OBITUARY

J. RONALD SPINNEY

Although expected for several days the sad death of J. Ronald Spinney of St. George came as a shock on Wednesday 24th, inst. He was a promising and industrious young man and his ambition was to make a mark in this world. Two years ago he went to St. Stephen high school where his health broke down. Since that time he has been slowly failing until the last when the end came quite suddenly. Dr. Taylor attended him and all that skill and means could do was done for his recovery. He was 18 years of age and the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Spinney, three brothers are left to mourn their loss. He was a member of the Episcopal church and was patient through his sufferings and passed away with the faith and hope that a true christian only can know. The floral tributes were beautiful being carnations and ferns from Dr. Taylor; cut flowers Mrs. Herb Knight; wreath, Mrs. Chas. Gillespie; cross, Miss Florence Hawkins and Mrs. Murray; cut flowers, Miss Mary Ritorian; cross and wreath, Miss Ida and Lucy Traylor; cut flowers, Mrs. Fred Cavley; flowers, Mrs. Mahan and Mrs. White; beautiful wreath of lilies and ferns, Mrs. Jas. Skeene; wreath, Mrs. Wm. Boyd. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. I. Lynds who attended him throughout his sickness. The pall bearers, Harry Trynor, Woodley Trynor, Joseph McCae, and George Spinney. The "Greetings" tenders its sincerest sympathy to the grief stricken family.

THOS. BOTHWICK

Another one of Pennfield's old residents passed away on Wednesday evening in the person of, Thomas Bothwick. The deceased was an old and respected resident and had been poor in health for some time and died at the advanced age of 78 years. He always made his home at Pennfield and was a worthy adherent to the Episcopal body. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and two daughters Mrs. Jessie Meating and Mrs. Thomas Justason of this town and four sons John of Utopia, George of Auburn, Me., Frank of Watertown, and Tom in United States. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Lynds conducted the services. Much sympathy is expressed on all sides for the sorrowing ones.

Successful day For St. Mark's On Wednesday

Cleared $325.20

Wednesday morning was cloudy but towards noon old King Sol shone kindly on St. Mark's church and the result was that the day proved to be fine. People began to gather from all parts and by one o'clock the grounds were well filled and the ball game was looked forward to with intense excitement. At 2.30 the Milltown team lined up against the Camp Utopia team and a close game was the result. The game was close throughout but the Utopia boys proved to be superior in all departments and the game and won an easy game by a score of 12-3. R. O'Neill made a satisfactory umpire. Following the ball game races were run and proved very interesting. Pettit of Camp Utopia won the 100 yd. dash. Supper was served on the grounds and a large number enjoyed the dainty refreshments provided by the ladies. In the evening a grand ball was held in Contts hall and about 150 were present. Excellent music was furnished by Watt's Orchestra and the light fantastic was tripped until one o'clock. The total amount cleared by the church was $325.20. The committee are to be congratulated on the great success of the day. They worked hard to make the day a success and were the right men in the right place. The committee wish through our columns to thank one and all who helped them in any way in their efforts to make the day a success.

Miss Cassie Malloch who is employed in Lubec, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Malloch for the past week. L. Price representing W. F. Hatheway St. John, called on the merchants here last week. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw of Woodstock, are guests of Mrs. Eliza Brown. Mrs. Hannah Nash, is visiting friends in Beaver Harbor. George Cline had the misfortune to break his wrist with the fly wheel of the engine in his fishing boat. The Camp Utopia boys are putting up a first class entertainment on Friday evening. The program will be in two parts, part 1 to be a musical comedy and part 2 takes the form of a play introduced by Mr. Dixon. The boys have put in a lot of time practicing for this entertainment and something good is in store for those attending. The proceeds are for the Baseball Association and with this in view a full house ought to greet the boys. Tickets are on sale at Franley Bros., J. Dewar & Sons and Clark's drug store. Don't fail to attend.

