FUTURE ACTION OF ROUMANIANS STILL IN DOUBT

Intervention on Side of Russia Would Clear Up Balkan Situation. CABINET IN COUNCIL Both Russia and Austria Mass Large Forces on Borders.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—News from Serbia is so scant tonight that the position of the Serbian forces cannot be determined with any great approach to accuracy. It is thought possible that the Serbians will make a stand on the historic plain of Kosovo, east of the Montenegro frontier, where over 500 years ago they lost their independence to Turkey.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Greater hopefulness is felt tonight that Greece will accede to the allies' demands, and that the thick veil of secrecy drawn over the whole situation offers a wide field for surmise. The main reason for optimism lies in reports of audience given by King Constantine and Greek ministers to Denis Cochins, French minister without portfolio, and street demonstrations in his favor were indicative of anti-German sentiment.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—It became known today that in order to insure friendly relations between Japan and China conversations had exchanges had been proceeding in Peking and the formal entrance of China on an equal footing with Japan into the alliance that includes Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Japan and Serbia.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—"Take Jonsescu, former Roumanian minister of the interior, has announced," says a despatch to The Times, from Bucharest, dated Wednesday last, "that he would speak at Jassy on Sunday on the diplomatic origin of the treaty between Roumania and Austria-Hungary, which has still to be decided by a measure on the part of Austria almost of the same nature as that of Serbia in 1914."

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The future action of Roumania in the Balkan theatre is causing some anxiety in London, shared by persons acquainted with near eastern affairs. The Germans have been offering Russian assistance to Roumania, while the Russians intimate that she occupy part of Bukovina and Transylvania in Hungary. It is stated here that the king and court party favors Germany, while the bulk of the people favor Russia.

The race feeling of the Balkan peoples is rising into a kind of outbreak, it may be of a mighty revolution, and a realization of race aspirations against the pretensions of royal masters, who are considered adventurers at best. These peoples may go after the "German lairdies" of modern times, who have planted "kall yairdies" in the east, and whose presence, even under the Kaiser's patronage, is regarded as a menace to their hopes and arms.

SOLDIERS' CLUB FORMALLY OPENED

Quarters Supplied by Sportsmen of City Scene of Notable Event.

ADVICE TO TROOPS

Col. Logie Tells Men to Make Good Use of But Not Abuse Privileges.

The formal opening of the Soldiers' Club, Richmond street west, which was recently started by the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association, took place last night, and among those who participated were Hon. W. H. Hearst, Mayor Church, R. H. Greer, K.C., president of the association, Colonel Logie, Hon. Thomas Crawford, M. L. A., Controller Thompson, Major Le Grand Reed, Aldermen Ryding and Ramsden and J. E. Atkinson. In placing the club at the disposal of the soldiers, Mr. Greer said the idea of a club, to which every man in uniform would be welcome first occurred to P. J. Mulcahey, another member of the association. In referring to the difficulties of raising evening concerts and other entertainments, owing to the men having to be back at camp at such an early hour, he said: "Perhaps now that Colonel Logie has been provided with the club, which has been provided for his soldiers, perhaps, and this is a secret between you and me, he may in the largeness of his heart, see fit to extend the hours."

Colonel Logie's Advice. Colonel Logie, in a short speech, expressed his pleasure at the magnificent gift the sportsmen had made. Speaking to the club, he said: "Remember that the sportsmen are contributing up $600 a month out of their own pockets to run this club. Take advantage of their generosity but don't abuse it."

Premier Hearst spoke briefly on the opportunity the club afforded and in this connection he declared that Canada could not do too much for the men who were willing to sacrifice their lives for the safety of those at home.

E. Atkinson congratulated Mr. Greer and those associated with him on their persistence in the work. "If the voluntary system of enlistment had been maintained, referring to the recent talk of conscription, "who would be against the system that will furnish the men who are required to win this war?"

Hon. Thos. Crawford, M.L.A. and Mayor Church also spoke. Following the speeches, an excellent concert was given by some of the members of the Soldiers' Club.

TRY TRENCH WARFARE

Troops Will Start Practice of Operations Under Modern Conditions Next Week.

The 97th Battalion, C.E.F., to be organized in this city as the American unit, will be formed by Major A. R. Clark, a former American citizen, but will be under command of Lieut-Col. R. H. Labatt of Hamilton and formerly of the 4th Battalion, C.E.F. Arrangements are being made to transfer Americans already in organized overseas battalions to the 97th. It is expected that this battalion will be up to strength about the first of the year. The Divisional Army Service Corps has received a request from headquarters that the names of officers who are willing to serve with troops billeted this winter in different towns throughout the country or go overseas if wanted, be forwarded.

For a Friday, recruiting at the Toronto Depot yesterday was a little above the average; 67 men were accepted for active service.

The 48th Highlanders' weekly drill night has ceased for an indefinite period.

Returning Tomorrow. The city authorities are making arrangements to enable the relatives of the 180 odd soldiers who are returning on Sunday to meet them at the Central Y.M.C.A., College street, instead of at the Union Station. The time which the train will arrive is not known, but when the soldiers arrive they will be immediately conveyed to the Y.M.C.A. for breakfast and will then have a couple of hours at their disposal. Only immediate relatives are to be admitted at the Y.M.C.A. J. A. Page of Brockville, A. J. Boddy of 21 Sherbourne street, Toronto, and R. T. Griffin of 111 Rainsford rd., have graduated from the Curtis Aviation School and will leave for England shortly. Page and Boddy are in the naval branch and Griffin in the military.

Major-General Lessard, inspecting officer for the eastern district and Lieutenant-Colonel Siskford, inspected yesterday morning, at Stanley Barracks, a draft of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. Arrangements had been made to start the School of Musketry at Long Branch yesterday with a company of the 27th Battalion, but the orders were cancelled on account of the torrential rain. The country there is low-lying and flat and under the prevailing conditions, it would have been impossible for the men to have done any shooting.

It is expected that a start will be made on Monday with trench operations. These will be carried out at the foot of Strachan avenue, on the other side of the second bridge. From front to rear, the trenches extend for some 350 yards and represent a section cut out of a long front. There are new machine gun pits of a new type in the traverses and there will be an observation post for the officers, together with periscopes for the men. Alarm posts are fitted up; flares are in readiness and if possible, wire entanglements will be erected or placed in the proper positions. Bayonet charges, bombing and other features of actual warfare will be taught the troops, who will work under the most modern service conditions.

To Camp Next Week. Lieut-Col. R. K. Barker, O.C., of the 96th Battalion, is scheduled to go into barracks at the Exhibition Camp about the middle of next week. The newly formed battalion has been holding lengthy route marches thru the streets every day for want of training facilities and arms, but the unit will be completely equipped with rifles and other accessories almost immediately after it occupies the winter quarters, which will be the process building. Shortly after the men reach the camp they will be inducted.

After being in camp at the Exhibition all summer, the Mechanical Transport Training Depot has been transferred to Ottawa. All of the large and small trucks and automobiles have been shipped to Ottawa. These transports took part in the march from Ottawa to this city at Exhibition time, and were used in the march from Niagara to Toronto.

LARGE LOSSES RESULT THROUGH LAPSED POLICIES

B. N. W. Grigg, B.A., Says It Including Sixty-Three Per Cent. of Insurance Business.

"The Problem of Lapsed, Surrendered and Not-taken Policies," was the subject of a paper given by B. N. W. Grigg, B.A., before the members of the Insurance Institute of Toronto, at its regular monthly luncheon held in the board of trade rooms last evening. Mr. Grigg said that the money value of life policies in force in the United States and Canada was less than $1000 for each family of five persons. He declared that an insurance company has two duties to perform; one had to do with the insurance they already have, and the other to conserve the money value of the policies. Out of every $100 life insurance written in 1914 has vanished on account of lapses, or in other words 63 per cent. of the effort to get new business was getting new business, the leak should be stopped. Replacing business lost by lapses means a loss of one million dollars each year to Canadian companies, this loss falling ultimately on the policyholder. He argued against over-insurance as the logical result of some lapses, and urged that the neglect of policyholders who allowed their policies to lapse made progress unprofitable.

In his inaugural address as president, Geo. B. Woods spoke at some length regarding the taxation imposed on insurance companies. He declared that the taxes levied by Ontario were an injustice, as they fell not only on the companies, but had to be paid by the policyholders at large.

How To Wave Hair To Appear Naturally Curly

You won't need to resort to the painful process of waving your hair with iron. This will impart a delightful wavy character to the hair, instead of making it brittle and dead-looking as the hot iron does. In the morning, instead of your tresses being stiff and contrary, you will find them quite easy to do up in any form, and there will be no unpleasant odor, grease or stickiness about the hair. I would suggest that you ask your druggist for the liquid salinizer which you can pour a little into a saucer when required.—Emmy Coulson in Hygienic Review.

