ULCERATED TEETH.

Thousands of people have suffered in the past from rheumatism and neuralgia because their diagnosis of the cause was not correct. Physicians prescribed the usual remedies but relief, if it came at all, was only temporary. They doctored the condition and not the cause. The "cause" was ulcerated teeth, but neither physician nor the patient was aware of it. The present-day physician never overlooks the teeth in locating the cause of rheumatism, neuralgia and several other illnesses. One cannot be in good health with ulcerated teeth. These teeth can sometimes be treated successfully—other times they must come out. By all means get rid of those pus-pocket formations. Lehr, D.D.

THE Phantom Lover.

(By the Author of "A Bachelor Husband.")

"No—I'm going to this evening."
 "But you won't let him know what I've told you? Promise me!"
 "It is likely that I should? Men don't gossip."
 "Oh, don't they?" June answered tartly. "I wouldn't trust one of them, not even you," she added with a melting smile.
 In spite of her promise to Esther, it was past tea-time when she got back home; she threw her hat and coat down anywhere and poked up the fire.
 "Haven't you had tea?" What have you been doing all day? she demanded crisply. "You haven't had tea!—Good gracious, I'll make some at once; I had some with George, but I'm quite ready for some more. My word! what a difference a man can make in one's life," she said, suddenly grave. "And to think that I ever talked piffle about not wanting to get married!"
 She bustled round the room stinging herself; she was brimful of happiness. "You needn't be surprised to hear that I'm going to be married quite soon," she said with elaborate carelessness. "Lord! would people have forty fistings for Mickey, my crowd don't know I'm engaged yet. I'm going to take George home to see them on Sunday. I've discovered that he's down to earth, about ninety times removed, to be honest, so, perhaps, that will put them all in a good temper with him. People do love titles! Give them a lord, or something, and it doesn't matter what else he is, or isn't."
 "I am. I heard every word you said. Esther was sitting by the fire with Charlie curled up in her lap; her face looked very sad and thoughtful. So she was to lose June quite soon!—her lips trembled; what was there left for her in all the world? It almost seemed as if time had stood still for a moment, and then suddenly rushed her back again with breathless speed, to leave her bereft of hope and happiness, as she had been before she met Mickey.

 Charlie had been her only friend then. Was he all that was to remain to her now?
 June watched her across the room.
 "What are you thinking about?" she asked suddenly; but Esther only shook her head.

For two days Mickey Mellowes never left his room, and hardly ate a thing; and for once in his life Driver permitted a spark of anxiety to creep into his dull eyes. He was sure that his master was ill; he tried tempting dishes and alluring cock-tails, but Mickey refused them all.
 "My good man, I'm not an invalid," he protested irritably.
 He hated it, because he knew his agitation was apparent; he tried to settle to read, but whenever a bell rang through the house he started up with racing pulses.
 She must have got his letter, he knew. If there was any hope for him at all she would write at once or send for him. His nerves began to wear to rags.

Sometimes his hopes soared to the skies, to drop to zero again. Once in a fit of despondency he did drive to pack his bag, as they would be leaving early in the morning.
 "Yes, sir—where shall we be going, sir?" Driver asked stotically.
 Mickey swore.
 "You do ask such damned silly questions," he complained irritably.
 An hour later, when he found Driver packing, he called him a fool, and told him to unpack at once.

And so the days dragged away.
 "Any more posts to-night?" Mickey asked jerkily, on the second day.
 Driver eyed the clock.
 "There should be one at nine, sir."
 But nine came, and half-past, and no post.
 "Is it too late for the post now, Driver?" Mickey asked feverishly, when it was nearly ten.
 "The post went by, sir," was the answer. "I was down at the door and saw the postman pass."
 And so the days dragged away.

When Driver came into the room again, Mickey said without looking up:
 "Pack that bag again, there's a good fellow."
 "Yes, sir," said Driver imperturbably.
 He hesitated, then asked—
 "And—er—where did you say we should be going, sir?"
 "I didn't say," said Mickey. "And I don't care—on the Continent—anywhere you like—look up some hotels. One place was as good as another, he argued, as he sat and watched Driver pack. Wherever he went he was going to be infernally miserable, so what did it matter?

 When Driver stotically inquired how long he expected to be away, Mickey answered violently that he was never coming back if he could help it; he said he hated London—he said he was sick to death of his fat and wanted a change.
 "I shan't come back till the autumn anyway," he declared fiercely.
 "Very good, sir," was the stolid reply. Driver knew his master; he could remember another occasion when Mickey had left London in a rage never to return, and ten days had seen him back again.
 Certainly this was rather a different case from that other; this time there was a woman behind it. Driver knew this perfectly well, though beyond the pointing of letters and the buying of the fat coat he had had no first-hand evidence.
 But he kept his thoughts to himself and packed shirts and socks and coats by the score, as if to keep up the belief that they were really going for months, instead of the days which were the limit he prescribed in his own mind.
 When Rochester called later on in the evening, Mickey was almost rude to him. The American looked so unfeignedly happy that it got on Mickey's nerves; but George P. Rochester was difficult to snub; he looked on at the packing with a tolerant smile.
 "It's a sudden idea of four, this thing!" he submitted mildly. Mickey did not answer.
 "Hope you'll be back in time for my wedding souper," Rochester said again.
 Mickey flushed crimson; there was something rather pathetic about him at that moment.
 "Oh, I'll be back all right," he said shortly.
 Rochester laughed.
 "You won't have to stay away long then," he said insignificantly.

the house, and himself; and her greatest difficulty was with the last object, for, like most feeble-minded men, Ryall was shifty and erratic, even with the child upon whom he depended.
 They farmed their own land, for the simple reason that no man in the locality would have rented it, and Nora ran the farm. Young as she was, there were few better judges of a horse or a heifer, and she was almost as strong as Ned, the farm-boy, who followed her about, and hung on her words as devotedly as did Beth, the sheep collier. Accustomed as she was in Devonshire to rain, rheumatism comes sometimes; but Nora seemed to be amphibious. She was never sick or sorry, and never caught cold; her hair, cut as short as she dared to cut it, was in little wavy curls, and when they were wet she shook them, and they were soon dry. Her skirts were abnormally short, she generally wore riding boots of the most workmanlike description; and her headgear was a thick, tan-o-shade hat, not of the fanciful kind in vogue, but of the stout, serviceable kind worn by a Scottish cottar.

She was of a dark, but singularly clear complexion; her hair was black, but soft and silky, and presented a striking contrast to the grey eyes, which were brilliant and expressive, and full of resolution. Her mother was a Cameron, and she had inherited the same hands of that class; but though they were small, they were wonderfully strong. So also were the arms, which had done almost as much farm work as Ned's. Every woman has a touch of vanity about her somewhere, and Nora was, in an inoffensive way, proud of her hands; she always wore gloves out of doors, and when at work it has been said that she was graceful; but it was with the grace which comes from a long training in the open air, from much walking and sitting, and from a close intercourse with Nature in her sunniest and wildest moods.

This is but a poor picture of the girl, but it must go to that.
 "Where have you been, Nora?" asked suddenly-awakened man. "You have been away all day, and it's precious lonely here; besides, there were over so many things I wanted to speak to you about."
 The most dutiful of daughters might have reminded him that she had been out all day in the rain and the mist on his business; but a woman will cover any amount of injustice with the mantle of her love, and Nora was a sweet-hearted girl. She was gentle and long-suffering with everybody, even with this father of hers, who was the most foolish of them all.
 "I have been over to Nelsworthy, father, with steers," she said cheerfully.
 "Oh," he said, "I suppose you haven't sold them?"
 "Oh, yes, I have."
 "At a precious bad price, I suppose?"
 "Well, not so much as I expected. Cattle are low."
 "Then why didn't you let Ned bring them back?" grumbled Ryall weakly.
 Nora shook her head.
 "We wanted the money too badly, father. There's the interest to pay; we are behind time now. But I need not worry you about that, dear; with the money from the steers I shall just make up the amount. We shall have to be very careful for this next quarter; for Mitchell's bill becomes due

"Careful! Bill! I'm sick of the words," he burst out fretfully. He rose from the chair, and leaned against the mantelshelf, as if he were too indolent to stand upright. "I'm sick of the whole thing!" He raised his lids, with their light lashes, and looked at her, and then gravely away from her, as if something were working in his feeble mind, and he could not meet the direct gaze of the girl's eyes. "One might just as well be dead as go on living in this fashion; one dreary round of debts and difficulties, without any break or change."
 "Why, father, it's scarcely a month since you were in London," said Nora, with a laugh.
 Ryall coloured and lowered his eyes. "Fraid I shall have to go up again," he answered awkwardly, and shuffling one foot into his carpet slipper.

THE Lady of the Night or
Amelia Makes a Success

CHAPTER I.
 She ran out of hearing of Martha's adjurations, and crossing the big hall, as worn and dingy as the exterior of the house, opened the library door, and, entering the room on tiptoe, put her arm round her father's neck. He had fallen asleep before the fire, and he woke with a start, and looked round at her with a confused and startled air.
 Reginald Ryall was a strange and moving contrast to his daughter. Strength spoke in every feature, every movement, every word, of hers; and every word, movement, and feature of his were pitifully eloquent of weakness. He was a man of little more than middle age, good looking, but a fairness which accentuated the almost effeminate weakness of his face. The expression of his blue eyes was uncertain and wavering; his lips were loose with a foolish deprecatory smile, which seemed to be always hovering about them. The father and daughter were absolutely dissimilar. Nora had got her strength from her mother, a Scottish woman, who had died long since—probably of sheer weariness of her husband; Ryall had got his weakness from a long line of weak-minded men. This feebleness of his was accompanied, as is usual, by an inordinate pride; the Ryalls were one of the best families in the country, and this man never forgot the fact, unless remembrance of it stood in the way of self-interest or some selfish desire; though his ancestral home was in ruins, and every acre mortgaged, he was still Ryall of the Grange, and he walked about his stunted lands as if they were flowing with milk and honey.
 It is not difficult to imagine the attitude of such a girl to such a father. From almost as long as she could remember Nora had managed the estate,

War in Ireland Continues.

