living quarters on the third floor. Dr. and Mrs. Leblanc were out spending the evening with friends, and had left their four children in charge of the maid and an elderly servant, Mme. Bouchard.

The victims are: Rolande Leblanc, aged eleven years, missing; Jeanne Leblanc, aged 8 years, body recovered; Marichal Leblanc, aged 5 years, missing; Jean Paul, aged 2 years, missing; Carmel Vendette, maid, aged 23 years, missing.

Fireman Sautoire of No. 4 station, was hurt in a cave-in at the rear of the building.

No more bodies had been recovered at an early hour.

Mme. Bouchard, the old servant, was rescued.

GROW CEREALS IN LONDON PARKS

Royalty Will Set Example to Stimulate Private Land Owners

London, Jan. 10.—Fodder and cereals are to be grown in Richmond and Bushy Parks as the first step in the new food campaign. London parks are Royal property, and the step has the sanction of King George.

The idea is to set an example and stimulate private land owners to similar activity as a means of increasing food supplies.

Richmond and Bushy Parks lie near the Thames in the fashionable south-west district of London. Richmond Park is of 2,255 acres in area and eight in circumference. It is a favorite summer resort, being frequented by crowds of pedestrians, motorists and horseback riders. Charles I. in 1637 had the park enclosed and used it as a hunting ground.

Bushy Park contains about 1,000 acres. It has numerous whitethorn and horse chestnut trees, many of them planted by William III.

A short course in agriculture has been started in Estevan, Sask., by the farmers of the district by C. M. Learmonth, B.S.A., of the Saskatoon Agricultural College.

WARSHIP SUNK BY HUN SUBMARINE

H. M. S. Cornwallis Torpedoed in Atlantic—Carrier Also Sunk

London, Jan. 11.—The sinking of the British warship Cornwallis by a submarine in the Mediterranean, on Tuesday was announced to-day by the Admiralty. The seaplane carrier Ben-My-Chree also has been sunk. Thirteen men from the Cornwallis are missing and are believed to have been killed by the explosion.

The official announcement says: H.M.S. Cornwallis, Captain A. P. Davidson, D.S.O., was sunk by an enemy submarine on the 9th in the Mediterranean. The captain and all the officers are saved, but there are thirteen men missing and it is feared they were killed by the explosion.

The warship referred to is the British Battleship Cornwallis, of 14,900 tons. The last previous reports from her showed that she was in service in the Mediterranean. Captain A. P. Davidson last year was in command of the Battleship Duncan.

There is also a Cornwallis in the Z class of the British navy, consisting of warships retired from active service, but the fact that Captain Davidson was in command of the vessel in question and that she was sunk in the Mediterranean indicates that it is the battleship which has been lost.

The Battleship Cornwallis was laid down in 1901. She was 405 feet long and was armed with four torpedo tubes. Her normal complement was 750 men.

The Ben-My-Chree was a converted merchantman of 2,651 tons gross. She was 375 feet long, was built in Barrow in 1908 and owned by the Isle of Man Steam Packet Company of Douglas.

POLICE SEEK THE ELUSIVE THAW

Harry K. Is Sought For Throughout the United States on Kidnapping Charge

New York, Jan. 11.—Police authorities in every part of the country east of the Rocky Mountains were enlisted to-day in the hunt for Harry K. Thaw, who is wanted here to answer a charge of kidnapping and assaulting young Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City. Three days since detectives were sent to Philadelphia to arrest Thaw, and there have been rumors that he has taken refuge in places as far apart as Georgia and Canada.

No definite information as to Thaw's whereabouts had reached the authorities here, however, up to this morning. In the hope that the slayer of Stanford White would be found in Pittsburgh, the district attorney's office last night sent a copy of the indictments to that city. The Pittsburgh police, however, reported that they could not locate him there at his home, and expressed the opinion that he was not in Pittsburgh.

Indirect assurances to the district attorney that Thaw intended to give himself up here and assert his innocence were not fulfilled, although a detective who knew Thaw, remained at the criminal courts building all night, ready to take the indicted man into custody should he surrender.

SHIPPING COMBINATION

Washington, Jan. 11.—Five of Spain's biggest shipping companies have formed a combination to end duplication in shipping and to reduce expenses, it is reported. The vessels are brought under one management by the deal, twelve of which will be given to trans-oceanic traffic. The remainder are to remain in the Mediterranean service and in service between Spain, France and Great Britain.

The combination is called Compania Trans-Mediterranea.

AGREEMENT WITH U. S. IS DESIRED BY GERMANY

Majority of Her People Would Wish to See an Understanding on Submarine Question

London, Jan. 11.—The Times' Amsterdam correspondent sends what he describes as an inspired Berlin telegram printed in the Frankfurter Zeitung in which Ambassador Gerard's references to the banquet of the American Association of Commerce and Trade, are declared to have been a compliment and which pan-German criticism is condemned. The telegram says: "Pan-Germans see ghosts when they display such anxiety about the understanding pending with the United States by which ruthless submarine warfare may be avoided. It is declared that a majority of Germans wish for good relations with the United States and would rejoice if an agreement were reached on armed merchantmen."

The despatch adds, the correspondent says, that the assumption of Count von Reventlow in The Tages-Zeitung that the dinner was

Trades and Labor Council on the National Service

Present System of Administration of the Scheme Condemned by Labor Men Last Night

The attention of the delegates present at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night was devoted to the discussion of practically two subjects, the practice of certain city officials and employees riding on the street cars without payment of fares, and the policy of the government in adapting the National Service movement, both of which subjects received considerable unfavorable criticism. After the routine business was also transacted, the chief item of which was the reconsideration of a notice of motion made by secretary Brown at a previous meeting on December 20th, amending the existing constitution of the Council as regards the administration of funds.

The charge was approved of by the delegates present and the motion upon being put to the vote, carried. The question as to how many persons were permitted to ride in the cars of the Brantford Municipal Ry., free, or at reduced rates, was introduced by President Noble, who considered the matter worth inquiring into. In reply a delegate from the Street Railwaymen's Union, recounted the various privileged persons in this regard, the list including members of the Dominion Railway Board, firemen, policemen and postmen when in uniform, and several others. Mr. George Keen took the stand that as a matter of principle it was contrary to the laws of good business practice to allow the continuance of such a state of affairs—not that he objected to certain civic employees travelling free of expense throughout the city in the execution of their business—but as a safeguard, he thought that books of tickets issued to the different departments of the city whose employees were receiving free transportation, and that the departments in question be charged for the transportation involved in their administration. Mr. Keen was influential in taking this stand but by the fact that it was sound business principle but it was also important factor in determining whether or not the utility was being maintained in a paying basis. While he did not for a moment suggest or suspect that this shrewd method was being used locally by individuals desirous of acquiring the railway, he reminded the council that if there were such, they would take every step possible to convince the ratepayers that it was not a paying proposition for them, and that this present system of curtailing the revenue of the railway would be a potent argument in their favor. Added to this, there was also the danger of the persons privileged to ride free while engaged in business taking advantage of the opportunity thus presented to use the cars while going from one part of the city to another in connection with their private interests.

It was pointed out that in some cases such booklets of tickets had been proposed by Mr. Keen, were used by the officials. Some further discussion followed, during the course of which the term "dead heads" was applied to the council, and the word "dead" was moved to remark that the police were the greatest "dead heads" of all, a declaration that brought forth general laughter. In this regard an instance was cited in which a local detective boarded a car, and upon his refusal to display his badge to the conductor, his coat was opened by the conductor to ascertain if the detective was wearing it. The conductor was summoned to appear in the police court and was fined $3.85.

Further discussion of the matter took place, the outcome of which was the drafting of the following resolution by Mr. George Keen:

Resolved: "That after hearing statements to the effect that it is the practice of officials in the employ of the city to travel on the street railway system without payment of the fares, that this council is of the opinion that the practice is contrary to sound accountancy, and that every civic department whose officials have occasion to use the service should be charged their respective departments with the cost of transportation, and the street railway system be given credit therefore, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the city council and the street railway commission."

A thorough and exhaustive discussion of the National Service policy of the Dominion government took place, the movement being severely condemned as not being based on equality, the delegates objecting to the appeal being made to their patriotism for the benefit of the individual profiteer. The following letter from the Trades and Labor Council of Regina, Sask., originated the discussion:

Regina Trades and Labor Council: Dear Brother and Labor Upholder, Enclosed you will find a copy of a resolution passed by a mass meeting of workers held here on the evening of Wednesday, January 3rd. We realize that this resolution is very strong, and goes one step farther than any resolution along the same line which has previously come to our notice, but the action taken by many other organizations in advising refusal to sign the cards, was virtually serving notice upon the government that the people no longer accepted it or their government, and so we have called upon it to resign.