WOMEN IN CHURCHES BURNED BY BULGARIANS

Serbian Refugees at Saloniki Tell Tales of Terrible Atrocities. PARIS, Nov. 18.—Atrocities by the Bulgarians so horrible as to make the Balkan campaign of 1913 seem merciful are described by Serbian refugees who are pouring into Saloniki today. The invaders are butchering their Serbian prisoners with the utmost refinement of torture, despoiling them of their property, and burning their houses and children in the neighborhood of Nish in churches, where they had taken refuge, thinking the holiness of the shrines would protect them from the Bulgarians. Instead the torch was applied. Those who rushed to the churches for refuge were killed. The churches perished in the flames.

Season's Crop and Live Stock of Job Clapp Destroyed Near Zion's Hill. Special to The Toronto World. BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 18.—Fire of an unknown origin destroyed the large barn of Job Clapp, with the season's crop, at Zion's Hill, Thurston Township, early this morning. Fifteen head of cattle and three horses were killed and occupied by Mrs. Charlotte Lloyd, a widow, and it was burned to the ground. Robert Reed's residence adjacent was damaged to some extent, with small insurance. Mrs. Lloyd's loss is partially covered by insurance. The total loss is estimated at $6000.

CARRANZA RENEWS PROTEST TO BRITAIN

Claim Again Made of Violation of Neutrality of Mexico. WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Carranza Government has protested to Great Britain against the recent forcible search of the American steamer Zealandia at Progreso as a violation of Mexican neutrality. The captain of the ship contends he was within Mexican territorial waters, while the British naval authorities insist that a careful measurement has established that the ship was a quarter of a mile outside, and, therefore, on the high seas.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 65, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

The judge finds they were criminally negligent in operating cars with running boards, thru which conductors met with their death. No sentence will be imposed on the company yet, however, as since the prosecution was commenced an interim order has been made by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, relieving the company from responsibility for the operation of cars with running boards attached. He therefore reserved sentence until the general sessions in May.

What Do You Know About the Lessons Your Child Faces?

By WINIFRED BLACK

Winifred Black

A FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD boy tried to commit suicide in Chicago the other day because he couldn't get his arithmetic lesson.

He took muriatic acid, but they found him in time and saved his life.

I do hope somebody will go to work and teach that boy that two and two make four, and that being mad about it or discouraged over it won't alter the fact, nor the least little shaving of a fraction. That's all he needs—the first absolutely correct, unalterable sense of the value of figures. When he has once made up his mind to that he'll find that it's a relief to put his feet on solid ground—somewhere. One history may tell him that Henry the Eighth was a great and good King. The other may inform him that that gentleman was a wicked old reprobate, who ought to have had his own head chopped off at least six separate and distinct times.

Geography may change by the day, capitals may move from one country to the other over night, rivers may run dry, mountains may shake down in an earthquake.

The brand new teacher may teach you to spell t-h-r-u and call it thru, when you've almost gone crazy remembering to spell it through.

The new way to read is not the way of the old method—it is no longer the fashion to begin your essay with a classic quotation—and nobody speaks pieces in school any more—they dance fancy steps and show the teacher how. But arithmetic is as the law of the Medes and Persians, it changes not and is not changed.

A Puzzling Example.

Two and two make four in every language under the sun, and three and three are six whether you're in high school or in the infant class, in love or out of it, in the war zone or far removed. And so far and to that extent arithmetic is a great and lasting comfort.

But—if that poor boy in Chicago was trying to understand that arithmetic as taught in the sixth grade of the city where I happen to be living just now, it's little I blame him for wanting to die.

A little girl I know came to me with her arithmetic the other day. Her eyes were red and when she tried to tell me what an awful time she was having her voice broke and she couldn't speak.

"What's it all about?" said I. "Just a few stubborn figures—that's easy! I wish there was nothing else in the world to worry me. Come on, we'll work the puzzles out together, and get the best of them."

The little girl's eyes brightened and she laughed aloud and clapped her hands.

"Oh!" she said, "won't it be fun to know what the teacher's talking about when she sends me to the board!"

Then she brought me her problems—six of them—that was all—and I worked for two hours and three-quarters, and by no possible scheme and in no possible way could I even come anywhere near to solving a single one of those problems! And the little girl is just 13 years old and she is unusually bright for one of her age.

I'm going to school to that teacher and get those problems into my head—if I can.

But I wonder who ever bought 1,825,242 and 67-84 acres of land, that cost $33 dollars and 2-49 an acre and then sold them again at an advance of $234,271 and 89-91 dollars, and went and put the money in the bank, and found, when he got home, that the cashier had made a mistake of 231 and 2-6 dollars in the deposit check?

Now, I ask you, who ever did such a thing as that and who added the thing up for them when they did it?

The Perplexing Per Cent.

What in the world are these children supposed to learn at school, anyway? How do they get their brains into hard knots and then untie them and be pleasant about it, just to show that they can?

Arithmetic is the torture and torment of nine-tenths of the children who go to the public school.

If they came out of school knowing anything about it, that would be one thing; but do they?

Did you? I didn't.

It took me ten years of bank depositing to learn what per cent. really means, and any one can fool me on it now, if that'll only talk fast enough.

Where was my teacher when I was pretending to learn what 10 per cent. of a dollar was? Why did she never tell me that 10 per cent. of a dollar was just 10 cents out of every hundred cents? That would have meant something to me, and I would have had some vague, shadowy idea what she meant when she said "per cent."

As it was, I just thought she "done it a-purpose" for my confusion and dismay, and my one idea was to get through somehow, without crying while she was looking at me.

What's the idea of such a system of torment, that gets—nowhere? I went up to school the other day and arrived there just at arithmetic class—pardon me, I mean number work—and, if I am any judge of the expression of the human countenance, not one out of ten of the pupils in that class had even a faint suspicion what any single one of the problems they were trying to solve really meant or ever could possibly mean.

If my little boy came home discouraged about his arithmetic, I'd go up to school with him the next day and I'd insist that, somehow, somebody take the time and the trouble to teach him what all the trouble was about; and, when he got home, I'd give him a cookie or a big chunk of moist, hot gingerbread, and I'd tell him the world wouldn't come to an end even if he did fail to pass in that particular study at that particular time.

It seems to me that 14 years old is pretty young to begin to feel the tragedy of life.

Six times five are thirty. Seven times five are thirty-five. There—I know that I'm talking about, and so would your boy and mine, if he was taught in plain English and plain figures, right from the very beginning. Let's see that he is so taught, if we have anything to do with his education.

Revelations of a Wife

A Letter from Dicky's Mother and the Problem It Caused.

BAD news, Dicky!"

We were seated at the breakfast table, Dicky and I, the morning after our trip to Marvin, from which I had returned weary of body and sick of mind. Tactically we had avoided all discussion of Grace Draper, the beautiful girl Dicky had discovered there and engaged as a model for his drawings, promising to help her with her art studies. But because of my feelings toward Dicky's plans breakfast had been a formal affair.

Then had come a special delivery letter for Dicky. He had read it twice, and was turning back for a third perusal when my query made him raise his eyes.

"In a way, yes," he said slowly. Then after a pause, "read it." He held out the letter.

It was postmarked Detroit. The writing reminded me of my mother; it was the hand of a woman of the older generation.

"My darling son," it began.

"Edwin has just decided to go over to the other side to help in the relief work. The wealthy men who are sending a corps of physicians and nurses from here are insisting that he must head the expedition. Of course, Harriet will not let him go without her. You know what that means, Richard. My home here will be broken up. Elizabeth's home is impossible because of the children. I love them dearly. I enjoy them for a short visit, but with my heart and my nerves I cannot stand it to live there. Besides, you know William and I are not as congenial as we might be. So there is just you left, my boy. I have always said that a mother's place was with her daughters, that there was no room in the same house for a daughter-in-law and a mother-in-law, but I do not know what else to do. I could leave alone what little I have and what you send me, but I do not dare do it on account of my heart. And father died. The first thought that came to me was that Dicky's whims alone were hard enough to humor, but when I had both him and his mother to consider our home life would hardly be worth the living.

I knew and resented also the fact that his mother's choice for him had been made long ago, and that he had disappointed her by not marrying a friend of his sister.

I felt as if I were in a trap. To have to live and treat with daughterly deference a woman whom I knew so disliked me that she refused to attend her son's wedding was unthinkable.

On the other hand, I knew that there was no other way out of it. I could no more refuse to receive Dicky's mother than I could have deserted my own.

Phrases to Mask Feeling.

Of course I could not say so to Dicky, but secretly I thought her letter in bad taste. She might have considered my feelings enough to ask if she would be welcome instead of so calmly taking for granted that my home would be hers for the rest of her life. I said this to myself, then flushed with shame to think I had been so ungenerous even in thought to my husband's mother.

