

BIG EXPANSION FOR CANADA WHEN RAILWAYS ARE COMPLETED

Prince Alexander of Teck at London Dinner Expresses Satisfaction at Conclusion of Arrangements to Finish Construction of Transcontinental — Setback in Business Not Lasting.

Canadian Associated Press Cable. LONDON, Tuesday Morning, May 26.—A distinguished company, including Prince Arthur of Connaught, Prince Alexander of Teck, governor-general designate of Canada, and other representatives from every corner of the empire, gathered together last night at the annual dinner of the Royal Colonial Institute. The chair was taken by Prince Arthur of Connaught, who, in his opening remarks congratulated the institute upon securing such an excellent president, in the person of Earl Grey, who seemed far excellence to be the right man in the right place.

Favors Imperial Unity. His royal highness, having made brief reference to visits he had paid to the overseas dominions, went on to speak of imperial unity. It was not for him to say whether imperial unity was brought about by means of preferential trade or by means of common duties and responsibilities as proposed by some, but he ventured the hope that some scheme might be evolved which would alike be beneficial to the home countries and all the dependencies of the British crown.

Till that idea was realized, he said, "we are right in fostering the imperial idea, by which all have shares in that greatly prized possession, British citizenship, and are co-heirs in our glorious history under the same flag."

The possibilities of a strong united empire are so obviously to the advantage of both this country and the dominions that he trusted "we may live to see the day when the British Empire will not only be splashes of red on the map but a real union of hearts, brains and common interests for the solving of all great questions of peace and war which affect the destiny of the empire. Sympathy and co-operation will do much to bridge the difficulties which remain unsolved."

Forces Railway Expansion. Prince Alexander of Teck, very briefly responding to the toast of the Dominion, proposed by Dr. Parkin, said that in his new office in the great state grants of an equal amount it will mean the expenditure of some $50,000,000 per annum more than at present.

Importance of Roads. The passing of this act shows the feeling that roads are of tremendous importance to the welfare of the country at large. Formerly roads have been considered of purely local importance and entirely beyond the reach of federal aid. The widespread use of the automobile for business and pleasure has made good roads connecting up the larger towns a necessity not only to the local farmers but also to the residents of perhaps very distant parts of the country.

This act is considered by many to be one of the best and most progressive bills that the present administration has passed.

having some of their roads put in good condition under able supervision. The allowance is very small when divided between the forty-eight states, but when augmented by the special grants of an equal amount it will mean the expenditure of some $50,000,000 per annum more than at present.

UNCLE SAM TO AID IN BUILDING ROADS

Twenty-Five Million Dollars a Year to Be Spent by Washington.

EACH STATE TO SHARE Sum Equal to Amount of Grant Must Come From Every State.

A bill was passed at Washington which provides for the sum of $25,000,000 a year to be spent on the building and improving of roads throughout the Union. This amount will be divided among the different states and will be used for the construction of well roads.

Roads are to be divided into three classes. Class A is to be paved with concrete, macadam or brick, and the amount of the federal aid for this class is to be $60 a mile. Class B will comprise those roads which are to be constructed of gravel or clay and they will receive a grant of $30 a mile, while class C is to have an allowance of $15 a mile and will be of the common well crowned earth type.

Division of Grant. The grant will be divided on a combination basis of the population and the ratio of post roads in the state. In each case a grant is to be made. A sum equal to the amount of the grant must be allotted by the state in which the road is to be constructed. The federal government will prescribe certain rules to be observed in the construction of the road and will provide inspectors to see that all roads come up to the requirements.

To Stimulate Road Building. The amount of the grant is small, but it is hoped that it will serve to stimulate the building of good roads thru the union, and that small communities will benefit considerably by Canadian Press Despatch. MONTREAL, May 26.—A special cable from Glasgow, Scotland, says there were 14 men on Lightship Halifax No. 15, when the ill-fated craft left the Clyde for Nova Scotia, on April 25. Nearly all of them were Glasgow men. So far as the builders of the craft, Boat, McLaughlin & Co., are aware, there were no women on board, but the lightship called at Queenstown and there is a possibility some passengers may have come on board her there seeking a cheap trip to Canada.

Those who signed at Glasgow for the trip were: John MacBeath, master, Glasgow; John Anderson, mate, Dundee; John Mackenzie, chief engineer, Glasgow; James Ray, second engineer, Glasgow; David Cairns, third engineer, Glasgow; John MacKillop, Glasgow; Augustus MacCorkell, Glas-

The oil struck at the Dingman well recently is almost a pure gasoline. Several autotists the oil direct from the well and used it for their own use. Experienced oil men say that if the present flow keeps up, oil is discovered in another well, there will be no lack of money with which to develop the entire field.

It is impossible to say how long the boom will last, but it is a fact that the high quality of gasoline forced thru the oil-bearing rock at the bottom under high pressure is breaking up the rock and the flow is increasing. The well is about 12 feet above the ground. Nothing like this quality of oil has ever been known before in the form of a gusher.

CARTIER STATUE NEARING FINISH

Montreal is Preparing for Big Festival in September.

Canadian Press Despatch. MONTREAL, May 25.—A letter was received today from Mr. G. W. Hill, A.R.C.A., the sculptor who is executing the statue of Cartier and the other allegorical figures which will surround the base of the monument, from Brussels, that his work is completed with the exception of one figure, representing the military.

Arrangements for the celebration, whose first four days will occur in Montreal are rapidly shaping up, and it is stated that it will undoubtedly prove the great civil festival ever held in the city. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will give and address at the unveiling on Sept. 7, and it is hoped that he will be able to attend the military ball on the 8th and the banquet to the delegates on the 9th.

Arrangements are under way to secure reduced railroad rates for the week from all points in Quebec, Ontario and the New England States.

STRUCK BY TRAIN. While walking along the G.T.C. tracks just east of Greenwood avenue yesterday afternoon, Clarence Skelly, of 106 Hillington avenue, was struck by an eastbound freight train, sustaining a number of cuts and bruises. He was able to go home in the police ambulance.

CONDUCTOR INJURED. Esia Wenzler, 127 Emerson avenue, a conductor fell from the running board of a street car yesterday and received a scalp wound. He is in the General Hospital.

THE TORONTO WORLD

THE TANGO AS IT IS NOW!

The Tango is not, as commonly believed, of South American origin. It is an old gypsy dance which came to Argentina by the way of Spain, where in all probability it became invested with certain features of the old Moorish dances. The Argentines adopted the dance, eliminating some of its reckless gypsy traits, and added to it a certain languid indolence peculiar to their temperament.

After Paris had taken up the dance a few years ago, its too sensuous character was gradually toned down, and it bloomed forth a polished and extremely fascinating dance, which has not had its equal in rhythmical allurements since the days of the Minuet. Beyond doubt, the Tango, correctly practiced, is the essence of the modern soul of dancing, the autocrat of the up-to-date "soiree dansant."

The Show Girl's Glove

A Two-Part Kalem Drama, Second Feature of the Alice Joyce Series.

With an impetuous movement, Dick seized the phone. At the other end of the wire, Stella Desmond languidly raised her head and the phone bell rang. "Marie!" she called out, pettishly. "See who it is that is calling."