Murphy and family and Ralph Baldwin left on Monday for Norwalk, Conn., after spending a few weeks in town. Messrs Harrington, Mahoney (2), and Magowan returned to St. John in their auto on Sunday morning. Miss Jennie V. Dodds returned from a very pleasant visit in St. John on Saturday. Walter McIntyre who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Robert Dodds returned to St. John on Friday. Mrs. George Boone and daughter Reta of Calais, Me., were the guests last week of Mrs. George Mana. Joseph Clarke left last week on a trip to Montreal, in the interest of the Eastern Canning Co. Chas. Murray spent Sunday in St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giles spent Sunday at St. George, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinds. Miss Annie Austin has returned from Boston. Miss Carrie Cameron of Calais is visiting at the home of Mrs. Fred McVicar. Edward Tayte left yesterday for a trip to Boston. George McConnell of St. John was a business caller in town yesterday. Corey Green has resumed his position on the New Brunswick Southern railway after his recent illness. Miss Jean Kelman has resigned her position with D. Bassen, Chas. Fuller left on Monday on a business trip. Miss Beattie Johnson who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irish, returned to her home in Vanceboro, yesterday. Mr. George Melrose who has been visiting at the home of Capt. Johnson, leaves today for his home in St. John. A number of men who were employed in the pulp mill are working on the dam. The mill will be running in about two weeks. Miss Christine Fitzpatrick of Calais, is visiting at the home of Mrs. Frank Murphy.

LOCALS

Daniel Carran was arrested on Wednesday last and taken to St. Andrews jail. The schooner Mattie J. Alles was towed into port yesterday afternoon by the Dolphin for Norwalk, Lonn. And that was the team which beat Calais. Poor Calais if the Harrington-McGowan battery, mixed up with our local players, gets a chance. Contt's hall is fitted up with acetylene gas and the lights were very brilliant on Wednesday night. The work was done by Thos. McIntyre. It is reported that the Deer Island Baseball team will play the local team here on Friday. No definite arrangement have been made at the time of going to press. Watch for posters. Mr. Charles Cooke, Thidial entertainment singer will appear in Contt's hall on Friday, Sept 9th, under the auspices of the Red Granite Division, the proceeds to aid the Campbellton sufferers. Everybody go. It is for a good cause. The well machine is having a hard time to find water. Mr. Kennedy has bored several holes only to find solid rock a few feet deep. However the last trial proved easier going and progress is considerably faster. The high school boys played a game of ball last evening with the town boys and met defeat by a score of 11-7. Melrose, Johnson and P. Young were batteries for the losers and Hinds and H. Gilmor for the winners, Ross Mann umpired. The boys who played for Milltown in Saturday's game were obliged to remain over as the boat could not remain until the game was finished. Our boys had them put up at the Victoria Hotel and on Sunday morning H. H. McLean of Letete took them to St. Stephen in his motor boat. We regret to say that owing to their misconduct, Mr. Murray was obliged to eject them from his hotel. It seems too bad that Milltown should have the name of sending a bunch of rowdies to represent them on the diamond. A man aged forty entered a Vienna hospital this week and asked that an operation should be performed on his stomach, as he had swallowed forty 2 inch nails for a bet. He is in a serious condition. Whatever trouble Adam had, No man could make him sore. By saying, when he told a jest, "I've heard that joke before". Moir, the London murderer, who escaped from the Hami ton asylum, was recaptured near Niagara Falls on Sunday morning. The house work is not done until the store ads have been looked over.

The West is not Everything

M. T. Fraser, of the Morning Chronicle Staff, who is with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's party in his tour of the West, has following in a recent letter to the Chronicle:

"At Moose Jaw I met a Nova Scotian, and as he gazed sadly into the creek, called by courtesy a river, I said: 'Wouldn't you like to be back in little old Nova Scotia where there are the Ten Commandments, and if a man raises a thirst he is not scared to death to drink the water of the country; where it once crop falls there are half a dozen others; where it all the crops fall there are mines and the fisheries and the woods; where you can get a decent piece of cod-fish or a salt herring—' he interrupted me with a despairing wail.

"Don't talk of herring to me," said he. "I can stand being parted from the old folks and the old farm and the old barn and all other things I hold dear, there is a other championship or amusement in this country and I am resigned to it. But the fact that in all the country I can't get herring or for that matter, fish of any kind, convinces me that it will never be a white man's country."