If you approve of this action, whether the registration cards have been signed or not, we would ask you to at once endorse the movement and take all steps possible to carry it through to a successful conclusion by bringing it to the attention of all organizations and meetings possible, passing as many and as strong resolutions as can be done, pushing them and forwarding them to Ottawa. Force the question on the attention of your member of parliament, take every possible opportunity to speak about it to your friends and acquaintances, and to your representatives in the government. Our rights as Canadian citizens are at stake.

Fraternally yours,
Regina Mass Meeting.

This letter was accompanied by an equally forceful resolution passed at a recent meeting of that body, calling upon the government to resign, on the ground that the action taken by Sir R. L. Borden and Director General R. M. Bennett, had not been impelled by patriotism but by personal advancement, and also claiming that the government had not fully carried out its obligations to the people. The idea was embodied in the resolution that no form of compulsion would be tolerated unless there was adequate labor representation in parliament and a conscription of excessive profits was enforced.

Mr. Keen was of the opinion that the root of the trouble was that there were no labor members in the Dominion legislature to further the interests of the workers. He referred to the candid admission once publicly made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Opposition, to the effect that he was not a business man. At the present time Canada is engaged in the greatest crisis in her career, and is involved in a situation demanding a thorough business-like administration. Therefore such a type of man is obviously not desirable for the leadership of Canada," declared Mr. Keen. The unsuitable and satisfactory solution of the difficulty, as seen by him was a government consisting of representatives from all the elements comprising the population of the country—such as was now in power in England. He also drew attention to the fact that of the five men directing the Empire at the present time, one, Mr. Henderson, was a labor man. In conclusion Mr. Keen thought that uniform action should be taken by all the Trades and Labor councils throughout the country—a resolution being passed urging the government to act solely and purely from a patriotic and national spirit and to eliminate all party private interests.

Following the discourse by Mr. Keen, a general discussion took place in which delegate Moreau and others participated. The result of which was the drafting of the following resolution of motion and a special meeting of the council will be held next Wednesday night for the purpose of considering it.

WHEREAS, the greatest business in Canada today is the business of securing and properly equipping soldiers for the efficient discharge of their duties, and successfully carrying on the war.

AND WHEREAS, as at present constituted, the governments of Canada are selected from men because of their political affiliations instead of their business capacity, character, and ability, and frequently devoid of any business experience.

AND WHEREAS, the working men of the country who contribute nearly the whole of the recruits for the army, and do all the work of equipping them, are unrepresented in the government.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the national interests of Canada demand the creation by the Governor-General of a national government selected from the best business executives and organizers in Canada, regardless of their political affiliations, and that in such government there should be included a reasonable representation of such members of the working class of Canada as will command the approval of organized labor.

NEW PREMIER WAS ONCE KNOWN IN PARLIAMENT AS "THE WELSH YANKEE"
Lloyd George—Great Britain's new Welsh Prime Minister, is no accident! He "arrived" not by chance, but because he set his courage and kept going.
There's an inkling of his purpose in the following significant passage from Lloyd George's diary, written on the occasion of his first visit to London in 1881, when he was seventeen.
"Went to houses of parliament; very much disappointed with them. Grand buildings outside, but inside they are crumbled, small and suffocating, especially the House of Commons. I shall not say but that I viewed the assembly in a spirit similar to that in which William the Conqueror eyed England on his visit to Edward the Confessor, as the religion of his future domain. Oh, Vanity!"

He entered the House April 17, 1890, and received an enthusiastic reception. In a letter recording his first division he wrote, "My first division last night, I voted against bimetallism, which I couldn't tell you why." A week after his entrance to the house he was asking his first "question."
"His maiden speech" so a member who sat beside Gladstone said delighted "the old man exceeding well." It was against an alteration in the license laws.
This "maiden speech" was memorable for a simile in which George likened Chamberlain and Winston Churchill to "political contortionists who can perform the great trick of planting their feet in one direction and setting their faces in another."
The "Welsh Yankee," Percy S. Bullen, now New York correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, says:
"Perhaps the greatest tribute that could be paid to Lloyd George was paid within six months of his first appearance in the house of commons, when he was dubbed by the members of the press gallery, the 'Welsh Yankee.'"
"The 'Welsh Yankee' nickname," Bullen explained, "was given largely on account of his peculiarly original methods and his business-like application to work."
"His delightfully free and easy manner with men and the fact that he seldom wore the conventional frock coat, and never a silk hat, also made him appear, rightly or wrongly, very American in the eyes of the newspapermen."
Mrs. Lloyd George, by the way, is just as democratic as her husband. Lloyd George lives in the plainest possible manner in the official residence, No. 11 Downing Street. He has neither butler nor valet, and when you call at his dingy old brick house the door is opened for you by a white-aproned maid.
While he is easy of access to anybody having legitimate business, Lloyd George has a reputation for not keeping appointments.
Like Pitt (to whom he has been compared) George seldom speaks in public, but on the subject of mastering details, he has far more eloquence, like most Welshmen, than the average English speaker.
Lloyd George is usually described as a small man physically. As a matter of fact, he is above the average height. He looks rather diminutive in stature, because he has a large head set upon a frame rather small in proportion. However, he inherits a wonderful constitution.

Active recruiting is being carried on, to bring the Royal North-West Mounted Police up to the strength of two regiments to guard the boundaries.
Two hundred children of soldiers now on active service were entertained by the ladies of Prince Albert, to a Christmas tree at the Armouries.

MENNONITES NEED NOT FIGHT
Receive Assurance That National Service Will Not Violate Their Conscientious Objections
Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Five bishops of the Mennonite Church in Canada waited on the Government to ascertain whether the registration of Canadian man-power by the National Service Board was to mean military service for them. Under an agreement made by order-in-Council in 1873, these people were entirely exempted from such service.
The delegation was answered that the signing of the National Service cards would not mean the relinquishment of any of their rights in this respect.
In presenting their petition the delegates referred to the history of Mennonite wanderings since the time the ancestors left Holland in the sixteenth century and went to Germany under a promise of exemption from military service. When that was revoked they went to Russia, and when there, too, conditions changed they came to Canada and loved his costs. The defendants, Clegg and Campbell were also ordered to return the farm implements and other articles, whose alleged unlawful seizure was the point at issue, while the other co-defendant, Johnson, was allowed his costs. The defendants, Clegg and Campbell were also ordered to pay the costs.

216th Have Obtained Three Recruits in the City This Week

Since opening up their recruiting office on Dalhousie Street, the 216th, "Bantam" battalion have certainly been "on the job," and have concrete results to exhibit for their endeavors. Yesterday morning at seven o'clock two recruits were secured at the Grand Trunk Station, having already purchased their tickets for Stratford. The new men were George Hansley Moulton and Eileen Sipes, who were sent down to Toronto yesterday accompanied by another man who was also desirous of enlisting with them. Prospects at the present time are exceedingly bright, and are justified by the results already obtained, as since the office was opened on Monday, two applicants have been received and three rejected. Lieut. McKisick is in charge of the recruiting here and is at the same time devoting his attention to other Western Ontario towns and cities. Ptes. Fotherington and O'Leary are stationed here for the purpose of exploiting the territory for eligibles, and are presenting to every available man, "the small man's last chance."

PRELATE KNIGHT DRIVEN FROM ROME
Was an Austrian and Concerned in Sinking of Italian Battleships
Berlin, Jan. 11.—The Overseas News Agency gives out the following:
The prelate knight von Gerlach (Monsignor Gerlach), recently acting private chamberlain to his Holiness, has been forced to leave Rome and has arrived at Lugano, Switzerland. He was the only German prelate in the Pope's retinue. The Entente, through the intermediary of the Italian government, recently insisted upon his departure. Although he belonged to the personal service of the Holy Father, the Vatican had to submit to the unprecedented coercion of the Entente.

Monsignor Gerlach, who is an Austrian, has during the past two years been the subject of various reports. The latest emanated from Rome on January 8 in connection with the destruction of the Italian battleships Benedetto Brin and Leonardo Da Vinci, concerning which an investigation has been in progress. The matter came before the Italian cabinet last week, and it was then learned that the name of Monsignor Gerlach had been introduced into the case.
One of the prisoners, an Italian named Ambrogetti, charged with being implicated in the destruction of the warships, alleged that he was the financial agent of Monsignor Gerlach. It was stated that Monsignor Gerlach, prior to Italy's entry into the war, was interested with Ambrogetti in a pro-Austrian paper at Victoria. According to information in Rome, Monsignor Gerlach was once a cavalry officer, who became a priest and won the favor of the present Pope when the latter was a cardinal.

The Supreme Rules
To successfully sell goods there are two outstanding rules to follow:
1st. ESTABLISH THE QUALITY OF YOUR PRODUCT. The best advertising on earth will never sell an inferior article.
2nd. ADVERTISE. And do it continuously. People have short memories these days. Don't think for a moment that because you or your business are well known you do not need to advertise.
Keep your business before the public through the best local medium—THE DAILY COURIER.