Dublin Reports More Killings and Woundings -- British and Poles Engage in Artillery Duel--Coalition Candidate Wins in Hastings --Another Conflict May Be Staged in Silesia.

OFFICIAL DENIAL. LONDON, May 4. Reports that new German proposals relative to the reparations question, had been received, were denied this morning, by Louis Loucheur, Minister of Liberated Regions, in the French Cabinet.

GERMAN CABINET MEETING. BERLIN, May 4. The German Cabinet met this afternoon in anticipation of discussing developments at London. A meeting was held yesterday, but no action was taken relative to reparations problem. Just how long the Febrbach Cabinet will continue in office is believed to depend on the nature of the ultimatum being sent to Berlin by the Allies.

PLENTY OF HELP. LONDON, May 4. Fifty persons, making up the staff of the Allied Reparations Commission, accompanied members of that body to this city from Paris. Marshal Foch and Admiral Grasset left for Paris this morning.

BY WAY OF ADVICE. CONSTANTINOPLE, May 4. Greece and the Sultans Government have been notified by the Allied High Commission, here, that the neutrality of Constantinople must be observed.

IRELAND'S CASUALTIES. DUBLIN, May 4. Twelve Irish volunteers were either killed or wounded, and one military officer was severely wounded as a result, according to an official report, today of a trip of a party from the Border Regiment to investigate an ambush which occurred yesterday at Tournamaready.

A sergeant and seven constables were ambushed and killed this morning, a short distance outside Rathmore, County Kerry. The sole survivor of the party was uninjured and escaped. When Sinn Fein paraders at Limerick 60-day, at the funeral of Henry Clancy, killed here on Saturday night, refused to halt when ordered to do so by the police, they were fired on and one civilian was killed.

POLAND BLAMED. BERLIN, May 4. Responsibility for disorders in Upper Silesia is placed with "certain elements of the Polish population" in a proclamation issued by the Inter-Allied Commission, declaring the State of Siege, according to messages received.

GERMANY DISCLAIMS RESPONSIBILITY. PARIS, May 4.

Dr. Sthamer, German Ambassador here, to-night presented a note to the Foreign Office protesting against the Polish coup in Silesia as an apparently concentrated effort to take the Province by force and refusing all responsibility for the situation and its consequences.

BRITISH FIRE ON POLES. OPELLEN, May 4.

Colonel Bond, of the British control office at Grossheltitz, reported to British Headquarters to-night that he had opened artillery fire on 2,000 to 3,000 Poles, attempting to occupy the city. The Poles were replying with light field pieces. Col. Bond reported that with two hundred Italian troops he could not hold out long. A British Sergeant-Major has been mortally wounded. A crowd of Germans attacked a Pole in the streets and beat him to death, before the police could interfere.

COALITION VICTORY. LONDON, May 4.

Hastings election, brought about by the resignation of Lawrence Lyon, who was adjudged bankrupt, resulted as follows:—Lord Eustace Percy, Coalition Unionist, 11,600; J. Davies, Labor, 5,400; Blackman, Liberal, 4,200.

RESIGNATION TENDERED. LONDON, May 4.

A telephone message from Paris gives a Berlin despatch saying that in view of the situation arising from the reply of the United States to German reparations proposals, the German Government has unanimously decided to resign. The Chancellor informed President Ebert of the Cabinet's decision, whereupon the President requested the Ministry to continue to deal with current affairs, which it consented to do.

UPPER SILESIA. OPELLEN, Upper Silesia, May 4.

Organized Polish forces, estimated at twenty thousand, have occupied all of Upper Silesia, south of a line running from Kosel to Tarnowitz, with the exception of a few large towns, and are moving further northward, according to information supplied by a member of the Inter-Allied representation here. According to this source, the Poles are marching into Gross Sichtsitz, north of the line mentioned, in good order, with rifles, machine guns and dynamite. Italian troops well south in the plebiscite area, comprising a Regiment of Infantry and two machine gun companies, are surrounded by three thousand Poles, and a pitched battle has been going on for several hours, it was said this afternoon. The Italian known dead are three officers and twelve privates. Polish members of the Plebiscite Police disarmed the German members, who were taken across the border after several Germans had been killed. The force itself has ceased to function. The informant declared that French and British troops were not offering opposition, and the Poles had not clashed with the French. British officers were said to be threatening to resign. Warsaw reports the French as taking an active part in dealing with the Polish insurgents. The main body of Polish forces is said to have passed the border in motor lorries at two o'clock on Monday morning, taking possession of border towns, blowing up railway bridges, cutting telegraph and telephone wires and meeting virtually no resistance. Italian forces at Gross Sichtsitz to-day opened fire with artillery on Poles who attempted to occupy the city. The Poles replied with field guns.

Obituary. FREEMAN FUDGE. On the morning of April 14th, Freeman Fudge of Belleoram, passed to the Great Beyond. This young man of twenty-three years was amongst those who early answered the call to arms during the Great War. He returned home after the Armistice in apparent good health and later joined his uncle, Capt. R. M. Fudge in the foreign service. The physical strain of war had its ill effect apparently, and in November last he returned home with his health seriously impaired. During the winter it was seen that he was gradually failing and the end came on the above date, after a good deal of suffering. He was a member of the L.O.A. and the members of the local lodge attended the funeral. On this first occasion of a returned soldier's death, the Rector gave a short funeral address and paid a tribute to the soldier departed. His passing is a distinct loss to the community as he was a young man of sterling character. "Eternal rest grant unto him O Lord and let perpetual light shine upon him."—COM.

It Has Made New Man Out of Him, Declares Benoit

Montreal Citizen Says His Troubles Have All Been Overcome By Taking Tanlac.

"For about two years before I got Tanlac I don't think I ate a meal without suffering; but now I'm eating three good meals every day without the least trouble, and actually feel like a man made new," was the statement made by Emilio Benoit, 539 Hubert St., Montreal, P.Q., recently.

"I think I had about every kind of pain and distress had digestion cause a person, and at times my suffering was about all I could stand. After every meal I felt so bloated and all stuffed up I could hardly get my breath, and my heart palpitated terribly. If I walked upstairs it left me completely exhausted. I had indigestion so bad at times I couldn't retain anything on my stomach, not even a glass of water, and often it seemed that my troubles would be the end of me."

"My poor state of health worried me a great deal, but the wonderful results I got from Tanlac changed things right around for me. My digestion seems to be perfect now, as nothing I eat hurts me; and I feel so well I believe I could run a foot race without getting out of breath. In fact, I'm in the pink of condition, and Tanlac gets all the credit for my good health."

House of Assembly.

WEDNESDAY, May 4.

NOTICE OF MOTION. Hon. The Prime Minister—Thursday to move the House into Committee of the Whole on Supply.

Hon. Minister of Marine and Fisheries—To ask leave to introduce a Bill to amend Chapter 162 of the Consolidated Statutes (3rd series) entitled of the Prosecution of the Seal Fishery.

NOTICE OF QUESTION.

Mr. Moore—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister in the absence of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture and Mines, if it is the intention of the Government to purchase any more live stock; this year, and if so what appropriations will be set aside for this purpose?

Mr. Lewis—To ask the Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the number of firms supplying oil to Lighthouses in this Dominion, also stating price paid for same.

Mr. Lewis—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister if Mr. E. Collins has been commissioned or is to be commissioned by the Government to visit Canada and the United States with a view to the disposal of the stock of pit props cut during the past winter by various parties under the Government's agreement to guarantee to pay for the same at the rate of six dollars per cord, and if so to lay on the table of the House a copy of all correspondence between the Government and Mr. Collins in relation to this matter.

Dr. Jones—To ask Hon. the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs if any amounts have been paid to any members of the staff of the Postal and Telegraphs in this city since the first of July last, and if so to state for what purposes, and to lay on the table of the House a statement giving the names of the officials who have received such extra compensation, and the amounts paid to them for the ten months from July 1st up to April 30th.

Mr. Vanicombe—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to lay on the table of the House a statement giving an estimate as exact as possible of the losses caused to the coopers and other workmen of this city the past eighteen months, through the crippling of the staple industry of this country by the Fish Regulations which are now being introduced.

Mr. Bennett—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the quantity of codfish in the Colony at the present time according to the statistics kept by his Department, specifying as closely as possible the quantities of the different grades for the different markets (a) Greece, (b) Italy, (c) Spain, (d) Portugal, (e) Brazil, (f) West Indies, setting out specially the quantity of Labrador fish, particularizing the quantity remaining of the stock purchased on account of the Government last Fall, and if he can give any idea where and when and at what figure this Labrador fish is likely to be disposed of or whether he is making any arrangements with the farmers in this country for the purchase of the same for fertilizer?

Mr. Bennett—To ask Hon. the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs what is the position of Mr. Samuel Bradbury in his Department, when he was appointed, what salary he draws, and what qualifications he possesses for the work he is engaged to perform?