He would have gone further, but I interrupted him by saying "And yet you live in it."

"Simply because I can make more here than I can back East—or think I can; but I have found out that that is not everything in life."

Russia Gripped By Dreaded Cholera

London, Aug. 28: One week's cholera record for Russia shows 23,944 new cases and 10,725 deaths, bringing the total number of cases in Russia up to 112,995. Of these 50,827 or nearly half have died, the exact percentage of mortality being 45.5.

These figures cover the week from August 7 to 13 inclusive, and are official. Reports from Red Cross sources indicate that the actual figures are somewhat greater.

The epidemic in St. Petersburg itself shows a considerable decrease, only 276 cases and 138 deaths having been reported for the six days ended on Thursday, in comparison to 577 cases and 233 deaths reported the previous week. The authorities believe that from now on the epidemic will continue its natural decrease.

The total figures for St. Petersburg since the first cases were reported June 20th, show 2,679 cases and 730 deaths. The mortality in the capital is 33 per cent less than in the southern provinces.

The cholera epidemic has already broken out in Southern Italy and is steadily increasing. The disease is a virulent type and the death rate is high. Greater danger is feared because of the flight of the people of the infected district, who may bear the germs of the disease to regions not yet invaded.

Rumors that the epidemic had spread to Rome is denied.

"Yes," said the somewhat severe lady, "my ancestors came over in the Mayflower."

"From what I have heard," replied Mrs. Camrox, accommodations on the Mayflower didn't compare with those of a modern liner; but of course the rates were lower."

Florence Nightingale

People who do not recollect the Crimean war—considerably over fifty years ago—can form no idea of the place occupied by Florence Nightingale in the hearts and feelings of the British people. When the fact became known that British soldiers, wounded or ill, were lying in a deplorable condition on Crimean fields while their French allies were being patiently and heroically cared for by the Sisters of Charity sent out by the French government, there was a state of feeling created which moved England more deeply than the war itself. The people insisted on changed conditions in the British camp. Florence Nightingale already had a reputation as a devoted nurse and as a worker for love of the service, for she had sufficient means to live without. The nation breathed freely when it was known that she would undertake the work of providing care for the soldiers. The task was a heavy one, the trials were many, but she persisted at it with energy; and with the knowledge which she has acquired in her training in a profession to which she had devoted her life, not only did Miss Nightingale do great things for the stricken soldiers on the battle field, but her work embraced much more than that. She had been, practically and almost entirely, the founder of the whole modern system of trained nurses and nursing. She saw that the country might need at any time, not alone in war, but in pestilence and in famine, capable nurses, and these she took steps to secure, while the people readily provided the money, and they trusted to her guidance. Monarchs have invested her with ranks, and orders and patents, but the people have conferred upon her the title of "The Angel of the Crimea." "The Lady of the Lamp," "The Mother of Nurses," and other equally appropriate designations descriptive of her work. Born May 12, 1820, Miss Nightingale has lived to see her work begin increase, enlarge, extend until it is blessed throughout the universe, and gives a humane tone and character to this age which no preceding age has equalled. Her death on Sunday, August 14th, certainly ends a remarkable life.—St. John Globe.

The Crippen Case

Miss LeNève is variously described as a trustful girl who was the victim of Dr. Crippen, and as an artful female who designedly prolonged his affections under the very eyes of his wife, and shared his guilt in the crime committed. All kinds of theories and suppositions will be published, pending the trial of the case in London. Of Dr. Crippen at Quebec, the Montreal Herald says: "Crippen's dark cell in which the ordinary wooden bench has been replaced by an iron cot, was brighter today. About it were several bunches of the flowers. These were sent to the alleged murderer by a woman. Books and magazines peered into the prisoner in such quantities that Crippen's cell looks like a circulating library." One would like to know by what mental process a woman could bring herself to the point of sending flowers to the cell of a man who appears to have been guilty of a most atrocious crime, of which his own wife was the victim. We seldom hear, says the St. John Times of flowers being strewn on the graves of those who have been murdered. By an extraordinary misplacement of sympathy they are sent to the murderer. There appears to be a good deal of insanity in this world that is not properly labelled.