But the cutting little remark, "I have always said that there was no room in the same house for a daughter-in-law and a mother-in-law," rankled even after I had composed myself to speak calmly to Dicky concerning the letter.

I had no doubt which of us would be forced out of the house if there ever came a clash between us. I never could come between Dicky and his mother. I would not do it even if I could.

Mechanically I folded the letter, trying to frame phrases which would mask my real feelings. For the first time in

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Baby Nearly Always Sits Down When He Falls

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

WHY does a child, when first it tries to walk, have a tendency to sit down or fall backward? Is this a precaution of nature to save it from head bumps? Moreover, children precipitated from steps and vestibules, happily, fall less often on their heads than in a sitting posture.

The answer is twofold. The muscles in front of the infant's legs are weaker than those behind. Furthermore, the hips of the child are heavier than the head or knees.

These factors cause the youngster to sit plump down when it falls. It is a happy fact, when it happens, certainly far preferable to cracking its head or its knees.

What part of posture, position and control of your bones and joints you must learn, and how much is instinctive and "ready to wear," is a moot point with students.

The difference between an instinctive, inherited action and one learned, is this: The instinctive action is perfect and precise in its effort and purpose, at the drop of the hat. The one that is with difficulty learned, is haphazard and imperfect at the start.

Sucking, breathing, winking and smiling are instinctive in babies. When any one of these is not, it is due to some unusual or accidental deformity. Dancing, tennis, playing, swimming and piano playing, on the other hand, are acquired with arduous effort and are rarely ever perfect.

My friend, Prof. Edward L. Thorndike of Columbia University is firm for the doctrine that the upright posture and locomotion in man is an inherited instinct. I cannot agree with this notion. Indeed, the facts of learning, practice, and balance are against this view.

The upright posture, as well as walking on two legs, is for mankind a hazardous feat. It is an adventure upon the sea of life, acquired amidst trials and tribulations.

Nothing of the kind can be said of the infant's well-known proclivity in the first week of life to cling around its mother's arm or neck, or later on to crawl into a sitting posture with its hands or on "four legs."

Babies at week old—with less than 4 per cent. of exceptions—will hang on with their hands to the finger or a small stick, like monkeys on a trapeze, and they will easily support their own weight.

For nearly a minute—a sufficient long time you must admit.

Thus the human animal combines in its postural aptitudes the inherited instincts of a myriad of past ages; the trial and error attempts of learning; imprints plus the reason vouchsafed to its parents—sometimes sadly lacking—and its own unfolding reason.

E. L. Q.—Will you kindly suggest something for varicose veins?

A.—The only remedy is to have them stretched up. They can be relieved, however, by wearing an elastic stocking.

FRED. Q.—Will you kindly tell me what to do for a cold in the larynx?

A.—Eat crushed ice, keep the throat wrapped up in alcohol cloths, avoid draughts, and before retiring take a hot bath and hot lemonade; also use the alcohol cloth at night.

A Bride's Own Story Of Her Household Adventures

By ISOBEL BRANDS

How She Solved the Velvet-Cleaning Problem.

THIS morning I started out with the conscientious intention of holding a private rummage party among the contents of our dressers, chiffonier and similar storage places. It's perfectly amazing how odds and ends of wearing apparel will accumulate in drawers without one ever feeling that one has a great quantity of "dress accessories." All this worthy campaigning was decided upon after I had hunted vainly for a fresh piece of velvet for my hat, and it was doubly aggravating because although I have yards and yards of lovely velvet, not one single piece was fit to use.

It would have been foolishly wasteful to buy more velvet when I already have so much—none of it much worn, and not at all shabby—so instead of making the hat, I started on the "grand rummage," intent upon clearing some other corner of my wardrobe.

The velvet ribbons and pieces of velvet were easy. These need only be sprinkled with cornmeal, covers and permitted to stand for 24 hours; then the cornmeal is removed with a soft brush. If this isn't effective, the process must be repeated.

Then there were several velvet collars on coats that were spotted, and these had to be handled carefully. First I made a good lather of white soap—about two cupsful, to which I added one-half a teaspoonful of kerosene. This mixture I spread evenly over the collar, being careful that too much wasn't used at any spot, as this would wet the collar through and possibly spoil it. The suds I rubbed with a soft cloth, especially over the badly spotted places, and then wiped it off with a clean cloth dipped several times in clear water until every bit of suds was removed.

Then I steamed the collar by passing a hot iron on end and covering the inside of it with a damp cloth, standing the wrong side of the collar (not the velvet side) over the damp cloth. The steam which passes through the fabric as the cloth is slowly pulled over the collar softens the spots, and the nap of the velvet, so that it becomes lustrous and fresh as new.

My star job, however, was cleaning my old velvet skirt. I looked at it very dubiously, because although I've had one season of very good wear out of it, still it hasn't any worn spots, nor does it look shabby. It's too good to throw away, yet it was so spotted that it needed a very complete cleaning. The entire skirt was punctuated with spots, not only in two or three little places which I would, as a rule, clean with a little gasoline. And yet I couldn't see that spending about $2 to have that old skirt cleaned would be any economy.

So I decided to experiment—to make a grand attempt at cleaning the skirt myself—and win or lose completely I plunged the whole skirt up and down in lukewarm, sudsy water, then rinsed it in clear water a few times and hung it up dripping to dry.

Of course, velvet must never be wrung out, either by hand or through a wringer, as this would crush it and flatten the nap irreparably. But by brushing the nap smooth as the skirt dried, and then over-steam it with a hot iron, the skirt came out beautifully fresh-looking and clean.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl of about 16, and I am in love with a very nice young man about two years my senior. He is in love with me. He has told me so several times.

He does not like me to go out with other boys, and he says he thinks I have too many boy friends, but as I do not think that myself, I told him I would go out with other boys.

He is nice looking, very fair with blue eyes, and I am considered nice looking also.

Now, Miss Laurie, I would like you to advise me what to do.

AN AMERICAN BEAUTY.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am just 18, and am living at present with a maiden aunt who is very stern and exacting. Three months ago I became acquainted with a young man of splendid parentage. Last week he asked me to become his wife, but I have asked him to wait for a few years as I consider myself too young to marry.

I am under no obligations to my aunt, and to be plain, I really think she would be pleased to see me go. So the one thing that worries me is my age. My dear adviser, please tell me what to do. I know how to sew, cook, and could housekeep if needed.

A GIRL.

A GIRL: If he loves you with all his heart as he must love you to have asked you to become his wife, and if you love him as deeply and as truly, why should you not marry him even though you are 18? Although 18 is a little young to marry, as marriages go nowadays, nevertheless, the circumstances of your life are such that to you the solution of all your problems as well as the source of happiness ever-day of your life. So marry him, my dear, and may happiness attend you both through all your lives.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 20.

Hydro Power at Eugenia Falls

In the completion of the Eugenia Falls project the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has shown itself capable of carrying to success a work the dimensions of which not so many years ago were regarded as almost too great for the capacity of any but the largest and most experienced corporations. The fierce opposition which assailed the whole power proposal in the first place was based very largely on the view that a government commission was utterly incapable of making a success of such work.

We were told to begin with that the estimates were hopelessly low, and that the difficulties with labor would be insurmountable. The estimates were not only exceeded, but costs were kept considerably under in the actual expenditures, while labor has been well treated and given an improved position under public ownership, and it is only recently in Toronto that any complaint has been made. Those who are familiar with local conditions are aware that it is the labor men as a body who are responsible for the strike that has occurred, but that it has been fomented and urged on by outsiders who desired to embarrass the local electric commission.

The Eugenia Falls installation is therefore being inaugurated under the happiest auspices, and is a token and a guarantee that whatever may be necessary in the way of similar development in the future can be creditably done under public ownership as under any private concern. We have all known this all along in the experience of other countries, but it has been necessary to give Ontario people, or some of them, the opportunity of seeing with their own eyes, in order to convince them that there is no mistake. With the necessity of no large power development in the not far distant future facing the commission it is satisfactory to have the Eugenia Falls plant and construction standing as a warrant of the ability of the commission to do first-class work.

The work and equipment at the Falls represents an investment of $400,000, and the distribution system in connection with it another $475,000. This million dollars is not a debt, as some would have it, but a capital investment, as any corporation which owned such a plant would regard it. In thirty years the plant will have paid for itself, the capital investment will have been returned to the people, and they will have the advantage of getting their light and power from a plant which has cost them nothing, with the consequent advantages in reduced charges which this fact will furnish.

Much credit is due to Mr. F. A. Gaby, the chief engineer of the Hydro system, for the latest achievement of the Ontario commission.

