HARTLAND BRIDGE GOES WITH ICE

Town Suffers Greatest Disaster
New Bridge Was Just Completed

During the heaviest run of ice ever witnessed at this point two spans of the new bridge across the St. John at Hartland went out with the flood. This is the very worst disaster that has ever befallen the town and the monetary loss to the government, who built the bridge, is a trifle as compared to the loss to the business interests of the town and of the whole county. While the disaster occurred two days ago the extent of the calamity to town and county is not yet fully comprehended.

Probably 60 per cent of the trade of the town comes from farmers on the west side of the river. Those directly opposite are now 24 miles away from Hartland and 12 miles distant from markets and post office. Only a small proportion of the west side farmers had hauled home the fertilizer for the season's crop. Scores of them still have potatoes and hay to market and new machinery bought ready to haul home. Practically the whole of the varieties of Simonds and Wakefield are without telephone, mails and markets. The condition as it stands is intolerable. It cannot by any circumstance be allowed to continue.

The last spike in the new bridge was driven on Monday where the last floor plank was laid down. The new bridge was open for traffic and 20 loaded teams were seen on it at one time.

Six weeks ago The Observer was called pessimistic when it stated that the new Hartland bridge was in great danger when the big spring freshet started. This prophecy was not occult or visionary. It was a common-sense sizing up of the obvious. The river was frozen to the bottom and the ice was in some places 8 to 10 feet in thickness. There was a greater depth of snow than has been known in years. There had been no rain since November and it seemed very plain that a day was coming when the elements would synchronise in one grand smash. Such was the case; and no one was to blame. It is doubtful if the strongest pier that could have been built could have withstood the erosion of the millions of tons of green ice that for three hours was driven upon them by a current moving 15 miles an hour.

Rain began falling Monday evening and continued throughout the night. The river, already high, rose rapidly and by 9.30 the ice started. It jammed a short distance below town and for a time destruction by back water threatened. The water rose six feet in less than 10 minutes and there was a great scurry to rescue horses, pigs, cows and fowls. Goods stored in basements of some of the stores were badly damaged. The condition continued for a short time only. It was when the jam broke and the ice and back water rushed forward like a mill-race that the havoc to the bridge commenced.

It is expected that a steam ferry will be put in operation at the earliest possible moment and that as soon as the freshet recedes a temporary structure will be built to accommodate the traffic.

The office staff of Hatfield & Scott Co. Ltd. completed their series of winter parties on Saturday night when at the home of Miss L. M. Reid, a turkey dinner was served in honor of Miss Elsie Sippelle, who has severed her connection with the company and who next week will be a principal in a happy event.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

There is now activity in real estate and building and the season is likely to be one of the busiest in this regard on record.

Just as soon as spring is well open the Hartland Clothing Company will commence the building of a concrete block that will completely fill the vacant lot between J. Clark & Son and the United Farmers building.

Franklin Clark has purchased the wreck of the McLeod building on Main street and is rebuilding it. A deal is likely to go through by which C. R. Violette is likely to become the owner of this property and therein will have his store and residence.

D. E. Morgan has traded his property on the eastern side of the track with G. Murray McLeod, taking in exchange the Gillin property on Depot street. The latter has a street frontage of 60 feet and the buildings contain four shops and two tenements. The property which Mr. McLeod has acquired, the deed to includes the well finished store now occupied by the Hartland meat market, two large warehouses and three tenements. The Woodstock Press is responsible for the statement that the Bank of Montreal will this season erect in Hartland a building similar to that which they have just completed in Woodstock.

Fred H. Stevens has purchased from Scott T. Sippelle the property now held under lease by The Observer Ltd. It is his intention to dispose of the house on the rear of the lot and utilize the space gained for a much needed extension for The Observer office.

One man who last autumn paid $100 for a south end lot has just received an offer of $300 for it.

At the present time there is not a single vacant shop or tenement in town.

It is announced that the Woodworking Factory will not be in operation this season, which is much to be regretted.

Sugar advanced two dollars per 100 lbs. this week.

If you need real rest buy an Ostermoor mattress. Carr has them.