Joker's Column

Maud: How stout Miss Waite is getting. Belle: Isn't she! She says she can't even skip in reading a dull novel.

Mrs. X: I'm going to an employment agency this afternoon? I have got to get a new masseur. Mrs. Q: Why don't you run your own car.

'What a poor man sees is a thrift economical wife.' 'That sounds like magazine advice. What a poor man really needs is a rich liberal wife.'

A negro came running down the lane as if the old boy were after him. 'What are you running for, Mose?' cried the colonel from the barn. 'I ain't a-runnin' for,' shouted back Mose. 'I see runnin' from.'

Wife: The landlord was here today and I gave him the rent and showed him the baby. Husband: Next time he comes around just show him the rent and give him the baby.

The Doctor: I've been having some trouble lately in the shape of toothache. The Professor: Merely to satisfy my curiosity would you mind telling me what a toothache is shaped like.

'James A. Patten has a fine house in Chicago,' said a New York broker. 'I dined with him there one night last month.'

After dinner I admired a superb statue in the drawing-room. 'Splendid statue, that!' I said 'What is it made of—bronze or copper?' 'I made it out of cotton,' said Mr. Patten.

'Notice that big homely woman with a big hat hanging to a strap?' 'Which one?' 'That one right in front of you, next to the two men sitting down and reading newspapers.'

'Yes, I see the woman, but her back is turned. How do you know she is homely?' 'The men are still reading their newspapers, and she's still hanging to a strap.'

Maudie is a woman of a very open nature. I notice that it is very hard to make her shut up.

Wilfred: Ma, I wish I was crossed-eyed. Mrs. Gumbasta: What makes you wish such a foolish thing my dear? Wilfred: Why, then I could stand on the sidewalk and watch a parade coming and going at the same time.

A conductor on a car had a good run of business on Sunday afternoon, but he had difficulty in keeping himself supplied with small change. Many persons who patronized his car handed him dollar bills in payment of their fares. 'Is that the smallest you have?' queried the conductor.

The woman looked at the conductor and then at the baby, and made this surprising remark: 'Yes, I have been married only twelve months.'

'Susannah,' asked the preacher, when it came her turn to answer the usual question in such cases, "do you take this man to be your wedded husband, for better or for worse..." 'Yes, as he is, parson," she interrupted! "Jee' as he is. He gets any better sh'll know de good Ladd's wine to take 'im; and if he gets any wasser, w'y, sh'll tend to 'im myself."

Cecil Rhodes And his Work

Nine and thirty years ago there stepped ashore at Capetown a big, loose-limbed young man, a stranger in the land, who for his health's sake had been sent out from England to farm in the purer, dryer air of South Africa. And while he gathered his first impressions of the Cape of Good Hope there played upon a farm in the far distant north a sturdy little lad, just eight years old.

The young stranger entered upon the race for gold, yet he was not as the other seekers after wealth. Though with them he was not one of them. He was a dreamer of strange dreams, he carried an empire in his mind. Slowly his visions took shape. And from the south he began to build, to push forward a great enterprise, scheming and fighting against the power in the north where another man also a dreamer of dreams, planned a similar empire. Victory fell to him of the south, and when the empire builder went to his long last rest he left a beautiful and historic house as a dwelling-place for the first leader of a United South Africa.

The house stands today on the shores of South Africa. And its first occupant will be the little lad who played upon a farm in the north, in the land which allied itself with the rival empire builder.

The house stands today on the shores of South Africa. And its first occupant will be the little lad who played upon a farm in the north, in the land which allied itself with the rival empire builder.

For the young man was Cecil Rhodes. The little boy was Louis Botha.

There is much that is romantic in the history of the British Empire, but nothing more romantic than this. One may be stirred by the thought without sentimentalizing over it. There is something in it so typically English—so impossible almost. It is at once a tribute to the big-mindedness of the British people and a testimony to the confidence inspired by the Dutch. The lad who grew up on an Orange Free State farm, and became a member of President Kruger's Legislature, and led the forces of the north against the might of the nation which came to support the work of the empire-builder and the dreamer of the south, is now prime minister of the Union of South Africa under the British flag, and is entitled to occupy the beautiful house Rhodes bequeathed to the land he loved so well.