"It is Mr. Hampton," responded the maid a moment or two later. Stella advanced to the phone with a smile upon her face. In a cloyingly sweet tone, she answered the voice that came thru the instrument.

"I've called you up," said Dick with an effort, "to tell you that all is over between us."

"Why, Dick," she exclaimed in astonishment. "What has occurred?" "Enough to cause me to decide that you and I can never marry," came the reply. And before Stella could answer, Dick's voice said "Good-bye!" and a click told of the receiver hung up.

But if Dick Hampton thought that a mere telephone conversation would suffice to break his betrothal to Stella, he was destined to learn his mistake. That evening, after the employees had gone for the day, the show girl appeared at the office. John had just finished bolting up Dick's wavering resolution when the girl entered.

During his argument with his brother, John's voice had become louder than usual. The office employees who were preparing to leave, smiled and said to each other, "Some scrap between the old man and his brother. Wonder what's up?"

At the sight of Stella, Dick stiffened. His cheeks paled from one to the other. Placing his hand upon Dick's arm, he said, "I guess I'll go downstairs for a smoke, old man. I'll return when you mind groped about for a last means of restoring her hold upon the boy."

"If you truly loved me, you would marry no matter what you might disagree with me," she declared passionately. "And I can't see your brother's hand in this. It was he that put the detective on my track and brought me about here!"

Then followed a volley of abuse which caused Dick to straighten with indignation. For the first time, he saw the room in her true light. The narrow escape he had had, caused him to shudder. Stella saw her cause was lost, but with a determination born of despair, her mind groped about for a last means of restoring her hold upon the boy.

When "Baby" First Tries To Guard Little Mother

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

THE little mother sat in the doorway with her baby in her arms. Such a little bit of a frail, delicate mother, and such a big, bouncing, rosy, kicking, gurgling baby.

The sun shone and the purple plumes of the wisteria swung in the soft air like tassels from some filmy curtain, and up on the hill above the quiet street a bird was singing—somewhere—as gaily as if the whole world was at the springtime and somebody must sing about it.

"Glub," said the baby—and she kicked lustily; "glub glub," and she laughed and put up her chubby hands and pulled her mother's soft hair, but the little mother did not smile. Her gentle face was very sad and her soft eyes were full of anxiety.

She wasn't looking at the baby at all—she was looking at a grubby little boy who stood close beside her, panting as if he had been running.

Around the corner came running two little boys grubbier than the first one. They were singing something, something with a croon to it in a sort of savage minor key, over and over they sang it with harsh voices that had something cruel in them. Hark, there were words to the song:

"Georgie is a ba-by—Georgie is a ba-by!" chanted the two grubby boys.

His Mother's Protector.

And Georgie held up his head and would not cry. What was she to do; sit by and see her darling—the idol of her heart set upon and beaten by two miserable little tormentors?

"Oh," breathed the little mother, and her eyes flashed fire. "You're babies yourselves—two of you after one poor little boy—you let me Georgie alone or I'll catch you both and give you a good whipping. I don't care who you are."

Georgie's face grew white with anger. "Mamma," he said—"Mamma, you stop. I'm not a baby. I'm not a baby." And the grubby little boy picked up a good heavy stone and ran down the street as fast as he could go toward the two grubby little boys.

And the two grubby little boys turned and fled—and one of them dropped his writing pad and one dropped his pencil, but neither of them even looked around.

When Georgie came back he walked straight up to his mother and put his arm around her neck and kissed her, right before the whole street full, and said, "Don't you be scared, Mamma, they shan't hurt you a bit." And he wasn't angry any longer.

Georgie's mother—he's gone—out of your life, forever, your baby boy. You can't comfort him any more; you can't protect him, you can't help him—for every single thing you do for that boy of yours from this day on—so long as you let him know that you do it—will weaken him and make him that much more unfit to fight his own battles in his own war of life.

No matter how hurt he is, no matter in what danger he walks, no matter how close behind him stalk fearful dangers, you can't do a thing.

A Real Little Man.

If you do you give him over into the hands of his enemies—as no treacherous foe in the world could ever do. "Georgie is a ba-by—Georgie is a ba-by," that's what they'll sing about your boy if you let anyone see that you're trying to help him.

Stand inside the window next time, little mother, and clinch your little helpless hand till the nails bite into the flesh, but do not so much as open the window, no matter what betides.

One, two, a half a dozen—all after your boy to do him mischief—and you would give the heart out of your breast to be able to save him one angry bruise, one pang of humiliated defeat. It is his fight; you must not interfere.

"Georgie is a ba-by—Georgie is a ba-by." I listen every day at the hour for the closing of the first grade. Some day I shall hear Georgie chanting, and it will be he who is saying that somebody else is a baby, for so comes justice and knocks at the door of every human life, and somewhere in some curtained room some woman will stand and clench her hand to keep from running out and giving Georgie the spanking he so richly deserves.

Good luck to you, Georgie—brave battles, and not too few of them, and don't forget the little mother and how you promised her on the day you found yourself that you would not let anyone hurt her or make her afraid. For she tried to help you, Georgie. She did, indeed; oh, she did—indeed, and you were man enough not to let her do it.

And she was very proud of you because you had no need of her.

MAKE CAPITAL OF YOUR FAULTS

Ruth Chatterton, of the Klaw and Erlanger Forces.

Stage Favorite Gives Her "Success" Rules

CAPITALIZE your faults and apply the accrued result to win success. That is the cryptic advice pretty Ruth Chatterton gave recently when she was invited to speak before a girls' club on the easiest way to get a start up the ladder of fame.

"Don't get that word 'capitalize' confused with 'cultivate,'" she continued, "for it doesn't mean at all the same thing. Indeed, you will find when you begin your work of capitalization your faults will begin to lessen. In fact, you will feel like gold spendthrifts."

"It may seem funny for me to urge you not to go bankrupt in the fault line, but I can assure you, with knowledge of what I say, that the person absolutely without faults must be a very stupid individual. I never knew but one, and had he possessed even one little bit of a genuine fault it would have made him more human. As it was, he was a sort of uninteresting machine without complexity of mechanism to make him worth while."

"When you begin to turn your faults into working capital you will constantly find new material to work with. So as one resource is exhausted you will find mean time you will become so interesting and so charming and will have so much admiration you will not have the slightest excuse to tell people what a wonderful being you are. They will be telling you.

"The fault of laziness—well that is about the worst fault of all. But it is not incurable. An excellent way to treat it is to find some one who is just so busy that she never has a moment to rest or do any of the things she likes to do, and take some of her burdens on your own lazy shoulders. Gradually you will see how happy you are and she is, and how happy others dependent upon her and you are, and there is that old fault of laziness paying the biggest per cent. of any fault."

"And you can go right on through the list and find any number of interesting faults to work with. All the time you are gaining in wisdom and beauty of character and popularity and laying a firm foundation for your future. For, less one has so great a sorrow come upon her that there is no escape.

"I told you soap and water make my complexion what many call beautiful. That is true. I, myself, use no make-up except when I sing. But then only the least bit—that I must, for it makes my skin dry.

"I would not say all women may have beautiful skins by the use of soap and water alone. There are as many skins as there are personalities. Some are dry and need oils. Others are oily and need astringents. Each skin must receive its own treatment. All must be treated with kindness. They are delicate.