Mrs. A. H. Morrison will be at home to her friends Tuesday, April 13, from 3 to 5 and 8 to 10 p. m. Also Wednesday, April 14, from 3 to 5 p. m.

Thornton's Ice Cream Parlor will be open for the season on Saturday. There will be a tempting bill of the latest fads and fancies in Ice and Sodas. The premises have been most attractively fitted up and enlarged. The walls are lined with large mirrors, tables are secluded among potted palms and a new player piano furnishes gay music. The public is cordially invited to come and spend a pleasant hour here on Saturday or any hour of the day or evening thereafter.

NEWMAN CLARK NOW IN ANDOVER JAIL

Captured on Sunday by Sheriff Foster and Constable McCrea

During Thursday night Newman Clarke, accused of the murder of Phoebe Bell of Grand Falls, himself a patient in the hospital at that town suffering from self-inflicted bullet wounds, escaped from the institution and was not captured until Sunday evening.

The night nurse on duty made her rounds at 6 a. m. Approaching his cot to awaken him she found that the man had disappeared. Although accused of murder by a coroner's jury the man was not under arrest and under no guard. There were many conjectures as to what had become of him. One theory was that he had jumped off the river bridge. Another was that he had been aided in making his escape.

Sheriff Tibbitts was suffering the effects of recent illness and the Attorney-General instructed Sheriff A. R. Foster to proceed to Grand Falls and institute a search. Accompanied by his deputy, H. V. Moores, the sheriff reached Grand Falls on Friday evening and commenced investigation.

On Saturday the Attorney-General arrived; the officers held a consultation and from evidence gathered discarded the theory of suicide. Sheriff Foster had secured a clue and taking with him Constable Miles McCrea he proceeded through Gillespie Settlement to Limestone, Me. He suspected that the prisoner might be at the home of Dan Morrell, about two miles from Limestone village. Search of the premises proved this clue the correct one, and Clark was found in the house. When cornered by the officers he drank part of a bottle of iodine and threw himself on the bed to die. The officers promptly plied him with raw eggs and melted lard and thus forced him to give up the iodine. Recovery was almost immediate and officers and prisoner proceeded to Grand Falls.

Clark stated that he was aided in making his escape from the hospital by two men he did not know. He said they took him from a balcony and put him in a pung and headed for Limestone. The only clothing he had when he escaped was his night shirt but his friends partly covered him with a small coat. After driving a few miles the man became so chilled that his friends feared he would die. They secreted him in a thicket in a swamp which they were passing, promising they would bring him clothing. But they never returned, says Clark. He stated that he laid in the swamp, clad as he was, all day Saturday and at evening crept to the barn of Morrell where he was discovered, taken to the house, warmed, fed and clothed.

Clark claimed that he could identify those who aided him to escape if he saw them. A Frenchman named Pete Wood, answered the description of one of the men and, taken into custody, he was identified by Clark as one of the men. Both men are under guard in Andover jail. If sufficiently recovered Clark will have his preliminary hearing on Tuesday when his alleged accomplice will also be examined.

The officers do not place a great deal of credence in the story that Clark tells.

Popular Mariner Tells of His Experience With Tanlac—Is Remarkable, He Says.

"My friends all know what a bad fix I was in before I took Tanlac and will tell you that I am now just like a new man," said Captain Alfred H. Eisenhaur, of Indian Point, recently.

Captain Eisenhaur is one of the most popular and influential citizens of Lunenburg County; he is at present engaged in general merchandising at Indian Point, but was for many years a sea captain and is well known all along the East coast of Nova Scotia.

"For three or four years," he continued, "my stomach and bowels had been troubling me, but outside of taking a few pills now and then I never paid much attention to it. Last January, however, I took a sudden turn for the worse and found out I was suffering from a very bad case of catarrh of the stomach. Well, sir, I was in such bad shape for six months that I couldn't do a day's work and it is simply impossible for me to describe how badly I did suffer. There was a constant cramping, gripping pain in my stomach and bowels that would almost draw me double and at times I thought I would go distracted. I was forced to live on the very lightest of foods, for if I ventured to eat anything at all heavy I would almost die with indigestion. I was constantly coughing up mucus from my stomach and would bloat very badly with sour gas. I lost fifteen pounds in weight and was so weak that I could hardly get about the house.