Less than nine years ago he was defying our armies. Today he governs a dominion of our empire. Surely the English must be wiser—or inspired!

There is something thrilling, soul-stirring—and yet ironical and sardonic almost—in the working of fate in this land of the unexpected.

For, consider the history and associations of this house, Grooto Schuur. Far back in the story of South Africa it stood for everything Dutch, for everything anti-British.

Here the Dutch built grain stores, as the name Grooto Schuur (big granary) records to this hour. It was from the magazines at Grooto Schuur that Simon Van der Stel sent away the first consignment of grain ever exported from South Africa—the twenty-five muids despatched to India in 1684.

Dutch rule came to an end. The great empire faded away. British officials governed at the Cape of Good Hope. In the course of time there was built upon the site of the old Dutch granaries a house named the Priory, from which was obtained one of the finest views the world can reveal. "The most stately and the fairest cape we saw in the whole circumference of the world," declared Sir Francis Drake in 1580, when he doubled the Cape of Good Hope in the closing stages of his great voyage. From the Priory one viewed the choicest parts of this wonderful scene.

At last Rhodes, the dreamer, bought the estate, and changed the name back to the old one of Grooto Schuur, and built and remodelled and planned in his large way, until he had produced a place which seemed to breathe the spirit of all that was best in South Africa. Grooto Schuur was made typical of the union of the British and Dutch, and Rhodes filled it with the treasures of South Africa.

Up upon the old peak seat, high up on the hillside, looking out over the

Cape Flats and a portion of Table Bay, Rhodes sat and dreamed of his empire towards the north, and of the future when South Africa should be one:

As 'one land

From Lion's Head to Line

One wonders whether, when these gigantic thoughts crowded upon him, he ever pictured to himself the first occupant of Grooto Schuur who should also be prime minister of a United South Africa.

But, if Rhodes dreamed these dreams one doubts whether they ever revealed to him the figure of the little boy who worked on a farm in the distant north while Rhodes was spending his first day in South Africa. For Grooto Schuur had become the natural centre of the empire-builders of the south. From its cool walks went forth advice and instruction. Here orders were issued. Here vast plans were discussed. Here the great ones of the land talked far into the night, striving to secure a great and united South Africa—upon the lines they thought best. But Rhodes steps in the Matoppes. But his work lives. South Africa is united at last, and a prime minister has been chosen to reside in the residence he bequeathed to the new nation.

To Treat Women to Cigarettes in Theatre.

Chicago, Aug. 23: A new music hall with a woman's smoking room, in which all kinds of cigarettes will be provided to patrons free, is to be built on the site of the continental hotel at Madison street and Wabash avenue. William Morris is behind it.

The plan is to construct a building twenty stories high and costing $3,000,000. Part of the building will be given over to offices, but besides the theatre there will be a roof garden. Chairs will be used in the theatre instead of the regular stationary seats, and it is said not only will the fair patrons be supplied with cigarettes, but they will be able to buy light luncheon and liquid refreshments.

Canada is to Have New Issue of Stamps.

Ottawa, Aug. 25: During his coming visit to London, Eng., while enroute to South Africa, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will consult with the Imperial authorities in reference to the new issue of postage stamps which will be necessary as a result of the accession of King George V.

It is not likely that the new issue will be made until next summer, when a simultaneous issue will be made the whole Empire over.

Mr. Lemieux, has, it is understood, taken over with him some designs for the new Canadian stamps which will be personally submitted to the king for approval.

It is announced in London that notice

NATURE WILL CURE YOU Of Kidney Disease, Aided by Father Morrice's No. 7.

Kidney trouble is one of the most distressing ailments of mankind, and leads to backache and rheumatism. This is because of the importance of the work done by the kidneys—work which must proceed normally to insure good health. A very large proportion of civilized people have some form of kidney trouble, sometimes without knowing that their misdeeds is of that nature. Many obscure pains can often be traced to diseased kidneys.