Limit Your Out-Go to Suit Your Income

"Don'ts For the Would-Be Economical" Written by a Famous Woman Expert on Thrift

One of the things about to-day's world-wide campaign for thrift is that the cry for it appears to be loudest in prospering United States. From Winnifred Harper Cooley, National president of the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science, comes the following "Don'ts for the Would-Be Economical."

Don't kick about the High Cost of Living till you've reduced the cost of your High Living.

Don't measure every expenditure by your neighbor's income.

Don't get the idea that "Doing a Thing Right" is doing it expensively.

Don't get more than a few dollars out of the bank at a time. Then you cannot spend more.

Don't go shopping if you cannot afford to buy. It's amazing how many things you do not need.

Don't live uncomfortably in a back room on a fashionable street so that you can put the address on your stationery.

Don't send your children to a poor private school because "everybody's doing it," when there is a better public school around the corner.

Don't fail to have scales and weigh your purchases to check up the butcher and grocer.

Don't take ice in winter. The pantry window keeps food cold enough. Use jars or improvise a cold storage box.

Don't go to millionaires' hotels for luncheons daily, fondly fancying you are impressing other men and getting business.

Don't try to impress your friends by extravagance. They're all on to you.

Don't live beyond your income—no matter how small it is.

Don't live up to your income. Save at least 10 per cent of it every month and, if possible, 40 per cent.

Don't let money lie idle. It is the fractions that count. Put every bit of surplus in a savings bank quickly, and every time $100 accumulates invest it.

Don't keep up several establishments. If you go away for the summer, sublet your house. Plenty of people in the world just as good as you are doing it.

Don't pay for show, but for value received.

Don't buy fancy bottled foods at $1.50 per bottle when stewed prunes and baked apples make you healthy and beautiful.

Don't eat port-house steak three times a week, when much less will buy enough breast of veal or leg of lamb to stew for the family.

Don't take a street car for every short distance. You need the exercise anyway.

Don't call a taxicab to impress some one, when walking is good.

Don't run charge accounts.

Don't draw money out of the bank until you are reduced to your last dollar. You will need it in your pocket.

Don't lead unless you are willing and able to lose the money.

Don't buy expensive clothes, declaring it's because they "wear" for years, and then discard them every season.

Don't think you must pay $10 and $12 for all shoes and slippers, if you can find good ones for $5.66.

Don't be taken in by fake bargains but buy the minimum price article always, if it suits your needs, and is all you should afford.

Don't follow freakish fashions, for they change quickly and you are forced to discard a perfectly good garment for fear of ridicule.

Don't hire people to do your tasks just because you are lazy. The only true economy is to hire them because your time is worth more and you can increase your earning capacity.

Don't buy things you don't need just because they look well on the counter and the clerk hypnotizes you.

Don't fail to utilize all your assets. Bits of "left-over" food in the ice box combine into salads, croquet-tes, etc., and save buying a whole meal; or bits of time saved enable one to earn money on odd jobs—tasks outside one's profession.

Save time and money by using a fireless cooker. Hours of gas are wasted by most cooks.

Buy in bulk where practicable and sanitary.

Purchase in large quantities when you can "keep" food. But there is no economy if one-third of the potatoes or green vegetables or apples spoil before you can use them.

When not situated so that buying for the future is possible, select just the quantity for one meal. A little food left over daily fills the garbage can and empties the purse.

Don't use ten-cent telephones when you can find five-cent ones. People have no idea how much money they waste in telephoning.

Don't use the phone at all if there is no hurry. Just drop a postal card.

Save on fancy desserts and rich pastry.

Don't allow yourself shopping orgies.

Don't patronize the bootblack so much. A good oil dressing at fifteen cents a bottle will polish the family's shoes for some time.

Don't forget to turn off the light when you leave a room.

Eat cereals—the cheapest and most nutritious food.

If limited in your income, severely limit your outgo.

Don't coddle yourself. Most of the world's really great have lived very simply.

Don't neglect the loose ends.

Don't argue violently against every suggestion here given, condemning them all unheard. Try a few and soon you'll feel like a John D. Rockefeller.

ALL PRISONERS IN BELGIUM

If the Truth Were Known, Says Cardinal Mercier, Neutral Nations Would Take Action

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Jan. 11.—Cardinal Mercier, in a private letter printed in La Croix, the official church organ, declares that if the truth was known about Belgium, neutral nations would not confine themselves to words. The Belgian cardinal declares that Belgium is now suffering as never before. He writes: "We are all prisoners here, but if the neutrals know of the treatment inflicted on us, I do not believe that they would confine themselves to verbal remonstrances. If they did we should have to despair of fraternal charity and humanity." The cardinal adds in a postscript that although the Belgians are depressed, they are by no means discouraged and few want peace without victory.

Day's War News is of Exceptional Importance

Murder Common in Chicago

(From the Chicago Tribune)

When Edmund Burke said that he did not know the method of drawing an indictment against a whole people he furnished lazy and some violent for thinking. A moral indictment frequently runs against the whole people. It is necessary to bring the legal indictment against the person who represents in community opinion. That is elementary difference, but the moral indictment runs against the people who tolerate and encourage conditions which produced the person.

This is the case in Chicago. Murder is a commonplace here unless the victim be sufficiently well-known to attract attention or unless the circumstances be so strange as to make the case a tale with fiction interest.

It is seldom that administrative activity will arise above the level of community opinion. Community opinion in Chicago is not aroused by the numerous cases of plain murder. For that reason police administration is lax and judicial procedure is uncertain.

We have frontier town ideas regarding violence. It is admissible for a man to kill another. This idea permeates the social thought of the city. It is only when a murderer kills some one who can, even dead, impose upon the public imagination that there is a wholesome reaction against violence.

The men and women of violent disposition who want to kill the persons they happen to dislike or happen to find inconvenient in their way get their inspiration out of the prevailing community sentiment, which is one of indifference.

The first duty of a community is to afford methods of security to the people who compose it. That is elemental. Other duties grow upon this foundation. The first purpose of a gathering of human beings is to find in collection a security which cannot be found if individuals live by themselves precariously.

Chicago is neglecting elemental duties because public thought has been occupied by subsidiary obligations. We must work in some fashion to get public thought corrected and energized along simple elemental lines. We are occupied by comparatively minor infractions of the law. They seem to be the big things. The really big things are the small things.

A community cannot exist with the tough frontier saloon ideas that seem to prevail here.

New York, Jan. 11.—British troops pushing northeastward, from the Suez canal region on the Sinai peninsula, have carried their advance to the border of Palestine. They have captured there the defensive entrenchments of Rafa, 30 miles north-east of El Arish, on the Mediterranean, taken by the British last month and about 70 miles southwest of Jerusalem.

The attack was carried out by Australian troops and a camel corps and was followed by the defeat of a Turkish relief force four miles east of the Rafa position. In the operation 1,600 unarmored prisoners and four mountain guns were taken, according to the British official report.

Greece has followed up her formal acceptance of the ultimatum of the Entente Powers by beginning the delivery to the Entente naval authorities of six batteries of mountain guns. This is in accordance with the agreement reached after the disturbances in Athens last month in connection with the Entente demands, among other things for the delivery of Greek army artillery.

Naval losses by the British are announced to-day. The admiralty ship Corwallis and an auxiliary vessel, a seaplane carrier, have been sunk. The campaign of Field Marshal Von Mackensen in northern Roumania continues to be pressed with force, and nearly all along the line from the Danube to Fokshani the Russians have been pushed back to the Sereth River.

North of Fokshani, the Russians have been making a stand on the River Putna, protecting the main Sereth position, and are fighting to retain the railroad junction at Marseti, where the lateral line, joining the two north and south main line railways in Moldavia connects with the westerly road.

THE SITUATION

Russian operations on the Riga front are of growing importance and are extending to a wide area. Striking between the Tiral marshes and the River Aa, they advanced a mile and a third, capturing strong German positions. Petrograd in addition reports that during the past four days twenty-one heavy guns and eleven light cannon have been taken together with much other equipment. It is said that the object of the present drive is the important German base of Mitau.

In the Rumanian fighting the Russo-Rumanian troops have fallen back to the main line of defence on the river Sereth which has been strongly fortified during recent weeks. The प्रदेश army which the Huns indicated had been captured by them is now stated to have reached the main body with the loss of their cannon as the chief item. It is officially announced that Turkish trenches on a front of one thousand yards northeast of Kut-el-Amara, on the Tigris front, have been captured by the British, the Indian division achieving the feat and taking nearly two hundred prisoners.

On the Somme front the British made various raids, killing and capturing many of the enemy.

The reply of the Allies to President Wilson has been forwarded but details are not yet given. The document is stated to frankly relate the only terms upon which peace could be considered and to be addressed as much to the American people as to their chief executives.

Finance Minister White announces an issue of war saving certificates which should prove popular.