"And for all there is the fundamental need for cleanliness.

"Very, very hot water and plenty of soap go on my face and into all the pores and take out all the dirt and dust. Soft water, purest of soap. Then hot water, hot as I can stand it, till all my soap is washed away. Then cold water, cold as will run from the faucet. Lots of it, splashed on and dashed on the face and the throat and the shoulders and arms. And all over the face and throat a bit of ice wrapped in sterilized gauze.

"Why? It calls the blood to the surface and makes the cheeks glow; it closes the pores and tightens the muscles. It keeps the firmness of youth. Then, lastly, a dash of dust cloud of powder. A touch of carmine on the lips. So, it is done. Then back of the ears, on the lobes of the ears just a drop of perfume, the same scent that is in the soap and the powder.

"Clean and dainty and fresh—let that be the beauty trinity for all women to attain."

"And that is the beginning of honesty in beauty culture. Take the most beautiful and perfect plant and give it no sunlight and no water and no air and no care and blow hot blasts on it and let dust and dirt settle on its leaves, and how long think you, dear ladies, that shake their heads or roll their eyes in horror and despair, and say: 'My dear, DEAR lady! You are indeed a very, very sad sight! You have come to us just in time. Perhaps we can save you. We have to keep alert to find any one who will listen to us. Stop for awhile until you can collect some new facts about yourself which will compel attention—and in the mean time talk about things—let personalities have a rest. You know the old line from 'Alice in Wonderland'—'The world is so full of a number of things.' Hunt up some of them and talk about them. And in the plant will be perfect and beautiful? Not at all long, I assure you. It will droop and die with great sadness. There is a double lesson in that poor plant. Sadness makes our beauty curl up and die. There is the glorified expression that comes with suffering, but it is not the beauty that comes from joy. No, no! And it is not worth cultivating unless one has so great a sorrow come upon her that there is no escape.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

How Bewailing Your Ills Postpones Your Recovery

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

AS you pour the full tide of your eloquence out upon an attentive world you speak either stammering words and vocal pontiffs, you soothe and apply balmy phrases or you utter airy nothingness in speech broken light upon the depth of the unspoken.

It is not always out of the abundance of the heart that the mouth speaks. Often speech comes from a paucity of thoughts, even though language is said to be used both to conceal and to express thoughts. The tongue may tell the sickness in the heart, or else conceal it. There is no novelty in the fact that words express thoughts, but it is a new discovery of the experimental laboratory to learn that speech and verbal intercourse act upon and influence thought.

This has, true enough, always been maintained by religion and philosophy, but science, ever the laggard, has just succeeded in satisfying its conservative scepticism with abundant proof to this effect.

That is to say, then, if you speak unpleasant things; if you use blasphemous or obscene phrases; if you discuss your ills, weaknesses, failures and ailments aloud, let your mind soon think them true.

Since actions follow thoughts you will thus carry out the very mistakes, seem to have the actual maladies, and do the very deeds you spoke about.

Braver for Bragg.

Even the Baron Munchausen is braver and more healthful for his bragadoles. Far better is it to flourish trumpets and exult than to appear by word of mouth unhappy, miserable, laden down with dire distempers and full of melancholy narratives and plaints.

Beware, if there is room for warning, of whom you mention and to whom, if your phrases mostly in weeds and willows, sackcloth and ashes, dumps and dirges, jeremiads and threnodies, though your thoughts may at first be otherwise they will soon partake of your very words. Whence, taking one thing with another, you must mend your speech a course such as will enchant the ear. Make the verbal shapes of such the gesture and such sound expression as will make for healthful, happy and brightening thoughts.

"The windy satisfaction of the tongue has its virtues only resident in pleasant, upbuilding, architectonic, gestating sentences."

If your speech is flooded with lamentations, whimperings, squall upon squall of sob and lachrymations; if your language is eternally full of weeping and gnashing of teeth; if you appeal your phrases mostly in weeds and willows, sackcloth and ashes, dumps and dirges, jeremiads and threnodies, though your thoughts may at first be otherwise they will soon partake of your very words. Whence, taking one thing with another, you must mend your speech a course such as will enchant the ear. On the whole, the best way to give the dog his dose is in the form of capsules, which are easily taken. In a quiet way open his mouth and then slip one or two capsules in, at once closing the jaws gently but firmly. If the mouth is kept closed the dog will, sooner or later, swallow the capsules.

Other medicines which may not be very strong tasters may be mixed with some favorite food. An excellent way of giving powders to a dog is to mix the medicine with a lump of butter and make the whole thing into a ball. Very few dogs will refuse this. Liquid medicines which are not very nasty may be dropped into milk.

One should always bear a few points in mind when giving medicine to animals. Keep the bottles, etc., well out of sight until the last moment. Have everything ready, so that when the time comes there may be no delay in administering the dose. Behave in an ordinary manner to the creature, calling it by some pet name. Finally, never use force of any sort, save as a last resort. Temporary surgical aid is often necessary when animals break a bone. Thus, where a dog breaks or sprains his leg, even the roughest kind of splint may save further damage. The leg, of course, is laid on the strip of wood, and, by the use of a long bandage, is held in position until it can be properly set. This will very often prevent a dog from having a crooked leg for the rest of his life.

"Doctoring" Pets at Home

By May Eldridge

IN the case of a pet falling victim to a serious accident or malady it is always advisable, of course, to call in the services of a "vet," but there are certain simple treatments which anyone can carry out in the event of a pet suffering from a minor ailment.

Often enough dogs and cats appear to be out of form, their coats are ruffled and their noses are hot and dry. This state of affairs can generally be set right by a dose of castor oil, but, like human beings, animals vary much in their tolerance of taking medicine.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

YOUR father died and many of his old friends and yours sent beautiful flowers to the funeral and were very kind to you all through your trouble, and now you want to know what to do about it?

Why my dear little girl, what should you do? What do you feel like doing? Don't you want to write a letter to the man who sent such lovely lilies for your father's grave? Well, then, in the name of common sense, why don't you write it?

Say what is in your heart, and say it in plain English.

Just a sweet, simple, grateful, little note written right straight from your sweet, grateful heart, that's all.

Don't worry about what to call your father's old friend, or how to begin your letter or how to end it.

Think of your dear father and how he loved his old friend; remember some pleasant thing you heard him say about that friend, and tell it in the letter.

There's nothing stiff and formal about such a note, or at least there shouldn't be. Do what your heart tells you to do in a case like this and you can't go wrong.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Words of Wise Men

What is mine, even to my life, is hers I love; but the secret of my friend is not mine.—Sir F. Sidney.

The moment an ill can be patiently borne it is disarmed of its poison, though not of its pain.—H. W. Beecher.

It is in those acts which we call trivialities that the seeds of joy are forever sown.—George Elliot.

Without good company all dainties lose their true relish, and, like painted grapes, are only seen, not tasted.—Massinger.

Oh! many a shaft, at random sent, finds mark; the archer little meant; and many a word, at random spoken, may scorch or wound a heart that's broken.—Scott.

He who believes nothing, who believes only the shows of things, is not in relation with nature and fact at all.—Carlyle.