Mr. Sinnott—To ask Hon. the Minister of Public Works if Mr. Samuel Churchill, Deputy Superintendent of Public Works, is now absent from this Colony on any mission for the Government, if so what is the nature of the same and what allowance, if any, has been made him in connection with the same?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister in the absence of the Honorable Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who was the Minister of the Crown who instructed the Deputy Minister of Finance to draw a cheque to obtain from the funds of the Colony the money to pay for the cargo of fish brought by the S.S. "Tuckahoe" to Port Union last year and why no Order-in-Council was obtained to authorize this payment being made. Also to state what protection, if any, exists if this practice is to be permitted, to prevent a dishonest Minister from securing possession of the entire credit balance of the Colony and misapplying it for his own purposes, and if the Government proposes to take any steps to amend the Audit Act so as to prevent a repetition of this irregularity and possibly disastrous consequences to the country in the future?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of the Honorable Minister of Finance and Customs:

- (a) What is the total amount of the temporary loan obtained by the Government after the close of the last session from the Bank of Montreal?
- (b) How much, if any, of this sum remains at the present time?
- (c) To table a statement showing all payments made out of this amount to date, to whom such payments were made and the purposes of such payment.
- (d) Will a further loan be required in the near future?
- (e) If so when and to what amount?
- (f) If it is proposed to obtain such a loan from the Bank of Montreal in the form of a temporary advance, or if it is intended to introduce a Loan Bill?
- (g) In the latter case why has no attempt been made to put on the market the loan authorized last session?
- (h) If conditions have been unfavorable for floating that loan what is the prospect of floating an additional loan now?
- (i) Is it the intention of the Government to attempt to obtain a loan from the Imperial Authorities, and if it is proposed to agree to a suspension of the Constitution of this Colony in order to obtain the same, and if not, what steps does the Government propose to take to prevent the bankruptcy in the near future?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister if he is aware that there is a flagrant violation of the Prohibition Act at the present time, both in the city and in the outports, if it is a matter of common report that the principal parties associated with this movement are strong supporters of the present Government and claim to have assurances that no prosecutions will be initiated against them; if there is any warrant for this report, and if not, what steps does the Government propose to take to enforce the law? If the Prime Minister is aware that smuggling on a widespread scale is being practised on different parts of the coast, and if it is the intention to employ any of the Government steamers now lying idle in this port at a heavy expense, in enforcing the Revenue and Liquor Laws?

Mr. Walsh—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries for a detailed statement showing how many extra hands were employed by the Marine and Fisheries Department since Nov. 15th, 1918 to date, giving names of each person employed, the amount of salary paid each and the nature of their work.

Mr. Walsh—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries for a detailed statement showing all monies paid by his Department to E. G. Stone from July 15th, 1917 to date.

Milk Prices Will Drop in Halifax. Inquiry of leading milk dealers in the city elicited the information that there is likely to be another decrease in the price of milk about June first, at which time the present contract with the farmers terminates. It is expected that the decrease will not be less than two cents, which will make the price to the consumer 14 cents.

There is a general feeling on the part of the consumers that there is no justification whatever for the present price, and it is known that a group of five business men are getting together with a view to formulating some scheme of delivery by which there would be a very marked reduction in price, it being stated that a large part of the expense is in the delivery. Capt. Sam Robt. Winsor Expresses an Opinion.

West Coast Does Not Know How to Make Fish.

[Verbatim Copy.]
 To Hon. W. F. Coker, M.H.A.,
 Minister Marine & Fisheries.
 Dear Sir.—I would like to give you my opinion of the Standardization of Codfish, especially what I think of Grand Bank. There is no question regarding the wonderful resources of the fisheries of this country, they are generally known to be one of the greatest in the world re population. Then why is it that the fishing industry of our island is not being more developed. Surely there is a cause? We must necessarily look to foreign markets to consume our great catch, and in order to encourage and develop this business, we must improve the quality of our fish in bulk and packages, which we have not done in the past, if we want to command good prices in other markets. We know that our Government has been anxious to impress into the minds of our people the necessity of this good article of food, and to make as good an impression on the world as is possible can be made that our fish will be the best.

Now what is the remedy? First, our fishermen must pay more attention to the handling of their fish when it is split, see that it is not thrown out of the tubs or wheel barrows and put on the deck of their vessel or stage flooring before it is put into the hold of vessel or bulk to be salted and not left lying on the deck for the sun to burn or be trodden over by men, and not thought of as food for humanity, see that it is well washed and blood taken from every part of it. A lot depends on this for the good care of fish. In Grand Bank, in my opinion, she will never have any quantity of good fish, unless the merchant firms pay more attention to the care of this article. When it arrives from the Banks, in their vessels, it is usual for these men to wash 200 quintals per day until all of their voyage is out of their vessels. This is all then taken to the beaches for women to make, and it is put up into bulks or water horse, with no covering whatever, left there for days if the weather is dull and nothing to keep the bad weather from spoiling it, keeping flies from spitting, causing maggots, then, it sets a slimy, especially in very hot weather like this season. This place should be called Fly Bank, instead of Grand Bank they are so numerous. Now when the weather comes fish enough, this whole voyage is practically all spread at one time by some few women, which is impossible for these to handle, and when dry enough it is put up into piles, some hundreds of these without anything to cover this fish, and when left there for weeks in bad weather, until this fish is ready for shipment of made or cured fish, and the tops of all these piles are very often slimy, weather beaten, all salty, washed out of the backs of it not fit for human food. Shippers, in my opinion, have not cared in the past as long as they got their fish off their hands to market. If they only knew that they were teaching their men and women bad habits, which would take a long time to forget, they would not have done this, which I think some of them are sorry for to-day. Grand Bank can ship as good a fish for market as any other place, if they only go the right way about it, and not give the fishermen more than they can manage. This is their case of having a lot of inferior fish. I am very sorry that this thing should happen, with the people of Grand Bank. In my opinion, all packers and shippers should pay more attention to the quality of fish they export, and put away from them the idea which was encouraged by abnormal conditions during the war, and that they can dispose of their fish in whatever manner they themselves feel inclined to ship, and that anything fit for food, will be sold. This wrong idea must be got from their heads. We are now facing different conditions since the war, and if we, as a fish producing country, want to increase our export trade in cured fish, we must be prepared to give foreign markets the kind of good fish their markets require, and not what we ourselves dispose to ship. In my opinion, this standardization is the most important stand that this country has ever taken, and if we once can get competent cutlers and a few good inspectors that we can rely on, the article shipped for market, so as to be certified cargoes or packages, with Government inspection, then I think this little country of ours will stand up against any other fishing country in the world.

Surely it is up to us to provide necessary inspection, so that we can compete with our competitors, especially in markets where they would gladly take advantage, but when any exporter takes advantage of their inspection and advises his foreign customers that the fish shipped in different grades are of Government inspection and are branded as such, the buyer will then have sufficient guarantee that the cargoes or packages are what he requires, and all buyers of fish, in my opinion, should be familiar with this inspection, and which in my mind should be impressed on the minds of both fishermen and buyers by all inspectors, that the fish must be made fit for food, which in the past have not been, and again, if only one cargo of fish sent over turns out bad, it will likely affect the sale of several other cargoes. If what I have said is done, as I have no doubt it will, something will be accomplished. Already there has been a wonderful improvement since this Standardization came into effect, and I trust that both Standardization and Regulation will prove much benefit to our country.

Brotherhood Meeting.

The meeting in Gower St. Church last evening was well attended, and the address by Rev. I. W. Williamson was most profitable to all who had the privilege of hearing it. The subject dealt with was the meaning of the Christian life, and the speaker said he proposed to try to help a number of persons from whom he had received letters of enquiry since his meetings had been started. Taking as his text a passage in the Gospel of St. John: "He came unto His own, and His own received Him not. But as many as received Him to them gave He power to become the Sons of God, even to as many as believed on His Name; which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh nor of the will of man, but of God." The speaker pointed out that the Christian life was not the result of natural birth, however good and however admirable parentage might be. "That which is born of the flesh is flesh," and no natural heredity will make a child a Christian. Neither will morality, the will of the flesh, give admittance to the Kingdom of God. Neither will an act done by another in behalf of the seeking soul constitute a man a Christian. Neither baptism nor confirmation nor reception into the church nor partaking of the communion will bring the seeker into the Christian life. He is born "not of the will of man." Only the birth from above, only the personal reliance of the soul on Christ, will give admittance into the Christian life.

In the second part of his address the preacher proceeded to point out from the Bible the steps into that life. They were six. 1. "All have sinned." 2. God loves "all mankind, good and bad alike." "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son." 3. God invites all to come to Him. Many passages of Scripture were quoted here. 4. God receives all who come to Him. "Him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out." 5. God forgives all who come seeking pardon. 6. God gives eternal life to all who believe in Jesus Christ. "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him."

These meetings will continue during the week. This evening the subject will be the preservation and cultivation of the spiritual life. On Friday evening the address will deal with the great religious revival now taking place in Central Europe, and the work being done there by the World's Brotherhood Federation in relief of the perishing children of Serbia. The meetings will close with a great mass meeting on Sunday evening at 8.30 o'clock. Many are being helped by these strong and searching addresses, and no doubt the attendance during the closing evenings will be even larger than it has been.—COM.

Remove the Dam.

Those who have occasion to go around Long Pond for fishing or other purposes, complain that the dam erected by the Trade Bakery has the waters backed up so much that it is impossible to get along the margin without having to wade. As the Trade Bakery has not decided to rebuild their premises, and therefore this dam will not be of further use, the Department of Agriculture, which was petitioned last year for its removal, should now have the obstruction knocked down.

Pensions' Committee to Meet.

The Parliamentary Committee consisting of Messrs. M. S. Sullivan, H. Legrow and H. Small, together with the representatives of the G.W.V.A., namely Messrs. H. A. Anderson, N. A. McLeod and C. F. Garland, are holding their first meeting on Monday night next in the Agriculture and Mines Office when the preliminary arrangements in connection with the matter of pensions for returned soldiers will be discussed. The Pension Commissioners have been asked to attend the meeting when the various reports of the pension complaints will be dealt with. A movement is now on foot to extend the workings of the Organization throughout the Dominion and branches are being formed in the various settlements, where 10 or more members reside. Already 26 places have signified their intention

Obituary.

"In the midst of life we are in death." There passed away on May 4th, at Fermeuse, one of its noble sons in the person of William Tobin, after a short illness. He leaves to mourn their sad loss a wife, 4 sons, 2 daughters; also 6 sisters and 3 brothers. Mr. Tobin was well known for his industry as a home builder. He was respected both by Church and State. May his soul rest in peace.—Com.

"Gummers" Interrupt.

That small gang of partisans known as "The Gummers" was again in evidence at the House yesterday afternoon, and during the discussion of one of the most tragic events of the moment, when appeals were being made for the immediate relief of some fifty people on the point of death from starvation, one of this gang interrupted Sir John Crosbie in such a manner that the Speaker of the House had to call the Sergeant-at-Arms to have him ejected. Dr. "scripts" is said to be responsible for organizing this gang, which has amongst its members men who have regular work in the Government. An employee of the Board of Works was named yesterday by many of the visitors to the Gallery as the principal.