"Realizing that I could not hold out much longer I went for an examination. I was told that my condition was very serious and that nothing but an operation at once would do me any good but I would not consent and went home greatly discouraged. I noticed Tanlac being recommended very highly in the Halifax papers and as a last resort I decided to try it and before I had finished my second bottle I could see quite an improvement in my condition. I have taken several bottles of Tanlac and I firmly believe I would not be living today if I had not taken it. I have been relieved entirely of all the pain and other symptoms of catarrh and my food is digesting fine, for I am gaining weight right along. My appetite is fine and my stomach is in good condition and I am now eating just anything I want and never have a pain or an uncomfortable feeling afterwards.

It was especially beneficial to my children after an attack of fever."

United Farmers at Mt. Pleasant

On the evening of Mar. 25 the U. F. N. B. of Mt. Pleasant Club held a box social for the purpose of selling subscriptions to their paper, the United Farmers Guide, which is to be launched on April 7. To say that it was a complete success would be putting it very mildly. It certainly succeeded beyond our most sanguine hopes. Aside from the fact that it was the medium through which all spent a social evening together it was the means of securing 32 subscriptions for the paper (most of them for the three year period), also it brought in 22 new members for our club. I take this opportunity of saying that the beautiful display of baskets viewed from the outside was a tribute to the artistic taste of the ladies of Mt. Pleasant and the adjoining communities. As one who was fortunate enough to procure one of those baskets let me say that what was inside of it was certainly a treat in the culinary line. Altogether the sum of $135 was realized. How is that for the "clique of the meanest men on God's earth?"

Now if any club is looking for means to forward the interests of the paper try this plan. Announce the social; say that the purchase of a basket at $1.50 entitles the purchaser to one year's subscription to the paper; $2.25 gets one year and a half, a three dollar basket brings a three year's subscription, etc.

Just try this and be surprised at the results.

Operation for Appendicitis

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes:—"My husband was treated for appendicitis and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation or even of a doctor as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

New Overland Four Shows a Wonderful Test of Strength

At the Denver Horse and Stock Show recently the new Overland Four five passenger touring car leaped a five foot hurdle. The car was called the "Gasoline Horse" and performed after the jumping horses had cleared the four foot hurdle. To clear the 5 foot hurdle the car leaped 18 feet in the air and sustained a blow calculated to be 40,000 foot lbs., without breaking or showing the slightest evidence of coming through this terrible leap.

The car used was a stock car chosen from the lot haphazardly, and was not especially prepared in any way. This should convince anyone of the reliability of the new Overland Four to stand any strain required of it on our New Brunswick roads.

For the farmers it is an especially good car, a load of 700 cwt. of any material may be carried in the rear seat, after the upholstery has been removed, which can be done in a few seconds, and after the load has been removed the upholstery is snapped back into place and the car is again ready for passengers.

The Overland Four is a tremendous success. It has won its way into the hearts and minds of the motoring world almost overnight. It has made more real friends, in a shorter space of time, than any other model ever produced. There is, of course, a very definite reason for such universal endorsement of this car. You will find it in a single word. PERFORMANCE, as expressed through a strictly modern power plant and chassis. It is not a racing car, though it is easily capable of forty miles an hour. What is really more important it is an absolutely dependable car, one of the most thoroughly SATISFACTORY motor vehicles that has ever been developed for the road. We predict that you are going to hear the Overland Four referred to as the greatest dollar-for-dollar value on the Canadian market. As it possesses such obvious advantages over the usual type of five passenger car this conclusion would seem to be inevitable.

If you are considering the purchase of a new car I would advise you to see this new type of car before giving your order and have us give you a demonstration and form your own opinion. We are content to rest as to the result, as no dealer in these cars has any in stock unsold. That's the result. He buys.

Give us a call and be convinced.

