Appointments of New Teachers for Bridgetown School

A meeting of the school board was held in the town clerk's office, May 21st, 1908, with all commissioners present.

Applications from various teachers were read and considered and the following appointments were made, viz.: Miss Florence Cochrane, for grade one, Miss Bessie Hoyt, for grade two, upon the understanding that if required Miss Cochrane and Miss Hoyt will assist in the upper grades between the hour of closing their rooms and the regular hours of closing the advanced departments. Miss Bessie Cochrane, lately of the Consolidated School, Middleton, for grades three and four, and Miss Elna Graves for one and Miss Mollie Johnson for the other of the two remaining vacancies.

Miss Cochrane's appointment was conditional upon her attendance at the Normal School for training during the remainder of the present term.

The Chairman, Dr. Jost, and Commissioner Freeman were authorized to have the school building cleaned, and some gravel put on the grounds.

It was resolved that the Board call for tenders for the installation of a wood boiler in the school basement, tenders to be in by the 1st of July next.

The vacant room in the school building is to be fitted up before the beginning of another term to relieve the over-pressure on the capacity of the primary department.

WESTERN NOVA SCOTIA LUMBERMEN TO MEET

The Lumbermen's Association of Western Nova Scotia, on the invitation of the Liverpool Board of Trade and members of the Association, will hold a meeting at Liverpool, N. S., on June 30th and July 1st. These annual meetings are held for the purpose of interesting the public in forestry, the preservation of the water supply, and the protection of Nova Scotia wood lands from fire.

Special excursion tickets are issued to the pulp mills, and a first of July celebration. The invited speakers will be:

Lieut. Governor Fraser, Attorney General Piper, Dr. E. E. Fenwick, Dean of the Faculty of Forestry of the University of Toronto; Mr. Justice Longley, Prof. Haycock, Acadia College; Dr. DeWitt, Pres. N. S. Forestry Association; Leslie R. Palmer, Secretary N. S. Forestry Association; J. R. McLeod, McLeod Pulp Co., Ltd.; E. K. Spinney, Yarmouth.

PROMISING GRAIN CROP.

Winnipeg, May 28.—The C. P. R. crop report of the central division was handed out today. It is extremely comprehensive and exact. The report takes in the growth in the various sections to date. The average height of the wheat at present throughout this vast area, which stretches from Stonewall to Lingau, in Saskatchewan, and includes many branch lines of the division into both the south and north, is about four and a half inches. Clearwater, in southern Manitoba, reports a growth of ten inches, and Dominion City comes next with seven inches. The Yorkton line reports slow growth at several points, owing to cold weather, but the general tidings are that the country has abundance of rain, and that the grain is growing rapidly. Out seeding is being rapidly completed, and barley seeding is well under way. Some points report all seeding, including barley, as completed. In fact conditions throughout the vast area covered by the reports seem to be of a uniformly uniform character, and prospects everywhere are considered bright.

Character in a man creates an impression. It is both an advertisement and a testimonial.

Sweet Girl Graduates

The graduating class of Acadia Seminary held their class day exercises on Monday. The meeting was opened by Miss Hazel Chase of Middleton who extended a welcome. Miss Goldie Sweet, of Bridgetown, was one of the graduates and an exchange reports her part in the exercises as follows:—The class history and will by Miss Goldie Frances Sweet, of Bridgetown, was one of the most amusing and entertaining features of the programme. The three years of class history, showing under what conditions the class had started, what it had done during the course, together with many humorous anecdotes and laughable escapades, was listened to with the closest attention. Miss Sweet writes in a happy vein, and her effort of this afternoon was regarded as one of the best in recent years.

Another member of the class who will be remembered as participating in the Church of England Recital last winter was Miss Evelyn Starr, of whom the same writer says:—A violin solo by Miss Evelyn Starr, of Walville, evoked loud applause. Miss Starr is the only graduate in violin this year, and is regarded as a very promising player of rare ability, having a remarkable insight into the feeling of her selections. The delightful rendering of her number this afternoon made her a prime favorite with the audience.

PALMISTRY CONDEMNED AS A FAD.

"Palmistry is an absolute absurdity. The whole thing is beneath contempt," declared Professor Strirling, dean of the medical faculty and professor of physiology at Victoria University, Manchester, in the course of a lecture at the Royal Institution.

"Look at your palms and you will find certain classical lines. These lines, the so-called lines of life, heart and head, the girdle of Venus, and the bracelets of life round your wrists—what do you suppose they really are? They are nothing more nor less than creases or folds produced by the action of the muscles. The line of heart, for instance, is the flexure of the four finger, and the line of life is the result of the action of the thumb."

"All these lines that have been given astronomical names by the palmist are characteristic features. You will find the same lines on the palm of an orange-outing. Humanity is daily ploughed through its extraordinary ignorance of the elementary facts of psychology."

Professor Strirling placed fingerprints in a very different category. The print of a thumb alone, he said, is sufficient to identify a person for all time.

EMMERSON WILL ACCEPT NOMINATION.

Moncton, May 28.—Hon. H. R. Emmerison, M. P., will be Westmorland's choice as Liberal candidate for like period in the previous year. The general elections, at a convention of County Liberals to be held in Moncton Monday afternoon. This was definitely settled last evening, when Hon. Mr. Emmerison notified the committee that he would accept the nomination.

SCOTT ACT REPEALED IN INVERNESS.

Ottawa, May 29.—An order-in-council has been passed repealing the Scott Act in the County of Inverness, C. B., in conformity with the vote recently taken. The Act is declared to be no longer in force after the publication of the order in to-morrow's Ottawa Gazette.

AN AUTOMOBILE QUERY.

Will the automobile ever become a conveyor of freight and passengers, replacing horses and wagons on rural mail routes? Why not? Strange things have happened. Many believe the "auto" is only in its infancy as a useful preambulating utility. May the time not come when the government of the country will subsidize "autos" as public carriers just as steamboats? Why not?

The Valley Exhibition and N. S. Horticultural Show

Kentville Making Preparations for the Greatest Fruit Show Ever Held in Canada.—Special Prize List Now Over $140.

Mr. F. C. Rand the Secretary of the Exhibition to be held in Kentville next October, informs the orchardist that it is positively certain that it will be the greatest fruit show ever held in Canada, nothing but the very best kind of a season for ripening fruit can prevent the above prediction from coming true.

Never before was offered such large special prizes for fruit, the response has shown how greatly interested the public have become in our fruit show. Every one appeared anxious to give a special prize, and had time be given, the special prize committee a larger amount could easily have been obtained. The special prize list now amounts to over $140. It is made up as follows:

English Apples.....	$18.00
Kings County.....	20.00
Halifax.....	12.00
Annapolis.....	60.00
Hants.....	62.00
Colechester.....	15.00
Higby.....	12.00
Ottawa.....	50.00
Boston.....	25.00
	$144.00

These prizes are given for fruit exhibited in barrels and boxes. If an exhibitor desired to compete for all the prizes for barrels of different varieties for which prizes are offered he would have to send to the exhibition considerably over 100 barrels. It is expected that there will be an exhibition from 750 to 1000 barrels of apples competing for the heavy prizes in barrel lots. Just think of that, fruit growers of the land of Evangeline. The prize range from $5 up to $10 for a single barrel. Equally as handsome prizes are offered for fruit in boxes.

The Association will again shoot on Saturday, June 6th, shooting to begin at 1 o'clock p. m. A full attendance of the members is requested.

Contracts Awarded.

Ottawa, May 29.—The Public Work Department have awarded the following contracts:—For breakfast extension at Edmundston, N. B., $10,000, to Thomas P. Charlton, Ottawa; Spurr Pier at Digby, N. S., $17,900, to J. and H. Bigelow, Cambridge, N. S.; extension to wharf at Campbellton, N. B., to M. Grover, Campbellton, $25,500.

On Sunday, June 28th, the moon will pass between the earth and the sun, causing an eclipse, which will be visible throughout Canada. The eclipse will begin about 8.30 in the morning.

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

Boston, May 27.—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the well known authoress, today quietly celebrated her eighty-third birthday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Elliott, in Beacon street.