New Glasgow's Plan.

For Dealing With Unemployment.
NEW GLASGOW, April 12.—The large Town Council chamber in New Glasgow was crowded this evening by an audience of representative citizens gathered to discuss the question of the unemployed and fortify against any acute situation that might arise. Mayor Mason presided, and set the ball rolling by stating the policy of every man being his brother's keeper, and it must not be said that any person in New Glasgow was in want or even felt any suffering for the necessities of life. The time was at hand when the better off citizens must go down in their pockets, or at least pledge themselves financially in support of their less fortunate neighbors. He had Miss Murray, visitor for the Social Service, present the situation and give a forecast of what the needs might be in a month or so, if general industrial conditions did not improve. While this statement did not show an exceedingly serious situation as yet, the Social Service Council only being called on to render help to about forty families in the town, it was felt to be sufficiently serious to warrant action being taken.

A great many speakers took part in the discussion that followed and many different proposals for a solution were submitted. Some favored borrowing a large sum of money by a public vote, sanctioned by special legislation; others suggested a plan patterned after the Patriotic Fund, giving to needy families a certain sum per week. Another that the better off families should agree each to look after a needy family and make it a household obligation to supply the family of temporary adoption just as they did their own. It was the Mayor who supplied the suggestion finally adopted. He contended that what the families needed was work, not hand-out charity. Give them work at a living wage of a dollar or dollar and a half a day, or just what was sufficient until conditions improved. The money for this work, say twenty or twenty-five thousand, to be raised by popular subscription and paid into the town treasury. The town Council would undertake work, such as on streets and parks, and see that the money was expended in a manner to leave a fitting monument to the undertaking.

On motion of Mr. P. A. MacGregor, and seconded by Mr. D. W. Macdonald, the plan was unanimously adopted. A committee of citizens, consisting of Robert Murray (chairman), H. T. Sutherland, D. W. Macdonald, A. M. Douglas, and A. J. Chisholm, was appointed to canvass the town. The scene which followed was alike to an auction sale, and in a trice three thousand dollars was in the hands of the Town Treasurer or pledged to the work, the subscriptions being in the hundreds. Several pledged a sum monthly while there was need. The rate of wages to be paid will depend upon the size and requirements of the bread-winner's family. Several expressed doubt as to men working for one dollar or one-fifty, but the Mayor declared this was to provide bread and supply the fabric wants; it was not calculated to supply luxuries or amusements. The money was given freely from the pockets of people who saved of their earnings, and it will be administered truly and honestly to relieve suffering and want.

Questions Unanswered.

Members of the Opposition in the House of Assembly have, this session, frequently to complain that questions asked by them of Departmental heads have not been answered at all, and in certain cases where replies have been forthcoming that such have been unsatisfactory. Honourable members on the right of the Speaker have certainly been assiduous in bombarding the Government with questions. That is their prerogative. In that way only can information be derived, and in that way only can the public become aware of the practices of the Administration and the obligations into which they have entered with regard to public expenditure and public service. Judging by the tenor of some of the questions asked, Ministers of the Crown find it embarrassing to furnish the answers, for they have become so involved in matters through which the questions themselves arise, that their position is exceedingly awkward, and it would be to their advantage if they could burke the replies. But the Opposition have no intention whatever of permitting them to forget. The questions of which due notice has been given are perfectly legitimate and straightforward, and the answers will be sought in like manner. The Government can no longer raise a smoke screen between them and trouble.

Some years ago when the present senior member for Bonaville, the Honourable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, first took his seat in the House, he caused it to be proclaimed from the house-tops that if proper answers were not given to proper questions, by the then Administration of Sir Edward Morris, he and his supporters would keep the House in session until the snows flew. The honourable gentleman was then in Opposition, and it is his newspaper to-day which has been charging obstructionist tactics to the Leader of the present Opposition and his colleagues. There has been no obstruction. Many issues have been discussed and much light shed on obscure parts of the Government's policy, by the determined efforts of the members of the Opposition in dragging from Ministers such information as the public demands, and such knowledge of the doings of the Administration as is necessary that the people should know. But all has not yet been told. All the questions, and some of the most vital ones, have not yet been taken up, nor are the replies forthcoming. The Government need not flatter itself, however, that they are forgotten. Answers must be given, particularly to such of the queries as have to do with matters financial, and the Opposition in duty bound must press for and insist upon clear-cut and intelligent replies. Such scandals as the Salt and Fish Purposes, sales of cargoes, on Government account, with huge losses chargeable on revenue must be thoroughly probed, and the Government given neither rest nor peace until every iota of information and knowledge is made public regarding these and other transactions.

Guards' Concert at College Hall.

A capacity audience attended the Guards' Concert at College Hall last night. The programme was well rendered and a musical treat was greatly enjoyed. During the evening the lady friends of the Association served ice cream and candy. The Guards' Band was also in attendance and gave some very pleasing selections. The following well-known artists were amongst those who contributed to the evening's enjoyment: Mesdames Dunfield, Gordon, O'Connell and Christian; Miss Mary Ryan and Messrs. Williams, Woodie, Trappell, Gushko, Christian, Mays and Higgins. The proceeds of the concert were fully $5 to be distributed.

Canteen Funds Received

The first instalment of Newfoundland's share of the Expeditionary Force Canteen funds, amounting to $1,000, has arrived and is now in custody of the Military Department. The total forthcoming from this source will be in the vicinity of $10,000. At present it is not known to what use these funds will be put, but it is expected they will be handed over to the G. W. V. A. who will see to their proper distribution, which is to help the needy veterans and their dependents.

C. E. I. A. A. Will Hold Smoker.

The C. E. I. Athletic Association intend holding a smoker during the week when the football medals won by the C.E.I. 1918 team will be presented, and the cup won in last year's Regatta by the C.E.I. football crew will be officially handed over to the Institute. The following members have been elected as officers of the various athletic sports committees: Football: Captain—Geo. Adams. Vice-Captain—Nix Hunt. League Delegate—R. Stiek. Baseball: Captain—J. Alderdice. Field Managers—Stan Winsor and E. Carter. Bowling—T. Hallett, Max Churchill.

Llewellyn Club.

To-night the Llewellyn Club holds its closing session for the season. His Excellency the Governor will be present and the President of the Club, Rev. Dr. Jones, will address the members for the last time before his departure to his new field of work. It is anticipated that there will be a large attendance.

Men, $19.80.

There are only one hundred and forty-nine suits left of the five hundred Men's Nineteen-Eighty Suits advertised at BISHOP'S last week. The assortment is still good, both in size and material. In addition to the men's sizes there are some which fit boys from fifteen to eighteen years; suits that defy the rough usage of robust youth.

St. John's Gas Light Co.

The public will be glad to learn that the St. John's Gas Light Company, which suffered so much during the war, owing chiefly to gas making, recently received a cargo of this very best sort for that purpose. Already consumers of gas, both lighting and heating, have noticed the difference and have expressed their satisfaction therewith. At the annual meeting held Monday, and which was adjourned, the following committee was appointed to consider the financial affairs of the company:—Geo. W. B. Ayr, Chairman; Hon. D. A. Ryan; Messrs. J. E. Bennett, J. B. Slater, W. H. Reville, A. W. O'Reilly, C. E. Macdonald. With such a committee it is only a question of time when the stock of the Company will rank as it did before the war, when it was looked upon as a gold mine and when it sold at a premium of over fifty per cent.—COM.

Train Notes.

An express with foreign mails and passengers left here at 7 p.m. to-day. The morning express with the Kyle's mails and passengers is due at 9 a.m. The Carboniferous local arrived in the city at 1 p.m. The Trepassey train arrived at 11:45 a.m. The weather along the line this morning was dull. The average temperature varied between 25 and 29 degrees.

Amateur 'Longshoremen'

The schooner Spencer Lake, which was loading fish for the Mediterranean when the strike of the L.S.P.U. put an end to the work, is not likely to be delayed any in getting away. About 600 quintals remain to finish the cargo of 4000, and this quantity the office hands proceeded to get on board yesterday afternoon. About 100 qts. remain to complete the cargo and this had to be brought from the Southside premises in a lighter. The ship will be loaded early this afternoon.

Preparing for Tourists.

Several of the getting campaigns on the West Coast are now preparing for the coming tourist season. The Log Cabin at Spruce Brook under the management of Mr. Whittington, has been completely remodelled, and the same has been done with Tompkins camp at Tompkins and Shear at Robinsons. Quite a few reservations have already been made by tourists who intend coming here this summer.

S. D. L. I. Musicales.

The S.D.L.I. are holding their monthly meeting in the Casino Theatre on to-morrow-night to which the general public will be given free admission. A splendid vocal and instrumental programme in which some well known talent will appear has been prepared and it is anticipated that there will be a large attendance.

Express Passengers.

The following passengers are on the incoming express which is due at 9 p.m. to-day:—Rev. J. R. Sain, P. White, A. Ebone, J. and Mrs. Maxey, Mrs. C. H. Lyford, J. Barrett, R. Laurier, Miss C. Pittman, Mrs. E. Moore; Mrs. W. Watson, G. Taylor, R. Beaudou, Miss A. Beaudou, C. H. Lyford, E. Barry, J. B. Orr, Miss R. Orr, D. Kearney, Miss E. Pike, G. Wilkinson, J. A. Spencer, Miss W. Dicks, Mrs. C. Burton and daughter.

McMurdo's Store News.

Among goods recently asked for by several customers, we note that Nuxated Iron and St. Jacob's Oil have just come to hand. Of these Nuxated Iron is to us a new thing, but the former agent having gone out of the Retail business, we hope to be able to stock it continuously. St. Jacob's Oil is an old standard that had somehow dropped to a great extent out of sight, but local demand has been stimulated by recent advertising, and we are now importing it again after being out of it for a considerable time. Nuxated Iron is recommended as a general blood and nerve tonic; St. Jacob's Oil is a liniment for general purposes. Price (Nuxated Iron) $1.25 a box; (St. Jacob's Oil) 50 cents a bottle.