THE VAPORINGS OF AN IGNOMINIOUS

The Courier has made previous reference to a pro-German feeling in the Southern States. In this regard there has reached this office from a former Brantfordite, a copy of the Los Angeles Times, in which a lengthy article is featured, penned by H. Carr, a staff-writer of that paper, under the heading, "Would a German victory be a calamity for the world?"

Mr. Carr thinks not, and he also thinks a lot of other things which show that he should be sent to some kindergarten class in order to learn some of the rudiments of this tremendous struggle.

Here is a sample from his precious effusion:—

"Should the Entente suffer defeat, the British people are prepared to find a sort of savage consolation in seeing America writhing in the grip of a Hunnish barbarism—choking on Teutonic tyranny rammed down our throats by growling Prussian sergeants."

"For my part, I am unable to become properly horrified at the prospect. The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The events of this war; the conditions of internal administration that these battles have revealed seem to demonstrate the superiority of the Germanic idea over the British. Should the Kaiser finally win a complete victory—which I admit does not seem very probable—that victory will not be so much the badge of a failure of British military tactics, but in a larger sense, it will spell the breakdown of the whole British theory of life."

"Some Briton, upon reading this, will probably march indignantly to the typewriter and inquire in freezing phrases: 'Why a breakdown of the British idea? Why not a breakdown of the Russian or French idea?' Because, my sarcastic Entente friend, this war has been a British failure. Had the British pulled their share of the load, the Entente would have been in Berlin. The French performed prodigies of valor and military skill. The Russians have worked even greater wonders. All things considered, the Russian army has made the most astonishing record of any nation. Without officers, without ammunition, with the most appalling distances to cover and no proper railroads with which to cover them, the Russians have twice saved the Entente from a complete smash-up. The first time was at the battle of the Marne, the second time during the German attack upon Verdun. The British, on the other hand, have had an unbroken record of blunders and defeat."

"It is all very well for British public men to shout, in their own praise that they have gathered up a trained army of volunteers in a remarkably short time. It is a failure of the British system that they had to depend upon a volunteer army. The entire plan of British defense was mistakenly built upon a navy. And when it came to the showdown, the British navy has accomplished little or nothing as a war engine."

It is cause for wonder that a man who can write such piffle as that, should be on the staff of any paper except a backwoods weekly in the last stages of parias.

He says that the British have not accomplished anything with regard to their share of hostilities. Carr should know, if he knows anything on this subject, that John Bull is not only meeting his own tremendous financial burdens, but also to a large extent financing the Allies as well. He should know, that it is John Bull who is to-day keeping the commercial sea routes open, not alone for himself but also for Uncle Sam. It is true that Hun submarines have murdered on the high seas many American citizens, but then hasn't President Wilson slung plenty of ink in the direction of Berlin in order to blot out the blood stains and to rehabilitate the national honor? He knows that John Bull's forces from all over the Empire have proved themselves to be among the best fighting men in the conflict and that their aid has been invaluable and will become more so.

The British navy has "accomplished little or nothing as a war engine" forsooth! Why it is that self same navy which has been the sheet anchor for the Allied powers. It has kept the German fleet bottled up instead of allowing it to devastate the seas. It has enabled troops to be transported on behalf of the great cause of liberty, from every land where the grand old Union Jack floats. It has seen to it that not one inch of British shores anywhere has been assailed. It has ensured the feeding of the people of the tight little Isles. It has saved the coasts of France and of Russia, and of Italy.

Another thing Carr should take into account, is that Japan is one of the Allies and that if the United States sided with the Central powers, as he desires, the fleet of the Mikado would pretty soon make the coast cities of California look like the breaking up of a hard winter, not to mention what the little men would do internally.

This man says that for his part he is unable to "become properly horrified" over the prospect of a Teutonic conquest. To which it may be remarked that it would be some satisfaction at any rate to have those of his class get the dose.

NOTES AND COMMENT

This neck of the woods has its heroes at the front and is also getting its zeros at home.

The Russian bear has once more commenced to dance on Hun toes to some effect.

Austrian troops are to be placed on shorter rations than ever. At any rate that ought to give them food for thought.

The Kaiserites have now confiscated all tin organ pipes. They will need the bellows next to help pump up the short rationed people.

Berlin citizens are to be allowed one egg a piece between January 12 and January 31. Thus there is further indication of a shell shortage.

Funny thing that matters should have run so roughly as far as Greece is concerned. However Constantine and his advisers have now decided to kow tow to the Allies so that the way may be more smooth for the future.

Trapper in the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts report a good fur crop, red fox being particularly numerous.

Liquor Control Board Reduces Temperance

Figures From Great Britain Shows a Decrease of 43 Per Cent. in Convictions For Drunken Men

London, Jan. 11.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The Central Liquor Control board's statement of the results of its operations, show that in twenty of the largest towns of Great Britain, where the weekly average convictions for drunkenness flowed 2,415, their operations had reduced the number to 1,372 or about forty three per cent.

In the English towns there had been a decrease of over forty six per cent. in the weekly average of drunkenness, convictions. Scotch towns show a reduction of thirty-five per cent.

Beer and spirits retained for home consumption in the United Kingdom for eight months of the financial year are eighteen million barrels of beer against nearly twenty-one millions in the corresponding period last year, while spirits have decreased from twenty-one million gallons to fourteen millions.

Suicides and cases of delirium tremens are also very much smaller since the board's restrictions of the liquor trade began.

The board now controls one hundred and seventy licensed houses, (twenty-seven of these sell no alcohol and sixty others will soon do likewise. Five hundred and fourteen canteens are at work under supervision of the board, providing meals and refreshment for 1,900,000 munition workers. In addition there are sixty canteens supplying transport workers at docks. Over two hundred are being provided from current profits of control establishments and the total allowance made from current profits is well over $2,600,000.

Germany Would Crush Allies With Indemnity

Plans to Levy Billions of Dollars When She is Victorious in the War

By Courier Leased Wire.

New York, Jan. 11.—A special cable to The Herald from Zurich dated Wednesday, says:

"The allies, having refused to enter the peace trap, the German jingoism again have unmuzzled their Press committee for a German peace and are allowed by the censor to demand an intensification of submarine war."

"George Bernardi, the Vossische Zeitung's financial authority, has fixed eight or nine billion dollars as the indemnity for Germany to exact from the Allies under the holy pretensions of interest in the United States of a recrudescence of submarine activity, which would jeopardize American lives."

"The indemnity, Bernardi demands, would bankrupt the allied powers, utterly destroying American export trade with them. These conditions should prevent President Wilson's eyes to the danger of attempting to prevent the complete defeat of Germany—and the only thing that can prevent it is immediate peace—hence, both the interests of civilization and America's material interests demand that he keep his hands off."

"Lynch the Governor of Kentucky First"

By Courier Leased Wire.

Murray, Ky., Jan. 11.—In line with his announced intention to give the mob "a chance to lynch the governor of Kentucky first," Governor A. G. Stanley arrived here early today and took charge of the situation growing out of the threats made yesterday by a mob against the lives of Circuit Judge Charles Bush and Commonwealth Attorney Denny Smith.

The judge and attorney spent the night at a hotel here guarded from a mob by a heavy force of deputies. The anger of the mob was aroused against them yesterday when a continuation was granted in the case of Lube Martin, charged with the killing of Guthrie Duguid, a white man.

The fact that a continuance had been granted was kept secret for a time and then publicly announced by Judge Bush, who stated that he would be tried next month. Howls and jeers from the crowd gathered in the court room greeted this statement. The mob called for the prisoner and when he was not produced demanded that the judge surrender himself in place of the accused man. Attempts at explanation from the bench were howled down, while leaders of the mob demanded that the negro be returned to the court room and placed on trial. Court officials then explained that Martin had been spirited away and could not be returned before this morning. This further aroused the ire of the mob, which demanded that the judge order the return of the negro, declaring that in event of this failure to comply with their demand they intended to lynch him together with the Commonwealth's attorney.

Attempts at explanation from the bench were howled down, while leaders of the mob demanded that the negro be returned to the court room and placed on trial this morning. A hurry call was put in for Governor Stanley and he left Frankfort on the first available train.

A number of storekeepers of Calgary were fined for violating the holiday closing by-law during the holiday season.

Attend Bombing Class There Next Week—Other News of the 215th

Immediate steps have been taken by the recruiting league in Haldimand county to prosecute their work, as was indicated this morning by a telephone message received by Lt. Col. H. E. Snider from Dr. Jacques, M.L.A., for that county, who stated that a committee had been formed from West Haldimand, and had arranged a number of meetings, the first of which was to be held on either the 19th or the 20th of this month. He requested, on behalf of the League, that a local speaker be sent down, and was informed that his request would be acceded to. Capt. McKegney, who has returned to assume his duties in connection with recruiting, will probably go down to address the meeting.