The Internal Revenue receipts from the liquor traffic in Canada since October last show a decrease of over ten per cent., and in April alone of twenty per cent. compared with the corresponding month of the year.

New York is experiencing hot weather already. On Wednesday last four deaths occurred and there were a number of prostrations. It was the hottest May 27th in 28 years.

Story of the Collision Told by Passengers of the Boston.

(Yarmouth Times.)

A survey on the steamer Boston was held Wednesday afternoon by Port Warden Scott and Captain O. L. Murphy. The ship was found to be unharmed and with the exception of four life preservers, twenty-five belts and a boat, none of the ship's equipment was lost.

The Times was told a story yesterday which is illustrative of the indifference of fishermen to the danger from collision with steamers. It was told by a man who formerly commanded steamships. He stated that upon one occasion when he came near running a schooner down one of the men heard the steamer coming while he was dressing fish. He grabbed the fog horn, gave it a blast, and laying it aside proceeded to work on another fish just as the steamer shot by a few feet away.

The passengers on board the Boston tell various stories. One man who was interviewed in Halifax makes the following statement: "The unfortunate victims could be plainly seen and some of them might have been pulled on board had a long boat hook been available." This is the most ridiculous statement which we have heard.

It is understood that on the afternoon of the accident the Boston came quite near striking another fishing schooner. Several of the crew were discussing the matter at the moment the Fame was struck.

One passenger told this paper that he was sitting in the smoking room when the collision occurred. He said that he saw a shock about the same as would be caused by the vessel running into a big sea. He went out on deck but could not see anything. The fog was so dense. He heard the shouts of the men on board distinctly. "The Fame was struck," he added.

Some of the members of the crew of the Boston received slight injuries mainly to their hands, while the work of lowering away the boats was in progress.

One lady passenger, who thought the steamer in danger, coolly dressed her three children comfortably at well as herself and made all preparations for taking to the boats.

There has long been no doubt that many of the fishing vessels which sail for the Grand Banks and are afterwards heard from are sunk in collision. They lie directly in the track of the trans-Atlantic liners. The fogs are very dense and it is a common thing for the fishermen to set their lights and all go below. The big liners can cut down a fishing schooner and go through her without the slightest shock being felt. If the officers know of the accident they say nothing and the loss of the schooner is written down among the mysterious tragedies of the ocean.

Victoria Day at Cambridge

The sports at Central Driving Park, May 25th, were witnessed by about 2000 people. The day was fine and the track was good, but very dusty.

The races resulted as follows:—
Green Race—half mile. 1 1 1
Glenwood D.
Charles Annis, Nictaux 1 1 1
Jack Kerwin
Isaac Feindel, Bridgewater.
Jerry J. D. Moore, Kentville.
Time 1:15, 1:12.

Horses Without Records.
Lady Laurier, Feindel, 1:11
Paul Kruger, Foster, 2-2
Joe Nutwood, Bligh, 3-3
"Little Egypt" gave an exhibition half mile trot and did it handsomely in 1:12.

The 100 yards dash was won in good form by Stiles in 10 1/2 seconds. John McLeod second.

The half mile run was won by Ralph Eaton, Kentville, in 2:44.

Mr. Cliff Hiltz gave an exhibition half mile run on his bicycle as the bicycle race did not fill.

The pole vault was won by John McLeod, of Kentville, height, 5 feet 7 inches.

The Judges were Norman Nelly, J. S. Banks, J. W. Margeson. Timekeeper—Dr. Annis; starter—F. J. Porter.

LARGEST CATCHES IN FIFTEEN YEARS.

Lunenburg, May 27.—Four big catches have arrived here from western and middle fishing banks so far this season and consequently the fishermen of this town are well pleased with the outcome of the spring work.

The Hiawatha, Captain Cook, 1100 qts.; Muriel M. Young, Captain Himmelman, 1400 qts.; Lilla B. Hirtle, Captain Hirtle, 1600 qts., and the Coronation, Captain Millar, with 1200 qts., are here. The three last named vessels came in today, several of the best vessels of the fleet are expected to-morrow.

The above named vessels are among the crack schooners of the fleet. Fishermen report this spring catch the largest in fifteen years. The inshore fleet are doing well and find cod abundant. Smith and Rhinland launched a splendid fishing schooner this evening. She registers 90 tons, and will be known as the Vivian B. Walters. Her owner, Captain John Walters, will go on the Grand Banks next week with his new vessel, which promises to be a great credit to the fleet.

POLITICAL PROBLEM.

(From the Washington Star.)

"It's no use," said the young man with heavy rimmed eyeglasses, "I can't get this political economy straight."

"What's the trouble?" asked the professor.

"I can't discover whether a lot of people go broke because we have hard times, or whether we have hard times because a lot of people go broke."

No small store ever got to be a big one without, at some time, having advertised "more than it could afford."

Woman Suffrage Gains Victory. What the Middleton Board of Trade is Doing.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Mr. Aquith's pledge to the Radical deputation on woman's suffrage is a decided victory for the suffragettes. Although the British Premier declined to commit himself definitely to the inclusion of woman suffrage in the Electoral Reform Bill to be introduced during the present session of Imperial Parliament, he said if an amendment were moved to the bill in principle favoring the extension of the suffrage on democratic lines to women, the government would not oppose it. This is a great concession, and the suffragettes expected at the present time, and its effect is to bring the question of woman suffrage within the sphere of practical politics in Great Britain.

Although the parliamentary franchise has been so long withheld from women in the United Kingdom, women have for years been conceded the right to vote in British municipal elections. The testimony is almost universal that the influence of women in municipal elections has been a distinct gain.

An article on the subject of woman suffrage in general, by Miss Bertha Damaris Knoke, reminds those interested that it is only fifteen years since New Zealand took the lead in this reform, and bestowed the full suffrage upon women, and already three countries have followed suit—Australia, Finland, and Norway, and in the American States of Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, and Idaho, women are fully enfranchised.

The Danish Parliament is now considering the extension of the municipal franchise to women. In Kansas they vote in municipal elections and in twenty-four other states of the American Union they have either the tax-paying or school suffrage. In France they vote for members of commercial tribunals and other minor offices. Thirteen nations send delegates to the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, which meets at New York in May, 1909. The list includes Great Britain, Canada, Australia, Denmark, Finland, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Norway, Russia, Sweden, Holland, and the United States, with Switzerland, Belgium, and France as promising possibilities. The movement for woman's suffrage is clearly enough growing and must be reckoned with.

The Outlook.

There was a good attendance at the quarterly meeting of the Middleton Board of Trade on Tuesday evening.

After the reading of the minutes of the annual and special meetings, Mr. A. L. Davidson gave a report of the work done by the committee appointed at the annual meeting re the agitation for the amalgamation of the committee of the board. The committee was asked to continue its work.

Mr. Davidson also reported that agreements for keeping nearly 450 cows for the proposed milk condensing factory had been secured by the committee of the board. The committee was asked to continue its efforts to secure this important industry for the town.

Fred E. Cox reported for committee re advertising Middleton in the literature of the railways. The railway companies have been supplied with photos obtained by the board and with information as to the sporting and other advantages of the town and vicinity.

Mr. G. M. Moore gave a report to the committee re horse show at the time of the visit of Dr. Staphish. A bill of $2.80 for expenses in connection with the horse show was ordered to be paid.

Messrs. G. W. Andrews, F. E. Bentley and W. H. Wilson were appointed a committee to make arrangements for Middleton's eighth annual Merchants' Day.

Mr. T. R. Jones submitted a letter from Mr. F. W. Whitman, of Annapolis in reference to special prizes for the Valley exhibition to be held in Kentville in October next. The board decided to offer a special prize of $100 to Messrs. T. R. Jones and G. E. McGill were appointed a committee to arrange the conditions under which the prize should be given.

The president reported for the committee appointed at the January meeting in reference to the Valley exhibition for 1909. The question was fully discussed, the unanimous opinion being that Middleton should hold an exhibition in the autumn of 1909. A committee was appointed in connection with the matter, composed of the following:—Messrs. T. R. Jones, G. H. Vroom, G. H. McGill, Fred E. Cox, G. M. Moore, J. H. Charlton and Dr. A. P. Reid.