Coastal Boats.

Government. S.S. Fortia left for Western ports at 10 a.m. to-day. Govt. Railway Commission. Home—No report since leaving Placentia at 1.30 a.m. yesterday on Meraken route. Kyle left Port aux Basques at 11 a.m. yesterday, coming to St. John's. Meigle leaving Placentia to-day. Sagona arrived at Port aux Basques at 2 a.m.; leaving for North Sydney this morning, replacing s.s. Kyle on North Sydney route.

Portia for Westward.

S.S. Fortia sailed at 10 a.m. for Western ports of call taking a full freight and the following passengers:—Messrs. B. A. Brazil, Chas. Rose, J. W. Fiander, J. O'Neill, Master Bulley, Messdames Bulley, Callan; Misses Moulton, Bulley, Bishop.

Football Notes.

The C.L.B. Cadets, Old Comrades have entered an application for admittance to the League this season. They have acquired the Pelitidan ground for practice and will use it on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, beginning on Monday next. They have several good men including Norman Henry, who played for the C.E.I. last year, and Dick Votsey.

The Pelitidan practice nights are Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week. It is now yet certain whether they will have a practice to-night. The C.E.I. have elected their football officers as follows:—Captain—G. R. Adams. Vice-Captain—N. P. Hunt. League Delegate—R. Stiek.

The C.E.I. will be a strictly club team this year and they will have a strong aggregation including M. Churchill, Bob and Len Stiek, W. Drovers and several other well known footballers.—PULL-BACK.

WANTED—Dairymaids, must be dairy dancers; apply to Dame Durden at the Casino to-night.—may5.11

West Coast Fishery.

Codfish prospects for the West Coast from Ross Blanche to Harbour LeCoe, for the past week were good, according to latest reports from that section, and the total number of qts. landed to date is 7,840, with 600 qts. for the week. Some 46 dories and skiffs are operating, and there is sufficient herring for bait. However, a good many of the boats in this section are now being laid up, the fishermen abandoning their calling and going elsewhere to look for employment. Many have gone to Nova Scotia and others are to follow as soon as opportunity offers. Several of the larger boats have left the codfishery and are now fishing for halibut, a good sign of which has appeared on the Eastern Banks, and as far East as Burgess. The price being paid fishermen for halibut is 7 cents per lb. Fresh codfish is almost unobtainable, signifiers of R. Moulton, Ltd. taking it in truck only at 1 1/2 cents per lb. The fish being caught lately are of the best run for the season, averaging half large and medium.

Government Cut Bonus.

OTTAWA, April 25.—Despite the protests of many civil servants, the Government has decided to adhere to its first decision and cut the cost of living bonus for 1921-22 by 25 per cent. An Order-in-Council was passed at a meeting of the Cabinet, Saturday, and making the regulations for the bonus that are practically identical with those effective during the preceding fiscal year, with important difference of 25 per cent. in the amounts authorized for each class.

Woman Gets Two Years.

QUEBEC, April 25.—Two years in the Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence imposed on a woman named B. Therrien, whose trial took place in Chief Justice Sir Francois LeBlond. The woman had been first charged with causing the death of her child; and her accomplice, Roussel, was sentenced to be hanged on the 15th of April, but his sentence was commuted by the Minister of Justice into one of life imprisonment.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Jane Penney Udell, relict of the late Levi Garland, took place from her late residence, Barnes' Road, this afternoon making a large attendance. The late Mrs. Garland died at the General Hospital where she was undergoing treatment for a fractured limb. She is the mother of Mr. T. H. Garland, barber, and step-mother of Mr. S. E. Garland, bookseller. Interment took place at the General Protestant Cemetery.

Another Phase of the Fish Regulations.

MESSRS. PENNY & SONS, NOT PAID FOR "CAVELL'S" CARGO.

Dear Sir—I beg to inform you on occasions in the House of Assembly when the advantages of the Fish Regulations, and also against them, were discussed, and also against them, your cargo by "Edith Cavell" was mentioned. If the members knew the full history of this cargo and aired it just as it really is, I doubt if many would believe it. The general public no doubt are under the impression that the cargo is disposed of and that we have been paid the money. I wish to state to the public that we have not received one cent for this cargo up to the present. When the vessel was loaded in July last, Messrs. Lind & Couto offered us $25,000.00 if we would consign it to them, and we would draft on them. This was at 60¢ per quintal for 4,200 quintals, and the balance over 60¢ would be paid us when the cargo would be sold. We sent the Minister of Marine and Fisheries copies of our cables, proving to him our offer from Messrs. Lind & Couto, and we asked him to reconsider and let us consign, or we would sell it to him outright at 60¢. And we would get the cargo to Oporto or elsewhere as quickly as possible; and if he did not comply with our request we held the Government responsible for at least 60¢, which was Messrs. Lind & Couto's offer. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries replied, "No, we will not do it; 'Cavell's' cargo must be consigned to our agent at Oporto under Advisory Board's full control and on no other condition."

After keeping "Cavell's" here one month, she was permitted to sail only under control of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and he (Minister of Marine and Fisheries) wired us that if we called the vessel without a clearance the fine would be the value of the whole cargo. After being another two months at Leixoes, we received a message from G. M. Barr offering us 50¢ for the cargo delivered at Alicante, and one from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries at the same time, signed by himself, advising us to accept Barr's offer. There was nothing left for us to do but accept it, as the cargo was under Departmental control. We accepted, with all faults in exchange for documents. Government Agent Barr gave no documents to Messrs. Hawes at Oporto, contrary to our orders. "Cavell" proceeded to Alicante and delivered the cargo to Messrs. Hawes in November last. Mr. Barr has not paid us for the cargo or any part of it whatsoever. We must now hold the Government responsible for the "Cavell's" cargo, and we are prepared to lose a few more hard earned dollars each year. The cargo is not paid for by Mr. Barr of the Government.

Woman Suffrage Notes.

(Communicated by the Secretary of the Movement.)

A public meeting of the women of Little Bay Islands was held in the School Hall on Monday, March 14th, to consider signing of petition relating to the granting to women the right to vote before next election. The meeting was a decided success, and much enthusiasm was shown. Prepared papers were read and short speeches given by several of the ladies present. The petition was read by the chairman and signed unanimously. A committee was appointed to look after the interests of the movement. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

A preliminary meeting was held at Port Union on Monday. I arranged for the distribution of leaflets among the audience composed of about one hundred, and they were read during the course of the meeting. Time was allowed for free discussion after each reading. Several ladies spoke; what they had to say was given intelligently and allayed the fears of some of the men present that women were trying to supplant them in certain of life's activities. Some of the men also spoke. Following the meeting several of the ladies formed a committee and decided to arrange for a public meeting for Thursday. Unfortunately the weather was unfavorable and only a little more than a hundred were present. Dr. Buns acted as chairman. Mr. Lister (Bank manager, Catalina) spoke in favor, also some others. All present expressed themselves favorable to "Votes for Women." About a hundred have signed the Catalina petition.

Port Union, April 11, 1921.

"I am enclosing herewith the petition sent me a couple of weeks ago. I am sorry to be late in sending in this petition, but I can't say that I had only three ladies refuse to sign. Port Union, you will understand, has not many people living here. I hope you are meeting with success in the Outports as well as at St. John's. I may say that I am very much interested in Woman Suffrage, and I should be only too pleased to help in any way I can."

"The Wishing Cap."

HAS SUCCESSFUL FIRST NIGHT.

A capacity audience greeted last night's performance of that delightful Operetta, "The Wishing Cap," presented by the pupils of Bishop Spencer College at the Casino. The Operetta is a very pretty one, and the manner in which it was portrayed by the young artists was excellent, and left little to be desired. Whilst the plot is quite simple, nevertheless it calls for a considerable amount of dramatic talent and this was forthcoming in such a manner as to thoroughly amuse and please the audience who took no trouble to hide their appreciation. The costumes were very dainty and the scenic effects, particularly the transformation scene in the last act, were really splendid. The choruses and dancing were especially good. The principal part, that of Elsie, the farmer's daughter, a most difficult one to play well, was taken by little Miss Audrey Chafe, of whom it may be truly said that she is a born actress. Her diction was very clear and her mode of expression was indeed excellent, whilst her voice was most pleasing. The severest critic would have difficulty in finding fault with any part of her performance. For some ten minutes during the second scene of the second act she had the stage to herself but did not show the slightest sign of nervousness, her acting being most natural throughout. As Kathisa, the Gipsy Queen, Miss Maude Hutchings also showed that she possessed a considerable amount of dramatic talent. She suited her part admirably and her contralto voice was heard to great advantage. Miss Dorothy Snow played the part of Dame Durden admirably, although she looked almost too young for the cast. The comedy was chiefly provided by Miss Sybil Chalkier who played the part of Jane, the scullery maid, in a manner which was most amusing. All the minor parts were well sustained by the clever children who portrayed them. Mr. H. W. Stirling, who produced the Operetta, deserves to be congratulated upon its success. There was hardly a fault to be found in it from beginning to end and too much credit cannot be given him for bringing it to such a high standard. During the intervals selections were played by the Band of the C.L.B. Cadets under Capt. A. Morris. The cast of characters was as follows:

Dame Durden Dorothy Snow,
Farmer Durden Audrey Chafe,
Kathisa (Gipsy Queen) Maude Hutchings,
Ike (husband to Kathisa) Amelia Crawford,
Ben (his brother) Anna Wilson,
Polly (a dairymaid) Grace Watson,
Dolly (a housemaid) Gertrude Snow,
Sue (milkmaid) Audrey Stirling,
Kit C. Marshall,
Peg Doris Withers,
Meg (milkmaid) T. Noosworthy,
Lou F. Pittcher,
Mattie M. Rogerson,
Phoebe May Blandford,
Jane (scullery maid) Sybil Chalkier,
Fairly Aesla Gertrude Oke,
Fairly Volante Shirley Green,
Fairly Eplona Dorothy Snow,
Farm Lassie, Milkmaids, &c., Fairly Chorus, Will-o-the-Wisps, Gipsy Chorus.