Pay of Enlisted Civil Servants

Many people in Toronto and throughout the country no doubt are anxious to know whether the recent order-in-council respecting the pay of civil servants who have enlisted for overseas service is to be retroactive in its effect. When the war broke out the government by an order-in-council assured men in the service of the government that their pay would be continued during the war, notwithstanding the fact that they would also receive their regular pay and allowances from the militia department. It was, perhaps, on the part of the government, a somewhat improvident proposal, but once accepted by the men to whom it was extended, it became a bargain which could be enforced at law were the parties amenable to legal process.

Now, by an order-in-council a new rule and a different policy is established. No one who enlists in the future can claim anything under the former order-in-council. As to the order-in-council was in effect a different question arises. Will the government be justified in stopping the pay of civil servants upon the ground that the commitments of the government in that regard are found to be onerous?

As to the legal right of the government to do what it pleases there is no room for dispute, but there still remains the question of sentiment. Legally, the King can do no wrong, but, perhaps, for that very reason there is a general feeling that any engagement made by the crown should be faithfully observed. The government of the day has often refused to rue improvident bargains made by its predecessor upon the general ground that the honor of the crown was at stake. Hence, it is now argued that the government should not repudiate engagements made by its officers and men now at the front, even though considerable economy in the public expenditure could thereby be effected.

Perhaps some announcement of the subject may come in the near future from Ottawa. We see no reason to doubt the desire of the government to deal not only justly, but generously with the boys at the front.

Doing Well

So well has the federal reserve bank scheme worked in the United States, and so definitely has it come to be looked upon as a permanent institution that a few newspapers observed and commented upon the fact that the banks have just celebrated their first anniversary. They were formally opened for business on Nov. 17, 1914, since the law creating them was approved by the president on Dec. 23, 1913. Under the United States Federal Reserve Act, the banks were to be organized by Dec. 23, 1913, and they were to be organized by Dec. 23, 1913, and they were to be organized by Dec. 23, 1913.

Conditions have favored them so greatly that they now have in their vaults and in the hands of federal agents a store of gold aggregating $430,000,000. That is a sum four times larger than the "gold reserve" which for years the United States treasury considered adequate for all ordinary purposes of redemption so far as the paper currency of the country was concerned, including greenbacks, coin certificates, and national bank notes. The federal reserve banks are, therefore, in a position to get all the national currency they need for rediscounting paper offered by the commercial banks, including foreign acceptances and treasury bills issued by foreign countries.

Hence, the United States looks forward to an extensive foreign commerce even after the war, and business within the country will be permanently improved. The national bank of issue and rediscount has come in the United States to stay, and we will have it in Canada before a great while. Canada's mistake was in not accepting the proposal made by W. F. Maclean, M.P. for South York, in parliament a year before our neighbors to the south adopted their legislation establishing national banks of issue and rediscount. Canada should have led the way which the United States was bound to follow.

The Lonely Furrow

Lord Rosebery in the opinion of many will still be plowing a lonely furrow when he halts with horror the announcement that the United States intends greatly to strengthen her army and navy, especially the latter, so as to defend herself against all-comers and be prepared to take part in any war which the national honor may demand. The impotence of the United States from a military standpoint has had a great deal to do with prolonging the present war. Mr. Wilson could do nothing but write notes after the Lusitania outrage because he had no troops to send and no ships to carry them. For such the same reason he has been compelled to allow Mexico to become and remain an international outrage. Today British subjects are murdered and their property destroyed in Mexico because Britain is tied up in the great European war and American citizens and their property are treated in a similar manner because the United States has neither the military nor naval strength to conduct an aggressive war against a nation of 140,000,000 people.

Looking beyond the immediate future, however, Lord Rosebery may discern in the effort of the United States to emulate the militarism of Europe the forerunner of world-wide changes which will terminate in the disappearance of the small nation. Militarism tends to empire, but it is not possible to reconcile democracy with imperialism by invoking the principle of federation?

Except for the regal pretensions of the Fredericks and Constantines, a federation of states might be effected in southeastern Europe. The various countries composing the Austro-Hungarian Empire might join federated nations yet to be formed under other flags. The United States of South America is a dream that may yet be realized. Quite possibly the flags of the world may yet be reduced in number to six or at most a dozen.

The racial and even national characteristics do not disappear with the entrance of a country into a confederation or even a legislative union.

DEBATE AT MOSCOW

Germany Covets Lithuania, Baltic Provinces and Black Sea Coast.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 19, via London, 4.30 p.m.—The relations between Russia and Poland, which have been little discussed since the retirement from Warsaw, have been brought again to the field of debate by the Polish lawyer, Alexander R. Lednitsky, at Moscow. Several interesting expressions on the subject have been elicited by M. Lednitsky, notably one from the pen of Prince Eugene Troubetzkoy, who has just been elected a member of the Imperial council.

Prince Troubetzkoy declared that the interests of Russia and Poland are bound together, and that a Poland independent of Germany, politically free and possibly altogether independent, is essential to the independence of Russia. The seizure of Poland by Germany would be the first step in the dismemberment of Russia, said Prince Troubetzkoy, as Germany was covetous of Lithuania, the Baltic provinces and part of the Black Sea coast.

M. Lednitsky's purpose in initiating the discussion is thought by many to be to prevent consolidation of the opinion noted in some quarters that Russia had experienced only disillusionment in Poland and was uninterested in its further fate.

Winter Tourist Trips to Southern States

Are becoming more popular every year, largely owing to the increased transportation facilities and the luxurious equipment, making the journey to California, Florida and other resorts a pleasure instead of a hardship. With one change of car you can travel from almost any point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway to your destination in the Sunny South, where the flowers bloom and warm, balmy breezes blow. Meals served in dining cars make it unnecessary to leave the train en route. Round trip tickets are issued by the Grand Trunk Railway at very low fares, giving choice of all the best routes, via Chicago, Detroit or Buffalo. Fast trains are run daily from Toronto, etc., via Grand Trunk Railway, carrying electric-lighted Pullman sleeping cars, dining and parlor-lit cars, and first-class coaches, making connections with through trains for the South, etc.

WOULD CONFISCATE SWOLLEN FORTUNES

Oklahoma Senator Thinks Ten Million Dollars Enough for Heirs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A progressive inheritance tax as the best means of raising money to meet the increased expenditures necessitated by the administration's national defense program, was recommended today by Senator Owen of Oklahoma. He said he would introduce such a bill in congress. "I believe that $10,000,000 is all that a man should be allowed to leave to anyone," Owen said. "Under the senator's plan, fortunes inherited in excess of $10,000,000 would be confiscated by the government. He would also have a graduated tax on inheritances.

THE URGENCY OF ECONOMY

BY PROF. G. M. WRONG.

Editor World: Many exhortations to economy are being urged upon us and a good many people are puzzled as to what is wise economy in time of war. Two things are vital: the population, including the armies, must be fed and clothed; and if we are to win the war the equipment in fighting material of our armies must be kept at the highest possible point of efficiency. Nothing else is vital. If we lose the war, nothing that we have will possess any real value, for we shall be an enslaved people; if we win it, as we must, energies freed from the strife will be available to reconstruct our material fabric. We in Canada need to remember that we are not yet involved in the war in the full sense in which England is involved. While here women have not yet been mobilized to produce, for instance, munitions of war, in England this has been already done. A very large proportion of the production of munitions in England is almost normal, and the country is not yet involved in the war in the full sense in which England is involved. Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier tomorrow celebrates his seventy-fourth birthday. Activity of Austro-German Submarines Does Not Deter Shipping Companies.

New York, Nov. 19.—The Austro-German submarine campaign in the Mediterranean will make but little difference in sailings from New York to Italian ports and cause but slight rearrangement of schedules, steamship agents announced today. A statement to the effect that all sailings for Italian ports had been cancelled, attributed last night to Harfield, Solari and Company, agents of the Italian line, was denied by the firm today.

Montreal Concludes That Toronto Prefers Amateur Hockey to Pro.

The Montreal Evening News chides this city because it believes we prefer the amateur brand of hockey to what has been dished up here in the past and the pro. stuff that is promised by the N.H.A. It is of course natural for Montreal, the Canadian headquarters of the pro, to wish to whine when the existence of a favorite is threatened. We do not know anything about the sporting department of The Montreal News, but we are willing to wage a few kopecs to some rotten apples that you will find more N.H.A. rink beneficiaries in The Montreal News sporting department than you can find officials tink attaching or other appendages of the O.H.A. or any other hockey institution, amateur or professional, in the sporting department of this G.P.U.

Why ever know The Montreal News extended its sport dalliance with this city towards the N.H.A.? There is possibly another reason which besides knowledge of our own business, impels us to make the above reckless wagers. The following is the roster of The Montreal News of Toronto as a sporting town and supporter of real amateur hockey:

Toronto, claiming to be a sporting town, containing the two Toms, Flanagan and Church, doesn't know what is good for it in hockey, and the sooner the N.H.A. realizes this fact the better it will be for the N.H.A. and the sooner hockey is unwelcome in the Ontario capital, and by persisting in its attempts to lease two teams ahead in a town which can scarcely support one, and has no desire to support any, the league is making itself look foolish, which is all there is to that. If the N.H.A. desires or intends to make any progress in the way of being a major hockey organization, the very best thing it can do is to pass up Toronto as quickly as possible and extend its sphere of influence to New York and Boston, which at least have the merit of being sufficiently metropolitan to desire that there is no sport.