The Miracle Man a Success

A large number of people from out of town were here on Friday to see the Miracle Man and the management are pleased to announce that in spite of the fact that the production cost approximately $300 the receipts were sufficient to almost exactly break even. The Centerville correspondent of The Observer was evidently much pleased with this photo drama and of it he has this to say:

The promoters of "The Miracle Man" were well rewarded on Wednesday last by the attendance of a large and appreciative audience. The photograph was an intensely interesting one from the first picture to the last climax and is a truly unique example of the gripping, heart appealing power of the silent drama. The play seemed an almost impossible one to have been conjured in the brain of a writer of musical comedy. The actors were most aptly chosen to appropriate parts, and the pleasing result was a true portrayal of the several characters. Though we hear oftentimes considerable derogatory criticism relative to the moving pictures, yet the most cynical, no matter what the color of his cant, could not avoid being impressed with the thrilling sermons hammered home in each reel. Silent sermons, such as those portrayed in the development of a character, who by a heroic, unerring and exemplary life and an invulnerable armor of Faith, could instil enough of this genuine necessity into the incredulous, and force "Fools who came to scoff to remain to pray," will accomplish much more of good for the temperamental and unregenerate Gentile, than miles of barn-storming, egotistical rant.

G. W. V. A.

The regular meeting of G. W. V. A. on Friday evening was well attended. A good report of the Provincial Convention at St. John was given by E. A. Britton. There are now 26

Rheumatic Pains

Are relieved in a few days by taking 30 drops of Mether Selgel's Syrup after meals and on retiring. It dissolves the lime and acid accumulation in the muscles and joints so these deposits can be expelled, thus relieving pain and soreness. branches in New Brunswick. Formerly each branch had one member in the Provincial Command Executive but at this convention the number of the Executive was reduced to ten. We are proud to know that Hartland branch was honored by having one member of the executive chosen from its number, E. A. Britton, who will have a place on the executive until next annual meeting.

The matter of returned men paying a poll tax was taken up and it was decided to send a delegation to the Town Council and try and have each returned man exempt from poll tax for the first year he was home from the war. S. G. Barter and E. A. Britton were before the town council on Monday. A committee of council was appointed to look into the matter and report to the next meeting. Those returned men who have not already paid poll tax for 1919 may await the decision of council. It is requested by the G. W. V. A. that all returned men who were called on to pay a poll tax for the year 1919 to hand in their names to either S. G. Barter or E. A. Britton at once so their name may be placed on the list to place before the council. This will apply to all returned men whether great War Veterans or not, who returned home in 1919.

Nixon-Murdoch

On Saturday, April 3, a very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Methodist church when Anna Martha, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Murdoch was united in marriage to Wendell Burton Nixon, son of Richard Nixon of Lower Brighton. The bride looked very charming in a travelling suit of dark blue, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride was given away by her father as they entered to the strains of a wedding march played by Miss Elsa Sippelle. The wedding party stood under an arch of evergreens, while the church was beautifully decorated with Easter flowers and palms. "The Voice that Breathed over Eden" was then sung by Mrs. McElroy, cousin of the groom. The ushers were Miss Mary Carr and Miss Clara Hagerman. The marriage was performed by Rev. T. Spencer Crisp, after which the happy couple left for the home of the bride where a dainty lunch was served. The waiters were Misses Mary Carr, Clara Hagerman, Faye Hallett, Isabelle Upton, Dora Robinson, Della Boone, Quenie Britton and Grace Bell. There were seventy guests present. The home was nicely decorated in cut glass, cheques, silver and furniture. The happy couple left on the evening train for St. John and other provincial points.

A CLERGYMAN'S RECOMMENDATION

The Zam-Buk Co.

Dear Sirs:

Appreciating what your balm has done for me, I should like an opportunity of recommending it to others who may be similarly afflicted. For the last forty years I have had a patch of eczema on my right hand. I tried in every possible way to get rid of it—had treatment from several doctors and tried innumerable remedies, but received no lasting benefit. It finally eased it or cured it for a time, it always returned as bad as ever. One of my friends is a great believer in Zam-Buk, so I decided to give it a trial and sent first for a sample. You can imagine my amazement when even this small quantity brought me more relief than anything I had ever before used. I continued the use of Zam-Buk for two weeks, by which time the eczema, although of forty years standing, had entirely disappeared. That was one year ago, and there has been no return of it.