The Operetta will be repeated to night and all those who have not yet seen the splendid production should immediately procure their tickets as this is positively the last performance.

Just Folks

EVERYWHERE.

Some towns boast of mountains, And some can show the sea. The country farm is rich with charm Which nowhere else can be; The city's walls are stately. The temple spires are fair. But this is true—the skies are blue And men smile everywhere.

Some places sit by rivers And some by prairies wide. Some hear the breeze in forest trees. Some show their hills with pride. But whosoever you travel, Yes, wherever you go, You'll always meet with laughter And eyes with mirth aglow.

The tropics have their palm trees Which colder climates lack. And home is home, wherever you roam. And something calls you back: But while I fare my home-land And give to her my love, Whosoever I stray throughout the day The Starry Flag is above.

These joys we hold in common, North, South, East or West. Where'er we boast or prize the most, The sea or mountain-crest; Glad children laughing round us, And gentle mothers fair, Kind hearts and true, and skies of blue And friendship everywhere.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

A TRUE STORY AND A CONTRAST.

Day before yesterday I heard a woman whose husband has an income far above the average, pitying herself because, on account of the sickness of her husband's mother, they had not been able to have the new car they had planned on.

Yesterday a new friend of mine told me the story about her childhood. She lived in a little fishing village on the shore of the ocean. When she was about 11 years old an epidemic of diphtheria occurred in the village. Almost all the children had it, among them this girl and several of her cousins. They were ill and suffered from relapses and when the scourge finally departed it left a worse one in its place. She and three of her cousins were found to be in the early stages of tuberculosis.

Asked Advice and Took It. She was an only child and her parents were frantic with anxiety. "What shall we do?" said the father of the family doctor. "Take her inland and let her live outdoors on a farm," said the doctor. Immediately the father set about doing just that thing. He uprooted himself from the fishing village in which he had spent his life and the industry by which he made his living. He bought an inland farm and moved his family there. And he took with him not only his family, but two of the three cousins who were in the same condition as his daughter. The father tried to take, but he was his mother's pet and she refused to give him up. (He died two years later of the disease.) On the farm the children were immediately put into tents and for two years and a half that they remained there they never slept under a roof. Moreover, they were outdoors all day long, and besides their regular diet they were fed milk and eggs.

His Savings Gone But—The father did what farming he could but he was not accustomed to the work and when they went back at the end of three years every cent of his savings of $3,000 was gone.

But instead of $3,000 he brought back three perfectly sound, perfectly healthy children. I have never seen the others, but the girl at 21 is so healthy that it is impossible to imagine her as ever having been anything else.

"But didn't the other children's parents contribute to the expense?" I asked. "Oh, no," said the girl. "They really couldn't afford it so father didn't expect them to."

Didn't Realize His Significance. No suggestion of resentment or martyrdom, just a perfect matter-of-fact acceptance of the thing that he did as the only thing that could be done.

A queer revision of one of the verses of the Bible ran through my mind when I heard that story and thought of the complaints I had heard the day before: "By him that hath not shall be given." I think there is nothing fiercer in the world than the spirit which makes folks like these do for each other with no thought of repayment. Grant us all to be inspired by such courage and shamed into doing our lesser giving without self-praise or self-pity.

Historic Bible.

Historic Volume of Sacred Law. The Bible on which President Harding, U.S.A., took the oath of office has an interesting history. When George Washington was sworn in at New York, on April 30, 1789, or his first term, it was found at the last moment that no Bible was at hand in which to take the oath. Jacob Forton, who was Marshal of the parade, and at that time Worshipful Master of St. John's Masonic Lodge, was standing close by, and seeing the dilemma of the officials, remarked that he could get the Bible of St. John's Lodge which met at the "Old Coffee House," corner of Water and Fall Streets. Chancellor Livingston begged him to do so. The Bible was brought and the ceremony proceeded.

When Washington had finished reciting the oath, with his right hand resting on the open book and his left bowed in a reverential manner, he said in a clear and distinct voice: "I swear, so help me God." Then again, he kissed the book. Whereupon Livingston exclaimed: "Long live George Washington, President of the United States." The same ceremony was carried by the occasion took place when Washington was buried. It is considered by Masons as one of the priceless relics in the possession of the Order in the United States. It was taken from New York to Washington in a private car, under special guard, and returned to New York. Mr. Harding had these verses in it the same occasion.

A Curious Creature.

Among the animals that are found in the forests of the French Congo are porcupines, pangolins and giant hedgehogs. Here the porcupine is of the long-tail variety. The pangolin is a least cousin of the armadillo, but is covered with a heavy armour of scales. Its consistency, has short legs, and the longest tail in proportion to the animal of any known mammal. It

The Real Holiday.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—It is hard to conceive a Telegram reporter being misinformed, but I hope that it is not correct as stated in last night's Telegram that "It has been definitely decided by the Importers Association that the whole holiday to be held next month will be on June 22nd, which is the anniversary of the Coronation of His Majesty the King." I hardly think anyone will accuse me of disloyalty, but I am compelled to say that in my opinion it would be a great mistake to keep the holiday on June 22nd, instead of June 24th. Canada keeps holiday the first of July, not because it happens to be my birthday, but because June 24th is the birthday of the Dominion. If it is not disloyal in Canada to keep her birthday, it cannot be disloyal for Newfoundland to keep hers, which is a far more important birthday than that of Canada, for it is the birthday of the British Empire or Commonwealth as in the future it is likely to be called. I am certain that if the matter was left to the decision of His Majesty the King and the importance of the matter properly placed before him, there would not be a moment's hesitation in his decision for the more important event. Had George the Third a little more intelligence the United States might never have celebrated the fourth of July, but would, like ourselves, be celebrating the twenty-fourth of June as the most important holiday in its year. Having to wear a crown is not the most pleasant or easy job in the world. It is fraught with many difficulties, sometimes with dangers, happily not so in the case of our King, and while the actual ceremony may be necessary, still, when it is over it is not of such importance that its anniversary should be perpetuated, and certainly not in competition with an event of so far reaching importance as the birth of the British dominions overseas. That is the issue between the celebration of the twenty-second and the twenty-fourth of June. The one is the day on which the King was crowned, the other is the day on which the new land was found. One occurs whenever a new king ascends the throne, and is changeable, the other has occurred once and for all and is one of the most memorable dates in the history of the world. Thus, from a business standpoint, and it is that which probably will appeal most strongly to the Importers Association, is there any comparison between the two events? What an advertisement keeping the twenty-fourth of June would be to Newfoundland and more especially if it were observed throughout the Empire. It is quite natural that business men whose object in life is chasing the dollar, may forget to look at the sun, the green fields and the skipping lambs, but that does not mean that when those beauties are pointed out to them they cannot appreciate them, so here, although never before has the holiday been kept, nevertheless, when its importance, as a link of Empire and as a business proposition as well, is shown them, I am certain they will readily accede to the request to change their decision, if they have decided on keeping the twenty-second, for it is well known that only a fool does not change his opinion, especially when he knows that he is wrong. The decision of the Importers Association is not, like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. Let them change it and let Newfoundland, our birthplace, get a fair show, once in a while and do not let it always be said of her that she is "the sport of historic misfortune."

Yours sincerely,
GEO. W. B. AYRE.

Arena for Title Fight Will Cost $100,000.

New York—Now that Tex Rickard has definitely announced the exact location of his arena for the Jack Dempsey-George Carpentier championship bout the tall Texan has decided that the time for procrastination had passed; so yesterday he began work of leveling the property in preparation for the erection of the vast amphitheatre, which will seat upward of 50,000 spectators.

Approximately a hundred carloads of lumber will be used in the building operations, and the first carload is scheduled to be set down at the edge of "Dorie's Thirty Acres" some time today.

Laborers with shovels and horses drawing ploughs were busily engaged in breaking and scraping the uneven ground, and from the pep they displayed it will not be long ere Tex's huge wooden bowl will begin to sprout on the site.

It developed yesterday that John F. Doyle, principal owner of the property, and several other Jersey City business men who own parcels that will be included in Rickard's plan, turned over the use of the land to the city for nothing. Only one of the owners, the Public Service Railway, charged for its strip, seeking Tex an even thousand dollars for the use of the small parcel.

The levelling and draining of the land will cost about $30,000 according to estimates by engineers, and the building of the arena will cost $100,000.

Jack Dempsey expressed little interest in the site for his "greatest combat." "A ring's a ring," said Jack, "whether it's pitched in the heart of New York City or the centre of a desert. So long as the gang all there and the bout draws enough for Rickard and all the rest of us to get a nice piece of change, that's all that is necessary. The fight will be the same, wherever it is held. But Tex has been game, and he deserves to get his reward."

LLOYD GEORGE.

He meets a crisis every morning, and knocks it, groggy, to the floor; the crisis come, with scanty warning, and find him clamoring for more; he views the day with lofty scorn; he does not bring him, three or four, it seems, adversaries loom up strong; "at last," they cry, "he'll lose his bacon; we'll show him where he got in wrong;" but when they're by their goats for-saken, Lloyd George puts up a grand sweet song. His foes are always advising that they will fire him from the hair; they have him where his tricks surprising will never get him anywhere; he does some fancy compromising, and lo, he's right side up with care. Oh, kings lament their overturning, the fame of many statesmen fades, and ministers for death are yearning, who lately headed the parades; but Lloyd George keeps the home fire burning, and laughs at all your hand grenades. At home his foes are out to pot him, as they would brag a blooming hare; abroad his enemies would sweat him and comb his ringlets with a chair; but at his writing none has shot him, and he has beaming smiles to spare. A crisis meets him in the dawning, and tells him that his jig is up, and cries, with roaring and doggoning, that he must drink the hemlock cup; and in a minute it is fawning around him like a spaniel pup.

Fashions and Fads.

Narrow cream Valenciennes lace is used to trim gowns of black mat crepe. Shired bands of crepe-moroccan trim a petal frock of the same material. An evening frock of green tulle features tassetted rosettes of silver ribbon. A new color is a mixture of gray and brown, and is seen in crepe models. A coat-like chemise frock of white linen buttons all the way down the front. Fullness is seen at the sides and in the fronts of skirts, rather than in the backs. House of Assembly.