Learn to check and rebuke the distracting tongue by showing that you do not listen to it but with pleasure.—Jerome.

It belongs to every large nature, when it is not under the power of some strong, unquenching emotion, to suspect itself, and doubt the truth of its own impressions, conscious of possibilities beyond its own horizon.—George Elliot.

Euripides was wont to say that silence was an answer to a wise man; but we seem to have greater occasion for it in our dealings with fools and unreasonable persons; for men of breeding and sense will be satisfied with reason and fair words.—Plutarch.

Words of Wise Men

Special arrangements have been made with Senorita Lucretia Bori, the famous prima donna soprano, who has created a wonderful impression in Europe and New York on account of her remarkable beauty and artistic attainments, to write for this paper a series of articles on beauty. There is probably no authority her equal in giving the newest and most approved methods of attaining and preserving "the divine right of woman."

After studying the beauty methods of several countries, France, Spain, England, America, both North and South, I have come to the conclusion that there is a growing tendency to the natural treatment on the part of beauty culturists.

I find the best of them using more hygiene and less lotions. They are working from the inside out rather than entirely on the surface. They are seeking the reason why instead of being content to cover faults with no interest in their cause.

They are learning not to try to make beauty by dabbing a lot of unguents on the face and sopping the skin with scented waters and making hypnotic words and phrases do the rest.

When they find the face blotched and yellow and the skin looking as if it were an inheritance from some long buried mummy, and the eyes dull like a fish's, and the hair rough and messy and split and dry, and the hands red, they don't shake their heads or roll their eyes in horror and despair, and say: 'My dear, DEAR lady! You are indeed a very, very sad sight! You have come to us just in time. Perhaps we can save you. We have to keep alert to find any one who will listen to us. Stop for awhile until you can collect some new facts about yourself which will compel attention—and in the mean time talk about things—let personalities have a rest. You know the old line from 'Alice in Wonderland'—'The world is so full of a number of things.' Hunt up some of them and talk about them. And in the plant will be perfect and beautiful? Not at all long, I assure you. It will droop and die with great sadness. There is a double lesson in that poor plant. Sadness makes our beauty curl up and die. There is the glorified expression that comes with suffering, but it is not the beauty that comes from joy. No, no! And it is not worth cultivating unless one has so great a sorrow come upon her that there is no escape.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 26 CIVIC POLICY. It is probable that the reactionary element in the city, with its small representation in the city government, will this summer begin to realize that a change of policy is necessary.

The extraordinary expansion of Toronto for ten years past has not been realized fully even by those who most appreciate the necessity for preparations for the future. As an instance, the report of Mr. Chalmers Thompson in well worth consideration. It is generally understood that Toronto is not in as good a position for its size to deal with a conflagration as it was in 1904, the year of the big fire.

Instead of going forward, instead of even standing still, we have been going backward. We are in worse condition than ten years ago, not only for fire protection, but for transportation, for depot accommodation, for suburban development.

We have begun to think about these things. Not to be looked closely at that phase of the question is to have overlooked the fundamental relation of Toronto to the economic condition of the country, as a whole. So far as could be judged from Mr. Spence's speech, which, like everything here, was full of information, splendidly put, and was instinctive with the true spirit of public service.

The harbor commission has taken it for granted that the expansion of the last ten years is to be outdone in the immediate future. They are generally understood to be of the opinion that the Dominion minister of finance, less than a year ago, to assure parliament that there was not a sign of a setback in Canada's prosperity. Optimism is a noble asset, but it cannot supersede arithmetic.

It is only too patent that Sir George Paish's declaration that we have equipped ourselves with plant that can take care of two or three times the country's present production, was well founded. The railway situation at Ottawa is a proof of a service rendered to those who have been regarded as immediate customers, to forestall the inevitable railway expansion is that whereas in 1911 there were 375 people in Canada to support each mile of railway, next year, assuming the population has increased in the four years since 1911 as much as it did in the twenty years 1891, there will be only 250 people to support each mile of railway in Canada.

It is said that the C. N. R. legislation is necessary in order to save the credit of the country from a gigantic disaster. If that is true, the city will be in a very bad way. The sort of credit on which the expansion of recent years has been erected, is gone already, and that no amount of freight and passenger car repairs, except it be preceded by a readjustment of production, as indicated by Sir George Paish, will talk as if one good crop will put us back to where we were. One good crop, three good crops, cannot cause a resumption of the prosperous condition of certain cities, with money poured in from outside, which has been responsible for the expansion of Toronto and other industrial centers.

Vancouver has already lost tens of thousands of the people whose presence two years ago was pointed to as the final evidence of the wonderful prosperity of the city. It is one thing to be able to cope with the abnormal situation arising from the expansion of the city, and another to be able to cope with the normal situation of a city which has been expanded to the point where it is no longer able to support its own weight. The scheme of the harbor commission is in truth the greatest real estate proposition in the public interest ever put before the people. But the commissioners have made a mistake—admitting the only criticism will venture to make of them—of listening to the system at the department of public works, and have committed themselves to a vast completion in five years, involving borrowings which may seem to be a dandy, since we have been getting the habit most firmly of borrowing money, but which are not so urgently needed but which they should be assured with unnecessary speed, merely because the minister of public works urged the commission on.

The scheme, as a scheme, is magnificent. In due time, it can make Toronto, already the best city to live in that I know, the joy of the whole earth. But when so able a member of the commission as Alderman Spence admits that its relation to the fundamentals of civilization has been taken for granted, it is surely time to begin asking questions about it—questions which we seem to have overlooked, when under the glamour of a conception which appeals so justly to our civic pride. Arthur Hawkes, 348 Beach Avenue, Toronto.

TAXATION IN VANCOUVER. Winnipeg Tribune, May 23: Vancouver, the metropolis of British Columbia, was the first city in Canada to exempt buildings and improvements on land from taxation. The first step towards exemption was taken in 1895 when the assessment on improvements was reduced to 50 per cent. of full value.

EDITORIAL: You report me as having opposed the harbor scheme at Ald. F. S. Spence's meeting in East Toronto. In the interest of friendly discussion of a great project, greatly conceived, perhaps you will allow me to state what happened.

Asked to speak after the alderman was thru, I asked him for the commission's estimate of the number of people who would have to be employed in the new industrial area, in order to make the whole scheme pay for itself, and hand to the city half a million year with which to pay the $250,000 interest on the cost of the city's special part of the expense.

At the instigation of the Dominion minister of public works, the whole scheme, costing nearly twenty millions, is to be finished in five years, exclusive of the new dockage within the present harbor, and the net profit of a quarter of a million a year will be due. To make that profit, as the alderman gave us to understand, eight hundred and thirty acres of industrial sites will need to be occupied. We are to have factories built to occupy, as he said, more land than there is inside the belt line.

If it is possible to figure net profits from a scheme of industrial development, it must be possible to estimate how many people will be employed, and by how many the total population of the city will be increased. Not to be looked closely at that phase of the question is to have overlooked the fundamental relation of Toronto to the economic condition of the country, as a whole.

But at present the city council of Vancouver is discussing how to carry on the city's business on the same rate as last year, and an alderman had sufficient courage to suggest a tax on 15 per cent. of the value of the buildings. But his suggestion did not meet with approval.