Toronto's relation to hockey is similar to Baltimore's relation to baseball, but for a different reason. The Maryland capital in the Johns town of the United States national pastime. It refused to support major league ball, when it had it, and it turned Jack Dunn back, but the chances are that by the time baseball peace is declared organized ball will at least have recognized Baltimore for what it is and will refuse to consider it in the inevitable readjustment. And just as soon as the N.H.A. puts itself in a position to get Toronto back where she belongs so far as professional hockey is concerned, the better for the N.H.A.

Toronto prefers its own particular and provincial amateur brand of hockey, and has proved this to be a fact every time since the Ontario capital was admitted to the N.H.A. As a matter of fact, Toronto doesn't get a dog's chance to demonstrate a preference for anything else, and will not so long as the O.H.A. maintains its golden grip on the various organs of public opinion, thru its sporting department of any Toronto newspaper you stub your nose against an O.H.A. official. Those who are not secretaries or treasurers or referees or goal judges, or sponge-holders or something from head to foot.

In these conditions it is not surprising that the professional organization which covers a wider area, and could not, if it would, give jobs to all the sporting writers who are resident in its territory, encounters nothing but opposition in the Quince City. If it were true that every knock is a boost, then the professional game would be supreme in Toronto, as it is elsewhere, but unfortunately that sentiment, however pretty it may look in a fumed oak frame on your den wall, works out on the reverse English in actual experience.

Note—After reading the above over a second time we make bold to state that Toronto the coming winter with its increased interest in the amateur game on account of the soldier hockey teams might select wisely if senior O.H.A. games were installed in the arena on Saturday night. It is hardly likely the Arena management would object. Let the N.H.A. hike to New York and Boston, which places, however, will have something to say for themselves about linking up with the home of the sphere of influence of The Montreal Evening News.

ST. MATTHEW'S LAWN BOWLING CLUB HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

BRIDGEN CUP GAMES ON SOCCER PROGRAM

What promises to be one of the finest struggles seen this season will be the game between Lancashire and Dunlop equal in points and this game will decide who will be champions of division 2. It is a remarkable coincidence that these same two teams had to play a deciding game last year to decide who should be champions of division 2. The result was a draw, and they were made joint champions. A great game should be at full strength. The men who enlisted in the early part of the season, with a few exceptions, are on hand. A visit to Eaton of good football, as when at their best (see they are now), these two teams will give us fine an exposition of soccer that will more than satisfy the most ardent supporter of the game.

Wychwood and Overseas drew last week and will endeavor to get a decision today at Dunlop's night and the following test was one of the tightest struggles of the year, and it should be a repetition today.

The champion Emerald Rugby Club of the Quebec Rugby Union's junior series will play today afternoon at St. Lambert in preparation for the match they expect for the Dominion championship, Nov. 27. However, it is hardly likely the winner of this morning's game will journey to Montreal.

Hamilton Spectator: Sammy Manson and the two McKeivays were handed over by Coach Walter Marriott to carry the A.A. in the sixty-minute class for the Canadian championship at Varsity Stadium, as was the case in every game last season except that against Ottawa last Saturday. However, there are grave doubts entertained that "Chicken" McKeivay will be able to face the starter, and that if he does and is subjected to any hard knocks he will soon have to respond to treatment. Norm Leitz will be ushered in the moment McKeivay will be in trouble. Another change will be made on the line, where big Art will replace Fred Vansickie. Otherwise the squad that went into the finals with six straight victories will be the same.

The Tigers will have plenty of reserves along and will be ready for any emergency. The T.R. & A. Players indulged in a heap of rough work when the game here Saturday was in the expect any rough stuff tomorrow, however, but it is a well-known fact that heads at times, but the Tigers are prepared for any style of game the Toronto team may present. One Hamilton man offered to bet that the Toronto team would win by 15 points, but that a football bet, as the Toronto held the Bengals to a small score in an exhibition game during the regular season opened, and may do so on Saturday.

The season in Ottawa will be wound up next Saturday in a game between the Ottawa team ready and anxious to play the Sportsman's Patriotic Association. The Ottawa team is ready and anxious to play. It has been given that a cracking good team. Eddie Gray is ready and anxious to play. Hamby Shore are willing to represent an all-star team which gives a "halfback line right off the bat. THREE RUGBY FINALS ON TODAY'S PROGRAM

Juniors at Stadium This Morning, Seniors in Afternoon—Intermediates at London.

The Rugby finals today are: Hamilton Tigers v. Toronto (Canadian), Varsity Stadium, 2:30 p.m.; Capitals (Toronto) v. Scarlat, at London (Ontario Intermediate); Woodstock College v. University of Toronto Schools (Ontario Junior), at Varsity Stadium, 10:30 a.m.

The Rugby season gets its official wind-up today, when Hamilton Tigers and Toronto Rugby Athletic Club contest the Dominion honors for the Grey Cup at Varsity Stadium at 2:30 p.m. A wet field is promised, and it is not to the liking of the local crew. They claim speed and the slippery going will not help them any. Tigers are great campaigners on any kind of field, and will enter the deciding game strong favorites, especially as they are donating their entire surplus to patriotic purposes and are coming later to play Argos for the Murphy benefit. It is Bickle against the great Sammy Manson. The Tiger back has been considered the premier honor as the best all-round half in the game, but Soldier Bickle has shown a lot in the two games he has played here this year, and Toronto has great hopes of him giving Manson a tidy argument this afternoon. If Bickle lives up to form and Toronto wings hold, as they can hold, the Tigers will find the back and white squad no mean opponents. Tigers are the more seasoned team. They have had plenty of opposition in the Big Four Union, while Toronto have only had Hamilton Rowing Club to try out their tricks on all season. The Tigers have a lot of trick formations that will take a lot of trick and they can be counted on to give Manson all the trouble that is possible. With Manson anywhere near his top form the Toronto backs will have their work cut out for them. Bickle and Zimmmerman are no mean booters, but Bickle is the only one that comes close to Manson as a center of the ball. Toronto's line should be able to hold the Tigers. They have had great things said about them, and the outside area is as good as any in the game. It resolves itself into the Toronto trying to offset the kicking and running of Manson and his mates on the back line. Teams: Toronto—Flying wing, MacLaren; halves, MacLaren, Zimmmerman, Bickle; quarter, Hobbs; scrumwags, Brown, Duncan, McCabe; inside wings, Woolnough, middle wings, Shivers, Clark; outside wings, Glassford, Clements.

The complete list of officials is as follows: Referee—Dixon, Hamilton; Umpire—Wm. Foulds, Toronto; Timers—Dr. A. B. Wright, Toronto; Ernie Laidlaw, Toronto; Penalty times—Dr. John McCullum, Toronto; Head linesman—W. Coryell, Toronto; Yardsticks—Bob Isbister, Hamilton; Red Deteriorator, Toronto; Douchaine Judges—Dr. Crawford, Toronto; Bob Glass, Hamilton; Goal judges—Gordon Rankin, Jack O'Connor.

That the people of Swanes are proud of their soccer team was evidenced by the large attendance at their first annual soccer and dance. President McCormack, in outlining the record of the club for the past season, said that it was the most successful the club had ever had. They played 17 games, won 17, lost 7, drawn 12, and had not been beaten at home since 1913. Truly a record to be proud of, considering their ranks had been depleted thru some of the boys answering the call of the empire.

President G. T. and D. presided at the social, supported by Vice-president McPherson and Finmore, and Secretary Spencer of the T. and D., and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Robison, and Messer, Burt, Daley, Waddington and Dabner, all helping officiated as accompanist. Dancing was indulged in till the "three, smoo" hour.

Sarnia and the Capitals of Toronto battle today at London for the Inter-cities O.C.P. title, and from the records of the two teams this season the indications are that it will be a hard, close contest. The Tunnell boys have coached by Jack Newton, former Varsity half and Argos coach, and according to all accounts, play superior Rugby. The Caps are confident will win, and they have plenty of reserves for all positions. Either Carrick or Karn will play quarter.

Heather Hall, in Agincourt, was the scene Thursday night of a representative gathering of residents of Scarborough Township, when nearly 100 farmers, accompanied by their women folk, met to champion to "Tommy" Shadlock, resident of the village, together with a number of Scarborough, Markham and York juniors, who have won fame at home and abroad. Three tables, running the entire length of the big banqueting hall, were inadequate to accommodate the throng, and following the banquet provided by the ladies of Scarborough, the festivities were continued until an early hour.