Lieut. Cottrell left this morning for Dunnville, where he will be quartered, looking after the interests of the unit until further notice.

Lt. Col. Snider in endeavoring to make arrangements with the Simcoe recruiting league, for a camp to be held there on the 19th of the month. The new officers' quarters at the Armouries are now completed and are very commodious. The officers' garrison has been enclosed and will be utilized as sleeping quarters, and will be occupied immediately.

The Rev. A. Fernie of Simcoe, was in the city this morning, a visitor at the Armouries, discussing the recruiting situation. While there, he stated that in the course of the past few days, he had received a large number of letters from soldiers in England and France, all of which were exceedingly optimistic in tone, containing prophecies of a peace settlement being reached in the near future. Instructions have been received from headquarters by the 215th to the effect that two men are to be detailed to attend an instructors' course in signalling at Toronto, to commence on Monday, December 15th, and to continue for probably five weeks. Ptes. S. B. Strickland and N. Cook have been detailed to attend this course.

The brass and bugle bands of the battalion will be missed around the city streets for the next few weeks, as they will be absent attending a bombing class in St. Kitts, commencing on Monday, January 15, in this morning's orders, the transfer of Major Jackson to the command of "B" company to Acting Adjutant, was officially announced.

The first Regina officer to be decorated with the Military Cross for bravery in the air is Captain F. G. H. Manville, a former employee of the Bank of Montreal, whose home is in Prince Albert. An increase of nearly $300,000 is registered in the bank clearings for the week ending December 28th, as Regina, over the corresponding period for last year. This week the figures were $2,848,086, and last year for the same week $2,569,681.

FitzSimmons and Corbett, Old Time Champions Renew Their Former Feud

New York, Jan. 10.—Witniss a short time Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons former middleweight and heavy-weight champion, and James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, are expected to reach far back into history, dig up the old moss-covered axes and begin their feud right where it left off.

The reason for the mediaeval inclination is found in an approaching contest between Billy Weeks and Roddy McDonald, middleweight from Canada. Each of them claims the Canadian middleweight championship and each has made some thing of a record.

Corbett claims the equal of Billy

Weeks of Vancouver, British Columbia, does not live, while Fitz has selected McDonald to carry the Fitzsimmons standard in coming ring battles.

Fitz isn't given to raving over youngsters, but after having seen McDonald in action, the one-time champion made the assertion that he expected the youngster to capture the middleweight championship.

Corbett already has made his statements regarding Weeks. Now he wants to see the youngsters get together and decide who is the best picker.

McDonald is a native Canadian. Weeks was born in Boston and has spent most of his time in Western Canada. McDonald lived near Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. Each weighs about 155 pounds in good condition, and each stands about five feet eight inches high.

McDonald has appeared in New York bouts, while Weeks started from Canada to work himself in this settlement.

Promoters already are angling for a match between the two, with promises of success.

Immanuel Baptist Revival

Building a Church
 Dr. Spencer treated Matt. 16:18 "Upon this Rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The true church was not a stone structure, but a spiritual edifice of regenerated souls of men of all nations. Part of the church was above, part below, the triumphant and militant body. Some say it was Jesus who was builder of the church spiritual, and the process was on now, and Jesus had promised protection. "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Messrs. Smith and Eberall assisted in the music. The pastor's wife, Mrs. Alexander, also contributed a solo, and an instructive meeting was enjoyed. The attendance was very good.

STOCKS TO AMERICA.
 By Courier Leased Wire.
 New York, Jan. 11.—Efforts of the British treasury to mobilize American and other securities owned by British subjects for government purposes, have brought to New York during the last few months stocks and bonds worth more than $400,000,000 according to estimates made in banking circles today. The latest addition is $20,000,000 received yesterday by J. P. Morgan and Company.

Astonishing Blunders of Germany's War Machine

Higher Command of the Enemy Has Failed Repeatedly in Its Attempts at Strategy

By W. A. Willson
 (The following article is the third in the series by Mr. W. A. Willson, dealing with different aspects of the war situation.)
 Because they defeated France so crushingly in 70, because they gave forty years of thought and preparation to destructive war, because they advertised their army, their navy and their military progress, because their ambitions were so great and victory so essential, because of these things, men for two and a half years have spoken of Wilhelmstrasse and the German Higher Command as something approaching the supernatural, something so perfect and so organized, that the forces of its will were infinitely superior to the military and naval establishments and minds of the Allied nations. Wilhelmstrasse has failed. The German army has failed. The German navy has failed. Germany has failed. Why? Because of blunders. No nation in the world's history has blundered so badly in vital considerations or so decidedly wrought its own ruin. Wilhelmstrasse blundered in the following instances:—

1. The purpose of the Belgian invasion was to overwhelm France. The German Higher Command anticipated no resistance of moment from the little nation. It was so confident that it did not trouble about its heavy siege artillery. Belgium held the enemy in check and France completed its mobilization. The cost of the blunder cannot be estimated.
2. The plan of the enemy was to destroy the enemies of France. His strategy failed. He succeeded in winning much of the industrial areas of the Republic but he did not succeed in his vital object, the forward march on Paris was spectacular and the capital might have been taken. But the French army was unbroken and the menace of the enemy threat too great. The battle of the Marne defeated all possibility of a conquering German army. The enemy had lost the war.
3. Germany hoped for British neutrality or to fool Britain into fancied security until the blow had fallen on France. Britain declared war on August 4, and those who might have wavered were determined by the "enemy's scrap of paper" diplomacy.
4. Germany miscalculated the military power of Russia and hoped to destroy France before the Northern Empire could mobilize in force. Russia answered German calculations by an offensive which threatened the very gates of Hungary.
5. For years Germany boasted of her air supremacy and warned the world that the Zeppelin would be one of the most destructive forces in modern warfare. Germany lost any claim to air supremacy early in the war, and the Zeppelin failed completely as an effective instrument of aggression.
6. Germany hoped to create panic in France and England by her air raids. She completely failed to appreciate either British or French psychology.
7. German military writers dismissed the British Dominions as negligible military quantities. They have become powerful war factors both in troops and munitions output.
8. Germany worked for and anticipated a successful rebellion in South Africa. The country at large proved aggressively loyal to British connection and British institutions.
9. Insurrection in India and Egypt and repudiation of British rule was one of the favorite dreams of Bernhardi and his school. Indian Princes and Indian troops fought hand to hand with Britain against the forces of Germany on the soil of Belgium. Egypt remained loyal.
10. Failing in her French strategy, Germany in the summer of 1915 aimed to fight to destroy the Russian armies and lost her last chance of a drawn war. A year later Brusiloff and a new Russia were hammering at the gates of the Central Empires—one of the most remarkable instances of national recovery in the world's history.
11. Germany, failing in her great theatres, hoped to win control of the Balkans, Roumania bars her path and Serbia—more remarkable even than Russia—is on the battle front again.
12. The Suez Canal was to fall to German arms and open the roadway to the East. The canal is ours and will remain ours. The gateway is closed.

13. Germany and Sinn Fein sought in Ireland to overthrow the British Empire. The German plan failed and Sinn Fein was punished.

14. The German navy was to hold the British navy in check while German raiders raided the high seas. The German navy is trapped in Kiel.

15. German raiders were to destroy British commerce. German commerce is destroyed.

Submarine Failure
 16. German submarines were to do what German raiders failed to accomplish. Britain for months netted German submarines at the rate of one a week at least. (We cannot give anything approaching to definite figures but the first German submarine campaign was completely met and overcome by the naval genius of Britain.)

17. German "international" socialism was to capture the workers of France and England and paralyze industrial activity. French and British labor repudiated that socialism.

18. Germany believed Italy would subscribe to her war aggression and her brutal treatment of Belgium. Italy smashed the Triple Alliance and refused to be a partner in the attempt to destroy modern civilization.

CERTIFICATES FOR WAR SAVINGS
 Issued by Dominion Government to Promote Thrift in Canada

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—An issue of war savings certificates maturing in three years, in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, was announced today by the Minister of Finance as an opening sum in connection with his campaign for thrift.

The purchase of this issue by the Canadian public will assist in the financing of Canada's war expenditure and the establishment of credits for the purchase of munitions in Canada. The certificates, which will be obtainable from any bank or postal money order office, will be sold for $21.50, $43 and $86, these prices being a discount of $3.50 on every such certificate. It is provided that the certificates may be surrendered at any time during the first 12 months at their purchase price, after 12 months but within 24 months at $22.25, and after 24 months but within 36 months at $23.25 for every $21.50 paid. This means that the longer the certificates are held the higher the rate of interest that will be obtained.

Encourage Thrift.
 The plan will give the general public the opportunity of contributing by their savings to the winning of the war, and at the same time encourage and promote individual thrift and economy throughout the Dominion. Such a result would in the opinion of the minister be of incalculable national benefit both for the present and for the future and would go far to avert the consequences of any temporary depression which might result through dislocation of business after the war. The new certificates will provide a strong incentive to thrift and economy in order that money may be saved for their purchase. The kind of thrift for which the minister appeals is that which results in the saving of the longer the certificates are held the higher the rate of interest that will be obtained.