The journal believes that the system of taxation which formerly prevailed in Edmonton, seemed in many ways a more equitable and practical system of taxation.

Briefly, this is that no residences are taxed, only the land on which they stand. But that buildings used for commercial purposes are taxed as well as the land on which they stand; and that each store of a business block is taxed as if it were a separate business, graded according to the line of business for which it is used.

In this way the rich and poor have no tax on their walls or on the land; while those who make money by the buildings they own and use pay into the public treasury.

Burnham, of Chicago, in reply to the toast of "Our Guests," made the following striking statement: The history of the present movement of town planning is very short; it goes back less than ten years.

But recent as the movement thus appears it is self-evident that the subject of town planning has interested men as far back as history extends. It is only a few years, indeed, since Flinders Petrie, the Egyptian explorer, came upon the remains of an antique reference to Nebuchadnezzar's Babylon.

The checker-board pattern has likewise been found in ancient Chinese cities discovered in a ruined condition in Central Asia, so that it would appear to be characteristic of this type of early culture. When we come to the present, the oldest and most civilized known in Europe, we are not surprised, therefore, to find that the checker-board plan was in use from the earliest times.

That the ancient Romans corresponded to the checker-board pattern might be deduced in a similar manner from the fact that it was the checker-board pattern that prevailed in the military camps of the Romans, and conquering people. Whether at Pompeii or in Chester the visitor from this side of the Atlantic is struck by the familiar checker-board plan of the streets.

CITY PLANNING IN THE PAST. At the brilliant banquet which formed a fitting close to the International Town Planning Conference of 1910 in London, the late Daniel H. Burnham, of Chicago, in reply to the toast of "Our Guests," made the following striking statement: The history of the present movement of town planning is very short; it goes back less than ten years.

But recent as the movement thus appears it is self-evident that the subject of town planning has interested men as far back as history extends. It is only a few years, indeed, since Flinders Petrie, the Egyptian explorer, came upon the remains of an antique reference to Nebuchadnezzar's Babylon.

The checker-board pattern has likewise been found in ancient Chinese cities discovered in a ruined condition in Central Asia, so that it would appear to be characteristic of this type of early culture. When we come to the present, the oldest and most civilized known in Europe, we are not surprised, therefore, to find that the checker-board plan was in use from the earliest times.

That the ancient Romans corresponded to the checker-board pattern might be deduced in a similar manner from the fact that it was the checker-board pattern that prevailed in the military camps of the Romans, and conquering people. Whether at Pompeii or in Chester the visitor from this side of the Atlantic is struck by the familiar checker-board plan of the streets.

IRISH PARLIAMENT'S POWERS CURBED IN MANY DIRECTIONS

Measure Which is Now Certain of Enactment is Home Rule, Only in Modified Sense—Cannot Decide Issues of Peace or War or Foreign Policy.

LONDON, May 25.—The Irish home rule bill, which passed the house of commons for the third time today, and which will become law whether the house of lords assents or not, contains the following provisions: A senate of 40 members, a house of commons of 164 members.

Irish parliament cannot legislate on peace or war, navy, army or any naval or military force, foreign relations, trade outside Ireland except certain defined taxation, coinage or legal tender.

It cannot make any law, either directly or indirectly, to establish or endow any religion or prohibit the free exercise thereof or give a preference, privilege or advantage, or impose any disability or disadvantage on any ecclesiastical status, or make any religious belief or religious ceremony

TO HELP GROWERS TO MARKET WOOL

Dominion Agricultural Department Plans Organizing Association Thru Country

The live stock branch of the Dominion department of agriculture has announced that it is prepared to offer practical assistance this year to the associations of wool growers in the preparation and display of their wool clips for market.

More Work Than Last Year. The proposal means much more work than the work undertaken last year, when two wool classifiers in the employ of the stock branch visited the western provinces and gave practical instruction and advice to sheep growers upon wool growing.

To Set Up a Central Bureau. The branch will also provide the means for establishing a central bureau for the distribution of current literature respecting domestic and foreign markets for wool, so that the associations may be constantly in command of complete knowledge concerning the source of the demand and the ruling prices of all grades.

Be Inoculated With Deadly Diseases. Despatch, May 25.—Rabbits in the neighborhood of the laboratory of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in the suburbs of Toronto, have been infected with a deadly disease.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE

LIBERALS FOLLOW ENGLAND'S LEAD

Will Support Labor Nominee When Party Candidate is Not Running. The Liberal party is going to see that there will be no seats granted to government candidates by acclamation in the coming Ontario election.

The fact of there being a contest does not mean that a straight Liberal will be run in each riding, the party being engaged in a lively struggle in each case. In every riding the seat will be contested, and arrangements are now under way to ensure a lively struggle in each case.

Officers were elected as follows: Hon. president, J. D. Bennett, Beamsville; president, Lew Meyer, Campden; vice-president, M. J. Dillon, Fenwick; secretary, James Walker, Jr., Grimsby; treasurer, J. Teeter, South Grimsby.

The officers of the Lincoln County Association for Dominion purposes were present at the meeting and the formation of the organization. IS THERE TO BE AN ONTARIO ELECTION?

Most of those who ought to be in the know say there is to be an Ontario election. But those who read the signs outside of Ontario, especially the signs of the Ontario legislature, are convinced that it will happen very soon. Today may see the matter decided.

age to come from under cover. The fact remains that notwithstanding the intrigues and the nameless informants and correspondents to disrupt many organizations which aim to accomplish and are accomplishing their ends for the public and the profession, these bodies are doing more successful work than ever. Among these may be mentioned the Ontario Medical Association and the Ontario Sanitarium Association and the National Sanitarium Association.

with it. Among its 400 members there are doubtless differences of opinion as one might expect—differences which should be respected without the imputation of improper motives. Many, including myself, are not in favor of the policy of separation, and have been hoping that a satisfactory basis for agreement might be arrived at. This will undoubtedly be made more difficult by the lack of tact and common sense shown by the World's Informant. Neither the medical profession nor the public, however, are likely to take too seriously the views of anyone who has not the courage to disclose his identity.

Dr. Hamilton's View. "In reference to the article in yesterday morning's issue, 'The meeting of doctors likely a stormy one,' said Dr. H. J. Hamilton, past president of the Academy of Medicine, 'I am aware of the fact that correspondence with a nameless informant never accomplishes any good no matter how righteous one's cause is. It is always safe to assume that when a medical man does not disclose his identity he takes it for granted that he may be considered a reputable and representative member of the medical profession to whose statements credence should be granted. I have no quarrel with that opinion. I am quite sure that without his name appearing the substance of the article is more likely to be believed than if he had cour-

THIRD READING OF HOME RULE BILL

Measure is Now Law—Bonar Law Waived Final Argument. The cabinet, meaning Mr. Masterman, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, an appeal to the country evidently was not far off.

After a brief speech by Premier Asquith, in which he defended the government against the charge of ignoring the rights of the minority and redressing the balance of power between the parties by means of the parliament act, he explained that he was introducing an amending bill not because he thought that the Irish Home Rule measure was bad or imperfect, but because he was anxious for peace.

The vote was then taken and the announcement of the figures showing a majority of 77 for the bill brought out a great demonstration by the Nationalists and the Liberals. As one man they rose from their seats cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs.