The toast list, a lengthy one, was proposed and responded to by many of the leading agriculturists and business men of the township, and seated to the right and left of the director of ceremonies, W. H. Paterson, were G. S. Henry, M.L.A.; J. Lockie, Mayor; Reeve J. G. Cornell, and Deputies Orlington, Little and Stew, and Councillor Stewart. Rev. Anthony Itham Milliken, Rev. Hugh K. Clarke, William Doherty, W. A. Paterson, A. J. H. Eckardt, Andrew Hood, W. G. Rennie and scores of others equally prominent.

The magnificent silver cup, the gift of A. J. H. Eckardt, and won by Mr. Shadlock at Guelph, was formally presented.

Other plowmen who were present and shared in the honors of the evening were Stanley Baird, A. E. Kenyon, R. Loveless, H. Ormerod, W. L. Clarke and Charles Young of Markham Township.

H. R. C. HOCKEY TEAM DEFEAT THE BATTERY

Opening Game on Artificial Ice Was Hard Fought and Closely Contested.

HAMILTON, Nov. 19.—The 1915 hockey season was ushered in here tonight, when an exhibition match was staged between the 40th Hamilton Sportsmen's Battery and Hamilton Rowing Club. The game was hard fought and closely contested throughout, and resulted in a victory for Hamilton by a score of 6-3. The season was officially opened by Mayor Walkers, who expressed regret that the 40th Battery was not stationed in Hamilton during the winter. He also announced that this was the first hockey game to be staged on the continent this fall. A large crowd was present.

Although the soldiers went into the game without practice, they showed great form and promise to develop into a grand hockey aggregation, and should just about clean up the season.

Hamilton, on the other hand, could not get going, and lacked team play, despite the fact that they had been in training for over a week.

McLaughlin's splendid work in the nets prevented a much larger score being run up on the soldiers, as he stopped shot after shot that was rained at him. Jupp and Lavigne put up a splendid game for the soldiers, while Reese, Parker, Boyd and Reid starred for Hamilton.

Both started off in whirlwind fashion, and for some time neither could get going, any attempted combination plays being broken up by fast and hard checking. Finally the batterymen took a spurt and carried the puck down the ice, and during a scramble the rubber was shoved into the nets for the first score of the game, giving the soldiers a one-point lead. A few seconds later Jupp sent the puck into the nets on a nice side shot. This put some life into the game, as the locals spurted in an effort to even matters up, but with no avail, and the score at the end of the first period was 2-0 in the batterymen's favor.

Fast combination featured the start of the second period and after two minutes' play Boyd shot in Hamilton's first goal. In a few minutes Reese carried the puck right down the ice and passed to Parker, who scored the tying goal. The soldiers commenced firing and good combination by Parker and Etherington resulted in another point for Hamilton, which gave them a one-point lead at the close of the second period.

Hamilton's good condition showed in the final period and after a couple of minutes' play Boyd netted another, after carrying the rubber thru the entire visiting team. A minute later Reese scored another and after some nice team play Smythe scored. Boyd took a pass from Reid a little later and scored a clean goal. Boyd netted another, which was not counted, as he was off-side. The soldiers made a desperate effort to even up the score, with the result that the fans were treated to some fast and exciting hockey for several minutes, but their efforts were in vain, and the game ended 6 to 3 in Hamilton's favor.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN MAY NOT GO WEST

Pressure of Business and Approach of Session Given as Reasons.

By a Staff Reporter.
OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—It is understood that there is some doubt as to the prime minister's proposed western trip. While he has not entirely abandoned hope of accepting the numerous invitations to speak in the west, which he has received, he has up to the present been prevented by pressure of business connected principally with the war, and the time is not long till the coming session of parliament, for which, of course, preparation must be made.

Sir Robert, it is understood, will go west next month if he is able to leave the capital, but this as yet is uncertain.

PRESTON WILL HAVE FIVE HOCKEY TEAMS

Three for O. H. A. and Two for Northern League—Cleveland is Worried.

Manager Harry Shannon of the Cleveland Hockey Club feels very keenly the decision of the Ontario Hockey Association to allow the Cleveland club to play in Cleveland this coming winter. The O.H.A. has never been known to take action against any one club or person for wrong doing before first getting the true facts of the case. Mr. Shannon is sure in his case the O.H.A. is about to err.

The Cleveland manager feels that the O.H.A. is setting after the Cleveland club because of the fact that two or three players from this side of the line have been working in the Cleveland area because of the fact that rumors have been circulated about the players that have been approached by him to go to Cleveland. Shannon claims that he never asked a player to play in Cleveland, either last year or this year and that it would be impossible for him to do so on account of the strict alien labor law. He claims that Goalkeeper Odmark last year, Shannon's assistant manager, was turned back by the authorities at Detroit. Shannon managed to steal into the States at another point, and the Cleveland Hockey Club being in need of a goaltender, Odmark was played after he had turned out to practice and made a good impression.

In the case of Turner, the sensational goaler of the Riverside team of Toronto, Shannon claims that he was working in Cleveland for some time last summer before he was aware that he was in the O.H.A. territory. He did not find out he immediately went after him for his team. Mr. Shannon intends to attend the O.H.A. meeting and explain his side of the case, and hopes to have the ban lifted.

A Preston despatch says: The hockey fans of Preston are to be treated to two teams playing in the Northern League, senior and junior. These will be two teams playing in the Northern League, senior and junior. These will be two teams playing in the Northern League, senior and junior. These will be two teams playing in the Northern League, senior and junior.

A Montreal despatch says: A despatch from Portland, Oregon, to The Star says: Portland and Seattle club-owners think they have found a loophole in the United States alien labor law to beat any action that the N.E.A. might institute to keep Canadian players from jumping to the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Manager T. H. Savage of the Portland team stated last night that he had no intention of employing any Canadian players under contract, but that he had invited them to come to Portland and try out, asserting that they would be employed if they met good Canadian players under contract.

Manager Pete Muldoon of the Seattle club, who will get practically all of the Portland players under contract, is known to have the men under contract, and that would be a violation of the alien labor law.

United States Immigration Inspector Hoy Barbour stated that, while the law would forbid the Seattle contracts, it would also prohibit the Portland recruits coming in, because an implied contract was in evidence, the law is very broad on this subject.

However, Barbour asserted that the Pacific Coast League could make a fight for entrance of the players in one or two exceptions in the alien labor law. A special ruling given by the act and artists may come into the country, but says nothing of professional athletes, such as hockey players. If hockey players are classed with actors and artists, then the N.H.A. has no cause for complaint. The exception that the Coast League could probably make its fight on, said Barbour, would be that skilled labor may be imported if labor of the kind unemployed cannot be found in this country, unless there are some disgruntled professional hockey players who are citizens of the United States to make a protest.

Captain Eddie Carman of the Portland team has received several telegrams from Toronto asking him to name his terms, with transportation both ways, but he says he will not accept.

When the Queen's University team in the O.H.A. senior series takes the ice this season, it will have Stinson, Purdie, Happee, Froll and Goddard of last season's team in line. There are enough very promising newcomers from whom to select to put a strong seven in the race for the senior trophy in the big league.

A Montreal despatch says: It is now practically decided that Goldie Progers, of the Montreal Canadiens, will play for the Canadiens. The Fighting Frenchmen are badly in need of defence players owing to their being a chance of Corbeau going west to play this winter. Manager Kennedy has been dealing with Quebec for the services of Goldie Progers, which means the big defence man will don another uniform this year.

Stinson is stated last night that he had not yet secured the signatures of any of his players, but will deal with them next week when notices will be sent out calling the first practice for the first week in December.

It is announced in Montreal that the Patriotes have made a new offer to Harry Cameron of Toronto of $1000 and expenses to the coast. George Kennedy announced that Vesna has signed up with him.

There will be two groups in the Saskatchewan Hockey League this winter, according to the announcement of President Van Valkenburg. The question of one or two groups was discussed at the recent annual meeting, but the final decision was left to the president. Consequently, Mr. Van Valkenburg has formed two groups, as follows:

Southern series—Moose Jaw, Sixty-Ninth Battalion (Regina), Victoria (Regina).

Northern series—Prince Albert, Varsity (Saskatoon), City (Saskatoon).

The schedule has not yet been drawn up, but it is likely that there will be a double schedule, with a play-off, home-and-home games, at the end of the season.

GREEK POSITION STILL BAFFLING

News is Scanty, But Optimism is Growing in London.

CONFLICTING REPORTS

Greece Said to Have Ordered Return of All Ships.

representatives of Britain, France, Russia and Italy.

The report from Berlin that a Graeco-Bulgarian agreement is only a matter of time has increased the anxiety already felt here.

Greece's Significant Move.
The Greek Government has ordered all Greek merchant vessels to leave French and Italian ports immediately, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen.