The minister acknowledges the assistance which has been given him by Messrs. C. A. Ebert, General Manager of the Dominion Bank, H. V. F. Jones, Assistant General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and J. P. Bell, General Manager of the Bank of Hamilton, in working out the details of the plan.

JR. HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION HAD VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Interesting Reports Submitted at Annual Meeting—Miss Elsie Sanderson Re-Elected President

The annual meeting of the Junior Hospital Aid took place yesterday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. It was a very successful gathering, and the reports served to show a large amount of efficient work.

President's Report
Miss Sanderson submitted the following:—
1915 was what we might term a year of big things, in that it saw the completion of a fully equipped obstetrical ward, for which the J.H.A. has been responsible.

Following the stress and strain of great things, usually comes a lull. 1916 has only been the year of smaller things, viz.: providing the things necessary for its upkeep; nevertheless, great things, like great minds, must be sustained, in order to retain usefulness and efficiency. Throughout the past year there has been an average of seven little inmates, which have made somewhat of a demand on the time of those willing to sew, and as the various reports show, there is considerable credit due those of our members who have been most faithful in attendance and help.

The beginning of 1916 found us on a fairly substantial financial basis, and although during the year considerable money has been expended, we have endeavored to meet expenses with as little demand on the hitherto generous public as possible. In June a lawn talent tea was held, which, with the favor of the weather-man, and the very loyal support of each member, as well as the presence and help of the W.H.A. and the public in general, proved a wonderful success—the sum of $82 was cleared for our treasury, which, with the small balance on hand, we were enabled to leave the larger balance in the city treasury untouched.

We have also had the privilege and pleasure of lending a helping hand to good work outside of our own organization. At the Proctor-Gamble demonstration in the Y.W.C.A., with the assistance of the J.H.A., the sum of $51 was raised for Belgian relief, supplemented with a cheque for $10 from the company.

On field day for the 125th Battalion, the candy booth was undertaken by our members, and, clear of expenses the sum of $101 was handed over to the treasurer.

Also to Captain Mary Plummer, for the "Canadian Soldiers Field Comfort Commission," we sent a donation of $10, while the usual Christmas donation to the hospital of a crate of oranges for the patients and the year's subscription to the magazine, "Good Housekeeping," for the nurses, was not omitted.

At our November meeting, a resolution was passed that the W. H. A. be asked to grant the J.H.A. the privilege for their interests, of conducting the tea room in connection with the annual rummage sale, which we feel could be made a great success by the hearty co-operation of each member. This was presented at the December meeting of the W. H. A. for their consideration, and we have great confidence that it will meet with approval.

In presenting this report, I would like to thank each of our benefactors, to the Board of Governors for their kindness in providing our ward with its own bath, also stand with rummage water, and for removal of the pillar which had been an eyesore, as well as an inconvenience. To Miss Forde, the superintendent, for her kind assistance in various ways during the year. To the Y. W. C. A. for the use of the Club room. To Mr. S. G. Read, for the loan of a machine, and to all who have in any way shown their interest in the work of our society.

In closing, may I just say that the attendance at our weekly sewing meetings has not been as large as desired, nor yet what the work really demands, and we fail to meet the ever-increasing need, for want of more workers? To those of our members who have not made it in their way to be present, I should like to add, that your presence would prove an inspiration, and your cooperation a very material support to the work.

ELSIE M. SANDERSON,
President,
The 1916 Report of the "Junior Hospital Aid."
While the demands for patriotic and Red Cross work have been many during the year, the members of the Junior Hospital Aid have been very loyal to the auxiliary.

Eleven monthly business meetings have been held, with the sewing meetings held on Wednesday afternoon, with the exception of the months of July and August.
The work has consisted mainly of supplying linen and baby garments for the ward. Two hundred and thirty seven yards of flannelette, one hundred and three yards of nainsook have been purchased, making in all ninety-one finished garments.
In January the members of the J. H. A. assisted by Mrs. Brown-Lewers raised the sum of sixty-one dollars and eighty-five cents ($61.85) in aid of the Serbian Relief Fund.

The Lawn Talent Tea held at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Sanderson, Dufferin avenue, was such a success that everyone decided that it would be well to use this method of raising funds annually.

On "Battalion Day" which the Daughters of the Empire held in Agricultural Park, the candy booth was in charge of the J. H. A. The sum of one hundred and one dollars was handed over by the president for the afternoon and evening sale of candy.
At Christmas, aside from the usual remembrances at the hospital, an appropriation of ten dollars was awarded Miss Plummer of the Canadian Soldiers Field Comforts Commission for gifts to be sent to the soldiers for the Christmas season.
Several girls assisted at the rummage sale, the nurses' graduation, and the annual meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid in Conservatory Hall.

Beside these the J. H. A. has provided 1 enamel cradle, 1 holder, 5 yards of rubber sheeting, 4 small pillows, 2 dozen washcloths, 2 dozen woolen vests, 5 yards of flannel, 6 dressing sacks and flowers and delicacies frequently.

ORGANIZE TO FILL RANKS OF 215TH

System Adopted Whereby Ineligibles Pledge Themselves to Obtain Recruits

The formation of a chain system whereby a number of civilians band themselves together for the purpose of securing each one eligible recruit, was decided on last evening at a meeting of the executive of the Brant Recruiting League with Lt.-Col. C. H. Williams, chief recruiting officer of No. 2 Military Division, who urged upon the meeting the necessity of taking some immediate action to revive recruiting for the 215th batt. The general consensus of opinion was to the effect that the 215th is now gaining its second wind and after its re-organization will go ahead with rapid strides once more.

While the district had been well drained by recruiting, Mr. J. H. Spence in his opening words expressed the belief that more men might yet be obtained in Brant County.

Lt.-Col. Williams in view of the urgent pressure from Ottawa, had asked to visit battalions throughout the whole of the Military Division, and had found recruiting to be lowest in Brant County during the past three months. With the addition of Haldimand and Norfolk counties to the recruiting of the 215th, he considered that every effort should be put forth to bring the battalion to full strength. Col. Williams reviewed briefly the present recruiting activities in other counties of the division, and extended the hope that support would be tendered to the 215th batt. so as to bring it level with the other units now being recruited. Col. Williams emphasized the necessity of a good moral among the men of a battalion, and the necessity of increasing the ranks of a battalion to sustain the morale. He expressed assurance that support would be given to Brant County by Haldimand and Norfolk.

Mr. Spence replying to Lt.-Col. Williams, admitted that recruiting in Brant County had been at a very low ebb since the recruiting of the 215th from Camp, but was sure that a marked improvement would be shown following upon the re-organization of the battalion and the registration system.

A campaign to create an atmosphere of enthusiasm, fostered through public meetings and speeches, was advocated by the speaker.

Lt.-Col. Williams considered that since recruiting agencies were longer effective, that every influence should be brought to bear for a personal canvass. He emphasized the influence to be exerted for recruiting by civilians, telling of the manner in which 170 men had been recruited in three weeks in Grey County by means of ineligible civilians pledging themselves to obtain one recruit each for the battalion. Col. Williams pointed out that the entire work and responsibility of recruiting should not be placed upon the battalion alone, but should be fostered in this manner by the civilians.

The adoption of such a chain system as he had already described was favored by Col. Williams, who told also of the method adopted in various sections of the district, of forming a council of some five representative men to decide the cases of men who considered that they should remain at home, and who, if their reasons were found valid, were awarded exemption certificates. He held out the hope of making the wearing of exemption buttons so prevalent that public opinion would drive every man to wear either a button or the khaki. On the motion of Mr. Henry, seconded by Chief Slem, it was decided to hold an organization meeting in the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening next, to which representatives of the various civic and municipal boards will be invited, with a view to forming such a chain system and an arbitration council as described above. Messrs. Andrews, Brewster, Harris, Raymond and Finch were appointed a committee to see to the issuing of invitations to the bodies concerned. A vote of thanks tendered to Lt. Col. Williams for his presence, served to bring the evening to a close.

Christmas Regards From the Australian Cadets

Organization Which Visited Brantford a Year Ago Send Remembrances—Reply of Mr. Williamson

Following are copies of a letter received by Mr. D. T. Williamson, local Scout Commissioner, from the secretary of the Australian Cadets, who visited Brantford last winter, and his reply:—

Nov. 24, 1916
Dear friend,—As the Christmas season is coming on us our thoughts more frequently are travelling towards the land of the Maple Leaf and the many friends we made there. During our travels we gathered such a store of impressions of your wonderful Dominion that we feel we shall carry them to the end of our lives. Prominent among those we carried away were the many kindnesses received from your hands and the evidences of your wholehearted interest in our well-being.