The division was taken strictly on party lines. The followers of William O'Brien abstained from voting. Mr. O'Brien expressing the view that the premier's action was not straight dealing, either with England or Ireland.

Under the provisions of the parliament act the bill becomes law after this stage as it had already twice passed through all its stages in the house of commons in two separate sessions, and the veto of the house of lords therefore has no further effect.

Acclaimed Ipswich Victor. The house was proceeding with excitement from the moment the speaker took the chair. Members of the various parties indulged in loud outbursts of cheering when their respective champions entered the chamber, while at the same time mocking banter and abuse from the opposition benches.

Mr. Ganszoni, the Unionist who on Saturday defeated C. F. G. Masterman, champion of the Duchy of Lancaster, in the by-election at Ipswich, met with such an uproarious welcome by his introduction that he was obliged to escape from the limelight.

Speaker Applied Balm. The Right Hon. James Lowther, the speaker, took an early opportunity today of applying balm to the sores left by the violent incidents of Thursday last. He frankly admitted that he should not have used the expression he did when he asked Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, whether he approved of the disorderly demonstration by the Unionist members.

The speaker appealed to the premier to give the house some information regarding the bill to be introduced after the passage of the Irish home rule bill for the amendment of that measure so as to meet some of the objections of the people of Ulster.

Hopeful of Settlement. In response to the speaker's plea, Premier Asquith announced that the amending bill would give effect to any agreement which the government was still hopeful might be reached. He said that if at the time of the introduction of the Irish home rule bill to the house of lords, no such agreement had been reached, the amending bill would embody the substance of the proposals outlined by him on March 9 in the hope that after discussion an agreement might be secured.

On March 9, Premier Asquith told the house of commons that before the bill became operative a poll would be taken of the parliamentary electors of each county of Ulster to decide whether they approved of the bill. If the majority of the voters were in favor of the scheme, the county would automatically be excluded.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, rubbings, or useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine the best of both worlds, to reconstruct the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood, while preserving the health and vitality of the body. This is done by the use of Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims at literally soaking up the fattening elements of your food and passing them into the blood, where they are carried to every part of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transparent substance is taken place and you see how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Your druggist has it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the directions on every package.

Caution—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous depression and general stomach trouble it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

Founded, for public exasperation against the militants was never before so high. Their attacks on the King have done more to intensify it than their acts of incendiarism and vandalism, for the English are an intensely loyal people.

The language of the militants at the meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union this afternoon shows that the warning is little likely to be heeded, and except for the protection afforded them by the police, they would be unable to hold public meetings anywhere without the risk of being badly hurt.

Apparently all that is needed, in the opinion of some observers, for the suppression of the militants, is the withdrawal from them of police protection.

Art Treasures Guarded. It is certain that the closing of the public art galleries because of a renewal of suffragette outrages, has increased the resentment against them. The national gallery, the Tate gallery and other important art centres are now closed. At the British Museum women are admitted only by ticket, while in several of the big provincial cities the authorities have followed the example of London and closed galleries and museums.

Interesting Booklet Issued by Victor Fortier to Help Breeders and Buyers. There has been a great development of late years in the Canadian poultry industry. This development has been brought about by many factors, chief among which are the untiring and highly successful efforts of many breeders, experimental work carried on by the various poultry plants of the Dominion and provincial governments, and the agricultural colleges, the information given out by these institutions, the poultry exhibits, in which the people of Canada are now taking a great interest, and, last, but not least, the profits of the industry, little of which in the past, but now well recognized and appreciated.

TWO ACCIDENTS IN WARD SEVEN

Errand Boy and Little Girl Run Down by Automobiles

A DANGEROUS CROSSING

Traffic Congestion Worse at Junction of Dundas and Keele.

Traffic congestion at the crowded corner of Keele and Dundas streets was the cause of two accidents which occurred there. John Sanderson of 44 Ryding avenue, aged 11 years, the delivery boy at Powell's shoe store, was crossing the street in front of the store at Keele street about 5:10 p.m., when he was run into and knocked down by a motor car owned and driven by Charles Brown of 73 Hartcourt avenue. The boy was thrown some distance and sustained several severe bruises, in addition to an injured knee. Dr. Mason attended his injuries, and he was taken home.

A strange coincidence, the second accident, which occurred in the identical place about 7:40 the same evening, was to little nine-year-old Madeline Powell, the daughter of W. Powell, the proprietor of the shoe store at 2825 Dundas street, near the corner of Keele street. The little girl waited for some time for an opportunity to cross the crowded street, and stepped off the curb just as automobile No. 1681, owned by R. Homa Smith, and driven by Charles G. Reade of 340 Delaware avenue, was turning out to pass a vehicle which had hidden it from her view. The heavy car, the not-travelling fast, struck the child and knocked her heavily to the pavement, where she miraculously escaped being run over by another large motor car coming in the opposite direction. She was carried into her father's store, where it was found that she was severely injured and had several teeth knocked out. In addition to this, it is believed she is injured internally, but not seriously. The driver of the car was held in custody at the Keele Street Police Station until it was ascertained if her injuries would prove serious.

Charged With Theft.

Kasimiro Sailer, an Austrian laborer, employed at Gunn's, Limited, on St. Clair avenue, was arrested by P.C. McDermott (49) on Saturday afternoon, on charge of stealing several pounds of meat from the company's warehouse. It is claimed the man was detected in the act of surreptitiously removing the meat from the cold storage plant. He appears tomorrow morning.

NEWS OF EARLS COURT—PLANTING SHADE TREES

E.Y.M.F. Has Prosperous Year—Public Hall for Silverthorne District.

The E.Y.M.F. have just concluded a very prosperous year. The income was $1,200 and expenses $1,100, leaving a balance on hand carried forward to next session of $100.

All main streets in Earls Court are now being planted with shade trees, and a sprinkler has been installed in commission in the district, relieving the residents from the dust nuisance which was so much in evidence during the past few weeks.

Representatives of the ratepayers of Silverthorne district, including Frank McLaughlin, real estate agent, recently with a request for a special concession in the price of lot on corner of Silverthorne and Dupraves avenues. The site is intended for a public hall, in which to hold meetings, social, etc. The owner generously reduced the price to one-half the amount and promised a subscription of $25.

Looking For a Site.

General Leonard and architect waited the Fairbank district on Friday last with a view of locating a possible site for military purposes. Among properties inspected was the Miller lands, and so favorable were they impressed that a second visit was paid on Saturday.

HYDRO RADIAL WANTED BRAMPTON TO TORONTO

Resolution Passed by Council Asking Commission to Make Survey.

At the last meeting of the Brampton Council a resolution was passed that the council request the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission to make a survey and an estimate of the cost of a hydro-electric railway from Brampton to Toronto by the most direct route, and the same be done as early as possible.

The Willing Hearts Mission Band of Mount Pleasant Church was invited to social at the home of R. W. Boyts, 101 Centre road, on Tuesday evening. Rev. S. L. Gray of Rosemount will give an address.

There will be a concert in the Methodist Church on Thursday next, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The anniversary services in connection with the Union Presbyterian Church will be held on May 31, when Rev. Mr. Edmondson will conduct services at 7:30 p.m. The choir, assisted by Messrs. Green and Williams, soloists of Toronto, will render special music at both services.