THURSDAY, May 5. NOTICE OF MOTION.

Hon. The Prime Minister.—To move the House into Committee of the Whole on Supply.

NOTICE OF QUESTION.

Mr. Bennett.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to lay on the table of the House all cables, messages, letters and other correspondence from the Trade Commissioner, Col. Bernard, in Italy, since taking up his position there, in order that the House and the country may have an opportunity of learning the quarters from which this country suffered complicity in its fisheries, the nature and extent of this complicity, and the ruinous consequences of the same upon the industry.

Mr. Bennett.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if his attention has been called to a tabular statement published in the Daily News of March 21st, past, showing a comparative statement of the shipments of codfish to Brazil for the last three months in each of the past three years, and to ask him if he has any explanation to offer for the very marked reduction in the shipments from Newfoundland to that country for the first three months of the present year.

Mr. Macdonnell.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Education (1) Why it is that the good things to come in Education as promised last year are now gone, were they then, merely under consideration by the Government, (2) Does he honestly believe that it is more desirable to continue the top-heavy educational administration, in these times, than to use the money disposed of those salaries, for the purpose of carrying out some part of the proposed educational programme of last year?

Mr. Moore.—To ask the Minister of Public Works how much money has been spent on the laying of the new water service from Petty Harbour to the Sanatorium and Kamatic station (a) for labor (b) for pipes and how much more will be required to complete the undertaking (c) for labor (d) for pipes?

Mr. Lewis.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, in view of his statement yesterday, that all the Trade Commissioners now on service abroad are to be required to return by June 30th, to lay on the table of the House a statement of all amounts paid in connection with this service from the completion of the first of these Commissioners up to the 30th of April, and to estimate of the amount required to pay salaries, travelling and other expenses for this colony, and other amounts required in connection therewith up to the 30th of June next, and also to say if it is intended to abandon all notes and terminate all expenditures in connection with this service that date?

Mr. Sinnott.—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister if his attention has been called to an article reprinted by the Advocate last week from the Boston Transcript, purporting to be an interview with Messrs. J. M. Devine and E. Collins while at Washington, in regard to the fisheries and if the declarations made by them represent the Government, especially in regard to the matter of Prohibition, inasmuch as they are quoted as authority for the view that the present Prohibition Act is to be repealed or modified, in such a way that Newfoundland will become a liquor in unlimited quantities, and does the Prime Minister consider that to picture Newfoundland in this way is calculated to rebound to the credit of the country?

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

EMERGENCY POWERS GRANTED.

LONDON, May 5. The House of Commons last night, by a large majority, adopted a resolution granting the Government emergency powers, and adding new regulations. John B. Clynnes urged the withdrawal of Government Regulations on the ground that this would facilitate negotiations. Home Secretary Shortt argued that the risk was too great. He said it might become necessary to import coal, and the Government needed certain powers to deal with the possibility that the Triple Alliance would refuse to handle imported coal.

A REAL DETERMINATION.

LONDON, May 5. Members of the Supreme Allied Council, shortly after 12 o'clock this morning, signed an ultimatum to be dispatched to Germany, which embodied the definite reparations terms of the Entente, gave details of guarantee to be exacted, and demanded that Germany accept or reject the Allied terms before May 12th. The ultimatum was handed to Dr. Schuler, German Ambassador here this morning. The whole document will be delivered to the German War Burden Commission in Paris to-morrow. The ultimatum issued by the Council includes the following: "The Allied Powers have decided (a) to proceed from to-day with all necessary preliminary measures for the occupation of Ruhr Valley by Allied troops on the Rhine, under conditions laid down; (b) to invite the Allied Reparations Commission to notify the German Government before May 8 of the time and methods for discharge of Germany of her debt; (c) to summon the German Government to declare categorically within six days after receiving the above decision its determination; (1) to execute its obligations without reservations or conditions, as defined by Reparations Commission; (2) to accept and realize without reservation or conditions, the guarantees prescribed; (3) to execute without delay measures concerning military, naval, and aerial disarmament, of which Germany was notified (January 29); (4) to proceed without delay to the trial of war criminals and with other parts of the Versailles Treaty, which have not as yet been fulfilled; (5) to proceed May 12 with occupation of Ruhr Valley and to undertake all other military and naval measures, should the German Government fail to comply with foregoing conditions, this occupation will last as long as Germany continues her failure to fulfill the conditions laid down.

House of Assembly.

WEDNESDAY, May 4.

The business of chief importance transacted at the House yesterday was the presentation of the Woman's Suffrage Petition by the Minister of Justice, whilst the matter of relief for the destitute in Placentia and St. Mary's also came up for considerable discussion. The House met at 3.15 p.m. and by that time the gallery was filled with ladies interested in the following petition which the Minister of Justice laid on the table of the House:

"To the Honourable the Legislative Assembly in Session Convened:

The Petition of the Undersigned Women of Newfoundland Humbly Sheweth That:

WHEREAS—We regard ourselves as Partners in the responsible business of Home-keeping, which is so vital to the best interests of the Dominion; and

WHEREAS—We are subject to all the laws and taxation which apply to men; and

WHEREAS—Many of us are workers; helping to produce the wealth of the Dominion; and

WHEREAS—In other parts of the British Empire women enjoy all the rights of the franchise, and assume its responsibilities;

WHEREAS—The women of Newfoundland rose to every call made upon them during the Great War, and showed energy and executive ability in the organization of relief and other work, and that many of them served overseas as Nurses, V.A.D.'s and Ambulance Drivers.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that Your Honourable House, will, during its present Session, pass a law by which there will be given to the Women of this Dominion the rights of the franchise, on conditions similar to those commonly required of men.

And as in duty bound,

Your Petitioners will ever pray."

In doing so, the Minister said that this petition was presented by him on behalf of the women of Newfoundland and there were nearly 8000 signatories to it. People in nearly every district in the island had signed it. He was keeping an open mind as regards the advisability of introducing a Bill for the Enfranchisement of Women during the present session although he was in favour of the principle at stake. If the matter were not proceeded with during the present session the women would be sure to have the right to vote before the next general election.

Mr. Higgins supported the petition. He said it was only a question of time when votes for women would be a ing the Prosecution of the Sealfishery was introduced, and read a first time.

Mr. Sullivan then created a sensation in the House by stating that a doctor who had been sent to the Western Shore of Placentia Bay to make a report on conditions there, had returned yesterday and had informed him that never before had he come in contact with such destitution and misery as had been brought to his notice on this trip. It was necessary for the Government to do something at once. There were fifty cases needing immediate medical attention and eight cases must come here to hospital at once if they are to live. Starvation was rampant all over the place. A quantity of new potatoes were now necessary too, and the Government must act in the matter at once.

Mr. Walsh regretted that the matter should have been brought up in the House as he had desired a secret session for the same purpose. But as it had been made public he wished to support Mr. Sullivan's appeal for immediate attention for the destitute of his district.

Sir Michael Cashin said the Government would be well advised if they sent a competent inspector to bring in reliable reports from the destitute districts. It was their duty as representatives to send some one to find out the conditions and furthermore it was up to the Government to do it. It was a case of acting for humanity's sake. For once, let party politics be forgotten. There are several cases of starvation now in the hospital who were not going to live. He promised the support of the Opposition in any outlay the Government might undertake in the matter.

Mr. Higgins said no one would find fault with any expenditure made for this purpose. He suggested that several inspectors be sent out endowed with the power of distributing relief if necessary.

Mr. Bennett endorsed Sir Michael Cashin's speech. It was imperative that the Government should take drastic measures. The matter was all the more alarming because districts not yet heard from may be in a worse condition. He appreciated the Government's difficulty but this did not lessen their responsibility. He suggested the organization of a band of medical workers.

Sir John Creble went further and stated that the Government should send a steamer with supplies direct to the relief of the destitute districts. If the people were sick from want of food, it was necessary to act quickly. The Opposition would support any action taken by the Government. The Government, he said, were not to blame but they must do all possible to alleviate the distress. At this juncture a government heeler in the gallery interrupted Sir John with a remark which was anything but fitted to the seriousness of the occasion. The Speaker ordered the Sergeant-at-Arms to have the man removed.

Dr. Jones spoke briefly concerning the destitution now rampant in Placentia, St. Mary's and Ferryland and said that the people there were suffering from malnutrition, as they were living on a diet of water and milk. It was a matter of great urgency that proper nourishment be given them. The disease might put people out of business permanently.

The Prime Minister appreciated the attitude of the Opposition and stated that everything necessary was being done. He had suggested that relief should be distributed through the Road Boards instead of through the relieving officers so as to save abandoned men from the ignominy of receiving poor relief.

Mr. Fox thought relief should be sent right away.

The Questions on the Order Paper were next taken up. The Prime Minister told Mr. Moore that no more live stock would be purchased this year. He also told Capt. Lewis that Mr. Collichshaw had not been commissioned to visit Canada and the States with a view to disposing of pit-props. The Prime Minister also informed Sir Michael Cashin that since January last a loan of $1,500,000 had been obtained from the Bank of Montreal at 5 per cent. Of the $1,500,000 had been handed over to the Railway Commission and $250,000 had been placed in the Surplus Trust Fund. It was the intention of the Government to bring in a Loan Bill during the present session but for what amount he was not yet prepared to say. The Leader of the Government was not aware of the fact that there were flagrant breaches of the Prohibition Law going on and that smuggling was being done on a wide spread scale.

Sir Michael Cashin took the opportunity of stating that smuggling of the worst kind was going on about the West Coast. Schooners were to be seen flying indiscriminately and took stocks of liquors for the summer and there was no one there to stop them. He thought it an absolutely disgraceful business. Discussion on the following was deferred:

Committee of the Whole on Bill entitled, "An Act to amend the War Measures Act, 1914."

Second reading of Bill entitled, "An Act to amend Chapter 22 of the Consolidated Statutes, entitled, "Of the Auditing of Public Accounts."