You are, of course, like all loyal citizens of our Empire, much concerned in the part the members of our contingent are playing in the war. Immediately we returned home our memorable group disbanded and every lad who could be of any service in the Expeditionary Forces then enlisted. Some of them are already in the firing line, while the rest are in the various camps of training. Our leader, Major Simons, is on the administrative staff at the headquarters of the Blackboy Hill Camp, which is the largest training centre on the western half of the continent. Our advance manager, Mr. Ernest Shacklock, has qualified for a commission and now carries the rank of lieutenant. A similar distinction has been won by Robert Davidson, one of the elder boys of the group. A third lad, Edric Ockerby, has been specially chosen by the military board to proceed to England to accept a commission in one of the imperial regiments. With the exception of the midjet members of the party all the members are in khaki with two exceptions, and they were where medical disabilities prevented enlistment.

The golden memories of our Canadian tour combine to make a page in the life's history of everyone of us, and we would appreciate a message from you at any time as evidence that the strands of friendship we were able to weave between Canadians and Australians have not been severed by time or distance. The younger section of our organization, members of the Cadet Forces, are constantly inquiring whether an opportunity will come to them to make a tour similar to the last one. Such an idea is, of course, a matter which can only be reckoned as being in the dim distance.

When it is remembered how many kind helpers we have to recognize in Canada, we know you will overlook the circular nature of our season's greetings.

Kindly convey to Major Simons, Lieut. Shacklock and all other members of your company my very best regards.

Wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year, I am,
Yours faithfully,
DUFFERIN T. WILLIAMSON.

Sincerely yours,

Secretary Young Australian League.

PITY VERSUS SYMPATHY. Pity, they say, is akin to love. But "they say" a great many things some of which, having thought about instead of repeated parrotlike, one sees reason to question, or at least modify.

Pity may be akin to a certain kind of love, but is this relative of pity an erect, upstanding, self respecting reciprocal love?

And is pity itself always such a praiseworthy emotion as it is cracked up to be. Sympathy is the most wonderful thing in the world.

The man who learns sympathy from his struggles and his sorrows has truly succeeded no matter what else he has missed.

Sympathy And Pity Are Not the Same Thing. But sympathy and pity are not the same thing.

Pity stands on a platform and looks down and says "You poor creature," and perhaps tries to reach down some measure of alleviation.

Sympathy stands face to face, looks you in the eye and with a hearty hand clasp says "You poor thing," but "Courage, comrade, I too have known."

Pity is akin to patronage. "Poor" is a word with which it loves to confound.

And never was such an abused, over worked word. Just as pity is an overworked emotion.

Why Should One Say "Poor Little Baby?" "Poor baby," people say. Why poor? Because it's helpless? But think of the inches by which it will be waited on! Because it has so many troubles to live through? Yes, but think of the happiness before it.

How many people are there who, having sampled both, would prefer not to have been born? And then "what anyone dies, especially anyone young, we say, "Poor so-and-so." And yet the majority of us profess to believe in an afterlife which shall be infinitely happier than this.

She Hated To Be Pitied. "I hate to be pitied," a woman said to me the other day. She has four children and small resources and all her friends take great delight in pitying her.

"Don't you think we ought to pity the people who are ground down industrially?" someone asked when we were discussing this.

"Why not rather resent the injustice they suffer, sympathize and try to help?"

Pity, it seems to me, is apt to be an enervating emotion. If all the complacent, patronizing pity in the world could be translated into sympathy and the corollary of true sympathy, efforts to help this world be a much happier world.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody Can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to germandoth-er's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

And brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application of two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not only useful for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

News Notes of St John's

The Rev. H. Light visited at the Rectory, 114 Oxford street, on Sunday last week.

St. John's was represented at the Deanery meeting held in Paris yesterday. The speakers for the occasion were, Revs. Canon Tucker, D.D., London, Ven Archdeacon McKenzie, D.D., Capt. Jenkins, M.A., E. C. Jennings, L. Th., A. E. McComb, M.A.

The Rural Dean presided at the evening service. The Rt. Rev., the Bishop of Niagara, preached. The service was well attended and the day one of great interest. The ladies of St. James, Paris, provided hospitality for all with a generous hand.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. James church Brantford, has extended an invitation to the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's, to join with them on Tuesday evening next.

The services on Epiphany evening, was well attended, a large number of Sunday School scholars being present. The service was after an ancient Eastern method of presenting the teaching of the Epiphany, and St. John's was the first Anglican church in the city to observe it.

THE SPIDER PRISONER.

On the edge of the fairy forest there lived a wise magician, and you know and I know that he had built a hollow mountain of glass and had imprisoned in it Jack Spider's cousin, the blood-thirsty, bird-eating spider giant who had traveled all the way from South America just to make trouble.

After that you could see him striding around inside his prison of glass. He'd come to the glass wall and stare out, making big and terrible eyes. He'd press his spider nose against the glass. He'd growl and grumble. Oh, my! a dreadful fellow and no mistake!

Every fairy-body in the forest came to peep at him, and the elves and fairies and dear knows what. And every once in a while the magician would open the door of the glass prison and speak to the spider prisoner.

"You're in there, my blood-thirsty friend," he'd say, "to learn better manners! How do you feel today?"

And, do you know, that blood-thirsty spider giant would simply answer back in a terrible voice: "I eat birds! I eat birds!"

"Well!" sniffed the old magician, "it's precious few birds you'll get in prison! You'll eat dry leaves, my friend, and learn to behave."

So the fairy days sped by, a week, a month, a year, and still the spider prisoner always said that he ate birds, though by now he was eating nothing at all but leaves. He looked a little thin, and shrunken, but otherwise he was as huge and furry and ferocious as ever. And he kept on glaring out and making faces at the fairies and the elves that came to the walls of the prison to look him over.

"My spider friend," said the old magician, "you came travelling up here from South America to find trouble and you found it."

"I did!" said the furry spider. "I did indeed, but it's not the kind of trouble I was hunting."

"You came up here," went on the old magician severely, "to break up the spider ball your cousin was having, and we clapped you in jail. When you choose to sign your name to a promise that you will return peacefully to South America, live like a respectable spider and not go about hunting for trouble, then you can go and not before."

Well, the giant spider sulked and grew thinner day by day. But he couldn't get himself, somehow, to make that promise. He just couldn't—until—what do you think? He discovered one day that he was so thin he couldn't keep his spider-fur on his back. It would slip off!

"I'll starve and freeze!" he cried and sent for the wise magician.

And then and there, if you'll believe me, that blood-thirsty spider signed a birch-bark promise that he wasn't blood-thirsty any more, that he would be good.

So he went back to South America and the magician sent a band of elves with him to be quite sure he'd get there.

EXPRESSION OF EMPIRE SYMPATHY

Heads of British Churches Unite in Appeal for Belgium

The Lord Mayor of London, who is chairman of the British National Committee for Relief in Belgium, has forwarded to the Central Belgian Relief Committee in Montreal copies of an appeal for the little children of Belgium agreed upon by the heads of the three great ecclesiastical institutions in Britain, namely, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Cardinal Bourne, the head of the Roman Catholic Church in England, and the Rev. J. H. Shakespeare, president of the Free Church Council.

In this appeal the people of the Empire are asked to remember the European children of Belgium during the Christmas season and to send contributions to the local Belgium Relief Committees "as a Christmas contribution from our home circles throughout the Empire."

In forwarding this appeal the Lord Mayor of London states that there are 2,575,000 Belgian children whom the Germans still hold captive and oppressed in Belgium. Of these no fewer than 1,845,000 are under 12 years of age. All of these know the pinch of want but the startling number of over one and a half millions of these children are absolutely and entirely dependent upon charity for food.

They have been kept alive for the past two years solely by the neutral commission for Relief, of which Mr. Hoover is chairman, and to which the Belgian Relief Committees entrusted all their funds. The Germans, although they take away Belgium's crops and brutally refuse to feed the Belgians, dare and do not commandeer the Commission's relief supplies.

There have been two years of famine and captivity in Belgium. There may be two more years. The Belgian Relief Committee is appealing to all Canadians to bear these facts in mind, and to give out of their plenty towards helping on the great work of securing this nation until the time of its deliverance.

"Share your Christmas good cheer and fortune with the children of our Allies in Belgium, who are underfed and in captivity. The consciousness of a duty fulfilled and of mercy bestowed will surely bring to your Christmas dinner table the highest and truest form of happiness."

Contributions should be sent to the local Belgium Relief Committee, or to the Central Belgian Relief Committee, 55 St. Peter St., Montreal.

GIRL'S LONG COAT.

models are noticeable in this season's coats for junior girls. As an evidence we illustrate No. S.896, an exact copy of one seen at an exclusive shop specializing in girls' apparel.