Sir John S. Willison of Toronto will address the members of Brampton Lawn Social Club on the lawn of W. L. Wilkinson, lot 14, on June 17.

NEW ORPHANAGE FOR FORESTERS

Fine Building to Be Erected at Oakville This Summer.

Tenders for the erection of the new orphanage at Oakville, for the Independent Order of Foresters, have just been received, and are now under consideration.

The present orphanage, consisting of separate houses leased by the order, and not in the first place planned for the purpose, is considered inadequate and out of date, and the need of a modern institution led to the inception of the new scheme.

The present accommodation provides for some 60 inmates, while the new orphanage will house 100 and will be a very charming structure of the domestic phase of the Elizabethan period of architecture in England. It has been designed and will be carried out by George N. Moleworth, architect, of Toronto. The site is on the fruit farm, close to the Oakville River, in the possession of the order, and the building will be conveniently situated facing Bond street.

The new orphanage will be built of fire-resisting materials throughout, and every convenience has been incorporated in the design, which will give the orphans in charge of the order the utmost degree of comfort, and the superintendent, J. C. Morgan, in the discharge of his fatherly duties.

Large Gymnasium.

The basement accommodation includes a large gymnasium, and a swimming pool with a pool some 14 feet wide, and 44 feet long.

On the ground floor is a large play room, and a dining room provided with recessed bays, which will materially enhance the architectural effect. The remainder of the ground floor is devoted to the administrative department and the staff quarters.

The two upper floors provide dormitory accommodation, one wing being devoted to the boys, the other to the girls, and each wing will be entirely shut off from the main central hall by glass doors. Bathroom accommodation is provided in each wing on each of the two floors.

The cost of the building, it is estimated, will be about $60,000.

NORWAY CHURCH PLANS EXTENSIVE ADDITION

Growth of St. John's Parish Necessitates More Seating Accommodation.

Plans for enlarging the church, and for adding another storey to the parish house, have been arranged and announced by Rev. Bayne Reed of St. John's Church, Norway. Growth has been so steady in St. John's parish that it is practically impossible to find room for the present congregation. For some time, and the present accommodation will be practically doubled when the addition has been completed. By the plans which have been drawn up, there will be accommodation for 800 people. The growth in this locality has been steady, as evidenced by the fact that it has been necessary to establish branches in other parts of the city, until recently, when the vestry decided to enlarge the present edifice.

A slight modification of the plans is necessary, but the rector is hopeful that the work of enlargement will be begun within a few weeks at latest, and it is anticipated that it will be ready for occupation early in the fall. It is proposed to add another storey to the present parsonage, as the activities of the church have grown to such an extent that the present building has been found to be totally inadequate.

The Boy Scouts of St. John's Church struck camp on Saturday afternoon at Birchcliffe, where they are camping over the holiday. They are fifty in number, and are under the command of Scoutmaster H. Meakin. This is the first of their outings this season, and it is planned to make these excursions a weekly event of their summer activities.

VICTORIA DAY SPORTS HELD AT AGINCOURT

The residents of Agincourt celebrated Victoria Day yesterday by holding a sporting festival at the athletic grounds, and the large crowd present thoroughly enjoyed the keen competition in the many events decided. The football competition presented the most excitement, and a hard fought contest resulted in a victory for the Wexford team. The mile foot race proved interesting, the victor being J. Page, with W. Bard second. J. Page also won the quarter mile handicap. Putting the shot was won by George Little and W. H. Patterson second. As a result of winning the fourth competition, the Wexford team will get a free trip to Niagara Falls on June 24.

The school boys' football competition had to be cancelled as only one team put in an appearance.

The Boy Scouts of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, gave a very enjoyable exhibition of signalling, and Boy Scout work under the leadership of W. Oliphant, and their efforts were much appreciated by the onlookers.

Not the least interesting of an excellent program was the exhibition of Highland dances by J. Robinson, whose execution was very neat.

STOUFFVILLE

B. E. Beebe, a local blacksmith, was so badly injured when kicked by a horse on Saturday that he had to be carried home. He will be confined to the house for some time.

On Friday night the board of trade will discuss medical and dental inspection of schools.

RIVERDALE TORIES HOLD CONVENTION TONIGHT

A Conservative convention will be held this evening in the Oddfellows' Hall, Broadview avenue, to select a candidate for the new riding of Riverdale. Among those who will be present for nomination as candidates are: Dr. Steele, school trustee; Ald. Hiltz, ex-controller; Foster, C. Doughty, ex-Ald. Stewart and W. J. Sanderson. Much dissatisfaction is felt among the members of the Middlesex Conservatives, because the convention is being held in the Oddfellows' Hall, as they claim it is outside the riding, which extends from Woodbine avenue to Logan.

LONG BRANCH

The mixed foursome competition of yesterday at the Lakeview Golf and Country Club was won by Mrs. Simpson and Mr. Lang, the runners up being Miss Martell and Mr. Lee.

SHOOTING MATCH AT LONG BRANCH

Highlanders Beat Irish Rifle Club by Eighteen Points.

LIGHT CONDITIONS BAD

Queen's Own in Excellent Form—Perry and Dow Lead.

The rain of yesterday morning materially affected the attendance of riflemen at the range, but it was good nevertheless, and the ideal conditions which followed the rain brought quite a number out for the afternoon. There was a slight drift of wind from the southeast, more steady than variable, and requiring only some two degrees left windage at the 1000 yards range, and that the scoring generally was somewhat disappointing may be attributed to the varying lighting conditions which prevailed.

The ten-men match between the Irish Rifle Club and the 48th Highlanders resulted in a win for the Highlanders by the slight margin of 18 points. The contestants seemed to labor under a greater degree of excitement than had they been shooting in the governor-general's match at the D.R.A., to judge from the scoring, which was as follows:

48th Highlanders—Pte. Emalle, 96; Lt. Corp. T. Young, 94; S. Sgt. Hawkins, 94; Piper MacLeod, 94; Pte. Lennox, 91; Pte. Storer, 91; Pte. Campbell, 90; Pte. Griffin, 90; Pte. Riddell, 87; Pte. Sawyc, 85. Total, 912.

Irish Rifle Club—Pte. Doherty, 95; Major Elliott, 92; Lt. Neale, 90; Dean, 90; Hillie, 90; Hutchinson, 89; McDougall, 87; McBrien, 87; Eimo, 79. Total, 894.

Regimental Scores.

The regimental scores are as follows: Queen's Own—Pte. Perry, 101; Sgt. Dow, 101; Pte. Weir, 98; Sgt. Major Crighton, 98; Pte. Rowe, 97; Pte. Brooks, 97; Pte. Joffries, 96; Sgt. Trenwith, 95; Col. Sgt. Bullock (of the Bliley team), 95; Sgt. Taylor, 95; Sgt. Eddis, 93; Pte. Murray, 93; Pte. Roselatch, 94; Bugler Riley, 94; Bugler Williams, 94; Pte. Sharpe, 94; Pte. Doherty, 94; Corp. Taylor, 94; Pte. Jeffery, 93; Pte. Barker, 93; Sgt. Matthews, 93; Sgt. Morris, 92; Pte. Richardson, 91; Pte. Scheurer, 91; Pte. Hartman, 90; Pte. H. Richardson, 90.