Fred E. Cox submitted correspondence establishing a foundry somewhere in the Maritime provinces.

The question of train and mail accommodations was brought up. The suggestion came from Mr. W. C. Parker that petitions be circulated from Kentville to Annapolis, asking the government to provide double daily mail west of Kentville, the same as is enjoyed east of Kentville. A committee consisting of Messrs. C. E. Julien, A. J. Morrison, W. C. Parker, G. W. Andrews, and F. E. Bentley was appointed to take the matter up with the towns and villages from Kentville to Annapolis.

LIGHTNING SHATTERED THE WINDOW.

A Sackville woman, Mrs. John L. Wry, had a very narrow escape from death on Friday evening last when a shaft of lightning struck the sash of a window at which she was sewing. Fortunately, she was not injured though naturally the shock sustained was great and necessitated the calling of a physician. Mrs. Wry was sitting near a window in the front of her home in Bowser avenue, working at a sewing machine, when the lightning struck the woodwork at the side. The sash was broken, several shingles were torn from their places on the wall, and the curtains about the interior of the window were set on fire. The narrowness of Mrs. Wry's escape from being struck may be judged from the fact that the blouse which she had been sewing on the machine was also set on fire and almost entirely burned before it was put out.

So far as is known this is the only case of damage done by the lightning of Friday in this vicinity.—Tribune.

IN THE FOG

BY
Richard Harding Davis.

COPYRIGHT, 1901, BY ROBERT HOWARD RUSSELL.

CHAPTER I.

THE Grill is the club most difficult of access in the world. To be placed on its rolls distinguishes the new member as greatly as though he had received a vacant Garter or had been caricatured in "Vanity Fair."

Men who belong to the Grill Club never mention that fact. If you were to ask one of them which club he frequents, he will name all save this particular one. He is afraid if he told you he belonged to the Grill, that it would sound like boasting.

The Grill Club dates back to the days when Shakespeare's Theatre stood on the present site of the "Times" office. It has a golden Grill which Charles the Second presented to the Club, and the original manuscript of "Tom and Jerry in London," which was bequeathed to it by Pierce Egan himself. The members, when they write letters at the Club, still use sand to blot the ink.

The Grill enjoys the distinction of having blackballed, without political prejudice, a Prime Minister of each party. At the same sitting at which one of these fell, it elected, on account of his brogue and his bulls, Quiller, Q. C., who was then a penniless barrister.

When Paul Froyal, the French artist who came to London by royal command to paint a portrait of the Prince of Wales, was made an honorary member—only foreigners may be honorary members—he said, as he signed his first wine card, "I would rather see my name on that, than on a picture in the Louvre."

At which Quiller remarked, "That is a devil of a compliment, because the only men who can read their names in the Louvre to-day have been dead fifty years."

On the night after the great fog of 1897 there were five members in the Club, four of them busy with supper and one reading in front of the fireplace. There is only one room to the Club, and one long table. At the far end of the room the fire of the grill glows red, and when the fat falls, blazes into flame, and at the other there is a broad bow window of diamond panes, which looks down upon the street. The four men at the table were strangers to each other, but as they picked at the grilled bones, and sipped their Scotch and soda, they conversed with such charming animation that a visitor to the Club, which does not tolerate visitors, would have counted them as friends of long acquaintance, certainly not as Englishmen who had met for the first time, and without the form of an introduction. But it is the etiquette and tradition of the Grill, that whoever enters it must speak with whoever he finds there. It is to enforce this rule that there is but one long table, and whether there are twenty men at it or two, the waiters, supporting the rule, will place them side by side.

For this reason the four strangers at supper were seated together, with the candles grouped about them, and the long length of the table cutting a white path through the outer gloom.

"I repeat," said the gentleman with the black pearl stud, "that the days for romantic adventure and deeds of foolish daring have passed, and that the fault lies with ourselves. Voyages to the pole do not catalogue as adventures. That African explorer, young Chetney, who turned up yesterday after he was supposed to have died in Uganda, did nothing adventurous. He made maps and explored the sources of rivers. He was in constant danger, but the presence of danger does not constitute adventure. Were that so, the chemist who studies high explosives, or who investigates deadly poisons, passes through adventures daily. No, adventures are for the adventurous. But one no longer ventures. The spirit of it has died of inertia. We are grown too practical, too just, above all, too sensible. In this room, for instance, members of this Club have, at the sword's point, disputed the proper scanning of one of Pope's couplets. Over so weighty a matter as spilled Burgundy on a gentleman's cuff, ten men fought across this table, each with his rapier in one hand and a candle in the other. All ten were wounded. The question of the spilled Burgundy concerned but two of them. The eight others engaged because they were men of spirit. They were, indeed, the first gentlemen of the day. To-night, were you to spill Burgundy on my cuff, were you even to insult me grossly, these gentlemen would not consider it incumbent upon them to kill each other. They would separate us, and to-morrow morning appear as witnesses against us at Bow Street. We have here to-night, in the persons of Sir Andrew and myself, an illustration of how the ways have changed."

The men around the table turned and glanced toward the gentleman in front of the fireplace. He was an elderly and somewhat portly person, with a kindly, wrinkled countenance, which wore continually a smile of almost childish confidence and good-nature. It was a face which the illustrated prints had made intimately familiar. He held a book from him at arm-length, as if to adjust his eyesight, and his brows were knit with interest.

"Now, were this the eighteenth century," continued the gentleman with the black pearl, "when Sir Andrew left the Club to-night I would have him bound and gagged and thrown into a sedan chair. The watch would not interfere, the passers-by would take to their heels, my hired bullies and ruffians would convey him to some lonely spot where we would guard him until morning. Nothing would come of it, except added reputation to myself as a gentleman of adventurous spirit, and possibly an essay in the 'Tatler,' with stars for names, entitled, let us say, 'The Budget and the Baronet.'"

"But to what end, sir?" inquired the youngest of the members. "And why Sir Andrew, of all persons—why should you select him for this adventure?"

The gentleman with the black pearl shrugged his shoulders. "It would prevent him speaking in the House to-night. The

D. A. R. Liner, Boston Cuts Fishing Schooner in Two

Farmouth, May 27.—The fishing schooner Fame, about 90 tons, commanded by Captain Thomas Fay, a native of Newfoundland, and carrying a crew of nineteen men, was run into and sunk on Chaspe's bank at nine o'clock last evening by the D. A. R. liner Boston, Captain McKenzie, which arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning from Boston. Of the entire crew, but two men were saved, their names being John Clark, a native of Newfoundland, residing at East Boston, and Edward Pitts, a native of Halifax, residing at 161 Bennington street, East Boston.

The names of the lost, as far as can be ascertained, are Captain Fay, Bernard Daley, Thomas Stapleton, Michael Melvin, Thomas Powers, another Thomas Powers, Thomas Murphy, all natives of Newfoundland; Michael Carney, Boston; William Fisher, a Nova Scotian; one Bay, a native of Salmon River, N. S.; William Bailey and Barney Cashen, of Boston.

There was also on board a Frenchman belonging to Armouet county, but his name and those of the balance of the crew are not known to the survivors.

The Boston was proceeding at a slow speed at the time she struck the Fame and her whistle was kept blowing. The fog was very dense and the schooner could not be seen or heard until she was struck. The Boston went right through her, just at the main rigging and the Fame sank within three minutes. The steamer was immediately stopped and boats were lowered. One boat was lost overboard by mishap, but two others were in the water immediately. The boat, Pitts, was found with a life buoy around him, while Clark was swimming about all the rest of the crew had gone down.

At the time of the collision there were only the captain and three men on deck. Nine were lying in the fore-cabin and the balance were in the cabin. All in the fore-cabin reached the deck safely, but it is the opinion of Pitts that none of those in the cabin were able to get out.

The survivors say that nothing was known until the Boston went right through the vessel. Pitts says that when he rushed on deck he grasped a life buoy and put it around him. He then climbed into the fore rigging. The captain was standing nearby and Pitts told him to get a life buoy, but before he could do so the vessel went down. Pitts says that he became entangled in the rigging and was carried a long way down. Finally he extricated himself, and when he came to the surface he saw four of his comrades in the water, but they sank almost immediately. He kept himself afloat until picked up by a boat from the steamer.