Yours sincerely,

(Name of clergyman, from whom the above letter was received, will be given upon request)

This ONE CENT SALE Plan was originated by the United Drug Company for the Rexall Drug Stores. The United Drug Company are the largest manufacturers and buyers of Toilet Articles, Remedies, Chocolates, Perfumes, Rubber Goods, Stationery and Drug Sundries in the world, and this is an advertising plan pure and simple, of which they bear most of the expense. Instead of spending money in the regular way, such as Free Samples, etc., it is their desire that we place full size packages, or articles, in your hands, giving you an opportunity to judge the real value of these goods, the cost of which they charge to advertising. We will only be permitted to run this sale occasionally. Beware of imitations in other stores, and take advantage of this exceptional opportunity. We can not afford to charge or deliver goods during this sale. So please don't ask us to do it. These prices do not include the War Tax.

OLD ESTATES GO.

Great Land Holdings in England
Seemed to Be Doomed Now.

Many of the big estates of English landholders, which have given to the countryside of Great Britain that charm of old-world atmosphere which has made it so attractive to American tourists are doomed, according to London newspapers, if the present tendency in the real estate market in the British Isles continues.

Heavy taxation, according to these newspapers, has compelled many old families to dispose of their vast acres, and, while the estates are being eagerly bought, in few cases is an effort made by the new owners to retain them in their entirety. As a result, England bids fair to become in the not distant future a nation of small landlords.

Many families of the large estate-owning class, while retaining part of their property, have found it necessary to cut up other parts into small portions to sell. Others have sold outright to members of the class of recent rich created by the war, who themselves have disposed of parts of the acquired estates to smaller owners.

The old-style English squire, it is predicted, soon will be a rarity, or will entirely have disappeared. The type of country gentleman who took a personal interest in his tenants will be no more. Village life will be completely changed because of the new class of tenants.

Incidentally, it is reported, that the cherished institution of fox hunting is being spoiled. Since many small farmers own their lands outright, and since these lands represent to them their living, they are refusing to let the hounds and riders pass over their fields. And as the land is coming more and more cut up into small parcels, the hunters are finding themselves more and more restricted.

Happy Married Celebrities.

"The reason why my long married life has been so happy," said the late Lady Tennyson, "is that my husband has always been my lover. We are far more lovers to-day than when we married so very many years ago." And this has been the happy experience of other wedded couples whose courtship days have lasted long as life itself.

"Charles Kingsley called himself 'an old married man' when he wrote to his wife from a solitary convalescent holiday at the seaside. 'This place is perfect, but it seems a dream, and imperfect without you. I never before felt the loneliness of being without the beloved being whose every look and word and motion are the keystones of my life. People talk of love ending at the altar—fools!'"

"Tom Hood, to his last day, was the passionate lover of the wife who inspired that sweetest of his songs, 'I love thee, I love thee, 'tis all that I can say,' and to whom in his last year he wrote, 'Bless you, bless you, again and again my dear one, my only one, my one as good as a thousand to your old unitarian in love, T. H.'"

One of the last pictures we have of Wordsworth is of "the old man walking in the garden with his wife. They were both old, and he was almost blind; but they seemed like sweethearts courting, they were so tender and attentive to each other." And Nathaniel Hawthorne had lived many years in his "wedded paradise" when he wrote to his "Flower from Heaven," "Oh, Phoebe, I want thee much! Thou art the only person that was ever necessary to me. I am only myself when thou art within my reach, thou unspeakably-beloved woman."

Robert Browning never came to London without visiting the church in which he and his wife, who was "soul of his soul," were made one, without kissing the paving-stones in front of its door. And Steele's passion for his wife found expression in such burning words as these: "I love you better than the light of my eyes or the life-blood in my heart. There are no words to express the tenderness I have for you."

Queen in Her Own Right.