By reason of its deep, wide collar that comes close to being a shoulder cape, its loose panel back, belted sides and straight front it may be classed with the prettiest and smartest of imported models. Without showing any "fussy" feature it is up to date in detail and design and is sure to please any girl and any girl's mother.

The sleeve is given a fancy touch in its cuff and may be braided trimmed, or velvet or plush may contribute the full cuff. The collar may be either of self material or fur cloth, unless velvet or plush be chosen.

Bolivia cloth, zibeline, kersley cloth, also wool tweed and wool novelty cloth that is so popular enjoy equal merit. Considering the cost of materials, one will not hesitate to make the coat at home, for to-day's pattern, with illustrated instructions, its simplicity itself.

The coat pattern, No. S.896, cuts in sizes 8 to 14 years. To make in size 10 requires 3 3/4 yards of 36 inch material, 3/8 yard of 27 inch material for the collar.

To obtain the patterns send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

The Grand
F. Stuart-Whyte's production of "Aladdin and his wonderful Lamp" will be the offering at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday. This attraction has been scoring a decided success on their western tour, and the critics have been unanimous in their praises. The following review of the piece appeared in the Edmonton Journal of October 10th, and shows how the pantomime was appreciated in that city.

"It is a long while since the Empire resounded to laughter like that heard at the two performances of the musical extravaganza 'Aladdin' yesterday. It is full of humor and beauty and makes an ideal light entertainment. The fact that it is made in Canada adds to the pleasure which it must give to our audience."

The steady growth of Mr. F. Stuart-Whyte's organization has been watched with interest by those who followed closely theatrical matters in this part of the world. He came to Edmonton five some six or seven years ago with a small company of clever people, the outstanding member of which was Miss Zara Clinton. They had to depend wholly on their individual talents. They had no big chorus or gorgeous accessories to help them out. But each time that they returned, their performance has been on a more elaborate scale, and that now being given will challenge comparison with the best of its kind.

The story is an adaptation of that of the Arabian Nights. The Mad Magician is the Kaiser in disguise. The commander of the army is General Sam Fuse. The topical references are numerous and most of them well worked in. The street scene in Pekin and the Willow Pattern Palace which, thanks to the slave of the Lamp, Aladdin, is able to provide for his beautiful bride, the Princess So-Shi, daughter of the Chinese Emperor, are very effective settings, while the interior of the jeweled cavern with the spirits of the old Oriental story-teller's fancy hovering about, had rare beauty.

Berchold's Influence

Count Berchold is the Emperor's former tutor and now his intimate friend and adviser. Berchold was the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs at the time of the Sarajevo assassination. There is no evidence that he was less desirous than any other Austrian statesman to punish and humiliate and perhaps devour Serbia. There is evidence, however, to show that, at the last moment when a European war seemed certain he was ready to accept the principle of European arbitration, and that Austria's belated acceptance of this principle was not permitted to reach London, Paris and Petrograd until it was too late. Austria might be likened to a house burglar who had entered a house, awakened the owner and at the last moment chose flight to murder. But Austria was in the grip of Germany, and had to go through with the game. Berchold may have felt that he had been betrayed by Germany. His relations with German authorities after the beginning of the war were not cordial, and German influence at Vienna is held responsible for the fact that he resigned.

German Interference Resented

Berchold resigned in January, 1913, and rumor has it that at a cabinet council he and the present Emperor made a strong protest against the growing domination of Austrian armies by German officers. is the only parliament of a belligerent that has not met since the beginning of the war. The government feared to meet the representatives of the dozen races that make up the polyglot population of Austria-Hungary. The Hungarians are sick of the fight. As one of their leaders said last August: "There is no good reason why Hungary should remain in the war another day." Hungary has been called on to do more than her share of fighting. A great Russian offensive will fall more heavily upon Hungary than upon Austria. Hungary, as the bread basket of the dual monarchy, has already felt the pinch of hunger more than Austria. One of the great problems that the late emperor had to deal with was the problem of keeping Hungary a satisfied partner of the monarchy. The problem was the more difficult for his heir. If Emperor Charles feels that Hungary is likely to slip away from him unless a speedy peace is made, he is extremely likely to break all speed records in making a peace.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

HEALTH OFFICERS' CONFERENCE.

THE annual conference of Ontario Health Officers for 1916 was held on the last two days in May. It was, in point of numbers, importance of papers presented, and general interest, perhaps, the most interesting meeting of medical officers of health we have ever had.

One of the most instructive papers was read by Dr. W. H. Park, who for many years has been Director of the Laboratories of the Health Department of New York City. Dr. Park is an expert upon Diphtheria, and in his address he outlined the methods of his Department in the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of that disease in which he and his associates have been specializing. The City of New York is divided into sections and the children grouped in order that tests may be carried out to discover those who are carriers of the disease, and to obtain more thorough information as to the causes for the spreading of the disease. Dr. Park said that the scheme has been productive of wonderful results. Regarding the use of antitoxin he said that from practical experience he was of the opinion that the full amount of antitoxin required should be given in the first injection; another way to obtain prompt results was by injection of the remedy directly into a vein so as to reach the blood stream at once. He advocates single large doses.

Dr. Cruickshank, M. O. H. of Windsor, gave a most instructive paper upon tonsils and adenoids in children. The doctor is one of the best of our Health Officers. He has been engaged in making tests in this subject among children in the Windsor schools, and has come to the conclusion that tonsils and adenoids are responsible for a good deal of disease among children. He advocates their removal, and in addition suggests that the abolition of baby comforts, the provision of proper ventilation in school and sleeping rooms and the proper care of children's health would prevent a lot of disease. There is sound wisdom in his remarks.

A timely discussion, in view of the great prevalence of the disease during the past season, was carried on in reference to Measles. It was pointed out by various speakers that Measles is most difficult to control from the fact that it comes on like any ordinary coryza or cold, and that the most contagious period of the disease is probably before the rash appears. The present quarantine period (three weeks) was regarded by the officers present as being too long and failed to do the good expected of it. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that two weeks, which would cover the period of incubation and contagion, is long enough. It is probable that this discussion will be given due weight by the Board, and lead to a shortening of the quarantine period.

There was considerable discussion regarding the question of allowing the breadwinner of the family to go to work while his child is ill of Measles, or other communicable disease. This is at present a matter of discretion with the M. O. H. and is usually allowed except, of course, in cases where the mother of the child is a teacher of pupils at some school, or is engaged in the manufacture of food or clothing. It is very unlikely that these diseases are carried by a third person unless he or she is a "carrier."

These annual conferences have had a very marked effect upon the efficiency of the various medical officers who are regular attendants. In almost all cases our medical officers of health are seen at every meeting, where there is ample opportunity for the discussion of the problems which are met by them in their various municipalities.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

J. C. B. Welland. Sanatoria expenses of indigent.

Q.—What provision is made for the care of a poor patient with consumption?

A.—The local Board of Health and the Medical Officer of Health may, under the regulations for the control of Tuberculosis, send to a hospital or sanatorium, an indigent who, in their opinion, endangers the health of others in the same house or in personal contact with him. The expense of such patient's care must be borne by the municipality where he has had his usual place of abode. The Ontario Government pays $3.00 per week toward the maintenance of such patient.

RED HEAD WOULD BE BLONDE; ALAS!

New York, Jan. 9.—Back in June, 1915, Katie Gottdaank had a splendid color of red hair. In the matter of color and quantity the famous tresses of Queen Elizabeth or of Mrs. Leslie Carter had nothing whatever on Katie's crowning glory. But the youngsters in the vicinity of No. 239 Second street, which is the Gottdaank home, had no such appreciation of the luscious locks and they drove Katie (then only fifteen) to bitter tears with their shouts of "Bricktop!" "Carrot-dome!" and "Reddy!"

Now Katie still possesses the tresses—but they're in a shoe box instead of on top of her head, and all as a result of the teasing of her friends and her desire to escape it by changing the color of the curls.

A damage suit of hers comes up this morning before Judge Erlanger, in the Supreme Court, against Julius Kalish, Inc., a druggist of No. 383 Grand Street. She charges that an employe of Kalish's used her to use peroxide of hydrogen, which would make golden-hued the displeasing red hair, and that because she did use that drug her tresses stiffened and came out by the handful, until now she has not any more than the average boy—except what's in the shoe box.

Her semi-bald head and the box containing the detached curls will be shown to a jury, which will be asked to award Katie $5,000 for her loss. Lawyer Anton Gronich of No. 200 Broadway will add his eloquence to her appeal.

The suit was started in October, 1915, just after the shoe box was filled with Katie's locks, but has just reached a leading place on the trial calendar. Kalish, the druggist, said yesterday he wasn't very much worried over the outcome. Peroxide of hydrogen is a standard article of commerce, he asserted, and he could not be held responsible for its effect upon an individual head of hair.

But to be almost without any hair at present is worse than to be afflicted with the crimson variety. Katie vows, and she feels she ought to have some recompense.