Clark told substantially the same story. He was in the fore-cabin at the time of the accident, and just as he reached the deck the vessel went down. Being a strong swimmer, he was able to keep himself afloat for half an hour before he was picked up. Both men were thoroughly exhausted on the arrival of the steamer. They are being looked after by Dr. S. Connel Fleming.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless, and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Sloop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It sharpens a falling appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

DO ONE THING WELL.

Workman, make yourself worth as much as possible in your business. If you are only a bootblack, be determined to be the best bootblack in town. The world is quick to discern intelligence and will appreciate value. Be a specialist. It does not pay to know everything, it is knowing how to do one thing better than anybody else that pays.

Mr. Reginald Chipman, formerly of Jenner's Apothecary, returned this week from Western Canada. He says times are dull and money scarce and reports that several of our Dickey families are not flourishing as well out west as they did in Digby—Courtier.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED HIS LIFE
Mr. Dingwall was Superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School in Williams town for nine years and License Commissioner for Geogary—and Tax Collector for Charlottetown—for fourteen years continuously. Read how strongly Mr. Dingwall comes out in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Williamstown, Ont., April 21st, 1907.
I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a life long sufferer from Chronic Constipation and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring, I had a severe attack of bladder trouble with kidney trouble, and "Fruit-a-tives" cured these complaints for me, when the physician attending me had practically given me up. I am now over eighty years of age and I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for Chronic Constipation and bladder and kidney trouble. This medicine is mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action.

KEEPING UP THE FIGHT.

The mad rush to another world has eased considerably during the past few months, although the newspapers continue to tell, not infrequently, of the departure, via the pistol or poison route, of some more or less prominent character. This is not because of any fear that Wall-halla or its antithesis may become overcrowded, but rather through the fact that once having passed the critical moment that it is harder to live. Financial earthquakes during the past year have led to many suicides, but more than this they have developed a character which will through suffering, raise the moral and social standard of the American nation. When one considers the large number of wealthy men who have been brought down to poverty, either by their own thoughtless wrongdoing or by the crimes of others, the proportion which chose to leave the present life and encounter the unknown, appears very small indeed. The great majority are living, are facing misfortune or retribution as the case may be, and are fighting their way upward to success which will be all the greater because it will be founded on that honesty of dealing which experience teaches. There are no doubt hundreds, probably thousands, in the United States today who only a few months ago were living in affluence, yet who now must needs count the cost of even the most commonplace necessities. They show their courage by living, for though no man may say the suicide is a coward, yet all must acknowledge that it takes manliness to fight what looks like a losing game.

Beware of inferior preparations which are being constantly foisted on the public. Your own neighbors have endorsed Nico Soap, it's all right.

Lack of enterprise is often what keeps the country town from becoming a thriving city. It keeps the easy-going man from becoming a valuable man to a business. It keeps a boy out of hundreds of opportunities that men would gladly open up to him. And it stifles a number of other qualities that might be developing in one's nature if they were watered by the spirit of enterprise.

A Prized Cough Cure

"I have not been without a bottle of Coltsfoot Expectorant in the house for over nine years. At that time I procured it for a bad cold I had. It worked such wonders that it has been a household remedy ever since, and we will have no other for coughs and colds. It is so pleasant to take, and all of my children look for it as soon as they get a cold at all. Nearly all of them have been subject to croup, and that's when I find Coltsfoot Expectorant useful. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you wish."

MRS. LEWIS NIGH.
Free Sample of Coltsfoot Expectorant will be sent to any person sending their name and address and naming this paper. It has established a wonderful record as a successful cure for coughs, colds, croup, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis and all irritated conditions of the throat and chest. It is the prescription of a great specialist in medicine. At all good druggists, 25c. Dr. T. A. Slocum, London, Ontario. Send for Free Sample To-day.

BETTY'S QUOTATION.

Betty is seven years old, says a writer in "The Woman's Home Companion," dearly loves her school and teacher, and when at home talks extensively of the matter of her class room.

"Lots of the boys and girls hate 'quotations,' but I like it awfully," she volunteered once. And what do you mean by 'quotations?' asked an inquisitive older.

"Why, 'don't you know?' It's something the teacher writes on the black-board, and you learn it and it helps you all the week; and then the teacher asks you for it, and on Friday you go to the platform and say it."

"Oh! well, make believe this is Friday, and do it for us now." Quit charming, Betty arose, mounted an imaginary platform, gripped her little dress, gave a serious courtesy, and said, with loud and Adam foretells Susie Adam."

"Susie Adam," repeated Betty, worked up and threatening to become warlike. "Neither questioning nor expostulation availed against this statement concerning Susie, and not until the teacher was interviewed did the mystery resolve into 'Enthusiasm begets enthusiasm.'"

NOVA SCOTIA PROSPECTS.

(The London Standard.)

The Agent-General for Nova Scotia informs us that the reports from that Province continue to be of a most satisfactory nature, and indicate prolonged prosperity.

"There are numerous openings for farmers, fruit growers, and men used to an agricultural life. Improved farms with comfortable houses may be acquired on easy terms. The local markets for all kinds of farm produce are strong, and remunerative prices are obtained. With its healthy and bracing climate, beautiful scenery, accessibility from this country, and home-like social conditions, Nova Scotia offers advantages to the man wishing to establish a home 'over-seas' which are not surpassed by any of our Colonies. In this connection it may not be inopportune to quote the words of Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, during his visit to Nova Scotia last year: "It is with great regret that I leave the shores of your beautiful Province. The prosperous and comfortable homesteads, the soft and refreshing air, the evidence of general well-being, and the absence of any sign of hardship or poverty caused me to realise more vividly than I had ever had occasion to realise before how great are the privileges enjoyed by the people of Nova Scotia, and what desirable attractions your Province offers to those who, coming from across the seas, seek to create a new home under the free and happy flag of Britain on this side of the Atlantic."

THE CITIZEN'S DUTY.

(Toronto Globe.)

Every citizen is bound by the very fact of his citizenship to take an active and intelligent part in the politics of his country. Politics is the science and the art of government. In Canada government is founded upon the opinions and convictions and ideals of the people—"based upon the people's will." The opinions of the people in a democratic country find representation and expression in public men and public institutions. If the Parliament of Canada, or the Legislature of any of the Provinces does not reflect public opinion on any great issue in public life it is because the people, and especially the informed and representative people, have not done their duty as citizens in relation to the controversies and conflicts of the political campaign.

There are few things more discouraging or more threatening to the public good than the disregard of their political duties on the part of a very large number of intelligent and influential citizens. College-bred men of power and effectiveness in business or the professions, and many other men who by force have made their merits known in other walks of life, not only repudiate their own political obligations as citizens but scoff at those of their fellows who sacrifice time and comfort and personal interest in the seemingly vain endeavor of redeeming politics from the curse of corruption and graft. The day is coming when men of that ilk will be known for the snobs they are, and when in the just estimates of public opinion their affectation of superiority will be held as ignorant selfishness and as treason to the State.

The man who is always making excuses for mistakes may not get the opportunity to do the right thing next time.

Don't drift on the tide. Paddle your own canoe. If you drift, you will presently get saying the river has ceased to flow.

Crusade Against Profanity

A correspondent writes to the Montreal Star as follows:—

Sir,—Being lately with a certain class of workmen, I had occasion to hear their conversation, and in some cases it seemed as though every fourth or fifth word were an oath, or a profane use of the name of God or of Jesus Christ. Unfortunately this habit is not confined to the class of workmen referred to, but is common with others. Cannot something be done to abate this vice of unclean language? I do not advise legislative action, but the ministers of religion and their congregation might take the matter up, and speak against it. It might even be well to form a "clean language league," especially to combat this evil. Do not suggest that Canadians, as a whole, are addicted to this bad habit, for I believe they are not; nor do I say that Canada is worse than other countries, for probably the habit is even more common in the States, but apart from that, I would appeal to all right minded people to oppose such amount of this vice as exists among us.