On the west coast of Ireland stands a castle bearing the euphonious name of Carrig-a-Hooley. Several centuries ago this was the favorite castle of Grace O'Malley, an Irish Amazon, who took unto herself the title of queen and ruled over several counties in a fashion not at all in accordance with sixteenth century ideas of femininity, says the Detroit News.

Home rule in Ireland was demanded even in those days. When Queen Elizabeth offered to make the Irish queen a duchess, history reports that she answered proudly, "I consider myself as great a queen as your majesty."

On her voyage from the English court to her mountain domain, Queen Grace stopped at Howth Castle, and being but coldly received by the lord, she proceeded to teach him hospitality by abducting his son and heir, returning the child only on the promise that the gates of Howth Castle were to swing open always at the dining hour.

A Mild Hint.

"Two bags and a hatbox," said the tourist, who was travelling for the first time in Scotland, arriving at a little wayside station. The porter mounted and collected the articles and put the man on board a car. "And, by the way, porter," said the passenger, "what do they usually give you here for a tip?" The porter jerked his thumb over his shoulder, "Six pence, big house among the trees!" he asked. "Yes, but what has that got to do with it?" "Well, that's the workhouse and it's full of auld railway porters!"

Commercial Humor.

"Salesman—We call this style of rug the Rip Van Winkle." "Prospective Purchaser—Why is that?" "Salesman—Because of its unusually long nap."

"My Back Is So Bad"

PAINS in the small of the back, lumbago, rheumatism, pains in the limbs all tell of defective kidneys.

Poisons are being left in the blood which cause pains and aches.

The kidneys, liver and bowels must be aroused to action by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

There is no time for delay when the kidneys go wrong, for such developments as hardening of the arteries and Bright's disease are the natural result.

VARIETY IN LIFE AT OMSK

Siberian City, However, Holds Out Little Inducement to the Timid, Pleasure-Seeking Traveler.

Omsk is a little city, or a big town—whichever you like—in Siberia. The buildings of Omsk keep close to the ground. The home of the settler is a one-story log affair. The public buildings and shops are ornate with pillars and carvings, but their grandeur extends upward little farther than the log hut, of which they are an elaboration.

Omsk has more than its share of lawbreaking and crime. The number of persons who die inopportunistly there is large enough to inspire more caution than bravado in one enjoying a nighttime walk through the lanes which pass for streets.

There is a jail in this rustic metropolis, but its inmates are, as a rule, only the most recent malefactors, who have been so careless as to be apprehended by the wooden-shoed policemen who rattle about the streets at night to assure the city that the law is not sleeping. The majority of those who have resorted to violence or stealth to gain their ends are always at large.

Knowledge of this is not reassuring, but it adds to the stimulating atmosphere of the Siberian life to wonder whether the queer-looking shop clerk or waiter who serves you is a pillar of the church or the man who mysteriously made away with a fur draped the week before—"Niksh," in Chicago Daily News.

All Enjoyed the Tobacco.

The first tobacco and pipes which found their way to England were presented to Sir Walter Raleigh by Ralph Lane and Sir Francis Drake. With the novel curios in his pockets, Sir Walter held, on a stormy night, to "Mermaid Tavern," favorite haunt of that famous coterie of poets and pals, Will Shakespeare, Ned Spenser, Ben Jonson, Beaumont, Fletcher, Selden. He found these good fellows all there, as he knew he should, merrily swapping yarns and sipping ale, and forthwith distributed the pipes among them and initiated them into the mysteries of smoking. He was rewarded by having "Rare Ben" give him a toast in which tobacco was declared to be "the most soothing, sovereign, precious weed that ever our dear old mother earth tendered to the use of man."

Beware of Imitations

If you are thinking of Rodding your buildings this spring insist on getting Dodd & Strutter equipment. No difference where you get it don't accept any new fangled stuff, which is on the market today. The original, which was patented and perfected by Professor West Dodd of Des Moines, Iowa, one of the greatest electrical scientists in America today. Over three hundred thousand buildings in America carry this equipment and the first dollar's worth of damage has yet to come to these buildings by lightning. The best is always the cheapest at any price. Get your order in.