48th Highlanders—Pte. Brownlie, 100; Pte. Graham, 98; Sgt. Collins, 98; Corp. Crobbie, 97; Lt. Corp. Smith, 97; Pte. MacKenzie, 97; Pte. Hall, 97; Pte. Emalle, 96; Lt. Corp. T. Young, 94; S. Sgt. Hawkins (of the Bliley team), 94; Pte. Morrison, 94; Sgt. Barker, 93; Sgt. Phillips, 93; Pte. May, 93; Col. Sgt. Hermitage, 92; Pte. Lennox, 91; Pte. Storer, 91; Sgt. Page, 91; Pte. Campbell, 90; Pte. Griffin, 90; Sgt. Brechin, 90.

Prizes Presented.

Deputy Reeve F. Miller and Councilor W. Graham presented the prizes at the conclusion of the program. A concert and dance completed the day's enjoyment.

A very satisfactory feature of the day was the number of applications for membership, about forty new members being enrolled.

The sports committee desire to thank those who donated prizes, and in other ways helped to the success of the field day.

Special Meeting.

The building committee of the new Fairbank Presbyterian Church will hold a meeting on Thursday evening, Mr. Davidson of the home mission board will occupy the chair. Immediate afterwards a congregational meeting will be held, when Mr. Craig, architect, will submit plans of the building for approval.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

The rain of yesterday morning materially affected the attendance of riflemen at the range, but it was good nevertheless, and the ideal conditions which followed the rain brought quite a number out for the afternoon. There was a slight drift of wind from the southeast, more steady than variable, and requiring only some two degrees left windage at the 1000 yards range, and that the scoring generally was somewhat disappointing may be attributed to the varying lighting conditions which prevailed.

Safety First

CARS are safe in emergencies as well as under the ordinary conditions of road travel.

Jackson brakes are big and powerful enough to lock the wheels instantly. The motor control is so instantly responsive, so perfectly flexible that no contingency is likely to arise from which a Jackson driver can not quickly and safely escape.

Even in a position of danger, where the driver might get "stalled" and stall his motor, the electric cranking system is immediately at hand, and ready to take up its duty and carry car and occupants out of danger.

Dependability is something you don't find in specifications and you can't see it by looking at the car, but Jackson owners have found it for eleven years.

It is this dependability in the Jackson that gives you years of extra service. It's that little extra quality, that little added margin of strength which we demand in every piece of material, that greater knowledge that comes of eleven years experience in automobile building that puts the permanence in Jackson cars.

Jackson owners who have driven their cars thousands of miles; who have come safely through many an emergency that has tested the mechanism in every fibre, know the dependability is there.

CAR SERVICE THIS FALL ON E. QUEEN STREET

Residents of East Toronto who were formerly served by the stub line on Queen street are now assured of a satisfactory car service as the result of the plans for the extension of the King street line being passed by the board of works. The cost of laying the railway for the half-mile between McLean ave. and the eastern limits of the city will be approximately $43,240, and the cost will be borne by the city. Residents have been complaining for many months of the imperfect service rendered by the stub line, and have been continually clamoring for the extension of the King car line which has just been granted. The track will be laid on a 15-inch foundation, thus making the roadbed as solid as the rest of the line. According to Commissioner Harris work will be started almost immediately on the extension so that the city car service will be enjoyed by the residents east of McLean avenue before the close of the present year.

EAST YORK RATEPAYERS AND ROAD IMPROVEMENT

At a largely attended meeting of the East York Ratepayers' Association, presided over by Thorold Duncan, Geo. S. Henry, M.L.A., reported progress of improvements in connection with the highways commission, which included the completion of the Don road into the city.

A committee was appointed to wait on the township council in regard to the roads on the east side of the township.

Tenders for farm and lots received separately up to July 11th, 1914. Highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Apply to CHAS. W. SMITH, Executor, Box 595, Whitby, Ont.

FARM FOR SALE BY TENDER

FARM of 77 acres, more or less, situated on Comeston 4, Lot 25, Whitby Township, 3 miles north of Whitby Town, 1 1/2 miles from C.N.R., 2 1/2 miles from G.P.R. and new Radial line, and 3 miles from G.T.R.

Farm is well suited for mixed farming, dairying or market gardening—abundance of small fruits, splendid orchard, about 50 excellent Spy trees, about 7 acres good timber, never-failing stream, good frame house, excellent hard and soft water, bank barn and other buildings. Rural mail and telephone lines pass the property. An ideal location for club wishing to establish a trout stream or country home, or for an enterprising farmer.

Also two lots in Town of Whitby—one on Byron St. North, other on Euclid St. North.

MEANS TO PREVENT EGG DETERIORATION

Suggestion Made by Agricultural Experts to Sell Eggs in Good Condition.

Eggs which have been fertilized constitute the greatest proportion of the inferior stock which, when examined, proves unfit for food. It is not necessary that these shall have remained for a time under a broody hen, a temperature of seventy degrees being, in itself, sufficient to cause the germ to commence to grow. If the heat is constant the development of the chick will continue, but if it ceases or is intermittent, preformation at once sets in and the egg becomes bad. On the other hand infertile eggs which are free from the active germ cell, do not, under ordinary conditions, deteriorate seriously, says a bulletin issued by W. A. Brown and W. H. Hare, of the Ottawa Department of Agriculture.

Few farmers seem to realize these facts, and consequently very few make any effort to insure infertility. The impression prevails among many that the presence of the male bird in the flock is essential to the production of a maximum number of eggs. This assumption has been proven, time and time again, to be absolutely without foundation.

Farmers and others selling eggs for market are recommended to kill off or dispose of the male birds after the breeding season. As a result of their

Problems That Are Not New

WHAT is called the darkness of living in England is mainly an affair of necessity, but of foolish custom, it is being thought impetively by all classes in England about the condition of a day laborer, that the things they consume should either be of the same quality with those used by much richer people, or at least should be as nearly as possible undistinguishable from them in outward appearance.

MONEY IN DEMAND

RATES ARE EASIER

London Market Develops More Cheerful Tendency

Americans Quiet.

London, May 25.—Money was in fair demand today. Discount rates were easy on the prospect of the Bank of England getting most of the new gold to be offered in the market tomorrow.

FELL THOUSAND FEET TO DEATH IN LAKE ERIE

Tragic Fate of Aeronaut at Cleveland — Bride Witnessed Accident.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 25.—William Warner, an aeronaut, fell 1000 feet into Lake Erie yesterday afternoon and was drowned. He gave an exhibition at Avon Beach Park, west of here. His bride was in the crowd that saw him fall. The wind carried the balloon over the lake. When about a mile out and 1000 feet in the air, Warner undertook to descend in his parachute, but the parachute failed to work.

INQUEST ADJOURNED ON RUNNING-BOARD VICTIM.

Coroner Graham opened an inquest at the morgue at 9 o'clock yesterday morning on the body of Arthur Duckworth, who was killed on Sunday by falling off the running-board of a Dundas street car at the corner of Roxton road and Arthur street. After viewing the body the inquest was adjourned till the 29th.