(St. Louis Post Dispatch)

Section 1538, municipal code, prohibits profanity and obscenity in public places where women might be shocked. Such offence is classed as a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50.

Undesirable language is to be "killed" by the police Chief Creecy Tuesday called attention of the district commanders to a recent order issued from headquarters and practically told the captains that the order was not issued in a spirit of jest. Profanity in public, the chief says, must go as did the Sunday saloon.

"The reckless use of profanity in public is, in my estimation, the worst form of peace disturbance," said Chief Creecy. "It is becoming quite a fad for men to voice their simplest thoughts in the vilest of language.

"Many of them are getting so that they cannot talk without using profanity. Women are continually subjected to nervous shocks by the indiscriminate use of "cuss" words, and it's about time to put a stop to it."

Judge William Jefferson Pollard, of the Dayton street police court, said:

"I always find defendants brought before me for swearing in street cars when the evidence shows them guilty. There is no excuse for using Billingsgate or profanity in a public conveyance. It is as much an assault on the ears of passengers as a blow would be.

UNWISE LEADERSHIP.

After a struggle which involved them in much hardship and loss of wages, the men employed in the shipbuilding trade have accepted the employers' terms and returned to work. The strike was a failure. In Montreal the bricklayers' strike has been broken. The Springfield mines dispute has been decided against the men, by the board of conciliation. It is clear that labor organizations suffer much from unwise leadership.

HOME COMING OF NOVA SCOTIANS.

Anyone watching the incoming trains at Truro, says an exchange, these days must be struck by the appearance of the passengers and at the crowds of them. Young men and women throng the platform when the train from Boston stops.

Who are they?

They are Nova Scotians returning from the United States, coming back to their own land, because they have found that hard times across the line are far from pleasant and profitable. They are home to stay—most of them say.

This is a good thing for Nova Scotia, and a good thing for the people themselves. For men and women able and willing to work no country offers better rewards than Nova Scotia, and this province needs the people.

KILLED BY SODA-WATER CYLINDER EXPLODING.

Glouce Bay, May 28.—Mrs. Philip Ein was killed this evening by the explosion of a soda-water cylinder in her husband's shop. The cylinder was leaking and the woman decided to move it against the advice of her mother-in-law, who was leaving the shop. A few minutes after an explosion was heard and people rushing in found the unfortunate woman on the floor with her face literally crushed in. Deceased was a native of New York and twenty-four years old.

Obituary.

MRS. ALICE SHAW. (Berwick Register.)

The death occurred on the evening of Monday last, at the home of her son, Rev. H. S. Shaw, of Mrs. Alice Shaw, widow of Deacon William C. Shaw, of Berwick, and daughter of the late Mr. Enoch Parker, formerly of Brooklya Street, Cornwallis. Mrs. Shaw was, before her marriage, a teacher in the public schools of this county. For many years she has been a much respected resident of Berwick and the news of her death will be heard with sorrow by a wide circle of friends. Her removal, following so soon the tragic death of her brother Mr. David A. Parker, of Woodville, will be especially felt by the doubly bereaved brother and sisters, for whom, with the children of the deceased, the most sincere sympathy will be felt.

SIX YEAR OLD SAVES HIS BABY SISTER.

London, May 21.—Hartlepool has a six-year-old hero in Leonard Wolkenberg, the son of the Rev. R. L. Wolkenberg, curate of the parish of Holy Trinity, who has distinguished himself by saving his baby sister Marjorie from being burned to death.

Marjorie, aged seventeen months, had been put to bed in the afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Wolkenberg were out, and Leonard and a servant were downstairs. Hearing the baby cry, the servant ran upstairs, to find the baby's cot on fire and the bedroom full of smoke. She returned downstairs for clothes to put round her head before entering the room, but in the meantime Leonard ran to the bedroom, lifted his little sister from her cot, and carried her safely down stairs. Part of the baby's clothing was burned, but her only injury was a slight burn at the back of the neck. The cot and bed-clothing were destroyed.

The little hero appeared yesterday quite unconcerned over the incident. "I was just going for Marjorie," he said. "I was not going to leave baby." By some means the little girl found some matches, and was playing with them in her cot.

ANDREW CAMPS.

Andrew Camps, one of the few colored Grand Army men of this city, says a Lynn paper, passed away Monday morning, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Soldiers' Home, Chelsea, where he had been living since December 26th last, and from which place he was due to return to Lynn next month.

Andrew Camps was born at Bridgetown, N. S., 32 years ago, and lived there a number of years as a farmer. He came to Lynn 56 years ago and entered the stone mason employment. He was a trusted workman for numerous local contracting firms. He enlisted twice during the Civil War. The first time he entered the navy and served about 18 months aboard the Colorado. At the expiration of his enlistment he reentered his country's service as a member of Co. G, Fifth Cavalry, and served the last 18 months of the war.

He was married to Nancy Harris at his native place and she died two years ago next April. His nearest relative is an adopted daughter, Mrs. Hattie Fowler, of 200 Fayette St. He leaves one niece, Belle Peters, and a nephew, Nathan Camps.

Andrew Camps was one of the oldest surviving members of Gen. Lander Post, Grand Army, having been enrolled on its list for a quarter of a century.

PLENTY OF WORK A HELP TO HAPPINESS.

It has been said that women are more indolent, more inherently lazy than men, and there may be some truth in the statement. They have certainly more temptation to be slack than the other sex, because most women have no definite work which must be done within a specified time. Elizabeth Sloan Chester, M. B. in the Queen. The domesticated women of the prosperous classes, at least, have not sufficient work to fill up the larger part of their day, and they are apt to get into indolent habits.

Many women suffer in health and spirits and look for sheer lack of occupation. They spend their days in a petty round of silly tasks and useless "duties" which are of no real benefit to anybody in the world. Take the modern daughter, the child of well-to-do parents with no serious occupation in life. Her school-days are followed by a period of drowsy idleness, her day's work consists in a little dusting and sewing and shopping, with a monotonous round of afternoon teas and evening entertainments as recreation. She may look after the flowers, she may even, if she has domesticated tastes, spend an occasional morning making cakes in the kitchen. But honestly speaking, she does not do two hours' solid work in twenty-four. What is the result? If she is an intelligent girl, she is bored and tired and sick of it all within six months, and if she does not fulfil her destiny and satisfy the expectations of her family by getting engaged in a year or two, she is usually degenerated into a whining, disappointed woman who is more or less ailing. Because work, and plenty of it, is essential to health, the girl or woman with nothing to do, no definite aim in life is, other things being equal, less fit a woman than the girl with plenty of work.

Girls who have to work for a living or whose parents' income requires them to spend a considerable portion of the day at household tasks are happier because they have regular work which must be done, and they have no time for morbid reflections, and self-analysis. Lack of work is at the root of the restlessness and discontent of all women whose sole occupation in life is self-entertainment. It is the explanation of the boredom of the matron with a well-trained domestic staff, a fallow horse, and a small family.

The people who are compelled to work in this world, the women with domestic cares, with heaps of stockings to mend and children to consider, are never bored. The business girl may be overworked and anxious but she knows nothing of the restlessness of trying to fill her empty days with petty, trifling doings which is the fate of the woman whose path in life is smoothed by an abundance of time and money.

Those who work hard are the happiest, although they may not know it. Work is the best antidote to worry, the surest cure for boredom and restlessness. It is the grand panacea, the universal anodyne. It is better to be overworked than to have too little to do. When hands and brains are occupied we have no time to think about imaginary grievances or to brood over real trouble.

Work is one of the blessings of this life, although we are far too apt to regard it as so much drudgery. Sometimes we despise the work we have to do because it seems set in a narrow groove unworthy of our best efforts. But there is something noble in all honest labor, whether of the hands or head.

In every enterprise, if we do our best, if we work in the proper spirit we can find the joy of work. It may be hard to take up each day a round of petty domestic duties when we feel capable of accomplishing more intellectual work, but if we put our hearts into our work it makes a wonderful difference. With earnest application will come the joy of "work for work's sake."