Second reading of Bill entitled, "An Act to amend the Profiteering Act, 1920."

On the motion to adjourn some discussion took place concerning the printing of the Order Papers. Adjournment was then taken until 8 p.m. today.

Will Hold Conference.

A meeting of the Employers' Association was held in the Board of Trade Rooms yesterday afternoon, when a communication from the L.S.P.U. dealing with the strike situation was read. The Union requested that the Employers meet a deputation of their members, so that the situation could be further discussed. The Employers notified the Union that they were willing to meet their delegates, and a conference is being held in the Board of Trade Rooms at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Obituary.

WILLIAM KING.

On Tuesday, April 26th, in the Cemetery at Fox Harbour, Placentia Bay, the remains of the late William King were laid to rest. The deceased was the second son of William and Elizabeth King, and was just 26 years of age. Although he had been ailing for nearly a year, still his death came unexpected to everyone, as he was never heard to murmur or complain but bore his cross with patience. His funeral was the largest seen in Fox Harbour for some time, which showed the esteem in which he was held by everyone. He left home Thursday, April 21st, to enter the General Hospital for treatment where he passed peacefully away the following Sunday at 3.45 a.m. His sorrowing and broken-hearted relatives have the consolation of knowing that he died fortified by the rites of Holy Church and was attended in his last hour by Rev. Dr. Carter, and many other loving hands who did everything possible for him. His remains were enclosed in a handsome casket and sent home by Monday evening's train for burial, accompanied by his sister Annie and Mr. P. O'Reilly. Requiem Mass was celebrated at Fox Harbour by Rev. Fr. Savin on Wednesday morning for the repose of his soul. Besides his sorrowing mother and father, he leaves to mourn him two brothers, James and Richard at home, and five sisters, Mary, operator at the G.P.O. St. John's; Teresa, operator at Grate's Cove, Bay-de-Verde; Annie at St. Bride's College, Littlefield, and Rose and Cecilia at home. The writer extends heartfelt sympathy to the sorrowing relatives in which other friends and acquaintances join.

The Unemployed Problem.

The Municipal Council have now about 400 men employed on new works in various parts of the city. Somewhat over 400 more are seeking employment, and the Committee of the unemployed are puzzled to know what to do with them. Those at work refuse to knock off until all of the $50,000 is expended. As work can be found to do, more men are being taken on, and yesterday some 80 went to work at a gravel pit near Bennett's Dam. The rate of pay is $3.33 per day of 10 hours. Over one hundred dollars worth of damage has been done the City Hall during the past few days by the crowds of men seeking employment, and in consequence of the men congregating in the hallways; the regular business of the Council has been greatly interfered with, and the officials say that the revenue receipts have fallen considerably in consequence.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

IN MEMORY OF THE LITTLE CORP.
PARIS, May 4.
France to-day began a week of mourning in memory of the death of Napoleon Bonaparte.

U.S. STILL AN INFLUENCE.
WASHINGTON, May 4.
The possibility that the influence of the United States in reparations settlements with Germany has not ended with the dispatch of Monday night communication, returning counter-proposals to Berlin, was seen to-day by the institution of Allied Supreme Council to have United States representatives among its members, as well as on the Reparations Commission and Council of Ambassadors.

OVER IN A WEEK.
WASHINGTON, May 4.
A prediction that the British coal miners strike would be over in a week, was made to-day by J. H. Thomas, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen.

AND GERMANY WORKING OVER-TIME.
LIVERPOOL, May 4.
In Liverpool and Birkenhead docks there are to-day 150,000 tons of goods, valued at $25,000,000, lying idle, due almost wholly to the coal miners strike.

IN THE REICHSTAG.
BERLIN, May 5.
The Reichstag yesterday adopted a bill providing for the trial of "War Criminals," named in Brüning's lists, even where evidence is insufficient to justify prosecution, or where the innocence of the accused is established. It is intended to place the vindication of the Reichstag agreed to a motion in favor of rejecting the Reparations Commission's demand for the Reichsbank's gold reserve.

HEAVY CASUALTIES.
DUBLIN, May 5.
The review of Irish Republican army operations for 1920 ended April 30, 1920, there were 48 attacks on Crown forces, and thirteen attacks on barracks. The Republican Army casualties, the review says, were 100 killed and one wounded, while the Crown casualties were two died from wounds and ten soldiers and twenty civilians wounded. Crown forces are said to have arrested 178 persons.

UPRISINGS IN PALESTINE.
PARIS, May 5.
Uprisings still prevail in Palestine, as a result of rioting in Jaffa between Christians and Jews, according to dispatches received at the Foreign Office yesterday.

NO BASIS FOR SETTLEMENT.
LONDON, May 5.
Beyond the fact that members of the Parliamentary Labor Party, and other members of Parliament, are being to-day in discussion, bearing on the owners and miners, there nothing to indicate a basis for the settlement of J. H. Thomas, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, who yesterday predicted the end of coal strike within a fortnight.

SHORTER HOURS; LONGER PAY.
PETERBORO, Ont., May 4.
All job printers here are out on strike, and the Examiner, daily newspaper, is working with a reduced staff. The strikers demand forty-four hour week with an increase of eight dollars per week in wages.

BERLIN CABINET CRISIS.
LONDON, May 4.
The Berlin correspondent of the London Times understands that Chancellor Brüning and Foreign Minister Simons have resigned, but that the rest of the Cabinet remains in office. It is believed in Berlin that Dr. Brüning's demand, leader of the People's Party, will be the new Chancellor. Dr. Mayer, Ambassador at Paris, will be the new Foreign Minister.

HOSTILE TO BRITISH.
OPPEL, Upper Silesia, May 4.
The British here are outspoken in their dislike for the whole affair, and it has developed a friction between them and the French, and there are reports in British circles that if the French fail to restore order, and British officers are not withdrawn, they will resign in a body. For Caisel, of the British Control Commission, and Colonel Bond, British Control at Colonel Bond, have been thrown into custody by a violent mob and are at present virtually helpless, surrounded by armed men who do not conceal their hostility to the British.

SEVERE STRIKE UNSETTLED.
WASHINGTON, T.C.I., May 4.
Efforts of Secretaries Davis and others to settle the severe controversy of the shipping board and the shipowners via the arbitration board, were apparently unavailing to-day. Feeling of bitterness was indicated by all papers after a series of conferences, however.

SEVERE CAUSED PROTEST.
LONDON, May 4.
Replying to a question in the House this afternoon, regarding the situation in Upper Silesia, Lord Bessborough said: "Most unfortunate disturbances had broken out there. The present trouble appeared to have arisen from rumors in the Polish papers that the Allies had already arrived at a decision with regard to the portions of Upper Silesia to be allocated to Germany and Poland.

$4,000 OUT OF WORK.
TORONTO, May 4.
Civic authorities estimate that there are at least twenty thousand out of work in Toronto. Each day finds new men registering at the Ontario Government Employment Bureau, with little hope of work being found. Yesterday positions were found for thirty.

AN EXTRA HOUR.
LONDON, May 4.
Both Houses of Parliament to-day confirmed a continuance of emergency regulations to meet the coal strike risks. The regulations include power to add an hour to the present daylight savings bill.

POLISH INSURRECTION.
BERLIN, May 4.
Semi-official advices are to the effect that all large towns in the industrial union of Silesia are surrounded by Polish insurgents. Several places are reported occupied. The whole right bank of the Oder in Ratisboj region, is in the hands of the rebels.

NO CHANGE FOR SCOTLAND.
LONDON, May 4.
It is officially stated that the recent prohibition bill in Scotland cost nearly thirty thousand pounds sterling. Five hundred and nine ayes voted "no change"; thirty-five voted "aye"; five voted for "limitations" and forty for "no license."

U. S. to Have National Anthem.

A bill to make the "Star-Spangled Banner" the United States National Anthem, has been introduced in the House by Representative Latham, of Maryland. The United States has never had an official National Anthem. The bill revives an ancient controversy between proponents of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "America." Objection is made by opponents of the "America" faction, because its time is a "steal" from the British National Anthem, while "The Star-Spangled Banner" is opposed on the ground that it is so long and complicated that but very few United States citizens know the words. In the past neither faction has succeeded in putting a bill through the United States Congress, though repeated attempts have been made by both, and so the United States remains without an official national hymn.

Trees Planted by Insects.

The uses of worms in wood and field have been discovered. It has long been known that squirrels aid the forester by burying nuts, of which some sprout and ultimately develop into trees, but that also he is indebted to earthworms for like service is knowledge new. It appears that the dry fat fruits of the silver maple are frequently used by worms to plug the apertures of their burrows in the fashion long since described by Darwin. In districts too dry for them to germinate under ordinary conditions a certain proportion of maple seed thus drawn into their holes by the worms were found to sprout and grow into seedlings, and although these ultimately perished under the influence of the late summer drought, it is thought that under less unfavorable conditions a certain number would survive. It is believed that by planting trees worms more than amend the damage with which they are credited through destroying seedlings in the gardens.

Chaining Up Books.

A very curious example of the ancient custom of chaining up books to the reading-desk is to be seen in the archive-room and library of Hereford Cathedral—a lofty room, with a gabled roof, occupying the whole of the upper portion of the north transept. Beside the various cases and chests, there are numerous upright presses containing two thousand books of great antiquity, and in many instances of great rarity. The original Wickliffe Bible is there, and numerous manuscripts of value, gorgeously illuminated. The bookshelves are placed back to back in two upright presses, with a reading-desk at each end. Each book is clamped with iron, and fastened by a chain to an iron rod that runs along each shelf. The rod is let into a catch at each end, where it is fastened with a padlock. Each chained book can be taken from its place and made to slide along the rod, and thus brought to the reading-desk at the end; but it could not be taken any further unless the padlock was unlocked. In many of the books rushes have been found, which had evidently been plucked up from the rush-strewn floor by the reader, and placed within the book to mark his place when he wished to refer to the volume at a future time.

A few hundred copies of the Veteran Magazine are left. Why not purchase a copy and send it to your friends; they will appreciate it.