These organs are the filters of the body. Their function is to strain out of the blood and eliminate through the bladder the worn out tissue and other impurities gathered by the blood in its course. When the kidneys become congested and sluggish, these impurities, including the irritating and poisonous uric acid, are not entirely removed from the blood. The result is that the uric acid is deposited in the joints and tissues, causing the agonies of rheumatism and frequently affecting the liver and other organs.

Father Morrice, the famous physician of Hartigue, N. B., after much research compounded a remedy which worked hand in hand with Nature. His doctrine, justified by thousands of cures, was that the need is not a patchwork relief, but a treatment that will enable the forces of Nature, working through the kidneys, to accomplish their intended work.

His famous prescription, No. 7, assists the kidneys to work vigorously and eliminate the harmful uric acid from the whole system. In the form of tablets, No. 7 is easy to take, and will effect cures where other remedies have failed. Do not trifle with kidney disease, but take No. 7 Tablets, the treatment that has proved so successful with other sufferers. 50c. a box, at your druggist's or from Father Morrice Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N. B.

A new Terror for the Forger

London, Aug. 19.—A new means of detecting forgery is promised by Dr. Lindsay Johnson, a London ophthalmic surgeon and author of many scientific works, who has just elaborated a new theory with regard to individuality in writing.

He maintains that in certain diseases a person's pulse beats are individual and that no one suffering from any such disease can control even for a brief space of time the frequency or peculiar irregularities of his heart's action as shown by a chart recording his pulsation. Such a chart is obtained for medical purposes by means of a sphygmograph, an instrument fitted to the patient's wrist and supplied with a needle which automatically records on a prepared sheet of paper the peculiar force and frequency of the pulsation.

Dr. Lindsay Johnson holds the opinion that the pen in the hand of a writer serves in a modified degree the same end as the sphygmograph and that in a person's hand writing one can see by projecting the letters, greatly magnified, on a screen the scarcely perceptible turns and quivers made in the lines by the spontaneous action of that person's peculiar pulsation.

To prove this the doctor carried out an experiment at Charing Cross Hospital. At his request a number of patients suffering from heart and kidney diseases wrote the Lord's Prayer in their ordinary handwriting. The different manuscripts were then taken and examined microscopically. By throwing them highly magnified, on a screen, the jerks, or involuntary motions due to the patient's peculiar pulsations were distinctly visible.

The handwriting of persons in normal health, says Dr. Lindsay Johnson, does not always show their pulse-beats. What one can say, however, is that when a document purporting to be written by a certain person contains traces of pulse-beats and the normal handwriting of that person does not show them, then clearly the document is a forgery.

Rings for Divorced Brides

The Germans have originated rings for divorced persons. For many generations they have followed the custom by which at marriage the bride gave her husband a ring as well as receiving one from him. If the husband dies the bride wears the ring she gave him on her ring finger to indicate that she is a widow.

The husband, in case of the death of his wife, usually wears her wedding ring on his little finger, next to the ring which his wife gave him. The Germans have developed this idea to fit the divorced couple.

There are several designs which jewelers in Berlin are displaying in their shop windows and are selling readily.

The divorcee's ring consists of a plain gold band, with a broad strip of platinum or silver set in, so that the ring shows a white stripe, indicating that the marriage has been annulled and the ring divided.

There is another design that is popular. It has two opposing half-moons and looks very much like the ordinary signet ring.

Such a ring, it is said, tells its own story at a glance and prevents conversations or questions that might prove embarrassing.

Mother Love.

The word's "A little child shall lead them" are true of all parents, whether at the bottom or at the summit of the scale of civilization. It is, after all, through the child that to the world has been revealed that high and splendid thing, maternal love. And even when the child is lacking, it is that very love, which is the birthright of every normal woman, expressed in countless ways and divers fashions, and that has been, and still is, the key-note of much that brightens and best in social life.