The woman whose sphere is set in domesticity may know as keen a satisfaction in evolving order from chaos, in the arrangement of her household to the very best, in her ability, as her sister who writes a book or manages a commercial enterprise. It depends upon the spirit with which we do it rather than on the work itself. And every woman can find plenty of work to do if she likes. The girl of leisure can fill her days in with splendid helpful work if she cares enough.

The poor are always with us, there is a vast army of sick and friendless waiting to be helped. The work of social amelioration among women and children is woman's work. Settlements, girls' clubs and many other

THE SHYING HORSE

When street cars first appeared horses had to become used to them in order to be safe drivers, and the auto on the road is a new alarm for horses, and both the auto driver and horseman will have to learn to be cautious. A writer on the shying horse makes some good suggestions that are worthy of noting and we give a few paragraphs below from an exchange.

The chief difficulty was to accustom them to the trolley-cars which came along the roads at any speed up to thirty miles an hour. My plan was to ride quietly to the terminus, and wait, at a respectable distance the advent of a car. When it was stationary, I spent the ten minutes of its stay in riding round it in circles of gradually diminishing size, but never trying to force the horse nearer than he could be coaxed to approach. Generally in less than an hour, the horse would go right up to the car and accept caresses from the conductor.

The next step was to follow the starting car, which, luckily went slow for the first mile, trotting behind and alongside, till the horse took no notice of it whatever. After that it was merely a matter of meeting cars at points where they moved slowly, till gradually, the horse grew accustomed to face them at any speed.

It is impossible to condemn too strongly the pulling of a horse's ears, and laying the whip smartly across his back which is the practice usually seen and popularly advocated "to attract his attention" when a horse shows symptoms of alarm at an approaching object, such as a motor car, a grater mistake, or one more productive of future trouble for the driver, was never made.

The ancient superstition that a horse can only think of one thing at a time, and that, therefore, what will divert his attention from the object of his fears, is neither logical nor tenable in practice.

"Put yourself in his place," is a motto which should be dealing with horses. A sudden curtailment of his usual freedom of movement, by tightening the reins, when a nervous horse is being driven at a gallop, is a grating alarm at an approaching object, which will take no end of time and trouble to eradicate.

The fact that the approach of the alarming object was quickly followed by punishment naturally produces an association of the two, in the engine mind, and a logical objection to that object again.

The psychology of the free hand is the untried shier, is not so easy to follow, but I can vouch for its success. Do not go to the extreme of letting your reins fall loose; look at some strange approaching object, just relax whatever pull you have on his mouth. If he knows you talk to him soothingly, a horse will pass with a rider or driver whom he knows, many an object that no stranger can persuade him to face.

If riding, never leave your saddle; if driving, you may be compelled from reasons of safety to lead him; when you do so, walk between him and the cause of his alarm.

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night Care, these soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories soothe the seat of these weaknesses. My "Book No. 4 For Women" contains many valuable hints to women, and it is free. Ask Dr. Shoop, Hattie, Wis., to mail it. Ask the Doctor in strictest confidence, any questions you wish answered.—Dr. Shoop's Night Care is sold by ROYAL PHARMACY, BRIDGETOWN, BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, BEAR RIVER.

STEEL CAR WHEELS. The all-steel car wheel, for the manufacture of which an immense plant is to be built in the Pittsburgh district, ought to add appreciably to the safety of railroad travel, when substituted for the chilled iron wheel, which has been in use on all roads for a decade. For several years all-steel wheels have been made on a rather small scale, but hitherto they have been regarded as too expensive for general traffic and their use has been confined to locomotives and specially fine built cars. The change ought to be advantageous, in view of the frequency with which the defective car wheel plays a part in railroad accidents. It is quite conceivable, also, that the all-steel wheel may add considerably to the comfort of passengers.

THE GIFT OF LIFE AND ITS RETURN.

There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave, There are souls that are pure and true; Then give to the world the best you have, And the best will come back to you.

Give love, and love to your life will flow, A strength in your utmost need; Have faith, and a score of hearts will show Their faith in your word and deed.

Give truth and your gift will be paid in kind, And honor will honor meet; And a smile that is sweet will surely be found, A smile that is just as sweet.

For life is the mirror of kind and brave, 'Tis just what we are and do; Then give to the world the best you have, And the best will come back to you.

—Madeline S. Bridges.

NO NEED OF SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATISM.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes are sold by W. A. WARREN, BRIDGETOWN, W. WADE AND BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, BEAR RIVER.

THE MAYFLOWER.

By Pastor J. Clark, M. A. It blooms not in the summer's sun, When days are bright and long; And where the mighty rivers roll, In all its strength and pride, It grows around the house of God, And where the willows wave, Though flowers more fair with blossoms rare.

In summer lands may grow, Yet give to me the flower I love That blooms amid the snow.

With eager joy our fingers seize The little hardy flower, That does not dread the piercing cold, Nor winter's wildest hour. Each evening bud becomes the pledge, And prophecy of spring, And tells us that the world around will soon be blossoming. Adorn the hills a thousand hills in rippling music flow. And plashome voices bless the flower That blooms amid the snow.

The Fly Nuisance

Now that the season for the pestiferous house fly is at hand a word touching this pest will be in order. It is a well-known and undeplored fact that the contamination of the food supply of the filthy and germ-carrying house fly is a fruitful cause of disease, aside from being the cause of almost unbearable annoyance to the housewife at all times and to the other inmates of the home when they seek rest and repose in the enjoyment of home comforts. Much may be done to mitigate this pest by the use of good screens at doors and windows, and about porches where practicable, but where they are present in quantities they will get into the house, no matter what care or precaution is taken, so the nuisance cannot be abated to the greatest possible extent without doing something toward removing the cause. As is well known the fly breeds profusely in filth. They reproduce themselves in countless thousands in the open manure pile at the barn, in the filthy hog pen or farl in places where the house slops are daily deposited, in the vault of the outhouse and similar places. Some figures recently compiled by Dr. Howard, entomologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, show that under perfectly favorable conditions a single pair of flies would be almost nothing, and the little extra labor required to maintain a more wholesome and sanitary condition about the farm house would be more than repaid by the improvement secured, to say nothing of the increased comfort, and less danger from infectious and contagious diseases which could be enjoyed by the elimination of a very considerable proportion of the twenty-four generations of flies which Dr. Howard says may be reproduced from a single pair—Michigan Farmer.

Are Nova Scotia Apple Packers Dishonest?

(From St. John Telegraph.)
 In a St. John dispatch to the Toronto News, it is charged against Nova Scotia fruit packers that, because of dishonest marking, their apple barrels, they have lost the confidence of the buyers here; that they have been sending only the poorest fruit at the same time marking it No. 1; that in inspections made last summer from 70 to 80 per cent. of the Nova Scotia apples sent here were falsely marked; that the fruit was not suitable for sale and that if a man wanted good apples it was best not to send him any Nova Scotia stock.

The dispatch added that as a result of this, Ontario fruit growers have, by honest dealing, captured the New Brunswick market. In conversation with a Telegraph reporter yesterday afternoon, about this, one of the leading wholesale dealers in the city remarked that he did not expect to lay in one barrel of Nova Scotia winter apples next season. Besides himself, he said, there was at least one more dealer who would refuse to buy apples from the neighboring province. He intended to import all his apples from Ontario.

The reason for this, he said, was that the markings on the Nova Scotia barrels are now utterly unreliable. Sometimes dealers were fooled with apples from Ontario, but if the fruit was from a reputable packer, they were to be depended on in every instance. Last fall he had imported two cartloads of winter apples from Nova Scotia, paying at the rate of $2.75 and $3 a barrel. When the fruit arrived in St. John he was compelled to sell at 75 cents a barrel. This was not on account of a sudden drop in the market, but because the bulk of the apples should never have been put in barrels and they were trash.

It is sometimes asserted, he continued, that the reason they sell poor apples is that they are not people here will not pay a good price for them. "Two weeks ago," the dealer remarked, "I imported two cart loads of Northern Spy apples from Ontario, and I sold all the No. 1's for $5 a barrel and the No. 2's for $4 a barrel. That I think is sufficient answer to the charge that we are unwilling to pay good prices for good fruit."