The above, if correct, would indicate that Greece expects coercive measures by the allies to compel a decision as regards entering the war. It has already been reported that the further loading of Greek ships in British and French ports had been forbidden.

Another Greek Detail.
The Greek legation at Paris issued a denial today of recent press despatches from Athens stating that a commission of German military officers had arrived in Greece, and was inspecting the camp at Salonika of the French and British troops, with the assistance of Greek authorities.

Cochin Saw Greek King.
"Dimitri Cochin, French cabinet minister without portfolio, was received at ten o'clock yesterday morning by King Constantine," says a despatch to the Havas Agency, Paris, from Athens. "The conversation lasted for an hour. Both on his way to visit the king and on his return Mr. Cochin was again the object of enthusiastic demonstrations by the public of Athens. Numerous delegations of various societies called upon him at his hotel to express their gratitude to the eminent advocate of the rights of Hellenism.

Mr. Cochin leaves today for Salonika on a torpedo boat placed at his disposal by the Greek Government.

In political circles here favorable to the entente powers, it is hoped that the French cabinet minister's visit will have a beneficial influence on the relations between Greece and the allies.

WOULD TAX MOTORS TO ROUND CORNERS

Ald. Cameron Suggests Plan to Relieve Congestion, But Loses.

WORKS COMMITTEE MET

Construction of Sewers on Queen Street Recommended Despite Opposition.

A scheme to tax motor car owners in Toronto and use the revenue to round corners, thus relieving congested traffic, was proposed at the meeting of the works committee yesterday by Ald. Cameron, supported by Ald. McBride. They stood alone on the matter, however, and lost on the vote. Controller Foster opposed the idea on the ground that a further tax would be an imposition. Many cars were used for business, and people should be helped instead of hindered. The principle, in his opinion, is wrong. Ald. Weir thought the proposition unfair, while Ald. Roden characterized it as unjust and ridiculous. Considerable discussion took place when Ald. McBride condemned the placing of stamp-vending machines anywhere and everywhere throughout the city. Facts were brought out during the discussion to show that since 1913 Commissioner Harris has been trying to exercise the city's authority and prohibit the practice. "I don't want them in the first place," he said, "and now that the stamp act is helpless. The company have the right to place them wherever they want to."

Ald. Ramadan suggested that the matter be taken up with the postal authorities. But the works committee passed between Postmaster Ross and Commissioner Harris with no good result. Harris was instructed to communicate with the postal authorities at Ottawa.

Submit Car Line Plans. Plans for the new streetcar line were submitted by Ald. Ramadan, who contended that if the reverse curve as shown on the map is not a committee a serious error would result. The curve in question is between the clear avenue and the street. The alderman maintained that it would be a source of danger, and recommended that the line be made straight.

This view did not meet the approval of the board after expenses were considered, and after the committee explained that the present curve is an automatic safety device on such a grade rather than a danger.

Ald. Cameron brought up a suggestion that it would be wise to stop the building of a garage on Meigind avenue, where the narrowness of the street that someday the strip may be required to bring the avenue to a uniform width. Commissioner Harris will take the matter up.

A. D. Waste, deputy superintendent of buildings, board of education, asked that permission be granted for the building of a retaining wall at the sidewalk in front of Ashdale Avenue school. He pointed out that it would benefit the scholars and allow of a more beautiful appearance.

Objection was raised by Ald. McBride, who held that to give such permission would be going against the principles already set down. The question was left to the works committee, which will inspect the case, and make a report.

On the ground that no petitions had been received from the residents affected, Controller Foster moved that Commissioner Harris' recommendation that a new sewer be laid on Queen street from Pape avenue to Leslie street, costing $42,500, be struck out.

Commissioner Harris explained that the work was absolutely necessary as the present sewer, built in 1884, was in a state of collapse, and that should such a thing occur, considerable flooding would be caused, and the work would have to be done at a much greater expense. He pointed out that the commissioner, and decided by a vote of four to seven, to send the recommendation to the council.

Ald. Dunn occupied the chair in the absence of Ald. David Spence.

ROSEDALE IN LINE.

The Rosedale Golf Club has decided to fall in line with the city clubs and refuse to sell liquor after 8 o'clock. This action was taken yesterday and the new ruling goes into effect immediately.

To People Who Are Under Normal Weight

Good Advice for Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women Who Want to Put on Flesh.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble health. They are unable to do their work, and their lives are a constant struggle. The cause is often a lack of proper nutrition. A few weeks' systematic use of Sargol strengthener by correcting the diet and by supplying nourishing fats to the blood. If not, every druggist who sells it is authorized to return the money. These prices, increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. All leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it. This new preparation has from recent, gives splendid results, a natural tonic and vitalizer. Its use is not recommended for nervous people unless they feel weak at least ten pounds they feel.

BIG BALANCE IS HELD BY RECRUITING LEAGUE

Treasurer Reports Over Forty Thousand Dollars on Deposit in the Bank.

Reporting at yesterday's noonday meeting of the Citizens' Recruiting League the treasurer stated that the league had $41,200 in the bank, exclusive of the provincial government's grant and some other small amounts yet to come in.

The use of Loew's Theatre on Sunday afternoons and evenings has been offered to the league for $50 a Sunday, and as $100 is now being paid for Massey Hall it was decided to send the matter on to the executive committee for action.

Ex-Alderman Austen, introduced by Hon. Thomas Crawford, asked the league for a grant of $1000 to assist in the fitting out of the old West End Y.M.C.A. building, corner of Queen street and Dovercourt road, as a Klubb Club, the Royal Templars of Temperance having offered the use of the building without charge if the league would provide furnishings. Mr. F. W. Brown objected to the grant being made, as he did not look upon the project as one that would aid recruiting, and the purpose for which the league was organized. It was finally decided to leave the request for the executive to deal with.

Commenting on the death of Pte. Howarth, Mayor Church declared that the treatment returned soldiers were getting at Quebec was not a credit to the government. "Nothing that the country can do for returned soldiers is too good," he said, "and now that the Germans are off the sea comfortable ships should be provided for the men."

He further declared that there was altogether too much red tape in the Toronto military district for the good of recruiting. He thought that the soldiers here should be allowed to do the same as in England and Australia, where they are not compelled to stand at attention all the time, and allowed to walk easy and cheer when parading thru the streets.

CITY HALL NOTES

There were 21 applications for building permits yesterday, the amount involved being $30,000.

A public school nurse recently discovered six cases of chickenpox out of 23 homes visited in one day.

Ald. S. M. Wickett has issued in pamphlet form his three open letters regarding the finances of the city.

City Architect Pearce yesterday issued a permit for the new Park School to be erected on Eglinton street, at a cost of $136,000.

A petition containing 78 names has been received by the commissioner of works asking that the name of Concut street be changed to Glenlake avenue.

In a communication to the works committee, board of education, asked that permission be granted for the building of a retaining wall at the sidewalk in front of Ashdale Avenue school. He pointed out that it would benefit the scholars and allow of a more beautiful appearance.

Objection was raised by Ald. McBride, who held that to give such permission would be going against the principles already set down. The question was left to the works committee, which will inspect the case, and make a report.

TEST BUILDING MATERIAL ADVISES CITY ARCHITECT

Wants Machine to Demonstrate Wisdom of Using Canadian Grown Timber.

City Architect Pearce has collected samples of the bricks made by all manufacturers in Toronto and the immediate vicinity. These have been tested and a complete record made of the qualities of each brick, so that when an accident occurs such as the falling of a wall or the collapsing of a chimney it will be an easy matter to determine as to whether the bricks used were of standard quality or not. A cement testing-machine has also been installed in the architect's department and in order to make the testing laboratory complete Mr. Pearce is recommending to the city council that a wood-testing machine be purchased at a cost of $500, and that the money be included in next year's estimates. With this machine the architect hopes to prove that Canadian woods are better than foreign woods, on account of the fact that they are grown in a harder climate.

HYDRO STRIKERS SEE COMMISSION

Chairman Ellis Says They Have No Further Proposals to Make.

WHAT MEN PROPOSE Put Their Demands in Writing and Are Promised Consideration.

The promised conference between the striking employees of the Toronto Hydro-Electric System and the commissioners took place yesterday morning, when the men made two proposals with a view to getting their difficulties settled. One was the acceptance of the majority award with a 5 per cent. increase on May 1, 1916, and a second increase of 5 per cent. of May 1, 1917. Later this was modified and the men offered to accept the 5 per cent. increase to go into effect in 1916, the same to remain in force until the expiration of the award at the end of 1917.

The men who waited on the commission as representatives of the electrical workers, were John Noble, H. Turner, W. Lucy, J. E. Curran and G. M. Buglasz.

The Chairman Ellis told the deputation that the commission had no further proposals to make, as they had already submitted a proposition which was an amendment to the minority award. Mayor Church was unsuccessful in his effort to bring about an agreement as the other members of the commission refused to alter their views.