It has produced in the woman a spirit of patient endurance, of self-denial, and sympathy which have made her the great ethical and spiritual factor in the ascent of man. But if history teaches us one thing it is that the inward light must be kept burning brightly, for once woman neglects to cultivate those spiritual gifts which are peculiarly hers, then although the results may not always be immediately apparent, she is bound in the long run to lose her greatest power over the heart and mind of man. Raskin has said, the South's armor is never well set to the heart unless a woman's hand has traced it! and it is only when she braces it loosely that the Honor of Manhood fails!

The true "mother spirit" cannot rest with ministering only to her own; it is only content when it can spread its wings and help all those with whom it comes in contact. So it has been through out the ages, but it is impossible for this spirit to thrive and grow as it should, if it is never given adequate nourishment, and it is an imperative duty laid on the woman of today that her inner life should be sustained and fed by ethical and spiritual food just as much as her material wants are satisfied daily. How and in what manner, must be left to the discretion of each woman. If she fails to maintain these high standards it is inevitably reflected in all her surroundings for if a woman's standard is low then insensibly the man's standard, too, is lowered, and so the vicious circle extends.

Halley's Comet Again

There was disappointment enough over the performance of Halley's Comet which we all hoped we were done with for a couple of generations, without being told that it was a base impostor. Now Colonel Marsh had been known as an explorer in Africa for a dozen years, and the man whose description of Halley's for the French in 1835 resulted in extending French territory in Africa. Although Halley's Comet was calculated as having arrived this year but will arrive in the fall, becoming visible in the naked eye in September. In view of the partial failure of the spring comet to approach the spectacular effect formerly produced by Halley's comet there were some doubters even while the astronomers accepted it as the real thing. Certainly it arrived very nearly at the time Halley's comet was due, but there had been difference of opinion as to the exact date. After that comet had been observed sufficiently to calculate its course it was easy to determine when it would pass the sun and what its course while in sight would be, but that did not prove it to be the one expected. It is still possible that it was one of which there is no record. Colonel Marsh thinks the former calculations of the orbit of Halley's comet were somewhat in error, and that it was not due to be visible here last spring, but in the coming fall. Another comet is on the way. It was reported not long ago, and should be visible about the time Colonel Marsh thinks the Halley comet should arrive. Let us hope that it will comport itself like a comet and furnish us with a spectacle worth watching.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1910.

Farewell to Mr. Buchanan.

On Sunday morning Mr. Buchanan preached his farewell sermon to his church and congregation. In the evening the service was conducted by the W. M. A. S. and took the form of a concert and the following programme was carried out:—

Hymn—599
Scripture Reading—Mrs. Mann.
Prayer—Pastor.
Roll Call.
Duet—Misses O'Brien and Gillmor.
Chorus by Choir.
Reading—Mrs. S. Johnson.
Dialogue—The Mite Boxes Stories. Mission Band.
Solo—Miss Gillmor.
Reading—Mrs. Buchanan.
Dialogue—How the W. M. A. S. won the Young Ladies—V. W. M. A. S.
Selection—Choir.
Offering.
Presentation and address to Pastor.
Benediction.

Mr. Buchanan was greatly surprised by the presentation of a purse of $45 and address and replied in a very pleasing manner. During Mr. Buchanan's pastorate in St. George for three or more years he has been a faithful minister of the gospel, always mindful of the spiritual uplift of his people and ever seeking to advance the cause of righteousness. His preaching has been appreciated as has ever been shown by the large congregations who attended his services. In the departure of Mr. Buchanan the town loses a good citizen and one who was ever aggressive to the evils to which the town is subjected.

He left us on Monday for his home in Lynn, Mass. where he will spend a few days before taking up his work in Lebanon, Madison Co., N. Y. To Mr. Buchanan, wife and family we bid Good-bye, and may his future pastorate be a pleasant one.