Asked how long ago it was that the Nova Scotia markings were first found unreliable, the dealer said that the barrels were never used until they ought to be, but the state of affairs is getting worse every year. He made some severe comments on the workings of the new fruit marks act, and said, he came to the conclusion it was no good. The Nova Scotia growers, he said, had simply cut themselves out of the best part of the business in the province, the winter fruit. I have been handling an increasing quantity of Ontario apples every year," he concluded, "and will probably continue to do so at least as long as the present state of affairs in which 75 per cent. of Nova Scotia apples are falsely marked, holds good."

G. E. Chester Gandy, who was inspector last year, is now in Toronto, in reply to the statement that 75 per cent. of the Nova Scotia apples that arrive here are falsely marked, that last year he did not think more than 65 per cent. of them were so classified. Last year the fruit coming here, he said, was better than ever before. The most of the apples from the sister province, he explained, go to Halifax and England, because the growers can realize a better price in that country than here.

PROPOSED ROAD TO HUDSON BAY.

Ottawa, May 27.—The first move in the direction of establishing a new outlet for western exports to the sea-board via the proposed Hudson Bay route is now being made by the government. A survey party, under the direction of Mr. Marrier, is being sent out by the interior department to lay out the town site of Fort Churchill, the future metropolis of Hudson Bay and the terminus of the proposed Hudson Bay Railway. The future city will be located on the eastern side of the river, opposite the ruins of old Fort Prince of Wales, and across the river from the Hudson Bay Company's trading post. Plans and drawings of the harbor are also being prepared under the direction of the department. The present population of Fort Churchill consists of four half breed families, a mounted policeman and one settler named William Beech. The latter is the only man whose home is pitched on the future town-site. He settled there with his wife before the area in question was reserved for settlement, and is therefore entitled to claim a free quarter section of 160 acres of city real estate. It is expected that the government measure providing for the construction of a railway to Hudson Bay will be brought down in the commons shortly.

LITTLE KITCHEN HELPS.

A farm home that was well furnished apparently so far as big things were concerned seemed to me when I went to do some baking in the kitchen during the temporary absence of its mistress to be distressingly lacking in little kitchen conveniences which could have been secured at very trifling expense. When I went to turn a pan of biscuits around in the oven I searched in vain for anything that seemed suitable for the purpose.

"What does your mother use to handle hot pans?" I inquired of the children. "Oh, she takes the dish towel, or her apron, or the bottom of her dress, or anything that happens to be around," they said. In her patch boxes in the attic there were quantities of material which in a few minutes could have been transformed into convenient holders for lifting pots, kettles and pans. The children would have enjoyed making them when they were shut in the house by the rain or winter storm, and might have been getting some useful lessons in setting up a duster on various occasions at the same time. The woman who uses the dish towel, her apron or the bottom of her dress to handle hot cooking or baking dishes never has a clean dish towel, a clean apron or a clean dress very long at a time.

Another point that seemed lacking at that house was in the matter of dusters. A dirty pillow-cover or any other similar article was pressed into service as duster on various occasions, and if perchance a duster was set apart there was no special place set apart to keep it and there was a search for the article when it was needed. In that same house there was plenty of material that could have been converted into a duster bag as well as into dusters, and the arrangement, besides being neat and more business-like, would have saved time in various ways. The brooms were all out of shape because when not in use they were thrown in a corner of the woodshed. They lasted only about half as long as if they had been properly cared for. At a trifling expense of time and labor a place could be fixed in which the broom could be placed on end and besides the prolonging of the life of the broom it would be a neat way of caring for them. One of the simplest and most practical devices for this purpose is a three-cornered board with three or four holes bored large enough for broom handles, mop handles, etc., to pass down through. This board can be fitted into a corner of the woodshed or summer kitchen, and if a strip is placed below on which dust-pans can be hung there should be no more trouble with long-nosed brooms or in searching for the dust-pan.

A course in domestic science is a good thing, but it will never take the place of domestic sense, and habits of thrift and neatness can be formed in the humblest home.

TRY THESE.

(Houston, Tex., Post.)
 The Seams Club met and the following questions were asked, answered, and discussed: What faithful wife set herself a never-ending task of weaving tapestry while her husband was at war? What couple in "Mother Goose" were especially congenial regarding their diet? What well-known literary couple were separated for a day during the long happy life? What queen saved her husband's life by sucking poison from his wound? Whose bad temper has rendered her name proverbial for home pitched on the future town-site. He settled there with his wife before the area in question was reserved for settlement, and is therefore entitled to claim a free quarter section of 160 acres of city real estate. It is expected that the government measure providing for the construction of a railway to Hudson Bay will be brought down in the commons shortly.

Digby Game Warden Denounces Greedy Sportsmen

(Halifax Chronicle.)
 To the Editor of the Chronicle—Sir,—I notice in your issue of May 21st an account of a fishing party from the City who are reported to have taken four hundred and seventy pounds of trout from Mill Lake. Either the party must have been an exceptionally large one, or the members of the party must have been exceptionally greedy. Of what use is it for the Government to hatch and distribute trout fry, when a single party of anglers will make such a wholesale slaughter?

If the bag had been the result of a fishing party from Preston or Alickville, and the ultimate destination of the fish had been the Green Market, it would be had streams; but when such a massacre is perpetrated by sportsmen, in the name of sport, it is doubly disgusting. I constantly hear complaints about the destruction of trout and salmon by sawdust and dams, which are both a necessary evil. There are also many complaints about the harm done to our inland fisheries by otters, herons, loons and shell-birds. The American tourist also comes in for a certain amount of abuse, though most of the Americans I have hunted and fished with were gentlemen who knew where to stop. The chief factor in the destruction of our fish and game gets very little blame—I allude to the resident sportsman who fishes and shoots for sport.

There is no country of its size in the world, where fishing and shooting are as good as they are in Nova Scotia. The woods lack streams are free to anyone who chooses to enjoy himself with rod and gun. There are no millionaire sporting clubs with exclusive rights over thousands of acres of forest and water, as there are in many of the other Provinces and in most of the eastern States. The game and fish remain the property of the people, may they long continue to do so. If one party of anglers take from the party who devastated Mill Lake two to three hundred large fish, as must have done, what will remain for the rest of the sportsmen? I can quite understand a party, or an individual, catching every fish that will take the fly, and returning fifty or seventy-five per cent. of them to the water, keeping those of exceptional size, and those which are "zill-hooked." That is the procedure adopted by the fishing parties from Digby, Weymouth and Bear River, when they make their annual habit excursions to the Tusket, Siasiboo, and Bear River waters. Your ten line paragraph has attracted more unfavorable comment from the leading sportsmen in this town than any paragraph of its size I have read.

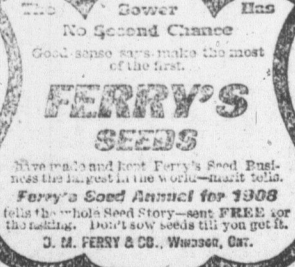

Yours truly,
 EDMUND F. L. JENNER.

BADLY SPRAINED ANKLE CURED
 Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep. Had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. BRUMITT Hampton, Tenn. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by W. A. Heading off a Risk

Gas is liable to puff out of the front door of any furnace unprovided for gas escape. "Sunshine" Furnace has Automatic Gas Damper directly connected with smoke-pipe. Gas pressure sways damper sufficiently for it to escape up chimney (see illustration), but heat doesn't escape. What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" Furnace? Means protection to the furnace parts against evil effects of gas. What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" household? Means furnace can be operated without fear as to "puffing" gas; furnace can be left without doubt as to whereabouts of gas. What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" coal account? It means, instead of owner with "ordinary furnace" fear having to keep check-draft indefinitely closed to "let off" gas—when there's two-thirds parts of heat-energy to one part of gas passing up chimney—draft can with all safety be opened, and coal saved for another day's duty.

NOT FOR ALL-COMERS.

London, May 29.—The Times discusses Mackenzie King's report, remarking that it probably expresses accurately the dominant feeling of Canadians and the Canadian government. "Nothing could be friendlier towards this country than its whole tone. All the same the report impressively reminds us that immigration everywhere is entering into a new phase. The Colonies are no longer prepared to admit all-comers to citizenship or permanent abode, nor will most readers of Mr. King's statement report fall to own that there are strong reasons to be urged in support of this so-called prejudice."