Following the conference the men put their proposal in writing as follows:

- 1. The return of all men in their former positions, under the following conditions: a. A five per cent. increase in wages, starting May 1, 1916, for the last two years of the award.—Respectfully.
- 2. The majority award, subject to any slight modification, mutually agreed to.
- 3. A five per cent. increase in wages, starting May 1, 1916, for the last two years of the award.—Respectfully.

According to the men this is practically the old award with a five per cent. increase. Immediately upon receipt of the foregoing the commission, after some consideration at the earliest possible moment, but that in the meantime they thought it due to the present employees of the system that their positions should be assured to them so long as they perform their duties properly.

Commenting on the decision of the board of education to ask that the public libraries be opened during certain hours on Sunday for the benefit of the soldiers, Dr. G. H. Locke, chief librarian, stated yesterday that the board had evidently not informed itself as to what had been done.

A library has been opened at the Exhibition and General Hospital, as well as two thousand books sent to other military camps.

GERMAN NAVAL ATTACHE INVOLVED IN PLOTTING

Captain Boy-Ed Furnished Funds to Supply Commerce Raiders.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Evidence showing that Capt. Boy-Ed, German naval attaché, furnished funds with which to buy supplies for German commerce raiders may be introduced at the trial of Hamburg-American line officials next week. Federal authorities here said today, Assistant U. S. District Attorney Wood said he believed the defence will concede that Boy-Ed supplied the money, but will contend that he was entirely within his rights in so doing. Federal officials learned positively this afternoon that Franz Rintelen, mysterious German "mole" who figured in alleged passport frauds, is in prison in England. Rumors had reached here that Rintelen had been shot while attempting to escape from an internment camp.

The above ingredients, mixed in the proportions given, and applied to the scalp night and morning, will produce a thick growth of hair. It is written by Henry G. Malpas.

COX ESTATE VALUE GREATLY ADVANCED

Court Finds Province Should Collect Duties on Almost Five Millions.

OVERCROWDING CARS

Solicitor for Toronto Railway Says Appeal Will Not Be Taken to Privy Council.

The estate of the late Senator Cox has been advanced from the stated value of approximately $70,000 to $4,284,847.18, and the estate of his son, E. W. Cox, which was probated at $498,929.72, has been advanced to $1,586,232. This is the result of Mr. Justice Middleton's examination on behalf of the provincial treasury, which was concluded yesterday at Osgoode Hall.

Answering J. B. Cox, who represented the government, R. Sheil stated that as a result of his examination of the late senator's books he found that 1500 shares in the Provident Investment Company had been transferred to E. W. Cox, and 2100 to the late Senator Cox. The transfers were verified by the transfer register of the investment company.

Mr. Bain maintained that the 3000 shares were part of the estate, and as such were dutiable. He wished that the suggestion that half of the shares be assessed as part of the senator's estate and the remainder as part of the estate of E. W. Cox, could be acted upon.

Mr. Leighton McCarthy, K.C., who with E. T. Malone, K.C., appeared on behalf of the estate, held the view that the shares were not dutiable as it had been authoritatively stated they were gifts to the two sons from their father.

His lordship maintained that a compromise should be made in this connection as there was some conflict of the evidence.

No claim was entered against the $19,000 value of a Paterboro Barnard Home.

G. T. Clarkson valued the Provident shares at 290 a share and the Toronto Savings & Loan at $37 1-2 a share.

Government Valuation. Valuations of the late senator's holdings made by Charles Pearson and J. Brandon for the government, and Messrs. Fenton and Poucher for the estate, totaled $2,824,822.

Called by Mr. Bain, H. C. Cox stated that a number of shares in the name of his late father were not really his property. He said his father had no interest in 4624 shares of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, 800 in the name of his late father in the Canada Life, and a number of shares in the Imperial Life, Imperial Guarantee, Canada Loan and National Trust Co. They had been transferred to his father and his father did not receive the dividends.

Replying to questions, he said the shares were held for business concerns. The shares in the Massey-Harris Co., which stood in his name, were held in trust for the Central Canada Loan & Savings Co.

The inventory as prepared was testified to by the late senator's secretary, George F. Little, and his brother, A. H. Cox, who stated that it contained everything in the estate.

Writ Against Railway. Another writ was issued against the street railway by the city, yesterday. The corporation claims $14,000 for clearing snow off their tracks, allowance last winter. The other writ issued in the early part of the week was for the May percentage per box containing at least as security for an amount which they allege the city owes for track work.

The second appeal court has upheld the decision of Mr. Justice Sutherland in the case of Robinson v. The Central Canada Loan & Savings Co. The defendant in the action owned property in Windsor and entered into a contract with a building contractor for the erection of a garage. The contractor gave judgment against the plaintiff for $400 and costs.

Solve Overcrowding. According to a statement made by D. L. McCarthy, K.C., one of the solicitors for the Street Railway Company, no appeal will be made by them to the Privy Council. The decision of the first appellate division confirming the overcrowding conviction is in the opinion of Mr. Justice Osgoode Hall that the decision of the court will be used as a basis upon which the overcrowding question will be solved.

In the appeal of Mrs. Chane Wurm against the decision of the master in commerce raiders case, Mr. Justice Osgoode Hall gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff and set aside the decision to proceed for trial in the ordinary way.

Joseph G. Peterson claimed principal and interest on a mortgage on a Euclid avenue property amounting to $3,800.91, and the master gave judgment against Mrs. Wurm for this amount.

GOLD MINING BOOM UNDER WAY IN NORTHERN ONTARIO'S CAMPS

Ten New Fields Demanding Capital for Development—Claim Buyers Becoming Keen—Toronto Will Feel Activity Shortly.

"Toronto will see another gold boom shortly," prophesied one of Toronto's most far-sighted financiers a short time ago. "Perhaps you will misunderstand me and start thinking of 'boom' days," he hastily added. "No, it won't be anything like those booms. It will be one of intense mining property development, the like of which Northern Ontario has not seen before. The prospecting made by a Toronto man who has successfully guided the destinies of several large financial institutions, will come as a surprise to ninety-nine out of a hundred business men and the hundredth knows what is going on in Northern Ontario. In fact, the boom is on now, as a trip to Northern Ontario would prove to the skeptical.

There is more actual prospecting, more development up to the stage where capital relievers and prospectors can no longer be satisfied with the reason is simple. The prospector can no longer be satisfied with the big prices. He must show he has something worth delving into. The time seems when a prospector's claim could be sold merely for its close proximity to a well thought of property. Prospector generally have given up the idea of selling claims as "wildcats" and are choosing their workings more carefully and with less intention of proving them to have possibilities or abandoning them.

The attitude of mining companies and other purchasers of prospects has been revolutionized since the same lines. There was considerable buying of claims on location in Cobalt and Porcupine boom days. Now, however, the system proved profitable in a few instances, it has on the whole been unsatisfactory.

Prospectors Prove Claims. The change is well illustrated in the Munro district where all claim purchases made since the proving of the Leyson-Doble into the world's most spectacular gold mine were on the merits of the claims and with little allowed for what could not be seen.

One prospector, who was telling his tale of woe at Munro, remarked, "If I had an unproved claim next to the Leyson-Doble I couldn't sell it."

COBALT PREPARES FOR THE FUTURE

Extensive Underground Development Being Carried Out.

COBALT, Nov. 19.—Cobalt is preparing for a silver production when prices return to normal that will outstrip any previous records of the camp. The decreased bullion and ore shipments would indicate to the outside world that the town's greatness was waning. While some companies are shipping bullion to New York and other markets for storage, the majority are only producing "white metal" to cover operating expenses.

But there is no marking time in Cobalt. Although the mine in the district is paying more attention to putting underground workings in shape for increased production, silver prices warrant it, than ever before. Cross-cutting and drifting, that was common in the early days, is now being carried out. As a result, new veins have been found and old ones encountered in new workings, that mean a prolonged production. Some mining claims that in silver prices had remained at a high level, considerable of this underground development would never have been known. The silver market remains a puzzle. No one seems able to forecast the turn of the market, but higher prices are paid Cobalt will be in excellent shape to take full advantage of the upturn. The week's silver price Friday shows a gain of one-quarter of a cent a ounce.

LAST WEEK AT THE MINING CAMPS

At the Foster. It is expected that the main veins in the Lawson-Bobie vein system will be encountered within the next few days. The Foster is now being worked under lease by the Glen Lake Cobalt Mines. The week's silver price Friday shows a gain of one-quarter of a cent a ounce.

At the Munro. Mining was started last week by the Peterson Lake Mining Company. No. 2 shaft, now down considerably over 125 feet, will be continued to the bottom of the shaft.

At the Victoriaville. The Victoriaville vein system is now being worked. The week's silver price Friday shows a gain of one-quarter of a cent a ounce.