The following is the address given Mr. Buchanan by his church:—

The thought of separation from friends, has always much of sadness connected with it, and the oft repeated words "Good Bye" are set in a minor key, out their true meaning, "God be with you," is strong and grand, and reminds us, that journeying with our out going friends is the one great and everlasting companion, to whom they need never say Good Bye. As our beloved pastor and his wife go from us to a new field, after several years of most harmonious and loving fellowship, our hearts are sore at the loss of good friends, and of a pastor whose heart has been with his people and his church, and we ask him to accept a small token of our affection and esteem, with the assurance that through all the years to come, we will hold his pastorate in loving memory, undimmed by any discord or cloud, except the fact that he goes out from among us too soon. We wish with all our hearts, for "him and his," a happy home, a good and successful pastorate, and the blessing of renewed health and strength in his new field, and hoping that the time may not be far distant, when we shall see his face again, we say "Good Bye" or "God be with you till we meet again."

On Sunday Aug 21, the U. B. church of Second Falls presented the pastor with the following farewell address accompanied by a purse:—
Dear Pastor: As in the Providence

of God the time draws near for our separation, we wish to express in a few words, our very high appreciation of your services among us. We realize at such a time as this how feeble our instrument language is to express all that we feel in our hearts, we regret very deeply those separations especially when harmony and christian love prevails as in the present case. You have been to us a faithful minister of Jesus Christ. You have visited us in our homes and shared in our pleasures and our joy has been increased by your presence and that of good wife Mrs. Buchanan you have also been with us in our sorrows. When sickness came and death followed God directed your steps at the important moment. Many things have taken place in your pastorate with us, long to be remembered. You have pointed us to the home beyond where our loved ones have gone, and encouraged us in the hope of a reunion where ties are never broken. From the pulpit your faithful ministrations in the word of eternal life, have had in them no uncertain sound. We who are members of the church have been edified and built up in the gospel through your presentation of the word, and sinners have been warned and urged to flee from the wrath to come. Those earnest appeals have not been in vain, for many of the unsaved have sought and found the Saviour under your ministry. So under all these favorable conditions, we find it hard to say farewell.

We wish you and your family all prosperity, and blessing in the new field, to which under providence you have been called. May the great shepherd and Bishop of Souls take care of you and yours, in days to come, and when we have finished our work below, may we all meet in that land where partings are no more.

The pastors care demands But what might fill an angels heart And filled a Saviour's hands.

Milltown Defeated

On Saturday the local team played the Milltown aggregation a fast game of baseball on the St. George diamond and were victorious by a score of 8 to 4.

Determined to put a winning team on the field Manager Frauley secured the services of Frank Harrington and Magowan and A. and F. Mahoney of the St. Peter's Club, St. John, as it was reported that the local team would be up against a bunch of Lowell players.

Thus the strongest team that St. George has yet put on the diamond faced the Milltown bunch and won an easy victory.

The boat being late the game was not called until 4.45 and when Empire Dixon called "Play Ball" the "Greetings" reporter saw a few things which we will endeavor to give in detail.

FIRST INNING.
Harrington found easy strikeouts in Foye and Farrell, and McIntosh died Ford to Gillmor. No runs.

For St. George, A. Mahoney went to first on Gillman's error, and by clever base running stole second and third. H. Gillmor popped to McIntosh. F. Mahoney walked. Ford hit safely to short right and A. Mahoney scored. F. Mahoney was caught at the plate. Ford stole second. Magowan was out. Gillman to McIntosh. One run.

Harrington singled to right and scored Gillmor and took second on the throw home. A. Mahoney hit to right scoring Harrington. A. Mahoney stole second. H. Gillmor fanned but was safe on Foye's error. H. Gillmor took second and Foye tried the short throw to short stop and made a wild throw and A. Mahoney scored. F. Mahoney hit to third and was safe on McIntosh's error. Ford hit safely scoring Gillmor. Magowan hit to left scoring F. Mahoney, and Ford was caught at the plate. Five runs.

SIXTH INNING.
Gillman fanned. Keith out Harrington to Gillmor Church fanned. No runs.

O'Neill was out Sharkey to McIntosh. Stuart was out Cronin to McIntosh. D. Gillmor fanned. No runs.

The Sanford barque Kingdom, which has been dodging the United States Customs authorities for the past month, has brought up on one of the Tusket islands, and it is intimated that the shipwrecked "Holy Ghosters" may establish a colony there. If there is any prospect of this the machinery of the deportation law should be got to work. We have no room in Nova Scotia for the Shiloh crowd.