What men call bad luck is not that chance does not present itself to them, but simply that they let it go by and miss it.

Bear River.

S. S. Bear River sailed for St. John via Digby on Tuesday. The steamer's appearance is being improved by a coat of paint.

Mrs. Dr. Lawrence Braine and two children, of Glas-Margaret, arrived Friday on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Graham.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper and Mrs. P. W. Purdy are confined to the home with la grippe. This seems to have the right of way among the people of our village.

Mrs. I. Phalen, district organizer, Mrs. W. Wade and Miss Annie Miller left on Monday for Yarmouth where they are attending the annual convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Louisa Bishop, of Lawrence-town, arrived Friday on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. George Croscup.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Clarke, Mrs. Chapman Harris and Rev. I. A. and Mrs. Curbit left for Wolfville on Saturday to attend the closing exercises at Acadia.

Dr. Fitz Maurice, who has been a guest at the Bear River Hotel for a few weeks, left on Saturday for points of interest in the Valley. From there he will take in Sydney, and will then proceed via steamer to Newfoundland, where he will engage the season's salmon fishing. The doctor is so well pleased with our town and people that it is his intention to return in the fall to Bear River to remain for the winter.

The band instruments which have been at Toronto for repairs have arrived home again in thorough condition, and are now in the hands of the members of the Band, who held their first practice on Monday night. We hope to be able to have music for this year's Cherry Carnival, by local talent. At present there is every prospect for a good cherry crop, which always helps out the enjoyment of the Carnival. Bear River cannot be beaten in the carnival line, so the visitors tell us.

Mrs. John Moore, who was summoned to Morden, Kings Co., a few weeks ago by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Crossman, arrived home on Tuesday. She was accompanied by her brother, Mr. John Cochrane, of Salem, Mass.

On the 25th ult., a number of friends from North Williamston, Bear River, and this community spent an enjoyable afternoon on the grounds of Mr. Oliver Delancey. Luncheon was served by the ladies, which was very much appreciated by all.

Smith Cove

A pie social in the hall on Tuesday evening last resulted in a collection of $2.50, which will be devoted to a fund for purchasing a bell for the school-house. Miss Best's pie brought the highest bid.

Several of the residents are threatened with legal proceedings for packing poor apples last fall. All the shippers in this section claim they put up good fruit and feel that the buyers are making unjust demands.

Mr. William Burns, the government road inspector, has been over the road between Bear River station and Victoria Bridge and recommended the expenditure of $150.00 on the same. The bulk of the money will be expended on the section between the station and the Winchester hill. This is a very bad piece of road. The amount named, however, will put it in pretty good shape. Work will commence immediately.

Rev. Mr. Carter, pastor of the Baptist Church, preached on Sabbath desecration last Sunday night. He denounced those who spent their Sundays sleeping, or pleasuring, and told the congregation that it was just as much harm to rob the Lord of his day as to steal large sums of money. Those who are most interested in their neighbors' attire than in the sermon also came in for censure, and were advised to go from the church to their homes, and talk about their Redeemer instead of criticizing other members of the congregation. Mr. Carter believes in the lig stick, and he knows how to use it to good effect. Well, you know it is needed.

Councillors Cossaboom and C. H. Purdy, accompanied by Mr. William Burns, Sandy Cove, and Messrs. W. G. Clarke, T. O. Morgan, and J. S. Potter, met near Bear River Station last Tuesday afternoon and surveyed a proposed site for a new road to cut off the Winchester hill. They were all in favor of the change, and it is likely that the necessary legislation for the execution of the work will be passed at the session of the Municipal Council in January next. The right of way which will be entirely through Mr. Winchester's property, will probably cost fifty dollars. When this improvement has been effected, no doubt it will be early next spring, the road to Bear River will be almost level. The only objection will be the Chisholm hill, near Bear River. That is a bad spot and it is to be hoped that something can be done to get around it.

Mrs. Fred Smith died at her home here on Saturday evening last, aged 34 years. She is survived by a husband, for whom much sympathy is felt. It was only on the 19th day of June last that they were married. They were very nicely settled in a cosy home, the untimely breaking up of which by the cruel hand of death greatly shocked the entire community. The deceased gave birth to a fine boy early Saturday morning. The child is doing well and is being looked after by a sister of the late Mrs. Smith. The funeral took place Monday afternoon, at two o'clock, interment being made in the Methodist cemetery. Rev. Mr. Carter conducted the services and referred feelingly to the sadness of the event. A large concourse gathered at the house, and the floral tributes were beautiful, showing the warm place the deceased lady occupied in the hearts of a host of friends. Mrs. Smith's maiden name was Lydia Purdy, a daughter of the late Josiah Purdy, of Lunenburg.

Clementsvale

Mr. and Mrs. B. Dukeshire left on Saturday for a short visit in Queens County.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hicks and Miss Marguerite, of Bridgetown, spent the 24th with friends here.

Rev. C. H. Martell and Mrs. Martell are attending the closing exercises at Acadia University.

The pie and ice-cream social, for the benefit of the Methodist church repairs, was a decided success.

Mrs. Prudence Chute, Mrs. S. Fyne and little Leroy Berry are guests of Mrs. John Hicks, Bridgetown.

Mrs. Will Brown and family left last week for Ipswich, Mass., where they will reside for an indefinite period.

Mrs. Elliott, with her little daughter, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fyne, last week.

The remains of Otis Wright arrived from Boston Tuesday last week. The funeral services were conducted in the Baptist church by Pastor Martell. Mr. Wright was a son of Mr. David M. Wright, Virginia, nephew of Mrs. York, Bear River, and bore an excellent reputation. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved friends.

The "United Class" will resume their monthly ice-cream functions this season. Their first social will be held on the grounds adjoining the Baptist Church, Tuesday evening, June 8th. They hope for a liberal patronage from the Parsonage Fund. Judging from last summer's experience, an enjoyable evening may be expected every time.

Touches the Heart

Sad Story of a Mother of Four Children laid low with Consumption

What are Canadians doing to Combat this Disease?

We are shocked at the tragedies that the newspapers record almost daily, through railway accidents, explosions, falling buildings, and other causes. Each incident must surely draw upon our sympathies.

But sad and lamentable as these are, the results are insignificant compared with the loss of life and prolonged suffering that comes to thousands in the Dominion stricken with that dread disease Consumption.

8,000 die annually in the province of Ontario from this disease; probably double that number, taking the Dominion throughout.

We have on our desk a little booklet, issued by the National Sanitarium Association, by whom was established in 1902 the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. In these pages are published a few of the letters that are being constantly received from applicants seeking admission to this Muskoka home for Consumptives.

Let us refer to one simply to emphasize the purpose of this article.

The story is of a resident in the village of Lacom—a mother. The friend writing on her behalf says that a few months ago this person, a Mrs. Carroll, buried her husband from Consumption. He was an oil man. He peddled oil around the country in his wagon. There are four small children. Now the mother has been taken ill and her physician diagnoses the case consumption—the infection doubtless obtained in nursing the husband.

The Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives are being asked to admit this patient.

It is a pleasure for the management of this institution to be able to say that at no time since the doors were opened—over five years ago—has a single applicant been refused admission because of his or her inability to pay.

This means a heavy strain financially on the Trustees, who year in and year out have gone on with the work, making further extensions and placing their hope in the good will and generosity of the Canadian public.

We do not know a more deserving charity in Canada. The consumptive is found everywhere, and we gladly append to this article the suggestion of the booklet, that our readers help as far as they can to maintain just such patients as the poor mother of Lacom. Contributions we learn may be sent to Sir Wm. B. Meredith, Kt., Vice-President, Osgoode Hall, Toronto; or, J. Gage, Esq., 84 Spadina Ave., or, S. Robertson, Sec.-Treas., National Sanitarium Association, 347 King Street W., Toronto, Ont.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is not a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, as they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular stomach Restorative—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerve, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. With such logical and happy results, it is not surprising that the original and happy idea, priority, so far as stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, flatulence, and slow completion, Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and so for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
